K: How are you?

C: Pretty well, how about you?

K: I am fine.

C: I am bothering you for just a minute because I know that you are going to head the delegation in Mexico and we were asked or invited to go down but I wanted to know what your reading is about the way Echeverria is behaving.

K: Not very well.

C: He is behaving strangely isn't he?

K: We don't know but what he might not be thinking of a coup.

C: Do you think that is possible?

K: No, but he is certainly not fading out like Mexican Presidents usually do. He is building himself a future position.

C: Well, it won't be at the UN will it?

K: That is what he would like.

SUBJECT: LETELIER ASSASSINATION - ORLANDO BOSCH AND THE GOC

REF: SANTIAGO 9991

1. AS WITH THE REFTEL, THE EMBASSY SUBMITS THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION FOR WATEVER USE IT MIGHT HAVE IN THE INVESTIGATION OF ORLANDO LETELIER'S ASSASSINATION. THE DEPARTMENT MAY WISH TO PASS IT TO THE FBI.

2. A CHILEAN OFFICIAL WITH EXCELLENT SOURCES IN THE GOC AND ITS INTELLIGENCE AGENCIES TOLD AN EMBOFF NOV. 19. THAT ORLANDO BOSCH HAD ARRIVE IN CHILE ABOUT DEC. 15, 1974, AND LEFT ABOUT DEC. 15, 1975 FOR PANAMA, WHERE HE REMAINED FOR A SHORT TIME, AND THEN TRAVELED TO COSTA RICA, WHERE HE HAD PROBLEMS BECAUSE HE WAS CARRYING A FALSE CHILEAN PASSPORT. HE LEFT COSTA RICA IN MAY 1976 FOR VENEZUELA, WHERE HE APPLIED FOR POLITICAL ASYLUM. TH SOURCE SAID THAT BOSCH IS NOW "SINGING" TO VENEZUELAN AUTHORITIES, APPARENTLY ON THE LETELIER ASSASSINATION.

3. THE SOURCE SAID THAT HE HAD DISCUSSED WITH FONIMINSTER CARVAJAL WHETHER ANY INFORMATION ON BOSCH SHOULC BE GIVEN TO THE EMBASSY, AND HAD RECOMMENDED THAT THE MINISTRY NOT COMMENT TO US. THE SOURCE ADDED THAT HE HAD A CLEARER PICTURE OF WHAT HAD TAKEN PLACE REGARDING LETELIER'S ASSASSINATION THAN ANYONE ELSE, AND

CONFIDENTIAL

PARTICULARLY US AUTHORITIES. BUT HE WOULD NOT RLEASE HIS INFORMATION TO THE USG BECAUSE IT WOULD IMPLICATE CHILE IN THE ASSASSINATION -- THAT IS, IT WOULD "MAKE CHILE LOOK BAD." HOWEVER, ASKED AT THE END OF THE CONVERSATION WHETHER AN AGENCY OF THE GOC OR ANY ORGANIZATION SPONSORED BY THE GOC WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE KILLING, HE SAID NO.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. COMMENT: THE SOURCE HAS BEEN A VERY RELIABLE PROVIDER OF INFORMATION IN THE PAST. HE DOES NOT EXAGGERATE OR BUILD HIMSELF UP. HE WARNED AGAINST RELEASING THE CONVERSATION TO ANYONE ELSE, SINCE HE FEARED THE CONSEQUENCES SHOULD HE BE COMPROMISED. THE EMBASSY OFFICER DOUBTS THAT HE COULD OBTAIN MORE SPECIFIC INFORMATION.

MY WIFE AND I ARE PLEASED TO BE IN MEXICO ONCE AGAIN WHERE WE HAVE SPENT SO MANY MEMORABLE DAYS, BOTH AS OFFICIAL AND PRIVATE VISITORS TO THIS GREAT AND BEAUTIFUL NATION. TODAY, IT IS A PARTICULAR HONOR FOR ME TO BE HERE AS THE SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AT THIS IMPORTANT AND HISTORIC MOMENT -- THE INAUGURATION OF A NEW PRESIDENT OF MEXICO, JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO.

AS YOU WELL KNOW, IT IS AN HISTORIC MOMENT FOR BOTH NATIONS SINCE, FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 24 YEARS, WE ARE CHANGING RESPECTIVE PRESIDENTS AT THE SAME TIME. ALTHOUGH THIS COINCIDENCE MAKES BOTH OUR COUNTRIES THINK IN THE FIRST INSTANCE OF CHANGE, IT SHOULD ALSO REMIND US OF CONTINUITY. FOR BOTH OF US ARE FORTUNATE TO BE CARRYING OUT PEACEFUL TRANSFER OF POWER THROUGH THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. BOTH NATIONS ARE FORTUNATE TO HAVE A CONTINUITY OF BASIC PRINCIPLES THAT ENABLES EACH SUCCESSIVE PRESIDENT TO BUILD ON THE ACHIEVEMENTS

AND LESSONS OF THE PAST. BECAUSE OF THESE ASPECTS OF OUR POLITICAL SYSTEMS, RELATIONS BETWEEN MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES HAVE DEVELOPED, AND I'M SURE WILL CONTINUE TO DEVELOPE, WITHOUT THE SHOCKS AND REVERSES WHICH (TO) OFTEN CHARACTERIZE MODERN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

UNCLASSIFIED

MEXICAN-US RELATIONS, ALWAYS CLOSE, HAVE BEEN INCREASINGLY CHARACTERIZED BY THE PRINCIPLES OF EQUALITY AND MUTUAL RESPECT. THE FREQUENT CONSULTATIONS BETWEEN FOREIGN SECRETARY GARCIA ROBLES AND MYSELF AND MY MEETING WITH YOUR DISTINGUISHED PRESIDENT, LUIS ECHEVERRIA, HAVE HOPEFULLY CONTRIBUTED TO FURTHERING THESE PRINCIPLES.

UNCLASSIFIED

THUS IT IS WITH REGRET THAT WE PREPARE TO BID AN OFFICIAL FAREWELL TO PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA AND OUR MANY GOOD FRIENDS IN THE OUTGOING ADMINISTRATION. BUT I AM CONFIDENT THAT THE CLOSE AND CONSTRUCTIVE DIALOGUE WHICH HAS CHARATERIZED US-MEXICAN RELATIONS IN THE PAST SIX YEARS WILL CONTINUE AND EXPAND IN THE NEXT SIX YEARS. THE FRANK AND CORDIAL RAPPORT ESTABLISHED DURING PRESIDENT-ELECT LOPEZ PORTILLO'S VISIT TO WASHINGTON IN SEPTEMBER POINTS TO SUCH A CONTINUATION.

ON BEHALF OF PRESIDENT FORD AND THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, I WISH TO CONVEY OUR MOST CORDIAL GREETINGS AND BEST WISHES TO YOUR NEW PRESIDENT AND THE GREAT NATION HE SERVES.

BRIEFING PAPER

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ UNCLASSIFIED

MEMORANDUM FOR MRS. KISSINGER

Subject: Your Participation at the Inauguration of Jose Lopez Portillo of Mexico, November 29 to December 2, 1976

I. PURPOSE

The Lopez Portillo inauguration gives us an opportunity to emphasize our close and cooperative ties with Mexico and, in particular, to strengthen the positive and friendly relationship with Lopez Portillo begun during his recent visit to the U.S.

Since Lopez Portillo's visit to Washington last September, short term financial problems have worsened. The Echeverria administration did not implement a stabilization program to support the September 1 float - devaluation of the peso and a second float, which took place on October 26, has increased the devaluation since September 1 to over 50 percent. The current tribulations of the Mexican economy have been compounded by the lame duck status of the outgoing administration and a lack of public confidence in the Government's ability to restore financial stability.

In addition to emphasizing the importance we have traditionally placed on our bilateral relations with Mexico (Secretaries of State Dulles and Rogers also attended Mexican Presidential inaugurations), the Secretary's visit is a public expression of our confidence in Lopez Portillo as he undertakes the difficult task of restoring domestic trust in the Mexican Government and international confidence in the peso.

II. CURRENT MEXICAN SCENE

Although over the past 25 years the Mexican economy has performed impressively, her current financial difficulties underscore long-term economic problems that have been building up:

-- Income disparities have widened especially in the last five years. Organized labor and government workers have been granted wage increases greater than cost of living and productivity increases, and have benefitted therefore, at the expense of the rest of the economy and especially at the expense of the most impoverished.

-- Unemployment has risen. Investment has not been of a nature to generate maximum new employment. The rising price of labor has generated substitution of capital for labor in both the manufacturing and modern agricultural sectors.

-- Mexico has the highest population growth rate of any major country. The economy is increasingly unable to provide jobs, housing, farmland, and social services for its rapidly growing population. The quality of life in urban centers is deteriorating as thousands of impoverished campesinos flock there seeking jobs. There are predictions that by 2000, Mexico City could be the world's largest city with a population of 31 million.

-- Growth in the agricultural sector has lagged and food imports have increased alarmingly in recent years. Due to the mystic of land reform, the government has not come to grips with the troublesome problem of sporadic land seizures, which have potential to seriously reduce existing efficient agricultural production. On November 19 Echeverria decreed that some substantial properties in Sonora were to be given to landless campesinos, an action which enraged property owners throughout Mexico.

Mexico's current financial difficulties are also eroding the prosperity of the most politically aware. This creates a more serious problem for Lopez Portillo than the rising level of discontent among the masses where there is little effective interest group mobilization and culturally ingrained passivity toward authority. A split within the ruling coalition would be a real danger to Mexican political stability. Unlike his predecessors Lopez Portillo did not come up through the party and the political bureaucracy (Interior Secretariat) but has an academic and public administration background. While this augurs well for the economy and for governmental efficiency, he does not have a band of strong supporters to back him up if he takes the strong but unpopular measures necessary to restrain the inflation and public sector deficit spending which led to Mexico's current financial predicament.

It is also possible that Echeverria could attempt to take advantage of Lopez Portillo's relatively weak position and continue to exercise a significant degree of behind-the-scenes control. If Echeverria does depart in peace this should clear the air and restore some degree of confidence in the private sector which appears willing to go at least half way in creating a better relationship with the incoming administration.

Increased oil production would enable Mexico to close her trade balance. However, Pemex (the national petroleum enterprise) has been reluctant to expand crude oil production before it can be integrated into production of refined derivatives and petrochemicals. It is probable, however, that Lopez Portillo will order Pemex to expand production rapidly since increased oil exports are the most readily available help for the balance of payments deficit.

III. ISSUES

Mexicans are quick to take offense at suggestions that they are dependent on the U.S. You should avoid such topics as family planning, population control, land reform, and petroleum policy unless they raise them.

UNCLASSIFIED

CONFIDENTIAL

Our bilateral relations with Mexico have been good although there are a number of specific issues between us:

-- Trade: Mexico had an unprecedentedly large trade deficit with the U.S. in 1975. First quarter 1976 statistics, however, indicated an improvement. On August 31 Mexico floated the peso, breaking a 22-year exchange parity with the dollar. The float, which was not supported by a firm stabilization program, resulted in financial confusion and thus far is benefitting neither tourism nor exports.

-- Undocumented Workers (Illegal Aliens): The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates that there are 8 million illegal aliens in the U.S. of which 60 percent are Mexican. The Mexicans dislike the term "illegal alien" and refer to them as "undocumented workers."

-- Narcotics: Based on seizure data, 80-90 percent of the heroin entering the U.S. comes from Mexico. The Mexican Government, with U.S. support, has undertaken an intensive campaign to destroy the opium poppy crop by aerial spraying of the poppy fields with weed killers. We are optimistic that reduction in the flow of heroin to the U.S. from Mexico will soon follow.

-- U.S. Prisoners: Over 500 Americans are currently imprisoned in Mexico. The large majority are young people accused of drug offenses. Physical abuse at the time of arrest had been substantially verified in a number of cases.

The United States and Mexico have agreed upon the text of an Exchange of Sanctions Treaty that would allow prisoners to continue their confinement in their home countries. The treaty will probably be signed in Mexico City near the end of this month (November). It must be then ratified by both Senates and the U.S. Congress must pass implementing legislation before any prisoners can be transferred. No prisoner will be transferred without his own consent. fter transfer the transferee will be subject to the parole and prison procedures that apply in the prison which receives him.

-- Petroleum: Mexico has recently become a net exporter of oil, thanks to the recent extensive oil finds in Tabasco and Chiapas. Given extreme sensitivity to any attempt on our part to influence Mexican oil policy, we heretofore have refrained from raising the issue of petroleum exports.

-- Echeverria's Candidacy for UN Secretary General: Echeverria has announced his candidacy to succeed Waldheim. We believe a broad consensus of support in favor of Waldheim's reappointment exists among UN members both large and small. We favor Waldheim's reappointment but have no desire to embarrass Echeverria. This is another topic you will want to avoid.

Dear Mrs. Green:

It gives me pleasure to inform you that the President has designated you his Representative, with the rank of Special Ambassador, to attend the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of His Excellency José López Portillo as President of the United Mexican States, which are to be held at México from November 28 through December 3, 1976.

A list naming the members of the United States Delegation is enclosed. There is also enclosed the letter accrediting you in the capacity indicated.

Sincerely,

/s/ Henry A. Kissinger

Henry A. Kissinger

Enclosures:

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

November 24, 1976

Dear Mr. Lopez Portillo:

I very much appreciate your kind invitation to attend your inauguration as President of Mexico on December 1. You know of my strong friendship for Mexico, and I recall with pleasure our meeting and conversations in Washington during your September visit.

Although it will not be possible for me to attend the inauguration, I have asked Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to head the delegation of distinguished Americans who will represent the United States. In addition, as an expression of my personal interest I have asked my son Jack to be a member of the delegation.

Mrs. Ford joins me in sending to you and Mrs. Lopez Portillo our warm personal regards and best wishes for the success of your administration and the prosperity and well being of Mexico and its people.

Sincerely,

Gerald R. Ford

His Excellency
Jose Lopez Portillo
President-elect of the United Mexican States
Mexico, D.F.

SLBJECT: PRESS REPORTS ON MEXICAN INAUGURATION, SUNDAY NOVEMBER 28.

1. "TURMOIL OF MEXICAN TRANSITION SEEN TAKING PRESSURE OFF NEW PRESIDENT," MARLISE SIMONS, WASHINGTON POST, DATELINED MEXICO CITY, (EXCERPTS):

DESPITE THE BITTER POLITICAL DIVISION AND ECONOMIC CRISIS DURING PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA'S FINAL MONTHS IN POWER, THE OUTGOING LEADER MAY HAVE PAVED THE WAY FOR A GOVERNMENT THAT WILL ENJOY THE GOODWILL AND CONFIDENCE NECESSARY TO CONSOLIDATE AND BROADEN THE REFORMS OF THE PAST SIX YEARS.

IN THE FIVE MONTHS SINCE PRESIDENT-ELECT JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO WON AN UNOPPOSED ELECTION TO A SIX-YEAR TERM,
UNCLASSIFIED

ECHEVERRIA HAS TAKEN RESPONSIBILITY FOR SUCH UNPOPULAR AND CONTROVERSIAL MEASURES AS THE DEVALUATION OF THE LONG-STABLE MEXICAN PESO AND THE MASSIVE LAND EXPROPRIATIONS FROM WEALTHY RURAL ELITES.

AS A RESULT, LOPEZ PORTILLO ASSUMES OFFICE WEDNESDAY THE

BENEFICIARY OF ECHEVERRIA'S LOSS OF PRESTIGE AND CLEARED

OF BLAME FOR MEASURES WHICH MANY ANALYSTS HERE BELIEVE WERE INEVITABLE. MANY ALSO ARE CONVINCED THAT LOPEZ PORTILLO AND ECHEVERRIA HAVE COORDINATED THESE MOVES.

"ECHEVERRIA IS LETTING HIS SUCCESSOR ARRIVE IN THE SILENCE AFTER THE STORM. PEOPLE ARE SO EXASPERATED BY THE CONFUSION AND CHOAS THEY'RE EAGER TO BELIEVE THE NEXT MAN," COMMENTED ONE SEASONED OBSERVER. "LOPEZ PORTILLO WOULD HAVE TO REALLY MAKE A MESS TO LOSE THE SUPPORT OF THE COUNTRY."

ECHEVERRIA'S MANY CRITICS AND HIS REMAINING SUPPORTERS AGREE THAT THE OUTGOING PRESIDENT HAS LEFT HIS SUCCESSOR A LOAD OF IMMENSE PROBLEMS, INCLUDING A FAST-ERODING CURRENCY, UNREST AND STAGNATION IN THE COUNTRYSIDE AND A NEED FOR AUSTERITY FOR THE MIDDLE AND UPPER CLASSES.

YET, OBSERVERS HERE FIND IT DIFFICULT TO BELIEVE THAT ECHEVERRIA'S ACTIONS, WHICH HAVE CAUSED MUCH PANIC AMONG THE RICH, HAVE BEEN SOLELY DRIVEN BY A HUNGER FOR POWER AND FAME AS THE ANGRY ESTABLISHMENT HERE CLAIMS. NOR DO THEY SEEM TO HAVE BEEN DIRECTED BY ECHEVERRIA ALONE.

WHILE THE POWER OF THE PRESIDENT HERE IS LESS CONSTRAINED THAN THAT OF THE WHITE HOUSE IN 'ASHINGTON AND ECHEVERRIA HAS GAINED A REPUTATION FOR INCREASING IT FURTHER, A MEXICAN PRESIDENT IS NOT A DICTATOR. NO CONTROL IS EXERCISED BY THE RUBBER STAMP CONGRESS, BUT THE RULING PARTY, WHICH HAS KEPT A TIGHT GRIP ON THE COUNTRY FOR HALF A CENTURY, HAS PRODUCED A POLITICAL ELITE. THIS GROUP AND OTHER PRESSURE GROUPS DEMAND MORE CONSULATION THAN THE PUBLIC BELIEVES.

UNCLASSIFIED

IT IS UNLIKELY, THESE OBSERVERS BELIEVE, THAT ECHEVERRIA'S MAJOR DECISIONS, INCLUDING HIS CONTROVERSIAL DEVALUATION, WERE MADE WITHOUT CONSULTING OTHER LEADERS, INCLUDING LOPEZ PORTILLO, WHO HAS BEEN ECHEVERRIA'S FINANCE MINISTER SINCE MAY 1973. ..."

2. "MIDDLE CLASS ASKS FAIR DEAL IN MEXICO," ALAN RIDING, NEW YORK TIMES, DATELINED MEXICO CITY, (EXCERPTS):

THE RUMORS AND POLITICAL HYSTERIA OF RECENT WEEKS ARE SLOWLY ABATING AS PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA ALVAREZ PREPARES TO LEAVE OFFICE WEDNESDAY, BUT PRESIDENT-ELECT JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO IS INHERITING AN ANGRY AND MILITANT MIDDLE CLASS, WHICH NO LONGER SEEMS WILLING TO BE IGNORED AS A SILENT MINORITY.

AFTER SIX YEARS OF GOVERNMENT ORIENTED TOWARD HELPING THE COUNTRY'S PEASANTS AND WORKERS, POLITICAL ANALYSTS BOTH FEEL THAT MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO WILL HAVE TO FIND A WAY OF APPEASING THE URBAN MIDDLE CLASSES IF HE IS TO ENJOY THEIR BACKING FOR THE TOUGH ECONOMIC MEASURES HE MUST SOON TAKE.

IRRITATED BY CONSTANTLY HIGHER TAXES, SHAKEN BY THE RECENT DEVALUATIONS OF THE MEXICAN PESO AND FRUSTRATED BY THE LACK OF POLITICAL OPTIONS, THE MIDDLE CLASS IS SHOWING SIGNS OF DISENCHANTMENT WITH THE ENTIRE SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS OPEN HOSTILITY TOWARDS PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA ALVAREZ.

IN A COUNTRY WHERE ONE PARTY HAS BEEN IN POWER WITHOUT INTERRUPTION SINCE 1929 AND NO OPPOSITION GROUP IS TAKEN SERIOUSLY, THE MIDDLE CLASS HAS FOUND NO MORE EFFECTIVE WAY OF EXPRESSING ITS FEELINGS THAN COMPLAINING, RUMOR-MONGERING AND MOVING SAVINGS OUT OF THE COUNTRY.

BUT POLITICAL ANALYSTS BOTH WITHIN AND OUTSIDE THE GOVERNMENT FEEL THAT MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO WILL HAVE TO FIND A WAY OF APPEASING THE URBAN MIDDLE CLASSES IF HE IS TO ENJOY THEIR BACKING FOR THE TOUGH ECONOMIC MEASURES HE MUST SOON TAKE. ..."

FOLLOWING FULL TEXT EDITORIAL WASHINGTON STAR, NOVEMBER 30, ENTITLED "TRANSITION MEXICAN STYLE":

BEGIN TEXT: FOR ANYONE BORED BY THE SEDATE TRANSITION FROM GERALD FORD TO JIMMY CARTER, A VERY DIFFERENT PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION IS AUDIBLE ACROSS THE RIO GRANDE. PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA ALVAREZ'S SEEMINGLY INTERMINABLE SWAN SONG HAS STRUCK ONE DISCORDANT NOTE AFTER ANOTHER. "TURMOIL" IS THE FAVORED HEADLINE WORD TO DESCRIBE THE ATMOSPHERE IN MEXICO FOR TOMORROW'S INAUGURATION OF JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO.

THE INCOMING PRESIDENT HAS OUR BEST WISHES FOR A SUCCESSFUL ATTACK ON MEXICO'S PROBLEMS, AND HIS EMPHASIS ON IMPROVED RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES WILL BE WELL RECEIVED IN OFFICIAL WASHINGTON.

MUCH OF THE INSTABILITY FACING MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO IS TRACEABLE AT LEAST ON THE SURFACE TO LAMEDUCK ACTIONS OF MR. ECHEVERRIA. THERE EVEN HAVE BEEN RUMORS OF A PRE-INAUGURAL
UNCLASSIFIED

COUP, WITH SOME ACCOUNTS UNCLEAR AS TO WHETHER THE IDEA

WOULD BE TO THROW MR. ECHEVERRIA OUT PREMATURELY OR KEEP HIM IN OFFICE.

IN RECENT WEEKS, THE MEXICAN PESO AFTER 22 YEARS OF BEING PEGGED AT 12 TO THE DOLLAR HAS BEEN DEVALUED BY MORE THAN 50 PER CENT, CAUSING A FLIGHT OF CAPITAL, THE PARALYSIS OF MUCH CROSS-BORDER BUSINESS AND AN EXTREME CASE OF FINANCIAL ANXIETY. IN A LAST MINUTE LAND-REFORM GESTURE, MR. ECHEVERRIA EXPROPRIATED ALMOST 250,000 ACRES TO BE USED FOR COMMUNAL FARMS, TOUCHING OFF DEMONSTRATIONS FOR MUCH MORE OF THE SAME BY OTHER LANDLESS PEASANTS.

AT LEAST PARTLY AS A RESULT OF THE MASSIVE DEFICIT SPENDING ENGAGED IN BY PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA FOR A VARIETY OF PROJECTS, THE MEXICAN ECONOMY IS IN A RARE MESS. THE COUNTRY LABORS UNDER A 20 PERCENT INFLATION RATE AND ENDURES CHRONICALLY HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT PUT VARIOUSLY BE-TWEEN A QUARTER AND A HALF OF THE WORK FORCE. WITH THE MISERY AND SOCIAL UNREST THAT SUCH STATISTICS IMPLY, IT IS AN UNENVIABLE RESPONSIBILITY THAT PRESIDENT-ELECT LOPEZ PORTILLO TAKES UP.

THE INCOMING PRESIDENT HAS HAD A LONG TIME TO THINK ABOUT IT, TOO--13 MONTHS SINCE HIS SELECTION BY THE DOMINANT INSTITUTIONALIZED REVOLUTIONARY PARTY (PRI), WHOSE NOMINA-TION MADE HIS ELECTION CERTAIN. TO AN OUTSIDER, IT IS HARD TO BELIEVE THAT MR. ECHEVERRIA IS OF THE SAME PARTY RATHER THAN ONE DEDICATED TO GIVING MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO AN IMPOSSIBLE TASK.

HOW IS MR. ECHEVERRIA'S PERFORMANCE TO BE EXPLAINED? LEFTIST HYPER-ACTIVITY? A CONTINUATION OF THE LAME-DUCK PRESIDENT'S CAMPAIGN TO BECOME A HERO OF THE THIRD WORLD AND THE CHOICE TO REPLACE SECRETARY GENERAL KURT WALDHEIM IN THE UNITED NATIONS? THE BID FOR INTERNATIONAL HONOR, AFTER ALL, LED TO SUCH EARLIER FOLLIES AS MEXICO'S PARTICIPATION IN THE LABELING OF ZIONISM AS RACISM.

UNCLASSIFIED

THERE IS A KINDER INTERPRETATION OF MR. ECHEVERRIA'S RECENT EXERTIONS. ACCORDING TO THIS, BY PERFORMING SOME CONTROVERSIAL ACTS IN HIS FINAL DAYS IN OFFICE, HE IS MAKING LIFE EASIER FOR MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO. THE ARGUMENT IS MADE MOST CONVINCINGLY IN THE MATTER OF THE DEVALUATION, WHICH WAS INEVITABLE IN THE LIGHT OF MEXICO'S INFLATION. IN THE CASE OF LAND REFORM, FOR WHICH THE 1910 MEXICAN REVOLUTION SUPPOSEDLY WAS FOUGHT, MR. ECHEVERRIA COULD BE SEEN AS TAKING SOME OF THE HEAT FOR A SIMILARLY REFORM-MINDED SUCCESSOR.

WHATEVER THE NUANCES OF MR. ECHEVERRIA'S RECENT BEHAVIOR, PRESIDENT-ELECT CARTER SHOULD COUNT HIMSELF LUCKY IN HIS CHOICE OF A PREDECESSOR, EVEN IF HE DID HAVE TO WIN A CLOSE ELECTION. END OF TEXT.

SUBJECT: ECONOMIC ASPECTS OF LOPEZ PORTILLO'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

REF: A) MEXICO 15168; B) MEXICO 15157

1. SUMMARY. TO THE EXTENT THAT WORDS CAN RESTORE CONFIDENCE, PRESIDENT LOPEZ PORTILLO'S INAUGURAL SPEECH OF DEC. 1 SHOULD HELP. HE SET FORTH A SERIES OF MEASURES TO HELP MEXICO'S BALANCE OF PAYMENTS, INVESTMENT, AND SAVINGS. HE PLEDGED CONTINUED FREE CONVERTIBILITY. END SUMMARY.

2. TO MEET THE IMPERATIVE NEED TO REESTABLISH ECONOMIC CONFIDENCE IN MEXICO, LOPEZ PORTILLO'S CHOICE OF CABINET MINISTERS AND HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS HAD BEEN EAGERLY AWAITED AS THE TWO MOST IMMEDIATE INDICTIONS OF THE DIRECTION IN WHICH HE WOULD SEEK TO GUIDE THE MEXICAN ECONOMY. HIS CHOICES OF MINISTERS WHICH WERE ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT(REFTEL A), LEAVE US WITH SOME RESERVATIONS (BEING REPORTED SEPTEL). WE GIVE HIM HIGH MARKS, HOWEVER, FOR HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS (REFTEL B). THE MAINECONOMIC POINTS ARE SUMMARIZED IN THE FOLLOWING PARAGRAPHS.

3. EXCHANGE RATE AND SYSTEM:CONTRARY TO SOME PREVIOUS EXPECTATIONS, JLP NEITHER ANNOUNCED A NEW PESO/DOLLAR PARITY NOR PROMISED TO ESTABLISH
ONE IN THE FUTURE. HE DEVOTED AN IMPRESSIVE AMOUNT OF TIME

TO EDUCATING THE PUBLIC ON THE REAL MEANING OF DEVALUATION. EFFORTS

WOULD BE MADE TO DESIGN MEASURES TO DISCOURAGE CAPITAL FLIGHT.

4. BALANCE OF PAYMENTS:NO DIRECT MENTION WAS MADE OF MEXICO'S OVERWHELMING FOREIGN DEBT, BUT JLP PROMISED THAT BORROWING ABOAD BY THE PUBLICSECTORWOULD HENCEFORT BE LIMITED FOR CAPITAL GOODS ONLY. MEASURES AFFECTING THE PRIVATE SECTOR WERE LESS SPECIFIC, BUT IT APPEARS THAT MOVES WILL BE MADE TO SUBSTITUTE TARIFF PROTECTION FOR IMPORT QUOTAS. ATTENTION WILL BE GIVEN TO INCREASING LABOR INTENSIVE AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS.

5. MONETARY POLICY: THERE WAS LITTLE DISCUSSION PER SE, BUT THE "DOLLARIZATION" OF THE MEXICAN ECONOMY WAS DESCRIBED AS A THREAT TO MEXICAN SOVEREIGNTY. TWO INTERESTING PROPOSALS WERE MADE FOR THE CREATION OF "STORE OF VALUE" INSTRUMENTS, PRESUMABLY TO WEAN MEXICANS AWAY FROM HOLDING DOLLARS. ONE PROPOSAL CALLS FOR THE MINTING OF TRADITIONAL MEXICAN SILVER COINS WHICH HE CALLED "OUR STRONG PESOS". THE OTHER PROPOSAL IS FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NEW LONG-TERM

BONDS BACKED BY THE PRODUCTION OF BASIC RAW MATERIAL AND LINKED TO THE WORLD MARKET PRICE OF SILVER AND OIL. JLP MADE SOME INTERESTING COMMENTS WHICH SEEMED TO AFFECT THE FUTURE ABILITY OF STATE GOVERNMENTS TO BORROW ON THEIR OWN.

6. INVESTMENT POLICY: THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT THE GOM WOULD SEEK TO ORIENT INVESTMENT TO THE FOLLOWING PRIORITIES OF SECTORS: AGRICULTURE AND LIVESTOCK, ENERGY, PETROCHEMICALS MINING, STEEL, CAPITAL GOODS, TRANSPORTATION AND BASIC CONSUMER GOODS. HE SEEMED TO MAKE A MUTED CALL FOR MORE FOREIGN INVESTMENT.

7. TAX POLICY: TAX RATES SHOULD BE ADJUSTED FOR INFLATION. PROGRES-SIVE TAXATION OF INCOMES WILL BE REINSTATED. IN AN EFFORT TO ENCOURAGE REINVESTMENT OF EARNINGS, HIGHER TAXES WILL BE APPLIED TO COMPANIES' DISTRIBUTED PROFITS. EMPHASIS WAS

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

UNCLASSIFIED

GIVEN TO ADMINISTRATIVE REFORM. THE PRESIDENT APPEARED TO OPEN THE DOOR FOR A FORM OF REVENEUE SHARING WITH STATES.

8. WAGES AND PRICES: THE PRESIDENT STRESSED THAT HE WISHED TO AVOID FURTHER DETERIORATION OF INCOME DISTRIBUTION. SALARIES SHOULD BE TIED TO AN IMPROVED COST OF LIVING INDEX WHICH SHOULD BE DEVELOPED. STRONG EFFORTS SHOULD BE MADE, HOWEVER, TO CONTROL INFLATION. A SYSTEM WILL BE PROPOSED TO GIVE SALARY INCREASES FOR INCREASED PRODUCTIVITY, BUT SUCH INCREASES ARE TO BE CHANNELED PARTIALLY OR WHOLLY TOWARD SHARES SUCH AS THE CAPITAL STOCK OF PROPOSED JOINT WORKERS INVESTMENT BANK. THE PRESIDENT DEMONSTRATED A GOOD GRASP OF BASIC RELATIONSHIP AMONG WAGES, COSTS AND PRICES.

9. ADMINISTRATIVE REFORMS: THE PRESIDENT PROPOSED THREE NEW LAWS WHOSE

AFFECT ON THE ECONOMY IS PRESENTLY HARD TO ASSESS. A GOVERNMENT

UNCLASSIFIED

EXPENDITURE LAW IS TO GIVE PROGRAMMATIC ORIENTATION TO GOM EXPENDITURES. A SINGLE MINISTRY IS TO BE PLACED IN CHARGE OF BUDGET AND PUBLIC EXPENDITURES. NOTE: THIS SEEMS TO BE DESIGNED AFTER THE USG'S OMB AND MAY REFLECT THE EARLIER EFFORTS OF THE EMBASSY AND OMB TO RESPOND TO EXTENSIVE REQUESTS ON HOW OMB OPERATES. A PUBLIC DEBT LAW WOULD SEEK TO GIVE THE MEXICAN CONGRESS BETTER CONTROL OVER THE EXECUTIVE EXPENDITURES, PARTLY BY MAKING MORE INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC ON THE GOM'S PUBLIC DEBT. THE ADMINISTRATION ORGANIZATION LAW SETS FORTH THE CHANGES DEMANDED IN SECTORIAL STRUCTURE AND RECLASSIFIES GOVERNMENT MINISTRIES.

10. AGRICULTURAL POLICY: THIS SECTION WAS WEAKER THAN WE HAD EXPECTED. THE PRESIDENT GAVE EMPHASIS TO MEXICO'S SEEKING SELF SUFFICIENCY IN FOOD. ATTENTION IS TO BE PAID TO TECHNICAL AND SOIL RESEARCH IN TROPICAL AGRICULTURAL LANDS. THE PRESIDENT'S FUTURE POLICY ON AGRICULTURAL REFORM DID NOT COME THROUGH CLEARLY. HE STATED THAT "LAND REFORM IS MEXICO".

11. INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT: JLP SAID HE WOULD PLACE PARTICULAR EMPHASIS ON STIMULATING AGRO-INDUSTRY, MINING, AND THE STEEL INDUSTRY BY "GIVING SUPPORT TO SMALL AND MEDIUM-SIZED INDUSTRIAL AND MINING OPEREATIONS". HE WOULD IMPROVE UPON "SIMPLE IMPORT-SUBSTITUTION POLICIES BY INSTITUTING PROGRAMS FOR VERTICAL INTEGRATION

IN SPECIFIC FIELDS." A SPECIALIZED MINISTRY WILL BE SET UP TO

2. MEXICO CITY - THE INAUGURATION TODAY OF JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO AS MEXICO'S 60TH PRESIDENT SIGNALS A CLEAR RETURN TO THE POLITICAL CENTER AND IMPROVING RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES OVER THE NEXT SIX YEARS.

3. THE IMPORTANCE THAT WASHINGTON ATTACHES TO THE CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT IN MEXICO IS UNDERLINED BY THE PRESTIGIOUS AMERICAN OFFICIAL DELEGATION HEADED BY SECRETARY OF STATE HENRY A- KISSINGER. THE DELEGATION ALSO INCLUDES MRS. KISSINGER; ROSALYNN CARTER, WIFE OF PRESIDENT-ELECT JIMMY CARTER; LADYBIRD JOHNSON, WIDOW OF PRESIDENT LYNDON B. JOHNSON, WHO HAD ALWAYS BEEN POPULAR WITH THE MEXICANS, AND OTHER STATE DEPARTMENT AND CONGRESSIONAL REPRESENTATIVES.

4. THE ATMOSPHERE IN THE MEXICAN CAPITAL IS ONE OF EAGER-NESS FOR THE NEW LOPEZ PORTILLO ADMINISTRATION TO TAKE CHARGE AND GET MOVING TO DISPEL THE WIDESPREAD SENSE OF UNREST CREATED IN RECENT WEEKS BY OUTGOING PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA.

5. MEXICO HAS BEEN IN DEEP ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL TURMOIL SINCE ECHEVERRIA DEVALUED THE PESO FROM 8 CENTS TO SLIGHTLY LESS THAN A NICKEL AND THEN PERMITTED LANDLESS PEASANTS IN THE NORTH TO SEIZE LARGE TRACTS OF RICH FARMLAND FROM THEIR OWNERS. THIS UNREST WAS ACCENTUATED ON THE EVE OF THE INAUGURATION WHEN FIVE BOMB BLASTS SHOOK VARIOUS PARTS OF THE CAPITAL.

6. JUST AS THE CARTER TRANSITION PERIOD IN THE UNITED STATES IS ONE OF WILD GUESSING AND HIGH UNCERTAINTY, THE MEXICAN TRANSITION HAS BEEN THE SAME. MUCH OF THAT GUESSWORK ENDED LAST NIGHT WHEN LOPEZ PORTILLO'S CABINET CHOICES WERE MADE PUBLIC ON NATIONAL RADIO AND TELEVISION.

7. AS IN WASHINGTON ALSO, THERE WILL BE A HONEYMOON PERIOD OF UNDEFINED DURATION FOR THE NEW PRESIDENT.

8. THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN DISILLUSIONED BY ECHEVERRIA'S OPEN COURTSHIP OF THE THIRD WORLD AND THE POLITICAL LEFT, AS WELL AS THE SHOCK OF THE LAND SEIZURES AND THE DEVALUATION OF THE CURRENCY, ARE UNABASHEDLY HAILING LOPEZ PORTILLO AS A MAN WHO WILL RESTORE NORMALCY AND STABILITY.

9. THE DIFFERENCE MAY WELL BE AS MUCH A MATTER OF STYLE AS OF POLICY.

10. PERCEPTIVE MEXICANS READILY ACKNOWLEDGE THAT THE 56-YEAR OLD NEW PRESIDENT HAS INHERITED A MESS WHICH IS IMPOSSIBLE TO UNTANGLE OVERNIGHT.

11. ECHEVERRIA PROBABLY DID HIM A FAVOR BY DEVALUING THE PESO BUT ECHEVERRIA PROBABLY OPENED A PANDORA'S BOX FOR HIS SUCCESSOR BY SUPPORTING THE LAND SEIZURES IN SONORA AND SINALOA STATES. LOPEZ PORTILLO FROM NOW ON WILL BE A UNCLASSIFIED

MAN ON A TIGHTROPE FACING THE CRITICAL ISSUE OF LAND IN A COUNTRY WITH AN EXPLODING POPULATION AND ALMOST NO AVAILABLE ARABLE LAND TO SATISFY A LAND HUNGER OF THE POOR FARMERS.

12. ECHEVERRIA'S ACTIONS WERE DESIGNED TO MAKE HIM A PLACE IN HISTORY JUST AS HIS PREDECESSOR, GUSTAVO DIAZ ORDAZ, DID BY CONSTRUCTING THE EFFICIENT METRO SUBWAY SYSTEM. ECHEVERRIA ALSO WAS PLAYING UP TO THE THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES IN HOPES THAT HE WILL BE ELECTED SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

13. BUT LOPEZ PORTILLO IS ALREADY PROJECTING THE IMAGE OF A MAN WHO IS WELL AWARE OF WORLD ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL REALITIES AND WHO WILL NOT INDULGE IN THE KIND OF GRAND-

STANDING WITH THE MEXICAN COMMON MAN THAT WAS ECHEVERRIA'S TRADEMARK.

14. RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES BECAME CONSIDERABLY STRAINED IN THE SECOND HALF OF ECHEVERRIA'S TERM ON POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ISSUES OF SUBSTANCE AS WELL AS THE MATTER OF THE PRISONERS EACH COUNTRY HAS IN JAILS OF THE OTHER.

15. ECHEVERRIA INCREASINGLY IDENTIFIED HIMSELF WITH THE FAR LEFT IN CUBA AND MARXIST CHILE BEFORE THE 1973 COUP. BUT LOPEZ PORTILLO SHOWS EVERY SIGN OF WANTING CLOSER IDENTIFICATION WITH THE WESTERN DEMOCRACIES AND THE UNITED STATES TO ATTRACT INVESTMENT AND TRADE IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF STABILITY AND GENERALLY TO OPERATE IN MUCH CLOSER COOPERATION WITH WASHINGTON.

16. BUSINESSMEN ALREADY ARE HAILING LOPEZ PORTILLO'S DECLARATION OF WAR AGAINST "MORDIDA," LITERALLY "THE BITE." MORDIDA IS THE PERCENTAGE RAKEOFF FOR ACCOMPLISHING ALMOST ANY TYPE OF BUSINESS HERE AND HAS BECOME COMMONPLACE. LOPEZ PORTILLO SAID IN HIS CAMPAIGN THAT HE WOULD PUT AN END TO THE PRACTICE BECAUSE, IN EFFECT, MEXICANS WOULD BE DEVOURING THEMSELVES.

UNCLASSIFIED

17. NONE OF THIS MEANS THAT LOPEZ PORTILLO WILL BECOME A PATSY FOR U.S. INTERESTS. A MORE REALISTIC ASSESSMENT IS THAT HE WILL NOT MAKE UNNECESSARY WAVES IN THE COMPLEX RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO NEIGHBOR NATIONS. IT IS STILL A FACT OF LIFE THAT NO MEXICAN PRESIDENT CAN AFFORD TO SEEM TOO SNUG WITH THE AMERICANS BECAUSE NO ONE HERE HAS FORGOTTEN THE LOSS OF TEXAS AND WHAT IS NOW MOST OF THE AMERICAN WEST. THE LOST BATTLE BETWEEN THE U.S. MARINES AND THE BOY CADET HEROES OF CHAPULTEPEC ALSO IS ENGRAVED IN THE NATIONAL MEMORY.

18. AND THERE ARE STILL TWO PLACES NO MEXICAN PRESIDENT CAN EVER BE SEEN: THE AMERICAN EMBASSY OR A CATHOLIC CHURCH. THIS HAS GIVEN RISE TO THE SAYING, "PITY POOR MEXICO, SO FAR FROM GOD, SO CLOSE TO THE UNITED STATES."

19. BUT LOPEZ PORTILLO BY ALL ACCOUNTS IS A VERY PRACTICAL MAN. HE KNOWS THAT MEXICO'S $2 BILLION NEGATIVE BALANCE OF TRADE WITH THE UNITED STATES CAN ONLY BE OFFSET BY TOURISM AND INVESTMENT FROM THAT POWERFUL NEIGHBOR.

HE PROBABLY NEVER WOULD HAVE ANTAGONIZED AMERICAN JEWS, SO IMPORTANT TO TOURISM, BY VOTING AGAINST ISRAEL IN THE UNITED NATIONS AS ECHEVERRIA DID.

20. BUT LOPEZ PORTILLO'S PROBLEMS PRIMARILY WILL BE DOMESTIC ONES THAT CANNOT BE SOLVED BY QUIXOTIC FOREIGN POLICY.

21. HE FACES A SURGING POPULATION WITH A GROWTH RATE OF 3.2 PERCENT ANNUALLY. THIS MEANS THAT MEXICO'S 60 MILLION PEOPLE WILL BE DOUBLED BY THE YEAR 2000 AND THERE ARE ALREADY 11 MILLION PEOPLE TRYING TO MAKE A LIVING IN THE CAPITAL ALONE.

22. IN AN ARID COUNTRY THAT DEPENDS SO HEAVILY ON AGRI-CULTURE, THE NEW PRESIDENT WILL HAVE TO FIND NEW LAND RE-SOURCES THROUGH IRRIGATION, HYDROELECTRIC DAMS AND BY DIVERTING MORE AND MORE OF THE NATION'S ENERGY TO
UNCLASSIFIED

INDUSTRY.

23. WHETHER HE CAN OR WILL DO ANYTHING TO REDUCE THE POPULATION EXPANSION BEFORE IT REACHES A CRITICAL STAGE IS PROBLEMATICAL. OFFICIALLY MEXICO IS A SECULAR STATE BUT MOST MEXICANS ARE DEVOUT CATHOLICS WHO RESIST FAMILY PLANNING SCHEMES OF ALL SORTS AND WHO PUT A PREMIUM ON LARGE FAMILIES.

24. MEXICO CITY IS ABLAZE WITH NEON SIGNS, BANNERS, FLAGS AND ALL THE OTHER TRAPPINGS OF A JOYOUS OCCASION ALTHOUGH IT IS DIFFICULT TO TELL WHETHER THE DECORATIONS ARE DE-SIGNED FOR THE INAUGURATION OR FOR THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPING SEASON. MEXICAN TROOPS MADE SOME APPEARANCE ON THE STREETS IN FRONT OF KEY GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS IN THE PAST 24 HOURS BUT THIS IS STANDARD AND THE MOOD IS JUBILANT BECAUSE OF THE CHANGE TAKING PLACE TODAY.

25. MRS. ROSALYNN CARTER MADE A BIG HIT AT A RECEPTION LAST NIGHT IN THE AMERICAN EMBASSY BY UTTERING SEVERAL SENTENCES IN PAINFULLY MANGLED SPANISH, CLIMAXED BY HER DECLARATION THAT SHE WOULD DO SOMETHING ABOUT SPEAKING THE LANGUAGE BETTER WHEN SHE MOVES INTO THE WHITE HOUSE WITH HER SPANISH-SPEAKING HUSBAND NEXT MONTH. E. O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: PINT, MX
SUBJECT: LOPEZ PORTILLO INAUGURAL SPEECH

1. PRESIDENT JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO DELIVERED A ONE HOUR AND FORTY-FIVE MINUTE INAUGURAL SPEECH FOLLOWING HIS OATH-TAKING THIS MORNING IN THE NATIONAL AUDITORIUM. HIS PROGRAM FOR ADDRESSING THE ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL PLIGHT OF THE COUNTRY ARE BEING REPORTED SEPARATELY.CLEARLY, LOPEZ PORTILLO'S ESSENTIAL PURPOSE WAS TO BEGIN AN ALL-OUT EFFORT AT THE DIFFICULT PROCESS OF RESTORING THE HEAVILY ERODED CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENT. HIS SPEECH WAS UPBEAT, DIGNIFIED, STATESMANLIKE, AND IN MANY PASSAGES ELOQUENT. NO REALIST EXPECTED HIM TO CRITICIZE OPENLY ECHEVERRI'S POLICIES. INDEED, HE DELIBERATELY BEGAN WITH A BRIEF TRIBUTE TO HIS PREDECESSOR, WHO FLANKED HIM ON THE PODIUM. NEVERTHELESS, LOPEZ PORTILLO'S CONSTANT REFERENCES TO THE COUNTRY'S CURRENT STATE OF CRISIS, ITS MANY PROBLEMS AND HIS COMMITMENT TO SOLVE THEM, AND MOST IMPORTANTLY THE NEED TO "FACE THE TRUTH OF OUR SITUATION" WERE ALL CLEAR SIGNALS THAT HE HAD CORRECTLY READ THE TEMPER OF THE TIME AND PLACE AND WAS TRYING TO EXORCIZE THE CLIMATE

OF UNCERTAININTY AND UNREST THAT CHARACTERIZED ECEHVERRIA'S LAST MONTHS IN POWER.

2. LOPEZ PORTILLO PLEADED REPEATEDLY FOR CALM, COURAGE, PATIENCE, AND COOPERATIVE EFFORT BY ALL CLASSES OF SOCIETY IN THE WORK OF CONTINUING MEXICO'S SOCIAL RE-

UNCLASSIFIED

VOLUTION. HE CONDEMNED NOT ONLY INSIDIOUS RUMORS (WHICH HE IMPLIED WERE IN PART A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT AT DESTABILIZATION) AS WELL AS THE WIDESPREAD TRANSMISSION OF RUMORS THAT AROSE FROM FEAR ABOUT THE ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL WELL-BEING OF THE COUNTRY. IN SEVERAL DIFFERENT WAYS HE EMPHASIZED THAT FEAR WAS MEXICO'S GREATEST DANGER, COMMENTING IN HIS PERORATION, "IF WE ROCK THE BOAT AND IT SWAMPS, WE ALL DROWN. IF WE WANT TO MOVE AHEAD WITHOUT A SHIPWRECK, THE FIRST TASK IS TO CALM DOWN OUR NERVOUS AND PANIC-STRICKEN ACTIVITY. THIS IS WHAT WE REALLY HAVE TO FEAR. LET US REJECT IT."

UNCLASSIFIED

3. IN THE COURSE OF TRYING TO RESTORE CONFIDENCE, LOPEZ PORTILLO ALSO STRESSED THE NEED TO "BIND UP THE NATION'S WOUNDS". HE CALLED ON PESSIMISTS NOT TO ALLOW RESENTMENT TO CLOUD THEIR INTELLIGENCE, INVITED INTELLECTUALS TO RECONCILE THEIR INDEPENDENCE, WITH THE NEED FOR PUBLIC SERVICE, AND ASKED THOSE WHO FEEL NO ALLEGIANCE TO THE NATION(DESNACIONALIZADOS) AT LEAST "NOT TO HINDER THE REST OF US. THUS THEY WILL HELP US." IN A MOVING AND REVEALING PASSAGE HE ASKED "DISPOSSESSED AND MARGINALIZED GROUPS" FOR FORGIVENESS FOR NOT HAVING YET LIFTED THEM OUR OF THEIR MISERY, OF WHICH THE ENTIRE COUNTRY IS ASHAMED. HE CALLED UPON ALL MEXICANS TO BELIEVE IN HIS SINCERITY, ADDING "I WILL HAVE TO PROVE MY ABILITY AND DISCERNMENT THROUGH MY SERVICE. BUT FOR THIS I NEED TIME. GRANT IT TO ME."

4. THE JADED MAY SAY THAT LOPEZ PORTILLO GAVE AN "ALL THINGS TO ALL MEN" ADDRESS, GENERALIZING ON A NUMBER OF POLITICAL THEMES AND NOT ALWAYS BEING SPECIFIC ABOUT REMEDIES FOR CURRENT PROBLEMS. THERE IS SOME TRUTH IN THIS--BUT THE MOST IMPORTANT MERIT IN THE SPEECH, WHICH

UNCLASSIFIED

THE AUDIENCE APPEARED TO FIND ENCOURAGING AND MOVING, AND TO WHICH IT GAVE MANY STANDING OVATIONS, WAS THAT HE WAS FRANK ABOUT THE EXISTENCE OF PROBLEMS. HE WAS PARTICULARLY FRANK IN ADMITTING THAT HE NEEDED TIME AND THE COOPERATION OF ALL ELEMENTS OF SOCIETY TO COPE WITH MEXICO'S CURRENT DIFFICULTIES. IT WAS A PLEA FOR TIME, FOR PATIENCE, FOR FAITH AND FOR GOOD WILL.

5. FOLLOWING ARE BRIEF SUMMARIES OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMENTS ON FOREIGN POLICY, EDUCATION. LABOR AND EMPLOYMENT POLICY, HEALTH, HUMAN SETTLEMENTS, AND ARMED FORCES.

FOREIGN POLICY.
THE PRESIDENT EMPHASIZED THE CONTINUITY OF MEXICO'S FOREIGN POLICY, WHICH HE CHARACTERIZED AS BASED UPON SOVEREIGNTY, INDEPENDENCE, AND INTERNATIONAL SOLIDARITY. IN THIS CONTEXT, HE PLEDGED SUPPORT FOR THE CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES(AUTHORED BY PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA, WHO STOOD AND RECEIVED A STANDING OVATION AT THIS POINT IN THE SPEECH).

IN A REFERENCE TO MEXICO'S STRONG POSITION ON DISARMAMENT, THE PRESIDENT REITERATED HIS COUNTRY'S DETERMINATION TO EXERT ITSINFLUENCE TO ENSURE THE PEACEUFUL RESOLUTION OF CONFLICTS AND THE PROHIBITION OF GENOCIDAL WEAPONS THAT THREATEN THE EXISTENCE OF HUMANITY. IN AN INDIRECT REFERENCE TO MULTI-LATERAL AFFAIRS, LOPEZ PORTILLO SAID THAT MEXICO, AS A SOVEREIGN NATION, REAFFIRMS ITS DETERMINATION

DENOUNCING ALL FORMS OF SUBMISSION, HE CONCLUDED BY REAFFIRMING MEXICO'S DTERMINATION TO PROMOTE THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A NEW AND JUST SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC ORDER FOR UTILIZING THE WORLD'S RESOURCES TO PROMOTE A BETTER LIFE BY DISPELLING IGNORANCE, HUNGER, DISEASE AND VIOLENCE.

HUMAN SETTLEMENTS

THE PRESIDENT REITERATED MEXICO'S COMMITMENT TO A POLICY ON HUMAN SETTLEMENTS THAT WOULD LEAD TO A JUST AND MORE RATIONAL DISTRIBUTION OF THE POPULATION, PROMOTE REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND RESTORE A BALANCE BETWEEN THE RURAL AND URBAN AREAS. SUCH A POLICY, HE SAID, WOULD BE ENTRUSTED TO THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS AND AIMED AT PROMOTING THE AVAILABILITY OF ESSENTIAL SPACE, ADEQUATE SERVICES, AND PUBLIC HOUSING FOR ALL.

ARMED FORCES

IN HIS ONLY REFERENCE TO THE ARMED FORCES, LOPEZ PORTILLO CALLED ON MEXICO'S SOLDIERS TO DEMONSTRATE VALOR AND LOYALTY IN SAFEGUARDING THE NATION'S INTEGRITY, PLEDGING THAT HE WOULD NEVER ASK THEM TO SUPPORT ARBITRARY MEASURES OF COVER-UPS AND ABUSE.

EDUCATION

THE PRESIDENT REITERATED HIS INTENTION TO INCREASE SUPPORT FOR EDUCATION (RESEARCH, TEACHING, ETC.), EMPHASIZING ITS IMPORTANCE TO INCREASING THE NATION'S PRODUCTIVITY AND THE REALIZATION OF ITS DEVELOPMENT GOALS. PLEDGING TO SEEK NEW WAYS OF MARSHALLING RESOURCES TO CREATE CAPITAL FOR EDUCATION, HE EMPHASIZED THAT THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT WOULD COORDINATE ITS EFFORTS MORE CLOSELY WITH THOSE OF THE STATES.

LABOR AND EMPLOYMENT POLICY

THE PRESIDENT PLEDGED HIMSELF TO FORMULATION OF A RATIONAL EMPLOYMENT POLICY BASED UPON SOCIETY'S OBLIGATION TO PROVIDE EVERY WORKER WITH SUFFICIENT

TRAINING TO MEET HIS NEEDS. WITH REGARD TO SALARIES, HE STRESSED THAT EVERY EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO ENSURE THT THEY ARE BASED ON PRODUCTIVITY AND THE REQUIREMENTS OF JUSTICE RATHER THAN "BLIND DEPENDENCE ON SUPPLY AND DEMAND." THE PRESIDENT STATED HIS STRONG SUPPORT FOR LABOR UNIONS AND THE JUST PROCESSES OF DEMOCRATIZATION THROUGH WHICH SUCH UNIONS ASSIST MEXICO'S WORKERS TO IMPROVE THEIR STANDARD OF LIVING.

HEALTH

LOPEZ PORTILLO DEFINED HIS GOALS IN THE FIELD OF

HEALTH AS ENCOMPASSING NOT ONLY THE STRUGGLE AGAINST DISEASE, BUT THE PROMOTION OF FAMILY PLANNING, HEALTH EDUCATION, AND REHABILITATION, WITH SPECIAL EMPHASIS UPON PREVENTIVE MEDICINE. (THE PRESIDENT MADE NO MENTION OF CONTROLLING DRUG ABUSE EITHER IN ITS NATIONAL OR INTERNATIONAL RAMIFICATIONS.) ONLY A BRIEF REFERENCE WAS MADE TO FAMILY PLANNING.

5. PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA COULD NOT CONSTITUTIONALLY SUCCEED HIMSELF, HAS PRODUCED A TUMULTUOUS CHANGE-OF-COMMAND BY ORDERING EXPROPRIATIONS OF LARGE FARMS, GIVING THEM TO PEASANTS, AND BY DEVALUING THE LONG STABLE MEXICAN PESO.

6. IN RECENT DAYS ECHEVERRIA HAS PUBLICLY DENIED RUMORS THAT A MILITARY COUP WOULD BE STAGED BEFORE THE INAUGURATION. WHILE HIS OWN FUTURE POLITICAL PLANS ARE NOT KNOWN, HE HAS OFFERED HIMSELF AS A CANDIDATE FOR THE POSITION OF SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

7. MRS. CARTER AND LADYBIRD JOHNSON HAVE COME TO THE INAUGURATION AT THE INVITATION OF THE WIFE OF INCOMING PRESIDENT JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO.

8. SECRETARY OF STATE HENRY A. KISSINGER HEADS AN OFFICIAL U.S. DELEGATION THAT INCLUDES UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE WILLIAM D. ROGERS, ASSISTANT SECRETARY HARRY SHLAUDEMAN, SENATE MAJORITY LEADER MIKE MANSFIELD (D-MONT.) AND PRESIDENT FORD'S SON, JACK FORD.

9. BUT THE ATTENTION OF THE PRESS AS WELL AS FOREIGN OFFICIALS IS CENTERED ON MRS. CARTER, WHO IS MAKING HER FIRST DIPLOMATIC TRIP ABROAD SINCE HER HUSBAND WON THE ELECTION NOV. 2.

10. KISSINGER IS CARRYING ON DIPLOMATIC ACTIVITIES AFTER SPENDING FIVE DAYS WITH HIS WIFE, NANCY, IN ACAPULCO, A MEXICAN RESORT. LAST NIGHT KISSINGER MET FOR NEARLY AN HOUR WITH ECHEVERRIA. THIS MORNING FOREIGN MINISTER CARLOS ROMULO OF THE PHILIPPINES MET WITH KISSINGER AT THE U.S. AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE.

11. ACCORDING TO A MEXICAN GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN, ECHEVERRIA AND KISSINGER TALKED OF "WORLD PROBLEMS." THE SPOKESMAN DECLINED TO SAY WHETHER THE TWO HAD DISCUSSED ECHEVERRIA'S BID FOR THE OFFICE OF U.S. SECRETARY GENERAL.

12. YESTERDAY THE OUTGOING MEXICAN PRESIDENT WHO HAS UNCLASSIFIED

SPENT MUCH TIME AND ENERGY ON A FOREIGN POLICY MARKED BY ITS THIRD WORLD FERVOR, SENT A LETTER TO THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL OFFERING HIS CANDIDACY. THE COUNCIL IS TO MEET FRIDAY TO RECOMMEND ITS CHOICE FOR SECRETARY GENERAL. KURT WALDHEIM, WHOSE FIRST FIVE-YEAR TERMS ENDS DEC. 31, IS EXPECTED TO BE CHOSEN FOR A SECOND TERM.

13. THE LETTER CAME AS A SURPRISE IN MEXICAN POLITICAL CIRCLES, WHERE IT WAS GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT ECHEVERRIA HAD GIVEN UP HOPE FOR THE POST.

14. "I HAVE RECEIVED THE GOOD WILL AND SUPPORT OF NUMEROUS MEMBER STATES FROM DIFFERENT REGIONAL GROUPS FOR MY CANDIDACY," ECHEVERRIA'S LETTER SAID. "THEREFORE I ASK YOU TO TAKE NOTE THAT FROM 1 DECEMBER ONWARD ... I SHALL BE AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE MEMBER NATIONS OF THE U.N."

15. LAST NIGHT'S BOMBINGS HAVE PUT THE NERVES OF PEOPLE IN THE CAPITAL FURTHER ON EDGE. MEXICO CITY HAS BEEN BESET BY UNLIKELY AND ALARMING RUMORS, RANGING FROM AN IMPENDING COUP TO ATTEMPTS ON THE LIVES OF ECHEVERRIA'S WIFE AND CHILDREN.

16. POLICE HAVE BLAMED THE 23D OF SEPTEMBER COMMUNIST LEAGUE FOR THE BOMBINGS, AS THEY HAVE ALL RECENT URBAN TERRORIST ACTION, BUT THEY HAVE OFFERED NO PROOF.

17. FOLLOWING LAST WEEK'S MASSIVE EXPROPRIATION OF LAND-HOLDINGS BY THE GOVERNMENT IN MEXICO'S NORTHERN FARM BELT, A GROUP OF NEARLY 1,000 PEASANTS BELONGING TO AN INDEPENDENT FEDERATION HAS OCCUPIED SOME 30 LARGE ESTATES IN THE STATE OF DURANGO. THE PEASANTS CLAIM THE ESTATES ARE LARGER THAN PERMITTED BY LAW AND THEY DEMAND THAT THE GOVERNMENT EXPROPRIATE THESE ALSO.

18. IN THE STATE OF JALISCO, NORTHWEST OF MEXICO CITY, ANOTHER 24 ESTATES ARE BEING HELD BY LANDLESS PEASANTS WHO DEMAND THAT THE GOVERNMENT FINALLY ACT ON THEIR PETITIONS FOR LAND, FILED MANY YEARS AGO.

19. MRS. CARTER WAS MET AT THE AIRPORT TODAY BY MEXICO'S

1. HEREWITH FULL TEXT ALAN RIDING BYLINER NEW YORK TIMES WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 1 HEADED "MEXICO'S NEW CHIEF INHERITING A CRISIS."

2. JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO,WHO BEGINS A SIX-YEAR TERM AS PRESIDENT OF MEXICO TOMORROW, WILL INHERIT AN ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL CRISIS THAT DEMANDS HIS IMMEDIATE ATTENTION BUT HAS ITS ROOTS IN ALMOST INSOLUBLE SOCIAL PROBLEMS.

3.THE INAUGURATION OF MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO WILL ITSELF DISPEL MUCH OF THE RECENT ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL UNCERTAINITY, WHICH HAS STEMMED FROM RUMORS OF AN IMMINENT MILITARY COUP OR AN ATTEMPT BY THE OUTGOING PRESIDENT, LUIS ECHEVERRIA ALVAREZ TO REMAIN IN POWER.

4. MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO IS EXPECTED TO MOVE QUICKLY TO RESTORE BASIC CONFIDENCE IN THE ECONOMY BY STABILIZING THE MEXICAN CURRENCY AND BY SEEKING THE BACKING OF BOTH MEXICAN AND FOREIGN BUSINESSMEN AND BANKERS FOR THE AUSTERITY PROGRAM THAT NOW SEEMS NECESSARY.

5. IN ADDITION, HAVING REMAINED SILENT ABOUT HIS PLANS FOR THE COUNTRY SINCE HIS ELECTION JULY 4, MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO CAN COUNT ON POPULAR SUPPORT FOR ANY ATTEMPT TO ASSERT HIS AUTHORITY, NOT ONLY OVER THE COUNTRY BUT MORE SPECIFICALLY OVER THE LINGERING IMAGE OF PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA.

6. AS A RESULT, DESPITE THE PRESENT CRISIS, THE NEW PRESIDENT WILL PROBABLY ENJOY A BRIEF HONEYMOON WHILE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL FORCES DETERMINE THE RESPONSE TO HIS POLICIES.

7. SOME PROBLEMS, HOWEVER, WILL NOT WAIT. ENCOURAGED BY PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S MASS EXPROPRIATION OF PRIVATE FARMS IN NORTHWEST MEXICO TWO WEEKS AGO, LANDLESS PEASANTS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY HAVE STEPPED UP THEIR CAMPAIGN FOR LAND.

8. MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO IS THEREFORE UNDER GREAT PRESSURE TO DEFINE HIS POLICY TOWARD THE RURAL SECTOR IF VIOLENCE IS TO BE AVOIDED. FARM WORKER ORGANIZATIONS WANT HIM TO PRESS ON WITH THE EXPROPRIATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF PRIVATE FARMS, WHILE CONSERVATIVES ARE DEMANDING AN END TO LAND INVASIONS AND GOVERNMENT AGITATION AMONG THE PEASANTRY.

9. DISCONTENT WITHIN THE LABOR MOVEMENT OVER THE UNEMPLOYMENT AND INFLATION THAT FOLLOWED THE RECENT DEVALUATIONS OF THE MEXICAN PESO MAY ALSO COME TO A CLIMAX SOON IN NEW WAGE DEMANDS.

10. AFTER DECREEING A 23 PERCENT NATIONWIDE WAGE INCREASE JUST TWO MONTHS AGO, PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA COMMITTED THE NEW GOVERNMENT TO REVIEWING WAGES AGAIN ON JAN. 1, JUST AT THE TIME THAT ITS AUSTERITY PROGRAM SHOULD BE TAKING EFFECT.

PERSONAL STYLE MAY HELP
UNCLASSIFIED

11. BUT IF MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO OVERCOMES THESE TWO TESTS OF HIS POLITICAL STRENGTH AND SKILL, MANY MEXICAN ANALYSTS BELIEVE HIS PERSONAL STYLE OF GOVERNMENT SHOULD HELP BRING TOGETHER MANY SECTORS OF SOCIETY THAT HAVE BEEN DRIVEN TO POSITIONS OF NEAR CONFRONTATION BY MR. ECHEVERRIA.

12. UNLIKE THE OUTGOING PRESIDENT, WHO HAS USED FIERCE LANGUAGE TO CUDGEL CONSERVATIVES AND MOBILIZE LEFTISTS, MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO PREFERS TO WIN POINTS THROUGH HARD

BARGAINING IN PRIVATE. "THERE WILL BE LESS POPULISM AND DEMAGOGUERY," ONE OF HIS AIDES SAID "BUT THIS DOESN'T MEAN HE'S GOING TO MOVE TO THE RIGHT."

13. THE EXTENT TO WHICH THE LOPEZ PORTILLO GOVERNMENT

CAN--OR INDEED WANTS TO--CONTINUE THE REFORMIST POLICIES OF MR. ECHEVERRIA MAY DEPEND ON SUCH EXTERNAL FACTORS AS THE WILLINGNESS OF THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND AND FOREIGN BANKERS TO CONTINUE MAKING UNCONDITIONAL LOANS TO SUSTAIN THE MEXICAN ECONOMY.

14. MOST ECONOMISTS BELIEVE THAT MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO CANNOT HOPE TO STABILIZE THE PESO AND CONTROL INFLATION--RUNNING AT ABOUT 30 PERCENT THIS YEAR--IF HE CONTINUES MR. ECHEVERRIA'S POLICIES OF MASSIVE DEFICIT SPENDING ON SOCIAL REFORM PROJECTS.

15. THE ECONOMY IS EXPECTED TO GROW BY ONLY 2 PERCENT THIS YEAR, AND AN EVEN GREATER RECESSION IS BEING FORECAST FOR NEXT YEAR AS THE GOVERNMENT TRIES TO CUT ITS BALANCE OF PAYMENTS DEFICIT OF 3 BILLION DOLLARS, REDUCE ITS CHRONIC BUDGET DEFICIT AND SLOW THE GROWTH OF ITS FOREIGN DEBT, NOW 24 BILLION DOLLARS.

16. ONCE STATE FINANCES ARE IN BETTER SHAPE, HOWEVER, ECONOMIC GROWTH CAN BE RESUMED AND SOME OF THE FRUITS OF PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S VAST INVESTMENT IN INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES WILL BE HARVESTED. FOR EXAMPLE, IN THE LAST SIX YEARS, OIL RESERVES HAVE TRIPLED, OIL PRODUCTION HAS DOUBLED AND OIL EXPORTS HAVE BEGUN, WHILE THE STEEL,
UNCLASSIFIED

PETROCHEMICAL AND ELECTRICITY INDUSTRIES HAVE ALL DOUBLED THEIR CAPACITIES.

17. AN EXPANDING ECONOMY MAY ALSO ENABLE MR. LOPEZ PORTILLO TO CARRY OUT ONE OF HIS MAIN GOALS--A MAJOR FISCAL REFORM SWITCHING THE EMPHASIS FROM INDIRECT TO DIRECT TAXATION AND THE LOAD FROM THE MIDDLE TO THE UPPER CLASSES.

18. THE EXPECTATION THAT THE NEW GOVERNMENT CAN RESTORE THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PRIVATE SECTOR IN THE ECONOMY, HOWEVER, DOES NOT EXTEND TO A BELIEF THAT IT CAN RESOLVE THE ECONOMIC CONTRADICTIONS AND SOCIAL INJUSTICES THAT ARE DEEPENING THE POLITICAL DIVISIONS IN THE COUNTRY.

SUBJ: NOVEMBER 30 DINNER WITH LOPEZ PORTILLO FAMILY

REF: MEXICO 14965

1. ON EVENING NOVEMBER 30, LOPEZ PORTILLO FAMILY HOSTED A DINNER AT THEIR HOME WITH MRS. ROSALYNN CARTER, SECRETARY AND MRS. KISSINGER, AND MR. JACK FORD AS GUESTS OF HONOR. ATMOSPHERE WAS ONE OF OPEN FRIENDLINESS AND INFORMALITY -- PRACTICALLY A FAMILY OCCASION. GUESTS INCLUDED NEWLY-NAMED SECRETARY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS SANTIAGO ROEL GARCIA AND HIS WIFE, THE PHILLIP ALSTONS, PAUL AUSTINS, AND ROBERT CHAMBERS OF ATLANTA, AS WELL AS AMBASSADOR AND MRS. JOVA.

2. IN INFORMAL TOASTS AND REMARKS MADE JUST BEFORE MIDNIGHT, PRESIDENT-ELECT EXPRESSED HIS GRATITUDE FOR THE PERSONAL PRESENCE OF MRS. CARTER IN MEXICO FOR THE INAUGURATION, AND MADE THE POINT THAT MEXICO AND THE US WERE BEGINNING NEW ADMINISTRATIONS ALMOST SIMULTANEOUSLY. HE ADDRESSED SECRETARY KISSINGER NOTING THE FACT THE HE REPRESENTED PRESIDENT FORD, AND COMMENTING ON HIS PERSONAL FRIENDSHIP WITH THE SECRETARY AND ON THE LONGSTANDING TRADITION OF US-MEXICAN FRIENDSHIP AND COLLABORATION.

3. IN REPLY, TO LOPEZ-PORTILLO REMARKS, MRS. CARTER THANKED THE PRESIDENT-ELECT ON BEHALF OF HER HUSBAND, AND EMPHASIZED PRESIDENT-ELECT CARTER'S SPECIAL INTEREST

5. COMMENT: WITHOUT DOUBT DECEMBER 1 IS THE MOST IMPORTANT SIGNIFICANT DAY IN THE LIVES OF THE LOPEZ PORTILLOS. IT IS NOTEWORTHY THAT, AS DAY BEGAN, THE NEW PRESIDENT WAS ENGAGED IN ENTERTAINING REPRES-ENTATIVES OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION AND SPECIALLY INVITED AMERICAN GUESTS. THE OCCASION WAS ONE FOR WHICH HE AND HIS FAMILY HAD TAKEN THE INITIATIVE AND MADE EXTENSIVE SPECIAL EFFORTS. PREVIOUSLY (SEE MEXICO 14965) LOPEZ PORTILLO FAMILY HAD ASKED THAT INFORMATION ABOUT THE NOVEMBER 30 AND DECEMBER 1 DINNERS SHOULD BE CLOSELY HELD, NOT APPARENTLY WISHING OTHER NATIONS TO CONCLUDE THAT TOO MUCH WAS BEING DONE FOR THE US. LAST NIGHT, HOWEVER, THE PRESIDENT-ELECT MADE CLEAR THAT HE WAS INTERESTED IN SHOWING THAT HE AND HIS ADMINISTRATION INTENDED TO CARRY OUT AN EXTREMELY CLOSE COOPERATION WITH THE UNITED STATES. IT IS CLEAR THAT HE REALIZED THE US HAD A SIMILAR DESIRE AND INTENTION FOR CLOSE COOPERATION WITH MEXICO, DEMONSTRATED BY THE PRESENCE OF THE SECRETARY AND MRS. KISSINGER, THE SON OF THE INCUMBENT PRESIDENT AND THE WIFE OF THE PRESIDENT-ELECT.

Q. WHAT DO YOU THINK OF HIM? (REFERS TO LOPEZ PORTILLO)

A. I THINK HE, YOU KNOW, TO SAY SOMEBODY IS A STRONG MAN DOESN'T SAY MUCH IN MEXICO BECAUSE YOU SPECIALIZE IN STRONG MEN BUT I WAS VERY IMPRESSED WITH HIM AND WE HAD A VERY GOOD TALK.

Q. WHAT DO YOU THINK OF MEXICO'S FUTURE?

A. I THINK MEXICO IS A GREAT COUNTRY AND EVEN IT HAS SOME TEMPORARY DIFFICULTIES, IT IS BOUND TO COME OUT OF THEM. IT IS ONE OF THE LEADERS OF THE WORLD. IT IS ALREADY AT THE POINT OF BEING A DEVELOPED COUNTRY, SO I'M VERY OPTIMISTIC ABOUT THE FUTURE OF MEXICO. IT WILL HAVE A GREAT ROLE TO PLAY.

Q. WHAT SHOULD WE DO TO HAVE A BETTER ECONOMIC FUTURE?

Q. DO YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY AT THIS END OF THE MR. ECHEVERRIA'S PRESIDENCY?

A. WELL, WE ALWAYS WORKED CLOSELY WITH PRESIDENT

ECHEVERRIA AND WE SOLVED ALL OUR PROBLEMS ON THE BASIS OF FRIENDSHIP, EQUALITY AND MUTUAL RESPECT AND SO WE HAVE WARM FEELINGS ABOUT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA AND WE HAVE A GOOD BASIS ON WHICH TO WORK WITH HIS SUCCESSOR, LOPEZ PORTILLO.

Q. MR. SECRETARY DO YOU SEE ANY PROBLEMS IN THE TRANSITION BETWEEN THE TWO ADMINISTRATIONS?

A. IN MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES -- THERE SEEM TO BE NO PROBLEMS IN MEXICO AND I'M POSITIVE THERE WILL BE NO PROBLEMS IN THE UNITED STATES. THE FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES IS A PERMANENT FEATURE AND WE ARE BOTH MAKING A TRANSITION AT THE SAME TIME AND WE WILL MAINTAIN AND STRENGTHEN OUR FRIENDSHIP.

Q.
THANK YOU VERY MUCH.

Q. WHAT IS YOUR CONCLUSION OF THE INTERVIEW WITH (INAUDIBLE) PHILIPPINES?

RELEASED IN FULL

K: When I see Boyd can I make this suggestion of separating Defense from the other arrangements.

R: I wouldn't. I would rather leave that to the negotiating process. My own feeling about it is the more we stay out of it, the better off we are from the Washington end. I think it is better to have Ellsworth go back and listen for another round rather than make a substantive suggestion at this point.

K: Okay. Good. Well, I just wanted to get your judgment. In the selfish manner of this Department they have got more people coming to this meeting.

R: I noticed that. Shall I peel out?

K: No. You I want there.

R: It seemed quite overloaded.

K: I am just going to drop Habib. What Jordan is doing up here only the devil knows.

R: He is on his way to Florida for 5 or 6 days of vacation and golf.

K: I want you to come. We will have to drop Habib.

R: Phil is a helpful guy to have around. With his relations with Vance, he will be helpful. I don't know that he isn't a good man to have in this meeting.

K: Yes. That is a good point. Okay. I will get back to you on this.

2.- Arrest:

On June 25, 1975, Dr. Lorca was arrested with Mrs. Carolina Wiff, Social Worker, at Maule Street # 120 at 16.30 pm by a large group DINA Agents who came in 10 cars. He was handcuffed, his glasses we taken from him and he was taken to a detention camp for interrogat

On July 1, 1975 a writ of Habeas Corpus was presented by his young brother Jaime at the Court of Appeal, but the writ was not accepte by a 2 to 1 vote, because the Secretary of Interior denied that he was under arrest, and the DINA did not even answer the Courts peti of information.

On July 18 a writ of Habeas Corpus was presented to the Supreme Co with six sworn affidavits of actual witnesses of the arrest. In th only case the Supreme Court by a 4 to 1 vote accepted the writ and again contacted the Secretary of Interior and the Dina. The Secret answered that no one by that name was held in custody, and the DIN did not bother to reply to the Supreme Courts petition. Consquentl for lack of evidence , the writ was thrown out of Court , but the Supreme Court sent all the information to a Criminal Court with th recommendation that they investigate this disappearance. Naturally at a lower Court without any power nothing happened .

3.- Reports on Carlos's Imprisonment :

Several detainees have seen Carlos at different prisons and Torture Camps such as "Cuatro Alamos", "Villa Grimaldi", "Colonia Dignidad" in the South of Chile .
He was also seen walking alone in one of the slum areas of Santiago, closely followed by DINA agents. This information was reported to the Catholic Church .
On July 17 1975 the Italian Lawyer Guido Calvi telephoned Colonel Espinoza at the office of the Secretary of Defense and the Colonels reply which was taped stated that he could not supply any more information as this man is under arrest and he will be tried by the Courts.

Chile's principal Newspaper " El Mercurio" has on several ocassions published acts of protest and solidarity with this young Congressman, and has even recommended that his arrest be admitted to stop what they call marxist propaganda .

Last August Lorca's parents received information that Carlos had been shown to a newly imprisoned young socialist. He was according to this report with mental damage, two broken limbs and in a very critical condition . The young man was warned that unless he made a full confession he would suffer the same punishment. The young man made a complete confession and gave the addresses of wanted persons, so for his good behaviour he was sent to "Tres Alamos", where his family could visit him . He sent word to the Lorca family that they should try to get Carlos out as soon as possible due to his critical condition.

Carlos Lorca's father spoke to Harry Schlaudeman, Asst. Secretary of State for Latin America in September 1976, and Under-Secretary Schlaudeman instructed the officer at the Chile Desk Robert Driscoll to make enquiries and to inform the Chilean Government that Carlos would be received in the U.S.A. Of cour Carlos Lorca Sr. was advised that if the Junta insisted on the denial there was not much he could do .

Through a young Attorney, Robert Kissel, of Culpsville Pa., wh stated that he had a very good contact in the White House, Mr. Lorca received a letter which stated that a Mr. Foster Chanock who was one of President Ford's political aides had received i formation through their channels that Dr. Lorca was alive, tha he would eventually be tried and sentenced to prison or expell from the country .

Lorca's father made a special trip to Buenos Aires, and from t he gave all this information to Robert Driscoll, who stated af several days that he could not contact Mr. Chanock as he was a away from Washington campaigning for Mr. Ford. Later Mr. Lorca told that Mr. Chanock had been ordered by someone to keep out the Lorca case , as this might embarrass the Junta .

Mr. Lorca in November 1976 received a letter from the President of the Committee for Human Rights of the Organization of American States where they notified the Chilean Government that this Commit was satisfied with the evidence they had seen that the Chilean Go ment was holding Dr. Lorca. They requested that he be immediately released, and that those responsible for his arrest be duly punish The deadline for this action was February 1st, 1977, and as far as we know nothing has happened .

4.- Solidarity from all the World :

The following Institutions and Governments have contacted the Chilean Authorities demanding that Dr. Lorca's imprisonment be mad public :

Amnesty International
Federation of World Youth
Latin American Students Federation
Red Cross International
Social Democratic Parties of Europe.

K: Have you talked to Hartman about that matter?

H: Yes. He is supposed to have a paragraph up to you. He feels the meeting between him and Kubisch and Macomber--they felt it was well for them to get together and at that point somebody suggested it to you and you felt there might be some value to meeting with them. In any event they should get together and I don't see any need for it. It will get the Greeks all excited.

K: All right, then we will not do it.

H: He is supposed to have a note to you.

K: He has. I wanted to know whether it was before or after.

H: After.

K: You agree with me that the Vance appointment was a good one.

H: I think it was the best possible when you look at the other names.

K: I certainly recommended him.

H: I am glad you did. That is the kind of person you would like to have succeed you. He will never be dishonorable with respect to anything you did.

K: You worked with him in Paris.

H: I know him very well.

K: He will keep you on.

H: I am not so sure you will recommend it.

K: I would strongly recommend it.

H: I will tell Hartman to scrub it then.

K: Yes. I had a great time.

Kalb: Did the President-elect contact you before his announcement on Vance?

K: No. This has to be off the record anyway because I am not taking calls from anyone except old friends.

Kalb: Okay. I am not going to quote you because he made a reference in the news conference that implied he checked with you.

K: It depends what checked means.

Kalb: Did he check with you about the selection of Vance as Secretary of State?

K: He would have to talk about this. I thought you meant did he tell me ahead of time he was going to make an announcement.

Kalb: Did he discuss Vance with you?

K: I think he knows my view of Vance which is highly favorable.

Kalb: I assume you knew him.

K: I knew him in '67 - '68 on the Vietnam negotiations.

Kalb: Right.

K: I tried to recruit him for the Nixon administration.

Kalb: So your sense is it is in good hands -- like Allstate.

K: I think he is the best man he could possibly have appointed, don't you?

Kalb: That is excellent. I have known him fairly well during the 60's but not well -- just on the fly. But mostly during the period when he was working on the Paris Peace talks and I thought during that particular time he appeared to be skillful and knowledgeable.

K: He is calm, decent, honorable, thoughtful and I think he is a superb choice.

K: Yes.

Kalb: He does mean the Middle East there, doesn't he?

K: I have urged him not to make any precise suggestions until he gets everything together and I really don't think it is a good idea for me to do something on a semi-permanent basis.

Kalb: I remember you telling me that.

K: Yes.

Kalb: But you did also say that if a specific assignment came along, that you felt you could help on, you would.

K: Absolutely. I want it to succeed. And it is in all of our interests. We have come through ten years of civil war. We have got to succeed. The next 8 - 10 years are absolutely decisive.

Kalb: When will you see Vance?

K: He has a board meeting Monday and he is going to try to come down late Monday because I am leaving for NATO Tuesday.

Kalb: That is right.

K: We will almost certainly get together Monday.

Kalb: Remember -- what you were thinking of, I want you to think of but I was trying to crack a joke. Please have your meeting on an occasion when I can have a picture of both of you -- you know the succession.

K: It will be about 4:00.

Kalb: If you could allow us in for courtesy.

K: Absolutely.

Kalb: He is not going to NATO with you, is he?

K: I doubt it. I don't see how he can.

Kalb: You have not talked with him about it.

K: No.

Kalb: It would be almost too fast.

K: If it had been somebody totally new but most of these governments know him in one way or another.

Kalb: I had a private feeling when the idea came up, a lot of my colleagues got excited but there was one thing that gnawed at me. That was the sense I don't think you should look like the Hirak of international diplomacy.

K: It should not look like my successor needs me.

Kalb: That is why I think Vance is a good selection and your judgment is excellent. I thank you. I am glad you had a good time in Mexico. Bernie told me he got a word in with you.

K: The devil.

K: I never thought there was any such intention.

D: That is the point. It wasn't intentional. But it was done so it would clear the way out. MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

DATE: December 7, 197

SUBJECT: Conversation with Captain Roberto J. Seisdedos: Part II

PARTICIPANTS: Captain Roberto J. Seisdedos, Human Rights Working Group
Counsel Juan Carlos Arlía, Human Rights Working Group
Mr. Charles W. Bray, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State
Mr. Wayne S. Smith, Political Counselor
Ms. Yvonne Thayer, Political Officer

PLACE: Foreign Ministry

COPIES TO: AMB, DCM, ARA-Mr. Bray

I opened the conversation by recalling our conversation of the night before. I suggested that what we should be considering at this point in our conversation was the practical problem of how to deal with what might become a serious irritant in the relations between our two countries. I noted that the Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs had just indicated to me that (1) a list of those detained by the government and (2) measures against those responsible for excesses might be forthcoming by January. I said that this was very much to be hoped, since it would assist considerably in relieving some of their preoccupations. I asked Captain Seisdedos if he could elaborate on the Undersecretary's statement.

Captain Seisdedos said that unfortunately he could not. He said they indeed hoped that such measures would be possible by January, but that the Undersecretary probably had information to which he was not yet privy. He noted that the Undersecretary had just returned from Mexico with Interior Minister Harguindeguy, and since it is the latter who has blocked the issuance of a list of the det inees, it may be that the Undersecretary is aware of a change in attitude on he Interior Minister's part. Seisdedos reiterated the hope that such lists would be forthcoming and he also expressed the hope that the recently instituted courts martial system will speed up the processing of those detained.

I asked if the GOA planned to answer our Note protesting the treatment accorded Gwenda Mae Loken. Neither Captain Seisdedos, nor Arlía was certain. They believed her allegations were being investigated and that an answer might be prepared when the investigation had been completed.

Ms. Thayer stated that it might help considerably if a list of detainees could be published. She noted that there have been few letters, or other expressions of concern, in the cases of those who have actually been charged and brought before the courts. It is those who are held incommunicado, or who have simply disappeared, who are the subjects of most of the correspondence received by the Embassy. Captain Seisdedos said this coincided with their own experience too. Mr. Arlía cut in to say that they frequently receive letters concerning those who had been tried, but usually this was in the case of those who had not been found guilty on grounds of insufficient evidence, and who therefore were frequently still detained. He repeated that if people are not carried on the books as being held under the State of Siege, or charged with some specific crime, then the government does not have them.

Mr. Smith asked what happens then to all those who simply disappear and on whom the government seems to have no record. Mr. Arlía replied that probably the great majority who disappear are terrorists who have gone underground and thus have dropped out of sight.

Captain Seisdedos said that speaking of lists, he had one of military personnel recently killed in the Federal Capital and Buenos Aires Province. It was a long list, and he noted with some bitterness that he did not recall a single voice of protest or concern raised on behalf of these men whose most fundamental human right--to live--had been extinguished by the terrorists.

I agreed that the terrorists were guilty of heinous crimes, but I repeated that the government itself is sworn to uphold the law. Its legitimacy is indeed based in part on its willingness to do so and it cannot be judged by the same standards as the terrorists. Captain Seisdedos agreed, but he argued that many of the allegations made against the Argentine Government are false. Frequently those released and expelled from the country claim they were tortured. He said he thought the best argument to refute the charges was to point out that the authorities were not so naive as to torture people and then let them go. He recalled that Patricia Erb had of her own free will written and signed a document describing her experience and incarceration in which she had said she had not been mistreated. Further, he said the Argentine Government had released Gwenda Mae Loken in good faith even though they had no doubts concerning her involvement in subversion. They had expelled her as an indication of the value they place on their relations with the U. S., but they had never dreamed she would make the statement she did after her return to the United States. He stated that the responsible officers in the government would have to think very carefully in the future as to the advisability of expelling such people.

Captain Seisdedos emphasized, however, that the Human Rights Working Group had been cooperating closely with the Embassy until now, and would continue to do so. They would do everything they possibly could to satisfy U. S.

expressions of concern with respect to human rights, but that if their best was not enough, the U. S. simply would have to keep its military assistance.

Mr. Arlía then remarked that Father Drinan's conduct in his first meeting at the Foreign Ministry, during which he made threats against the GOA, suggested that the U. S. might be going back to a big stick policy. He asked if this was the case. I said that it was not, but emphasized that Congressman Drinan was expressing the legitimate concerns of his constituents and of the American people as a whole.

Captain Seisdedos concluded by reiterating that this is a "dirty fight," but he emphasized it is not a war. He would never define it as a war because that might suggest the subversive delinquents were belligerents. They were not; they were criminal and did not have the rights of belligerents, and would not be accorded such rights.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

DATE: December 7, 1976

SUBJECT: Conversation with Regional Representative of the UN High Commission for Refugees

PARTICIPANTS: Mr. Robert Muller, Regional Representative of the UN High Commission for Refugees
Mr. Charles W. Bray, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State
Ms. Yvonne Thayer, Political Officer

PLACE: UN Offices

COPIES TO: AMB, DCM, ARA-Mr. Bray

Mr. Muller, a Swiss, represents the UNHCR in all of Latin America, including Mexico. He has been in Argentina 14 months.

Mr. Muller began by explaining the historical background of the refugee situation, particularly the influx of Chileans into Argentina following the fall of the Allende government in 1973. As Argentina does not recognize South Americans as refugees (having signed the 1951 UN Convention on refugees with a geographical reservation excluding the American hemisphere), the status of the Chileans, Paraguayans, Bolivians and Uruguayans who have sought exile in Argentina has always been unclear. During the Peronist government, the exile-refugees were largely left alone but were eyed with suspicion by Argentine authorities and most never regularized their status. Following the military takeover in March 1976, refugee groups began to be harassed by unidentified elements--presumably including members of the security forces--abducted, tortured, detained, threatened, and, in some cases, assassinated. Their plight led to the UN High Commissioner's appeal for resettlement opportunities outside Argentina. Of the original 14,000 mandated refugees, approximately 2,000 have been resettled outside the country. UNHCR estimates another 2,000 have left on their own. For the 10,000 still under UN protection, some 1,200-1,500 offers of resettlement remain. (Canada will take another 500 persons; the UK 70; the U. S. 200 cases--up to 600 persons; France and Switzerland have no quotas and will continue to take urgent cases).

More importantly, Muller indicated that the military government has acknowledged finally that it has a "refugee problem" and has reversed its earlier

POL:YThayer:mg Cleared: ARA:CWBray

79F23

UNCLASSIFIED

hostile attitude toward the UNHCR. Relations with government officials have improved and the government is now cooperating in order to move refugees out of the country.

Harassment of refugees has virtually ceased since August.

In September, the Interior Ministry issued a decree asking illegal aliens (refugees) to register with immigration officials. The Ministry has told UNHCR that it will investigate the persons registered and prepare a list of those who will be allowed to regularize their status in Argentina and those who will not. Persons in the latter group will be given UNHCR priority for resettlement abroad. Muller does not know when the list will be ready but is pressing the Interior Ministry.

Muller said that most of the refugees have not engaged in political activities while in Argentina. The one possible exception were certain groups of Uruguayans who, he believes, may have participated in a propaganda effort against the Uruguayan government, although he said he does not believe they were terrorists. Some 40 Uruguayans disappeared from their homes in Buenos Aires in July and September. Several of them later turned up in the hands of authorities in Uruguay who claimed they had been arrested in Uruguay after feigning their abduction in Argentina. Muller denied the Uruguayan police version but said witnesses in Argentina would be fearful to testify against it. He also said that UNHCR had information that three Chileans arrested in Argentina later appeared in Chilean custody, despite GOA assertions that it would not forceably repatriate refugees. UNHCR officially protested in one of the cases.

Viewing the Argentine situation in general, Muller said he is pessimistic, although not so much for the refugees as for the Argentine people. He said he believes the rapidly deteriorating economic situation is likely to further exacerbate labor unrest and cause widespread discontent which is likely to be met with a move to a more hard-line, repressive government. The human rights problem, Muller said, is far greater for the Argentine people at this point and the solution for them is more difficult.

SUBJECT: FOREIGN BANKERS REACTION TO JLP INAUGURATION ADDRESS

1. SUMMARY: OUR SAMPLING OF FOREIGN BANKERS ATTENDING JLP INAUGURATION INDICATES THEY FOUND SPEECH ENCOURAGING, BUT ARE AWAITING MORE SPECIFIC INDICATIONS OF JLP POLICIES BEFORE MAKING POLICY DECISIONS. MEDIUM-SIZED AND LARGER BANKS APPEAR TO BE WILLING TO MAINTAIN THEIR EXPOSURE AT CURRENT LEVELS, BUT SEVERAL BANKERS INDICATED THERE IS PRESSURE FROM SENIOR MANAGEMENT TO REDUCE EXPOSURE. END SUMMARY.

2. LARGE NUMBER OF FOREIGN BANKS ARE REPRESENTED AT INAUGURATION CEREMONIES OF JLP. CONVERSATIONS OF EMBASSY OFFICIALS WITH THOSE BANKERS INDICATE THAT BANKERS FOUND JLP'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS UPBEAT AND ENCOURAGING, BUT WOULD HAVE LIKED TO KNOW MORE SPECIFICS OF NEW ADMINISTRATION'S ECONOMIC POLICIES. ON THURSDAY NIGHT NEW FINANCE MINISTER MOCTEZUMA HOSTED DINNER AND ONFRIDAY PRESIDENT HOSTED BREAKFAST FOR VISITING BANKERS. WHILE SOME BANKERS HAD EXPRESSED HOPE THAT MORE DETAIL MIGHT BE PROVIDED ON ONE OR BOTH OF THESE OCCASIONS, NONE WAS FORTHCOMING. BANKERS WERE LIMITED FOR MOST PART TO TEN-SECOND CONVERSATIONS WITH SENIOR GOMOFFICIALS. PROBLEMS IN ORGANIZING NEW GOVERNMENT HAS MADE IT DIFFICULT TO SEE NEW SENIOR OFFICIALS PRIVATELY.

4. REPRESENTATIVE OF LARGE NEW YORK BANK SAID THEY WERE ADOPTING LOW PROFILE FOR TIME BEING. HIS COMMENTS IMPLIED THAT HIS SENIOR MANAGEMENT WAS CONSIDERING HOW THEY COULD REDUCE THEIR EXPOSURE OVER COURSE OF NEXT YEAR.

5. SENIOR OFFICIAL OF LARGE PENSYLVANIA BANK EXPRESSED RESERVATIONS ABOUT INAUGURAL SPEECH AND EXPRESSED SATISFACTION THAT HIS BANK'S EXPOSURE WAS HEAVILY ORIENTATED TOWARD PUBLIC SECTOR AND MOSTLY SHORT-TERM.

6. BANKERS THAT TEND TO BE MOST OPTIMISTIC ARE THOSE WITH LARGEST EXPOSURES; I.E, BANK OF AMERICA AND CITIBANK, THOUGH IN PRIVATE THEY TOO EXPRESS THEIR CONCERNS.

7. ONE ITEM IN JLP SPEECH THAT DID IMPRESS BANKERS WAS HIS STATEMENT, "WE WILL SUPPORT COMPANIES WHICH IN GOOD FAITH WERE FORCED TO INCUR DEBTS IN DOLLARS IN ORDER TO PREVENT RISE IN COSTS AND DEPELETION OF THEIR CAPITAL". THEY ARE ANXIOUS TO KNOW HOW NEW GOVERNMENT WILL IMPLEMENT THIS.

8. NEW FINANCE MINISTER, MOCTEZUMA CID IS VIRTUALLY UNKNOWN TO BANKERS WHICH IS PROBABLY NEGATIVE FACTOR, AT LEAST UNTIL MOCTEZUMA CAN PROVE HIMSELF. ROMERO KOLBECK, AS HEAD OF NACIONAL FINANCIERA, WAS KNOWN TO BANKERS, BUT NOT VERY WELL AS LOWER LEVEL OFFICIALS HANDLED MOST OF NAFINSA'S NEGOTIATIONS WITH COMMERCIAL BANKERS. WE HAVE NOT HEARD ANY REMARKS ABOUT TELLO IN PART BECAUSE HIS POSITION WOULD NOT NECESSARILY PUT HIM IN DIRECTO CONTACT WITH FOREIGN BANKERS.

9. BRITISH BANKER EXPRESSED CONCERN ABOUT REACTION OF U.S. BANKS TO MEXICO'S SITUATION. HE SAID THAT HE BELIEVED THAT MEXICO'S DIFFICULTPERIOD WOULD LAST SEVERAL YEARS, BUT THAT THE LONGER-TERM OUTLOOK WAS STILL THE BEST AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES. SHOULD U.S. BANKS TRY TO PULL OUT, HE SAID, THIS WOULD ENDANGER

SUBJECT: MORNING SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT REPORTS

1. SOARES: PORTUGAL IN REVIEW

PRIME MINISTER SOARES TOLD VISITING SENATOR BROOKE THAT THE CRITICAL PROBLEM IN PORTUGAL IS TO LINK ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AND DEMOCRACY. IF THE GOP CAN ACCELERATE ECONOMIC RECOVERY, JOIN THE COMMON MARKET, AND COUNT ON FINANCIAL SUPPORT FROM THE US, IT WILL HAVE PASSED THE WORST STAGE IN CONSOLIDATING DEMOCRACY IN PORTUGAL. SOARES ALSO SAID THAT THE GOVERNMENT:

--HAS MADE STRIDES IN IMPROVING THE ECONOMIC CLIMATE, AS EVIDENCED BY REDUCED ABSENTEEISM, A PROJECTED FIVE PERCENT GNP INCREASE, AND A 93 PERCENT RISE IN TOURISM;

--IS MOVING VIGOROUSLY AGAINST COMMUNIST PENETRATION OF THE MINISTRIES OF EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, AND LABOR; AND

--NEEDS TO DO MORE TO DEFEAT COMMUNIST DOMINATION OF UNIONS, WHICH IS THE MOST VULNERABLE POINT OF THE ENTIRE ECONOMIC STRUCTURE.

UNCLASSIFIED

TURNING FROM ECONOMICS TO POLITICS, SOARES CLAIMED:

--THE COMMUNISTS WILL NEVER VOTE FOR THE DOWNFALL OF THE GOVERNMENT, AS THEY FEAR RIGHTIST MILITARY INTERVENTION.

--THE RESULTS OF THE DECEMBER 12 MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WILL NOT SIGNIFICANTLY ALTER THE EXISTING SITUATION.

--BOTH GOVERNMENT AND THE OPPOSITION STILL HAVE A LOT TO LEARN TO MAKE THE INEFFICIENT ASSEMBLY FUNCTION PROPERLY. (CONFIDENTIAL) LISBON 8425, 12/7.)

2. FRG: PARTING IS SUCH SWEET SORROW

EMBASSY BONN REPORTS THAT THE CDU'S KOHL AND THE CSU'S STRAUSS, UNABLE TO OVERCOME THEIR DIFFERENCES, ISSUED A JOINT COMMUNIQUE DECEMBER 6 WHICH SPELLED THE END OF THEIR 27-YEAR POLITICAL ALLIANCE. ACCORDING TO THE EMBASSY:

--KOHL GAVE THE CSU AN ULTIMATUM TO REVERSE ITS DECISION TO FORM A SEPARATE FRAKTION IN THE BUNDESTAG AND FORESWEAR FOURTH PARTY AMBITIONS OR FACE CDU COMPETITION IN BAVARIA.

--STRAUSS REFUSED TO YIELD, AS RETREAT WOULD HAVE COST HIM THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE CSU.

UNDER BUNDESTAG RULES, ONCE THE TWO PARTIES COMPETE IN AN ELECTION, THEY CANNOT FORM A FRAKTION WITHOUT THE CONSENT

[redacted]

OF THE MAJORITY OF THE BUNDESTAG.

EMBASSY COMMENT: THERE IS STRONG INDICATION THE CDU PLANS TO MOVE INTO BAVARIA. IF SO, IT WILL BE ONLY A MATTER OF TIME BEFORE THE CSU GOES NATIONWIDE. OVER THE LONG RUN, THE CENTRIFUGAL FORCES CREATED BY STRAUSS' ACTION ARE UNPREDICTABLE, BUT THE PROLIFERATION OF SPLINTER PARTIES IS A DISTINCT POSSIBILITY. (CONFIDENTIAL) BONN 20580, 12/7.)

3. GISCARD'S TRIP TO YUGOSLAVIA

THE QUAI'S EASTERN EUROPEAN CHIEF TOLD EMBASSY PARIS THAT PRESIDENT GISCARD'S VISIT TO BELGRADE DECEMBER 6-7 IS AIMED AT UNDERSCORING FRENCH INTEREST IN YUGOSLAVIA'S CONTINUED INDEPENDENCE AND SECURITY. DESPITE THE LARGE SIZE OF THE FRENCH DELEGATION, IT IS UNLIKELY THAT MAJOR AGREE-

UNCLASSIFIED

MENTS WILL EMERGE FROM THE VISIT. ACCORDING TO THE SOURCE, THE JOINT COMMUNIQUE HAS BEEN DELAYED BY YUGOSLAV CHANGES WHICH THE GOF REJECTED OR DEFLECTED. THESE INCLUDE:

--SPECIFIC REFERENCE TO "COOPERATION IN THE FIELD OF ARMAMENTS;"

--OBLIQUE ENDORSEMENT OF NON-ALIGNMENT; AND

UNCLASSIFIED

--THE MALTESE THESIS THAT THE US AND THE USSR SHOULD LEAVE THE MEDITERRANEAN A "LAKE OF PEACE" AND THAT THE MEDITERRANEAN STATES SHOULD PARTICIPATE IN THE BELGRADE CSCE MEETING. (CONFIDENTIAL) PARIS 36091, 12/7.)

4. MORE OIL ON SINAI WATERS

THE EGYPTIAN GENERAL PETROLEUM CORPORATION HAS ANNOUNCED THAT IT IS IN THE PROCESS OF COMPLETING NEGOTIATIONS WITH THREE COMPANIES, INCLUDING GULF OIL AND CONOCO, FOR AWARDS OF EXPLORATION AND PRODUCTION AGREEMENTS FOR ON-AND OFF-SHORE BLOCKS IN THE SINAI. MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS LEGAL DIRECTOR AL-ARABY TOLD EMBASSY CAIRO THAT ACCESS TO THOSE BLOCKS IN THE BUFFER ZONE WOULD BE WORKED OUT BETWEEN THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT AND THE UN, BUT THAT SINCE THE [redacted]

SINAI AGREEMENT IS SILENT ON THE QUESTION OF CIVILIAN ACTIVITY AND SINCE THE AREA IS SOVEREIGN EGYPTIAN TERRITORY, HE FORESAW NO PROBLEM IN GAINING ACCESS.

EMBASSY COMMENT: CONOCO HAS TOLD US THAT THEY INTEND TO WRITE THE AGREEMENT SO THAT THEY BEAR NO RESPONSIBILITY FOR PROCURING PERMITS TO WORK THEIR AREA. WE CAN NEVERTHELESS EXPECT TO BE DRAWN INTO THE MATTER SOONER OR LATER. (CONFIDENTIAL) CAIRO 16748, 12/6.)

5. LOPEZ PORTILLO: THE FIRST FIVE DAYS

THE ATTENDANCE OF WORLD LEADERS AT PRESIDENT LOPEZ PORTILLO'S INAUGURATION WAS A BOOST TO MEXICAN PRIDE AND HELPED BUILD A SPIRIT OF SELF-CONFIDENCE ABSENT IN THE WANING MONTHS OF THE ECHEVERRIA ADMINISTRATION. ACCORDING TO EMBASSY MEXICO:

--THE PRESIDENT, IN MAKING CLEAR THAT HE EXPECTS SCRUPULOUS HONESTY AND DEDICATION, HAS LAID A GOOD FRAMEWORK FOR RESTORING CONFIDENCE IN THE GOVERNMENT.

--HOWEVER, EXPECTATIONS ARE HIGH AND THERE IS BOUND TO BE SOME DISILLUSIONMENT WHEN HE DOESN'T PERFORM MIRACLES.

UNCLASSIFIED

EMBASSY COMMENT: THE QUESTION IS HOW LONG THE ATMOSPHERE OF "GOOD FEELINGS" WILL CONTINUE. PUBLIC CONFIDENCE WILL PROBABLY CONTINUE UNTIL EARLY NEXT YEAR, WHEN OPINION LEADERS WILL HAVE HAD A CHANCE TO SURVEY DEVELOPMENTS AND TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE CHANGES NOW TAKING PLACE ARE SHADOW OR SUBSTANCE. (CONFIDENTIAL) MEXICO 15381, 12/7.)

6. FTAI: SOMALIS BACKING OFF?

THE SOMALI GOVERNMENT HAS RECENTLY GIVEN TWO PUBLIC INDICATIONS THAT IT HAS NO INTENTION OF FORCIBLY ANNEXING THE FTAI:

[redacted]

[redacted]

--THE FTAI MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS, MOHAMED ELABE, AFTER A VISIT TO MOGADISCIO, SAID THERE WAS NO TRUTH TO RUMORS THAT SOMALIA WANTS TO ANNEX THE FTAI.

--FIVE LEADERS OF THE SOMALI-SPONSORED SOMALI COAST LIBERATION FRONT WERE EXPELLED FROM THE ORGANIZATION FOR "CONSPIRACY TO OBSTRUCT THE INDEPENDENCE OF DJIBOUTI."

EMBASSY MOGADISCIO COMMENT: ELABE'S STATEMENT WAS UNDOUBTEDLY AUTHORIZED BY THE SOMALI GOVERNMENT. THESE ACTIONS REFLECT A DELIBERATE EFFORT BY THE GOVERNMENT TO MUTE OVERT ANNEXATIONIST APPEALS AND PROVOCATIVE ACTS THAT INCREASE THE RISK OF ETHIOPIAN COUNTER-REACTION. THE SOMALIS APPEAR TO BELIEVE THAT IF THEY CAN AVOID AN ARMED CONFLICT WITH ETHIOPIA, THEY STAND A REASONABLE CHANCE OF ACQUIRING DJIBOUTI THROUGH POLITICAL MEANS. (CONFIDENTIAL) MOGADISCIO 1975, 12/5 AND 1993, 12/7.) ROBINSON

Subject: Seminar on Argentine Situation.

Here are the highlights of a panel discussion on the Argentine situation sponsored by WOLA. These are based on my notes which are not necessarily quotes on what was said. The panel consisted of Eldon Kenworthy of Cornell University and the Latin American Studies Organization (LASO); Peter Miscelli, representing 16 U.S. Chambers of Commerce in Latin America; and Bill Luers.

In the prefatory remarks, Miscelli expressed the frustration of the U.S. business community in Latin America at the way the news media has distorted the human rights issue. He read from a report by the Argentine-American Chamber of Commerce which asked for understanding of what the new government is faced with given the disruptive political and economic history which Argentina has recently undergone. He said the last Chamber of Commerce meeting in Mexico City supported human rights--but not those actions which restricted loans and other economic collaboration with Latin American governments.

Kenworthy sought to underline the dilemma of the Argentine people--either support the regime or be politically neutral. But he stressed that neutrality is not enough for the military. The de facto situation is that any allegation of "subversion" i.e., not supportive of the regime, is dangerous. He claimed Argentina is the least safe country in the world. The GOA indiscriminately attacks the populace as a whole, in essence "removing the water which supports the fish" (those who do not go along with the government's imposition of a very severe, conservative, economic policy). U.S. policy, he asserted, is that so long as Videla handles his public relations well there is no real problem. (Our difficulty with Chile was not its conduct but its bad PR.) And the US Government is giving tacit support to this Argentine PR program. On top of this, the US is giving no help at all to the 20,000 "refugees" in Argentina.

Luers' thrust was to try to explain U.S. policy, not to justify the activities of the Argentine Government. He underlined that there is no aid and no grant military assistance. He mentioned that while there is no overriding U.S. interest in Argentina, there are special things to consider such as the $1.4 billion U.S. investment, that Argentina is one of the two or three most important countries in the hemisphere, and that potentially it is a major exporter to a food hungry world. On human rights, the US has talked to President Videla and all the Ministers of Government. There has also been numerous USG efforts to achieve release of US citizens and others. The US has also publicly spoken out regarding the situation there. Less rhetorically, we have embarked on a parole program to help refugees in Argentina, and while we recently favored an $8 million IDB loan, this gave us an opportunity to express to the Argentines the difficulty we had in reaching this decision given the human rights situation. Generally, Luers said he had talked to democratic leaders in Latin America who warned that US bilateral actions would give rise to greater Argentine nationalism and accordingly be self-defeating with respect to promoting human rights. He finished by pointing to certain possible dangers from a heavy-handed approach:

- moral imperialism
- amalgamation of the southern cone against us
- the U.S.S.R. could also accuse of of violating the human rights of American citizens, e.g., unemployment
- negative reactions of the sort we experienced from the Jackson-Vanik approach

Questions to Luers were as follows:

Q. Isn't it true that we like repressive regimes because they support US policy?

A. Difficult for me to say. I am sure that Videla does not see himself serving the US rather than his military and the welfare of the Argentine people. (Kenworthy: But isn't it true that the economic policies they are pursuing are congenial to us? While it may not be an overt conspiracy of support for US policy, certainly it is a love affair).

Q. (Bruce-Cameron - Americans for Democratic Action). Why do we grant military aid to countries in which we have no vital interest? It is not punitive to deny aid to governments who use this aid in pursuit of their own objectives.

A. There has to be some consistency in the way we do things. Over a long period of time we provided arms in the fight against Communism. Just because we have revised this concept doesn't mean that we can quickly turn around and dramatically reduce the arms flow. Preferentially, it would be nice if we could start all over again every time we change our mind. Certainly, an option open to the new Administration could be zero-base aid. But because we have traditionally supported the military this option has not been available to us in the past. Our policy now is to reduce military collaboration despite the growing number of military regimes.

Q. But you admitted you are planning to increase FMS sales to Argentina from $30 to $48 million. This is in your FY'78 budget. This doesn't make sense.

A. It is in the budget but it does not mean that the suggested figure will survive. It depends on the outcome of the human rights issue. This $48 million is just a planning figure. It was set up last year.

Q. But as we look at the past military aid to Argentina it was even less several years ago. There has generally been a manifold increase in the last few years. Prior to this recent increase it was rather low.

A. When Argentine bottoms were being used in the Cuban trade we considerably lowered our assistance. Admittedly, after the Argentine ships were no longer involved aid went up considerably.

Q. Indeed, if you were scaling down your military assistance over time as you said, you should have hung on to the low level you reached during the Cuba issue.

A. Perhaps so.

Q. (Larry Birns - Council of Hemispheric Affairs). Why did the State Department refuse to testify recently on the Argentine situation?

A. We did not refuse to testify. We felt that public airing of the human rights issue at that time could have had an impact on the direction of the Argentine Government was taking. In fact, this direction is still unresolved.

Q. I understand the Argentine report on human rights was "dynamite." But then you proceeded to classify it thwarting the intent of the Congress. I admit that the question of classification is unclear but your motivation to classify it was to head off action on a possible joint resolution directed against Argentina.

A. We have not tried to thwart the Congress. How could we since the Congress was not in session. The justification for the classification is that it contained information provided in confidence by the Argentine Government and other governments. In addition, there is a series of other reports which are to be provided in unclassified form.

Q. The reports to accompany the budget request are not the same thing. They do not contain the backdrop and other information essential to the Hill in considering a joint resolution.

Q. How about the request to declassify the reports?

A. It is being looked at. I'm unsure where we are on this matter.

Q. (Torres-UAW). Why can't we put together a program to help Argentines come to the U.S. given their dire circumstances?

A. The UNHCR has not made such a request. We need a recommendation from them.

Q. (Rosemary Chalk - National Association for the Advancement of Science). Can't we get a list of all those detained in Argentina?

A. We have asked for such a list and continue to push it.

Finally, Birns took issue with the assertion that the Argentine public would close ranks behind the GOA if we pressed on human rights. His thesis was that the outs, the tortured, the repressed would welcome U.S. demarches on human rights. Admittedly others supportive of the government would react.

SUBJECT: MEXICAN FOREIGN POLICY UNDER JLP--PRELIMINARY INDICATIONS

1. SUMMARY: PRESIDENT LOPEZ PORTILLO'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS AND HIS FIRST ROUND OF APPOINTMENTS TO KEY POSITIONS IN THE SECRETARIAT OF FOREIGN RELATIONS SUPPORT THE VIEW THAT MEXICO, FOR THE TIME BEING AT LEAST, WILL RETURN TO A MORE NARROWLY FOCUSSED FOREIGN POLICY WHICH REFLECTS THE COUNTRY'S IMMEDIATE NEEDS DURING THIS DIFFICULT PERIOD OF INTERNAL ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DISEQUILIBRIUM. WITHOUT REPUDIATING PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S FLAMBOYANT SUPPORT OF THIRD WORLD ISSUES, LOPEZ PORTILLO APPARENTLY INTENDS TO PLACE GREATER EMPHASIS ON IMPROVING RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES AND TO ADHERE LESS DRAMATICALLY TO THE BASIC PRINCIPLES OF SOVEREIGNTY, INDEPENDENCE AND INTERNATIONAL SOLIDARITY UNDERLYING TRADITIONAL MEXICAN POLICY. PRAGMATISM AND SELF-INTEREST WILL BE THE DOMINANT MOTIVATIONS.

WHILE THERE WILL PROBABLY BE NO SIGNIFICANT CHANGE IN MEXICO'S BASIC POSITIONS ON A WIDE RANGE OF NORTH-SOUTH ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL ISSUES, THE TONE AND STYLE OF MEXICAN POLICY WILL LIKELY BE LESS CONFRNTATIONAL. MOREOVER, MEXICO IS NOT LIKELY TO PLACE ITSELF AUTOMATICALLY IN THE FOREFRONT OF CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES (E.G., ZIONISM-RACISM) WHERE THE POLITICAL RETURNS ARE SMALL IN COMPARISON TO THE POTENTIALLY ADVERSE IMPACE ON MEXICO'S IMMEDIATE ECONOMIC INTERESTS AND/OR BROADER POLITICAL RELATIONSHIPS, PARTICULARLY INVOLVING THE UNITED STATES. END SUMMARY.

2. INAUGURAL ADDRESS

THE PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL MESSAGE WAS PROBABLY MORE SIGNIFICANT IN TERMS OF WHAT HE DID NOT SAY THAN WHAT HE DID SAY ABOUT MEXICO'S FOREIGN POLICY (SEE MEXICO 15168 FOR SUMMARY).

FIRST, THE PRESIDENT DEVOTED ONLY THREE PAGES OF A 70 PAGE ADDRESS TO FOREIGN POLICY--A CLEAR INDICATION THAT HIS GOVERNMENT'S FIRST PRIORITY IS TO RESTORE CONFIDENCE AND COPE WITH MEXICO'S SERIOUS INTERNAL PROBLEMS. HE BEGAN IN LOW KEY BY OUTLINING IN GENERAL TERMS THE TRADITIONAL MEXICAN PRINCIPLES OF INDEPENDENCE, SOVEREIGNTY, ETC. HE ENDORSED MEXICO'S COMMITMENT TO DISARMAMENT, ANTI-COLONIAL POSTURE, REJECTION OF IMPERIALISM OF ANY HUE AND ALL FORMS OF SUBMISSION, BUT HE DID SO WITH A SIMPLE, MATTER-OF-FACT STYLE THAT CONTRASTED SHARPLY WITH THE POLITICAL ORATORY OF ECHEVERRIA'S FOREIGN POLICY PRONOUNCEMENTS. TUCKED IN BETWEEN THE LINES WAS AN ENIGMATIC BUT PERHAPS SIGNIFICANT REFERENCE THAT MEXICO "WILL PARTICIPATE IN INTERNATIONAL FORA WHERE GOALS ARE CLEARLY STATED." WHILE REAFFIRMING MEXICO'S SUPPORT FOR THE CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF STATES, JLP'S REFERENCE HARDLY DRAMATIZED THIS LEITMOTIF OF THE ECHEVERRIA ERA AND UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES REPRESENTED A MINIMUM GESTURE TO HIS PREDECESSOR'S FOREIGN POLICY.

IN SUM, JLP'S INAUGURAL FOREIGN POLICY SUMMARY WAS LOW-KEY, SOBER, UNDRAMATIC, AND REFLECTIVE OF THE GREATER PRIORITY AND URGENCY WHICH HIS ADMINISTRATION CURRENTLY ATTACHES TO INTERNAL PROBLEMS.

3. FOREIGN SECRETARY

THE SELECTION OF FOREIGN MINISTER SANTIAGO ROEL AND HIS KEY LIEUTENANTS IN THE FOREIGN SECRETARIAT ALSO APPEARS CONSISTENT WITH JLP'S DESIRE TO RETURN TO A FOREIGN POLICY WHICH PLACES PRIMARY EMPHASIS ON MEXICO'S IMMEDIATE ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL NEEDS. ALTHOUGH NOT AN EXPERIENCED DIPLOMAT, ROEL IS REPORTEDLY CLOSE TO JLP AND HAS ALREADY TRAVELLED ABROAD ON JLP'S BEHALF. HIS LACK OF DIPLOMATIC EXPERIENCE MEANS THAT HE HAS NOT BEEN IDENTIFIED WITH THE THIRD WORLD AND/OR MULTILATERAL POSITIONS ESPOUSED BY PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA. THUS, HE IS TRULY LOPEZ PORTILLO'S MAN WITH AN OPEN RECORD ON MAJOR AND CONTROVERSIAL FOREIGN POLICY QUESTIONS. THE FACT THAT HE IS FROM MONTERREY,

UNCLASSIFIED

WHICH HAD BEEN A CENTER OF ANTI-ECHEVERRIA FEELING, MAY ALSO HAVE BEEN A POLITICAL FACTOR IN HIS SELECTION AS A MEMBER OF JLP'S CABINET. AS AN IMPORTANT PRI FIGURE, ROEL COULD HELP PROVIDE LOPEZ PORTILLO WITH DOMESTIC POLITICAL INPUT INTO FOREIGN POLICY DECISIONS--AN INPUT ECHEVERRIA WAS OFTEN ACCUSED OF IGNORING. JUDGING FROM HIS ACTIONS SO FAR, ROEL WILL BE A CAUTIOUS CHANCELLOR. HE HAS TWICE TURNED OFF INQUIRING REPORTERS, COMMENTING YESTERDAY JUST PRIOR TO A MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT THAT MEXICO WAS NOT IN A MOOD TO TOLERATE ERRORS, HE COULD NOT SAY ANYTHING, AND "DECLARATIONITIS" WOULD BE ABSURD.

4. OTHER TOP APPOINTMENTS

IN ADDITION TO THE SECRETARY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS, LIC. SANTIAGO ROEL, THE FOLLOWING KEY SRE POSITIONS HAVE BEEN FILLED TO DATE:

UNCLASSIFIED

A. UNDERSECRETARY "A" (CURRENTLY PRIMARILY ECONOMIC AFFAIRS) - JOSE JUAN DE OLLOQUI, FORMER AMBASSADOR TO THE U.S., WITH WIDE CONTACTS IN THE U.S. AND AN ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL BACKGROUND. DE OLLOQUI HOPED FOR THE NUMBER ONE POSITION, AND HAS INDICATED THAT HE STILL HOPES TO MOVE UP TO IT BEFORE TOO MUCH TIME HAS PASSED.

B. UNDERSECRETARY "B" (CURRENTLY POLITICAL AND CULTURAL AFFAIRS)--ALFONSO ROSENSWEIG-DIAZ, FORMER CHIEF LEGAL ADVISOR TO SRE, A LONG-TIME PROFESSIONAL, WITH A REPUTATION AS A FOLLOWER RATHER THAN AN INNOVATOR. HE HAS A U.S. WIFE; HIS BROTHER IS CURRENTLY MEXICAN AMBASSADOR TO THE U.N.

C. UNDERSECRETARY "C" (CURRENTLY MULTILATERAL AFFAIRS) --MARIA EMILIA TELLEZ BENOIT, FORMER OFFICIAL MAYOR (CHIEF ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER) OF SRE. MS. TELLEZ IS ALSO A CAREER DIPLOMAT AND LAWYER WITH 30 YEARS SERVICE, MOST OF IT IN THE SECRETARIAT. REPORTEDLY SHE HAS TURNED DOWN IMPORTANT AMBASSADORIAL POSITIONS BECAUSE SHE IS CARING FOR AN AGED MOTHER. SHE WAS AT UNAM LAW SCHOOL WITH BOTH ECHEVERRIA AND LOPEZ PORTILLO AND HAS TIES OF FRIENDSHIP FROM THIS PERIOD.

D. OFFICIAL MAYOR - GUILLERMINA SANCHEZ MEZA DE SOLIS, FORMER PRI DEPUTY, 1970-73, TRAINED IN ECONOMICS AND MARRIED TO AN ECONOMIST. HER FOREIGN AFFAIRS EXPERIENCE, IF ANY, IS UNCLEAR.

E. AMBASSADOR TO THE U.S. - HUGO B. MARGAIN, CURRENTLY AMBASSADOR TO LONDON. MARGAIN SERVED AS AMBASSADOR TO THE

U.S. UNDER DIAZ ORDAZ AND AS SECRETARY OF FINANCE UNDER ECHEVERRIA UNTIL LOPEZ PORTILLO WAS APPOINTED TO THAT JOB.

FOR THE MOST PART, THE ABOVE POSITIONS WERE FILLED BY FOREIGN AFFAIRS PROFESSIONALS, RATHER THAN IDEOLOGUES. DE OLLOQUI AND MARGAIN BRING TO THIS FOREIGN POLICY TEAM CONSIDERABLE EXPERIENCE, ECONOMIC EXPERTIS, AND KNOWLEDGE OF THE U.S., WHICH SHOULD PROVE VERY HELPFUL TO JLP DURING THIS DIFFICULT PERIOD.

IN SUM, THESE SRE APPOINTMENTS APPEAR TO GIVE THE NEW PRESIDENT A SOLID TEAM TO HANDLE FOREIGN POLICY IN THE NEAR TERM.

ARA - Mr. Luers

Subject: Jaime Lavin Cable

Bill:

1. The following is according to a conversation with Wendy Turnbull. Wendy Turnbull submitted the affidavit from Miranda Pinto, which she received August 19, 1976, to London. London replied a month later that they were grateful for the affidavit and that it was very interesting "in the light of the murder of Orlando Letelier". London neither confirmed nor denied their information. However, Wendy says that if there had been any mistake London would have pointed them out to her. In this affidavit, Miranda Pinto said only that Lavin was a torturer.

2. "The list of torturer's" is not an Amnesty document. It was prepared by various Chilean Solidarity Groups. According to Wendy the reason Tom Jones must ask for London permission to give us this document is because London must confirm that it is accurate before Amnesty U.S. can list it as an Amnesty document. The sources for this list are the members of the Armed Forces who were in jail at the same time in Capuchinos prison. They then tried to verify this data with other testimonies. Wendy is not in a position to tell me wheather or not is was verified. The list was released October 7, 1976; Lavin is on the list.

3. The information that Lavin was accused in the Russell tribunal came from Bill Wipfler, of the World Council of Churches, and he boched it. Wendy now says that the source was the International Commission of Inquiry which took place in Mexico City February 18-20, 1975. In the section on testimonios y Denuncias, General Sergio Poblete accused Lavin of being a torturer. His testimony appeared on pages 164-173, Lavin's name appeared on 170.

4. On January 20th -- subsequently to Lavin's arrival in the U.S. made a statement to Wendy Turnbull which was tapped by New York Times Marilyn Chase. In that statement Miranda Pinto, for the first time, made specific allegations about Lavin torturing him personally.

NOTE: "Testimonios y Denuncias" can be obtained from Amnesty NY in their Spanish edition intitled Third Session of the International Commission of Inquiry.

2.- Arrest:

On June 25, 1975, Dr. Lorca was arrested with Mrs. Carolina Wiff, a Social Worker, at Maule Street # 120 at 16.30 pm by a large group o DINA Agents who came in 10 cars. He was handcuffed, his glasses wer taken from him and he was taken to a detention camp for interrogati

On July 1, 1975 a writ of Habeas Corpus was presented by his younge brother Jaime at the Court of Appeal, but the writ was not accepted by a 2 to 1 vote, because the Secretary of Interior denied that he was under arrest, and the DINA did not even answer the Courts petit of information.

On July 18 a writ of Habeas Corpus was presented to the Supreme Cou with six sworn affidavits of actual witnesses of the arrest. In thi only case the Supreme Court by a 4 to 1 vote accepted the writ and again contacted the Secretary of Interior and the Dina. The Secreta answered that no one by that name was held in custody, and the DINA did not bother to reply to the Supreme Courts petition. Consquently, for lack of evidence , the writ was thrown out of Court , but the Supreme Court sent all the information to a Criminal Court with the recommendation that they investigate this disappearance. Naturally at a lower Court without any power nothing happened .

3.- Reports on Carlos's Imprisonment :

Several detainees have seen Carlos at different prisons and Torture Camps such as "Cuatro Alamos", "Villa Grimaldi", "Colonia Dignidad" in the South of Chile .
He was also seen walking alone in one of the slum areas of Santiago, closely followed by DINA agents. This information was reported to the Catholic Church .
On July 17 1975 the Italian Lawyer Guido Calvi telephoned Colonel Espinoza at the office of the Secretary of Defense and the Colonels reply which was taped stated that he could not supply any more information as this man is under arrest and he will be tried by the Courts.

Chile's principal Newspaper " El Mercurio" has on several ocassions published acts of protest and solidarity with this young Congressman, and has even recommended that his arrest be admitted to stop what they call marxist propaganda .

Last August Lorca's parents received information that Carlos had been shown to a newly imprisoned young socialist. He was according to this report with mental damage, two broken limbs and in a very critical condition . The young man was warned that unless he made a full confession he would suffer the same punishment. The young man made a complete confession and gave the addresses of wanted persons, so for his good behaviour he was sent to "Tres Alamos", where his family could visit him . He sent word to the Lorca family that they should try to get Carlos out as soon as possible due to his critical condition.

Carlos Lorca's father spoke to Harry Schlaudeman, Asst. Secretary of State for Latin America in September 1976, and Under-Secretary Schlaudeman instructed the officer at the Chile Desk Robert Driscoll to make enquiries and to inform the Chilean Government that Carlos would be received in the U.S.A. Of course Carlos Lorca Sr. was advised that if the Junta insisted on their denial there was not much he could do .

Through a young Attorney, Robert Kissel, of Culpsville Pa., who stated that he had a very good contact in the White House, Mr. Lorca received a letter which stated that a Mr. Foster Chanock, who was one of President Ford's political aides had received information through their channels that Dr. Lorca was alive, that he would eventually be tried and sentenced to prison or expelled from the country .

Lorca's father made a special trip to Buenos Aires, and from the he gave all this information to Robert Driscoll, who stated afte several days that he could not contact Mr. Chanock as he was alw away from Washington campaigning for Mr. Ford. Later Mr. Lorca w told that Mr. Chanock had been ordered by someone to keep out of the Lorca case , as this might embarrass the Junta .

Mr. Lorca in November 1976 received a letter from the President of the Committee for Human Rights of the Organization of American States where they notified the Chilean Government that this Committ was satisfied with the evidence they had seen that the Chilean Gove ment was holding Dr. Lorca. They requested that he be immediately released, and that those responsible for his arrest be duly punishe The deadline for this action was February 1st, 1977, and as far as we know nothing has happened .

4.- Solidarity from all the World :

The following Institutions and Governments have contacted the Chilean Authorities demanding that Dr. Lorca's imprisonment be made public :

Amnesty International
Federation of World Youth
Latin American Students Federation
Red Cross International
Social Democratic Parties of Europe.
Argentine College of Psychiatrists .
Chilean Vicary of Solidaity (Catholic Church)
U.S. Committee to save Chilean Health Workers .
European Common Market
The Following Countries have offered Visas for Residency of Dr. Lorca and his family :

England
Germany France
Holland
Belgium
Denmark
Sweden
Norway
Finland
Italy
Mexico
New Zealand
Siria .

5.- Lorca's parents feel that the only Government in the world who can obtain the liberation of their son is the United States Government and they have faith that with Presidents Carter's pledge for Human Rights, their son still has a chance .

Information relative to Dr. Lorca's family who live in constant fear that they may be arrested by the Dina for their efforts on behalf of Dr. Lorca :

FOR THE SECRETARY FROM JOVA

E.O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: PDIP, OVIP, MX (MRS. CARMEN ROMANO DE LOPEZ PORTILLO)
SUBJECT: ATTENDANCE OF MRS LOPEZ PORTILLO AT INAUGURAL CEREMONIES

1. AS YOU KNOW, MRS LOPEZ PORTILLO HAS ACCEPTED THE INVITATION BY MRS CARTER TO ATTEND PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURAL CEREMONIES. I UNDERSTAND THAT WHILE MRS CARTER WAS HERE SHE ALSO MENTIONED TO PRESIDENT LOPEZ PORTILLO THAT HE TOO WOULD BE VERY WELCOME. WHILE TEMPTED TO COME, I UNDERSTAND THAT HE RECOGNIZES THE PROTOCOL COMPLICATIONS INVOLVED AND WILL PROBABLY NOT ATTEND THE ACTUAL INAUGURATION. HE IS ATTRACTED BY THE POSSIBILITY OF COMING TO WASHINGTON A COUPLE OF DAYS LATER ON THE PRETEXT OF PICKING UP MRS LOPEZ PORTILLO SHOULD IT BE POSSIBLE TO ARRANGE FOR AN INFORMAL MEETING WITH NEW AMERICAN PRESIDENT.

2. I HAVE JUST HAD CALL FROM FOREIGN MINISTER SANTIAGO ROEL WHO CONFIRMED THE ABOVE AND ASKED THAT I COMMUNICATE WITH YOU PERSONALLY IN ORDER TO STRESS IMPORTANCE THAT THE GOM ATTACHES IN HAVING NEW MEXICAN AMBASSADOR (HUGO MARGAIN) FULLY ACCREDITED AND IN OPERATION FOR ARRIVAL OF MRS LOPEZ PORTILLO. ROEL WOULD ACCOMPANY MRS LOPEZ PORTILLO AND WOULD HOPE TO CALL ON YOU BEFORE INAUGURATION AND ON SECRETARY-DESIGNATE VANCE IMMEDIATELY THEREAFTER.

3. THE FOREIGN MINISTER TOLD ME THAT AMBASSADOR MARGAIN WILL BE IN WASHINGTON AS OF DEC 28. I MADE CLEAR TO HIM THAT PRESI-

HE COULD ROUTE HIMSELF BACK BY WAY OF WASHINGTON ARRIVING THERE ON THE NIGHT OF DEC 23 OR MORNING OF DEC 24 SHOULD, BY ANY CHANCE, THE PRESIDENT PREFER TO RECEIVE HIM BEFORE HIS DEPARTURE ON HOLIDAY; HE RECOGNIZED THAT IT WAS PROBABLE THAT PRESIDENT FORD MIGHT BE LEAVING WASHINGTON BEFORE DEC 24.

4. RECOMMENDATION: HAVING IN MIND (A) THE TRULY EXTRAORDINARY HOSPITALITY AND MANY COURTESIES EXTENDED TO YOU AS HEAD OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION, TO JACK FORD AS THE PRESIDENT'S PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE AS WELL AS TO MRS. CARTER, I RECOMMEND THAT EVERY COURTESY POSSIBLE BE EXTENDED TO MRS. LOPEZ PORTILLO AND HER SUITE DURING THE VISIT. (B) I RECOMMEND SPECIFICALLY THAT PRESIDENT FORD BE REQUESTED TO RECEIVE AMBASSADOR MARGAIN, EVEN ON AN EXCEPTIONAL BASIS, AS THIS WOULD CONTRIBUTE TO THE SUCCESS OF THE VISIT AND WOULD ALSO PROVIDE AN OPPORTUNITY FOR PRESIDENT FORD TO EXPRESS HIS APPRECIATION FOR THE COURTESIES SHOWN TO JACK FORD DURING HIS VISIT HERE. (C) I ALSO RECOMMEND THAT THE DEPARTMENT PROPOSE TO PRESIDENT-ELECT CARTER THAT A DAY OR TWO AFTER THE INAUGURATION THAT HE RECEIVE PRESIDENT LOPEZ PORTILLO FOR AT LEAST AN OFFICE VISIT AND PREFERABLY ALSO FOR AN INFORMAL FAMILY MEAL.

D: I hope I'm not disturbing you . . .

K: Oh, Simcha . . .

D: Because Rabin wanted me to pass on to you two points of information. I think the meeting was very good.

K: You had your Defense Minister well coached.

D: I could have of course claimed all the credit but he really -- ever sinse he came here -- he is full of praise of whatever happened in the past and what you did. You never know but I think he really feels it. I had planned to give him hell to tell him to look at the situation first but I felt he was very receptive from the beginning. He was on Walter Cronkite tonight and said beautiful things about you. It was a taped interview of about 20 minutes but he really was full of praise -- I think well deserved. Two things -- first of all -- I wanted to tell you that for the last few days we are conducting a level control of the area around _____ with regard to boats -- not who are exiting but boats who are coming in. Suspicious vessels we are veering away to other ports. This has been working now for a number of days.

K: As long as the Syrians don't object, why don't you keep it going?

D: The Prime Minister wanted you to know about it since you had been out of town for the last few days.

K: Well, let's see what the Syrians do. You never know, they might welcome it. How long have you been doing it?

D: About 10 days.

K: That is interesting.

D: And so far there are no problems.

K: Well, let's see what happens. I will tell the President.

D: I think that answers several problems.

K: I think if you get away with it, it is a good move.

D: It was my suggestion.

K: It is a good idea. And it is very interesting that there haven't been any complaints. What's the nationality of the ships?

D: Some of them Egyptian, some of them Libyan. Ships is too big a word for them.

K: I understand but it could not be modest. No Soviet ships?

D: No, no, no. For instance, a couple of days ago, there was one with trucks on it and we told them to go . . .

K: Did you tell them to go to Haifa (?)

D: No, we told them to go some place north (laughter)

K: Okay.

D: The second point of information is thePrime Minister saw Hussein on the weekend.

K: How did it go?

D: I just have the preliminary report. He is going to send me within a day or two the full report. He said there was no revelations. I will give you a full report.

K: On the first point, let's keep it going until we see what hell breaks lose and then let's examine it together. I will keep it at my level.

D: Yeah. On the other thing, I will probably have within a day or two and I will get in touch with you.

K: Okay Simcha.

D: Okay. Thank you Mr. Secretary. Best regards to Nancy.

P: We enjoyed having you. I wanted to correct something I said last night -- that is the understanding we had in Moscow was a proposal put forward on my part and accepted verbally but not signed by them. I think I said that the agreement had been signed by both parties but this was the modus operanda in which we would pay so much money and certain conditions were lined out that he accepted in principle and we proceeded accordingly. Regarding that arrangement we would have had a preferred arrangement. When my people got there they said forget about that and started with new figures which was beyond what they decussed with me. Our people have been ordered to come back and now I have a cable reconfirming the first figures he gave to me.

K: I figured that once you pulled out they would run for cover.

P: We have to stick together now -- the three of us. I just did not want you to believe that I had this in writing on both sides. It was a dirty runout.

K: I will tell Dobrynin that it is G-D stupidity.

P: I did not mention this before, but I mentioned his name and they said as far as they are concerned they think of him as an American.

K: I have hard that they say this.

P: I had not mentioned his name but obviously as a result of the lunch you had arranged they gave me VIP treatment. They could not have been nicer. I got a long beautifully. It was a great surprise to me when they pulled away.

K: I wish I had known about that. It was probably some idiot at a lower level. You should have gone to Dobrynin.

B: I suddenly remember you saying that to me four or five years ago when I was visiting you in your previous job and I remember it very clearly.

K: I still think having had both the Cabinet position and NSC position you are more in the -- you get more of an overview in the NSC position.

B: I think so and it is the kind of a job in which one gets exposed to many more unlearning experiences but more opportunities to make a constructive input.

K: Because you can back the issue. In a Department there are so many decisions that really don't affect the fundamental strategy very much that are just necessary.

B: I hope very much that your schedule will permit it for me to come and see you before too long and talk to you and get your sense of how best to operate. I must say that I remember when you sent in your job after Rostow and made jokes about it but I think it is much more difficult to go in after you than Walt.

K: If I may suggest something to you, Zbig. I think within six months the events are going to impose their own necessities. I don't know anyone in the country who I think has a better overall grasp than you do.

K: We are backing the British proposal. Also we think their tactics were lousy and I think that he is inclined to go ahead with that. A lot depends on what his perception of the new administration is. If he thinks you are out to do him in he is less likely to support it. You don't have to give him any assurances on South Africa -- we haven't. I think that it would be helpful just to tell him what I have just told you. A second point is to indicate to them in some way that there is a point beyond which it isn't possible to push people.

V: You will be gone all week?

K: Yes.

V: I have to go down to that island which is like going to the north pole. I have hitched a ride with Fritz Mondale so I have to leave Monday morning and maybe will have to stay through Wednesday. Well, have a good holiday.

K: Same to you Cy. O.K. Bye, bye.

K: Could you send those Rhodesian plans -- not the talking points -- to Botha?

S Yes, I wanted to check with you before I did it.

K: I think I have given him so much that it doesn't add anything to it, with a note to say it isn't to be taken up with the Rhodesians, and I have told Richard to see what could be done to conform it to Annex E and he agreed and would make an effort. Richard doesn't object if I go into detail about it.

Steps we might propose that the GOA take to improve the human rights situation in Argentina (roughly in order brought up at meeting):

ACCEPTABILITY TO GOA		HUMAN RIGHTS DESIRABILITY
6	1. Publish at once a list of all held in detention.	1
8	2. Reinstitute humane and long-respected procedures, that is, regularized detention proceedings by which each person would be inscribed at the point of detention, families would be notified promptly and charges would promptly and publicly be laid;	6
15	3. Reestablish the jurisdiction of civilian courts over the detention process, including their duty to entertain application for and in appropriate cases grant relief in the nature of habeas corpus or amparo;	8
13	4. Give all prisoners access to their families and lawyers; end the practice of holding persons incommunicado;	2
12	5. Release all detainees who are not promptly charged;	7
14	6. Provide for public (not secret) trials in security cases, with all guarantees necessary for defense; trials should be before civilian courts except in cases of infraction of military codes by military personnel;	9
10	7. Promptly and thoroughly investigate under immediate supervision of personnel not themselves responsible for detentions or prisons all reports of abuse of prisoners and try persons apparently guilty and punish those found guilty;	5
7	8. Invite the ICRC and IAHRC to Argentina;	11

17	9. Recognize as relevant minimum standards of conduct Common Article 3 of the Geneva Convention of 1949, which applies to internal conflict;	4
9	10. Permit detainees who so desire to seek and enjoy asylum abroad;	12
3	11. Ensure that no foreign nationals are forcibly repatriated when they have a well founded fear of being persecuted at home for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion;	13
5	12. Stop harassment of judges and of lawyers representing unpopular clients, especially criminal defendants;	10
11	13. Seek out and punish both right- and left-wing extremists who have violated the law;	3
2	14. Stop harassment of foreign residents;	15
1	15. Stop harassment of Catholic Church, Jews;	15
4	16. Stop harassment of members of the academic community;	15
16	17. Regularize police jurisdictions so that outsiders and Argentines will know where to go for help.	14

1. HEREWITH FULL TEXT MARQUIS CHILDS OP-ED COLUMN THE WASHINGTON POST TUESDAY DECEMBER 28 HEADED "THE MEXICAN CHANGES THAT MUST COME."

2. PRESIDENT JOSE LOPEZ PORTILLO IS A LARGE, IMPRESSIVE MAN, WHO, WHILE OUTWARDLY CALM, NEVERTHELESS KNOWS HE HASN'T A MOMENT TO LOSE IF HE IS TO OVERCOME THIS COUNTRY'S GRAVE FINANCIAL AND ECONOMIC CRISIS. HE TOLD ME THAT HE HAS SIX MONTHS TO BRING ABOUT AT LEAST A DEGREE OF STABILITY.

3. IT SEEMS TO ME THAT THE RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES ARE AS IMPORTANT AS ANY ASPECT OF THE FOREIGN POLICY OF THE INCOMING CARTER ADMINISTRATION. MEXICO, ALONG WITH MOST OF LATIN AMERICA, HAS BEEN TAKEN FOR GRANTED TOO LONG. THE NEWS THAT GETS INTO THE U.S. PRESS, FOR INSTANCE, IS USUALLY SENSATIONAL--A RIOT OR AN EARTHQUAKE.

4. THAT WAS TRUE WHEN THE PESO WAS DEVALUED AND CAPITAL BEGAN TO FLOW OUT OF THE COUNTRY. PORTILLO IS FRANK TO SAY

THAT MUCH OF THIS CAPITAL HAS NOT RETURNED. BUT SINCE TAKING OFFICE LESS THAN A MONTH AGO, HE HAS INSPIRED A NEW CONFIDENCE. HE KNOWS, HOWEVER, THAT IS NOT ENOUGH TO BRING ABOUT THE CHANGES THAT MUST COME.

5. "IN VIEW OF THE FLUCTUATION IN YOUR RULES AND REGULATIONS WE CANNOT ORGANIZE FOR THE LONG TERM," HE SAID, "AND THIS IS PARTICULARLY TRUE IN AGRICULTURE. YOUR ANTI-DUMPING LAWS MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE TO WORK IN COMPETITION.

6. "I WOULD LIKE TO SEE A JOINT COMMISSION NAMED TO STUDY TRADE BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES. THIS SHOULD MAKE IT POSSIBLE TO WORK IN COMPETITION AND ORGANIZE BOTH INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE FOR THE LONG TERM."

7. INVESTMENT IN MEXICO MUST MEAN JOBS, WHICH WOULD EASE THE GREATEST CRISIS--UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT. IF MEXICANS CANNOT FIND JOBS IN T;EIR OWN COUNTRY, THEY GO OVER THE BORDER, WHICH HAS HAPPENED ON A MASS SCALE. TODAY THERE ARE 7 TO 8 MILLION ILLEGAL ALIENS, A LARGE PROPORTION MEXICANS.

8. THIS NUMBER IS BOUND TO GROW IF UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDER-EMPLOYMENT CONTINUE AT THE ESTIMATED RATE OF 40 PER CENT. THE ILLEGALS HAVE HELPED TO PUSH UP THE U.S. UNEMPLOYMENT RATE, AND THEY ARE ELIGIBLE FOR WELFARE WITHOUT ANY PROOF OF U.S. CITIZENSHIP.

9. "YOUR INCOMING PRESIDENT DOESN'T HAVE THE LAND PROBLEM
UNCLASSIFIED

THAT BESETS ME," LOPEZ PORTILLO SAID. "AGRARIAN REFORM MEANS SECURITY, EFFICIENCY AND JUSTICE. THOSE ARE ALL TIED TOGETHER AND YOU CANNOT HAVE ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER."

10. ONE OF HIS IMMEDIATE PROBLEMS IS TO PERSUADE THE SQUATTERS WHO HAVE MOVED INTO RICH AGRICULTURAL LANDS IN THE NORTH TO YIELD TO THE LAW. THE PRESIDENT KNOWS THAT BREAKING UP THE BIG HACIENDAS INTO SMALL PLOTS WOULD ALMOST CERTAINLY BRING A DECLINE IN AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION, AND MEXICO HAS HAD TO INCREASE ITS IMPORTS OF FOODSTUFFS IN RECENT YEARS.

11. IN THE UNITED STATES ABOUT 4 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION SUPPLIES FOOD NOT ONLY FOR HOME CONSUMPTION BUT ALSO TO FEED LARGE AREAS OF A HUNGRY WORLD. IN MEXICO ABOUT 48 PER CENT OF THE PEOPLE WORK ON THE LAND, AND MANY ARE PART-TIME WORKERS BARELY EKING OUT A LIVING.

12. SEVENTY PER CENT ARE UNDER 30 YEARS OF AGE AND MORE THAN 50 PER CENT ARE UNDER 14. THIS, AS LOPEZ PORTILLO

SAYS, PRESENTS THE CLASSICAL GROWTH PROBLEM. BEFORE HE BECAME MINISTER OF FINANCE AND WAS ACTIVE IN POLITICS, HE SPENT PART OF HIS LIFE IN SERIOUS PROFESSIONAL STUDIES OF URBAN DEVELOPMENT, HOUSING AND THE ECONOMY.

13. "I BELIEVE WE ARE ON THE WAY TO BRINGING THE POPULATION INCREASE UNDER CONTROL," HE SAID. "TWO YEARS AGO THE RATE OF INCREASE WAS 3.6 PER CENT. THAT HAS BEEN REDUCED TO 3.2 PER CENT AND I BELIEVE THAT BY 1982 IT WILL BE 2.6 PER CENT." BUT EVEN WITH THIS REDUCTION, WHICH THE PRESIDENT SAYS IS VOUCHED FOR BY TOP DEMOGRAPHERS, EDUCATING THE YOUNG AND FINDING JOBS FOR THEM IS AN OVERWHELMING UNDERTAKING.

UNCLASSIFIED

14. AS HE SAID IN HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS, HE WILL DEVOTE HIMSELF TO TRYING TO MASTER AN ECONOMY THAT, ALONG WITH PROBLEMS WITHIN THE COUNTRY, GOT A SEVERE JOLT FROM THE WORLDWIDE DEPRESSION.

15. THE OIL BONANZA THAT CAME IN A FEW YEARS AGO IS SUFFICIENT FOR DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION WITH A MINIMUM OF EXPORTS. AGAINST THE WISHES OF THOSE WHO WOULD LIKE TO KEEP THE BULK OF IT IN THE GROUND PENDING THE DEVELOPMENT OF REFINERIES AND A PETROCHEMICAL INDUSTRY, LOPEZ PORTILLO MEANS TO INCREASE THE OUTPUT FOR SALE ON THE WORLD MARKET.

16. LOPEZ PORTILLO KNOWS THAT, IF HE FAILS TO AID THE ECONOMY, THE FUTURE WOULD BE UNCERTAIN--NOT ONLY FOR MEXICO, WITH ITS 64,000,000 PEOPLE, BUT FOR THE BIG NEIGHBOR TO THE NORTH. UNEMPLOYMENT, TERRORISM AND VIOLENCE WILL BE EXPORTED ACROSS A 2,000-MILE BORDER.

17. AS WITH PROBABLY EVERY HEAD OF STATE AROUND THE WORLD, LOPEZ PORTILLO IS ANXIOUS FOR A TALK WITH THE NEW AMERICAN PRESIDENT AS SOON AFTER HIS INAUGURATION AS POSSIBLE. IN THE OPINION OF THIS OBSERVER, FOR THE STABILITY OF THE CONTINENT AND, FOR THAT MATTER, THE WORLD, HE SHOULD HAVE A VERY HIGH PRIORITY. (END TEXT.)

Investigating the Horman Case

As you may recall, two American citizens, Charles Horman and Frank Teruggi, were killed in the aftermath of the Chilean Coup. We have not been able to establish responsibility in either case, although the reasonable assumption is that both were murdered by Chilean security forces or irregulars connected in some way to those forces.

The death of Charles Horman in particular has been the subject of extensive congressional and press attention. Senator Javits has continued over these past three years to demand a better accounting than the Department is so far able to give him. In my confirmation hearings last June I promised him that we would do everything possible to clear up the case.

Behind much of the agitation over this affair is the allegation that Horman was fingered by the CIA. We have no evidence in support of that contention, but a Chilean--one Rafael Gonzalez Verdugo--has made statements to the press and to a consular officer directed at implicating the Agency. Gonzalez, a permanent resident alien of the United States with an American citizen wife, is currently in asylum in the Italian Embassy in Santiago.

Some time ago I asked Fred Smith, recently our Consul General in Mexico City, to examine the record of the Horman case and give me recommendations on what further action we might take. He has produced a comprehensive report (Tab 2). Smith has recommended that Gonzalez be reinterviewed and has drafted a set of very precise questions for the purpose (draft telegram at Tab 1).

REPORT ON MEETING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP:

(In no cases are the names of the people who met with us to be used.)

Dr. Enrique Mignone, lawyer, university administrator
Frederico Westerkamp, physicist, university professor
Rabbi Roberto Gretz
(Westerkamp has studied at Columbia; Gretz at U. of Cincinnati)

The Assembly has a board representing economic, political and labor groups. Includes a Catholic and Methodist bishop, representatives of political parties. It was created prior to the present administration.

The Assembly has workshops, seminars, and tries to publish documents, but that is difficult. Censorship is very strong. The only newspaper that publishes freely is the Buenos Aires Herald. Our last statement we could not get published anywhere; we have no access to radio or tv, though we can print and distribute things ourselves.

A major step last year was a presentation to the Supreme Court where we discussed 1,000 people who have disappeared. The judiciary's hands are tied, however. They ask after people, but the government denies any knowledge of them. Some 20-30,000 writs of habeus corpus have been presented to the lower court, but not one has been honored. Government simply says they don't have the people. A lot of judges have resigned, giving reasons of health or something, but real reason is because they are unhappy with treatment of habeus corpus proceedings.

The government has at least 8,000 identified prisoners, though the government admits to only 4,000 -- 8,000 in jail under executive power, some for actions, some simply for opinions. Our group does not sympathize with terrorists; we just ask for due process.

Of 8,000 in prison legally, 800 have cases pending. Only a few are ever acquitted. Of the 8,000, perhaps 20% are in jail for some activity, the rest for their opinions. Only parents are allowed to visit; not their lawyers.

Some prisoners are treated better than others. Many are threatned with torture. (Westerkamp's son, a leftist, age 24, is in jail and has been tortured. He was an activist student but never engaged in terrorism. Torture - electric shock, beaten with chains, kicked)

The co-chairman of the Assembly, a man active in the teachers union, was arrested 5 months ago. Disappeared for 12 days. Then the government produced him. His wife visits him. The first few days in jail he was subjected to water torture. There are no charges against him.

The most severe problem -- We estimate 15-25,000 who have completely disappeared, picked up by the armed forces. Many have been killed, some are in concentration camps, torture is routine. It is deliberate government policy to kill them. Some bodies have been found in rivers, ocean. Government just says: "This is a dirty war." What should USG do?

Rabbi: We are very pleased with pressure from the Carter administration. Argentine government is very conscious of its image. Pressure from outside is more effective than from inside. Cutting off military aid is a good move. Pressure is good up to the point where it might break US links with Argentina. You shouldn't cut everything off. This is the most unpopular government, but it is more because of falling standards of living than human rights, as far as the average man in the street is concerned.

MEETING WITH DELEGATION OF ARGENTINE-ISRAELI ASSOCIATIONS:

(Reps were a lawyer, an advertiser, and an Italian translator)

Spokesman insisted there is no official antisemitism, and the populace is not antisemitic, but acknowledged there are no Jews in the army and very few anywhere in government or military.

The group is a federation of 130 organizations. (Embassy spokesman says they represent a conservative viewpoint within the Jewish community.)

Spokesman says they are preoccupied with neo-nazi organizations and their publications. They carry out a vigorous fight and the government has been forced to act against those publications. Nobody is detained because he is Jewish. But if he happens to be detained, he is treated worse than others. They are very worried about this problem and do not hesitate to speak out about it. They believe the government is beginning to be aware of the need to take action against antisemitism in the repressive forces. So we are careful not to cause adverse reaction by making the wrong public statements. Worried about Timmerman. Only the Buenos Aires Herald has published the fact that Timmerman hasn't been charged with anything. His son was released and allowed to emigrate to Israel. Jews may emigrate to Israel at will, but not many want to do that. Were Jews disproportionately represented in the leftist groups? - No.

It is difficult to visit prisoners, whether Jewish or not, though rabbis are often successful in doing so. Do any Jewish people think as Argentine government does, apparently, that Timmerman did obtain his money illegally? Spokesman said he did not personally believe that, but can't speak for Jewish community. President Videla has said Timmerman is being held only for investigation of financial things. We say, let him out so he can get his documents together and make his case.

To Jacobo Kovadlov, the American Jewish Committee rep -- We know only what has been in the Times and Post. It was a mistake to close down the American Jewish Committee office here because now we have nobody to relate to. Spokesman said Kovadlov apparently left for personal reasons; they have talked to him in New York since he left.

MEETING WITH MEMBERS OF PLAZA DE MAYO:

The mothers -- Sra. Maria de la Gard; Sra. Marta de Vazquez; Sra. Maria del Rosario de Cerrutti; Sra. Juanita Pargament. (Again, names not to be used. They are afraid because of this meeting. But they say it would only help them if members, say, made speeches on the House floor referring to this meeting, but without names.)

The mothers parade to the plaza each Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m., about 100-150 strong. They do not ask that their sons be released; only that they be told where their sons are, and that they receive due process. Some disappeared 20 months ago and we don't know if they are alive or dead.

The group published an ad in La Prensa and La Nacion in October. No repercussions. But after another ad on December 10, signed by 1,000 mothers and therefore much more attention-getting, there has been trouble. Two days before the ad a group of mothers were picked up at church. The day the article was published a mother and a French nun were kidnapped at home. We believe repression since that day has increased a lot. One night a large number of people were imprisoned in another city (La Plata).

There are now 3 or 4 mothers in custody. We do not know what has happened to them but do not believe they have been killed. But the Sub-Secretary of the Interior has asked us not to go to the Plaza anymore because we make a bad image. We say we will stop when they tell us where our sons are.

One day everybody in the Plaza was taken to jail for 2-3 hours, but treated OK and released. The mothers are more and more fearful. The mothers' stories --

1) My son was a lawyer, a defender of human rights and of those who had been imprisoned. He often went to the jails to visit his clients. One day he was taken from home and has disappeared.

2) Son, age 31, a surgeon, taken 1 year ago. He was not political. I have absolutely no knowlege of why he was taken.

3) Son was a student of economics at the university. I know of no political activities. But I speculate that someone at the university may have pointed him out as a leftist, something of that sort, and he disappeared.

4) My daughter, 23, a psychologist, and her husband 25, a veterinarian, were picked up 20 months ago from their home. I know of no political activities they were involved in. She was a social worker and concerned with the problems of the lower classes. They were Peronists, but not especially active. We believe she was pregnant with her third child, because the mother (wife of a diplomat in Mexico) received a letter before the arrest indicating that.

What happens to the children in such cases? If the grandparents will keep them, OK. Otherwise, the government may deposit them with a neighbor, or may simply put them out for adoption and the parents are not told where. In one case a grandmother recognized a grandchild who had been placed for adoption with another family.

Do you believe the US is doing all it can? - "Yes. But we would like to see even a little more pressure, though not necessarily sanctions against the Argentine government. The American government is the only hope we have."

STATE EMT BI 004 (S)/U 11-1-77 R

I, Patricia Ann Erb, age 19, United States citizen, feel ~~it~~ my duty as a human being and as a Christian, to communicate to national and international organizations what I saw and experienced during my abduction and imprisonment by the Armed Forces of Argentina in the military headquarters of Campo de Mayo.

As a student at the University of Buenos Aires, I participated in a student organization sponsored by the University with delegates from the various classes in the University. As a sociology major I participated along with other sociology students in field work in the poverty ghettos.

On September 13, 1976, I was abducted in Buenos Aires, where I lived with my parents (protestant missionaries) since 1953, by armed men in civilian clothing. I was blindfolded and conducted to a room that gave the impression of being in a barn, where there were many men and women. Days after, when security was relaxed by officials and subofficials, I was able to see many persons blindfolded and chained to the floor, as I was. Sometimes when our hands were free we could remove part of our blindfolds enough to see and talk in low voices.

The day after my abduction, I was conducted as were many others, to rooms which we called "the torture house." There, men dressed in civilian clothing, would begin interrogations, using torture "when it was necessary" in attempts to extract confession. That torture took various forms: beating with clubs, fists, kicking, immersing in water or in fecal substance to almost the drowning point and applying "La Picana," (electric machine) that is touched to the more sensitive parts of the body, like mouth, eyes, nose, ears, vagina, breast, penis, feet, and hands. To cause a stronger sensation they would tie us with rope to a wire bed which carried an electrical current, plus entangled wire between the fingers and toes, splashing water on to augment the pain. These methods were aimed at obtaining confession of our own activities, names, and addresses (which in some cases did not exist), or sometimes used only as punishment. After these interrogations we were conducted again to the "barn" where the rest of the prisoners were being held, and they by their turn were conducted to the interrogation etc; while the rest of us from our place heard their screaming and howling. They would come back almost unconscious and moaning in great pain. Sometimes doctors would come and look after the worst injuries such as broken bones, ribs, bleeding kidneys, etc.

I am very sorry I can't remember the names of all the prisoners who were with me. When I knew about the possibility of being freed, because of my nationality, I tried to memorize as many names as I could. I gave them out in the Federal Prison of ___ Devoto, so that their families, who didn't know of their whereabouts, would be aware of where they were. Among the names I remember are: Eduardo Raul Herbilhaa; Elena Barberis; Ana Maria Lanzilotto, pregnant; Domingo Menna, this man tied with large chains and tortured to extremes; Liliana Delfino; Maria Eugenia Lopez; a man whose last name was D'Angelo; and then names like Silvia; Maria Rosa and hus husband Miguel; Juan Carlos; Cristiana; Osmar; Lila; Tony; Augusto; Pancho; Graciela. They all were very badly nourished and tortured. Some with broken bones and wounds of which they complained.

By night our sleep was accompanied by rats that ran over and around our bodies. We were also at the mercy of being raped by the sub-officials. I wish to share my concerns with the international organizations; the United States Congress; and American Churches so that they will act on behalf of the many Argentine persons whose lives are affected. At the same time we appeal to the Argentine Government to declare which Argentine and foreign citizens are being held as prisoners, for until now many imprisoned people are considered dead or missing.

Some prisoners are treated better than others. Many are threatned with torture. (Westerkamp's son, a leftist, age 24, is in jail and has been tortured. He was an activist student but never engaged in terrorism. Torture - electric shock, beaten with chains, kicked)

The co-chairman of the Assembly, a man active in the teachers union, was arrested 5 months ago. Disappeared for 12 days. Then the government produced him. His wife visits him. The first few days in jail he was subjected to water torture. There are no charges against him.

The most severe problem -- We estimate 15-25,000 who have completely disappeared, picked up by the armed forces. Many have been killed, some are in concentration camps, torture is routine. It is deliberate government policy to kill them. Some bodies have been found in rivers, ocean. Government just says: "This is a dirty war." What should USG do?

Rabbi: We are very pleased with pressure from the Carter administration. Argentine government is very conscious of its image. Pressure from outside is more effective than from inside. Cutting off military aid is a good move. Pressure is good up to the point where it might break US links with Argentina. You shouldn't cut everything off. This is the most unpopular government, but it is more because of falling standards of living than human rights, as far as the average man in the street is concerned.

MEETING WITH DELEGATION OF ARGENTINE-ISRAELI ASSOCIATIONS:

(Reps were a lawyer, an advertiser, and an Italian translator)

Spokesman insisted there is no official antisemitism, and the populace is not antisemitic, but acknowledged there are no Jews in the army and very few anywhere in government or military.

The group is a federation of 130 organizations. (Embassy spokesman says they represent a conservative viewpoint within the Jewish community.)

Spokesman says they are preoccupied with neo-nazi organizations and their publications. They carry out a vigorous fight and the government has been forced to act against those publications. Nobody is detained because he is Jewish. But if he happens to be detained, he is treated worse than others. They are very worried about this problem and do not hesitate to speak out about it. They believe the government is beginning to be aware of the need to take action against antisemitism in the repressive forces. So we are careful not to cause adverse reaction by making the wrong public statements. Worried about Timmerman. Only the Buenos Aires Herald has published the fact that Timmerman hasn't been charged with anything. His son was released and allowed to emigrate to Israel. Jews may emigrate to Israel at will, but not many want to do that. Were Jews disproportionately represented in the leftist groups? - No.

It is difficult to visit prisoners, whether Jewish or not, though rabbis are often successful in doing so. Do any Jewish people think as Argentine government does, apparently, that Timmerman did obtain his money illegally? Spokesman said he did not personally believe that, but can't speak for Jewish community. President Videla has said Timmerman is being held only for investigation of financial things. We say, let him out so he can get his documents together and make his case.

To Jacobo Kovadlov, the American Jewish Committee rep -- We know only what has been in the Times and Post. It was a mistake to close down the American Jewish Committee office here because now we have nobody to relate to. Spokesman said Kovadlov apparently left for personal reasons; they have talked to him in New York since he left.

MEETING WITH MEMBERS OF PLAZA DE MAYO:

The mothers -- Sra. Maria de la Gard; Sra. Marta de Vazquez; Sra. Maria del Rosario de Cerrutti; Sra. Juanita Pargament. (Again, names not to be used. They are afraid because of this meeting. But they say it would only help them if members, say, made speeches on the House floor referring to this meeting, but without names.)

The mothers parade to the plaza each Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m., about 100-150 strong. They do not ask that their sons be released; only that they be told where their sons are, and that they receive due process. Some disappeared 20 months ago and we don't know if they are alive or dead.

The group published an ad in La Prensa and La Nacion in October. No repercussions. But after another ad on December 10, signed by 1,000 mothers and therefore much more attention-getting, there has been trouble. Two days before the ad a group of mothers were picked up at church. The day the article was published a mother and a French nun were kidnapped at home. We believe repression since that day has increased a lot. One night a large number of people were imprisoned in another city (La Plata).

There are now 3 or 4 mothers in custody. We do not know what has happened to them but do not believe they have been killed. But the Sub-Secretary of the Interior has asked us not to go to the Plaza anymore because we make a bad image. We say we will stop when they tell us where our sons are.

One day everybody in the Plaza was taken to jail for 2-3 hours, but treated OK and released. The mothers are more and more fearful. The mothers' stories --

1) My son was a lawyer, a defender of human rights and of those who had been imprisoned. He often went to the jails to visit his clients. One day he was taken from home and has disappeared.

2) Son, age 31, a surgeon, taken 1 year ago. He was not political. I have absolutely no knowlege of why he was taken.

3) Son was a student of economics at the university. I know of no political activities. But I speculate that someone at the university may have pointed him out as a leftist, something of that sort, and he disappeared.

4) My daughter, 23, a psychologist, and her husband 25, a veterinarian, were picked up 20 months ago from their home. I know of no political activities they were involved in. She was a social worker and concerned with the problems of the lower classes. They were Peronists, but not especially active. We believe she was pregnant with her third child, because the mother (wife of a diplomat in Mexico) received a letter before the arrest indicating that.

What happens to the children in such cases? If the grandparents will keep them, OK. Otherwise, the government may deposit them with a neighbor, or may simply put them out for adoption and the parents are not told where. In one case a grandmother recognized a grandchild who had been placed for adoption with another family.

Do you believe the US is doing all it can? - "Yes. But we would like to see even a little more pressure, though not necessarily sanctions against the Argentine government. The American government is the only hope we have."

Basic Requests

(1) Publish and keep up to date a list of all held in detention by security or military forces under procedures authorized by the state of siege declared November 6, 1974.

(2). Reinstitute humane and long-respected procedures, that is, regularized detention proceedings by which each person would be inscribed at the point of detention, families would be notified promptly and charges would promptly and publicly be laid.

(5) If you are holding people who have not been promptly charged, release them or, if this is preferable, permit them voluntarily to leave the country.

(7) Investigate and punish cases of torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment. Such investigations should be conducted by persons unconnected with the detention process.

Overall considerations: Our goal should be to phrase each of our proposals so as to demonstrate to the GOA the utility from its standpoint of taking the suggested action. We want to emphasize the way in which each will strengthen the Argentine nation and respond to its critics -- without sounding patronizing.

(1) Publication of the lists. The problem of phrasing our approach on this issue is greatly reduced by the fact that the GOA already seems to be moving in the desired direction. However, while we understand they are now preparing lists of detainees, we do not know whether they intend to publish lists of all detainees or only those detained after a certain date. Under the circumstances, we would probably want to convey to the GOA our pleasure with the apparent progress which it is making toward publishing lists of detainees and add that we hope these lists will include the names of all detainees as they are detained -- an important step in our view toward regularizing the detention process.

(2) Regularization of detention procedures. Here we might argue that continued use of the military court system to prosecute subversives needlessly antagonizes potential supporters of the government's campaign against subversion and that there is no reason not to return to established legal procedures. We could point out that in most security cases the GOA seems to have ample evidence to prosecute in open court and that in any event, under the National Security Laws, it has additional legal weapons to use against proven subversives. By prosecuting suspected subversives in military court where they have no legal guarantees, the GOA only contributes to the emotionalism which is tearing the country apart. Instead it should try to heal the wounds by returning to established legal procedures.

(3) Release or charge detainees. In this case, we should not appear to be supplying the GOA with a rigid answer to a painful problem -- detainees. Rather we should stress the existence of alternatives which the GOA could pursue that would answer its critics and contribute to the restoration of legal order in Argentina. Our basic point is that if detainees are not promptly charged, they should either be released or be permitted to seek and enjoy asylum abroad. With regard to the asylum question, we might ask the GOA to show the same style of pragmatism toward Argentine nationals as it has toward nationals of other South American countries in Argentina which have sought asylum elsewhere.

(4) Investigation of abuses. One of the arguments the GOA has used to justify its failure to prosecute human rights abuses by members of the security forces is that such action would demoralize them and greatly weaken the GOA's ability to defend the nation against subversion. However, now that there is some consensus within the GOA that subversion is declining, the GOA must reexamine its priorities. Under the present circumstances, there is no excuse for encouraging immorality by not prosecuting official human rights violations. In other words, having now won part of its battle against subversion, the GOA must begin to correct abuses within its own camp if it is to preserve the country.

BUREAU OF INTELLIGENCE AND RESEARCH

MEXICO: OUTLOOK FOR THE LOPEZ PORTILLO ADMINISTRATION

UNCLASSIFIED

Summary

The outlook for the new Mexican Government is of special significance to the United States. A multitude of intertwined relationships--a mutual border, substantial bilateral trade, billions of dollars of US investment--join the two countries. As a result, the problems of one often have considerable impact on the other.

Jose Lopez Portillo, who took office as President of Mexico on December 1, faces a formidable array of problems at the opening of his six-year term. The short-term effects of some of the policies of his predecessor, Luis Echeverria, provide his most immediate tasks:

--to restore confidence in government;

--to stabilize an economy in psychological crisis since last fall's devaluations of the peso; and

--to effect some reconciliation between business and labor, landowners and landless peasants.

Mexico's new President will also have to deal with more deeply rooted problems:

--the high under- and unemployment rate;

--lagging industrial and agricultural productivity; and

--skyrocketing population growth.

Lopez Portillo brings a variety of experience and skills to the job. A former professor and Secretary of Finance, he is an intellectual, a pragmatic, and a skilled administrator whose personal style is to stress reason and compromise rather than rhetoric and ideology. He appears, in the first weeks of his administration, to have made a good beginning on the tasks before him. His inaugural address, stressing calm, confidence, and reconciliation, and his cabinet appointments, indicating responsible administration, have generally been well received. In addition, he has taken steps to garner support from the private sector and to avert armed conflict over land invasions.

Under Lopez Portillo's administration, Mexican-US relations should improve. He has stressed the need for a more cooperative relationship between the two countries and is hoping for special trade preferences for Mexican exports, increased investment, and more US tourism to bolster the Mexican economy. In return, the US may look for a more constructive approach to the problem of illegal Mexican immigration, continued cooperation on the joint narcotics control program, and a more moderate stance from Mexico on Third World issues.

Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, who took office on December 1, faces a formidable array of pressing problems at the opening of his six-year term. How effectively he deals or comes to terms with them holds important implications for the US.

Mexico's significance for the US lies in the multitude of intertwined relationships that join the two countries: a mutual border, substantial bilateral trade, billions of dollars of US investment in Mexico, and a host of jointly undertaken projects ranging from the eradication of agricultural pests to narcotics control. Because of this interrelationship, the domestic problems of one country often have considerable impact on the other--for example, Mexican unemployment becomes illegal immigration to the US; and US recessionary cycles depress Mexico's export and tourism industries, heightening its balance of payments deficit with the US.

Background

During the period from World War II to the early 1970's, Mexico's economic managers emphasized growth in industry and manufacturing, achieving an impressive, sustained GNP growth rate of more than 6 percent annually. However, as former President Echeverria found when he took office in 1970, the growth pattern had masked such basic national problems as an exploding population rate, burgeoning unemployment, neglected rural development, inequities of income distribution, and inadequate programs for the poorest sectors of Mexican society.

In an effort to build for the future, the Echeverria administration poured huge sums into ambitious long-term projects--dams, steel mills, increased petroleum exploration--and into social programs, including schools, roads, and hospitals. Hit hard by the "stagflation" that gripped the US in the mid-1970's, Mexico saw a sharp drop in tourism and export earnings and a steep rise in the cost of imports at the same time that government spending and borrowing were at an all-time high. By the spring of 1976, Mexico's foreign debt was estimated at some $22 billion, pressures were building for the devaluation of the peso, and the private sector was becoming increasingly concerned by Echeverria's anti-business diatribes. Devaluation rumors, begun in April, became a self-fulfilling prophecy as capital flight snowballed, forcing Echeverria to take the necessary--but bitter--pill of allowing the devaluation of the peso on September 1.

In the wake of a second devaluation on October 26, rumors of an "imminent coup"--although unfounded--gained widespread credence, an indication of how badly public confidence was shaken. These rumors were exacerbated by Echeverria's sudden action in mid-November seizing some 250,000 acres of privately owned agricultural land for distribution to landless peasants. Additional land distributions on the eve of his departure from office raised the hopes of additional thousands of landless peasants and resulted in widespread land invasions in northern Mexico. As Echeverria relinquished the presidency, Mexico was in the grip of a psychological crisis.

Two Transitions

Echeverria's inheritance, on taking office from Diaz Ordaz, was a prospering economy but a middle class restive under the authoritarian one-party system, and a shockingly neglected segment of society--the rural and urban poor--which had not shared in the prosperity. Student violence was high, and pressures from the left threatened to force Echeverria to turn to increasing repression in order to govern. Considered at the beginning of his term to be another conservative president, little different from the lackluster Diaz Ordaz, Echeverria instituted a number of social programs and surprised observers by outflanking the left with rhetoric--a favorite move being to call demonstrating leftist students "fascists." Although private-sector profits certainly did not suffer under Echeverria (they were, in fact, at an all-time high), private-sector psychology eventually succumbed to the years of Echeverria's left-leaning verbal barrage, resulting in cutbacks in private investment and a torrent of capital flight.

On leaving office, Echeverria said that the accomplishments of his administration will be better understood in the future than they are today. He is probably right. Although his immediate legacy to Lopez Portillo appears to be a national economy in disarray and a badly divided society, these are short-term effects that Lopez Portillo--with skill and a little luck--can overcome in the first years of his term. In the long run, Echeverria's investments in infrastructure should provide a solid basis for further expansion of Mexico's fundamentally sound economy--particularly in petroleum and steel.

There is, however, another bequest from Echeverria that is likely to cause difficult medium-term problems for Lopez Portillo. By raising the expectations of the landless campesinos for more land and of labor for continuing wage increases, Echeverria encouraged demands that Lopez Portillo could fulfill only at the expense of agricultural productivity and higher industrial prices. However, higher productivity and greater production are major components of Lopez Portillo's economic stabilization program. Openly to deny these demands could require stern repressive measures; Lopez Portillo is more likely to follow the time-honored--and more prudent--course of watering down demands by persuading sector leaders of the need for restraint. The new President will find his ability to achieve compromise between conflicting interest groups put to the test from the very first days of his administration.

Lopez Portillo

Lopez Portillo, at 56, brings a variety of experience and skills to the presidency, which should stand him in good stead at this juncture in Mexico's political life. Trained as a lawyer, he taught history and political science for some 20 years at Mexico's National University and at the Polytechnic Institute. His public service career includes experience in the Secretariat of National Patrimony and in the Secretariat of the Presidency, and he has served as Director General of the Federal Electricity Commission and as Secretary of Finance. He is an intellectual and a pragmatist as well as a skilled administrator, willing to delegate authority and interested in streamlining the government structure. His style is to emphasize reason and compromise, rather than rhetoric or ideology, and he is inclined to take a realistic and moderate approach to problems.

Inaugural Speech

Lopez Portillo's inaugural speech appears to give a good picture of the man, his style, and his priorities.

Statesmanlike--in parts, eloquent--it was clearly an all-out effort to restore the heavily eroded confidence in government. In it, he realistically acknowledged the many problems facing Mexico and frankly admitted that he needed time and the cooperation of all elements of society to deal with them. Emphasizing that the greatest danger to Mexico is fear, he asked for time, patience, faith, and goodwill to bind up the nation's wounds.

The address, largely devoted to economic policy, called for an austerity program and a national effort to increase production and promised to restructure taxes, cut government spending, reduce foreign borrowing, control imports, and attack the problem of inflation.

Lopez Portillo did not outline specific programs, but spoke at length on the economic policies that his government would pursue:

--Exchange rate. No fixed exchange rate was announced, and no promise was made to establish one in the future. The President, however, spent an appreciable amount of time explaining to the public the real meaning of devaluation and indicated that he would introduce measures designed to discourage capital flight.

--Balance of payments. The size of Mexico's huge foreign debt was not mentioned, but the President promised that foreign borrowing by the public sector will be limited to that required for capital goods; attention will be given to increasing labor-intensive exports; and, for the private sector, moves will be made to substitute tariff protection for import quotas.

--Investment policy. The government will seek to focus domestic and foreign investment primarily on agriculture and livestock, energy, petrochemicals, mining, steel, capital goods, transportation, and basic consumer goods.

--Tax policy. The President called for the adjustment of tax rates for inflation and the reinstatement of progressive taxation of incomes. To encourage reinvestment, higher tax rates will be applied to companies' distributed profits.

--Wages and prices. Stressing the need to avoid further deterioration of income distribution, the President proposed to tie salaries to an improved cost-of-living index and to make strong efforts to control inflation.

--Natural resources. Mexico must make rational but intensive use of its natural resources. Citing fossil fuels as an example, Lopez Portillo warned against past errors of senseless waste and pressed for improved use of such non-renewable energy sources as oil, gas, and coal, until techniques in atomic, solar, and geothermal energy are developed.

--Agriculture. Mexico will emphasize the need to become self-sufficient in food production, and a program will be set up for technical research in tropical agricultural areas. Lopez Portillo did not, however, spell out his policy on agrarian reform.

--Industrial development. Special emphasis will be placed on stimulating the agricultural, mining, and steel industries, with support for small- and medium-sized operations. A special ministry will be set up to coordinate industrial sector affairs.

Foreign policy was dealt with only briefly. The President stressed the continuity of Mexico's traditional foreign policy, based on the principles of sovereignty, independence, and international solidarity. He pledged support for the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States (CERDS) and reiterated Mexico's determination to continue to press for the peaceful resolution of conflicts and the prohibition of weapons that threaten humanity's existence.

Finally, Lopez Portillo proposed three new laws related to reform of government administration which indicate his concern for streamlining government structure in order to increase its efficiency and responsiveness:

--an administration law to reorganize and regroup the cabinet ministries, possibly creating a few "super" ministries;

--a public debt law that would give the Mexican Congress better control over executive branch expenditures; and

--a government expenditure law that would place a single ministry, similar to the US Office of Management and Budget, in charge of the budget and government spending.

The Cabinet

Lopez Portillo's selections for cabinet and other high government positions are generally of high quality and have been favorably received by political groups of the center and the right. Breaking with the Echeverria administration, Lopez Portillo has demonstrated his independence by surrounding himself with close associates and has retained only two of Echeverria's former cabinet officers--both of whom received posts of lesser importance. While many other Echeverria appointments have been kept on in second- and third-level positions, Lopez Portillo has made it clear that he intends to be his own man--another reassuring sign to the private sector.

Among his major cabinet appointments are:

--Secretary of Government, Jesus Reyes Heroles;

--Secretary of the Presidency, Carlos Tello Macias;

--Secretary of Finance, Julio Rodolfo Moctezuma Cid; and

--Secretary of Foreign Relations, Santiago Roel Garcia.

These men are close to Lopez Portillo, have broad previous experience in government, and generally have established good records in administration, planning, and finance.

The relative importance and responsibilities of some of the other cabinet positions remain unclear, pending the passage of Lopez Portillo's bill to reorganize the government. In his proposal, already before Congress, the President seeks to streamline the unwieldy Mexican bureaucracy in order to reduce waste and duplication and to improve its usefulness as an instrument of planning. His program calls for:

--a merger of the Secretariats of Agriculture and Hydraulic Resources to maximize agricultural and forestry production;

--a combined Secretariat of Patrimony and Industrial Development, noting that energy resources are the key to Mexico's development and that only by their sound and expeditious exploitation can basic industries flourish;

--a new Secretariat of Commerce to coordinate production and distribution, to promote the competitiveness of Mexican exports, and to manage import control policy;

--a new Secretariat of Human Settlements and Public Works to unite government programs related to housing, population, and urban welfare;

--a new Secretariat of Programming and Budget to combine the planning and budget activities now scattered among three Secretariats; and

--the creation of a Secretariat of Fishing to encourage exploitation and consumption of fisheries resources.

Prospects

Many of the problems facing Lopez Portillo are the enormous and intractable issues that faced his predecessor--skyrocketing population growth, a staggering unemployment rate, and an ever-widening gap between rich and poor. Before he can begin to wrestle with these, however, Lopez Portillo must first deal with more immediate problems left him by Echeverria: restoration of confidence in government, stabilization of the economy, improvement of balance of payments, and reconciliation or compromise between such conflicting interests groups as business and labor, peasants and landowners. On some of these he has made a good beginning:

--his inaugural address, stressing calm, reconciliation, and confidence, was well received by the public;

--his cabinet appointments, indicating responsible administration, buoyed the mood of the private sector;

--the armed confrontations over land invasion appear to have been diverted into legal channels, at least for the present; and

--his private talks with businessmen have garnered support for his first investment and development programs.

His next immediate challenge came from labor's threat to demand huge wage increases on January 1, which, if granted, could have seriously jeopardized economic stabilization measures. However, a compromise was achieved, with increases of 9 and 10 percent authorized. In his choice of the highly capable and efficient Pedro Ojeda Paullada, former Attorney General, for the post of Secretary of Labor, Lopez Portillo seems to have indicated his concern that the labor sector may present his administration with some of its most difficult problems. Ojeda's effectiveness is increased by the addition to his team of Alejandro Gertz, formerly his executive officer in the Attorney General's office.

If private-sector confidence can be restored, reversing capital flight and encouraging savings and investment, Lopez Portillo will likely turn to the two major items stressed in his campaign:

--stimulating agricultural production to make Mexico self-sufficient in food, create jobs in labor-intensive agriculture, and provide farm products for export; and

--increasing development of Mexico's energy resources, particularly petroleum and natural gas, to fuel an expanding economy and provide needed foreign earnings.

The problems facing the Lopez Portillo government are formidable, and the most deep-rooted cannot be solved within the term of one administration. However, Mexico's basically sound economy and wealth of natural resources should, with careful nurturing and a favorable international economic climate, provide the growth necessary to keep those problems within manageable limits.

Implications for Mexican-US Relations

Mexican-US relations, in the main friendly and cooperative for three decades, suffered during the term of President Echeverria. His verbal blasts at the US, economic imperialism, and allusions to "dark interests" promoting Mexico's "economic destabilization" took a heavy toll of US goodwill, as did his unprecedented (for Mexico) activism in international forums and his ardent espousal of Third World causes.

Lopez Portillo is well aware that these actions have hurt Mexico in tangible ways, including a drop in US tourism and reduced US investment. He has repeatedly stressed his desire for a friendlier, more cooperative relationship with the US and indicated that his choice of Ambassador to the US would be one of his most important appointments. He has chosen Hugo Margain, a former Finance Minister, who served as Ambassador to the US from 1965 to 1970 and, most recently, as Ambassador to Great Britain, where he is said to have forged strong economic links for Mexico among British financial circles. Margain has long been a champion of Mexico's efforts to assert greater political and economic independence from the US. He nevertheless favors a close working relationship between the two countries on matters of mutual concern. This, coupled with his strong economic and financial background, points toward the course that Lopez Portillo will pursue with the US, emphasizing:

--friendship and cooperation, but not at the cost of compromising Mexico's independent posture;

--increased US investment in Mexico, but channeled into areas serving Mexican development goals; and

--US trade preferences to allow Mexico to boost its manufactured and agricultural exports to the US.

Lopez Portillo understands the constraints placed on these measures by the US political process. He hopes, nevertheless, that the US will show its support by early action on such matters as an increase to $200 in US customs exemption to encourage more US tourism to Mexico and legislation to grant Mexico a higher US legal immigration quota.

In three areas of major interest to the US--narcotics, illegal migration, and petroleum--the prospects are mixed. Lopez Portillo has pledged his all-out support in continuing Mexico's efforts in the joint narcotics control program, with emphasis on poppy eradication. In the last year, this program has seen some success in reducing the supply of Mexican heroin available in the US. However, corruption among some Mexican officials is a problem, and although Lopez Portillo has promised to wage war against this, he is likely to find it a well-nigh impossible task. Nevertheless, to the extent that Mexico continues its commitment to the narcotics control program and that official corruption can be contained or limited, some continued diminution of the quantity of "Mexican brown" reaching the US can be expected. As long as the demand for narcotics in the US continues, however, Mexico will remain a prime transit point for drugs from other areas destined for the US.

Illegal migration, with deep roots in Mexico's most intransigent problems--population growth, unemployment, rural and urban poverty--seems unlikely to abate. Lopez Portillo hopes to combat the labor outflow by creating more jobs in industry and agriculture and is looking to greater US involvement to help create those jobs. Higher employment and lower birth rates, however, are long-term approaches. In the meantime, illegal migration to the US will continue, building pressures within the US for tighter border control and more deportations and building reactions in Mexico to violations of the migrants' human rights. To the extent that such measures--if they are taken--prove successful in shutting off the US safety valve, the Mexican Government will face increasing social unrest at home.

A wide range of proposals concerning "undocumented aliens" is being discussed at various levels in the Mexican Government:

--resurrection of the "bracero program" for temporary Mexican labor;

--the formation of a joint US-Mexican commission to study the problem and make recommendations to both governments; and

--the creation of special industries in rural areas of high emigration which would receive special support from the US Government for their exported products.

Given the complexities of the issue, the lack of a broad base of factual data on illegal immigration, and Lopez Portillo's pragmatic orientation, it seems likely that Mexico may propose a joint study as an initial step.

Mexico's oil reserves are presently estimated at some 20-40 billion barrels, and exploration by Pemex, the Mexican Government-owned petroleum company, continues to locate promising areas for future drilling. Further testing may reveal that Mexico's reserves range close to the 60-billion-barrel mark--about the extent of Kuwait's. With the increased investment in exploration, drilling, and production capacity of recent years, Mexico has once again become self-sufficient in oil and, in 1976, began exporting crude oil, reaching a year-end rate of some 100,000 barrels a day. Given a major production effort, it is estimated that Mexico's exports could reach 300,000 b/d in 1977 and 850,000 b/d in 1979.

Lopez Portillo has called for increased--but rational--exploitation of Mexico's energy resources. He has named as Director General of Pemex, Jorge Diaz Serrano, a long-time friend and a former private contractor to Pemex for oil exploration. Diaz is said to be highly knowledgeable on both the technical and financial aspects of petroleum production and to be favorably disposed toward Mexican private business and US oil companies.

Although pressures exist for a conservationist approach, and some quarters favor exporting only refined petroleum products, Mexico's current foreign indebtedness would appear to dictate that--at least over the next decade--every effort be made to lift and export crude oil as rapidly as possible. This rapid production would allow Mexico to reduce its debt and provide capital for expansion of other aspects of its economy. To make the concerted development effort, Pemex would require additional equipment and technical assistance, especially for offshore drilling--a situation that could provide opportunities for US petroleum-related industries. Mexico's nationalistic sensitivities, however, would require the utmost delicacy in handling any foreign connections in the development of its petroleum industry.

Beyond the term of Lopez Portillo, it seems likely that Mexico, once its debt problems become more tractable, would revert to a more conservationist approach to its petroleum resources:

-there is a built-in reluctance to allow any one factor to dominate the economy;

--too-rapid development and production would result in waste of associated natural gas and limit the long-term productivity of the fields.

In the international arena, the US can expect a more moderate stance from Mexico and, perhaps, an atmosphere of better understanding in working out compromises on such issues as Law of the Sea, disarmament, and Third World demands for a New International Economic Order. Lopez Portillo has felt that his predecessor's frenetic involvement in every Third World cause has proved of no benefit to Mexico and, in fact, has occasionally involved the country to its detriment in quarrels not its own. Moreover, Mexico's large foreign debt and its need for continued inflows of private and official investment tend to dictate moderate courses of foreign policy aimed at retaining US and other international confidence in the country's management. Under Lopez Portillo, Mexico can be expected to focus its energies on the multilateral issues that directly involve its own interests.

On balance, then, while the US can expect a friendlier tone and greater cooperation in working with the Lopez Portillo government on matters of mutual concern, it must also expect hard bargaining and must attempt to forge compromises over the thorny issues on which Mexico's interests diverge from those of the US.

Dear Wayne:

On January 7 we had a rather fascinating 90 minutes with Philippe Labreveux of Le Monde. Bob Zimmermann, George Lister, Charles Runyon and I were present. Much of what Labreveux said is contained in the enclosed articles from Proceso, a Mexican magazine.

We were struck by what Labreveux said about the absence of Argentine organizations working on behalf of human rights. He stated that the only effective one is the Liga Argentina por los Derechos Humanos, a group dominated by Communists. Nonetheless, the League has lawyers who present habeas corpus petitions in an effort to get prisoners on record, and it has a network of informants. Labreveux stressed the importance of habeas corpus petitions, noting that the League is convinced that those murdered at Pilar would not have been executed if some kind of legal step had been taken on their behalf.

He described the Asamblea Permanente por los Derechos Humanos as a timid group which occasionally makes declarations but does not take any sort of meaningful action on behalf of prisoners.

Labreveux stated that the Consejo Argentino por los Derechos Humanos is basically a two-man outfit: Roca and Garçon Maceda. He suggested that the Argentine Communists have little use for these two lawyers who are connected with terrorism, which the PCA opposes.

Compared to Chile, things are very different in Argentina, he went on, because the Chilean Church hires lawyers and is far more progressive. In Argentina, even the Nuncio finds himself to the left of the bishops. He said that the Church is without bearings (desorientada) as are most Argentines. In Chile, there are committees grouping the relatives of prisoners. But in Argentina people are arrested for forming such groupings, as happened in Cordoba in mid-October, according to Labreveux.

He urged that the United States do all it can on behalf of human rights. He first called for a cutoff of military assistance but changed his mind when he recommended military-to-military contacts. (We pointed out that such contacts were unlikely without our modest military assistance.)

Labreveux feels that multilateral and organization approaches would be the most effective ways to influence the Argentines. For example, he suggested working in common with the European nations (the French and Italians); encouraging the Nuncio; encouraging the Scandinavians; taking more refugees (a very important gesture); fostering American Church to Argentine Church activities; union-to-union programs (so that the Argentine unions do not feel alone); and military-to-military dialogue.

We asked him to tell us about Cordoba. After briefly reviewing that city's role in the downfall of Ongania, Levingston and Lanusse, he described today's "reign of terror" under Menendez and his deputy Juan Bautista Saciain, the latter an unbalanced angel of vengeance. Even the Cardinal is afraid of speaking to Menendez, Labreveux stated. There is no question, he reported, that Menendez and Saciain control all government repression. Not even right-wing groups operate in Cordoba.

Terror also prevails in La Plata and Bahia Blanca. General Vilas is responsible for the arrests of Solari Irigoyen and Amaya. Alfonsin told Labreveux that Amaya was beaten for 15 straight days, that he had a scar right across the crest of his head. The Radicales are afraid to speak out, Labreveux claimed. Alfonsin made Labreveux promise not to publish anything. The military fear to release Solari because the latter could describe his torture.

Labreveux pitied the UCR which after 80 years of existence cannot even publish a daily newspaper. (Labreveux was unaware that General Vilas was retired. We told him.)

The Communists ("and I am not one") are so much better organized. They have suffered 10 dead, 50 abducted and 300 in jail. Yet the PCA does not wish to confront Videla, who is viewed as the lesser of other evils.

In an aside, Labreveux said Uruguay is worse than Argentina and for no reason. They have the same levels of repression but the most horrid forms of torture. He claimed that 2,000 Uruguayan Communists were arrested early in 1976.

Labreveux also felt that it would be better to have a strong president with defined ideas than to have Videla. I think Labreveux would argue that Videla's weakness should not be used to excuse Argentina as a consistent violater of human rights. Labreveux seems to doubt that things could get much worse. While there was little time to discuss economic questions, the French reporter suggested that Martinez de Hoz is guilty of social repression or as Argentine soccer fans say, he is a "Hood Robin" who robs from the poor to give to the rich.

Labreveux left us to go have lunch with John Salzberg. (George Lister's notes on this encounter are attached.) Labreveux told us that he might return in February to report on the hearings.

I am writing a letter rather than memcon in order to ask you a few questions about Labreveux's comments. We'd really appreciate your comments.

We are interested in the role of human rights groups within Argentina. Are the Church and Permanent Assembly ineffective? Is it true that the Communist Liga is the only group showing courage on the human rights front? Do we have contact with the Liga? Why are the Communists sticking their necks out? Are the bar associations totally intimidated? Are lawyers harassed for defending political prisoners? Was this Mario Yacub's crime? Is the state of siege simply a situation in which he who is captured has no recourse and he who tries to help a prisoner finds himself condemned too? (By the way, ARA, INR and L are considering hiring a lawyer to comment on Argentine laws in order to give us a better idea of what might or might not fly in terms of human rights recommendations. I'll be sure to advise the Ambassador if the lawyer project goes much further, but it does reflect our interest in what is happening to the law, lawyers and judges.)

It would also be useful to have a better feel for what is happening in the provinces. What is the ambiente in, say Cordoba or Rosario? Could the Videla regime become unraveled in the provinces? Could Martinez de Hoz' policies spark another Cordobazo? I'll bet that you and your crew would like nothing better than to travel and stick your nose in provincial corners. I'm not suggesting travel, but when you (and I assume Econ too) learn tidbits about conditions in the interior, I hope you'll share them.

I also want to reiterate the interest with which the human rights roundups are received. They are very well written and full of nuggets. They are read avidly throughout our building. I guarantee you that Embassy Buenos Aires has a wide readership - which is a mixed blessing of course!

My best to you and POL.

Sincerely,

Fred

Fernando E. Rondon

1. BEGIN SUMMARY: ALTHOUGH LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN (LATIN) ISSUES WERE AWAY FROM CENTER-STAGE AT THE 31ST UNGA, AND WHILE THE LATINS WERE NOT KEY ACTORS, THEY PROVIDED US SOME IMPORTANT SUPPORT. FURTHERMORE, IN CONTRAST TO OTHER REGIONAL GROUPS, THE LATINS TENDED TO ABSTAIN ON POLITICAL ISSUES SENSITIVE TO US. DIVISIONS WITHIN THE LATIN GROUP BETWEEN THE HISPANICS AND THE CARIBBEAN COMMONWEALTH MEMBERS CONTINUED TO BE EVIDENT. LATIN ISSUES INCLUDED THE PANAMA CANAL, HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, BELIZE, AND THE FALKLAND ISLANDS. PUERTO RICO WAS NOT RAISED FORMALLY BUT CUBA, IN ITS STATEMENTS, ATTEMPTED TO AGITATE MATTERS. OUR REPLIES TO THE CUBANS WERE WELL RECEIVED. LATIN PERFORMANCE AT 31ST UNGA REFLECTED BOTH THE FORCE OF TRADITIONAL HEMISPHERIC RELATIONSHIPS AND WESTERN TIES, AS WELL AS ATTRACTIONS OF CLOSER IDENTIFICATION WITH THIRD WORLD. COMPETITION FOR LATIN VOTE WILL REMAIN KEEN. IN THAT CONNECTION, OUR WILLINGNESS TO SEEK PROGRESS ON CANAL ISSUE SHOULD HAVE SIGNIFICANT EFFECT WITH LATINS. END SUMMARY.

2. SUPPORT FOR US POSITIONS: WITH WITHDRAWAL OF THE KOREAN RESOLUTIONS, NO REPETITION OF THE ANTI-ZIONISM RESOLUTION, AND A GENERALLY CONCILIATORY ATMOSPHERE AT THE 31ST UNGA, LATIN SUPPORT FOR US POLITICAL POSITIONS

[redacted]
Classification

WAS LESS EVIDENT THAN IN PREVIOUS YEARS. NEVERTHELESS LATIN SUPPORT WAS SIGNIFICANT ON A RANGE OF POLITICAL ISSUES AS WELL AS SOME ADMINISTRATIVE AND BUDGETARY QUESTIONS. LATIN COSPONSORSHIP OF THE PRO-SOUTH KOREAN DRAFT RESOLUTION (10 OF 20 COSPONSORS, WITH SOME HALF-DOZEN ADDITIONAL POSITIVE VOTES ANTICIPATED) WAS AN IMPORTANT SOURCE OF VOTING STRENGTH WHICH ENCOURAGED WITHDRAWAL OF THE PRO-NORTH KOREAN DRAFT WHICH HAD CUBA AS ITS ONLY LATIN COSPONSOR. ADDITIONALLY, LATINS REPRESENTED ALMOST ONE-THIRD OF THOSE VOTING WITH US AGAINST THE GUAM RESOLUTION. LATIN SUPPORT FOR WESTERN POSITIONS ALSO HELPED ACHIEVE SATISFACTORY COMPROMISES ON A NUMBER OF ISSUES, INTER ALIA: THE LIBYAN AMENDMENT TO THE GERMAN HOSTAGES RESOLUTION, A UKRANIAN DRAFT RESOLUTION CRITICAL OF US PERFORMANCE AS HOST COUNTRY, OPEC EFFORTS TO OPPOSE ADOPTION OF A NEW SCALE OF ASSESSMENTS MORE CLOSELY TO OPEC MEMBERS, AND RESOLUTIONS ON HABITAT, AND THE INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY. AMONG THOSE WHO SOMETIMES VOTED WITH US, NICARAGUA WAS THE MOST RELIABLE, FOLLOWED BY HAITI AND URUGUAY AND THEN CHILE, COLOMBIA, COSTA RICA AND GRENADA.

3. ABSTENTIONS AND ABSENCES: A STRIKING FEATURE OF LATIN VOTING ON ISSUES OF INTEREST TO US WAS THE LARGE PERCENTAGE OF ABSTENTIONS -- PARTICULARLY IN COMPARISON WITH OTHER REGIONAL GROUPS. MOST OF THE LATINS SEE ABSTENTION AS A MEANS OF INDICATING NON-SUPPORT FOR A RESOLUTION. IF VOTES WITH US AND ABSTENTIONS ARE CONSIDERED TOGETHER, OVER HALF OF THE LATINS FREQUENTLY FELL INTO THESE TWO CATEGORIES ON ISSUES OF INTEREST TO US. FREQUENT ABSTAINERS ON SUCH ISSUES WERE THE BAHAMAS, AND EL SALVADOR, FOLLOWED BY COSTA RICA, THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, GUATEMALA, PARAGUAY, URUGUAY AND SURINAM. ABSENCES TOO COULD BE SIGNIFICANT IN THIS REGARD. HONDURAS HAD A LONG LEAD IN THIS RESPECT WITH GUATEMALA AND HAITI DISTANT SECONDS. ON THE UNGA VIETNAM MEMBERSHIP RESOLUTION WHICH CRITICIZED OUR VETO IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL, CHILE, GRENADA, GUATEMALA, HAITI, HONDURAS, PARAGUAY AND URUGUAY ALL WERE ABSENT. THE VOTE AS A WHOLE WAS: 124-1(US)-3.

4. OPPOSITION: OVERALL, HOWEVER, THE LATIN RECORD ON CONTENTIOUS ISSUES WHERE THERE WAS A FIRM NONALIGNED OR G-77 POSITION, WAS NOT ENCOURAGING. ON NORTH-SOUTH ISSUES, THE LATIN VOTING RECORD WAS ONE OF UNIFORM

OPPOSITION. THOSE LATINS WHO WERE IN ALMOST UNIFORM OPPOSITION TO US POSITIONS, INCLUDING VOTES OF PARTICULAR SENSITIVITY TO US, INCLUDED: CUBA, JAMAICA, GUYANA, PANAMA, AND -- IN CONTRAST TO A SLIGHTLY LESS NEGATIVE RECORD LAST YEAR -- TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO. AMONG THOSE SINGLING US OUT FOR GRATUITOUS CRITICISM (REFS B AND C) WERE CUBA, GUYANA, PANAMA AND PERU.

5. MAJOR UNGA POLITICAL ISSUES:

(A) SOUTHERN AFRICA: WITH THE EXCEPTION OF A FEW VOTES ON INDIVIDUAL PARAGRAPHS CONDEMNING NATO OR THE US AND OTHERS AND A FEW ABSTENTIONS ON THE RESOLUTIONS CONTAINING SUCH PARAGRAPHS, THE LATIN RECORD ON SOUTHERN AFRICAN QUESTIONS WAS ONE OF ALMOST UNIFORM SUPPORT FOR NAMIBIA AND ZIMBABWE AND OPPOSITION TO APARTHEID AND SOUTH AFRICA. AN EXCEPTION WAS THE LATIN VOTE ON THE ISRAELI/SOUTH AFRICAN COLLABORATION RESOLUTION, WHICH MANY LATINS SAW AS A GRATUITOUS AND UNFAIR ATTACK ON ISRAEL.

(B) MIDDLE EAST (ME) ISSUES:

LATIN SUPPORT FOR PRO-ARAB POSITIONS ON THE ME REMAINED HIGH WITH, HOWEVER, SOME SLIGHT INCREASE IN ABSTENTIONS ON SOME ISSUES. ON HIGHLY CONTROVERSIAL AND DIVISIVE ME RESOLUTIONS, E.G., ISRAELI/SOUTH AFRICAN COLLABORATION, THE QUESTION OF PALESTINE, AND THE OMNIBUS RESOLUTION ON THE ME SITUATION, HALF OR MORE OF THE LATINS SOMETIMES ABSTAINED AND A FEW LATINS CAST NEGATIVE VOTES. COSTA RICA WAS BY FAR THE MOST FREQUENT LATIN OPPONENT OF PRO-ARAB RESOLUTIONS, SOMETIMES OPPOSING RESOLUTIONS IN ISOLATION WITH ISRAEL. NICARAGUA FOLLOWED WITH HAITI AND GUATEMALA NEXT. BOTH BRAZIL AND MEXICO AS WELL AS A NUMBER OF OTHER LA COUNTRIES ABSTAINED ON THE ISRAEL/SOUTH AFRICA COLLABORATION AND THE OMNIBUS RES ON THE SITUATION IN THE ME.

6. LATIN DIVISION: DIVISION IN THE LA GROUP OVER LATIN ISSUES WAS EVIDENT ON THE BELIZE RESOLUTION AND THE RESOLUTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE. ADDITIONALLY, THERE WAS SOMETIMES DIVISION ON ISSUES WHERE THE US WAS DIRECTLY INTERESTED. DIVISION WAS BASICALLY BETWEEN THE CARIBBEAN COMMONWEALTH MEMBERS PLUS CUBA ON THE ONE HAND AND SOME OF THE HISPANICS ON THE OTHER. ON THE BELIZE VOTE, FOR INSTANCE, OF THE LATINS, ONLY PANAMA, SURINAM AND THE CARIBBEAN COMMONWEALTH STATES PLUS CUBA SUPPORTED [redacted]

THE PRO-BELIZE RESOLUTION, WHILE THE SOLE OPPOSITION TO THE RESOLUTION WAS FROM EIGHT HISPANICS. THE TWELVE NEGATIVE VOTES ON THE RESOLUTION ENTITLED "PROTECTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE" CAME FROM ARGENTINA, BOLIVIA, BRAZIL, CHILE, COSTA RICA, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, GUATEMALA, HONDURAS, NICARAGUA, PANAMA, PARAGUAY AND URUGUAY. THE COMMONWEALTH CARIBBEANS PLUS CUBA WERE JOINED BY COLOMBIA, MEXICO, AND VENEZUELA IN CONDEMNING CHILE. THEN, ON THE FALKLANDS, THE COMMONWEALTH CARIBBEANS (LESS GRENADA WHICH WAS ABSENT) WERE THE ONLY LATINS NOT TO SUPPORT THE PRO-ARGENTINE RESOLUTION. ON OTHER, NON-LATIN, ISSUES THE LINES OF DIVISION WERE LESS CLEAR. ENMOD (REF D) WAS AN ISSUE WHICH SERIOUSLY DIVIDED THE LATINS.

7. LATIN LEADERSHIP AND COORDINATION: IN THE ABSENCE OF MAJOR FOCUS ON LATIN ISSUES, AND BECAUSE OF THE SPECTRUM OF LATIN VIEWS ONPOLICIAL ISSUES, NO SINGLE LEADER EMERGED. DIFFERENT INDIVIDUALS PLAYED IMPORTANT ROLES ON DISPARATE ISSUES: MEXICO'S MARIN ON DISARMAMENT, FOR EXAMPLE, AND URUGUAY'S VIGOROUS AND ARTICULATE AMBASSADOR GIAMBRUNO ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE; (1) AMBASSADOR ILLUECA OF PANAMA WAS INFLUENTIAL DURING HIS NOVEMBER TERM AS SC PRESIDENT, BUT OUTSIDE THE CONTEXT OF THE LA GROUP. LA GROUP CHAIRMEN MAANGED SELECTION OF LA GROUP CANDIDACIES IN A USUALLY SYSTEMATIC AND RESPONSIBLE FASHION, BUT DID NOT EXERCISE LEADERSHIP ON OTHER KINDS OF QUESTIONS. AMBASSADOR ORTIZ DE ROZAS OF ARGENTINA, IN THE WINGS AS A POSSIBLE COMPROMISE CANDIDATE FOR UN SECRETARY GENERAL, SHOULD THE CANDIDACES OF WALDHEIM AND MEXICO'S EX-PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA BOTH HAVE FAILED, WAS AN ACTIVE AND RESPECTED DELEGATE BUT HE DID NOT SEEK A LEADERSHIP ROLE AMONG THE LATIN AMERICAN GROUP. (1) COUNSELLOR THOMAS OF TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO WAS BIGOROUS AND ABLE IN COMMITTEE V (ADMINISTRATION AND BUDGET) WHICH WAS ATYPICAL OF LATIN INVOLVEMENT IN THAT COMMITTEE;

8. LATIN AMERICAN ISSUES:
(A) THE PANAMA CANAL: PANAMA CONTINUED EFFORTS TO DEMONSTRATE WIDESPREAD INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT FOR ITS POSITION AND KEEP OUT NOSE TO THE NEGOTIATING GRINDSTONE. THE PANAMANIAN DELEGATION TOOK ADVANTAGE OF A NUMBER OF OPPORTUNITIES OF VARYING APPROPRIATENESS TO REITERATE STRONGLY -- AND SOMETIMES OFFENSIVELY -- PANAMANIAN VIEWS. FOR EXAMPLE, A FACET OF PANAMIAN PRESSURE WAS AN EFFORT TO INCLUDE A RELATIVELY CONTENTI-

OPTIONAL FORM 151
(Formerly FS-412

Dept. of State

OUR PARAGRAPH ON THE CANAL NEGOTIATINS IN THE RESOLUTION ON THE AMPHICTYONIC CONGRESS. HOWEVER, OPPOSITION BY BOLIVIA AND OTHER LATINS TO POLITICIZATION OF THE RESOLUTION RESULTED IN A MORE OBJECTIVE AND SHORTER REFERENCE TO THE NEGOTIATIONS. FURTHERMORE, THE PANAMANIANS ACCEPTED OUR SUGGESTION TO INCLUDE AN ADDITIONAL PHRASE WHICH GAVE THE PARAGRAPH SOMEWHAT MORE BALANCE. BASED ON GENERAL DEBATE STATEMENTS AND OUR OWN CONVERSATIONS, PANAMA APPEARED TO ENJOY SUPPORT ON THE CANAL, NOT ONLY AMONG LATINS BUT AMONG THE UN MEMBERSHIP AS A WHOLE.

(B) HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE: THE PARTIALLY-SUCCESSFUL COUNTER-ATTACK LAUNCHED BY GIAMBRUNO OF URUGUAY (REF E) AND SUPPORTED BY A SIZABLE NUMBER OF HISPANICS IS WORTH REEMPHASIZING. LATIN SUPPORT FOR THE URUGUAYAN POSITION THAT THE COMMUNIST WERE DEMONSTRATING A GROSS DOUBLE-STANDARD IN SIGHTING IN SO EAGERLY ON CHILE CAME LARGELY FROM LATINS THEMSELVES CONCERNED ABOUT CRITISM OF THEIR OWN RECORD ON HUMAN RIGHTS.

(C) BELIZE: ALTHOUGH DEBATE ON THE QUESTION OF BELIZE WAS SOMEWHAT BRIEFER AND LESS ACRIMONIOUS THAN LAST YEAR WITH A FEW SHIFTS IN THE VOTE THE RESOLUTION, THE NET EFFECT WSS MUCH THE SAME-- ANOTHER IMPRESSIVE EXPRESSION OF INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT FOR THE BELIZEAN POSITION.

(D) FALKLANDS: IN CONTRAST TO THE 30TH GA WHEN THE FALKLANDS WERE NOT CONSIDERED, THIS GA WAS THE SCENE OF A REPETITION OF THE SKIRMISH OVER THE FALKLANDS PREVIOUSLY UNLEASHED IN THE COMMITTEE OF 24. AN INTERESTING ELEMENT WAS ARGENTINE PERMANENT REPRESENTATIVE ORTIZ DE ROZAS' CONTENTION THAT THE 1975 ICJ OPINION BUTTRESSED ARGENTINA'S ARGUMENT THAT TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY AND NOT SELF-DETERMINATION IS THE GOVERNING PRINCIPLE IN THE CASE OF THE FALKLANDS.

9. PUERTO RICO: PUERTO RICO WAS NOT RAISED FORMALLY AT THE 31ST UNGA BUT WAS REPEATED TOUCHED UPON BY CUBA IN VARIOUS STATEMENTS, SOME OF WHICH WE REPLIED TO. THE GENERAL THRUST OF THE CUBAN LINE WAS TO RE-CAPITULATE THE COMMITTEE OF 24 CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT ON PUERTO RICO. A NUMBER OF DELEGATIONS COMMENTED FAVORABLY ON OUR "STATESMANLIKE" RIGHTS OF REPLY AND

SAID THAT THE RESULTS OF THE PUERTO RICAN ELECTIONS REENFORCED OUR POSITION ON PUERTO RICO.

10. INDIVIDUAL COUNTRY ASSESSMENTS:

(A) ARGENTINA: WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE FALKLANDS AND A MODERATE LEVEL OF ACTIVITY ON DISARMAMENT ITEM S AND ON ECONOMIC ISSUES, ARGENTINA PLAYED A SMALL AND CAUTIOUS ROLE AT THIS GA, OUT OF PROPORTION TO ITS TALENTED DELEGATION.

(B) BARBADOS: IN SPITE OF THE ANTICIPATED FOREIGN POLICY LINE OF THE NEW GOVERNMENT AND REPEATED PRO-TESTATIONS OF FRIENDSHIP BY THE NEW PERM REP, BARBADOS DID NOT VOTE WITH US ON ANY ISSUE OF IMPORTANCE TO THE US AND FREQUENTLY VOTED AGAINST US.

(C) BRAZIL: BRAZIL KEPT A LOW PROFILE DURING THE GA AND WAS ALMOST TOTALLY INACTIVE ON ECONOMIC ISSUES, DEMONSTRATING ITS CONTINUING DISTANCE FROM LDC POSITIONS ON SUCH QUESTIONS. WITH THE EXCPETION OF IMPORTANT HELP ON ENMOD, BRAZIL ABSTAINED OR VOTED AGAINST US ON ISSUES OF IMPORTANT TO US.

(D) CUBA: AS IN PREVIOUS YEARS, THE CUBAN DLEL-GATIONS WAS EXTRAORDINARILY ACTIVE, USUALLY VERY EFFECTIVE AND UNIFORMLY UNHELPFUL TO US ACROSS A VERY BROAD SPECTRUM OF ISSUES. CUBAN PERMANENT REPRESENTATIVE ALARCON, WITH TALENT AND EVIDENT RELISH, ATTACKED US IN PLENERY AND IN A VARIETY OF COMMITTEES ON ISSUES INCLUDING: "DESTABILIZATION," THE CUBANA CRASH, THE TRUST TERRITORY OF THE PACIFIC ISLANDS, PUERTO RICO, A MILITARY EXERCISE IN CENTRAL AMERICAN, SOUTHERN AFRICA, WEATHER MODIFICATION, AND "AGGRESSION" IN MOST CORNERS OF THE GLODE. THE CUBANS WERE ACTIVE AS A MEMBER OF THE NONALIGNED COORDINATING COMMITTEE.

(E) GUYANA: IN ADDITION TO VOTING THE WRONG WAY ON ALMOST EVERY ISSUE, THE GUYANESE DELEGATION WAS A LEADER AMONG THE NONALIGNED (REF G).

(F) MEXICO: THE MEXICAN ROLE (HIGHLY CRITICAL OF THE US AND THE USSR) IN THE DISARMAMENT DEBATE (REFS D AND F) CONSTITUTED MEXICO'S MOST SIGNIFICANT

Classification

ACTIVITY. IN THE ECONOMIC AREA, MEXICO WAS MUCH LESS ACTIVE THAN LAST YEAR AND FAILED TO ACHIEVE ANY MAJOR SUCCESSES. MEXICO WAS NOT AGGRESSIVE ON THE CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES WHICH WAS BARELY MENTIONED IN G-77 RHETORIC. MEXICO'S DELEGATION WAS ACTIVE, HOWEVER, IN PROMOTING PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDACY FOR THE UN SECRETARY GENERALSHIP.

(G) PERU: PERU'S VOTING RECORD SUGGESTED NO CHANGE IN PERUVIAN FOREIGN POLICY. PERU CONTINUED TO VOTE AGAINST US OR ABSTAIN ON CONTESTED ISSUES.

(H) VENEZUELA: THE GENERALLY UNREMARKABLE PERFORMANCE OF THEVENEZUELAN DELEGATION DURING THE GA WAS PUNCTUATED MAINLY BY PRESIDENT PEREZ' HIGHLY PUBLICIZED PLENARY ADDRESS LATE IN THE SESSION.
VENEZUELA DID PLAY A POSITIVE ROLE IN TWO KEY ECONOMIC QUESTIONS -- CIEC AND IFAD. CIEC: CO-CHAIRMAN PEREZ-GUERRERO HELPED ACHIEVE G-77 ACCEPTANCE OF POSTPONEMENT OF THE DECEMDER CIEC MINISTERIAL MEETING. EARLIER, THE VENEZUELAN DELEGAION HAD WORKED (IN VAIN) TO MOE THE G-77 TO AN ACCEPTABLE COMPROMISE ON THE GA RESOLUTION ON CIEC; IFAD: THE INTERNATIONAL FUND FOR AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT REACHED ITS 1 BILLION DOLLAR TARGET WHEN VENEZUELA JOINED NORWAY (THE ONLY OTHER CONTRIBUTOR) IN TRANSFERRING SUFFICIENT FUNDS FROM THE MORIBUND UN SPECIAL FUND TO IFAD DESPTIE OPPOSITION FROM G-77 RADICALS.

11. CONCLUSION: PERFORMANCE OF THE TWENTY-SEVEN-MEMBER LATIN AMERICAN GROUP AT THE 31ST UNGA REFLECTED, ON THE ONE HAND, THE FORCE OF TRADITIONAL HEMISPHERIC RELATIONSHIPS AS WELL AS TIES WITH WESTERN COUNTRIES ELSEHWERE. ON THE OTHER, IT REFLECTED THE POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ATTRACTIONS OF CLOSER IDENTIFICATION WITH THE THIRD WORLD. OIL CONSIDERATIONS WORKED IN DIFFERENT WAYS ON DIFFERENT ISSUES, DEPENDINGON THE COUNTRY INVOLVED. ADDITIONALLY, THERE WAS SOLIDARITY WHEN AN HISPANIC COUNTRY WAS FACED WITH AN EXTERNAL ISSUE OR PRESSURE. PREDICTABLY, COMPETITION FOR THE LATIN VOTE WILL REMAIN KEEN, IN THIS CONNECTION, CONTINUED WILLINGNESS ON OUR PART TO SEEK PROGRESS ON THE CANAL ISSUE SHOULD HAVE A SIGNIFICANT EFFECT WITHIN THE LATIN AMERICAN GROUP. IT SHOULD ALSO BE EMPHASIZED THAT LATIN COLLEAGUES REMAINED MOST APPRECIATIVE OF OUR CONSULTATION.

1. I PERCEIVE WE HAVE YOUR ATTENTION. SERIOUSLY, WE RETURN TO THE FRAY ON THIS ONE WITH SOME DIFFIDENCE. HOWEVER, THE OPERATIONAL ISSUES AND THOSE OF PRINCIPLE ARE SO IMPORTANT THAT ANY ILLUMINATION RESULTING FROM FURTHER DIALOGUE WOULD BE WORTHWHILE. IN THE SPIRIT OF PURGING THE SOUL AND SHARPENING THE WIT, WE SUBMIT THE FOLLOWING ADDITIONAL POINTS FOR CONSIDERATION.

2. IN OUR CONTACTS WITH THE GOC WE HAVE ARGUED THE CASE EXACTLY AS YOU DO IN REF A. IN PRESENTING THE BASIC RATIONALE FOR USG ACTIONS; THE AMBASSADOR WITH FOREIGN MINISTER CARVAJAL, I WITH LAVIN, AND SEVERAL OTHER OFFICERS WITY THEIR INTERLOCUTORS, HAVE MADE PRECISELY THE ARGUMENTS YOU ELABORATE IN PARAS 1 AND 4 OF REF A. REGARDING LAVIN'S ALLEGATIONS

ABOUT HIS COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY VISIT, MY RESPONSE TO HIM (PARA 3 OF REF B) CLOSELY PARALLELED YOUR COMMENTS (PARA 6, REF A). FURTHERMORE, IN ANSWER TO LAVIN'S HINTS THAT THE GOC MIGHT TIGHTEN UP ON THE PAROLE PROGRAM, I STRONGLY COUNSELLED HIM AGAINST INDULGING IN WHAT WOULD BE ESSENTIALLY AN EXERCISE IN SELF-HARM.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

3. OUR CONCERNS FOCUS ON OUR INTERNAL DIFFERENCES ABOUT THE PRESENT AND THE FUTURE, I.E., PROBLEMS REMAINING AND LESSONS TO BE LEARNED, NOT THE PAST. WE ARE NOT QUARRELING WITH THE DECISION TO SEND LAVIN HOME. THE DOMESTIC/POLITICAL IMPERATIVES WERE CLEAR AS WAS THE "NO-WIN" REALITY OF THE SITUTATION. LAVIN'S CONTINUED PRESENCE WOULD HAVE RESULTED IN A BROUHAHA WHICH WOULD HAVE BEEN DAMAGING TO HIM PERSONALLY AND TO US/CHILE RELATIONS. SO FAR, SO GOOD.

4. FROM THIS POINT ON THREE SERIOUS (TO US AT LEAST) PROBLEMS MUST STILL BE DEALT WITH: THE QUALITY OF AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL'S (AI) VERBAL ASSERTIONS, THE MCCARTHYIST MANNER IN WHICH AI HAS THUS FAR PROCEEDED, AND HOW THE USG DEALS WITH AI IN THIS AND SIMILAR CASES.

5. AI'S CLAIMS. TO DATE USG ACTIONS IN THE LAVIN CASE SEEM TO BE BASED IN LARGE PART ON AI'S ORAL ALLEGATIONS. THE FACT THAT AI SAYS SOMETHING IS SO DOESN'T MAKE IT SO - PARTICULARLY REGARDING A MATTER SO FRAUGHT WITH POLITICAL AND MORAL IMPLICATIONS. WE WOULD LIKE TO COMMENT ON AI'S CLAIMS IN THE ORDER YOU PRESENTED THEM IN PARA 2 OF REF A AS FOLLOWS:

-- AI CLAIMS PINTO'S TESTIMONY WAS GIVEN SIX MONTHS BEFORE THE LAVIN VISIT. WE HAVE HEARD THAT THE TESTI-MONY OF COLONEL PINTO WAS TAKEN SOME TIME BETWEEN [redacted]

THE 10TH AND 20TH OF JANUARY, 1977. THE MATTER COULD BE SETTLED IF AMNESTY WERE TO SUPPLY A DATED, NOTARIZED DOCUMENT;

-- PINTO'S TESTIMONY IS REPORTED AS HAVING BEEN CHECKED WITH OTHER TESTIMONY. LET AI SUPPLY THAT OTHER TESTIMONY. ARE THEY TALKING ABOUT ACCUSATIONS MADE IN A "RUSSELL TRIBUNAL?" IS THIS PARTICULAR "RUSSEL TRIBUNAL" LIKE THE VIET NAM "RUSSELL TRIBUNAL" WHICH CONDEMNED MANY DISTRINGUISHED US CITIZENS AS WAR CRIMINALS, OR, ARE THESE "OTHER REPORTS" AT LEAST PRIMA FACIE SERIOUS? LET THEM BE PRODUCED AND THEN WE CAN MAKE JUDGMENTS:

-- LAVIN'S NAME IS REPORTED TO APPEAR ON A LIST. THERE ARE PLENTY OF LISTS FLOATING AROUND REGARDING ALLEGATIONS AS TO TORTURE IN CHILE. HERE IN SANTIAGO

THE SWEDISH CHARGE GAVE US A LIST HE OBTAINED FROM SOME STUDENT GROUP IN GENEVA ON WHICH LAVIN'S NAME

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

APPEARS. LAVIN'S NAME WAS PUT ON THIS LIST BECAUSE HIS NAME APPEARED IN A RUSSELL TRIBUNAL PROCEEDING. WE, ABOVE ALL, SHOULD BE SUSPICIOUS OF CHILE LISTS SINCE MANY OF OUR OWN RESPECTED COLLEAGUES APPEAR ON LISTS CLAIMING ALL SORTS OF THINGS ABOUT THE PAST IN CHILE:

-- THE CONFIRMING WITNESS, A SECRET WITNESS, MAY OR MAY NOT BE SERIOUS. IT IS NOT CLEAR FROM REF A WHETHER YOU SPOKE TO THIS WITNESS AND, IF SO, WHAT WERE HIS ALLEGATIONS? IS IT CARBACHO OR ANOTHER ALLENDE ACTIVIST WITH AN AXE TO GRIND? WHO IS THIS SECRET WITNESS AND HOW RELIABLE IS HE? AGAIN, LET THE ACCUSATIONS BE PUT INTO THE RECORD.

6. AI AND MCCARTHYISM. WHILE MCCARTHYISM IS A BUZZ WORD, IT IS ALSO VERY DESCRIPTIVE. IT ACCURATELY DESCRIBES THE GAME THAT AI HAS PLAYED IN THIS AFFAIR, AT LEAST TO DATE. WE CANNOT AVOID THE ISSUE BY AVOIDING THE USE OF THE WORD. IN THE EARLY '50'S SENATOR MCCARTHY WAIVED LISTS AND CLAIMED TO HAVE SWORN AFFIDAVITS WHICH WOULD PROVE THE EXISTENCE OF A NUMBER OF COMMUNISTS IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT. FOR MONTHS NEITHER THE LISTS NOR AFFIDAVITS WERE PRODUCED. WHAT DID COME TO LIGHT WAS SO FULL OF STANTIAL AND HEARSAY EVIDENCE THAT IT COULD ONLY BE CHARACTERIZED AS JUNK. IN THE MEANTIME, THE ACCUSED WERE TREATED AS IF THE CASE AGAINST THEM HAD BEEN PROVED; THEY WERE FIRED FROM JOBS, ETC. IN THE LAVIN CASE AI IS WAIVING AROUND LISTS AND CLAIMING IT HAS

[redacted]

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

CONDEMNING AFFIDAVITS. TO DATE THE DOCUMENTS HAVE NOT BEEN PRODUCED. MEANWHILE, LAVIN IS TREATED AS IF HE WERE GUILTY AND ASKED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

7. THE PROBLEM FOR US IS THAT AI HAS NOT EVEN PRODUCED PIECES OF PAPER WHICH PURPORT TO BE EVIDENCE. AI FORCED THE ISSUE IN SUCH A WAY AS WOULD SERIOUSLY DAMAGE LAVIN PERSONALLY AND AFFECT BILATERAL RELATIONS ADVERSELY. THEY ARE BOUND TO SHOW THEIR EVIDENCE, AND THE DEPARTMENT IS BOUND TO PRESS THEM. UNTIL AI AT LEAST MAKES A PRIMA FACIE CASE, THE USG IS ASSOCIATED WITH A PROCESS THAT IS SUBJECT TO THE CHARGE OF MCCARTHYISM. WE BELIEVE IT IS IMPERATIVE FOR USG TO KEEP PUSHING AI AND WE ARE DELIGHTED THAT YOU HAVE FORMALLY ASKED AI TO PRODUCE THE EVIDENCE. IF AI DOES NOT COME THROUGH, WE BELIEVE THE DEPARTMENT IS OBLIGATED TO MAKE AN ISSUE OF IT PUBLICLY -- PERHAPS BY MEANS OF AN-OTHER LETTER TO THEM THAT WOULD BE RELEASED TO THE PRESS.

8. THE USG AND AI. USG HANDLING OF THE LAVIN CASE IS IMPORTANT IN TERMS OF HOW WE DEAL WITH AI AND SIMILAR GROUPS IN THE FUTURE. IF WE DON'T CALL AMNESTY ON THIS ONE, WHAT IS TO STOP THEM FROM PROCEEDING IN THE FUTURE IN A SIMILAR FASHION AGAINST A HOST OF CHILEAN OFFICIALS OR OFFICIALS FROM OTHER COUNTRIES WHERE HUMAN RIGHTS

ARE NOT OBSERVED (A DEFINITION THAT TAKES IN A LOT OF TERRITORY - MOST OF THE REST OF THE WORLD). WE HAVE NO DOUBT ABOUT AMNESTY'S GOOD INTENTIONS AND ITS EFFECTIVENESS IN MANY CASES. ON THE OTHER HAND, JUDGING FROM THEIR REPORTS AND LETTERS WE HAVE RECEIVED FROM INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS, THERE IS OFTEN AN EMOTIONAL TINT, A NAIVETE AND A BUILT-IN BIAS AGAINST THE GOC WHICH MUST BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT WHEN DEALING WITH THEM. FOR INSTANCE, AI ASSUMES THAT A CHILEAN LEFTIST OUTSIDE OF CHILE IS A MORE RELIABLE WITNESS THAN WHEN IN THE

CTUNTRY. THIS IS NOT NECESSARILY SO. THE EXPATRIOT CHILEAN, OFTEN A DEDICATED AND TOTAL POLITICAL ENEMY OF THIS REGIME, IS FREE TO SAY ANYTHING, HOWEVER UNTRUE. THIS REGIME'S FAULTS, AND THEY ARE MANY AND SERIOUS, ASIDE, THERE IS A COMMUNIST-FINANCED AND ORCHESTRATED AGITPROP CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE GOC. THESE GROUPS ARE PREPARED TO SPEND MONEY (E.G., THE REPORT THAT MARXIST MONEY FUNNELED THROUGH CUBA FINANCED CONGRESSMAN HARRINGTON'S 1975 TRIP TO MEXICO) AND SAY ANTHING AGAINST THE GOC. OUR POINT IS THAT WE PRESERVE THE INTEGRITY OF OUR OWN POLICY, WE MUST HOLD AI TO A STRICT ACCOUNTING.

9. PERSONAL ASIDE FROM BOYATT TO LUERS. I WOULD LIKE TO GO OUT ON A LIMB (FAMILIAR TERRITORY) AND BET YOU A CASE OF YOUR FAVORITE BRAND THAT AI DOES NOT HAVE A PRESENTABLE CASE AGAINST LAVIN. ON THE BASIS OF MANY YEARS' EXPERIENCE WITH ZEALOTS AND SHEER INTUITION I BELIEVE THAT AI IS STALLING IN PRODUCING THEIR DOCUMENTS BECAUSE THEY JUST DON'T HAVE A GOOD CASE. HAD AI BEEN IN POSSESSION OF THE GOODS ON LAVIN, THEY WOULD HAVE PRESENTED PUBLISHABLE DOCUMENTATION TO THE NEW YORK TIMES AND WASHINGTON POST AND NAILED LAVIN WHILE HE WAS IN THE U.S.. THIS CASE GIVES OFF THE DISTINCT ODOR OF RETREAT. IF AI HAS A GOOD CASE, FINE; WE CAN PROCEED ON THAT BASIS. LET'S FIND OUT.

10. FINALLY, LET ME SAY THAT THE ABOVE ARE MY VIEWS AND THOSE OF ALL MISSION OFFICERS WHO HAVE DEALT WITH THE LAVIN AFFAIR. AMBASSADOR POPPER RETURNS SUNDAY AND MAY HAVE FURTHER COMMENTS FROM HIS OWN PERSPECTIVE. BOYATT

Subject: Isabel Letelier - Lavin Case

In recent days I have had several conversations with Isabel Letelier about Lavin. She says she heard his name mentioned frequently by the wives of Air Force personnel involved in the Air Force trial of 1974. They mentioned Lavin as someone who had tortured men and women. Also, when Orlando was brought from Dawson Island he was held with others in the basement of the Air Force installation where torturing was conducted. Loud rock and roll music was played continually,but screams could be heard. Orlando heard Lavin's name at that time. Furthermore, Lavin's name was mentioned at the hearings of the so-called Helsinki Tribunal, in Mexico City,in 1975. President Echeverria opened those hearings personally. Isabel intends to submit an affidavit on this.

Isabel knows three "reliable" people in the U.S. who say they were tortured by Lavin. Two of them are afraid for themselves or their families. One is preparing an affidavit for Rick Wright of Amnesty International. You should receive it soon.

Isabel returns to Geneva for the UNHRC meeting,which will include discussion of Chile. She leaves Wednesday and will probably remain about one week.

SUBJECT: Summary of Terrorist Activities Reported February 17-24, 1977

February 17: Two groups of persons, reportedly terrorists, robbed a total of 9 vehicles from two garages in Buenos Aires.

Two terrorists and one police officer were killed in a gunbattle in Ezpeleta, approximately 20 kms south of Buenos Aires.

Bomb was thrown from a vehicle at the intersection of Cordoba and Gran Canaria. Two workers of the Roca RR station were injured.

February 18: At approximately 0130 hrs, 9 terrorists, one of whom was a woman, were shot and killed by the police in an area between Pinto & Lujano Streets in Buenos Aires. Newspaper reports reflect that this shoot out was approximately 1 1/2 hrs duration.

At approximately 0835 hrs, a remote control bomb was detonated in Aeroparque at approximately the same time the President's plane was departing for Bahia Blanca. Police speculate that the explosive device was to have exploded as the President's plane taxied past it on the runway. However, due to the plane's light load, it did not utilize the full runway and was airborne prior to passing over the area in which the bomb was planted. The President and his party were not injured. Police also deactivated a second explosive device a short distance from the first.

Two armed persons entered a local garage and robbed two vehicles.

February 18: (cont) During the evening, incendiary devices were placed inside buses at several locations in Buenos Aires. Police alerted all patrol cars to pay particular attention to bus terminals.

A bomb exploded at Mexico and Virrey Cebellos causing material damage but no personal injuries. This is the residence of an Air Force intelligence service officer.

February 20: Four armed men in a Ford Falcon vehicle placed a bomb which exploded shortly after their departure at Cucha Cucha 300. Police set up traffic control road blocks but were unsuccessful in apprehending anyone.

February 22: Three terrorists engaged in a shoot out with Federal Police officers at Lafuente and F. Rivera. They escaped towards the Villa Soldati RR Station where one of the terrorists was apprehended. Police using helicopters and radio motor patrol re-engaged the two remaining terrorists at another location. One of the terrorists was captured; the other apparently escaped.

Two persons driving a Fiat 125 open fire with automatic weapons at police personnel at the location of Acevedo & Cabrera. The two men escaped and no policemen were injured.

At approximately 5:30 p.m. there was an explosion in a Japanese cargo ship anchored at dock F-5 in a military zone. Extent of damage is unknown.

February 24: Local press reported that Ana Marie Gonzalez, teenage terrorist who murdered Federal Police Chief Cesaro Cardozo, was killed in a confrontation with security forces in the first week of January.

The Honorable
Cyrus R. Vance
Secretary of State
Department of State
Washington, DC

Dear Mr. Secretary:

At the outset, let me express my hope that your recent trip to the Middle East has provided some support for an expectation of progress in that key region. Also, I want to emphasize, as I did recently in the Senate, my pleasure at the initial statements and actions that you and the President have made on the importance of human rights considerations in the forumulation and implementation of our foreign policy. You will have my full support for this effort. I was particularly pleased to see the initial steps taken with regard to the military assistance program.

Following up particularly your statement with regard to Argentina and the violation of human rights there that justified the proposed reduction in military assistance, I would like to suggest consideration of additional steps with regard to that country.

A brief history is that as Chairman of the Senate Refugee Subcommittee, I strongly supported the United Nations High Commissioner on Refugees in his efforts to assure the protection of foreign political refugees in Chile, Argentina and Uruguay. We also have worked closely with the International Red Cross in each of those countries along with other human rights organizations.

After lengthy delay, our pressure on the Administration ultimately produced, in 1975, a special parole program in Chile and in Argentina and Peru for political refugees from Chile, later extended to other refugees in Argentina.

It did not include Argentine nationals. Given the condition of human rights in Argentina, as evidenced by your own actions, I would hope that you would consider extending the current program to include Argentine nationals in Argentina.

In further support of the serious nature of the situation in Argentina, I am enclosing the attached letter to me from the Argentine Commission for Human Rights, signed by Olga Talamante, a US citizen who herself was imprisoned and tortured in Argentina. I am also including a list of individuals who appear to be without political terrorist backgrounds who remained detained. I also would like to stress the fact that some ex-parliamentarians, such as former Senator Solari Irigoyen, also are detained. A lawyer who was arrested with Dr. Solaria Irigoyen, Dr. Mario Abel Amaya, died in prison. Both had been among the few attorneys willing to defend political prisoners. Hopefully, we also might support the Mexican government in its efforts to obtain Argentine government permission for former President Campora to leave the Mexican Embassy, where he sought refuge, to obtain asylum in Mexico.

I believe, as you expressed, that the situation in Argentina justifies continuing US concern and reiteration of the importance of human rights considerations in our bilateral relationship. In addition to requesting of the Argentina government their collaboration with a parole program, let me suggest that the currently available, but not released, funding for FY '77 of some $48 million in military sales assistance for Argentina might well be withheld on human rights grounds. There might appear to be a conflict if on the one hand, the new Administration reduced the level of planned assistance for next year, but released three times that amount a few weeks later --- without a very significant reversal of the human rights situation.

Similarly, I would hope that an effort would be made to insure that the object of reducing our military support to Argentina will not be undercut by any sudden spurt of commercial arms sales, which require license approval.

Looking forward to your assistance in this matter.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Edward M. Kennedy

1. YOUR TELEGRAM IS A SAD COMMENTARY ON THE POISONOUS ATMOSPHERE SURROUNDING WASHINGTON CONSIDERATION OF THE CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM, AND THE SUSPICIONS WHICH IT HAS CREATED. I AM STRUCK BUT NOT SURPRISED BY YOUR STATEMENT THAT MARK SCHNEIDER (LET ALONE CARBACHO) BELIEVES THAT "THE CHILEANS MUST HAVE LEARNED FROM THE U.S. GOVERNMENT THAT CARBACHO AND HIS WIFE INFORMED SENATOR KENNEDY THEY KNEW LAVIN AS A TORTURER".

2. YOUR CABLE INDICATES THAT THEIR SUSPICION EXTENDS TO THIS EMBASSY. IN THE STRICTEST TERMS THIS COULD NOT BE SO, SINCE NO MEMBER OF THIS EMBASSY HAD EVER PREVIOUSLY HEARD THAT SENATOR KENNEDY HAD RECEIVED ANY INFORMATION FROM CARBACHO ON THIS CASE.

3. BUT YOUR QUESTIONS GO TO A BROADER POINT: HOW COULD THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT HAVE LEARNED OF CARBACHO'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE ALLEGATIONS AGAINST LEVIN? COULD THE EMBASSY HAVE BEEN A SOURCE FOR IT?

4. CARBACHO WAS ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL DEFENDANTS AT THE AIR FORCE TRIAL. HE WAS ONE OFONLY 5 FACH TRIAL PRISONERS ADMITTED TO THE UNITED STATES ON PAROLE. HIS FAMILY HAS BEEN ACTIVE IN CONGRESSIONAL CIRCLES IN WASHINGTON. THUS, IT WOULD BE NATURAL FOR A KNOWLEDGEABLE PERSON TO ASSUME THAT HE AND HIS WIFE MIGHT HAVE BEEN A

SOURCE OF THE ALLEGATIONS AGAINST LAVIN. THAT IS WHY I STATED IN SANTIAGO 1569 THAT I THOUGHT IT UNLIKELY THAT THIS EMBASSY WAS THE SOURCE. WITHOUT REVEALING WHY, I HAVE THIS MORNING CAREFULLY QUESTIONED THE FEW PEOPLE INVOLVED WITHIN THIS EMBASSY ON DISCUSSIONS THEY MAY HAVE HAD CONCERNING THE LAVIN CASE, WITH ANY CHILEANS AND EVEN IN THIS OFFICE. I HAVE REACHED THE CONCLUSION THAT NO ONE HERE IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CONNECTION THE GOC MAKES BETWEEN CARBACHO AND THE ALLEGATIONS AGAINST LAVIN.

5. AT THE SAME TIME, I HAVE DONE SOME FURTHER RESEARCH ON THIS MATTER. I THINK I CAN TELL YOU HOW THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT LEARNED OF THE CARBACHO INVOLVEMENT.

6. YOU MUST REALIZE THAT IN THE MURKY CONFLICT BETWEEN SUPPORTERS AND OPPONENTS OF THE JUNTA, EACH SIDE HAS PENETRATED THE OTHER'S ORGANIZATIONS. WE MONITOR RADIO MOSCOW'S DAILY PROGRAM, "ESCUCHE, CHILE", AND FREQUENTLY FIND THERE BITS OF INFORMATION WHICH SHOW A SURPRISING DEGREE OF KNOWLEDGE ABOUT INSIDE JUNTA ACTIVITIES. AT THE SAME TIME, WE FREQUENTLY LEARN FROM SENSITIVE SOURCES THAT DINA IS AU COURANT ON DEVELOPMENTS IN THE ANTI-JUNTA COMMUNITY, INSIDE AND OUTSIDE CHILE. SO IT WOULD NOT BE AT ALL SURPRISING IF THE GOC HAD PICKED UP WORD OF CARBACHO'S

INVOLVEMENT THROUGH SUCH MEANS.

7. IN FACT, HOWEVER, THERE IS AN EVEN SIMPLER EXPLANATION. ASIDE FROM JACK ANDERSON'S TV COMMENTS JANUARY 24, THE LAVIN CASE BROKE PUBLICLY ABOUT JANUARY 29. ON JANUARY 31 MOSCOW RADIO WAS DESCRIBING THE LAVIN AFFAIR AS A SHARP DIPLOMATIC DEFEAT FOR PINOCHET. ACCORDING TO THAT BROADCAST, RETIRED CHILEAN AIR FORCE GENERAL SERGIO POBLETE HAD NAMED LAVIN DURING THE MEXICO "INQUIRY" OF 1975 AS A TORTURER OF HIS EX-AIR FORCE COLLEAGUES. THE BROADCAST CONTINUES: "ON THE BASIS OF RELIABLE INFORMATION, WE STATE THAT COMMANDANTE JAIME LAVIN FARINA PERSONALLY TORTURED THE WIVES OF THE "CONSTITUTIONALIST" OFFICERS CAPTAIN CARLOS CARBACHO AND LT HUMBERTO FRIAS". ONE NEED NOT LOOK ANY FURTHER TO EXPLAIN DINA'S INVOLVEMENT WITH MRS CARBACHO'S PARARTS.

8. I AM EQUALLY CERTAIN THAT NO ONE IN THIS EMBASSY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT'S INFORMATION REGARDING AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL'S CONNECTION WITH THE CASE. THE WASHINGTON POST OF JANUARY 29 CITES "TESTIMONY BY FORMER PRISONERS PRESENTED IN AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL DOCUMENTS" AS A SOURCE FOR THE ALLEGATIONS AGAINST LAVIN. FURTHER, A STORY IN THE NEW YORK TIMES JANUARY 30 MENTIONS PROTESTS AGAINST LAVIN'S VISIT FROM AMNESTY INTERNATIONL AS WELL AS OTHER ORGANIZATIONS. THIS ARTICLE ALSO DESCRIBED COLONEL MIRANDA PINTO AS AN ACCUSER OF LAVIN. THESE ARE THE SOURCES MENTIONED IN YOUR FEBRUARY 15 CABLE (STATE 33797). THE GOC DID NOT NEED TO LEARN OF THEM FROM THIS EMBASSY, AND IT DID NOT.

9. NOW LET ME COME BACK TO THE EMBASSY'S ROLE. TOM BOYATT MENTIONED CARBACHO IN HIS CABLE SIMPLY BECAUSE, AS INDICATED ABOVE, CARBACHO WAS AN OBVIOUS POSSIBLE SOURCE OF THE ALLEGATIONS. NOBODY HERE CONVEYED SUCH INFORMATION TO ANY GOC REPRESENTATIVE. NOBODY MENTIONED THE NAME OVER THE TELEPHONE. ONE MEMBER CASUALLY MENTIONED TO LAVIN THE NAMES OF AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL AND COLONEL MIRANDO PINTO, WHICH HAD APPEARED IN THE PRESS REPORTS CITED ABOVE.

10. I HOPE THE FOREGOING WILL ENABLE YOU TO PUT MARK SCHNEIDER'S MIND AT REST. PLEASE TELL HIM THAT ON JANUARY 31 RADIO MOSCOW HAD DISCLOSED MRS CARBACHO'S CONNECTION WITH THE CASE.

11. NOW TO THE FINAL POINT: HOW CAN WE PROTECT MRS CARBACHO'S FAMILY. I SUGGEST THAT WE LET THE GOC KNOW WE ARE AWARE OF THE CASE, AND THAT IF ANYTHING HAPPENS TO THE PARENTS THERE WILL BE AN OUTCRY. THE CHILEANS MAY DENY THAT THEY EVER APPROACHED THE PARENTS. BUT THEY WILL BE ON NOTICE, IN ANY EVENT.

13. SINCE THIS CABLE IS ALREADY TOO LONG, I WILL NOT COMMENT HERE ON YOUR ILLUMINATING DISCUSSION OF THE RELATIONS BETWEEN AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL AND THE DEPARTMENT. I WILL ONLY SAY THAT I HAVE NO DOUBT OF THEIR SINCERITY. I HOPE THAT UNDER THE NEW GUIDELINES SET BY THIS ADMINISTRATION, A RELATIONSHIP OF TRUST CAN BE ESTABLISHED. FOR MY PART, I WILL ALWAYS BE READY TO CONSULT WITH THEIR REPRESENTATIVES -- AS I HAVE ON OCCASION DONE IN THE PAST.

MAR. 2: A PARCEL APPEARING TO BE A BOMB WAS DISCOVERED AT THE TELEPHONE COMPANY OFFICES AT CORRIENTES AND MAIPU. HOWEVER, AFTER EXAMINATION IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE PACKAGE WAS A DECOY.

3. IN RECENT MEETINGS WITH FEDERAL POLICE AUTHORITIES, THEY HAVE STATED THAT THE TERRORIST SITUATION WOULD BE SOLVED OVER THE LONG HAUL AND THAT THE MILITARY STRENGTH OF THE MONTONEROS AND PARTICULARLY OF THE ERP HAS BEEN SERIOUSLY WEAKENED. HOWEVER, THE TERRORISTS STILL HAVE THE POWER TO STRIKE WITH FORCE SPORADICALLY AT SELECTED TARGETS AND POLICE HAVE EXPRESSED CONCERN OVER THE INCREASE IN BOMBING ATTACKS. THE PRIME OBJECTIVE REMAINS TO UNDERMINE AND EMBARRASS THE ARGENTINE GOVT. SOURCES WARN THAT IN THIS CONNECTION A KIDNAPPING OR ATTACK ON A DIPLOMAT WOULD CREATE A SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR THE GOA, PARTICULARLY IF THE PERSON CONCERNED WAS A U.S. DIPLOMAT. The Embassy of the United States of America presents its compliments to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Worship of the Argentine Republic and has the honor to refer to Embassy Notes No. 25 dated January 27, 1977, No. 367 dated December 23, 1976 and No. 310 dated October 21, 1976 concerning the death of an American citizen Mrs. Chris Anne Olson de Oliva. Mrs. Oliva was killed by Argentine Security Forces in Cordoba on October 19, 1976.

As pointed out in previous notes, the Department of State in Washington continues to receive inquiries in the United States from the family of Mrs. Oliva regarding the circumstances surrounding her death.

The Embassy is in receipt of a telegram from the Department of State dated March 2, 1977 instructing the Embassy to raise the matter again with the Government of Argentina.

It would accordingly be appreciated if the Ministry would provide the information requested as promptly as possible in order that the Embassy may report to the Department of State.

The Embassy takes this opportunity to reiterate to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Worship of the Argentine Republic the assurances of its highest consideration.

I. Background and Setting

Human rights violations are widespread in Latin America. The worst present offenders include Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, and Cuba. Nicaragua, Paraguay, El Salvador and Guatemala are receiving increasing attention. Brazil has a high public profile but we judge the situation there to be improving. Mexico is often mentioned for mistreatment of U.S. drug offenders, and Haiti in connection with refugees here.

The human rights issue, in its present form, is a new one for United States foreign policy. But the issue has old roots. To some extent, there is a clash between traditional U.S. values (which emphasize the rights of individual humans above all) and those of Latin America (which subordinate individual rights to the collective good, as expressed by government). In all Latin countries, military and police establishments have traditionally had greater freedom of action than in this country.

Some of the abuses of the last decade, however, have been unacceptable by any set of values. To make the situation more uncomfortable for us, the worst human rights violators--excluding Cuba--are countries traditionally close to the United States. Governments in these countries feel genuinely threatened by leftist insurgencies and by "international communism." The feeling of threat is understandable: these countries have in fact faced guerrilla movements of dimensions that far exceed anything within our experience. When a political system sees its basic survival threatened, it is willing to give up anything else--including the goodwill of the U.S.--to win.

In recent months, in the wake of growing Congressional pressures, the United States has given more consistent priority to human rights issues in foreign policy. Much of our leverage has already been used. Congress has limited economic aid to Chile and effectively banned military assistance and sales. Secretary Vance has announced that Foreign Military Sales credits would be reduced for Argentina and eliminated for Uruguay. We have cut FMS programs for various countries. We have voted against an Inter-American Development Bank loan for Chile and told other governments that their human rights performance might affect our votes.

We have now discussed human rights privately with all Hemisphere governments (except Cuba's). We have recently and repeatedly expressed urgent concern to the worst offenders. We have worked to strengthen the Human Rights Commission of the OAS.

Internal weaknesses in our performance have included clientism and conscious or unconscious identification with friendly regimes. Part of this weakness reflects a desire to avoid cutoffs of programs which will help us to exert a salutary influence.

Results of our pressures are, of course, impossible to measure precisely. We are convinced that our pressure has had effect, at least in countries where the guerrilles have already been defeated. (Argentina has the only insurgency of major proportions. There are smaller guerrilla groups elsewhere. Several countries have continued abuses long after the threat seems to us to have disappeared.)

Our pressures have had their costs. We do not consider these costs out of proportion. The two major ones are these:

-- Our relations with the right-wing regimes (which dominate South America below the Caribbean littoral) are far more strained than our public realizes. We have for some months been concerned by trends toward formation of a bloc of conservative countries. Such a bloc would be highly divisive in the hemisphere. On the other hand, we think that the public in these countries is much more attracted than governments to the new U.S. emphasis on values in foreign policy.

-- Some Latins--and not all of them right-wingers--have accused us of raising a fuss about "human rights" in order to provide a sop for our conscience while we go on as the world's greatest resource gluttons. "Economic rights," this line goes, are far more important to the Latin people than what we are pushing. We do not accept the suggestion that the sanctity of the person is less important than economic development. The accusation that we undervalue "economic rights" does, however, hit home.

In addition, the human rights issue is linked to many of our specific interests in the hemisphere. Rough measures have been taken to protect American tourists and officials. Our narcotics programs have led to repressive measures affecting both local and American citizens. Putting it the other way around, at least one government has let us know that additional pressure on human rights will affect its ability to cooperate in narcotics enforcement.

All of the following options are based on the assumption that we have the following minimum objectives:

-- To do what we can to eliminate human-rights abuses.

-- Where abuses continue despite our efforts, to make clear to the world public that we disapprove and should not be identified with the abuses.

-- To provide encouragement and (where we can) concrete support for governments that have good human-rights records.

-- To be impartial as between Cuban and right-wing regimes.

-- To accomplish the foregoing objectives while simultaneously advancing other U.S. foreign policy interests.

II. Issues and Options

1. A Single Standard For All Countries?

Should we have a single standard for measuring human rights violations in any country, whether in Latin America or Africa, sophisticated Chile or primitive Haiti?

Option A: Yes. If we define human rights in terms of torture, murder and arbitrary arrest (see Issue 2 below), we can establish a standard so basic that we can expect any country to observe it.

Option B: No. We must expect something more from Pinochet than from Idi Amin--or Brezhnev--if only because we have more responsibility for the Chilean situation, and more leverage to change it. We must also expect more from Chile than from Haiti, because Chile has a long history of respect for human rights. And we must expect more from Chile than neighboring Argentina, because Argentina faces a violent insurgency while Chile has no visible problem.

Option A, clearly, has maximum ideological appeal. Some Congressmen and members of the public prefer this approach. It might be workable if we defined "human rights" very tightly. The effects of a rigid standard would be more noticeable in Latin America than in most other regions, since some of the least developed countries in the hemisphere are heavily dependent on us.

But Option B would be far more feasible in practice, allowing us to make important judgments on a range of issues and values. There would be costs to our other interests, but the costs would not be so high, and the world public would probably perceive the outcome as more fair. We could stay with Option B, whereas the rigid Option A might soon founder on shoals like Haiti: small, friendly, dependent on us, trying to improve, but in the Middle Ages.

Under either option, we should be aware of the risk that we will be seen to use muscle in the Americas that we would not dare use elsewhere.

2. Emphasize basic human rights or broader civil rights?

Traditionally, we have promoted broad civil/political rights in Latin America rather than basic human rights. Latin abuses, and a different level of awareness here, have forced a change in our approach. What rights shall we emphasize in the future?

The question of defending the "priority" human rights remains one for policy. It is not an easy decision.

Option A: Top priority to basic human rights. While we prize democracy and prefer to deal with its practitioners, we recognize that we cannot force our system on others. But we insist on respect for basic human rights, such as the right not to be tortured, murdered or arbitrarily imprisoned. We believe such rights transcend national boundaries.

Option B: There is no sharp dividing line between "basic" and "civil" rights. While we recognize that we cannot force our system on others, we make clear by high-level attention and appropriate programs that countries with democratic systems get along much better with us.

The American public and Congress are now most concerned about basic rights. Option A responds. We have argued that such rights transcend national sovereignty--a key phrase, because it implies that other rights may not transcend national frontiers. If we direct our big guns only at abuses of basic rights, we can argue that we are not "intervening in the sovereign rights of states"--a treasured Latin value. And we maximize our chances of accomplishing something by narrowing our focus. We need not give up our interest in broader political and civil rights, but we can pursue this interest at a different level.

In favor of Option B, it is a fact that democracy and the more basic rights are closely related. There are only a few authoritarian regimes that respect human rights. Democracy provides visible means to claim basic rights, to defend them, and to change governments which do not respect them. Thus any dividing line between basic rights and broader political rights must be controversial. Neither the U.N. nor the OAS declarations on human rights draw any dividing line.

3. How to Respond to Abuses?

When we have decided that there is an abuse to which we should react, we must still decide how to accomplish our ends. There are two extreme options that, in practice, are almost out of the question. One is to let serious abuses pass with no effect on our relations. (Our public would not allow this even if we liked it.) The other is to treat human rights as the only issue in our relations. (Our other interests in Latin America are usually diverse, sometimes important, and frequently represented by vocal groups in this country.)

We are left with only one viable strategic option: to respond as effectively and appropriately as we can to serious abuses. But a great many tactics are available. We present them below as an illustrative continuum, ranging from relatively mild and traditional steps upward to overt, punitive measures. These are examples, not a definitive list.

-- Unpublicized diplomatic approaches by our Ambassador.

-- Concerted efforts, through exchange programs and social contacts, to encourage people who defend human rights and to identify ourselves with them.

-- Support investigations through the U.N. and OAS human rights commissions.

-- Warnings by our Ambassador that relations may be seriously damaged if abuses continue. Concerted parallel warnings by other personnel of all agencies at the embassy to military, police, intelligence, and other official contacts. Indications of specific steps needed to avoid damage to relations.

-- Reductions of programs, staffs, and symbols that tend to identify us with the government in question.

-- Open denunciations of human-rights abuses.

-- Termination of all programs, loans, and exchanges that support the government or appear to constitute an endorsement of it.

-- Reduction of embassy to small staff aimed only at maintaining formal diplomatic relations.

The stronger steps would have an impact on other U.S. interests. Actual decisions, therefore, will inevitably be taken on a case-by-case basis. This paper makes no attempt to discuss the pros and cons.

[redacted]

Most of the above steps would create some resentments. It follows that when a government responds to our pressure by improving human rights, we should acknowledge the change by sending prompt positive signals. Otherwise our diplomacy would be all stick and no carrot.

4. Multilateral or Bilateral Approach?

This is a question of tactics, and the options are not exclusive. We shall undoubtedly wish to pursue both approaches whenever we can.

Option A: Pursue human rights violations where possible through the Inter-American Human Rights Commission and, to a lesser extent, the United Nations Human Rights Commission.

Option B: Use bilateral channels for protesting abuses and pursuing improvements in human rights.

The multilateral option can be pursued at a lower cost and has the great advantage of lining up other countries with us. This is especially important in Latin America, where unilateral U.S. "intervention" ranks about as low as torture in the range of mortal sins.

But, for the foreseeable future, the greatest opportunities for bringing about change lie in bilateral relations. Bilateral approaches are quicker, can be more private, are much less cumbersome, and can be used far more frequently.

Internal Capacity to Assess Reports and Make Determinations

Field reporting on human rights violations has been uneven, although some has been very good. Posts should be helped to improve their reporting. However, it is not necessary to strengthen significantly the internal capacity of the USG to assess reports and to make determinations on "consistent patterns of gross violations of human rights." Although it is frequently difficult to obtain details as precisely and as quickly as needed, the central problem is the need for greater awareness and sensitivity in routine day-to-day relationships rather than the creation of additional parallel structures and staff.

Dear Senator Kennedy:

We are writing you to express our alarm at recent news received from Argentina related to two political prisoners whose names appeared, with 41 others, in a "death list" made public by the Washington Post on February 5.

According to this last report Dr. Ernesto Villanueva, former Dean of the University of Buenos Aires, and Dr. Jorge Taiana, son of a former Education Minister, have been transferred from their regular cells to a "death row".

The fact that Jose M. Rappaport, another prisoner whose name figured in the "death list", was found dead in his cell February 5, after being transferred to a "death-block" in La Plata jail, makes us fear for their lives.

Both Dr. Villanueva and Dr. Taiana are very respected professionals, held prisoners by the Argentine military authorities without due charges.

We urge you to contact the Argentine authorities and intercede in their behalf. We believe that your concern might safe the prisoners lives.

Sincerely

Ana Suarez

MEXICO IN THE GROUP OF 77

With the inauguration in December 1976 of President Jose Lopez Portillo and the advent of a severe domestic economic crisis, Mexico may return to a more modest role in the Group of 77 (G-77) than it has played in the past few years. Mexico has a strong nationalistic sentiment, however, motivating its policy in the North-South dialogue, and it will continue to press for positive action on basic G-77 positions on a wide range of issues, particularly where Mexico has a significant economic stake.

History of Membership

Mexico is one of the original members of the Group of 77, the caucus group of less developed countries formed at the first UN Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) in 1964. Between 1964 and 1970, Mexico was only moderately active in the group; its role expanded greatly during the last years of the tenure (1970-76) of former President Echeverria, who sought to promote Mexico's prestige in the Third World by making it an LDC spokesman on economic matters. To most LDCs, Mexico's credentials, however, were largely suspect because of the overwhelming reality of the US influence on the Mexican economy.

Reasons for Membership

Better terms of trade and access to developed-country markets have long been important goals of Mexican policy, and Mexico's membership in the G-77 is viewed as being potentially useful in obtaining trade concessions from the developed countries.

UNCLASSIFIED

March 9, 1977

Moreover, G-77 membership provides an opportunity to appear to be part of the Third World, to stress Mexican solidarity with the LDCs, and to de-emphasize ties to the US, which, in reality, are extremely pervasive. This aspect of G-77 membership is useful both domestically and on the international front.

Mexico's role in the Group of 77 is bolstered by a school of thought popular among some Mexican officials in favor of sweeping international changes, e.g., a new international division of labor and a restructuring of relations between countries on the basis of equity rather than considerations of wealth and power. Admittedly idealistic in tone and content, this approach has nevertheless been a motivating factor in Mexico's participation in the G-77.

Leadership in the G-77

In virtually every international forum during the past few years, Mexico has actively advocated that the Third World obtain implementation of the New International Economic Order. The Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States (CERDS) was, in fact, proposed by Echeverria at the UNCTAD conference in Chile in 1972. (It was adopted by the UN in 1974 despite the strenuous objections and reservations of developed countries, ten abstentions, and the negative votes of the US and five others.)* At the most recent UNCTAD conference (Nairobi, 1976), US delegates found that Mexico was one of the main proponents of uncompromising adherence to extreme LDC demands.

The Lopez Portillo administration is expected to give Mexico a new style and a slightly different thrust in the Group of 77, moving the country away from its frequent past alignment with some of the more radical G-77 member countries and toward more moderate positions. Lopez Portillo is unlikely to press for legalistic, political confrontation between the developed countries and those of the Third World in multilateral negotiations. Many Mexican officials now believe that frenetic involvement in Third World activities has been of little actual benefit to Mexico and that the Group of 77:

--spends excessive time and energy trying to settle all problems at once, without success in any tangible way in changing the economic relations between DCs and LDCs; and --would be better advised to try for agreements on a reduced number of subjects certain of execution than to approve broad, inoperative resolutions.

Foreign Policy Interests

President Lopez Portillo has stressed the continuity of Mexico's traditional foreign policy, which he describes as one based on the principles of sovereignty, independence, and international solidarity. He has pledged support for CERDS and has reiterated Mexico's determination to continue to press for the peaceful resolution of conflicts and the prohibition of weapons that threaten humanity's existence. He has also indicated that Mexico could serve as a "bridge builder" to help the US improve relations with Latin America, a role consistent with his wish to enhance the US perception of the value of Mexican cooperation. Mexico has also tried to appear in the past as a promoter of cooperative regional organizations. In this regard, Mexico--with Venezuela--helped establish the new Latin American Economic System, SELA, which includes Cuba and excludes the US.

Most of Mexico's foreign policy interests revolve around bilateral issues with the United States. Geography and history, a common border, important bilateral trade, billions of dollars of US investment, and a host of joint endeavors between the two neighboring nations dictate that relations with the US by far are Mexico's prime foreign policy concerns.

Issues of Importance to Mexico

Regardless of changes in style and degree of Third World involvement, Mexico will continue in the G-77 (as elsewhere) to pursue policies in support of basic Mexican interests.

Trade Problems. Trade issues have long been of great importance to Mexico. Thus, just prior to the first UNCTAD conference in 1964, US and Mexican officials exchanged views on the upcoming meeting, outlining concerns that are still issues of importance to Mexicans. Mexico, for example, particularly wanted UNCTAD to address the problem of long-term deterioration in the terms of trade.

Moreover, Mexico is competitive in some manufactured and semi-manufactured goods and therefore vigorously seeks

NOT RELEASABLE TO FOREIGN NATIONALS

markets for its industrial products in industrialized countries. It is competitive also in many agricultural products and seeks markets for them as well. Mexico is one of the strongest proponents in the Group of 77 for special and differential treatment for goods of developing countries, and it has refused to join the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade largely because GATT makes no provision to treat LDC products in a preferential way. Abel Garrido of Mexico, a spokesman for the Latin American group in the G-77, played a very active role at the Nairobi UNCTAD in discussions of manufactures and multilateral trade negotiations; his stance was described by a US delegate as being "generally very tough."

Economic Sovereignty. Mexico is an ardent champion of the right of LDCs to develop and control the wealth from their own natural resources. Mexico will continue to press for facilitation of the transfer of technology and for controls on its cost, and, concomitantly, it will push for greater restrictions to govern activities of the multinational corporations.

Debt Moratorium. Mexico is not in favor of a general debt moratorium for LDCs and/or the cancellation of all bilateral official debts of the 29 hardcore LDCs as proposed at the G-77 Manila Conference in spring 1976. Mexico depends on its links to US and European capital markets for a large measure of its foreign borrowing and would suffer if private lenders lost confidence in the intent of LDCs to repay.

Permanent G-77 Secretariat. In the past, Mexico supported a permanent G-77 Secretariat and lobbied unsuccessfully for its approval at the G-77 conference in Mexico City in September 1976. If an effective G-77 organization were established, the political clout of the non-aligned movement would be diluted, and Mexico--not a member of the non-aligned--might have a greater role in LDC affairs. At the UN sessions last fall, a Mexican resolution, approved by consensus, proposed--in the absence of a G-77 Secretariat--that the UNCTAD Secretariat be required to give support to LDC meetings as and when requested by developing nations. The US offered an explanatory interpretation intended to limit such support to that which would be available ordinarily to any group of countries.

Issues of Importance to the US

Although Mexico and the US are sometimes in disagreement over G-77 issues as such, most of the issues affecting the two countries are bilateral (e.g., trade restrictions, drug traffic, and illegal migrants). Nevertheless, the fact that the relationship between the two countries is basically good can sometimes be obscured by highly charged rhetoric in international forums. Some of the posturing is for domestic as well as international consumption, and some of it reflects deeply felt aggravations rather than Mexican intent to have a fundamental foreign policy inimical to the US.

On the Common Fund, for example, Mexico has publicly maintained solidarity with the Group of 77 on the need for such a fund to finance buffer stocks and stabilize commodity prices. But Mexican officials have been frank to stress privately to the US that the Common Fund is more likely to hurt Mexico than help it because Mexico imports far more commodities than it exports. It has only a mild interest in 3 commodities (coffee, cotton, and hard fibers) of 18 which the G-77 has proposed for Common Fund coverage and no interest in seeing prices raised for most of the others, which include tea, jute, copper, tin, iron ore, fertilizer, tropical timber, rubber, and vegetable oils.

The Mexican position on Law of the Sea is influenced by patriotic sentiment strongly favoring complete national sovereignty over natural resources. This principle was a motivating factor in the creation of a 200-mile exclusive economic zone in June 1976. The zone allows for Mexican conservation and administration of all mineral and marine resources within the 200 miles. The move won widespread support from the Mexican public.

The US and Mexico have agreed to a provisional boundary for fishing jurisdiction and have reached bilateral agreement to phase out US shrimping. In bilateral relations, Mexico is likely to maintain its current working relations with the US in seeking solutions to fishing problems. Mexico is committed to the full utilization of fisheries resources and, through bilateral agreements, will make available under license to foreign interests any supplies surplus to its national catch. Mexico is bent on expanding its fishing fleet as quickly as possible in order to do all the fishing in its own waters itself, and eventually this could pose serious problems to US fishing interests.

In LOS conferences Mexico is one of the strongest opponents to the US position. On the deep seabed resource issue, which came up at the LOS negotiations in New York in September 1976, Mexico was often aligned with Algeria, India, and some African states in its hostility to exploitation of seabed mineral resources by the developed countries. Mexico has pressed for the proposition that all seabed resource exploitation be carried out under the auspices of an international seabed authority for the benefit of the less developed countries. It accused several Latin American countries of "selling out" to the developed countries by offering to compromise on this issue during the September sessions in New York.

Receptivity to US Pressures and Incentives

In a comment acknowledging the extent to which US policies and actions have an effect in Mexico, Lopez Portillo has stated that for better or worse the US has an important role to play in the solution of Mexico's national problems. He also admitted in a recent interview that when Mexico emphasized its Third World leadership role, relations with the US were not at their best. Since Mexico has an overriding need for massive credit and investment to weather its current economic crisis, it follows that Lopez Portillo must realize that he has to downplay Mexico's G-77 role and stress good relations with the United States. At the same time, he appears sincere in wanting cooperation rather than confrontation.

The Mexican President reportedly views his recent (February 1977) US trip as a resounding success. During the trip he held discussions with President Carter, other US officials, and US and international financial institutions. His agenda for discussion and the subjects listed in the joint communique issued by the two Presidents indicate areas in which Mexico would like the US to be more forthcoming.

Economic, Monetary, and Investment Questions. The joint communique stated that Mexico's desire for "increased and improved access" to international financial institutions was discussed by the two Presidents. Such access is essential because Mexico's credit rating is being strained by its large debt and its hitherto easy access to international private capital markets is becoming less certain. A favorable US attitude facilitates Mexico's access to financial markets, specifically the Inter-American Development Bank and other international lending organizations.

While in the US, Lopez Portillo met with IMF officials and with private bankers and industrialists. He fielded questions from them, hoping to improve the prospects for future foreign private investment in Mexico. The display of bilateral warmth and cooperation that the Washington trip afforded could reinforce the Mexican image with the international financial institutions and the commercial banks.

"A better balance in trade between the two countries" was also discussed by President Carter and President Lopez Portillo. The latter stressed that Mexico wants trade not aid to correct its $2.5 billion annual trade deficit with the US and that he is seeking immediate or at least short-term steps to correct the imbalance. Mexico's dependence on the US is underscored by the fact that some two-thirds of Mexican exports go to, and two-thirds of its imports come from, the US. Conversely, Mexico is the US' fourth largest market. US trade policy can have an emotional content for both government and public in Mexico, and protectionist US policies can cause short flareups with little warning. In 1971, Mexico reacted very adversely to the temporary 10 percent import surcharge and led moves to condemn the US for not consulting with the Third World prior to imposition of the surcharge. Lopez Portillo touched on this subject obliquely during his recent visit when he said that the US has a responsibility to examine those decisions that can affect or interfere with Mexican development efforts.

Anxious to close the dollar trade gap with the US, Lopez Portillo called for "equitable treatment" during his Washington visit. His call was in effect a plea for special treatment, specifically that the US lift present restrictions on Mexican exports, particularly shoes and agricultural products. This may be difficult to do, but if the US responds positively to some degree, the US might then be justified in expecting Mexico to heed advice to join the GATT or in assuming that Mexico would play a more conciliatory role in the G-77.

According to the communique, immigration was another subject discussed during the visit. Mexico's population growth, unemployment, and rural and urban poverty contribute to the illegal migration to the US, building counterpressures within the US for tighter control measures. To the extent that the US takes such measures and is successful in them, the Mexican Government will face increasing social unrest at home. The Mexican Government wants the US to refrain from steps that might result in a massive deportation of Mexican migrants. Mexico would also welcome a change in US legislation to grant Mexico a higher US legal immigration quota. In the long run, the trade measures advocated by Lopez Portillo during the presidential discussions would help the Mexican economy and thereby reduce the pressures to migrate.

The prospect of a bilateral working commission working under the personal supervision of both the US and the Mexican

UNCLASSIFIED

Presidents emerged from the joint discussions and was referred to in the joint communique. A mechanism such as this would not only lead to better communications but would, hopefully, enable joint and constructive progress on the key matters of bilateral concern.

Recent estimates of Mexican petroleum reserves indicate that Mexico's supplies may rival Kuwait's. If so, Mexico could well become a substantial source of petroleum and natural gas for the United States. Mexico's offer to supply the US with natural gas during the 1977 winter illustrates the potential importance such supplies could have for the US economy. It is not difficult to imagine a scenario in which Mexican petroleum might provide incentives for changes in US trade policy vis-a-vis Mexico.

Prognostication

The intertwined nature of the Mexican-US relationship coupled with US financial hegemony appears to afford the US some leverage on its less wealthy and somewhat truculent southern neighbor. It is highly problematical, however, whether or not direct US pressures could secure a specific Mexican stance in the Group of 77. Should Mexico appear too supportive of US positions, it would certainly be held suspect by the Third World, especially if it received special favors from the US.

Lopez Portillo's speech to the US Congress seemed to have been written directly to reassure the Mexican audience at home and the Third World audience that Mexico was not subservient to the US and had not disavowed the Third World. In a press conference in Mexico following the trip, the President of Mexico further asserted, "We did not go there to seek loans. Our country is in no way broke." Both messages bespeak the ambivalent feelings of Mexico toward the US--insistence on independence with a desire for special treatment. They also give evidence of a proud, nationalistic sentiment which could easily be turned against the US in the G-77 and other international groups if the US pressured Mexico toward policies not perceived by Mexico as in its own interest.

SUBJECT: HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION: ITEM 5: CHILE REPLIES TO U.S. STATEMENT

1. AFTER DELIVERY OF STATEMENT ON SUBJECT ITEM BY US DELEGATION MEMBER, BRADY TYSON, AT P.M. MEETING MARCH 8 (TEXT IN SEPTEL), REPLIES WERE MADE BY FOLLOWING DELEGATIONS AS FOLLOWS:

(A) URUGUAYAN DEL (GIAMBRUNO) DECLARED THAT A DISTINCTION HAD TO BE MADE BETWEEN CONCERN FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND ATTACKS ON CERTAIN COUNTRIES. WITH SOME EMOTION HE NOTED THAT THE URUGUAYAN TERRORISTS WERE ARMED AND THAT OFTEN THE GOU DEFENDING U.S. CITIZENS IN URUGUAY. GIAMBRUNO EXPRESSED RESENTMENT AT THE TONE OF THE TYSON STATEMENT AND THE ATTACK ON URUGUAY BY A SUPERPOWER. HE ALSO NOTED 1503 PROCEDURES REQUIRING CONFIDENTIALITY MIGHT HAVE BEEN WISELY EMPLOYED IN THIS SITUATION. FINALLY, SAID HIS GOVERNMENT HAD THROUGHOUT THE U.S.-INDOCHINA CONFLICT REFRAINED FROM MENTIONING CAMBODIA OR VIET NAM, REFUSING TO COMMENT ON THE DESTRUCTION OF A PEOPLE AND ENTIRE COMMUNITIES.

(B) BRAZILIAN OBSERVER DEL SAID IT MADE LITTLE DIFFERENCE THAT U.S. DEL HAD QUALIFIED HIS CRITICISMS. USDEL HAD MADE ACCUSATIONS AGAINST HIS COUNTRY AND WAS PLAYING FOR DOMESTIC POLITICS AT HOME. ALSO ACCUSED U.S. OF INTERFERING IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES.

(C) ARGENTINA OBSERVER ECHOED BRAZILIAN REPLY. BOTH DELS REQUESTED THE RIGHT TO SPEAK AGAIN ON ISSUE OF OCCASION WARRANTED.

(D) CHILE (DIEZ) MADE MOST VITROILIC STATEMENT. IN A BELLOWING VOICE HE QUESTIONED HOW THE U.S. AFTER VIET NAM COULD ACCUSE CHILE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. SAID CHILE WAS NOT GUILTY OF KILLING ONE MILLION PEOPLE AS THE U.S. HAD DONE IN VIET NAM AND CHILE WOULD NOT BE THE INDO-CHINA OF LATIN AMERICA. CATTO UNQUOTE VANCE

1. PERMANENT ASSEMBLY PETITIONS VIDELA. ARGENTINE PERMANENT ASSEMBLY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS HAS SENT A PETITION TO PRESIDENT VIDELA ASKING HIM TO RELEASE PRISONERS BEING HELD WITHOUT CHARGE AND TO PUBLISH A LIST OF ALL PERSONS DETAINED, ACCORDING TO LA OPINION TODAY (AR 22). ALONG WITH THE PETITION IT SENT A LIST OF 321 PEOPLE WHOSE DISAPPEARANCES HAVE BEEN DOCUMENTED BY THE ORGANIZATION. THE PETITION WAS SIGNED BY MEMBERS OF THE PERMANET ASSEMBLY, INCLUDING THE PRESIDENT MONSIGNOR JAIME DE NEVARES (BISHOP OF NEUQUEN), ALICIA MOREAU DE JUSTO (WIDOW OF EX-SOCIALIST PARTY LEADER JUSTO). METHODIST BISHOP CARLOS GATTINONI, EMILIO MIGNONE, OSCAR ALENDE, RAUL ALFONSIN, ALFREDO BRAVO, GENARO CARRIO AND RICARDO MOLINO; AND BY AN UNKNOWN NUMBER OF OTHER PERSONS, INCLUDING BISHOP PONCE DE LEON OF SAN NICOLAS AND BISHOP JORGE NOVAK OF QUILMES. A LIST OF NAMES AND LOCATION OF DETAINEES AND RELEASING THOSE NOT CHARGE WOULD ALLEVIATE THE "PROLONGED ANGUISH OF THOUSANDS OF FAMILIES" AND WOULD HAVE IMPORTANT REPERCUSSIONS IN BOTH NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL CIRCLES. :THE ASSEMBLY HAS TWICE BEFORE SENT LETTERS TO PRESIDENT VIDELA ASKING FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS AREA, FOLLOWING ITS MEETINGS IN AUGUST AND DECEMBER 1976, AND ON BOTH OCCASIONS HAS REVEIVED COURTEOUS BUT NONCOMMITTAL REPLIES FROM THE PRESIDENT. THE PETITION IS PARTICULARLY SIGNIFICANT FOR ITS SPECIFIC REQUESTS OF VIDELA ON BEHALF OF PRISONERS AND FOR THE STATURE OF THE SIGNATORIES, WHOSE NAMES LISTED ABOVE APPEARED IN THE LOCAL PRESS.

2. CHURCH-STATE RELATIONS. THE PERMANENT COUNCIL OF THE ARGENTINE EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE ANNOUNCED AT THE END OF ITS MEETING MARCH 19 THAT IT WOULD SEND TO PRESIDENT VIDELA AND THE MILITARY JUNTA A DOCUMENT REVIEWING THE COUNTRY'S PROBLEMS FROM THE RELIGIOUS PERSPECTIVE. COUNCIL PRESIDENT CARDINAL PRIMATESTA SAID THAT THE CHURCH WAS NOT INSENSITIVE TO INNUMBERABLE APPEALS FROM ANGUISHED FAMILIES WHICH IT HAD RECEIVED AND WISHED TO BRING THEM TO THE ATTENTION OF THE GOVERNMENT. PRIMATESTA RECALLED THAT THE COUNCIL HAD MET WITH BOTH PRESIDENT VIDELA AND THE JUNTA ON TWO SEPARATE OCCASIONS IN 1976 AND THAT THE GOVT ANNOUNCED A LARGE NUMBER OF PRISONER RELEASES AT CHRISTMAS TIME. HE SAID THE DOCUMENT WOULD BE COMPLETED SHORTLY AND AND WOULD NOT BE MADE PUBLIC. COMMENT: SOURCE TOLD EMBOFF MAR 21 THAT ARGENTINE CHURCH INTENDED TO PRESENT CONFIDENTIAL DOCUMENT REQUESTING IMPROVEMENTS IN HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION NOW WITH THE UNDERSTANDING THAT IF NOTHING WAS DONE BY THE TIME OF THE ANNUAL FULL BISHOPS' CONFERENCE IN MAY, THE CHURCH WOULD TAKE A FIRM PUBLIC POSITION ON THE ISSUE, INCLUDING PUBLISHING THE NUMBER AND NAMES OF DETENTION AND DISAPPEARANCE CASES IT HAS RECEIVED. CHURCH SOURCES HAVE RECENTLY PREDICTED TO EMBOFFS THAT THE CHURCH WOULD LAUNCH A MORE CONCERTED EFFORT TO PRESS THE GOVT FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES.

3. CHURCH-STATE RELATIONS. LA OPINION (MAR 8) PUBLISHED A PASTORAL LETTER WRITTEN BY BISHOP DESIDENO ELSO COLLINO OF LOMAS DE ZAMORA, BA PROVINCE, CRITICIZING POLITICAL VIOLENCE AND THE SUSPENSION OF INDIVIDUAL GUARANTEES. REMARKING ON THE GROWING NUMBER OF CASES IN WHICH ARMED MEN ACTING WITH IMPUNITY ASSAULT FAMILIES, STEAL PERSONAL BELONGINGS AND ABDUCT FAMILY

MEMBERS, BISHOP COLLINO SAID THAT IN THESE CASES THE ENDS DO NOT JUSTIFY THE MEANS. "TO USE THE SAME METHODS THAT WE CONDEMN IN THE ADVERSARY IS TO JUSTIFY THE ACTIONS OF THE ADVERSARY. THE REPRESSION OF SUBVERSION DOES NOT JUSTIFY ATTACKING THOSE WHO CAN OFFER NO RESISTANCE," HE SAID. AUTHORITIES MAY, AND SOMETIMES SHOULD, SUSPEND FOR A PRUDENT PERIOD "CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES," BUT NOT ALL CITIZENS' GUARANTEES, MUCH LESS TO THE HANDS OF UNKNOWN ARMED BANDS, THE BISHOP SAID. HE WARNED THAT IF THE "MARGIN OF ERROR" IN THE ANTI-SUBVERSION FIGHT WERE NOT DIMINISHED, IT COULD "PREPARE THE WAY FOR THE MOST DESPICABLE OF TOTALITARIANISMSN MARXISM." COMMENT: THE BISHOP'S LETTER WAS READ IN ALL PARISHES OF LOMAS DE ZAMORA AND DISTRIBUTED TO ALL ARGENTINE BISHOPS. IT APPEARS TO BE THE MOST DIRECT AND OPEN CONDEMNATION OF THE COUNTER-INSURGENCY EFFORT AND ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF THE CHURCH'S INCREASINGLY OUTSPOKEN CRITICISMS OF THE METHOS PERMITTED BY THE GOVT TO END SUBVERSION. LA OPINION WAS THE ONLY PAPER TO MENTION THE LETTER AND PUBLISH MAJOR EXCERPTS, TO WHICH THE GOVT SO FAR HAS NOT PUBLICLY REACTED.

4. ANTI-SEMITIC PUBLICATIONS BANNED. GOA PROHIBITED THE DISTRIBUTION, SALE AND CIRCULATION OF ALL PUBLICATIONS PRODUCED BY EDITORIAL ODAL IN A DECREE PUBLISHED MARCH 3. THE DECREE CITED ODAL FOR PRODUCING MATERIAL "CONTRARY TO NATIONAL SENSIBILITIES" AND FOR ADDING TO THE CAUSES THAT LED TO THE STATE OF SIEGE. JEWISH GROUPS HAD PROTESTED THE ACTIVITY OF ODAL WHICH TOOK UP PUBLICATION OF ANTI-SEMITIC, PRO-NAZI TRACTS WHEN GOA SHUT DOWN EDITORIAL MILICIA IN SEPTEMBER 1976. THE LATEST DECREE SPECIFICALLY BANS ODAL PUBLICATIONS AND [redacted]

WHETHER OR NOT SIMILAR MATERIAL WILL BE PRODUCED UNDER YET ANOTHER DIFFERENT NAME REMAINS TO BE SEEN. JEWISH LEADERS HERE FAVORED THE GOVT'S MOVE BUT OBSERVED THAT THE GOVT'S REAL POSITION ON ANTI-SEMITISM WILL DEPEND ON ITS ACTUAL ENFORCEMENT OF THE BAN AND CONTROL OF OTHER ANTI-SEMITIC WORKS AND ATTACKS.

5. ERP LIST. AMBASSADOR HILL WAS ENT A LETTER DATED MARCH 2 SIGNED BY THE ERP LISTING NAMES OF 43 PRISONERS IN UNIT 9 OF LA PLATA PENITENTIARY WHO HAVE BEEN "SENTENCED OR TRIED AND WILL BE CONDEMNED TO DEATH BY OFFICIALS OF THE ARMED FORCES." ALL BUT TWO OF THE NAMES ARE THOSE MENTIONED BY JACK ANDERSON

IN HIS COLUMN. (EMBASSY LEARNED AND REPORTED EARLIER THAT ANDERSON'S LIST PROBABLY CAME FROM A SMUGGLED LIST OF PRISONERS IN LA PLATA. REFTEL A) INDEPENDENT SOURCES HAVE CONFIRMED THAT MANY OF THOSE NAMED ARE IN LA PLATA. SINCE REPORTED DEATHS OF RAPPAPORT AND GEORGIADIS IN FEBRUARY, EMBASSY IS NOT AWARE OF ANY FURTHER FATAL INCIDENTS CONCERNING PRISONERS ON ANDERSON'S LIST. A SECOND LETTER SENT TO AMBASSADOR SIGNED BY THE "COMMISSION OF RELATIVES OF POLITICAL PRISONERS" GIVES THE EXACT SAME LIST WITH THE ADDITIONAL COMMENT ALLEGING THAT IN RECENT MONTHS THERE HAVE BEEN 5,000 DEATHS, 30,000 DETENTIONS AND 15,000 DISAPPEARANCES AND THAT PRISONS HAVE BEEN TURNED INTO CONCENTRATION CAMPS. THE LATTER HAS A POSTSCRIPT NOTING RAPPAPORT AND GUTIERREZ (PROBABLY GEORGIADIS) WERE SHOT TO DEATH AND THAT THREE MEMBERS OF THEIR FAMILIES HAD BEEN ABDUCTED.

6. HABEAS CORPUS WRITS. WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS HAVE REPORTEDLY BEEN FILED ON BEHALF OF 108 DISAPPEARED PERSONS IN A NUMBER OF SEPARATE COURT ACTIONS IN THE FIRST TWO WEEKS OF MARCH, 69 ON MARCH 2-3 ALONE (SEE REFTEL B.). IN ALL CASES, THE WRITS REQUEST INFORMATION ON THE LOCATION OF AND CHARGES AGAINST PERSONS WHO HAVE DISAPPEARED, SOME IN 1977 BUT MOST IN 1976. ONE OF THE WRITS IS FOR ARGENTINE CINEMA PRODUCERS RAYMONDU GLEYZER. THE VOLUME OF REPORTED WRITS IN THE TWO-WEEK PERIOD IS FAR GREATER THAN THE USUAL DOZEN OR SO CASES REPORTEDLY FILED EACH WEEK. CHURCH AND HUMAN RIGHTS SOURCES OFFER NO EXPLANATION FOR THE SUDDEN

INCREASE IN WRITS ALTHOUGH THEY TOLD EMBOFF THEY ENCOURAGE PERSONS WHO REPORT DISAPPEARANCE CASES TO FILE WRITS FOR THE PUBLIC RECORD.

7. DETAINEE LISTS. INTERIOR MINISTRY LISTS CONTINUE TO BE PUBLISHED WEEKLY. ON MARCH 12, THE MINISTRY ANNOUNCED 33 WERE ARRESTED, 13 REMOVED FROM EXECUTIVE DETENTION UNDER STATE OF SIEGE PROVISIONS (PEN), ONE CHILEAN EXPELLED AND THREE ARGENTINE CITIZENS (INCLUDING ROBERTO BERGALLI) AUTHORIZED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY. SUBSEQUENTLY LISTED AS DETAINED UNDER STATE OF SIEGE PROVISIONS. THIS OBSERVATION IS SUPPORTED BY THE NUMBER OF WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS FILED FOR DISPPEARED PERSONS DURING THE SAME PERIOD WHEN NAMES DO NOT APPEAR ON THE INTERIOR MINISTRY LIST OF NEW DETAINEES.

8. SOLARI IRIGOYEN APPEAL. TWELVE PROMINENT RADICAL POLITICIANS, INCLUDING FORMER PRESIDENT ARTURO ILLIAN AND RADICAL PRESIDENT RICARDO BALBIN, RELEASED A DECLARATION ON MARCH 12 CALLING FOR THE RELEASE OF FORMER SENATOR SOLARI IRIGOYEN. THE DECLARATION NOTED THAT HE HAS BEEN JAILED WITHOUT CHARGE FOR SIX MONTHS AND AS SUCH HAS BEEN DEPRIVED OF HIS FUNDAMENTAL HUMAN AND CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS. INTERIOR MINISTER HARGUINDEGUY SAID MARCH 22 IN SANTA CRUZ THAT GOA IS CONSIDERING A REUQEST FOR SOLARI IRIGOYEN TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

10. JEHOVAHS WITNESSES. A FEDERAL COURT JUDGE HAS RULED THAT THE INTERIOR MINISTRY DOES NOT HAVE CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY TO BAN THE JEHOVAHS WITNESSES BUT THAT IT CAN PROHIBIT THE SECT'S PUBLICATIONS AND ORDER THE CLOSING DOWN OF ITS MEETING PLACES AND PUBLISHING HOUSES. THE RULING WAS IN RESPONSE TO AN APPEAL FILED [redacted]

BY THE JEHOVAHS WITNESSES FOLLOWING THE INTERIOR MINISTRY'S SEPT. 8 DECREE IMPLEMENTING THE PROHIBITION OF THE SECT. THE WITNESSES HAVE MADE NO PUBLIC STATEMENT ON THE RULING. SEE SEPTEL.

11. LAWYER ABDUCTED. HUMAN RIGHTS LAWYER TERESA ALICIA ISRAEL WAS TAKEN FROM HER HOME IN BUENOS AIRES ON MARCH 8 BY ARMED MEN CLAIMING TO BE PART OF A "JOINT ARMED FORCES COMMANDO." ISRAEL WORKS FOR THE ARGENTINE HUMAN RIGHTS LEAGUE WHICH HAS SENT APPEALS ON HER BEHALF TO GOA AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS. SHE IS REPORTEDLY THE FIRST LAWYER, OUT OF SOME 40 WORKING FOR THE LEAGUE ON BEHALF OF STATE OF SIEGE PRISONERS, TO HAVE DISAPPEARED. THE REPLY TO A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS FILED BY HER MOTHER SAID THAT SHE WAS NOT BEING HELD BY EITHER POLICE OR ARMED FORCES.

12. PUBLISHER ARRESTED. TWENTY-SEVEN ITALIAN PUBLISHING HOUSES HAVE WRITTEN PRESIDENT VIDELA ASKING FOR INFORMATION ON THE STATUS OF ARGENTINE PUBLISHERS DANEIL DIVINSKY AND HIS WIFE ANA MARIA SILER, WHO WERE ARRESTED UNDER PEN EMERGENCY PROVISIONS ON FEB 16. MEXICAN NOVELIST JUAN ROLFO AND A GROUP OF MEXICAN MAGAZINE WRITERS HAVE ALSO WRITTEN ARGENTINE AUTHORIES REQUESTING THE RELEASE OF THE VIDINSKYS.

13. AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL REPORT: GOA HAS REJECTED A REPORT BY AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL CONDEMNING ARGENTINA FOR GROSS VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN A FORNMINISTRY STATEMENT ISSED MAR 23. THE STATEMENT CHARGES THAT ALLEGATIONS MADE IN THE AMNESTY REPORT WERE BASED ON HEARSAY EVIDENCE AND LACKED VERACITY AND OBJECTIVITY. THE REPORT, WHICH WAS SUBMITTED TO THE ARGENTINE GOVT ON FEB 22, ACCUSED ARGENTINA OF HOLDING "ABOUT 5,000 TO 6,000 POLITICAL PRISONERS, MOST OF WHOM HAVE NOT BEEN CHARGED OR TRIED," AND OF CARRYING OUT UNOFFICIAL EXECUTIONS AND WIDESPREAD TORTURE IN UNOFFICIAL DETENTION CENTERS; AND ALLEGES THAT "SINCE THE MARCH COUP BETWEEN 2,000 AND 5,000 PEOPLE HAVE VANISHED WITHOUT A TRACE." THE ARGENTINE STATEMENT SAYS THAT VERY LITTLE OF THE REPORT IS BASED ON MATERIAL GATHERED BY THE AI MISSION TO ARGENTINA IN

SUBJECT : An End to "The Time of Silence"

REF :

SUMMARY. President Videla's March 6 reference to a termination of "the time for silence" inspired considerable speculation about Argentina's political future. For the moment, the armed forces probably have in mind simply broader consultations with representatives of various social sector Neither the civilian politicians nor the public is demanding much more, and from the government's point of view, a limited "opening" may help stem a dangerous tendency toward the isolation of the armed forces in power.

1. During his March 6 return flight from a state visit to Peru, President Videla told reporters that "the time for silence is ending" and that durin 1977 consultations would be undertaken with political leaders and represen atives of other sectors. These consultations, according to the President, would be part of a search for "political definition," and would mark a new phase of the National Reorganization program which he termed the "phase of creativity."

2. Videla's statements were warmly welcomed in the news media. Speculati as to their significance would have been normal under any circumstances, b it was further encouraged by the fact that his comments coincided with a flurry of activity connected with the approaching anniversary of the Marc 24, 1976 coup: all three armed services have held separate meetings at the general officers level to evaluate the first year of military govern- ment; the junta has made its appraisal based upon the reports of the thre services; church authorities have drafted a confidential report that will soon be presented to the junta; rumors have circulated freely, although apparently without foundation, concerning impending changes in government structure ("fourth man" theme) and cabinet personnel (especially Martinez de Hoz and/or his chief aides); and labor leaders discussed (but rejected making another attempt at convoking a plenum before March 24.

3. We have been told that Videla's airborne remarks were a slip on his part, but an indirect source in the presidential secretariat claims that last week's army meeting endorsed the president's call for a dialogue. The consensus of journalistic, political and official comment we have heard and read supports our own view that the government does not have in mind a "political opening" in the sense of a quickened, purposeful move toward restoration of civilian political participation in the government. Despite the lack of specifics as to the form and substance of the proposed consultations, we believe that the government's plans do not include (a) any kind of elections whatsoever; (b) discussions with political parties per se (as opposed to individuals who are politicians); or (c) a timetable for renewed civilian political participation.

4. Interior Minister Harguindeguy sounded quite categorical on these points when he offered his "personal interpretation" of Videla's remarks. On March 17, after the Army's general officers meeting, Harguindeguy told reporters that the end of "the time for silence" meant that the "phase of creativity" would evolve with individual contributions from patriotic, talented and intelligent Argentines: "I do not interpret the president's comments to mean that the closing of the period of silence in any way signifies initiation of a dialogue with political groups."

5. The great majority of Argentines, including most civilian politicians, are neither surprised nor particularly disappointed that the junta is not considering a return to the norms of civilian politics in the near future. On the contrary, they appear to be satisfied with the prospect of having their views considered by the government. Peronists and Radicals have told us that their parties are totally unprepared for electoral participation. Argentine workers are primarily concerned about their salaries and standard of living, and, for them, an immediate return to civilian government is not an issue that raises much ardor at this point. The track record of Argentina's current group of civilian politicos, and particularly their shabby performance during the pre-coup period, does not inspire confidence on the part of most Argentines.

6. In the past year, the junta has quietly and informally consulted informed and influential citizens, and the "opening" to which Videla referred may simply involve intensifying, publicizing and institutionalizing this practice. If so, it would be the type of cautious, limited step typical of this government; a measure designed to suggest progress in the political field but one devoid of explicit promises as to outcomes. Certain sectors within the government have undoubtedly conceived more involved and detailed proposals for an eventual shift from military to civilian rule. For now, however, these exercises amount to contingency planning rather than the drafting of proposals for near-term implementation.

7. The decision to initiate a "political opening" of any kind is important evidence that the junta and the armed forces are sensitive to the danger that the military in power may become, or be widely perceived as, isolated from the remainder of society. Among other things, the government's human rights record and its refusal to provide the media with information on what transpires in government councils are contributing to the image of a government going its own way, oblivious to public opinion and concerns. That is an image that the government can ill afford, and one that it may be trying to correct through broader consultations with representative Argentines.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

PARTICIPANTS: Americo Grossman
Patricia Derian, D/HA
Fernando Rondon, ARA/ECA

P B6

PLACE: Ms. Derian's office

DISTRIBUTION: Amb. R. C. Hill

Grossman is an Argentine industrialist and a long time supporter of Peronist causes. He presently backs the Videla government as the only viable political alternative for troubled Argentina.

Grossman is in the U.S. as a self-appointed ambassador promoting mutual understanding. He claims his trip has the blessing of the Junta and that a flowery letter from Peronist leader Bittel enables him to speak on behalf of his party. His trip is financed, however, by US-Argentine business interests.

Grossman described the human rights situation as very bad. He expressed the hope, nevertheless, that President Videla would soon get the situation under control. He had high praise for recent US actions on behalf of human rights in Argentina. He warned, however, that had his party been in power when military credits were reduced, a mass rally denouncing the US would have taken place. The military government, he explained, is too unpopular to be able to attract crowds. Grossman had even greater praise for our vote in the World Bank, which was accompanied by a human rights statement. He thinks we should keep voting yes with a human rights disclaimer. It is important to keep up the pressure on the military regime, he stated, but US actions should be modulated to prevent playing into the hands of military nationalists.

COMMENT: Grossman wants to see the military government share power with civilians. He does not call for elections but simply a sharing of Cabinet posts, governorships, etc. He seems to think that US human rights pressure will contribute to the civilian opening. If an opening fails to take place, he fears that reasonable Peronists who want to collaborate with the military will be overtaken in their party by those who want to oppose the military openly. Unfortunately, Grossman does not speak English [redacted] and is inarticulate. [redacted] He could soon wear out his welcome if he stays in Washington for two months. He is already irritating the Argentine Embassy as he purports to give them his own perceptions of the US. Nonetheless, the Argentine Junta seems willing to play along with this Peronist Ambassador.

Dear Mr. Ambassador: from Fred Rondon.

The purpose of this letter is to report on Patt Derian's conversations where Embassy officers were not present, as well as give you a few of my own impressions.

Our lunch with Robert Cox at the American Club was just perfect. Patt discussed Jimmy Carter the man, and his life-long dedication to human rights. I think Cox recognized that the Administration's dedication to basic rights is a very genuine, long-range commitment. Patt gave him a signed copy of the President's United Nations' Address. (Other copies went to Muller of the UNHCR, Timmerman of La Opinion, Mrs. Justo of the Permanent Assembly and the Nuncio. I think a sixth would have gone to Mr. Jenner of the Red Cross had one been available.)

Cox described the horrors of the Peronist era, leftist terrorism and the present-day situation. There was nothing new in this although Cox is very articulate. A few specific points:

- Solari Irigoyen's offense to the Armed Forces came in 1972 when he publicly criticized the Trelaw Prison killings in the aftermath of Santucho's escape to Chile.

- Gustavo Roca was contemptible because he had published a newspaper or magazine exalting leftist violence.

[redacted]

- Christopher Roper is a Marxist businessman.

- There is no way to confirm whether crematories exist in Cordoba. It is the kind of horror story that has a certain pornographic quality that people pass around as the truth.

- Perhaps the most dangerous of the hard-line generals is Suarez Mason. (On the other hand, Neustadt spoke well of Suarez; perhaps because they are neighbors.)

- The American Embassy has performed well on the human rights issue.

Our session with the Permanent Assembly was undoubtedly the most passionate exposition of the human rights picture which we experienced. Ninety-year-old plus Alicia Moreau de Justo spoke with great dignity, lucidity and, indeed, fire. She characterized the human rights situation as barbaric. She described an incident which took place on March 16. Armed men invaded a home at night where an elderly grandmother, a mother and young daughter lived. Two young men were visiting at the time. These thugs broke into the house, ransacked it, stealing at will, and took everyone with them except the older woman. The prisoners were blindfolded. At an unknown place of detention, the mother was beaten with rubber truncheons. She could hear her daughter's screams in a nearby room. Finally, the mother was released at an unknown spot (she had been blindfolded throughout her ordeal) and she made her way home. To this day, she is desperately trying to locate her daughter, who, to her knowledge, is guilty of no subversive activity.

Labor leader Bravo then told the story of a family that with much trouble was able to recover the body of a daughter who died in prison in Cordoba. An autopsy later revealed that two live rats had been sewn into the girl's vagina and had torn her body apart as they tried to get out.

Mr. Pimentel discussed the problem of habeas corpus petitions and the intimidation of the press in connection with the publication of the writs. The La Opinion reporter who covered the courts was kidnapped; other papers simply ignore the subject. Pimentel described how the Assembly tries to document disappearances, largely through families that inform the Assembly of what is happening.

The Westerkampfers (he teaches physics) described the conditions of their son's detention at Sierra Chica: a crowded cell, confinement 23 out of 24 hours, and no reading material. They did note that the food improved slightly after a Red Cross visit.

Finally, Emilio Mignone told us of his daughter Monica's disappearance and his conviction that the Navy is holding her.

We left this meeting subdued and went to the Canadian Residence. We were briefed on the refugee "sit-in" at the Canadian Embassy and Canada's efforts on behalf of the refugees. Patt briefed the Ambassador on the Administration's human rights commitment and determination to do something about the pandemic spread of repression in the world. He told us that he was leaving the next day for a meeting of Canadian Ambassadors to be held in Mexico City. Human rights was to be on the agenda and, the Ambassador continued, this conversation would be very helpful to him in Mexico. He stated that Canada had not pressed Argentina on the human rights issue but that as a result of our conversation, there might be a change. The Ambassador also mentioned that a bomb had been discovered in an automobile very near his Residence, possibly meant for him. Our meeting with the Canadians was very pleasant.

On Saturday morning I had breakfast with Bernardo Neustadt. He will be spending his week in Washington as Orfila's house guest. I promised to try to arrange an appointment with Todman, and noted that Patt looked forward to meeting him in Washington. Neustadt claimed that Videla had ordered an accounting of all prisoners in detention and that a list would be published by May. He stated that the Army Command was holding strategy sessions on waging the peace. He felt he would be able to report on positive developments during his visit to the United States. (I seem to have heard this before.) He was very disturbed by the disappearance of Edgardo Sajon, saying that he had heard it might be related to the Graiver bankruptcy case. Neustadt was troubled that the government might now be making secret economic arrests in addition to political ones.

Our other meetings have, of course, been recorded in Memoranda of Conversation. While we were able to review several of these in Buenos Aires, I look forward to going over these memos in more contemplative circumstances.

What came across most clearly to me is the continuing hope that nearly everyone we spoke to places in Videla. People - at least most of our contacts - do not blame him for the seemingly uncontrollable activities of the goon squads. The Navy seems to operate secretly in an effort to polarize the Army. It would appear that some of the military and leftist extremists are doing all they can to provoke a civil war. Timmerman fears that his newspaper will be closed in some kind of Reichstag incident, signaling a hard-line triumph. He declared that the Montoneros would eventually win a civil war if one took place. He, therefore, welcomed the Carter Adminstration's efforts, including the military credits reduction, because it had finally stiffened the moderates and given them the courage to face up to the hard liners. The business community, Timmerman suggested, is at long last afraid of what the United States might do in the economic arena and is, therefore, backing the moderate cause.

Our sessions with the Foreign Ministry were almost beside the point. [redacted] seemed in another world. I really sympathize for those on your staff who deal with this Alice in Wonderland character. B6

I guess we must continue judging events in Argentina with extreme caution and hope that we will take every opportunity we can find to nurse whatever forces of moderation exist in that tragic society.

My very best.

Sincerely,

Fred

Dear Bill:

I appreciate very much receipt of your letter dated March 7 enclosing the Amnesty International documentation on the Lavin affair, which I have shown only to DCM Tom Boyatt and Political Counselor Charles Stout.

The first point that strikes us is that if we had had this documentation, or any substantial part of it, we would not of course have approved Lavin for an IVP grant. Some of it we could not have expected to get, for reasons you have previously communicated to me. But unfortunately we did not receive any details with respect to the accusations at the Russell Tribunal in Mexico City, a principal documentary base for the allegations against Lavin, apart from the fragmentary notes which appeared in the press.

Now that the United States Government is laying such great stress on human rights problems, I would hope that we and other field posts could be sent, in timely fashion, much more of the substance of what goes on in events like the Russell Tribunal meeting, and as much as possible of the statements by individuals of the type given to you by Amnesty International.

On the Lavin matter itself, a great deal of the evidence comes from the Russell Tribunal - particularly the list of torturers. The list has appeared in different contexts - one version was surfaced here by the Swedish Charge - but all lists appear to stem from the Russell proceeding.

We wonder how one can assess the veracity of the Russell Tribunal information. To a considerable extent this meeting was political street theatre rather than a serious effort to identify wrongdoers. At that session we understand that all three of our Santiago service attaches were accused by name of having participated actively in the plot to overthrow Allende. There are apparently many other assertions which would hardly stand up under analysis. We have the continuing problem of deciding how to evaluate such statements against the denials made by the other side.

More worrisome to me are the accusations of Poblete, Miranda Pinto and Carbacho. None of us doubts that these three men were mistreated. We will obviously never know whether they have exaggerated the extent of their mistreatment, and whether or not Lavin - who denies all complicity - was either a participant or an onlooker. One could pick flaws in some of the testimony: for example, how does Miranda Pinto know that two of the "torturers" were "Brazilian Air Force Commanders" and the third a "civilian Jew" who had been in a concentration camp in Russia. It could be that someone experiencing torture would glean this much information about his torturers, but I have doubts. As Junta opponents, Amnesty sources might well embellish their experiences.

Having said all this, I am left about where I was before. I find no way to reconcile the claims of the two sides. Knowing Lavin, I find it difficult to envisage him turning the crank on the generator. And I suspect we shall never clear the matter up.

In any event, I am glad it has faded into the background. Whatever the earlier sins of the Junta, we have not received reports of torture or mysterious disappearances in recent months. If we find that this continues to be the case, I hope that in due course we can begin to hold out some incentives to the Chileans for staying on their good behavior, and carry forward a dialogue to encourage them to go further.

I do not know if it is general in the area, but I have the feeling that since January we have had surprisingly little feedback from Washington with respect to policy views on Chile. We have of course a number of more general public statements from Terry Todman, you and others, and we look forward to what the President will say in a couple of days. But we have very little "feel" regarding the planning and analysis process which we know is going on in Washington.

I assume therefore that I shall be leaving here (in late May) before we embark on a new, Carter Administration tack with respect to Chile. I greatly regret this. As you can imagine, I have lived with this problem very intimately for over three years. But I hope that I may at least have set the stage for whatever action is to come.

I look forward to a good debriefing session in Washington. If I can continue to be helpful in any way, I want to do so.

Sincerely yours,

SUBJECT : Possible Shift in Chilean Foreign Policy--Implications for USG

WARNING NOTICE--SENSITIVE INTELLIGENCE SOURCES AND METHODS INVOLVED--NOT RELEASABLE TO FOREIGN NATIONALS--NOT RELEASABLE TO CONTRACTORS OR CONTRACTORS/CONSULTANTS

Summary: There are indications that Chile is shifting its foreign policy emphasis somewhat from the United States to its Southern Cone neighbors. In part the GOC wants to show us that our concentration on human rights damages other United States interests. This airgram lists a number of things the GOC hypothetically could do to get at the United States, but notes the restraints under which the GOC operates in its foreign relations. The conclusion is not surprising: The GOC can do little to us without harming itself more. Other than minor harassments in Chile, the GOC might make the most impact on the United States by working through its Southern Cone neighbors and other LAs. But, upon reflection, it may decide to do nothing at all along these lines. End of Summary

Change in Policy Emphasis:

In early March the UNHRC meeting in Geneva approved by an overwhelming majority a resolution on human rights in Chile along the general lines of that approved by the UNGA in December 1976. The resolution gave only the slightest recognition of the improvement in Chilean conditions during 1976, and none to the further and more dramatic improvement so far in 1977. President Pinochet reportedly reacted strongly to the resolution, and to the change in the US position--from abstention in December to cosponsorship (along with Cuba) in March. He told his colleagues that he intended to take a harder line toward the United States because Chilean policy had not been successful in efforts to restore balance to Chile's image abroad

So far there has been no evidence of actual change in GOC policy--a little smoke but no fire. indicate an impending switch on policy towards Panama the public rhetoric is hot, and we have detected what may--or may not--be intentional lack of cooperation with us on marginal matters such as hydrographic research and copper. We also have an indication that in one instance GOC policy has not changed in the key area of cooperation with the UNHRC on human rights (Santiago 2656).

Pinochet, however is a stubborn and proud man when aroused, and a shift in policy would be in character. The Embassy therefore believes it useful to examine what the GOC might do to damage US interests should it put its heart into the effort. We have considered a wide variety of possibilities, and no doubt the Chileans could come up with some surprises if they put their minds to it. We list the following as illustrative, beginning with some minor measures that would cost the GOC little or nothing, through some that would hurt them more than us:

Limit cooperation in hydrographic research
Harass or cold shoulder US officials in Chile
Refuse to allow Chilean narcotics expellees to return to Chile
Refuse support to US candidates in international fora
Limit cooperation in international fora (e.g., leave the UN Committee of 24, or vote in it against the United States on Guam and Puerto Rico)

Restraints on the GOC

A Chile that concentrated on working against US interests could be troublesome, as Allende showed. But the Chile of the Junta operates under a number of restraints:

a. Domestic: The Junta appears to be riding high at the moment, but in fact it is somewhat overextended politically. The GOC just outlawed its remaining democratic political opposition, and the only democratic voice left is that of the Catholic Church. In its sequential attempts to destroy leftist terrorists, Marxist subversives, and now the liberal center, the GOC had invoked nationalism. But jingoism has its risks, and the Junta could lose popular backing by assuming an outspokenly anti-US position. Government supporters are not in agreement on the new, tougher line. For the first time we see public comments from the governmental moderates about the "Fascist"or extremist influences in the GOC. Pinochet has enough enemies without alienating these relative moderates also.

b. Chilean Dependence: Chile depends on the outside world more than most. It needs foreign markets, foreign investment and loans, and thus is unlikely to risk a US cutoff of the F-5 and A-37 programs and other less important items remaining in the FMS pipeline. Chile depends on foreign trade, and would not cut off its markets willingly. Chile needs an efficient, reasonably priced Panama Canal. It cannot be sure how the Canal would be operated and what it would cost under Panama; in addition, Chile is skeptical about breaking bilateral treaties because of its uncomfortable relationship with Peru. Moreover, Chile fears Peru. It worries about the US attitude in case of a conflict, and it cannot count on Brazil and Argentina. The Junta would therefore be foolish to undermine a hemispheric system that might be of some help should Peru attack.

d. Ambivalent United States Attitude: Senior Chilean leaders are bemused about the USG's attitude. Despite the clear signal of a substantive change at Geneva, Pinochet and colleagues must have noticed the open attitude of President Carter towards Chile. Certainly the Foreign Ministry does. Moreover, the Ministry took pains to have published in Chile the corrected summary of the United States delegation's statement at the UNHRC (Santiago 2692).

e. International Isolation: Chile's isolation is still great. If it consciously casts off the United States, it cannot turn to the Communist world, or the Third World, for friendship. It is popular only with a few hard right regimes, which themselves are unpopular these days. Chile's position in Latin America has improved, but it has problems with countries such as Mexico, Venezuela and Colombia, not to mention Cuba and Peru. Chile's maneuvering space is therefore limited essentially to some other military regimes in Latin America, and a few other countries in the world. And some of those governments do not want to be identified with Chile.

The Southern Cone

The Southern Cone deserves special consideration. Since the coup the GOC has made a particular effort to improve relations with its neighbors in the southern area. It has had considerable success, but cannot be content. Chile withdrew from the Andean Pact on grounds of its incompatibility with Chile's basic economic goals but also in the expectation of gaining politically and economically from a shift east. Its attempt to associate itself more closely with the Plata Basin Organization was rebuffed; apparently neither Brazil nor Argentina wants a closer arrangement than observer. We have yet to see evidence of specific commercial advantage from this shift. Although the neighboring regimes are superficially similar and have some common problems, they are at various stages of development and have distinct interests. The Junta has true rapport only with Uruguay's leadership.

The current reaction of most of these countries to United States human rights policies gives a fillip to Chilean desires for closer cooperation. We see from [redacted] that the Chileans want to work with their neighbors in convincing the United States that its overall interests require a more careful position on human rights. But we wonder whether these countries, so heterogeneous in many respects, can provide Chile the protection it needs if it is to wash its hands of the United States and take positive steps to alienate us.

What Will Chile Do?

As already noted, Pinochet is a stubborn man. But he also is reasonably prudent, and not likely to exchange a lesser evil for a greater. We thus expect to see some signs of change in Chilean foreign policy, which should not go so far, however, as to risk alienating us. We shall probably find Chilean officials less cooperative in some areas of more interest to us than to them, and we can expect Chilean rhetoric to remain heated at least for a time. The GOC will also continue its effort to strengthen cooperation with the Southern Cone countries, which it would have done in any event. But it is in this area, where Chile would be shielded somewhat by other countries, that a change might be most meaningful. The Embassy nevertheless believes that the USG need take no precautionary steps. Chile can do little to harm us, and on reflection the GOC may decide not even to try.

to the further and more dramatic improvement so far in 1977. President Pinochet reportedly reacted strongly to the resolution, and to the change in the US position--from abstention in December to cosponsorship (along with Cuba) in March. He told his colleagues that he intended to take a harder line toward the United States because Chilean policy had not been successful in efforts to restore balance to Chile's image abroad.

So far there has been no evidence of actual change in GOC policy--a little smoke but no fire.

While the public rhetoric is hot, and we have detected what may--or may not--be intentional lack of cooperation with us on marginal matters such as hydrographic research and copper[illegible] we also have an indication that in one instance GOC policy has not changed in the key area of cooperation with the UNHRC on human rights (Santiago 2656).

Pinochet, however is a stubborn and proud man when aroused, and a shift in policy would be in character. The Embassy therefore believes it useful to examine what the GOC might do to damage US interests should it put its heart into the effort. We have considered a wide variety of possibilities, and no doubt the Chileans could come up with some surprises if they put their minds to it. We list the following as illustrative, beginning with some minor measures that would cost the GOC little or nothing, through some that would hurt them more than us:

Limit cooperation in hydrographic research
Harass or cold shoulder US officials in Chile
Refuse to allow Chilean narcotics expellees to return to Chile
Refuse support to US candidates in international fora
Limit cooperation in international fora (e.g., leave the UN Committee of 24, or vote in it against the United States on Guam and Puerto Rico)
Harass Braniff

Take strongly LDC positions in the North-South dialogue
Stop payment of compensation for copper nationalization

Restraints on the GOC

A Chile that concentrated on working against US interests could be troublesome, as Allende showed. But the Chile of the Junta operates under a number of restraints:

a. Domestic: The Junta appears to be riding high at the moment, but in fact it is somewhat overextended politically. The GOC just outlawed its remaining democratic political opposition, and the only democratic voice left is that of the Catholic Church. In its sequential attempts to destroy leftist terrorists, Marxist subversives, and now the liberal center, the GOC had invoked nationalism. But jingoism has its risks, and the Junta could lose popular backing by assuming an outspokenly anti-US position. Government supporters are not in agreement on the new, tougher line. For the first time we see public comments from the governmental moderates about the "Fascist"or extremist influences in the GOC. Pinochet has enough enemies without alienating these relative moderates also.

-c. Chilean Dependence: Chile depends on the outside world more than most. It needs foreign markets, foreign investment and loans, and thus is unlikely to risk a US cutoff of the F-5 and A-37 programs and other less important items remaining in the FMS pipeline. Chile depends on foreign trade, and would not cut off its markets willingly. Chile needs an efficient, reasonably priced Panama Canal. It cannot be sure how the Canal would be operated and what it would cost under Panama; in addition, Chile is skeptical about breaking bilateral treaties because of its uncomfortable relationship with Peru. Moreover, Chile fears Peru. It worries about the US attitude in case of a conflict, and it cannot count on Brazil and Argentina. The Junta would therefore be foolish to undermine a hemispheric system that might be of some help should Peru attack.

d. Ambivalent United States Attitude: Senior Chilean leaders are bemused about the USG's attitude. Despite the clear signal of a substantive change at Geneva, Pinochet and colleagues must have noticed the open attitude of President Carter towards Chile. Certainly the Foreign Ministry does. Moreover, the Ministry took pains to have published in Chile the corrected summary of the United States delegation's statement at the UNHRC (Santiago 2692).

e. International Isolation: Chile's isolation is still great. If it consciously casts off the United States, it cannot turn to the Communist world, or the Third World, for friendship. It is popular only with a few hard right regimes, which themselves are unpopular these days. Chile's position in Latin America has improved, but it has problems with countries such as Mexico, Venezuela and Colombia, not to mention Cuba and Peru. Chile's maneuvering space is therefore limited essentially to some other military regimes in Latin America, and a few other countries in the world. And some of those governments do not want to be identified with Chile.

The Southern Cone

The Southern Cone deserves special consideration. Since the coup the GOC has made a particular effort to improve relations with its neighbors in the southern area. It has had considerable success, but cannot be content. Chile withdrew from the Andean Pact on grounds of its incompatibility with Chile's basic economic goals but also in the expectation of gaining politically and economically from a shift east. Its attempt to associate itself more closely with the Plata Basin Organization was rebuffed; apparently neither Brazil nor Argentina wants a closer arrangement than observer. We have yet to see evidence of specific commercial advantage from this shift. Although the neighboring regimes are superficially similar and have some common problems, they are at various stages of development and have distinct interests. The Junta has true rapport only with Uruguay's leadership.

The current reaction of most of these countries to United States human rights policies gives a fillip to Chilean desires for closer cooperation. Memcon for the files—Yvonne Thayer

With Dr. Emilio Mignone

April 15, 1977 12-2 pm

Mignone delivered copy of the Permanent Assembly's petition. He said it had been very carefully thought and worked out by a leading constitutional lawyer Genaro Carrio with plenty of precedent examples so that the Supreme Court would be hard pressed to ignore it. He said he saw four possible responses from the Court:

1) refuse to act on case (doubtful they would flaunt public opinion so openly—lots of pressure on justices to use petition as vehicle by which to act)

2) postpone a decision and in the meantime pressure govt to take steps to alleviate problem before hostile decision is made—by freeing many of the desaparecidos named or producing them, so that court can eventually decline that cause for a ruling exists (Mignone—most likely)

3) take positive action on a part of the petition. Petition asked that Court designate a judge to handle all special cases in which habeas corpus writs remain unanswered at lower court level, also asked that the habeas corpus be resolved on these specific 12 and another 413 cases. Court might try to resolve the cases named, but forego the special judge

4) approve the whole petition. Petitioners believe that if special office with Court-designated judge requests info from Interior Ministry on no. of complaints, for example, or on specific cases, Ministry will be required to respond. If Ministry's records on complaints are revealed, it would approximate the list of persons disappeared in the country since most families have brought these cases to the attention of the Ministry. It would provide the first statistical info on the situation in country.

On Supreme Court justices; they are competent, honorable men, all but one have had careers in the judiciary. Problem is they tend to be bureaucratic, narrow, strict interpreters of their duties and responsibilities. Under Latin law there is very little latitude. The law determines the sentence, the seriousness of crime, etc, little room for judge to make determination. All evidence, testimony, etc has to be contained on the legal brief. Judges will exclude all other considerations, even any special circumstances, the public environment etc. etc. when resolving a case. They will consider nothing but the letter of the law. Third, judges try to avoid political questions. They will interpret everything very narrowly and limit their rulings to strict judicial questions. They tend to grab onto one narrow legal question rather than approach the issue as a whole.

20/185

federal judge.

Also newest who has not had a judicial career Carlos Frias--a prominent Cordobes, intellectual, prof of public and constitutional law at U of Cordoba, served as Ambassador to Holland and the Vatican. Father was governor of Cordoba 30 years ago.
Very prestigious family. Frias publishes a lot on federalism, public law, likely to have major input on Assembly's petition.

Dr. Emilio Mignone on Lanusse-Sajon-Graiver case

Lanusse has obvious political ambitions and is about to launch his campaign through publication of his "memoires. Sajon was one of the ghostwriters; it seems Hector Ferreiros helped too. Former Pres. Levingston loathes Lanusse for setting him up in the presidency only to pull him down and has joined with Saint Jean and the Navy to discredit Lanusse. The Bahia Blanca newspaper answers to Saint Jean and the Navy, which is control in area. The ~~numbers~~ Graiver investigation report was completed and given to Videla some days ago. ~~Videla~~ It will reveal that a number of banks, firms, gave the Montoneros "protection money" and that several banks had Montonero accounts; other economic corruption stories that will hurt some big VIPs, particularly those connected to Lanusse. Videla and Lanusse are on good terms. Videla stalled on taking action on Graiver report so the Bahia Blanca paper was fed stories to force release of ~~story report~~ the material. Saint Jean then announced that Videla would have incredible story soon, again to force Videla to reveal contents and take steps against persons named, including Lanusse connections. The other victim will be Enrique, who as Minister of Social Welfare had Graiver as his undersecretary.

~~Journalistic circles~~ La Opinion was to have been sold to Lanusse interests with Sajon as editor to support Lanusse's program and candidacy. No surprise that Timerman and Jara were taken. Wouldn't be a surprise to have Lanusse kidnapped next. Motive is not to ~~punish~~ "get" Videla by forcing human rights issue. Problem is that the technique of midnight kidnappings has now spilled into areas of political and military infighting. Ferreiros was very close to Gen. Della Tea and the two were about to launch under Ferreiros' editorship a publication expounding della Tea's political views and aspirations. Unexpected that Ferrieros would have been killed, unlikely that ~~Timerman and Jara will be killed~~ anti-Lanusse forces will go so far as to kill Timerman and Jara; However, should also be understood that foreign pressure on behalf Timerman, etc. won't make slightest impression on ~~kidnappers~~ persons involved. They would be perfectly happy to see moderate indecisive Videla fall as a by-product. Mignone said that next various factions within the Armed Forces will start killing each other off.

Viva Argentina!

SUBJECT: SUMMARY OF BASIC ELEMENTS INVOLVED IN GRAIVER SCANDAL

1. EMBASSY'S SUMMARY OF INFORMATION LEAKED TO THE PRESS THUS FAR CONCERNING ALLEGED FINDINGS OF THE MILITARY INVESTIGATION OF THE GRAIVER AFFAIR BEING SUBMITTED BY SEPTEL. PRESS OVER THE LAST FEW DAYS HAS HAD A FIELD DAY REPORTING A COMPLICATED SERIES OF ALLEGATIONS INVOLVING A WIDE RANGE OF INDIVIDUALS AND POTENTIALLY BEING OF GREAT POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE. OBJECTIVE OF THIS CABLE IS TO SUMMARIZE WHAT APPEARS AT THIS POINT TO BE THE MAIN ELEMENTS OR ISSUES INVOLVED, AS FOLLOWS:
(A) OVER THE PAST SEVERAL WEEKS THERE HAS BEEN A SPATE OF KIDNAPPINGS OF JOURNALISTS, AT LEAST SOME OF WHOM MAY BE RELATED TO THE ONGOING INVESTIGATION OF THE GRAIVER AFFAIR. IN THE CASE OF TIMERMAN AND JARA OF LA OPINION, THE MIDNIGHT SEIZURES HAVE BEEN--BELATEDLY--ACKNOWLEDGED BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES AS HAVING BEEN OFFICIAL DETENTIONS. THE FOLLOWING OTHER DISAPPEARANCES HAVE NOT YET BEEN EXPLAINED: HECTOR FERREIROS, FORMER TELAM REPORTER AND REPORTEDLY A COLLABORATOR OF BOTH EX-PRESIDENT LANUSSE AND GENERAL DELLA TEA, WAS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN A FIELD ON APRIL 5; EDGARDO SAJON, FORMER PRESS SECRETARY IN THE LANUSSE GOVERNMENT AND A LA OPINION PRINTING DEPT HEAD DISAPPEARED OVER TWO WEEKS AGO; ENRIQUE RAAB, EX-LA OPINION REPORTER, WAS

ABDUCTED FROM HIS HOME ON APRIL 16 BY A GROUP OF MEN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES WHO MACHINEGUNNED DOWN HIS FRONT DOOR.
(B) THE INVESTIGATION OF THE GRAIVER FINANCIAL EMPIRE PRESUMABLY BEGAN AROUND THE TIME OF OR SHORTLY AFTER DAVID GRAIVER'S ALLEGED DEATH IN AN AIRPLANE ACCIDENT IN AUGUST 1976 IN MEXICO. THE INVESTIGATION, ACCORDING TO NEWS LEAKS, COVERS TWO PRINCIPAL ISSUES: (1) ALLEGED CONNECTIONS BETWEEN THE GRAIVER FINANCIAL INTERESTS AND THE MONTONEROS; AND (2) FRAUDULENT FINANCIAL PRACTICES OF THE GRAIVER INTERESTS AND OTHERS RELATED TO THEM. THE ESSENCE OF THE CHARGE CONCERNING GRAIVER'S ALLEGED LINKS TO THE MONTONEROS IS THAT THE MONTONEROS DEPOSITED A SUM OF MONEY ESTIMATED AS BETWEEN 12 AND 25 MILLION DOLLARS IN GRAIVER BANKS FROM WHICH THEY DREW INTEREST FOR THEIR OPERATIONS IN ARGENTINA. THE ALLEGED DEPOSITS CHIEFLY CAME FROM RANSOM MONEY. GRAIVER ALLEGEDLY USED THE MONEY TO FOUND NEW BANKING ESTABLISHMENTS ABROAD. ACCORDING TO ONE VERSION, GRAIVER WAS INTRODUCED TO THE MONTONEROS THROUGH FORMER PERONIST ECONOMY MINISTER JOSE BER GELBARD WHO ALLEGEDLY HAD CLOSE TIES TO GRAIVER. (GELBARD ALLEGEDLY LOST $6 MILLION IN DEPOSITS WITH THE AMERICAN BAN AND TRUST CO. OF N. Y. WHEN THE BANK FOLDED FOLLOWING GRAIVER'S DEATH.) ACCORDING TO ANOTHER VERSION, GELBARD WAS INTRODUCED TO A MONTONERO LEADER NAMED CARLOS ALBERTO MAGUID THROUGH GRAIVER'S BROTHER-IN-LAW, OSVALDO PAPALEO, WHO WAS PRESIDENTIAL PRESS SECRETARY DURING THE LAST PERONIST GOVERNMENT. IT HAS ALSO BEEN REPORTED THAT THE GRAIVER INVESTIGATION IS JUST THE TIP OF AN ICEBERG INVOLVING FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF LINKS BETWEEN THE MONTONEROS AND THE ARGENTINE INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL COMMUNITY. FOR EXAMPLE, LA NACION HINTED APRIL 17 THAT SOME 35-40 ARGENTINE AND MULTINATIONAL COMPANIES WOULD BE CITED FOR PROVIDING "PROTECTION MONEY" TO THE MONTONEROS.
(C) THE ALLEGATION OF ECONOMIC CRIMES PRESUMABLY RELATES TO THE FRAUDULENT FINANCIAL PRACTICES OF THE GRAIVER BANKS, BUT THERE HAVE BEEN HINTS IN THE PRESS THAT THE GOVERNMENT IS ALSO INVESTIGATING TAX EVASION AND OTHER FRAUDULENT ACTIVITIES ON THE PART OF OTHER ECONOMIC ENTERPRISES WHICH MAY OR MAY NOT BE RELATED TO THE GRAIVER INTERESTS.
[redacted]

(D) THERE HAVE BEEN REPORTS THAT DAVID GRAIVER'S TOP LEGAL ADVISOR JORGE RUBENSTEIN DIED, REPORTEDLY IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT, ALTHOUGH ACCORDING TO ANOTHER ACCOUNT HE DIED "OF A HEART ATTACK" WHILE IN DETENTION SOME MONTHS AGO. ANOTHER STILL UNEXPLAINED OCCURRENCE HAS BEEN THE REPORTED DISAPPEARANCE OF CARLOS MAGUID

IN LIMA ON APRIL 12. MAGUID APPARENTLY PARTICIPATED IN THE KIDNAPPING OF EX-PRESIDENT ARAMBURU IN 1970 AND SUBSEQUENTLY WENT INTO EXILE IN PERU.
(E) IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING THE ABDUCTION OF EDGARDO SAJON, EX-PRESIDENT LANUSSE MET WITH PRESIDENT VIDELA AND SHORTLY THEREAFTER ISSUED A STATEMENT THAT VIDELA TOLD HIM THE DISAPPEARANCE OF SAJON IN NO WAY WAS RELATED TO THE GRAIVER INVESTIGATION. LANUSSE WAS ATTACKED THEREAFTER BY LA NUEVA PROVINCIA, A RIGHTWING DAILY WHICH HAS CLOSE TIES TO BUENOS AIRES PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR ST. JEAN, FOR ALLEGEDLY HAVING ATTEMPTED TO PUT PRESSURE ON VIDELA TO TURN OFF THE INVESTIGATION INTO THE GRAIVER AFFAIR, BECAUSE IT HAD IMPLICATED MANY OF LANUSSE'S FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS. IN ADDITION TO THE 15 RELATIVES OR CLOSE BUSINESS ASSOCIATES OF DAVID GRAIVER, WHO ACCORDING TO A MILITARY COMMUNIQUE ARE UNDER DETENTION, THE PRESS HAS ALSO REPORTED THE ARREST OF PEDRO JORGE MARTINEZ SEGOVIA, WHO IS A BUSINESS ASSOCIATE OF ECONOMY MINISTER MARTINEZ DE HOZ. THE INVESTIGATION IS THEREFORE FAR FLUNG, BUT IT REMAINS UNCLEAR AT THIS POINT HOW FAR ITS ORIGINATORS TEND TO GO AND WHO THEY ARE REALLY AFTER. (HOWEVER, IT DOES APPEAR THAT WHILE THERE MAY BE AN UNDERCURRENT OF ANTI-SEMITISM INVOLVED, THIS IS NOT PREDOMINANT.) WHAT IS CLEAR IS THAT THE PRINCIPALS BEHIND THE INVESTIGATION, SUCH AS ARMY FIRST CORPS COMMANDER GENERAL SUAREZ MASON AND GOVERNOR ST. JEAN, ARE HARDLINERS WHO HAVE BEEN DISSATISFIED WITH VIDELA'S ALLEGED VACILLATIONS IN TERMS OF SUPPRESSING THE TERRORISTS, THE LABOR MOVEMENT AND THE RECALCITRANCE OF THE PRIVATE BUSINESS SECTOR TO MAKE ITS QUOTA OF ECONOMIC SACRIFICE. IT WAS THOUGH THAT VIDELA'S HAND HAD BEEN STRENGTHENED AS A RESULT OF THE SELF-EVALUATION PROCESS WHICH THE THREE ARMED SERVICES WENT THROUGH ON THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF THE COUP. IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THOSE BEHIND THE GRAIVER INVESTIGATION [redacted]

INTEND TO PUT NEW PRESSURES ON VIDELA TO HARDEN HIS POLICIES. IT MAY BE, AS PLANNING MINISTER DIAZ BESSONE STATED TO THE PRESS, THE MILITARY INVESTIGATORS INTEND TO "ALLOW THE CHIPS TO FALL WHERE THEY MAY." IF VIDELA SHOULD FALL BY THE WAYSIDE IN THE PROCESS, THEN SO BE IT. HOWEVER, VIDELA'S APPOINTMENT OF AN ARMY GENERAL TO TAKE OVER THE INVESTIGATION, ON BEHALF OF THE PRESIDENCY, MAY IN EFFECT HAVE FORCED THE HARDLINERS TO STEP BACK AT LEAST MOMENTARILY FROM THIS PLAN, IF INDEED THAT IS THE PLAN, TO SEE HOW VIDELA HANDLES THE MATTER AT THIS JUNCTURE. HOPEFULLY, WE WILL HAVE GREATER INSIGHTS INTO THE

HARDLINERS' PLANS AND PROSPECTS AFTER VIDELA'S PRESS CONFERENCE ON SUBVERSION WHICH IS SCHEDULED LATE AFTERNOON TOMORROW. ANOTHER INDICATOR WILL BE WHETHER VIDELA DEPARTS FOR HIS VISIT TO PARAGUAY LATER THIS WEEK, AS SCHEDULED.
(F) THE WAY THE INVESTIGATION HAS BEEN CONDUCTED THUS FAR UNDOUBTEDLY IS A SOURCE OF EMBARRASSMENT FOR THE GOVERNMENT, AND VIDELA MUST BE AWARE OF THE IMPLICATIONS ABROAD. ENOUGH HAS BEEN SAID IN THE PUBLIC RECORD TO SUGGEST THAT THOSE BEHIND THE PROBE MAY BE WILD MEN SEARCHING FOR EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT THEIR PRECONCEIVED NOTIONS. IT MAY BE THAT THEY HAVE SOLID EVIDENCE--ONLY TIME WILL TELL, BUT THE MIDNIGHT ABDUCTIONS AND OTHER PRESSURE TACTICS WHICH WE PRESUME HAVE BEEN USED AGAINST THOSE DETAINED UNDOUBTEDLY WILL JAUNDICE THE INTERPRETATION WHICH THESE DEVELOPMENTS ARE GIVEN ABROAD. FOREIGN CREDITORS PRESUMABLY WILL ALSO BE CONCERNED TO LEARN THAT SOME PART OF ARGENTINA'S FINANCIAL RESERVES ABROAD ARE OF TERRORIST ORIGIN.

DU SUD, DE BRUSELAS, Y, EN SEGUIDA, EL NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST CO., DE NEUVA YORK -- SE PRESENTABAN EN QUIEBRA, DEJANDO SALDOS CONJUNTOS DE ACREEDORES POR UN VALOR QUE OSCILABA EN LOS 50 MILLONES DE DOLARES. DICHOES BANCOS PETENECIAN A DAVID GRAIVER.

LA REVISTA SOMOS, EN SU EDICION DEL 15 DE ABRIL UTLIMO, RESENA LA BIOGRAFIA DEL BANQUERO PRESUNTAMENTE MUERTO. HIJO HE JUAN GRAIVER, UN INMIGRANTE DE POLONIA LLEGADO A LA ARGENTINA EN 1931, EMPRENDIO A LOS 26 ANOS -- EN 1967 -- LA CARRERA COMERCIAL OPTANDO POR LA COMPRA DEL BANCO COMERCIAL DE LA PLATA MEDIANTE CAPITAL DE SU PADRE. A PARTIR DE ESE MOMENTO, SU FORTUNA COMMENZO A CRECER. SOMOS LE ATRIBUYE, POR ESA EPOCA, EXTENSAS CONNEXIONES OFICIALES, OBTENIDAS A TRAVES DE SUS FUNCIONES EN EL MINISTERIO DE BIENESTAR SOCIAL, DURANTE LA GESTION CUMPLIDA AL FRENTE DEL MISMO POR EL SENOR FRANCISCO G. MANRIQUE. ESTAS VINCULACIONES FUERON MUCH MAS ESTRECHAS POSTERIORMENTE, YA QUE SEGUN SOMOS 'GRAIVER INTUYO QUE MANRIQUE PODIA ENCABEZAR LA ALTERNATIVA ELECTORAL DEL SECTOR LIBERAL ARGENTINO Y NO DUDO EN BRINDARLE SU APOYO DURANTE LA CAMPANA PROESLITISTA QUE CULMINO EN LOS COMOCIOS DE 1973.'

POR ENTONCES, GRAIVER YA HABIA ADQUIRIDO, ADEMAS DEL BANCO PLATENSE, EL BANCO HURLINGHAM Y HABIA FUNDADO UNA EMPRESA DE

CONSTRUCCIONES -- FUNDAR S.A. -- QUE 'SI BIEN NO REALIZO NUNCO OBRAS DE ENVERGADURA, LE SIRVIO PARA ACRECENTAR EL PODER ECONOMICO DEL GRUPO.'

PER ESTO -- DICE LA REVISTA -- LO CUMPLIA GRAIVER SIN ABANDONAR SUS VINCULOS CON LOS RESTANTES GRUPOS POLITICOS Y, SIMULTANEAMENTE, ENTRABA EN CONTACTO CON LOS SECTORES PERONISTAS A TRAVES DE LOS ORGANISMOS VINCULADOS A LA CONFEDERACION GENERAL ECONOMICA, LO QUE LO VINCULO A JOSE BER GELBARD Y A JULIO BRONER.

SOMOS AFIRMA QUE FUE DURANTE ESTA EPOCA -- ENTRE 1973 Y 1975 -- QUE EL BANCO PLATENSE CRECIO HASTA TOTALIZAR UN CAPITAL DE ALREDEDOR DE 500.00 MILLONES DE PESOS VIEJOS, CON 18 SUCURSALES Y MAS DE 600 EMPLEADOS. Y EN ESE MISMO PERIODO ES CUANDO GRAIVER, SEGUN LAS VERSIONES HASTA AHORA PUBLICADAS, TOMA CONTACTO CON ELEMENTOS SUBVERSIVOS Y APLICA LOS FONDOS RECAUDADOS POR ESTOS EN UNA SERIE DE SECUESTROS Y ASALTOS PARA REALIZAR DIVERSAS OPERACIONES TANTO EN EL PAIS COMO EN EL EXTERIOR, ENTRE ELLAS LA COMPRA DE DOS BANCOS -- EN BELGICA Y EN LOS ESTADOS UNIDOS -- Y EL PROYECTO DE ADQUISICION DE UN TERCERO -- EL SWISS ISRAEL TRADE BANK, FILIAL EN TEL AVIV--, PER DE ORIGEN SUIZO, ASI COMO OPERACIONES CON VARIAS EMPRESAS. EL DIARIO CLARIN, EN LA VISPERA, REPRODUCIENDO UN TEXTO DE LA NUEVA PROVINCIA, DE BAHIA BLANCA, EXPRESA SOBRE EL PARTICULAR QUE 'DEPOSITADOS EN SUIZA LOS MILLONES DE DOLARES QUE LA FAMILA BORN PAGO POR EL RESCATE DE SUS HIJOS, SECUESTRADOS DURANTE UN OPERATIVE COMANDO DEL CUAL SE HICIERON RESPONSABLES MONTONEROS, UN PRIMAVERAL DIA DE SETIEMBRE DE 1974, EN PLENO BARRIO NORTE, SE REUNEN LOS DOCTORES 'PAZ' Y 'PENALOZA', ROBERTO QUIETO, JOSE BER GELBARD Y DAVID GRAIVER. ES ALLI -- CONTINUA EL PERIODICO -- DONDE SE RETOCAN Y ULTIMAN LOS DETALLES DEL PACTO QUE, DESDE ENTONCES, UNIRIA, EN UNA HERMANDAD DIABOLICA, A LA SUBVERSION FINANCIERA Y A LA SUBVERSION ARMADA.'

POR OTRA PARTE, EL DIARIO LA PRENSA, REPRODUJO EL TEXTO

PUBLICADO POR LA NUEVA PROVINCIA EN EL QUE SE AFIRMA ADEMAS QUE EL DIARIO LA OPINION, 'PERTENECERIA -- CUANDO MENOS EN UN 50 POR CIENTO AL GRUPO GRAIVER.' ANADE QUE "EL MATUTINO 'INDEPENDIENTE', CUYO APOYO A LA GESTION GELBARDINA SOLO PODIA COMPARARSE EN EFUSIVIDAD, A LOS ELOGIOS VERTIDOS SOBRE LOS "MARTIRES DE TRELEW', HABRIA SIDO LA PRINCIPAL PUNTA DE LANZA IDEOLOGICA DEL DUO GELBARD-GRAIVER."

ACERCA DE LAS CONEXIONES ENTRE EL GRUPO MONTONEROS Y DAVID GRAIVER, INFORMANCIONES PUBLICADAS POR LA RAZON DE LA VISPERA, LA NACION DEL DOMINGO ULTIMO Y LA REVISTA SOMOS, EN EL NUMERO

ANTES CITADO, SENALAN QUE LA MISMA SE ORIGINO EN LOS MULTIPLES CONTACTOS ENTRE JOSE BER GELBARD, DAVID GRAIVER, OSVALDO PAPALEO, EX SECRETARIO DE PRENSA Y DIFUSION DURANTE EL GOBIERNO DE MARIA ESTELA MARTINEZ DE PERON, Y CARLOS MAGUID, MIEMBRO DE LA BANDA SUBVERSIVA MONTONEROS Y CONDENADO POR HABER PARTICIPADO EN EL ASESINATO DEL TENIENTE GENERAL PEDRO EUGENIO ARAMBURU EN 1970.

SI BIEN NINGUNA DE LAS VERSIONES CONSIGNA FECHA APROXIMADA DE LAS NEGOCIACIONES MENCIONADAS Y EL MOMENTO EN QUE ESTAS OPERACIONES SE CONCRETARON, SE AFIRMA QUE TRAS EL SECUESTRO DE LOS HERMANOS BORN, LA ORGANIZACION MONTONEROS COMENZO A DISTRIBUIR LOS INGENTES FONDOS DERIVADOS DE DICH 'OPERACION', ELIGIENDO PARA ESTE FIN EL CANAL ABIERTO CON GRAIVER.

SEGUN LOS DOS DIARIOS Y LA REVISTA MENCIONADOS, EN FECHA INCIERTA LOS MONTONEROS ENTREGARON A GRAIVER VARIOS MILLONES DE DOLARES CON LOS CUALES ADQUIRIO LOS DOS BANCO DE LOS ESTADOS UNIDOS Y BRUSELAS A QUE SE HACE REFERENCIA.

"LA PRIMAERA CANTIDAD QUE LOS GRAIVER RECIBEN DE LOS MONTONEROS -- DICE SOMOS -- SON CUATRO MILLONES" PERO EL TOTAL ASCENDIA A DOCE MILLONES DE LA MISMA MONEDA YA QUE 'LA SEGUNDA SUMA QUE RECIBEN DE LOS MONTONEROS SON OCHO MILLONES.'

POR ESTAS SUMAS ADELANTADAS, CONTINUA LA REVISTA, GRAIVER

AGREGA EL RELATO QUE DESPUES DE LA MUERTE DE GRAIVER 'LIDIA PAPALEO RECIBIO LA VISITA DE UN MIEMBRO DE LA ORGANIZACION TERRORISTS PARA TRATAR LA MENERA EN QUE LES IBAN A DEVOLVER LOS DOCE MILLONES DE DOLARES, A LOS QUE YA HABIA QUE SUMARLE UNA CANTIDAD TAL DE INERESES, DE MANERA QUE LA DEUDA LLEGABA A LOS DIECISIETE MILLONES. PARA DISCUTIR LAS CONDICIONES Y LAS POSIBILIDADES DE TERMINAR CON EL PROBLEMA, DECIDIERON REUNIRSE UNA SEMANA DESPUES EN EL DEPARTAMENTO DE LA ANGAROLA, LA QUE SE ASEGURA QUE NUNCA SUPO PARA QUE ISIDORO GRAIVER Y LIDIA PAPELLO LE PIDIERON PRESTADO SU DEPARTAMENTO. PERO LA DEUDA DEL GRUPO GRAIVER NUNCA PUDO PAGARSE.

ORIGEN DE LA INVESTIGACION. EN SU EDICION DEL SABADO ULTIMO, EL DIARIO CLARIN FIJA EL ORIGEN DE LA INVESTIGACION EN UN 'ERROR' COMETIDO POR 'UN INTEGRANTE DEL GRUPO GRAIVER'.

"HACE UN TIEMPO -- ANADE -- LA POLICIA DE LA PROVINCIA DE BUENOS AIRES RECIBIO UNA DENUNCIA SOBRE EVASION DE DIVISAS, SI-NILAR A OTRAS QUE SE EFECTUABAN PERIODICAMENTE. INMEDIATAMENTE LOS MIEMBROS DEL SERVICIO DE SEGURIDAD ADVIR-TIERON EL ERROR Y FINGIENDOSE INTEGRANTES DE MONTONEROS SOLI-CITARON PRUEBAS DE LA FINANCIERA CON LA ORGANIZACION SUBVER-SIVE. ESTAS LES FUERON SUMINISTRADAS E INMEDIATAMENTE FUE DETENIDO Y TRAS AMPLIAR SUS DECLARACIONES FIRMO UN ACTA.

Argentine Human Rights Situation: Talking Points

- The United States recognizes that Argentina has been the victim of a brutal terrorist onslaught which sought to destroy society.

- The first major victory of the terrorists probably came when the legal system found itself unable to cope with the situation due to the intimidation of judges.

- The terrorists scored another victory when Argentina's political institutions failed to produce leadership and the military took over to avert economic and political chaos.

- After a year in power, the Argentine government has made astonishing progress, breaking the back of terrorism and salvaging the economy.

- We are fearful, however, that the terrorists are on the verge of two further victories:

  (1) They appear to be succeeding in polarizing the Argentine military between so-called duros and moderates. If this is so and a hard-line approach wins out, Argentine society could be split as the terrorists want.

  (2) Inasmuch as they are able to provoke counter-terrorist excesses, they will succeed in driving a wedge between the United States, the West and Argentina.

- The question arises, why does the United States care so much about Argentina? Why don't we concentrate our human rights efforts on countries such as Uganda, Cambodia and Cuba? There are a number of reasons, among them:

(1) Western values are at stake in Argentina.

(2) In a sense, Argentina is on the front line of the Western world, having to deal with terrorism and find ways to confront it for the rest of the world.

(3) Argentina's handling of the situation will have a lasting effect on this hemisphere.

- You wanted my thoughts on what Argentina might do. It is perhaps presumptuous for a non-Argentine to try to offer advice but as one friend speaking to another, I'll mention a few thoughts.

- I think it is fair to say that my government believes it essential for Argentina to start to wage the peace or risk losing the war. How?

- It seems to me that the government must recognize its unquestioned strength and gamble dramatically on the side of peace, seeking the help of the citizenry.

- The impression that the enemies of the government seek to convey that the Argentine government is not in full control of the situation must be corrected. There should not be unexplained disappearances attributed to mysterious right-wing forces.

- Arrests should not be made in the middle of the night by soldiers dressed in civilian clothes.

- Families should be notified of arrests.

- The government should acknowledge the names of all those that are being held and announce the charges against them.

- Detention procedures should be regularized with provisions made for legal defense and steps taken to assure the protection of judges and lawyers.

- Abuses such as torture and the summary execution of prisoners should be punished.

- Military camps should not be prisons.

- The constitutional "right of option" which allows Argentine citizens to leave the country rather than being held without charges by the executive power should be reinstated. This would be an important step.

- In short, the legal protections afforded by the Argentine Constitution should be guaranteed by the Argentine Armed Forces.

- We both know that military men are men of honor and of high ideals. I want my countrymen to respect the Argentine Armed Forces and learn that you are restoring Western laws and ideals that so many have given up for lost in Argentina.

DEPARTMENT FOR ARGENTINE DESK OFFICER RONDON

E.O. 11652: NA
TAGS: SHUM, PINS, AR
SUBJECT: VIDELA DISCUSSES GRAIVER AFFAIR

REF: BUENOS AIRES 2875

1. PRESIDENT VIDELA LED OFF THE ARMY'S FOUR-HOUR PRESS CONFERENCE APRIL 19 WITH AN INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT CONCERNING THE WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION AND TERRORISM IN ARGENTINA, A SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF WHICH WAS DEVOTED TO AN OVERVIEW OF THE GRAIVER CASE. VIDELA SHOWED UNACCUSTOMED EMOTION AND FORCEFULNESS IN DISCUSSING THE EXTENT OF SUBVERSION IN ARGENTINA AND SEEMED PARTICULARLY INDIGNANT WHEN HE GOT AROUND TO HIS EXPOSITION OF HOW THE GRAIVER AFFAIR FIT INTO THE SUBVERSIVE THREAT. VIDELA THEN EXCUSED HIMSELF FROM THE MEETING, SAYING HE HAD TO PREPARE FOR HIS DEPARTURE TODAY FOR PARAGUAY, AND TURNED THE BRIEFING OVER TO GENERALS VIOLA, MARTINEZ AND JAUREGUI WHO DREW A DETAILED PICTURE OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE VARIOUS SUBVERSIVE GROUPS, THE SUCCESSFUL TUCUMAN OPERATION AGAINST THE ERP AND AN EVALUATION OF THE CURRENT STRENGTH AND TACTICS OF SUBVERSION.

2. IN LEADING INTO THE GRAIVER CASE, VIDELA STATED THAT HE DID

NOT WISH TO EVADE HIS RESPONSIBILITY TO INFORM PUBLIC OPINION OF THE CONNECTION BETWEEN THE GRAIVER AFFAIR AND SUBVERSION, BUT HE DID SO HOPING THAT THE REPORTERS WOULD NOT LOSE SIGHT OF THE FOREST (THE GLOBAL SUBVERSIVE PROBLEM) FOR THE TREES. THE "SO-CALLED GRAIVER CASE IS IMPORTANT, TRANSCENDENTAL AND SPECTACULAR," HE SAID, "BUT IT IS ONE PART OF THE WHOLE WHICH WE WILL DISCUSS IN DETAIL, WHICH IS SUBVERSION, BECAUSE THE GRAIVER CASE IS A CASE OF SUBVERSION." THE PRESIDENT'S TEXTUAL REMARKS CONCERNING GRAIVER FOLLOW:

2WHAT IS THE GRAIVER CASE? AS A RESULT OF AN INVESTIGATION CARRIED OUT BY THE POLICE OF THE PROVINCE OF BUENOS AIRES WITH REFERENCE TO ILLEGAL HANDLING OF FOREIGN CURRENCY AND DUE TO STATEMENTS ISSUED BY A CERTAIN GROUP OF PERSONS, DOCUMENTATION SEIZED AND SWORN STATEMENTS, THE INVESTIGATION REACHES A GROUP OF PEOPLE CALLED THE "GRAIVER GROUP" AND AS OF THAT MOMENT THE PROBLEM PRESENTS TWO DIFFERENT CHARACTERISTICS: ONE WHICH IS PURELY ECONOMIC AND REFERS EXCLUSIVELY TO THE ILLEGAL HANDLING OF FOREIGN CURRENCY AND OTHER CONNECTIONS WITHIN THE COUNTRY AND ABROAD. THE SECOND ASPECT, BY FAR THE MOST IMPORTANT, IS THAT THE SO-CALLED "GRAIVER GROUP,' WORKING IN FAVOR OF SUBVER-SION, HAD RECEIVED MILLIONS OF DOLLARS AS DEPOSIT TO BE USED AS INVESTMENTS, IN THE COUNTRY AND ABROAD, FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SUBVERSIVE MOVEMENT AND WITH THE KNOWLEDGE OF THOSE INVOLVED IN THE CASE.

"IN VIEW OF THE GRAVITY OF THE CASE, THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE ARMY CORPS I, IN WHOSE JURISDICTION THE CASE HAD TAKEN PLACE, ASKED THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE ARMY FOR THE DESIGNA-TION OF A HIGHER RANKING OFFICER IN THE CAPACITY OF MILITARY INVESTIGATING JUDGE "PREVENTOR" SO THAT IN FULFILLMENT OF LAW 21,460, A JUDICIAL INVESTIGATION COULD BE CARRIED OUT AND, IF APPROPRIATE, TRANSMITTED TO A COURT-MARTIAL.

"IN COMPLIANCE WITH THAT REQUEST, A GENERAL WAS APPOINTED AS

"PREVENTOR" AND, AS SUCH, IT IS HIS RESPONSIBILITY TO TAKE THE INITIAL STEPS, KEEP THE EVIDENCE, DETERMINE "'PRIMA FACIE' THOSE RESPONSIBLE, AND PUT TOGETHER THE FUNDAMENTAL EVIDENCE SO THAT THE TRIBUNAL ATTACHED TO THE CASE MAY PROCEED UPON THE TERMINA-TION OF THE FIRST STAGE BY THE "PREVENTOR". IT IS WORTH NOTING THAT DUE TO THE MAGNITUDE OF THE TWO ASPECTS OF THIS CASE, IT WILL BE NECESSARY AT A GIVEN MOMENT AND ON THE BASIS OF THE INITIAL RECORDED EVIDENCE, TO DEFINE THE AREAS OF COMPETENCE WHICH MAY ARISE IN CONFORMITY WITH THE TWO DIMENSIONS OF THE CASE: THE CASE OF COMMON ORDINARY CRIME IN THE ECONOMIC FIELD, AND THAT OF SUBVERSIVE CRIME.

"THE INITIAL STEPS HAVE ALREADY BEGUN AND HAVE BORNE FRUIT. UPON THE "PREVENTOR'S" ADVICE, THE MILITARY JUNTA ACTING BY MEANS OF THE INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ACT (THROUGH WHICH THE BEHAVIOR OF PEOPLE WHO HAVE ATTEMPTED TO TAKE LIVES OF OTHERS IS TO BE JUDGED), HAS DECIDED IN A RESOLUTION SIGNED TODAY TO INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING PEOPLE: JUAN GRAIVER; ISIDORO MIGUEL GRAIVER; LIDIA ELBA PAPALEO; RAFAEL IANOVEN; ORLANDO BENJAMIN REYNOSO; FRANCISCO FERNANDEZ BERNARDEZ, AND ALSO HEIRS TOTHE 'ESTATE OF DAVID GRAIVER AND JORGE RUBENSTEIN, WITHOUT PREJUDICE TO THE FACT THAT IN THE PROSECUTION OF THESE PROCEEDINGS OTHER PERSONS MAY BE INCLUDED IN THE INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ACT.

"GENTLEMEN, PLEASE REST ASSURED, AND I BEG OF YOU THAT YOU TRANSMIT TO PUBLIC OPINION, THAT IT IS THE IRREVOCABLE DECISION OF THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES AND THE POLITICAL (AUTHORITIES?) AS WELL, TO CARRY THROUGH ON THIS CASE TO ITS ULTIMATE CONSEQUENCES."

3. VIDELA'S REMARKS AND THE TEXT OF THE JUNTA RESOLUTION (SEPTEL) PLACING DAVID GRAIVER, HIS IMMEDIATE FAMILY AND CLOSE BUSINESS ASSOCIATES UNDER THE TERMS OF THE ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY APPEAR TO CONFIRM THE DEATH OF GRAIVER'S ADMINISTRATOR JORGE RUBENSTEIN. VIDELA DID NOT MENTION LA OPINION'S JACOBO

TIMERMAN AND ENRIQUE JARA IN HIS DISSERTATION AND, AS FAR AS WE CAN DETERMINE FROM A SURVEY OF THIS MORNING'S PRESS, THERE WAS NO EXPLICIT DISCUSSION OF THE REASONS FOR THEIR DETENTION DURING THE PRESS BRIEFING. (SEE SEPTEL HOWEVER FOR TEXT OF ARMY COMMUNIQUE CITING LAW UNDER WHICH TIMERMAN IS BEING HELD.)

4. ON A SEPARATE ISSUE OF INTEREST TO THE DEPT, DURING THE QUESTION AND ANSWER PERIOD THE BRIEFERS READ A PREPARED RESPONSE TO A QUESTION WRITTEN IN BEFOREHAND BY THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE CONCERNING WHETHER THERE HAD BEEN ANY INPUT FROM THE US MILGP

OR US COUNTERINSURGENCY EXPERIENCE GAINED FROM VIETNAM IN ARGENTINA'S WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION. THE SECOND PART OF THE QUESTION WAS WHETHER, IN LIGHT OF THE REDUCTION OF US MILITARY AID TO ARGENTINA ON ACCOUNT OF SUPPOSED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN ARGENTINA, THERE WAS ANY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE WAY THE ARGENTINES WERE FIGHTING THEIR WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION AND THE TECHNIQUES IMPARTED TO THE ARGENTINE ARMY BY "US INSTRUCTORS" OR OTHER US OFFICERS WHO OTHERWISE HAVE HAD CONTACT WITH THE ARGENTINE MILITARY. THE PREPARED REPLY WAS AS FOLLOWS: THERE NEVER WAS A NUMEROUS US MILITARY MISSION IN ARGENTINA; THE WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION IN ARGENTINA IS BASED ON ARGENTINE DOCTRINE, THE SPECIFIC ARGENTINE SITUATION AND THE EXPERIENCE IN OTHER COUNTRIES; IN ORDER TO DEFEAT SUBVERSION IN ARGENTINA, THE ARMED FORCES DEVELOPED THEIR OWN DOCTRINE; FOR THIS WAR THE ARGENTINES HAVE HAD NO NEED OF INSTRUCTORS OR MENTORS, WHO COULDN'T HAVE HELPED ANYWAY SINCE THE SUBVERSION IN ARGENTINA DIFFERS SIGNIFICANTLY FROM THAT ELSEWHERE; SPECIFICALLY THE SITUATION IN VIETNAM BEARS NO SIMILARITY TO THE SUBVERSION IN ARGENTINA SINCE MARXIST SUBVERSION ADAPTS ITS TACTICS TO THE PARTICULAR TERRAIN IN WHICH IT OPERATES; AND CONSEQUENTLY "WE HAVE NOT COMPARED METHODS, NOR ACCEPTED SUGGESTIONS, NOR EVEN ANALYZED RESULTS (JOINTLY)."

5. FURTHER DETAILS OF THE PRESS CONFERENCE WILL FOLLOW.

1. THE SUPREME COURT ANNOUNCED (APR 19) THAT IT WILL ASK THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH TO INTENSIFY ITS INVESTIGATION INTO THE DISAPPEARANCE OF 425 PERSONS NAMED IN A GROUP PETITION PRESENTED TO THE COURT LAST WEEK. THE PETITION ASKED THAT THE COURT INVESTIGATE THE FAILURE OF HABEAS CORPUS WRITS TO PROVIDE INFORMATION ON THE STATUS AND WHEREABOUTS OF PERSONS WHO DISAPPEARED AFTER BEING DETAINED BY PERSONS CLAIMING TO BE SECURITY FORCES. ALTHOUGH THE COURT REITERATED ITS POSITION THAT IT DOES NOT HAVE JURISDICTION IN INDIVIDUAL HABEAS CORPUS REQUESTS (SUCH AS IN THE LEVITAN PETITION CASE), IT SAID IT WOULD URGE THE EXECUTIVE TO PRESS THE INVESTIGATIONS IN ORDER FOR JUDGES TO BE "IN CONDITION TO CARRY OUT THEIR CONSTITUTIONAL DUTY, RESOLVING, WITH THE NECESSARY EFFECTIVENESS THAT THE LAW DEMANDS, THE CASES WHICH COME UP BEFORE THEIR COURTS TO SAFEGUARD INDIVIDUAL LIBERTY AND EVENTUAL RESPONSIBILITIES IN CASE OF CRIME." THE COURT DECLARED IT HAD THE DUTY AND AUTHORITY TO HEAR APPEALS MADE TO IT AND TO GUARANTEE THE EFFICIENCY OF THE JUDICIAL FUNCTION, PARTICULARLY IN RELATION TO CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS AND GUARANTEES, AND RESERVED FOR ITSELF

2. COMMENT: THE COURT'S RESPONSE, WHICH SKIRTED THE PETITIONERS' REQUEST THAT THE COURT CONDUCT ITS OWN INVESTIGATION INTO THE DISAPPEARANCE CASES AND THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH'S UNSATISFACTORY REPLIES TO HABEAS CORPUS WRITS, WAS NOT UNEXPECTED BY THE AUTHORS OF THE PETITION. TWO OF THE EIGHT LAWYER SIGNATORIES HAD PRE-DICTEDFTO EMBOFFS THAT COURT WOULD TAKE THE INTERMEDIATE STEP OF URGING THE EXECUTIVE TO RESOLVE THE DISAPPEARANCE CASES OF THE 425 PERSONS NAMED RATHER THAN DIRECTLY CONFRONT THE EXECUTIVE ON THE ISSUE OF DISAPPEARANCES AND FAULTY HABEAS CORPUS REPLIES. SOURCE TOLD EMBOFF THAT COURT JUDGES ARE UNDER CONSIDERABLE PRESSURE FROM ACQUAINTANCES AND COLLEAGUES TO TAKE ACTION ON BEHALF OF DISAP-PEARED PERSONS. ANNOUNCING THAT IT RESERVES THE RIGHT TO RE-EXAMINE THE QUESTION SIGNALS THAT THE COURT INTENDS TO ASSESS THE EXECUTIVE'S RESPONSE TO ITS REQUEST FOR AN INTENSIFICATION OF THE INVESTIGATIONS BEFORE DETERMINING ITS FINAL POSITION VIS-A-VIS THE EXECUTIVE ON DISAPPEARANCE CASES AND WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS. The Graiver Scandal in Argentina

It is still very unclear to us where the Graiver scandal in Argentina is leading to, and whether it will be used to smear former President Lanusse and Jacobo Timerman of La Opinion. We are, therefore, refraining from any premature comment. The following factors are involved:

- In August 1976 David Graiver died in a mysterious airplane crash in Mexico. Shortly thereafter his banks in New York and Brussels went bankrupt.

- Beginning in April 1977 the Argentine military began arresting a number of prominent Argentine newsmen and politicians, as it turns out because of connections to Graiver.

- Former President Lanusse's press secretary was detained, in what many interpreted as an effort to smear the center-left Lanusse. Graiver had, of course, begun building his financial empire thanks to his connections with Lanusse's Ministry of Social Welfare.

- La Opinion's very respected publisher, Jacobo Timerman, was also detained along with other members of his staff. La Opinion quickly acknowledged that Graiver had a strong financial interest in La Opinion but no more.

- To complicate matters, the press reported that former Argentine Economy Minister Jose Ber Gelbard, who has received asylum in the United States, had introduced Graiver to the Montonero terrorists.

- The fact that Graiver, Timerman and Gelbard are Jewish has led some to talk of a Dreyfus case although the Argentine government has publicly denied that religion or freedom of the press play any part in their investigation.

At this point, we frankly do not know what to make of this case. Our Embassy reported on April 20 that the atmosphere is very charged in Buenos Aires and counseled against commentary. Our worse fears are that the government is using the Graiver case to destroy the reputations of both Lanusse and Timerman, the former with Presidential aspirations, the latter a champion of human rights. The fact that Videla has named a special prosecutor suggests that he is fully aware that the world will be watching Argentina very carefully on this case.

The Argentine government is aware of our intense interest in this case because of conversations we have had with their Embassy in Washington. We will continue to voice an interest informally to the Argentines but do not recommend a public statement which might be viewed as an intrusion into an ongoing investigation.

We will also instruct our Ambassador to stay in touch with Timerman's son, who is running the newspaper without apparent problems.

REF: BUENOS AIRES 2875

1. PRESIDENT VIDELA ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY (APRIL 19) THAT AN UNSPECIFIED NUMBER OF PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE GRAIVER GROUP HAD BEEN INCLUDED IN THE ARMED FORCES ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY. HE SPECIFICALLY NAMED SIX PERSONS AND INCLUDED THE HEIRS AND STATUTORY BENEFICIARIES OF THE DAVID GRAIVER AND JORGE RUBINSTEIN ESTATES. THE ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY IS A FORM OF MARTIAL LAW PASSED JUNE 18, 1976, WHICH APPLIES TO PERSONS SUSPECTED OF PARTICIPATING IN TREASONABLE OR SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES OR OF GROSS ECONOMIC DELINQUENCY. IT HAS EFFECT OF REMOVING POLITICAL RIGHTS AND FREEZING ECONOMIC ASSETS OF ACCUSED. ROUGH ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF THE MILITARY JUNTA'S RESOLUTION FOLLOWS:
GIVEN THE ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ESTABLISHED 18

JUNE 1976 WHICH AUTHORIZES THE MILITARY JUNTA TO CONSIDER

Case Number: 200000044

THE CONDUCT OF PERSONS RESPONSIBLE FOR HARMING THE SUPERIOR INTERESTS OF THE NATION, THE MILITARY JUNTA RESOLVES: 1) TO APPLY THE SANCTIONS ESTABLISHED IN CLAUSES OF ARTICLE 2 OF SAID ACT TO THE FOLLOWING PERSONS: JUAN GRAIVER, ISIDORO MIGUEL GRAIVER, LIDDIA ELBA PAPALEO, RAFAEL IANOVER, FERNANDO BENJAMIN REINOSO, AND FRANCISCO FERNANDEZ BERNARDEZ. THE MEASURES ESTABLISHED IN CLAUSES OF ARTICLE 2 AND IN THE SECOND PART OF SAID ACT WILL ALSO APPLY TO THE HEIRS AND STATUATORY BENEFICIARIES OF DAVID GRAIVER AND JORGE RUBINSTEIN.
ARTICLE 2. THE EXECUTIVE POWER WILL SEE THAT THE MENTIONED MEASURES ARE CARRIED OUT.
ARTICLE 3. THE SANCTIONS ORDERED IN THE PRESENT RESOLUTION TAKE EFFECT AS OF THIS DATE.
ARTICLE 4. THE CLAUSES REFERRED TO IN ARTICLE 2 OF SAID ACT INCLUDE: (A) THE LOSS OF POLITICAL AND UNION RIGHTS; (B) THE LOSS OF RIGHT TO EXERCISE PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT, POSITIONS OR COMMISSIONS AND TO SERVE IN HONORIFIC POSITIONS; AND (C) DETENTION IN A PLACE DETERMINED BY THE NATIONAL EXECUTIVE POWER AT THE DISPOSITION OF THE EXECUTIVE, THE PROHIBITION OF ADMINISTERING OR DISPOSING OF ONE'S GOODS THROUGH ACTS OF LIVING PERSONS, UNTIL SUCH DATE AS THE LEGITIMACY OF ACQUISITION OF THOSE GOODS HAS BEEN JUSTIFIED AND THE PROHIBITION OF EXERCISING THE PROFESSION FOR FOR WHICH ONE HAS BEEN LEGALLY PREPARED DURING THAT PERIOD.

2. IN REPLY TO A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS PRESENTED ON BEHALF OF LA OPINION EDITOR JACOBO TIMERMAN, GENERAL SUAREZ MASON YESTERDAY (APRIL 19) INFORMED FEDERAL JUDGE MARQUARDT THAT TIMERMAN WAS BEING DETAINED AT THE DISPOSITION OF MILITARY AUTHORITIES IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF LAW 21,460. THIS LAW DATES FROM 19 NOVEMBER 1976 AND COVERS NATIONAL SECURITY AND CRIMES OF A SUBVERSIVE NATURE. THE LAW PROVIDES THAT THE INVESTIGATION OF SUBVERSIVE CRIMES WILL BEGIN WITH A PRETRIAL UNDERTAKEN BY THE FEDERAL OR PROVINCIAL POLICE, THE ARMED FORCES, NAVAL PREFECTURA OR NATIONAL GENDARMERIE.

3. COMMENT: VIDELA IN HIS ADDRESS STATED IN EFFECT THAT GRAIVER GROUP WAS FOUND TO HAVE CARRIED ON ILLEGAL ECONOMIC ACTIVITIES AND TO HAVE HAD LINKS TO SUBVERSION; HE DID NOT QUALIFY THIS BY SAYING THAT THEY WERE ACCUSED OF, OR SUSPECTED OF, THESE CRIMES. IN ADDITION, JUNTA HAS ALREADY DECIDED TO SANCTION GRAIVER FAMILY MEMBERS AND OTHERS WITH PENALTIES OF ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY--IN ADVANCE OF ANY FORMAL TRIAL, CIVIL OR MILITARY.

4. IN VIEW OF THE HIGHLY CHARGED ATMOSPHERE HERE AND THE MANY UNANSWERED QUESTIONS AT THIS POINT, OUR ADVICE REMAINS TO MAKE NO EVALUATIVE JUDGMENTS AT THE NOONDAY BRIEFING.

SUBJECT: GRAIVER SCANDAL

REFS: (A) BUENOS AIRES 2869, (B) BUENOS AIRES 2889, (C) BUENOS AIRES 2890

2. THE ROUTIME INVESTIGATION BEGAN LAST AUGUST INTO DAVID GRAIVER'S COLLAPSED FINANCIAL EMPIRE RECEIVED A NUMBER OF SIGNIFICANT BREAKS WHICH SHOWED GRAIVER HAD FINANCIAL DEALINGS WITH MONTONEROS. EARLY THIS YEAR SECURITY FORCES CAPTURED THE MONTONERO FINANCIAL CHIEF WHO REVEALED VAST SUMS DEPOSITED IN MONTONERO BANK ACCOUNTS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND ALSO THE GRAIVER CONNECTION. SEPARATELY, GRAIVER'S FATHER JUAN GRAIVER WAS ALLEGEDLY DETAINED BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES WHO

UNCLASSIFIED

HE MISTOOK FOR MONTONEROS. UNDER THAT MISCONCEPTION HE DISCUSSED THE MONTONERO ACCOUNTS IN GRAIVER'S BANKS AND THE DIFFICULTY OF THE FAMILY IN PRODUCING THE BALANCE OF THE ACCOUNTS. ALLEGEDLY THE MILITARY THEN PROCEEDED TO PICK UP GRAIVER'S WIFE LYDIA PAPALEO, HE BROTHER ISIDORO AND HIS FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATOR JORGE RUBENSTEIN, TO QUESTION THEM FURTHER ON THE GRAIVER-MONTONERO RELATIONSHIP. DURING THE FOLLOWING WEEKS, OTHER PERSONS IMPLICATED IN THE CASE WERE PICKED UP--OR RATHER ABDUCTED--BY THE SECURITY FORCES. JORGE RUBENSTEIN ALLEGEDLY DIED WHILE IN DETENTION, PRESUMABLY OF A HEART ATTACK. HE WAS MORE THAN 70 YEARS OLD. SOURCES SAY AT LEAST 50 PERSONS HAVE BEEN DETAINED FOR QUESTIONING IN THIS CASE.

3. THE INVESTIGATION SHOWED THAT A NUMBER OF IMPORTANT POLITICAL AND BUSINESS FIGURES WERE VARIOUSLY CONNECTED TO THE GRAIVER CASE. SOME WERE FOUND TO HAVE HAD ILLEGAL DOLLAR ACCOUNTS IN GRAIVER'S BANKS(VIA HIS OVERSEAS BANKS)--THESE INCLUDE IMPORTANT MEMBERS OF THE ARGENTINE JEWISH COMMUNITY, UNIONS AND UNION OFFICIALS, PERONISTS AND OTHERS. SOME 35 TO 40 COMPANIES WERE FOUND TO HAVE HAD SPECIAL ACCOUNTS THROUGH WHICH TO FUNNEL MONEY TO THE PERONIST SOLIDARITY CRUSADE, MUCH OF WHICH APPARENTLY FOUND ITS WAY INTO ISABEL PERON'S POCKETS. SEPARATELY, RECORDS CAPTURED IN ERP AND MONTONERO ARCHIVES SHOW THAT PERONIST GROUPS EXTORTED VAST SUMS OF PROTECTION MONEY FROM SOME 300 FIRMS. THE GOVT HAS KNOW THIS FOR SOME TIME (APPARENTLY SOME RECORDS WERE FOUND WHEN SANTUCHO WAS KILLED LAST JULY.) SOURCES SAY GOA IS NOT EXPECTED RPT NOT TO PROSECUTE THE PERSONS AND FIRMS NAMED UNLESS IT CAN FIND ACTIVE COLLABORATION INSTEAD OF EXTORTION AS MOTIVE FOR PAYMENTS.

4. THE GRAIVER INVESTIGATION WAS JUST ABOUT COMPLETE WHEN JOURNALIST EDGARDO SAJON DISAPPEARED APRIL 1. WHEN FORMER PRESIDENT LANUSSE INTERCEDED IN HIS FORMER PRESS SECRETARY SAJON'S BEHALF, THE BAHIA BLANCA DAILY NEWSPAPER LA NUEVA PROVINCIA ACCUSED LANUSSE OF NOT BEING AS CONCERNED ABOUT SAJON AS HE WAS ABOUT BLOCKING THE INVESTIGATION INTO THE GRAIVER [redacted]

[redacted]

AFFAIR. THERE FOLLOWED A STRIDENT POLEMIC BETWEEN LANUSSE AND THE PAPER'S DIRECTOR SRA. MASSOT, DURING WHICH THE NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED INCREASINGLY GREATER REVELATIONS ABOUT THE DEPTH AND SCOPE OF THE GRAIVER INVESTIGATION. A NUMBER OF SOURCES BELIEVE THAT PRESIDENT VIDELA HAD THE RESULTS OF THE GRAIVER

Case Number: 200000044

INVESTIGATION SINCE EARLY APRIL BUT WAS HOLDING IT QUIET DUE TO THE MAGNITUDE OF THE CHARGES AND THE STATUS AND NUMBER OF PERSONS INVOLVED. FROM HERE ON, SOURCES SAY, THE MATTER BECAME FAR MORE POLITICAL THAN ECONOMIC. VIDELA IS UNDER GREAT PRESSURE FROM ALL SIDES TO REVEAL THE RESULTS OF THE INVESTIGATION IN WHICH A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF IMPORTANT PERSONS ARE NAMED. HARDLINE ELEMENTS IN THE MILITARY, INCLUDING GEN. SUAREZ MASON (WHO REPORTEDLY IS CLOSELY CONNECTED TO LA NUEVA PROVINCIA DIRECTOR AND HAS FED THE PAPER INFORMATION ON THE INVESTIGATION), BUENOS AIRES PROVINCE GOVERNOR IBERICO SAINT JEAN (WHO HAS PUBLICLY CALLED ON VIDELA TO REVEAL THE SCANDAL) AND OTHERS SEE THE SCANDAL AS A WAY TO DISCREDIT VIDELA AND NIS MODERATE LINE. MID-LEVEL ELEMENTS IN THE THREE ARMED FORCES ARE SAID TO BE UNITED IN INSISTING THAT THE GRAIVER MATTER BE MADE PUBLIC AND THAT THE POWERFUL PERSONS WHO EITHER PROFITED FROM ECONOMIC SUBVERSION OR WHO CAN BE SHOWN TO HAVE ACTUALLY FINANCIALLY SUPPORTED THE TERRORIST GROUPS BE BROUGHT TO JUSTICE. OFFICERS AT THIS LEVEL ARE THE ONES TO FIGHT THE "DIRTY WAR" AND ARE ALLEGEDLY OUTRAGED AT THE INCREDIBLE RESOURCES THEY HAVE SEEN COMMANDED BY THE TERRORISTS. ONE SOURCE SEES VIDELA'S HANDLING OF THE GRAIVER AFFAIR AS THE MOST DANGEROUS AND IMPORTANT TEST OF HIS POLITICAL ABILITIES. IF VIDELA PROBES TOO FAR AND TOO MANY IMPORTANT PEOPLE ARE HURT, POWERFUL INTERESTS COULD ENGINEER HIS COLLAPSE; IF HE DOESN'T GO FAR ENOUGH HE COULD ALIENATE SECTORS OF THE ARMY AND OPEN THE WAY FOR THE HARDLINERS. THE KEY QUESTION, SOURCES SAY, IS WHERE THE LIMITS WILL BE DRAWN. ONE INFORMED FINANCIAL SOURCE SAYS HE BELIEVES THAT THE TARGETS WILL NOT RPT NOT BE FOREIGN COMPANIES, THOSE COMPANIES FORCED TO PAY PROTECTION MONEY OR THE JEWISH COMMUNITY AS SUCH. ARMY G-4, BRIG. GEN. GALLINO, HAS BEEN NAMED TO DIRECT THE MILITARY INVESTIGATION. HE IS REPORTEDLY CLOSE TO GEN. ROBERTO
[redacted]

VIOLA AND CAN BE EXPECTED TO FOLLOW PRESIDENT VIDELA'S INSTRUCTIONS IN HANDLING THE MATTER.

Case Number: 200000044

FERREIROS WERE BOTH APPARENTLY INVOLVED IN HELPING WRITE LANUSSE'S MEMOIRES WHICH WERE TO HAVE BEEN HIS POLITICAL COMING-OUT STATEMENT. (ACCORDING TO ANOTHER SOURCE, FERREIROS HAD DIRECT LINKS TO TERRORS). IT IS RUMORED (AND SUBSEQUENTLY DENIED BY LA OPINION) THAT DAVID GRAIVER OWNED CONTROLLING STOCK IN THE COMPANY WHICH PUBLISHES LA OPINION. THE STORY IS THAT GRAIVER CEDED HIS CONTROLLING INTEREST TO LANUSSE WHO WAS COLLABORATING WITH TIMERMAN TO USE THE PAPER AS A VEHICLE FOR LANUSSE'S POLITICAL ASPIRATIONS. TYING TIMERMAN AND OTHERS TO THE GRAIVER SCANDAL IS SEEN CHEIFLY AS A WAY FOR LANUSSE'S ENEMIES TO STRIKE AT THE EX-PRESIDENT. ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT IS THAT GEN. ACDEL VILAS, THE HARD-HANDED OFFICIAL WHO WAS IN CHARGE OF REPRESSING SUBVERSION IN BAHIA BLANCA UNTIL RELIEVED OF HIS COMMAND SEVERAL MONTHS AGO, HAS ASKED THAT LANUSSE BE TRIED IN A MILITARY COURT OF HONOR FOR HIS STATEMENTS ON THE SAJON DISAPPEARANCE WHICH ACCORDING TO VILAS OFFEND THE GOVT AND THE ACTIONS OF THE ARMED FORCES. VILAS' STATEMENTS WERE CARRIED IN THE LOCAL PRESS BUT NO OFFICIAL REACTION HAS YET BEEN MADE PUBLIC.

6. COMMENT: PRESIDENT VIDELA'S BRIEF BUT EMOTIONAL ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE GRAIVER CASE WOULD BE PROSECUTED TO ITS "ULTIMATE CONSEQUENCES" FALL SHORT OF WHAT MANY OBSERVERS EXPECTED WOULD BE AT LEAST PARTIAL REVELATION OF SOME OF THE DETAILS OF THE CASE. DESPITE PRESSURE FROM GOV. ST. JEAN AND LA NUEVA PROVINCIA EDITORIALS THAT THE EXECUTIVE HAD AND WOULS SHORTLY BE PROVID-

ING "EXPLOSIVE" INFORMATION ON THE CASE, VIDELA MANAGED TO AT LEAST TEMPORARILY DEFUSE THE ISSUE BY HIS SANCTIONING THE SIX GRAIVER ASSOCIATES UNDER THE INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ACT AND ORDERING THAT A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION GET UNDERWAY.

1. High official of Office of Presidency told Emboffs April 21 that United States businesses in Argentina were among those who had payed protection money to leftist extremist groups including Montoneros and ERP, at least before military coup of March 1976. He declined to name specific companies. According to this source, assassinations of executives of both Argentine and foreign companies since coup are due in part to refusal of companies to continue to pay protection money after change of government.

2. Official indicated that GOA has not decided upon policy to be adopted toward such companies.

APR. 11: AT 2246 HRS, POLICE REPORTED THAT PERSONS ON A PASSING TRAIN OPENED FIRE ON THE FEDERAL POLICE PARKING LOT AT DORREGO AND LIBERTADOR.

AT 2330 HRS. AIR FORCE SECURITY FORCES AT SARMIENTO AVENUE, NEAR THE PLANETARIUM, WERE ENGAGED IN A CONFRONTATION WITH 4-5 MEN IN A BLACK FORD FAIRLANE WHO DID NOT STOP AT ACHECKPOINT. NO FURTHER INFORMATION AVAILABLE.

[redacted]

[redacted]

Case Number: 200000044

AT 2343 HRS THERE WAS AN EXPLOSION AT ARCOS AND MANZANARES.

LA RAZON REPORTED THAT MR. JOSE LUIS ARCE, EXECUTIVE OF THE SURREY AIR CONDITIONING ENTERPRISES WAS KILLED BY A GROUP OF PERSONS WHO INTERCEPTED HIS CAR AT REMEDIOS DE SAN MARTIN AVE. IN VALENTIN ALSINA.

APR. 12: AT APPROXIMATELY 2320 HRS, THERE WAS A BRIEF SHOOTOUT BETWEEN POLICE PATROL CARS AND ANOTHER VEHICLE A FEW BLOCKS FROM THE SAN ISIDRO RR STATION. ON SAME DATE, LA RAZON REPORTED THERE HAD BEEN A TEMPORARY STOPPAGE OF THE BELGRANO RR LINE AS A RESULT OF A BRIDGE BEING SET AFIRE.

APR. 13: AT 2200 HRS A BOMB WAS DETONATED AT QUINTANA 1334 IN ACASSUSO. THERE WAS ONLY MATERIAL DAMAGE. AT 2000 HOURS, AT LUGONES AVE. AND GENERAL PAZ, SEVERAL UNIDENTIFIED MEN OPENED FIRE AT THE ESCUELA MECANICA DE LA ARMADA (NAVY SCHOOL). NAVAL SECURITY FORCES ARRESTED TWO PERSONS IN CONNECTION WITH THIS INCIDENT.

APR. 14 AT 0100 HRS. A RR CAR AT THE LA LUCILA STATION WAS SET AFIRE.

LA RAZON REPORTED THAT A BOMB EXPLODED AT A CAR DEALER'S AGENCY LOCATED AT HIPOLITO AND IRIGOYEN 275 IN BUENOS AIRES PROVINCE.

APR. 14: AT 1005 HRS POLICE REPORTED THAT TWO ARMED MEN IN A FIAT KIDNAPPED A WOMAN FROM THE CORNER OF HUMEHUACA AND YATAY.

AT 1145 HRS FEDERAL POLICE WARNED ALL PATROLS THAT TERRORIST ORGANIZATIONS MIGHT GO TO SCHOOLS AND FACTORIES TO GIVE OUT PAMPHLETS AND CONDUCT LECTURES.

AT 1155 HRS AT AREVALO 1405, FIVE ARMED MEN ENTERED A SCHOOL [redacted]

GIVING A POLITICAL LECTURE TO PERSONNEL AND STUDENTS, RAISED A MONTONERO FLAG AND LEFT AFTER DISTRIBUTING TOYS.

APR. 15: AT 0800 HRS, THREE ARMED MEN ATTEMPTED TO KIDNAP A STUDENT FROM INSIDE A SCHOOL BUILDING AT SIMBRON 2960. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION IS BEING SOUGHT ON THIS INCIDENT.

Case Number: 200000044

3. RECENT DISCUSSIONS WITH FEDERAL POLICE AND MILITARY PERSONNEL IN CORDOBA, TUCUMAN AND ROSARIO AS WELL AS DISCUSSIONS WITH SECURITY SERVICES IN BUENOS AIRES REFLECT THAT THE TERRORIST ORGANIZATIONS HAVE SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES IN MANPOWER, LOGISTICS AND LEADERSHIP. NEVERTHELESS, THEY STILL HAVE THE CAPACITY TO CONDUCT BOMBINGS, ASSASSINATIONS AND SOME LEVEL OF POLITICAL AGITATION.

Another Argentine Newspaper Director Arrested

Our Embassy in Buenos Aires informed the Department this afternoon that Robert Cox, Director of the English language daily Buenos Aires Herald, was arrested today. We do not know why the arrest took place, but the result is that two of the most respected liberal voices in Argentine journalism, Cox and Timerman of La Opinion, are now under arrest.

I am trying to reach Argentine Ambassador Aja Espil to make the following three points:

-- The Department is very concerned that two respected newspaper directors in Argentina are now under arrest.

-- These arrests could have a very adverse effect on U.S. public opinion.

-- I regret that we cannot sit down together to discuss recent Argentine developments, but I will be absent next week. I have asked Bill Luers to do so in my place.

We will inform the press, on an if asked basis, that we are in touch with the Argentine government concerning the recent arrests of Timerman and Cox.

E. O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: SHUM, PINT, CI
SUBJECT: CHILEAN SECURITY AGENCIES: IMPROVED PRACTICES, BUT STILL NASTY

1. SUMMARY: RECENT EVENTS INDICATE SECURITY AGENCIES ARE NOW GENERALLY FOLLOWING THE LAW IN SECURITY CASES. THIS PROCEDURAL CLEAN-UP PARALLELS MORE BASIC IMPROVEMENTS IN HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES (SANTIAGO 2539): NO REPORTS OF DISAPPEARANCES IN 1977 AND ONLY ONE ALLEGATION OF TORTURE, AND THE RELEASE OF HUNDREDS OF POLITICAL/SECURITY PRISONERS OVER THE LAST YEAR. THE COURTS CONTINUE TO PRESS ON PAST CASES OF DISAPPEARANCES AND OTHER ABUSES. MEANWHILE, REPORTS ARE ACCUMULATING OF HARASSMENT INAD INTIMIDATION BY SECURITY AGENTS SOMETIMES POSING AS RED CROSS OR CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES. END SUMMARY

2. EXAMPLES OF PROCEDURAL IMPROVEMENT:
-- COMMUNIST YOUTHS: ON GOOD FRIDAY DINA PICKED UP THREE MEN AND A WOMAN FOR DISSEMINATING COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA. THE ARRESTING OFFICERS FOLLOWED LEGAL PROCEDURES. WITNESSES WHO SAW THE QUARTET BEING ARRAINGED BEFORE A MILITARY JUDGE THREE DAYS LATER REPORT THAT THEY SHOWED NO SIGNS OF TORTURE. SIGNIFICANTLY DINA DID NOT AVAIL ITSELF OF THE TEN-DAY INCOMMUNICADO PERIOD [redacted]

PERMITTED UNDER NEW CONSTITUTIONAL ACT FOURN NOR EVEN THE FIVE-DAY PERIOD IN EFFECT DURING NON-EMERGENCY PERIODS. SHOULD THE CASE GO TO TRIAL IN A MILITARY COURT, THE MORE LENIENT PEACETIME RULES WOULD APPLY. THE CASE HAS RECEIVED NO PRESS PLAY.
-- RED SEPTEMBER AGAIN: IN CONTRAST TO THE FOREGOING, DINA ANNOUNCED WITH FANFARE ON APRIL 15 THE DETENTION OF TWO MEN AND A WOMAN. ACCORDING TO DINA THEY WERE ALLEGEDLY MEMBERS OF A

"RED SEPTEMBER" CELL, A PHOENIX-LIKE LEFT TERRORIST ORGANIZATION. TWO OTHERS WERE SUBSEQUENTLY PICKED UP, ONE AS HE ARRIVED AT THE AIRPORT FROM ARGENTINA. DINA SAID THE GROUP HAD STAGED THREE ROBBERIES AND WHEN DETAINED HAD FOUR NEW UZI SUBMACHINEGUNS AND A LIST OF AS MANY AS 17 PROSPECTIVE ASSASSINATION VICTIMS. A FEW DAYS LATER LOCAL PAPERS CARRIED AP AND UPI DISPATCHES REPORTING THAT RED SEPTEMBER HAD CLAIMED CREDIT FOR A BOMB SCARE AT LIMA'S AIRPORT WHEN JUNTA MEMBER MERINO ARRIVED. (COMMENT: JUST ABOUT EVERYONE TAKES RED SEPTEMBER WITH A LARGE GRAIN OF SALT. SECURITY FORCES REPORTEDLY HAD RUN INS WITH IT IN AUGUST AND OCTOBER 1976, AND EACH TIME THE OFFICIAL ACCOUNT CONTAINS QUESTIONABLE ELEMENTS. FOR EXAMPLE, ONE OF THE CURRENT ALLEGED TERRORISTS WAS A PLUG UGLY IN FANATIC RIGHT WING "PATRIA Y LIBERTAD", AND THE SUPPOSED HIT LIST INCLUDES THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT; IDEOLOGUE JAIME GUZMAN; ONE OF "EL MERCUIRO'S" EDITORS; AND THE HEAD OF THE LOCAL INTERNATIONAL PRESS ASSOCIATION. PRESUMABLY SECURITY FORCES USE "RED SEPTEMBER" AS A GENERIC TERM TO COVER ONE OR MORE SMALL SPLINTER BANDS OF POLITICAL TOUGHS WHO HAVE MOVED INTO CRIMINALITY. END COMMENT)

-- THE MAN AT CUARTO ALAMOS: THE HUMAN RIGHTS GRAPEVINE HAS REPORTED THAT CUATRO ALAMOS, DINA'S INFAMOUS LEGAL DETENTION CENTER, WAS AGAIN IN USE. A VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY SOURCE TELLS US, HOWEVER, THAT JUAN SEPULVEDA, ITS ONLY KNOWN OCCUPANT, ENDED UP THERE BY DEFAULT. AN ALLENDE-ERA BUREAUCRAT, HE HAD LEFT FAR SOUTHERN PUNTA ARENAS AND MOVED TO VALDIVIA JUST BEFORE THE COUP. HE NAME CAME UP DURING THE PURGE IN SEPTEMBER 1973 AND HE WAS ORDERED TO RETURN TO PUNTA ARENAS -- A WARRANT LOST IN THE CONFUSION. RECENTLY HE APPLIED FOR A PASSPORT AND WAS DETAINED ON THE BASIS OF INTERPOL'S RECORDS CHECK. THE LOCAL MILITARY JUDGE [redacted]

LEARNED THAT PUNTA ARENAS NO LONGER WANTED HIM AND REMANDED HIM TO THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR, WHICH STUCK HIM IN CUATRO ALAMOS UNTIL THEY FIGURE OUT WHAT TO DO NEXT. HE WILL PROBABLY BE FREED SOON.

3. INTIMIDATION CONTINUES: THE INTELLIGENCE SERVICES CONTINUE TO HARASS AND INTIMIDATE DEMOCRATIC CRITICS OR OPPONENTS THROUGH VARIOUS FORMS OF MORE OR LESS SUBTLE PRESSURE. AGENTS, SOME OF WHOM CLAIMED TO BE FREM THE INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS, ICEM OR THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY, HAVE CALLED ON AND QUESTIONED -- OFTEN VERY POLITELY -- MANY OF THE 1800 PEOPLE WHO SIGNED A PETITION ON BEHALF OF 501 MISSING PERSONS. THE PATTERN BECAME SO COMMON THAT THE ICRC AND THE VICARIATE ISSUED PUBLIC STATEMENTS DENYING THAT THEIR PERSONNEL WERE MAKING SUCH CALLS.

4. TWO SPECIFIC CASES OF INTIMIDATION CAME TO THE EMBASSY'S ATTENTION DURING THE PAST WEEK. ON APRIL 14 COMMUNIST LABOR LEADER JUAN EDUARDO BERRIOS MORALES FILED AN "AMPARO" (HABEAS CORPUS)

PETITION ON BEHALF OF HIMSELF AND HIS FAMILY (THE ACTION PUTS THE COURTS ON NOTICE THAT SHOULD ANYTHING UNTOWARD HAPPEN TO HIM OR HIS FAMILY, SECURITY FORCES ARE THE LIKELY CULPRITS). HE HAD BEEN HELD FOR A DAY -- APRIL 6 -- AND PUMPTED FOR INFORMATION ABOUT THE VICARIATE'S LABOR ACTIVITIES (SEE PARA 6 BELOW). THE AGENTS ALLEGEDLY THREATENED THAT HE, HIS WIFE OR TWO SMALL CHILDREN WOULD BE IN TROUBLE IF HE REPORTED THE INCIDENT.

5. IN ANOTHER CASE, REPORTED TO US, THE MOTHER OF A MISSING YOUNG MAN (MARTIN ELGUETA PINTO) HAD PLANNED TO VISIT HER HUSBAND EXILED IN MEXICO. SHE TOLD AN EMBOFF ABOUT THE HAM-HANDED EFFORTS OF TWO DINA AGENTS TO HAVE HER SIGN A STATMENT THAT HER SON WAS IN FACT LIVING WITH HER. AFTER BEING TURNED DOWN ON THIS APPROACH, A FEMALE AGENT SHOWED UP AND WARNED HER THAT IF SHE REFUSED TO SIGN, "THEY" HAD WAYS OF MAKING HER DAUGHTER DO SO IN HER ABSENCE.

6. MISTREATMENT: THE PETITION FILED BY BERRIOS (PARA 3) ALSO ALLEGES THAT HE WAS PHYSICALLY MISTREATED BY THE AGENTS WHO PICKED HIM UP. HIS DEPOSITION STATES THAT THE AGENTS BEAT HIM ON THE BODY (AVOIDING HIS FACE), STRIPPED HIM AND SUBJECTED HIM TO ELECTRIC SHOCKS. ACCURATE OR NOT (AND IT IS DARING TO MAKE CUSH AN ALLEGATION IN A FORMAL PETITION TO THE COURTS), THIS IS THE FIRST ALEGATION OF TORTURE WE HAVE HEARD OF AS OCCURRING IN 1977.

7. COURTS MAINTAIN PRESSURE ON THE DISAPPEARANCE PROBLEM: AN APPEALS COURT HAS MOVED QUICKLY TO CARRY OUT THE SUPREME COURT'S INSTRUCTION THAT IT ASK EACH SECURITY SERVICE ABOUT MISSING COMMUNIST YOUTH LEADER CARLOS CONTRERAS. MORE TO THE POINT, THE COURT TOLD THE AIR FORCE TO PRODUCE THE MEN ASSIGNED TO THE VEHICLE WHICH CARTED CONTRERAS AWAY -- THE CAR'S LICENSE PLATES HAVE BEEN TRACED TO AIR FORCE INTELLIGENCE.

8. PROBLEM OF PAST DISAPPEARANCES: THE SLATE IS CLEAN SO FAR THIS YEAR WITH RESPECT TO NEW DISAPPEARANCES. BUT NONE OF THOSE MISSING EARLIER HAVE REAPPEARED. THERE HAD BEEN RUMORS BEFORE EASTER THAT THE GOC WOULD SURFACE SOME OF THE MISSING BY THE SUBTERFUGE OF "DISCOVERING" A "CLANDESTINE" MEETING THEY WERE "ATTENDING".

9. COMMENT: THE CONTRAST BETWEEN THE CURRENT ACTIVITY OF THE SECURITY FORCES AND THE WAY THEY WERE BEHAVING JUST A YEAR AGO IS STRIKING. THE FEW SUBVERSIVES DETAINED ARE ARRESTED UNDER EXISTING LEGAL PROCEDURES AND PLACED BEFORE COURTS; DISSENTERS ARE INTIMIDATED BUT NOT HEALD IN PREVENTIVE DETENTION OR -- WITH THE ONE POSSIBLE EXCEPTION ABOVE -- HARMED. THE INSTITUTIONS OF REPRESSION REMAIN IN PLACE -- AND GOVERNMENT CRITICS KNOW THEY RUN RISKS -- BUT THE RISKS FOR THE MOMENT SEEM TO BE SMALLER.

Let it we ...

Dear Mr. Schneider:

At your request we have prepared a partial list of lawyers who have been abducted, arrested, killed, or exiled by the Argentine authorities since the military seized the government last year.

As you know the Argentine Government has not cooperated in releasing information about people being held in detention. We do not know therefore which of these people are being held formally under arrest, and which ones are simply "disappeared persons". Among the "disappeared persons" we are not able to verify in any way w-ether or not they are still alive. For these reasons I believe it would be important to inquire with the Argentine authorities for a complete report on the whereabouts and legal situation of all those in the list.

With respect to the activities of the lawyers in the enclosed list, they can be categorized as follows: most of them were involved directly or indirectly in defense of political prisoners, trade unionists, or other dissidents. A smaller group was involved in assisting or advising the various trade unions on labor related matters. We are not in a position to determine if any of them were involved in political activities not related to their profession.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to call me. Hoping to hear from you on any responses you may receive to your inquiries, I remain,

2. FLEETWOOD WRITES THAT BOSCH WAS ANXIOUS TO TALK TO A FOREIGN REPORTER IN THAT GOV HAD PREVENTED OTHER INTERVIEWS. BOSCH STATED THAT AFTER BEING SENTENCED TO DEATH BY CASTRO BECAUSE OF HIS ANTI-CASTRO GUERRILLA MOVEMENT, HE FLED TO FLORIDA WHERE HE AND LUIS POSADO, WHOM HE THEN MET, WERE AMONG 6,000 CUBAN EXILES ON THE CIA PAYROLL. HE FELT "BETRAYED" BY THE KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION AND THE CIA AFTER THE CUBAN MISSILE CRISIS AND SUBSEQUENT USG REDUCTION IN ANTI-CASTRO ACTIVITIES.

3. HE SUBSEQUENTLY WENT UNDERGROUND AFTER THE JOSE ELIAS DE LA TORRIENTE ASSASSINATION, WHICH HE PRAISED BUT ON WHICH HE DISCLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY, AND BEGAN TO DIRECT THE "INTERNATIONALIZATION OF THE WAR". HE FELT TERRORISTS SHOULD OPERATE FROM CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICAN BASES, HIS MAIN GOAL BEING TO FORGE ALLIANCES WITH THE FRIENDLY GOVERNMENTS OF NICARAGUA, THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, COSTA RICA AND VENEZUELA.

4. BOSCH SAYS THAT HIS FIRST PACT WITH THE GOV CAME IN NOVEMBER 1974 WHEN HE CLAIMS DISIP ARRESTED HIM ALTHOUGH THE GOV DENIED HE WAS IN THE COUNTRY. AT THAT TIME, HE MADE A FORMAL AGREEMENT WITH RIVAS VASQUEZ AND ORLANDO GARCIA, PROMISING THAT NO MORE TERRORIST ACTS WOULD TAKE PLACE IN VENEZUELA IF NO HIGH OFFICIAL OF THE CUBAN REGIME WOULD BE ALLOWED INTO VENEZUELA. HE LATER MADE CONTACTS IN CHILE WITH THE RIGHT-WING EXTREMIST AAA PARTY, AND CONSPIRED TO KILL TWO CUBAN DIPLOMATS WHO DISAPPEARED AUGUST 9, 1976 AND HAVEN'T BEEN HEARD OF SINCE. CARLOS RIVERO COLLADE, A FORMER CUBAN EXILE, CLAIMS BOSCH WAS TRAINED BY THE CHILEAN NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT. BOSCH REFUSED TO TAKE PERSONAL CREDIT FOR BOMBINGS WITHIN THE UNITED STATES BECAUSE OF FBI "HEAT" BUT BOASTED THAT CORU (COORDINATION OF THE UNITED REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATION) HAD BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR OVER FIFTY IN MIAMI, NEW YORK, VENEZUELA, PANAMA, MEXICO AND ARGENTINA.

5. IN 1976 HE SET UP A NEW "DEAL" IN VENEZUELA TO LIVE

THERE UNDER AN ASSUMED NAME AND FROM THERE TO ORGANIZE OTHER TERRORIST ACTIONS ANYWHERE EXCEPT IN VENEZUELA, COSTA RICA AND THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC. HE ACCEPTED A DISIP IDENTIFICATION CARD, BUT CLAIMS HE TURNED DOWN A GOV OFFER OF WEAPONS AND BODYGUARDS. UNTIL THE LETELIER AND CUBANA BOMBINGS, THE VENEZUELAN PACT WAS GOING WELL. THEN, BOSCH SAYS, HE WAS PUT IN "PROTECTIVE CUSTODY". HE FEELS THAT HE WAS SET-UP BY RICARDO MORALES NAVARETTE AND SAYS "WE'RE GOING TO ACCUSE HIM (VENEZUELAN PRESIDENT PEREZ) OF BETRAYING US", PRESIDENT PEREZ, THE INTERIOR MINISTER AND THE DISIP DIRECTOR WILL ALSO BE ACCUSED IF I GO ON TRIAL. AND, BOSCH STATED, AFTER HE DECLARES WAR, THERE WILL BE A LOT OF BOMBINGS, KIDNAPPINGS AND SHOOTINGS.

6. ON LETELIER, FLEETWOOD WRITES THAT CUBAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS CLAIMED CHILE HIRED BOSCH TO KILL LETELIER AND BOSCH HANDED CORU THE MONEY FOR THE ASSASSINATION. BOSCH SAYS THAT HIS GROUP DID NOT COMMIT THE ASSASSINATION, AND

EVEN IF HE KNEW WHO DID, HE WOULDN'T TELL. A "CONFIDENTIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT" OBTAINED BY NEW TIMES SAYS THAT BOSCH TOLD THE GOV AT THE TIME OF HIS ARREST THAT THE "NOVO BROTHERS WERE INVOLVED" WITH THAT ASSASSINATION. ARTICLE SAYS THAT THE US HAS NOW BEGUN OFFERING LIMITED IMMUNITY TO SOME OF THE CUBAN EXILES, HOPING TO FORCE THEM TO TALK ABOUT THE LETELIER ASSASSINATION.

May 10, 1977

TO: The Acting Secretary

FROM: D/HA - Mark L. Schneider, Acting

Request for an Appointment with Chilean Ambassador Cauas

Issue for Decision

Recommendation from ARA that Ambassador Cauas be called in for a frank discussion of human rights issues in Chile.

Background/Analysis

D/HA does not object to the recommendation that Ambassador Cauas be called in to discuss the human rights issue. However, D/HA does want to emphasize that the violations of human rights by the current regime and the assistance offered by the previous Administration to that regime prompted Congressionally-initiated legislation halting all arms transfers and reducing economic assistance to Chile. Following the Chilean refusal to permit the United Nations Human Rights Commission to make an on-site inquiry, the previous Adminstration voted against a Chilean loan in the IDB. And, as ARA has noted, U.S./Chilean relations are at a standstill. While the human rights situation remains unimproved in significant ways, those relations cannot be improved without engendering very bitter Congressional and public reaction jeopardizing our entire human rights policy.

It should at least be noted that the current investigation into the bombing deaths of an American woman and Orlando Letelier continues, and at least press reports have linked some elements of Chilean intelligence agencies with that investigation.

It should be recalled as well in considering the overall strategy put forth by ARA that Chilean bilateral relations with several other nations such as Italy, Mexico and several Scandinavian countries remain cool because of the regime's violations of human rights.

Ambassador Cauas is likely to be an accurate reporter to the Junta of this Administration's human rights policies.

D/HA concurs that in very recent months few, if any, additional new cases of disappearances, torture or lengthy detention without charge have surfaced. However, it also should be noted that the state of repression continues, the Cardinal most recently informing Ambassador Popper that harrassment of the Church and intimidation of the general public still continues. Also, political parties such as the Christian Democrats were during the recent months abolished, and labor unions and universities remain severely restricted.

D/HA concurs with the emphasis being placed on our desire to see an improvement to this situation particularly including: elimination of the state of siege, an end to harrassment of the Church, reorganization or abolition of the intelligence agencies, a forthcoming response on the subject of "disappeared" persons, the reestablishment of due process, and at least some beginning toward reassertion of traditional Chilean civil liberties.

Unless substantive improvements in these areas are forthcoming, D/HA would question the movement beyond the initial meetings with Cauas.

Recommendation

In this limited context, with the major emphasis on seeking improvement in the human rights situation, as a condition for any improvement in our relations, we recommend that you call the Ambassador in for a discussion.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

Participants: Father Luis Antonio Diaz, Cardijn Institute
Felix C. Vargas, Jr., Political Officer

Date & Place: May 18, 1977, Embassy

Distribution: AMB/DCM, POL, POL/R, ECON, AID, ARA/AND/CH, INR/OIL/B, INR/RRA

Subject: DINA, the Inter-American Foundation

Father Diaz, who just returned from a trip to seven European countries and the U.S., came in on May 18 to give us additional information on possible DINA involvement in the arrest/torture of two Cardijn Institute collaborators, and to discuss worsening relations with the Inter-American Foundation.

DINA and Cardijn

Diaz provided additional information on the case of Luis Manuel Mardones, number two in the Cardijn Institute's Labor Department. According to Diaz, Mardones was arrested by several men in civilian clothing on May 12 and shortly thereafter taken to Cuatro Alamos. Mardones' wife informed the Cardijn people shortly thereafter and a writ of habeas corpus was filed later that day. Diaz stated that on the evening of May 13, several men, identifying themselves as DINA agents, arrived at the Mardones house and thoroughly searched it. The search was conducted in a careful and polite manner and the wife was interrogated as to her husband's work with the Cardijn Institute. Diaz said that among the papers taken from the house was a letter from Mardones to the Cardinal in which Mardones disavowed any connection or intent to colloborate with the Communists. As the men were departing, one of them, apparently feeling some sympathy for the anguished wife, told her not to worry, that her husband was unharmed and being detained at Cuatro Alamos. The man reportedly told the wife that she could visit her husband the following day.

On May 14 Father Diaz accompanied Mrs. Mardones to Cuatro Alamos and asked to see Mardones. After making several calls, the DINA officer in charge stated that he had received instructions to not allow anyone to see Mardones. When the wife pleaded to at least be allowed to give her husband a toothbrush and warm clothing, the officer replied that it was not necessary, as Mardones had arrived with the necessary personal items.

With the assistance of his father, a General in the Army Medical Branch, Diaz arranged a May 18 interview with a Colonel Saldias, an assistant to DINA chief Colonel Manuel Contreras. According to Diaz, Saldias stated he had no knowledge of the case, but would check into it. Saldias then reportedly suggested that Diaz request permission from the Ministry of Interior to see Mardones, if it was established that Mardones is detained at Cuatro Alamos. Diaz told me that he probably will be doing this on May 19.

Diaz described the work of Mardones as that of a "monitor", assisting Cardijn Labor Chief Manuel Bustos in setting up training seminars and inviting labor participants to attend. Mardones was one of the principal people inviting labor leaders from the outlying provinces to attend the Cardinal's May 1 mass in Santiago.

Diaz then discussed the strange case of Carlos Veloz, former labor leader and currently part-time employee of the Cardijn Institute. Veloz, who has been unemployed since February 1976, has a Canadian landed immigrant visa for himself and his family. According to Diaz, on May 1 Veloz, suspecting that he had been recently followed, sent his 15-year old boy out of their Villa Mexico apartment to get word to the Cardijn Institute. Diaz said that as the boy left the apartment building, he was accosted by several unidentified men, who abducted and later tortured and sexually abused him. Diaz stated that it was sad to see the boy, before a cheerful lad, now terrorized and unable to communicate well. After the family reported the incident to the authorities, three DINE (Army Intelligence) agents arrived, saying that they had orders to stay with the family in the apartment to provide "protection" against extremists that DINE believes perpetrated the incident. The three have been there ever since, says Diaz. According to Diaz, DINE arrested over twenty people in connection with this case and, along with numerous photos, have asked the boy to identify his assailants. The boy, said Diaz, picked out three among the photos shown -- one being a Mr. Suleta, a leader in the Villa Mexico community, a Christian Democrat and a "solid Christian", according to Diaz. Identifying Suleta is easy, says Diaz, because he has a large mole on one side of his face. Diaz dismissed the possibility that Suleta was involved, stating he believes that a GOC security agent disguised himself as Suleta to make it appear that Christian Democrats are now committing acts of violence.

Diaz stated that a meeting of 16 Santiago vicars and two Bishops (Alvear and Valech) will take place on May 19 to consider Church reaction to the cases of Mardones and Veloz. Diaz will recommend that he present another amparo on behalf of Mardones and that the Bishops do the same for Veloz. Diaz stated that the Cardinal -- presently in the U.S. -- is greatly needed at this time.

I asked Diaz why the GOC security forces would be interested in hitting the Cardijn Institute at this particular time. Diaz replied that the real target he believed was Manuel Bustos and the GOC seemed to be sending a message to him. And why not do it now, asked Diaz. With the Cardinal gone, the Government could safely assume that there would not be strong Church response to a new wave of DINA repression.

On Bustos, Diaz stated that the Cardijn Labor Section Chief was limiting Communist participation to the first course of the labor leaders' training seminars, which is quite elementary. Diaz stated that Cardijn knew exactly who the Communists were in the program and that their participation was closely monitored by Bustos and other Cardijn people.

Relations With The Inter-American Foundation

Diaz stated that the Cardijn Institute's relationship with Inter-American Foundation Southern Cone Director James O'Brien remains cold. Diaz visited O'Brien during the U.S. portion of the trip. According to Diaz, O'Brien stated that a Foundation grant worth US $96,000 for the labor workshops was still on and the money would be made available soon. A US $60,000 grant for an Evaluation and Studies Program, however was frozen in view of the Cardijn removal of Radomiro Tomic from a key leadership position (see attached Memo of February 3, 1977).

Diaz stated that he is optimistic that the European Church community will provide the needed funds, should the Inter-American Foundation not do so. Diaz said that he received very encouraging signals during his trip and that a June meeting of the European Church groups will consider giving aid to Cardijn. Diaz has not been given hope that O'Brien will make the funds for the second program available and will be writing a letter to him shortly.

COMMENT: The DINA move against the Cardijn Institute (if indeed there is one) may partially represent the GOC's displeasure with the Church's labor activities. With the absence of Cardinal Silva, the GOC also catches the Church leaders ill-prepared to respond.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

Participants: Father Luis Antonio Diaz, Cardijn Institute
Felix C. Vargas, Jr., Political Officer

Date & Place: May 18, 1977, Embassy

Distribution: AMB/DCM, POL, POL/R, ECON, AID, ARA/AND/CH, INR/OIL/B, INR/RRA

Subject: DINA, the Inter-American Foundation

Father Diaz, who just returned from a trip to seven European countries and the U.S., came in on May 18 to give us additional information on possible DINA involvement in the arrest/torture of two Cardijn Institute collaborators, and to discuss worsening relations with the Inter-American Foundation.

DINA and Cardijn

Diaz provided additional information on the case of Luis Manuel Mardones, number two in the Cardijn Institute's Labor Department. According to Diaz, Mardones was arrested by several men in civilian clothing on May 12 and shortly thereafter taken to Cuatro Alamos. Mardones' wife informed the Cardijn people shortly thereafter and a writ of habeas corpus was filed later that day. Diaz stated that on the evening of May 13, several men, identifying themselves as DINA agents, arrived at the Mardones house and thoroughly searched it. The search was conducted in a careful and polite manner and the wife was interrogated as to her husband's work with the Cardijn Institute. Diaz said that among the papers taken from the house was a letter from Mardones to the Cardinal in which Mardones disavowed any connection or intent to colloborate with the Communists. As the men were departing, one of them, apparently feeling some sympathy for the anguished wife, told her not to worry, that her husband was unharmed and being detained at Cuatro Alamos. The man reportedly told the wife that she could visit her husband the following day.

On May 14 Father Diaz accompanied Mrs. Mardones to Cuatro Alamos and asked to see Mardones. After making several calls, the DINA officer in charge stated that he had received instructions to not allow anyone to see Mardones. When the wife pleaded to at least be allowed to give her husband a toothbrush and warm clothing, the officer replied that it was not necessary, as Mardones had arrived with the necessary personal items.

With the assistance of his father, a General in the Army Medical Branch, Diaz arranged a May 18 interview with a Colonel Saldias, an assistant to DINA chief Colonel Manuel Contreras. According to Diaz, Saldias stated he had no knowledge of the case, but would check into it. Saldias then reportedly suggested that Diaz request permission from the Ministry of Interior to see Mardones, if it was established that Mardones is detained at Cuatro Alamos. Diaz told me that he probably will be doing this on May 19.

Diaz described the work of Mardones as that of a "monitor", assisting Cardijn Labor Chief Manuel Bustos in setting up training seminars and inviting labor participants to attend. Mardones was one of the principal people inviting labor leaders from the outlying provinces to attend the Cardinal's May 1 mass in Santiago.

Diaz then discussed the strange case of Carlos Veloz, former labor leader and currently part-time employee of the Cardijn Institute. Veloz, who has been unemployed since February 1976, has a Canadian landed immigrant visa for himself and his family. According to Diaz, on May 1 Veloz, suspecting that he had been recently followed, sent his 15-year old boy out of their Villa Mexico apartment to get word to the Cardijn Institute. Diaz said that as the boy left the apartment building, he was accosted by several unidentified men, who abducted and later tortured and sexually abused him. Diaz stated that it was sad to see the boy, before a cheerful lad, now terrorized and unable to communicate well. After the family reported the incident to the authorities, three DINE (Army Intelligence) agents arrived, saying that they had orders to stay with the family in the apartment to provide "protection" against extremists that DINE believes perpetrated the incident. EXCISE

Dear friend:

Since the military Junta took power in Chile in 1973, more than 2,000 people have disappeared. In March 8, 1977 the cases of 925 missing Chileans were presented to the Commission of Human Rights of the United Nations in Geneva, by an ad hoc Working Group that has been investigating violations of Human Rights in Chile since 1973. On that occasion the Chilean delegate, Mr. Sergio Diez, denied any official responsibility in these disappearances. Nevertheless, a resolution condemning the violations of human rights in Chile was passed by an overwhelming majority. The resolution was sponsored by: Austria, Cuba, Cyprus, the United States, England, Northern Ireland, Ruanda, Sweden and Yugoslavia.

The evidence of DINA involvement in missing persons despite the Junta's denials has been exposed all over the world. For the first time high officials of the Chilean Junta, including representatives of the police, have testified that the National Security Police (DINA) have been responsible for the mysterious disappearances of persons in Chile. An Appeals Court in January 1977 ordered the Interior Ministry to release CARLOS CONTRERAS MALUJE, missing since November 1976. But the Ministry gave the usual answer: that the person in question was not in custody. The Chilean Supreme Court has ordered an investigation of the incident.

The latest group of arrested persons reportedly includes members of the Popular Unity and Christian Democratic parties. Some of them have been released, but there are still eleven missing. These new disappearances have taken place between April 29th through May 13th. Enclosed is a list with their names.

I would appreciate your attention to this matter.

Cordially yours,

Isabel Letelier

(A) ZALDIVAR CASE: UNKNOWN PERSONS RANSACKED THE OFFICES OF ANDRES ZALDIVAR, PRESIDENT OF THE NOW DISSOLVED CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY, OVER THE WEEKEND MAY 21-22 (REF A). ZALDIVAR CONTINUES TO PURSUE VARIOUS LEGAL ACTIONS SUPPORTED BY PDC COLLEAGUES (VIRTUALLY ALL OF WHOM SEEM TO BE LAWYERS). GOVERNMENT-INSPIRED SUGGESTIONS THAT THE BREAK-IN WAS SPURIOUS HAVE BEEN PLAYED BACK IN THE PRESS, BUT WE PREFER THE LOGIC OF [redacted] REPORTING THE COMMUNISTS' BELIEF THAT SECURITY FORCES WERE SEEKING NOTES OR DOCUMENTS ZALDIVAR MAY HAVE ACQUIRED DURING A MEETING WITH PCCH ACTING SECRETARY GENERAL THE DAY BEFORE. MOST THOUGHTFUL LOCAL OBSERVERS ARE DISQUIETED BY SUCH APPARENT GOC ACTIONS, AS REFLECTED IN A HARDHITTING "EL MERCURIO" EDITORIAL MAY 26. HERETOFORE THAT PRO-GOVERNMENT PAPER HAD CONCENTRATED ON THE QUESTION OF PRESS FREEDOM WHEN PRODDING THE GOC.

(B) FATHER DIAZ, ADVISOR TO CATHOLIC CHURCH AND VICARIATE-ASSOCIATED CARDIJN FOUNDATION, HAS TOLD US THAT A CAR FULL OF MEN RAMMED HIS CAR AND SEEMED READY TO PICK HIM UP MAY 24. DIAZ SAYS

HE WAS ABLE TO EXTRICATE HIS VEHICLE FROM THE CRASH AND FLEE. HE HAS FILED CRIMINAL CHARGES.

8. THE RINGERS: WE HAVE REASON TO BELIEVE THAT

DINA HAS TAKEN THE LEAD IN RUNNING SEVERAL OPERATIONS DESIGNED TO CREATE THE ILLUSION THAT LEFTIST TERRORISTS STILL OPERATE IN CHILE, AND OTHERS AIMED AT DISCREDITING THE CATHOLIC CHURCH, ITS VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY, AND ITS LABOR PROGRAMS:

(A) THE WIDELY SUSPECTED ROLE OF DINA IN CONDUCTING A NUMBER OF NOISE BOMBINGS JUST BEFORE MAY DAY WAS CONFIRMED [redacted] WE SPECULATE DINA HAD PLANNED TO ATTRIBUTE THESE ATTACKS TO THE PHANTOM RED SEPTEMBER ORGANIZATION BUT THE PLAN ABORTED WHEN CARABINEROS PICKED UP A DINA COUPLE FLEEING AFTER PLACING A BOMB.

(B) SOME PHONY DISAPPEARANCES:

--THE VICARIATE KNOWS THAT DINA HAS BEEN COLLECTING INFORMATION ON ITS ACTIVITIES AND PERSONNEL AND HAS FOUND ITSELF CAUGHT UP IN SOME CASES OF PROVOCATION. THIS TIME AROUND, A VICARIATE OFFICIAL TOLD AN EMBASSY OFFICER ABOUT THE ORGANIZATION'S SUSPICIONS REGARDING AT LEAST TWO OF THE MANY CASES WHICH HAD FLOODED IN RECENTLY. TO PROTECT ITSELF, THE VICARIATE PREPARES THE LEGAL PAPERS [redacted] INDIVIDUALS NEED TO FILE HABEAS CORPUS PETITIONS, BUT INSISTS THAT THOSE MAKING THE STATEMENTS ACTUALLY FILE THE PAPERS. THIS SERVED THE VICARIATE IN GOOD STEAD WHEN AN EX-SOLDIER (SALAZAR HOJMAN), WHOM HIS MOTHER CLAIMED HAD DISAPPEARED, TOLD THE PRESS HE WAS ASTONISHED HIS NAME HAD BEEN AMONG THOSE ALLEGEDLY "DISAPPEARED".

[redacted]

--BUT THE CASE OF CARLOS DEL SOLAR SHOWS THE GOC'S HAND EVEN MORE CLEARLY. DEL SOLAR'S UNCLE MADE HIS DEPOSITION AT THE VICARIATE BUT DID NOT FILE AT THE COURTS. YOUNG DEL SOLAR HAD A FIELD DAY IN THE LOCAL PRESS: HE WAS AN ACTIVIST IN THE NOW DISBANDED, FASCIST PATRIA Y LIBERTAD*

9. THE BIZARRE VILLA MEXICO CASE GETS WEIRDER STILL: PARA 6 REF B MENTIONED FIRST ACCOUNTS OF STRANGE AND CONFLICTING STORIES REGARDING WHAT HAS SUBSEQUENTLY BEEN CALLED THE VILLA MEXICO CASE. THE STORY HAS ONLY GOTTEN MORE COMPLICATED AS THE GOC ATTEMPTS TO EXPLOIT IT. THE GOVERNMENT APPARENTLY ALLEGES THAT AT LEAST TWO CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS, ONE SOCIALIST, A COMMUNIST AND A CARDIJN FOUNDATION ACTIVIST ABDUCTED, TORTURED AND ABUSED THE 16-YEAR-OLD SON OF AN OLD-TIME CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC LABOR LEADER NOW WORKING WITH THE FOUNDATION. THE YOUTH REPORTEDLY IDENTIFIED SOME OF HIS ABDUCTORS, A FEW OF WHOM HAD BEEN CONSIDERED FAMILY FRIENDS. MOST RECENT GOC ACCOUNTS ATTEMPT TO LINK THE MAY DAY BOMBINGS AND THE DISAPPEARANCE OF SOCIALIST TRONOCOSO (PARA 4 ABOVE) WITH THE EVENT.

10. WERE IT NOT FOR THE COMPLEXITY OF THE CASE, THE PROBABILITY THAT IT WOULD EVENTUALLY BE HEARD IN CIVIL COURT (KIDNAPPING IS A CIVIL CRIME), AND THE UNUSUALLY SAVAGE TREATMENT THE YOUGH ALLEGEDLY SUFFERED, WE WOULD WRITE THIS OFF AS YET ANOTHER GOC PLOY. AS THINGS NOW STAND, WE MUST AWAIT FURTHER CLARIFICATION.

11. MEDIA TREATMENT OF THESE EVENTS DESERVES SPECIAL MENTION. ONLY RIGHTEST TABLOID "LA SEGUNDA" AND OFFICIAL "EL CRONISTA" HAVE PLAYED UP THE

SALAZAR, DEL SOLAR AND VILLA MEXICO STORIES. CONSERVATIVE AND GENERALLY PRO-GOC "LA TERCERA" HAS GIVEN THEM CAREFULLY RESTRAINED COVERAGE. BUT "EL MERCURIO" HAS SO FAR CARRIED NOT A WORD ABOUT THE GOC'S "REVELATIONS".

12. COMMENT: WE DO NOT KNOW WHAT PROMPTED THE GOVERNMENT TO END ITS THREE-MONTH-LONG HALT IN THE MOST SERIOUS REPRESSION OR TO ENGAGE IN SUCH OBVIOUS PLOYS AGAINST THE VICARIATE. WE SPECULATE THAT CONTRERAS AND HIS ILK FINALLY SOLD PINOCHET ON THE SECURITY THREAT FROM RETURNING EXILES, AND PINOCHET AUTHORIZED THAT OPERATION. THE EFFORT AGAINST THE VICARIATE HAS BEEN A CONTINUING ONE, BUT THE NEED TO DISCREDIT IT MAY HAVE APPEARED MORE PRESSING AS ITS RECORDS OF PREVIOUS DISAPPEARANCES CONTINUE TO HANG OVER THE GOC. IN ADDITION, THE ANTI-VICARIATE MEASURE PERHAPS PROVIDED A TIMELY SIDESHOW TO COVER THE THRUST AGAINST SUBVERSIVES.

13. LOOKING BACK AT THIS WAVE OF ACTIVITY, WE ARE STRUCK BY HOW MUCH THE GOC LOST AND HOW LITTLE IT GAINED. UNLIKE PREVIOUS LULLS IN INTERNAL SECURITY ACTIONS, THE JANUARY/MARCH HALT IN ABUSES OF BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS WAS ALMOST TOTAL. EVEN SHOULD THE APRIL/MAY SPATE OF ACTIVITY PROVE TO HAVE BEEN SHORT-LIVED, AS NOW SEEMS POSSIBLE, THE ILLEGAL DETENTIONS AND PRISONER ABUSE WHICH OCCURRED HAVE DESTROYED THE GOC'S IMPROVING IMAGE BEFORE DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL AUDIENCES. 1. SUMMARY: REF A PROMISED A FULLER REPORT ON THE CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS PICTURE, FOLLOWING UP ON THE EVENTS DESCRIBED IN REF B. SITUATION AS OF MAY 27: "DISAPPEARANCE" PROBLEM BEING SOLVED WITH UNANNOUNCED RELEASE OF HARDCORE SOCIALIST; GOC STILL HOLDING SOME PEOPLE ILLEGALLY; HARASSMENT OF DISSENTERS CONTINUES; AND, GOC SETS UP SOME PROVOCATIONS. FACTS AND MOTIVES SURROUNDING ONE SERIES OF DETENTIONS REMAIN OBSCURE.

2. THE DIVERSITY OF INCIDENTS SO FAR CLOUDS WHATEVER OVERALL PATTERN MAY EXIST AND MAKES DIVINING GOC MOTIVES HARDER STILL. ANY GAINS AGAINST SUBVERSIVES OR IN REMINDING DISSIDENTS OF THE POWER OF SECURITY SERVICES APPEAR TO BE OUTWEIGHED BY UNDOING THE IMPROVED RECORD GOC HAD BEEN BUILDING SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR. THE NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTORATE (DINA) SEEMS TO BE THE PRINCIPAL ACTOR IN CURRENT OUTBURST, ALTHOUGH ARMY INTELLIGENCE (DINE) AND INVESTIGACIONES (IC) MAY ALSO BE INVOLVED. THE BREADTH AND APPARENT CAPRICIOUSNESS OF THIS WAVE OF ACTIVITY DEMONSTRATE THE PITFALLS OF CHILE'S CURRENT INSTITUTIONAL STRUCTURE. END SUMMARY.

3. NO NEW DETENTIONS: THE SPATE OF PREDOMINANTLY DINA ACTIVITY DURING APRIL-MAY APPEARS TO HAVE ABATED SHARPLY. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS SOURCES REPORT NO DETENTIONS OR DISAPPEARANCES OCCURRING AFTER MID-MAY. WE BELIEVE THAT DINA MOVED FORCEFULLY AGAINST CHILEAN SOCIALISTS AND COMMUNISTS, USING FOR JUSTIFICATION FABRICATED STORIES THAT 800 SOVIET-TRAINED EXILES WERE RETURNING TO CHILE. THIS OPERATION SEEMS TO HAVE INVOLVED SOME PRISONER MISTREATMENT AND AT LEAST A SCORE OF LENGTHY AND ILLEGAL DETENTIONS. OTHER REPORTS REVEAL DETENTIONS WERE MADE IN VALPARAISO AND PERHAPS ARICA.

4. DISAPPEARANCE PROBLEM IN HAND: AS REPORTED REF B, OF THE DOZEN OR SO DISAPPEARANCES RECORDED BY THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY A WEEK AGO, WE CONSIDERED ONLY A HANDFUL SERIOUS. MOST OBSERVERS BELIEVED THAT ALL THOSE MISSING WOULD SURFACE EVENTUALLY. WE AT FIRST FEARED THAT TWO PROMINENT YOUNG SOCIALISTS MIGHT BE EXCEPTIONS (PARA 5, REF B). BUT ON MAY 26 THE MOTHER OF JAIME TRONCOSO VALDEZ TOLD US HE WAS RELEASED AFTER SIGNING PLEDGES HE WOULD FILE NO COMPLAINTS. THIS GIVES US HOPE THAT VICENTE GARCIA RAMIREZ MAY ALSO APPEAR.

5. AND AS MENTIONED IN REF A, JUDICIAL EMPLOYEE GUILLERMO BELLO REAPPEARED AT HIS HOME, CLAIMING THAT HE HAD HAD AMNESIA (AS IN THE 1976 BUDNIK CASE). OUR CURRENT IMPRESSION IS THAT HE WAS THE

VICTIM OF A FREE LANCE OPERATION UNDERTAKEN BY SECURITY AGENTS ON BEHALF OF A GOC OFFICIAL INVOLVED IN INTELLIGENCE MATTERS WITH WHOM BELLO CLASHED OVER A CIVIL COURT CASE. BUT THERE MAY BE MORE TO THE STORY; BELLO HAD BEEN MISSING FOR 16 DAYS. AT LEAST TWO OTHER CASES APPEAR TO HAVE BEEN GOC-SPONSORED PLANTS (SEE PARA 8 BELOW).

6. ILLEGAL DETENTIONS CONTINUE: THE GOC HAS TACITLY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT IT IS HOLDING SOME PEOPLE UNDER DETENTION, BUT SUCH DETENTION INCOMMUNICADO EXCEEDS THE PERIOD PROVIDED UNDER GOC EMERGENCY LEGISLATION (10 DAYS), AND OTHER LEGAL PROVISIONS ARE NOT FOLLOWED. THE NUMBERS ARE NOT KNOWN, BUT MAY BE FEWER THAN A DOZEN. THE PLACE OF DETENTION IS ALSO UNKNOWN. A HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION WHICH HAS HAD ACCESS TO DINA-CONTROLLED CUATRO ALAMOS PRECINCT STILL HAS BEEN UNABLE TO REACH DINA CHIEF CONTRERAS FOR

PERMISSION TO VISIT THE FACILITY, ONE OF THREE LEGALLY AUTHORIZED DETENTION CENTERS IN CHILE. MINISTRY OF DEFENSE-CONTROLLED TRES ALAMOS HELD ONLY JORGE MONTES AS OF MAY 22.

7. HARASSMENT OF DISSENTERS CONTINUES:

AAAS COMMITTEE ON SCIENTIFIC FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY

AL061

Background Paper on Persecution of Argentinian Scientists

May 31, 1977

Introduction

The charter of the AAAS Committee on Scientific Freedom and Responsibility (CSFR) includes a charge to maintain an awareness of actions by the governments of the United States and foreign countries which circumvent scientific freedom.[1] During its first meeting in October 1976, the Committee became aware of recent attacks on physicists and other scientists in Argentina. Since then, the committee has attempted to learn more about both the general extent of these persecutions, and the detailed circumstances surrounding individual cases of repressions of Argentinian scientists and scholars.

The Committee has found that violations of human rights have occurred in Argentina on a broad scale, especially since the military coup d'état of March 23, 1976. According to estimates published by Amnesty International (AI), as of January 1977 there were 5,000 to 6,000 political prisoners, two-thirds of whom have not been charged but are detained indefinitely, at the disposal of the Executive Power in Argentina.[2] AI further estimates that 15,000 persons have disappeared or been abducted in Argentina over the last two and a half years, as a result of arrests or abductions. It is difficult to determine how many of these political prisoners or missing persons are scientists or engineers.

In addition to these AI figures, there have been numerous reports by various other groups describing arbitrary dismissals of scientists from their jobs in Argentina. The purpose of this background paper is to summarize these reports and to describe the initial CSFR responses to the persecution of Argentinian scientists.

Dismissals of Scientists and Engineers

Although a detailed listing of individual cases or general estimates of arbitrary dismissals of Argentinian scientists and engineers is not available, the Committee has obtained some information regarding the scientific research or training institutions which have been directly affected by actions of the Argentinian government. SCIENCE has reported that:

> According to a letter sent to General Videla (President of Argentina) by a group of Mexican scientists and intellectuals, nearly a hundred research scientists supported by Argentina's Consejo Nacional de Investigaciones Cientificas Y Tecnologicas (CNICT) have been fired, and more than 600 have been fired from other government research institutions such as the National Research Institute for Agriculture and Cattle Breeding, the National Institute for Industrial Technology, the National Physics and Technology Institute at San Miguel, and the National Atomic Energy Committee.[3]

These same institutions and estimates were published in a report prepared by Amnesty International (10 Jan. 1977).[4]

Box 4855

In addition, the Argentine Society of Physics (Sociedad Fisica Argentina, SFA) estimated that approximately one quarter of their membership have lost their jobs in late 1976. A listing prepared by SFA of over fifty physicists or engineers working in physics, fired from various National Agencies in Argentina or from Universities in La Plata, Rosario, Cordoba, and Tucuman, has been circulated to physicists in Europe and the U.S.[5]

Regarding the impact of these dismissals, J. Leite Lopes, director of the division of high energies at the Center for Nuclear Research, University of Strasbourg, France, noted in the BULLETIN OF THE ATOMIC SCIENTISTS (December 1976):

> I have just received information that scientists in Argentina...are being dismissed from their jobs and forbidden to accept jobs in any educational or scientific institute in the country. At least 56 men and women associated with the Argentine National Research Council, including biologists like M. Cereijido; several collaborators of L.F. Leloir, an Argentine Nobel laureate in chemistry; and physicists...have been summarily dismissed by the "Interventor" of the council and by the military junta.
> I personally know what this means, not only for the possibility of continuation of one's own scientific work but also for the anxieties, personal crises and family suffering which ensue.[6]

Physicists are not the only scientists affected by these dismissals in Argentina. SCIENCE has reported that the letter from the group of Mexican intellectuals to General Videla stated also that "several hundreds" of physicians, psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers who worked for hospitals and mental health centers in Argentina have been dismissed.[7] OUTREACH, a report published by the Argentine Information Service Center, noted in October 1976 that the following dismissals had occurred in psychology and psychiatry:

> The School of Psychology of the University of Buenos Aires has been dismantled and 90% of its faculty fired. The three Mental Health Centers of the City of Buenos Aires have been closed and the Departments of Psychiatry located in the hospitals of the industrial belt of Buenos Aires intervened (sic) and their functioning reduced to 10% of normal.[8]

OUTREACH further noted that the Argentine Federation of Psychiatrists (AFP) had circulated a statement denouncing the abduction, disappearance or imprisonment without trial of nine Argentine psychiatrists, and reported that the quarters of the AFP had been repeatedly raided by the Argentine police.[9]

Amnesty International has also detailed reductions in the medical staff of various Argentine mental hospitals. Their report notes that the Borda hospital in Buenos Aires is a representative example of the extent of the cuts:

> The Borda had a full-time staff of 100 doctors and psychologists (caring) for 2,300 inmates and running an out-patients' clinic. In April 1976, seven heads of departments were "suspended" and more than 100 > volunteers dismissed...The prestigious psychiatric department of the Lanus hospital which taught students from all over Latin America has also suffered badly... The number of beds in the psycho-pathology unit and neurology unit has been reduced by 50%. The psychiatric wing of the Avellaneda hospital has been virtually forced to close after the dismissal of 58 doctors.[10]

Arrests and Abductions of Argentinian Scientists

Information about arrests or abductions of scientists in Argentina is very sketchy and incomplete, and personal witnesses to such incidents often risk their own safety by giving details to outside groups. Once learning about an arrest or abduction, however, it is important for an outside group to make its concerns known to appropriate government agencies. In his BAS article, J. Leite Lopes states:

> The solidarity of the international scientific community is the greatest -- and perhaps the only -- external help that a scientist in such a situation can receive.[11]

The AAAS Committee has prepared a list of names of eleven individuals, who appear to have been arrested or abducted by the Argentine government. The Committee has submitted this list to the OAS Inter-American Commission on Human Rights, and has requested the Commission to do an on-site visit to Argentina in order to investigate these cases. The eleven individuals are:

1) Antonio MISETICH. Dr. Misetich is an Argentinian physicist of international reputation. He was arrested at his home in Buenos Aires on April 19, 1976, and imprisoned without formal charge. Initially, his arrest and detention were acknowledged through correspondence between U.S. scientists and the Argentine Embassy in Washington, D.C. More recently, however, representatives of the Argentine Foreign Ministry maintain that he was not arrested and that his whereabouts are unknown.[12]

Dr. Misetich is 38 years old, and obtained his Ph.D. from the University of Buenos Aires in 1964. From 1965-1966 he was a staff member at the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, New Jersey. In 1966 he went to the Francis Bitter National Magnet Laboratory at MIT and also worked at Brookhaven National Laboratory. In 1970, he returned to Argentina and became a staff scientist at the Argentine National Atomic Energy Commission (Comision National de Energia Atomica, CNEA). He held this position until his arrest, except for a year as Professor and Head of the Physical Chemistry Department at the University of Buenos Aires in 1973-1974. His Research interests include Solid State Physics and Magnetism and Optical Properties of Magnetic Materials.[13]

After the arrest of Dr. Misetich in April 1976, the Director of the National Magnet Laboratory at MIT wrote to the current Director of CNEA in Buenos Aires, offering a position to Misetich if the Argentinian authorities were to grant him permission to leave the country. It is not known whether or not this offer has been communicated to Dr. Misetich.

2) Federico ALVAREZ ROJAS. Dr. Alvarez Rojas is a physicist and has worked at CNEA since 1968, most recently as the director of the X-ray diffraction laboratory. His wife (Hilda Leikis de Alvarez Rojas) is a computer programmer, and worked at Bairesco S.A. (Burroughs). On October 1, 1976, Dr. Alvarez Rojas and his wife were abducted from their home by an armed group, believed to be acting on behalf of the Argentinian government. Since that time, vigorous efforts to find them have been made by the father of Dr. Alvarez Rojas, representatives of the Catholic church, and the Red Cross without success. There is no information on where they might be held nor the state of their health.14/

3) Juan Carlos GALLARDO. Dr. Gallardo received his Ph.D. at Yeshiva University in 1970 under the supervision of Prof. Leonard Susskind. Dr. Gallardo was the director of the Institute for Mathematics, Astronomy and Physics (IMAF) at the National University of Cordoba, until 1974 when he resigned in protest of government restrictions of campus activities. Dr. Gallardo remained at the Institute as a professor after his resignation. He was arrested in early March 1976 (before the March military coup) and has been charged with participation with guerillas. He has been held in a Cordoba prison (Sierra Chica) since that time, and is still believed to be there. The Committee has learned that the Chairman of the Physics Department at the Yeshiva University has written to the IMAF offering a position to Dr. Gallardo, without response.15/

4) Gabriella CARABELLI. Dr. Carabelli was also a physicist and a member of the faculty of the IMAF in Cordoba. She had previously worked in the Quantum Chemistry Group, University of Uppsala, in Sweden. She was arrested, along with her daughter in February 1976, and has not been located since that time. There is an unconfirmed report that her body has been found.16/

5) Eduardo PASQUINI. Dr. Pasquini is a nuclear physicist who has worked at the Center for Nuclear Studies in Saclay, Paris (1970-73) and in the Center for Nuclear Research in Strasbourg (Oct. 1973-March 1976). He then taught in the Physics Department, as an associate professor, at the University of Rosario. His wife is Dr. Liliana Mizraji de Pasquini, a renowned psychologist in Rosario, and also taught at the University, as an associate professor in the Faculty of Psychology. Both Dr. Pasquini and his wife were abducted from their home by a military commando of the Argentine army on the night of June 10, 1976. There is no information on their location or status.17/

6) Claudio BERMAN. Dr. Berman is a psychiatrist practicing in Cordoba, and was director of a small clinic there. He is also the brother of Dr. Sylvia Berman (see below). He was arrested at his home on April 27, 1976 by an army patrol, and was then apparently held in an old army prison in Cordoba (Campo de la Rivera). Afterwards he was transferred to a prison for those already serving trial sentences, and used for political prisoners. The military authorities have declined to inform this family of his whereabouts and it was only through an anonymous phone call (from one of his former patients who witnessed the arrest of Dr. Berman) that the family learned his location. He is now held completely incommunicado and without charges.18/

7) Sylvia BERMAN. Dr. Berman, a former president of the Argentine Federation of Psychiatrists (AFP), is also a psychiatrist with a private practice in Cordoba. In September 1976, the AFP denounced the methods used by the Argentine government in their arrests and prisons; on November 13, military officials came to the home of Dr. Berman and arrested her daughter (Irene Torrents) and grandson. The officials also went to another home and arrested the fiancé of her second daughter. Dr. Berman herself has gone into hiding, but has continued to denounce these abductions through telegrams to the government. There is no information on the location of her relatives or her own whereabouts.19/

8) Monica MIGNONE. Ms. Mignone is a school teacher and educational psychologist who worked in Buenos Aires. She is also the daughter of Dr. Emilio Mignone, former Deputy Commissioner of Education for Argentina and former Ambassador of Education at the OAS. Ms. Mignone was arrested in May 1976 by four military men who appeared at her father's home. Dr. Mignone has been unable to obtain any information on his daughter's location or status.20/

9) Mario YACUB. Mr. Yacub is the President of the Argentine Lawyers Association, professor of law and political science, and one of the few lawyers working with political prisoners in Buenos Aires. Mr. Yacub was kidnapped by six armed civilians at his office on November 8, 1976. There has been no additional information on his location or status.21/

10) Horacio DATTORI. Dr. Dattori is an Argentine astrophysicist, formerly employed at the IMAF in Cordoba, until his dismissal after the military coup in March 1976. Dr. Dattori disappeared in August 1976, and is assumed to have been kidnapped by Argentine government forces. Dr. Dattori previously worked in Germany from 1971 to 1973 at the Max Planck Institute fur Physik und Astrophysik, under the supervision of Dr. Ehlers. Since his abduction, the relatives of Dr. Dattori have attempted to trace him without success. It is rumored that Dr. Dattori is being held in a concentration camp known as "La Perla" in Argentina.22/

11) Valentin BARENBLITT. Dr. Barenblitt is an Argentine psychiatrist who worked as the head of the psychiatric department of Policlinico de Lanus in Buenos Aires. In April 1976, during the widespread dismissals at Lanus, Dr. Barenblitt was suspended. On April 21, 1977, he was allegedly abducted in Buenos Aires. Shortly after his abduction, however, it was learned that he had been released but is still under suspension.23/

There are numerous other individual cases, involving physicists, biochemists, psychiatrists and psychologists, which have been brought to the attention of the Committee through various reports and press articles on general repressions in Argentina.

Communications with the OAS

The Chairman of the AAAS Committee (Dr. H. Bentley Glass) first wrote to the OAS Inter-American Commission on Human Rights in November 1976, expressing concern about the reports of arrests and dismissals of scientists in Argentina. The executive secretary to the Commission replied that this letter could not be processed without information on individual cases.

A second letter was sent from the AAAS Committee to the OAS on February 7, 1977, which included documentation on the first nine cases listed above. The Commission's executive secretary responded in March that these claims would be reviewed during the next Commission meeting in mid-May.

Following this response, the AAAS Committee sent a third communication to the OAS Commission in early May 1977. This communication included the submission of two additional individual cases (Dattori and Barenblitt) for the Commission's review, and also contained two formal requests by the Committee: 1) That the OAS Commission request an on-site investigation in Argentina in order to examine the alleged violations of human rights of scientists and other persons; and 2) That the Committee be given the opportunity to provide witnesses during the May OAS Commission meeting, to speak about the concerns of scientists over human rights violations of their colleagues in Argentina.

The request to provide witnesses was granted by the Commission, and the AAAS Committee invited Dr. Maximo Pedro Victoria, who had himself been imprisoned for seven months in Argentina in 1976, to testify on their behalf. Dr. Victoria appeared before the Commission on May 26, 1977, accompanied by Dr. Jeremy J. Stone, member of the AAAS Committee, and Ms. Rosemary Chalk, the Committee staff officer.

The Committee has not yet learned whether or not the Commission plans to request an on-site investigation in Argentina.

Dear [redacted]

I have been asked to reply to your letter of April 20 to the President concerning Eduardo Munoz Salas and Oswaldo Gomez, two Chilean prisoners who are reportedly under detention in Argentina.

I regret that I have no information on this case. However, I will send copies of this exchange of correspondence to our Embassy in Buenos Aires in the hope that they may know something further about this matter.

As you may be aware, we are cooperating with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees in a parole program for Chilean refugees in Argentina. A number of Chilean refugees will be able to travel to the United States, thanks to that program.

I hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

Fernando E. Rondon

1. Arizona Governor Raul Castro, widely reported in Argentina press media to be President Carter's choice for US Ambassador to Argentina, was quoted in May 29 Buenos Aires press to have stated that "Human rights have not been violated in Argentina." Alleged quotes were taken from Mexican sources, including newspaper EXCELSIOR. Gov. Castro's remarks reportedly were made at Mexican-US Interparliamentary meeting at Hermosillo.

2. Gov. Castro reportedly said that President Carter's concern over human rights "does not signal any disruption of diplomatic relations or of friendship between Argentines and Americans", and added that "the question of human rights cannot interfere in the policies of free and sovereign nations. Respect for sovereignty must ~~by~~ be maintained." Asked whether US military assistance to Argentina might be restored, Gov. Castro was quoted as saying: "I have no official information regarding that, but I see a great strengthening of friendship and

THE IDENTITY OF 12 OF THE 16 SUBVERSIVES ALLEGEDLY KILLED IN A SURPRISE RAID AND SHOOTOUT WITH SECURITY FORCES IN MONTE GRANDE MAY 27 WAS RELEASED IN AN ARMY COMMUNIQUE PUBLISHED JUNE 2 (SEE SEPTEL.) LISTED AMONG THE VICTIMS WAS ONE ISABEL KASERMAN WHO WAS IDENTIFIED AS A FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVE OF THE FOURTH INTERNATIONAL. FGR EMBASSY HAS IDENTIFIED VICTIM AS ELIZABETH KASEMANN, A GERMAN NATIONAL WHO WAS REPORTEDLY ABDUCTED AND DISAPPEARED ON MARCH 8 (SEE REFTEL). COMMENT: THE IDENTIFICATION OF MS. KASEMANN AS THE FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVE TO A HIGH LEVEL MEETING OF SUBVERSIVES BROKEN UP BY SECURITY FORCES IS DIFFICULT TO RECONCILE WITH EARLIER REPORTS OF HER ABDUCTION BY PERSONS CLAIMING TO BE SECURITY FORCES THREE MONTHS EARLIER. IF SHE HAD BEEN IN THE HANDS OF AUTHORITIES PREVIOUS TO THE MONTE GRANDE RAID, IT IS POSSIBLE THAT HER NAME COULD HAVE BEEN ADDED TO THE LIST OF VICTIMS IN ORDER TO DISCOURAGE FURTHER PROBES BY THE WEST GERMAN EMBASSY INTO THIS CASE. 1. THE EMBASSY IS SOMEWHAT TROUBLED BY REFTEL'S OFFHAND REFERENCE TO "DISAPPEARED" SINCE OF EIGHT NAMES CITED, THE MESSAGE ITSELF MAKES CLEAR THAT FOUR ARE DETAINED IN QUATRO (SIC) ALAMOS AND ONE HAS REAPPEARED. PARA 4 OF SANTIAGO 4445 REPORTED THE REAPPEARANCE OF THE SIXTH, JAIME TRONCOSO VALDES. VICTOR CONDORINI, A LONG TIME COMMUNIST WRITER FOR DEFUNCT "CLARIN" WAS HELD ONLY TWO DAYS. HE HAS BEEN FREE SINCE MAY 3. THUS OF THE EIGHT, ONLY VICENTE GARCIA ROMIREZ REMAINS MISSING (SEE PARA 7 SANTIAGO 4103) FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ON GARCIA).

2. 2. DROUILLAS, ZULETA, FIGUEROA AND MARDONES ARE CAUGHT UP IN THE VILLA MEXICO CASE DESCRIBED IN SANTIAGO 4103 (PARA 6) AND 4445 (PARA 9). SEPTEL REPORTS THE CURRENT STATUS OF THIS SIGNIFICANT INCIDENT. MARDONES AND FIGUEROA WERE RELEASED JUNE 22 WHEN THE MILITARY PROSECUTOR DROPPED CHARGES. THE STATUS OF DROUILLAS AND ZULETA IS NOT YET CLEAR, BUT IT SEEMS LIKELY THAT KIDNAPPING

1. EVIDENCE MOUNTS THAT CHILE'S NOTORIOUS SECRET POLICE AGENCY DINA (NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTORATE) MAY SOON BE SEVERELY RESTRICTED. SIGNIFICANT STRAWS IN THE WIND INCLUDE:

-- PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT EYZAGUIRRE'S COMMENT TO US THAT HE AGAIN TOLD PRESIDENT PINOCHET THAT DINA WAS OUT OF CONTROL;

-- EYZAGUIRRE'S CONFIRMATION OTHAT PINOCHET TOLD CATHOLIC BISHOPS DINA WOULD SOON BE DISSOLVED (SEE ALSO [redacted]

-- COMMENTS [redacted] FROM A HARDLINE AIR FORCE OFFICIAL WITH MINISTERIAL RANK THAT CHILE'S IMAGE REQUIRED CHANGES IN DINA [redacted] AND

-- DINA'S OWN PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM CALLING FOR STRUCTURAL REFORMS IN THE POLITICAL AND SECURITY AREA [redacted]

2. AT THE SAME TIME, CIVIL COURTS AND CHILEAN MEDIA HAVE BECOME ALMOST BRASH IN THEIR POINTED CRITICISM OF DINA AND IN THEIR REVELATIONS OF ITS CLUMSINESS. A SEPTEL WILL FILL IN THE BACKGROUND OF THE FOLLOWING EXAMPLES:

-- THE VELOSO/VILLA MEXICO KIDNAPPING FRAME UP CAME APART AT THE SEAMS WHEN THE MILITARY PROSECUTOR DROPPED DINA-BASED [redacted]

CHARGES THAT A CATHOLIC CHURCH LABOR ACTIVIST, A SOCIALIST AND A COMMUNIST HAD KIDNAPPED AND TORTURED A 16-YEAR-OLD BOY. THE PROSECUTOR CALLED THE CHARGES "ABSOLUTELY GROUNDLESS." SINCE DINA HAD BROKEN ITS VERSION TO THE PRESS FIRST, THE STORY WAS FAIR GAME AND THE MEDIA PUBLISHED THE BOY'S ACCOUNT THAT HE WAS TORTURED BY SECURITY AGENTS;

-- "QUE PASA'S" EDITOR GOT QUICK AND WIDESPREAD SUPPORT FROM OTHER MEDIA WHEN HE THWARTED AN ABDUCTION ATTEMPT AFTER HIS CONSERVATIVE, TRADITIONALLY PRO-GOVERNMENT NEWSWEEKLY HAD RUN A SCATHING ACCOUNT OF THE VELOSO CASE AND A STIFF EDITORIAL;

-- A MILITARY COURT FOUND NO EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT DINA'S

3. COMMENT: WHEN I SPOKE WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET JUNE 20 HE LET ME KNOW THAT HE HAD UNDERSTOOD USG'S CONCERNS ABOUT THE SECURITY SERVICES' ACCOUNTABILITY AND THEIR REPURATIONS. MY READING AT THAT TIME WAS THAT THE PRESIDENT FREQUENTLY BLUSTERS THE LOUDEST PRIOR TO A POLICY SHIFT (SANTIAGO 5054). WE HAVE, OF COURSE, BEEN DISAPPOINTED IN THE PAST. BUT THERE IS THE SMELL OF SOMETHING IMPORTANT IN THE WIND, AND WE ARE CAUTIOUSLY OPTIMISTIC. BOYATT.

E. O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: PINS, SHUM, CI
SUBJECT: PRESSURE AGAINST DINA MOUNTS

REFS: (A) SANTIAGO 4103, (B) SANTIAGO 4445, (C) SANTIAGO 5413
(D) STATE 151062

1. SUMMARY: A ONCE PERVASIVE FEAR OF DINA HAS BEGUN TO FADE, AS ACCOUNTS OF ITS PREVARICATIONS AND INEPTITUDE GAIN WIDER COVERAGE IN THE MEDIA. MILITARY TRIBUNALS AND LAWYERS HAVE REJECTED DINA'S VERSION OF EVENTS IN TWO SIGNIFICANT CASES. THIS TELEGRAM HIGHLIGHTS A SERIES OF EPISODES IN WHICH DINA HAS BEEN BADLY DISCREDITED. END SUMMARY.

2. THE VILLA MEXICO/VELASO CHAPTER. WHILE MOTIVES AND FULL DETAINS MAY NEVER FULLY CLARIFIED, A CHRONOLOGY OF THIS CASE AT THIS POINT SHOULD BY ITSELF BE SUFFICIENT TO ILLUSTRATE DINA'S EXTREME STUPIDITY.

A. MAY 2: A GROUP OF MEN PICK UP THE 16 YEAR OLD SON OF CARLOS VELOSO, A LONG-TIME LABOR LEADER WORKING WITH THE CARDIJN FOUNDATION, WHICH IS SUPPORTED BY THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. THE BOY RETURNS HOME NEAR MIDNIGHT, OBVIOUSLY BADLY BEATEN AND SCARRED BY CIGARETTE BURNS. ON THE NEXT DAY THE VELOSOS REPORT THE INCIDENT TO CARDIJN CO-WORKERS. THEY FILE LEGAL PAPERS SEEKING PROTECTION FROM REPRISALS BY THE SECURITY AGENTS WHO ALLEGEDLY HAD

[redacted]

TORTURED THE YOUTH. CARDIJN AND THE CHURCH SEE THE INCIDENT AS ANOTHER EFFORT BY THE GOC TO DISCREDIT THEM AFTER THEIR ANTI-GOC MAY DAY ACTIVITIES AND JUST BEFORE THE ILO CONVENED IN GENEVA.

B. MAY 9. SECURITY AGENTS DETAIN A CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATE (PDC) ACTIVITST FROM VILLA MEXICO, A SANTIAGO SUBURB. THE ACTIVITST, WILLIAM ZUELETA, LATER SAYS THAT HE MANAGED TO ESCAPE THEM AFTER A BEATING. HE SHOWS VICARIATE PERSONNEL THE PLACE WHERE HE HAD BEEN TORTURED.

C. MAY 9. EARLY THE SAME MORNING, OSWALDO FIGUEROA, A 50 YEAR OLD SOCIALIST, IS DRAGGED FROM HIS APARTMENT BY SECURITY AGENTS.

UNCLASSIFIED

D. MAY 11. SECURITY AGENTS OCCUPY THE VELOSO HOUSE, OSTENSIBLY TO PROTECT THE FAMILY FROM REPRISALS. IN FACT, THEY STAY FOR WEEKS, ISOLATING THEM FROM ALL OUTSIDERS. AGENTS PICK UP HUMBERTO DROUILLAS, A 59 YEAR OLD CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT ALSO FROM VILLA MEXICO; EDUARDO DE LA FUENTE, A LONG TIME COMMUNIST WHO HAD RECENTLY MOVED OUT OF VILLA MEXICO. (THEY MAY ALSO HAVE PICKED UP JORGE TRONCOSO AGUIRRE, A NEIGHBORHOOD LEADER OF THE UP - THE OLD ALLENDE COALITION - AND JEWELER.) SAME EVENING, AN AMBULANCE SPIRITS AWAY ZUELETA UNDER STRANGE CIRCUMSTANCES.

E. MAY 12. DINA AGENTS PICK UP LUIS MARDONES, AN EMPLOYEE OF THE LABOR SECTION OF THE CARDIJN FOUNDATION.

F. MAY 14. DINA AGENTS TELL FIGUEROA'S FAMILY THAT HE IS AT CUATRO ALAMOS. DINA, THEY SAY, HAD RESCUED FIGUEROA FROM THE SAME CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS WHO HAD ALSO ABDUCTED VELOSO. DROUILLAS' FAMILY IS TOLD THAT HE IS AT CUATRO ALAMOS FOR HIS ROLE IN THE KIDNAPPING.

G. THE FOLLOWING WEEK, RIGHTIST TABLOID "LA SEGUNDA" AND GOC-OWNED "EL CRONISTA" FEATURE INTERVIEWS WITH THE VELOSO FAMILY IN WHICH THE BOY ABSOLVES DINA AND IDENTIFIES DROUILLAS, DE LA FUENTE AND ZULETA AS THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS ABDUCTION AND TORTURE. THE FATHER ADDS THAT THE BOY HAD BEEN RAPED BY HIS ABDUCTORS. ONE GOC VERSION CONFUSES JAIME TRONCOSO VALDEZ

(A 20 YEAR OLD PARALYTIC SOCIALIST ACTIVIST WHO HAD BEEN HELD FOR ONLY A WEEK OR SO) WITH JORGE TRONCOSO AND LINKED TRONCOSO WITH THE MAY DAY BOMBINGS AS WELL AS THE VELOSO KIDNAPPING. SINCE JORGE TRONSCOSO IS STILL MISSING, THE GOC FINDS IT CONVENIENT TO CONTINUE THIS CONFUSION.

H. THE CHURCH AND CARDIJN FOUNDATION MOUNT AN ARTICULATE DEFENSE. FULLY AIRED IN THE MEDIA, MOST OF IT EVIDENCES SKEPTICISM OF THE GOC VERSION. THE MEDIA APPEARS TO RELISH REPORTING ON THIS HERETOFORE TABOO AREA. THE GOC THEREUPON TAKES THE NOW UNUSUAL STEP OF DECIDING TO PROSECUTE THE CASE UNDER "TIME OF WAR" PROCEDURES RATHER THAN IN CIVIL COURTS AS A COMMON CRIME, OR UNDER MILITARY "TIME OF PEACE" RULES.

I. THE VELOSOS MEANWHILE ARRANGE FOR PAROLE INTO CANADA. DURING THE WEEK OF JUNE 6, THEY DECIDE TO RECANT, AND REVERT TO THEIR FIRST ACCOUNT. THE VICARIATE, ARMED WITH THEIR DEPOSITION, CONVINCES THE SUPREME COURT TO NAME A JUDGE TO HEAR THE ACCOUNT FIRSTHAND ON THE NEXT DAY SINCE THE VELOSOS ARE TO DEPART THAT EVENING. NEXT MORNING, THE VELOSOS ARE PICKED UP BY PLAINCLOTHED POLICE BUT ARE QUICKLY LOCATED AT A POLICE STATION. THE JUDGE RUSHES OVER AND OBTAINS THE YOUTH'S STATEMENT BEFORE HE IS WISKED AWAY BY THE MILITARY FOR A NINE HOUR INTERROGATION AND A WEEKEND IN IRONS IN JUVENILE DELINQUENT'S PRISON.

J. THE BOYIS RELEASED AND LEAVES FOR CANADA A FEW DAYS LATER. THE MILITARY PROSECUTOR RULES ON JUNE 23 THAT THE CHARGES AGAINST MARDONES, DE LA FUENTE, AND FIGUEROA ARE "COMPLETELY WITH MERIT." THEY ARE UNCONDITIONALLY RELEASED. THE MYSTERIOUS ZULETA AND DROUILLAS AND A NEW FIGURE -- JAIME SOTO VERA -- ARE HELD FOR POSSIBLE GUN CONTROL VIOLATIONS BUT RELEASED FROM INCOMMUNICADO STATUS.

K. "QUE PASA," GENERALLY ONE OF THE MOST CONSERVATIVE AND PRO-GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS, SUBSEQUENTLY RUNS A DEVASTITING ACCOUNT OF THE VELOSO CASE INCLUDING A CHRONOLOGY LARGELY BASED ON DATA SUPPLIED BY THE VICARIATE. ITS STORY PICTURES THE VOLOSOS EMBRACING SEVERAL OF THE ALLEGED ABDUCTORS. IT NOTES THAT YOUNG VELOSO WAS SO UPSET THAT HE VOMITED BLOOD IN THE PRESENCE OF REPORTERS. THE SAME ISSUE CONTAINS A GUEST EDITORIAL ESSENTIALLY ARGUING THAT AN EMERGENCY REGIME COULD NOT BE "INSTITUTIONALIZED," THUS HITTING AT THE BASIC TENET OF THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT.

L. NO ONE QUESTIONS THE VERACITY OF "QUE PASA'S" RESPECTED EDITOR, JAIME MARTINEZ, WHEN HE REPORTS THAT UNIDENTIFIED MEN HAD TRIED TO ABDUCT HIM TWO DAYS AFTER THE FOREGOING ARTICLE APPEARED. THE OUTCRY IS IMMEDIATE: THE GOC INSISTS THAT IT WILL GET TO THE BOTTOM OF THE MATTER; "EL MERCURIO" RUNS A SCATHING EDITORIAL ABOUT INTIMIDATION OF THE PRESS -- LEAVING NO DOUBT IN ANYONE'S MIND WHERE IT WAS PLACING THE BLAME.

3. MORE FALL OUT FROM THE SHEILA CASSIDY CASE: FOLLOWING THE NOVEMBER 1975 DETENTION OF BRITISH DOCTOR SHEILA CASSIDY, THE GOC HAD ASSERTED THAT DINA AGENTS HAD BEEN WOUNDED BY A HAIL OF AKA MACHINEGUN FIRE FROM SOMEONE ACCOMPANYING DR. CASSIDY (IN "RETURNING" THE FIRE, DINA KILLED A DOMESTIC IN THE HOUSE). DINA ALSO ALLEGED IT FOUND A CLANDESTINE HOSPITAL IN THE BUILDING. THESE CHARGES WERE REJECTED BY THE COLUMBAN FATHERS, OWNERS OF THE RESIDENCE. IN A QUIET RULING IN MAY 1976, THE MILITARY

JUDGE HEARING THE CASE FOUND NO EVIDENCE OF A CLANDESTINE HOSPITAL, NO EVIDENCE THAT THERE HAD BEEN FIRING FROM THE BUILDING,

AND NO EVIDENCE THAT ANY DINA PERSONNEL HAD BEEN INJURED. NOW THE COLUMBAN FATHERS HAVE HAD THAT DECISION UPHELD BY A MILITARY APPEALS COURT (MIXED MILITARY AND CIVILIAN JUDGES) AND THE CASE HAS BEEN STAYED INDEFINITELY. THIS APPELLATE DICISION RECEIVED AMPLE MEDIA PLAY.

4. COMMENT: MANY QUESTIONS ABOUT THE VELOSO CASE REMAIN UNANSWERED: HOW AND WHY DID DINA GET ITSELF INTO THIS MESS? WHERE IS JORGE TRONCOSO? WHAT IS ZULETA'S ROLE? VELOSO SENIOR'S? DETECTIVE THRILLER READERS CAN HAVE A FIELD DAY.

5. UNCLEAR AS THEY WERE, THE INCIDENTS MADE MANY POINTS TO ANY CHILEAN WHO CARED TO READ ABOUT THEM. DINA ARRESTS ILLEGALLY, DETAINS ILLEGALLY, TORTURES, INTIMIDATES, AND CAUSES PEOPLE TO DISAPPEAR -- AND THEN LIES ABOUT IT ALL.

6. IT WOULD SEEM UNLIKELY THAT ANY SECURITY AGENCY COULD SURVIVE INTACT AFTER SUCH A SERIES OF REVELATIONS. BUT WHETHER IT DOES OR NOT , THE EVENTS OF THE PAST FEW WEEKS HAVE ERODED FEAR OF THE ORGANIZATION: IT NO LONGER APPEARS OMNIPOTENT. INDEED, THE PUBLIC HAS SEEN THAT EVEN WITHIN THE ARMY, DINA HAS BEEN SNUBBED. THE VILLA MEXICO INCIDENT MAY NEVER BE CLARIFIED, BUT IT ALREADY HAS CHANGED THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THIS GOVERNMENT'S SECURITY FORCES AND ITS CITIZENRY.

Campora Exile Decision Reversed. Argentina's ambassador, Aja Espil, has told US officials in Washington that a decision to let former President Campora go into exile was reversed because of the reception accorded Chilean exile Clodomiro Almeyda (Former Minister under Allende) by the Department. (SECRET/EXDIS, State 153359, July 1)

INR Comment: Campora is something of a spokesman for at least part of the Peronist left. Argentine authorities believe that their situation is not fully understood in the US and have already protested the official US reception of Hipolito Solari Yrigoyen, a well-known lawyer-politician and human rights advocate who was recently released from an Argentine prison. They will be hesitant about granting Campora safe conduct if they think he will be similarly received. (SECRET)

Recent Human Rights Developments. Embassy Buenos Aires reported the following recent development on the human rights fronts:

--litigation continues over the government's ban on the Jehovah's Witnesses; the government has appealed a June 16 ruling which found the ban unconstitutional, and the case will go to the Supreme Court;

--another priest apparently has been kidnapped, but Church authorities have decided against taking a strong public stand because they do not wish to increase Videla's vulnerability to hardline pressure;

--Videla is considering a bill which outlines new regulations governing the constitutional right of state-of-siege detainees to leave the country;

--a federal judge has dismissed the government's case against 45 Radical Party leaders who signed a letter critical of official policies;

--since June 23, military trials have resulted in 21 convictions on subversion charges and four acquitals;

--the sentences of three convicted subversives have been reduced by two-thirds in accordance with a July 1976 law which provided for such action in cases in which suspects surrendered and renounced Marxist beliefs. (CONFIDENTIAL, Buenos Aires 5028, July 8)

INR Comment: Military and civilian court activity is increasing. At least some alleged subversives (in the non-combatant category) are being processed, and civilian judges appear willing to dismiss government charges against non-terrorist dissenters such as the Jehovah's Witnesses and Radical Party critics.

Church authorities realize that the Church could bring potentially decisive pressure for change in the government's human rights practices. They fear that Videla would be weakened in the process, however, and the way could be opened for a hardline takeover. After publishing a strongly critical bishop's manifesto in early May, the Church has again decided to hold its fire and hope that Videla's reputed moderation will bring gradual improvements. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Chile

Frei Said To Offer Support to Pinochet. Former President Eduardo Frei has decided to offer his tacit support to President Pinochet. Such support would be contingent upon Pinochet's taking steps to:

--reduce the state-of-siege;

--remove the arrest powers of the Directorate of National Intelligence (DINA);

--broaden the base of the Council of State in order to make it more democratic; and

--end the persecution of the Christian Democratic Party.

Frei's decision was prompted by what he sees as the lack of a viable alternative to the present government and his concern that too much external pressure on the Pinochet government could damage the prospects for an improvement on the human rights front in Chile.

[redacted] reported that Frei is convinced that democratic elements within the military would like to return to the barracks so long as Chile's internal security is not endangered. Frei also is reported to have said that, in talks with US officials, he had urged a human rights approach to dictatorial regimes designed so as not to harden their positions and thereby play into the hands of Marxist forces. [redacted]

INR Comment: If Frei is actually considering some sort of negotiations with Pinochet, this clearly represents a softening of his attitude toward the president. If it is also true that he now believes that external pressure is not likely to unseat Pinochet, Frei may sense that encouragement of domestic sentiment for military withdrawal from the government is the best hope for curbing Pinochet's authoritarianism and getting the nation on the path to eventual restoration of civilian rule. (SECRET)

Some Rights Progress Seen. Embassy Santiago's draft human rights evaluation reports the following improvements over the past year:

--a marked decline in the number of disappearances and reported cases of arbitrary detention and torture, with "dramatically significant quantitative improvement" during the first half of 1977;

--a decrease in the number of persons held for essentially political/security reasons from over 4,000 (November 1975) to under 400 (early 1977). Most of those being held on security charges were either convicted or standing trial for gun control violations;

--commutation into exile of the sentences of hundreds of detainees;

--evidence that the civilian judiciary has become more assertive, although not yet highly effective, in handling political/security cases.

On the negative side, the Embassy emphasizes the bans on civil and political liberties. The March 1977 dissolution of political parties and a formal press censorship law represent significant deteriorations.

The report concludes that President Pinochet is responsible for both past abuses and recent improvements. Particular attention is drawn to the president's curbing of DINA's activities in response to both civilian and military dissatisfaction with DINA's notorious excesses.

The Embassy's Defense Attache Office (DAO) dissents, arguing that the report does not present an "adequately balanced view" of Chilean events, and states that improvements made by Chilean authorities are too often overlooked. Emphasizing what it perceives as widespread popular support for the post-1973 junta and successes in such areas as minimum employment and low-cost housing, the DAO recommends a "flexible" US posture which would leave room for positive responses to Chilean improvements. (SECRET, Santiago 5448, July 1)

Panama

Exiles' Return Urged. Exiled Panamanian lawyer Jorge Turner and noted Colombian author Gabriel Garcia Marquez arrived in Panama on June 29, intending, according to press accounts, to discuss the status of leftist Panamanian exiles with General Torrijos. Turner claims to have discussed a general amnesty with Torrijos in Mexico on May 7, and on May 26, the GOP announced that 84 exiles (including Turner) could return. Torrijos indicated at the time that the cases of exiles not granted amnesty on May 26 would be reviewed individually. Embassy Panama believes that Garcia Marquez and Turner want to lobby Torrijos on behalf of that group. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Panama 4759, July 1)

INR Comment: Torrijos has been permitting the return of an increasing number of exiles over the past year. His main criterion appears to be whether an individual's presence in Panama would threaten political stability. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Paraguay

Stroessner Receives Rights Team. A two-man team representing the International League for Human Rights (ILHR) visited Paraguay from June 23 to July 2 to study the nation's legal system, particularly with respect to cases of political prisoners. Assisted by Embassy Asuncion and accorded full cooperation by the Paraguayan authorities, the ILHR team met with President Stroessner and other officials, Church leaders, lawyers for political prisoners, former detainees, opposition political figures, and human rights leaders. According to Foreign Minister Nogues, the government's cooperative attitude reflected its conviction that openness is the best policy. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Asuncion 2735, July 6)

INR Comment: Stroessner's handling of the ILHR visit evidences his belief that the government's human rights position will withstand inspection by outside groups. It also substantiates earlier reports that his hesitancy about approving an Inter-American Human Rights Commission (IAHRC) visit results more from Brazilian and Uruguayan pressures than from concern about whatever findings an IAHRC team might report. Stroessner undoubtedly realizes that no investigation will give him a clean bill of health; but he probably feels that the inevitable criticism will be outweighed by the improvement in the country's image which should result from his permitting the visit to take place. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

West German Terrorists On Trial in Israel. Reuters reported that two West Germans and three Arabs went on trial in Israel on July 6. They are accused of attempting to shoot down an Israeli airliner with a rocket at Nairobi in January 1976, the West German Embassy in Tel Aviv said. According to Reuters, Israeli officials refused to divulge information about the secret military trial, which is being held at an undisclosed location in Israel. The trial had been scheduled to start on June 15, but the hearing was postponed at the last moment when Israeli Chief of Staff Gur disqualified the Germans' two Israeli defense attorneys. They then asked to be represented by West German lawyers but were refused. (Reuters, July 6).

INR Comment: Kenyan officials arrested the Germans in Nairobi in January 1976. They were turned over to the Israelis and held in Israeli prisons for more than a year. During this period, Israel did not inform the Federal Republic that its nationals were under arrest in Israel and had not been tried. The West German Government protested in March. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Philippines

Detainee Release Publicized. Embassy Manila reports that 157 of the 500 detainees whom President Marcos recently ordered freed were formally released on July 7 in a ceremony covered by the press and TV. A Filipino "detainees committee" claims that only four of those released were bona fide political prisoners. An unidentified Philippine Constabulary officer said in a TV interview that most will still face charges in civil courts. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Manila 10544, July 8)

INR Comment: The release was clearly designed by senior Philippine government and military officials to secure maximum human rights publicity. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Malaysia

Human Rights No Western Monopoly. The Kuala Lumpur edition of the independent "New Straits Times," in a commentary on US human rights policy, says:

> "To withhold aid in order to encourage greater concern for human rights may well have the unintended consequence of 'destabilising' the government and bringing about more unpleasant conditions. Yet to argue that there is a different context to be considered does not amount to saying that human rights are relevant only to Western democracies. American policy must carefully avoid the cultural arrogance implied in such a view, just as leaders who wish to belittle the idea of human rights must beware of betraying the injunctions to human decency enshrined in their own traditions. For although stated in different terms and enjoined for different philosophical or religious reasons, native traditions of humaneness and moderation have long had a place in non-Western countries." (UNCLASSIFIED, Kuala Lumpur 4239, July 5)

Taiwan

Taipei Says MIG Defector Sought Human Rights. Preliminary news reports suggest that Taipei will seek to exploit the July 7 defection of a PRC MIG pilot to Taiwan in its on-going campaign to criticize Peking's record on human rights and contrast it with conditions on Taiwan. A Taiwan military spokesman claimed that the pilot radioed repeatedly, "I want human rights," on his way to his landing on the island. The spokesman quoted the pilot as saying that there "are no human rights at all on the mainland" and broadcasts about people enjoying such rights in Taiwan had reinforced his decision to escape. (Reuters/FBIS, July 7) (In accordance with a longstanding and well publicized Republic of China offer, the pilot will receive over $700,000 in gold as a result of his defection.)

Seventh Summary Execution Announced. On July 1, the Thai Government announced the summary execution (without trial) of an alleged rapist ordered by Prime Minister Thanin under the provisions of Article 21 of the Constitution. (UNCLASSIFIED, Bangkok 14636, July 5)

INR Comment: This marks the seventh execution carried out under Article 21. Prime Minister Thanin's use of the summary powers has been the subject of some public controversy in Thailand. Some of his military backers are privately critical of his reliance on Article 21 rather than the civil courts. They feel that the widely publicized executions damage Thailand's human rights image and demonstrate an insensitivity to US concerns. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Government Plans to Release 600. According to information provided to Embassy Bangkok by the Thai Director General of Corrections Department, the Thai government planned to release approximately 600 persons detained under Ordinance 22 on July 10. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Bangkok 14861, July 7)

INR Comment: Ordinance 22, promulgated after the military takeover last October, allows the government to arrest and detain in reform centers any person suspected of endangering Thai society. The Ordinance specifies nine different offense categories, three of which deal with political activity. Some 1600 Thai are currently detained under Ordinance 22, most for criminal offenses rather than political charges. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Refugees: A Problem of "Human Rights and Freedom." Armed Forces Deputy Supreme Commander Kriangsak in a

July 7 speech to the Foreign Correspondents' Club of Thailand expressed the hope that the US would not "try to be a moral arbiter for the rest of the world." He said that although it is often difficult for those born into Anglo-Saxon traditions to understand other people who undergo different processes of civilization, other countries such as Thailand cherish freedom and respect human rights but may not use same definitions as prescribed by Washington.

According to General Kriangsak, Thailand faces three major burdens to the Thai economy which obstruct the realization of basic human rights . . . subversion, the influx of refugees, and narcotics. With regard to refugees, Kriangsak said that the United States had fulfilled its responsibilities to refugees only "to a limited extent and more as a matter of form. America must not forget that the problem of refugees in Thailand is a problem involving human rights and freedom." (UNCLASSIFIED, Bangkok 14951, July 8)

SUBJECT: VIDELA CALLS FOR A POLITICAL DIALOGUE

SUMMARY: PRESIDENT VIDELA'S CALL FOR A NATIONAL DIALOGUE WITH CIVILIAN POLITICAL SECTORS IS SEEN BY MANY ARGENTINE POLITICAL OBSERVERS AS A SIGN THAT THE STRUGGLE FOR POWER BETWEEN DEMOCRATIC AND AUTHORITARIAN TENDENCIES IN THE ARMY IS BEING WON BY THE MODERATE MILITARY FACTION HEADED BY VIDELA. THERE IS VIRTUAL UNANIMITY IN THE ARMED FORCES THAT BASIC INSTITUTIONAL REFORMS ARE NECESSARY IF ARGENTINA IS TO BREAK ITS SUCCESSIVE CYCLES OF MILITARY TAKEOVERS REQUIRED TO UNDO THE CHAOS LEFT BY WEAK AND INEFFECTUAL CIVILIAN GOVERNMENTS. HOWEVER, THE ISSUES CURRENTLY DIVIDING THE ARMY APPEAR TO INCLUDE THE PERIOD OF TIME NECESSARY TO PREPARE THE GROUND FOR A RETURN TO STABLE CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT, THE POLITICAL GROUP OR GROUPS WITH WHOM THE MILITARY SHOULD "DIALOGUE" CONCERNING THE FUTURE, AND THE STRUCTURE OR SHAPE WHICH THE FUTURE CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE IN ORDER TO ASSURE THE STABILITY DESIRED. THE VIDELA-VILOA FORCES APPEAR TO FAVOR NEGOTIATIONS WITH TRADITIONAL PERONIST AND RADICAL PARTY POLITICIANS AND A SHORTER TRANSITION PERIOD, WHEREAS AUTHORITARIAN AND RIGHTWING MILITARY MEN SEEM TO BE THINKING IN TERMS OF A MORE RADICAL REFORM OF THE POLITICAL

SYSTEM, WHICH WOULD REQUIRE MORE TIME. THERE SEEMS TO BE A ROUGH CORRELATION BETWEEN THE DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES IN THAT THE MODERATES FAVORING A POLITICAL DIALOGUE TEND TO BE

MORE SENSITIVE TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM (AT LEAST FROM THE PUBLIC RELATIONS STANDPOINT), WHEREAS THE AUTHORITARIANS TEND TO BE MORE HARDLINE ON BOTH ISSUES. HOWEVER, THIS IS AN OVERSIMPLIFICATION. TRADITIONAL INSTITUTIONAL RIVALRIES WITHIN THE ARMED FORCES AND PERSONAL AMBITIONS OFTEN SUPERSEDE THE IDEOLOGICAL OR POLICY DIFFERENCES AND CONFUSE THE ISSUES. DESPITE VIDELA'S RECENT GAINS IN THE ARMY, HE IS A LONG WAY FROM WINNING THE STRUGGLE. THE DIALOGUE HAS NOT YET BEEN FORMALLY APPROVED IN THE ARMY AND MOREOVER THE ARMY HARDLINERS APPEAR TO HAVE SIGNIFICANT SUPPORT WITHIN THE NAVY AND THE AIR FORCE. THE LATTER TWO SERVICES ARE PUTTING PRESSURE ON VIDELA TO RELINQUISH HIS COMMAND OF THE ARMY AND STEP DOWN FROM THE JUNTA WHILE REMAINING AS PRESIDENT, I.E. TO BECOME THE -FOURTH MAN." AN IMPORTANT INDICATOR OF THE OUTCOME OF THE IMMEDIATE STRUGGLE IS WHETHER VIDELA WILL BE ABLE TO RETIRE EXTREME HARDLINE GENERALS WHO OPPOSE HIS PLANS. THIS PAPER IS AN INITIAL ATTEMPT TO GET AT THE ISSUES INVOLVED IN "THE DIALOGUE" AND THE CONCLUSIONS CONTAINED HEREIN SHOULD BE REGARDED AS TENTATIVE. END SUMMARY.

1. THE UNLEASHING OF THE GRAIVER AND THE ALUAR SCANDALS BY RIGHTWING MILITARY HARDLINERS IN APRIL AND MAY HAS PROVEN TO REPRESENT NO MORE THAN A TEMPORARY INTERRUPTION IN PRESIDENT VIDELA'S ATTEMPT TO CONSOLIDATE HIS POSITION WITHIN THE MILITARY REGIME AND USE THIS POSITION TO BRING ABOUT THE POLITICAL REFORMS HE IS SEEKING. VIDELA WON MAJOR GAINS DURING THE MEETING OF ARMY GENERALS IN FEBRUARY AND, AS THE COUP MARKED ITS FIRST ANNIVERSARY IN MARCH, THE GOVERNMENT APPEARED TO OBTAIN A NEW DEGREE OF STABILITY. THEN CAME THE CHALLENGE FROM PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR SAINT JEAN (PREVIOUSLY RUMORED AS AN ASPIRANT TO THE "4TH MAN" [redacted]

POSITION) IN THE FORM OF THE GRAIVER-ALUAR CRISES. HAVING DISSIPATED THE MOST FRIGHTENING ASPECTS OF THESE POLITICAL STORM CLOUDS (BY REMANDING THE ISSUES INVOLVED TO THE CIVIL AND MILITARY JUDICIAL SYSTEMS), VIDELA RECOVERED SUFFICIENT MOMENTUM TO MAKE A FRESH START TOWARD INITIATING THE PROCESS OF POLITICAL REFORM.

2. IN HIS ARMY DAY SPEECH OF MAY 29 VIDELA ANNOUNCED THAT PLANS WERE UNDERWAY TO INSTITUTIONALIZE A "WIDE AND GENEROUS DIALOGUE" WITH ALL SECTORS OF PUBLIC OPINION "EXCEPT THE CORRUPT AND SUBVERSIVES." SUCH A CIVIL-MILITARY DIALOGUE, SAID VIDELA, WOULD PREVENT THE ARMED FORCES, IN THE SOLITUDE OF THEIR POWER, FROM FALLING INTO ELITIST OR CORPORATIVIST HABITS; THE END

OBJECTIVE WAS TO BUILD "AN EFFICIENT AND STABLE DEMOCRACY." THERE WAS ANOTHER EQUALLY IMPORTANT DIMENSION TO THE SPEECH: HIS CALL TO BEGIN "WINNING THE PEACE" AFTER THE WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION WAS WON CARRIED WITH IT THE IMPLICIT PROMISE OF GREATER OBSERVANCE OF LEGALITY AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE FUTURE.

3. VIDELA THEN REPAIRED TO A KEY MEETING OF ARMY GENERALS MAY 31-JUNE 1, IN WHICH IT IS SAID THAT ALL THE GENERALS PRESENT, EXCEPT TWO, ACCEPTED HIS PROPOSAL TO INCLUDE POLITICIANS IN THE DIALOGUE. ACCORDING TO A CASA ROSADA SOURCE, IT WAS AGREED THAT DETAILED PLANS FOR A NATIONAL DIALOGUE WOULD BE DRAWN UP AND PRESENTED AT THE NEXT REGULAR MEETING OF ALL THE GENERALS SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST. AMONG THE DETAILS PENDING CLARIFICATION ARE THE AGENDA TO BE DISCUSSED, WITH WHOM, WITH WHAT OBJECTIVE AND OVER WHAT PERIOD. REPORTEDLY, THOSE HIGH RANKING OFFICERS WHO CANNOT ACCEPT THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN FOR A POLITICAL DIALOGUE WILL BE EXPECTED TO RESIGN--OR THEY WILL BE RETIRED. FOR THIS PURPOSE, ARMY PROMOTION AND ASSIGNMENT PANELS WILL MEET EARLIER THIS YEAR. (FOLLOWING THE GENERALS' CONCLAVE RUMORS BEGAN CIRCULATING THAT ARMY I CORPS COMMANDER GENERAL SUAREZ MASON, A PRINCIPAL HARDLINER, WOULD BE REASSIGNED OR RETIRED AT THE END OF THE YEAR AND THAT SAINT JEAN WOULD BE REMOVED FROM THE BUENOS AIRES GOVERNORSHIP).

4. IN AN APPARENTLY SEPARATE ENDEAVOR IN EARLY JUNE, PLANNING MINISTER (GEN.) DIAZ BESSONE PRESENTED TO THE JUNTA A DRAFT INTRODUCTION TO A "NATIONAL PROJECT" OR PLAN FOR OVERHAULING THE NATION'S POLITICAL INSTITUTIONS AND PREPARING THE WAY FOR A NEW CONSTITUTIONAL REPUBLIC. ALTHOUGH OUR PALACE SOURCE VIEWED DIAZ BESSONE'S DRAFT AS A SEPARATE INITIATIVE INTENDED TO UPSTAGE THE PRESIDENT, THE PRELIMINARY WORKING PAPER SUBSEQUENTLY WAS EXAMINED EXTENSIVELY AT VARIOUS LEVELS OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND THE ARMED FORCES AND PRESUMABLY WILL PROVIDE THE FRAME OF REFERENCE FOR "THE DIALOGUE" WITH CIVILIAN SECTORS WHENEVER ONE GETS FORMALLY UNDERWAY. INDEED, VIDELA'S RECENT SPEECHES HAVE BEEN INTERPRETED IN THE PRESS AS MEANING THAT GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION PLANS ARE NOW CONCEIVED AS RESTING ON TWO PILLARS--THE NATIONAL PROJECT AND THE DIALOGUE. HOWEVER, IT IS APPARENT THAT THERE ARE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE TWO PLANS.

5. PARALLELING THE PLANS FOR A "NATIONAL DIALOGUE," IT IS ALSO RELEVANT TO NOTE THAT THERE HAS BEEN A GREATER RECOGNITION OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM IN VIDELA'S PUBLIC PRONOUNCEMENTS OVER THE PAST TWO MONTHS. AS THE WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION WINDS DOWN, VIDELA HAS BEEN QUOTED AS SAYING, THE ABUSES WILL ALSO DISAPPEAR. IN AN ATTEMPT TO AVERT A NEGATIVE U.S. VOTE IN THE WORLD BANK, GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES APPEARED TO BECOME MORE

RESPONSIVE TO OUR DIPLOMATIC INITIATIVES. ON THE LABOR FRONT THERE ALSO HAS BEEN AN ALBEIT BRIEF CONTRIBUTION TO THE DIALOGUE AS THE GOVERNMENT CONSULTED A GROUP OF HANDPICKED LABOR LEADERS CONCERNING THE GUIDELINES FOR A NEW TRADE UNION LAW RECENTLY APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE BY THE JUNTA.

6. VIDELA'S RECENT INITIATIVES HAVE PRODUCED A FLURRY OF QUASI-POLITICAL ACTIVITY AROUND THE COUNTRY. OVERNIGHT, EVERY CONTACT BETWEEN A LOCAL GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL AND A CITIZENS GROUP, EVERY PRONOUNCEMENT BY A PRESSURE GROUP WAS SEEN AS PART OF THE NEW DIALOGUE, THANKS IN PART TO THE MORNING DAILY "LA OPINION" WHICH, INTERVENED BY MODERATE (SOMETIMES ALSO REFERRED TO AS "POPULIST") MILITARY AUTHORITIES ANSWERABLE TO ARMY CHIEF OF STATE VIOLA, UNDERTOOK THE TASK UNOFFICIALLY--AND PERHAPS

PREMATURELY--OF PROPAGATING THE NEW PHILOSOPHY. DESPITE THE BAN ON POLITICAL PARTY ACTIVITY, UCRP-LEADERS ISSUED A STATEMENT CRITICIZING VARIOUS ASPECTS OF GOVERNMENT POLICY; PERONISTS ANNOUNCED THE OPENING OF A STUDY CENTER; A CONSERVATIVE STUDY AND ACTION GROUP CALLED "SEA" RELEASED A DOCUMENT SETTING FORTH ITS OBJECTIVES; CONSERVATIVE MINIPARTIES ANNOUNCED AN ATTEMPT AT UNIFICATION; AND A NEW SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC SPLINTER GROUP CAME INTO BEING. RESPONDING TO THE GENERALLY FREER AIR, SOME 3,000 PERONISTS ALSO STAGED A BRIEF STREET DEMONSTRATION ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF PERON'S DEATH BEFORE BEING DISPERSED BY POLICE. ON THE LABOR FRONT THE TRADE UNION COMMITTEE CONSULTED BY THE GOVERNMENT WITH RESPECT TO A NEW UNION LAW STATED ITS PREFERENCE FOR RETAINING THE PERONIST LABOR LEGISLATION. THE INTERVENED AUTO WORKERS AND LIGHT AND POWER WORKERS UNIONS ALSO ISSUED STATEMENTS COMDEMNING THE GOVERNMENT'S LABOR POLICIES.

7. AS TO BE EXPECTED, THE VIDELA ADMINISTRATION VIEWED SOME OF THESE DEVELOPMENTS AS GOING TOO FAR TOO FAST AND IT REACTED WITH IRRITATION. THE RADICAL PARTY STATEMENT PUBLISHED TWO

AFTER THE MEETING OF THE ARMY GENERALS WAS PARTICULARLY UPSETTING FOR THE GOVERNMENT NOT ONLY BECAUSE OF ITS TRONG CRITICISM OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES AND MARTINEZ DE HOZ' ECONOMIC POLICY BUT ALSO DUE TO THE TIMING OF THE DOCUMENT'S RELEASE. VIDELA AIDES WERE FEARFUL IT WOULD ALARM THE HARDLINE GENERALS AND STRENGTHEN THEIR RESOLVE TO RESIST THE PRESIDENT'S PLANS. ACCORDING TO OUR PALACE SOURCE, THE PRESIDENT HAD A CAREFULLY DELINEATED GAME PLAN FOR BRINING THE ARMED FORCES AROUND TO HIS POINT OF VIEW. HE COULD NOT HAVE WON THE GENERALS' APPROVAL OF A POLITICAL DIALOGUE IN FEBRUARY, FOR EXAMPLE. THE RADICAL STATEMENT COULD HAVE UNDONE VIDELA'S SCENARIO, IT WAS ARGUED. IN ORDER TO CALM THE GENERALS, VIDELA AGAIN RESORTED TO THE COURT SYSTEM TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE BAN ON POLITICAL ACTIVITY HAD BEEN VIOLATED. HOWEVER, BY SELECTING A FEDERAL JUDGE OF KNOWN "DEMOCRATIC PERSUASION," IT WAS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION THAT THE CASE AGAINST THE RADICALS WOULD DIE A NATURAL DEATH. (INDEED, A NOT-GUILTY VERDICT WAS HANDED DOWN A WEEK AGO, ALTHOUGH THERE ARE ELEMENTS IN THE GOVERNMENT WHICH STILL APPEAR DETERMINED TO CONTEST THE DECISION AND THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR IN FACT FILED AN APPEAL.)

8. IF THE GOVERNMENT HAD REASON TO BE DISPLEASED WITH THE CRITICAL TONE OF THE COMMENTS FROM TRADITIONAL POLITICAL PARTY AND TRADE UNION QUARTERS WHICH VIDELA'S CALL FOR A DIALOGUE HAD

UNCLASSIFIED

EVOKED, THE CREATIVE IMAGINATION OF AUTHORITARIAN OR CENTER-RIGHT CIVILIAN ELEMENTS WAS NO LESS DISTURBING. IN HIS N.Y. STATEMENT, EX-JUSTICE MINISTER AND "SEA" FOUNDING MEMBER JAIME PERIAUX NOT ONLY PREDICTED THAT THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT WOULD LAST 10 TO 12 YEAR. HE RESURRECTED THE "4TH MAN" THESIS BY REPORTEDLY ANNOUNCING THAT VIDELA PLANNED TO REMAIN AS PRESIDENT, ALTHOUGH STEPPING DOWN FROM THE JUNTA AND RETIRING FROM THE ARMY IN 1979. VIDELA WOULD DO BETTER, SUGGESTED PERRIAUX, IF HE ALSO GAVE UP THE PRESIDENCY IN 1979 AND HELD HIMSELF "IN RESERVE" SO THAT HE COULD LAUNCH HIS CANDIDACY AS THE FIRST CIVILIAN

PRESIDENT AT THE END OF THE PERIOD OF MILITARY RULE. PERRIAUX WAS IMMEDIATELY POUNCED ON BY OLD-LINE POLITICANS FOR HINTING THAT THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD SEEK TO INCORPORATE ALL CENTER AND CENTER-RIGHT OPINION IN A SINGLE OFFICIAL PARTY TO FILL A ROLE SIMILAR TO THAT PLAYED BY THE PRI IN MEXICO. THIS IDEA HAD FIRST BEEN INTRODUCED BY "CARTA POLITICA'S" MARIANO GRONDONA BACK IN APRIL WHEN HE SUGGESTED THE CREATION OF A NATIONAL REORGANIZATION MOVEMENT ("MRN") WHICH, AS ONE ASTUTE POLITICAL OBSERVER CALLED IT, WAS NOT INTENDED "TO WIN ELECTIONS FIRST AND THEN GOVERN BUT TO GOVERN FIRST AND WIN ELECTIONS AFTERWARDS."

9. GRONDONA'S THESIS WAS DEVELOPED FURTHER IN THE JUNE 23 ISSUE OF THE FORTNIGHTLY MAGAZINE "CONVICCION," WHICH ALSO CONTAINED A DETAILED PLAN FOR GRADUALLY PREPARING THE COUNTRY FOR CIVILIAN RULE OVER THE NEXT 13 YEARS. BECAUSE THIS IS THE

MOST ELABORATE STATEMENT OF AUTHORITARIAN (BUT NOT NECESSARILY ANTI-VIDELA) THINKING ABOUT THE POLITICAL FUTURE WHICH HAS APPEARED TO DATE, IT DESERVES SUMMARIZATION HERE. (SOME SAY IT WAS INSPIRED BY THE NAVY, HOWEVER, SEE HAB 8586 FOR THE OUTLINE OF A PLAN PREPARED BY AUTHORITARIAN GEN. OLIVERA ROVERE, THE ARMY'S SECREATRY GENERAL, WHICH BEARS SOME RESEMBLANCE.) THE "CONVICCION" ARTICLE FORESEES A FIVE-STAGE SCENARIO AS FOLLOWS:

(A) 1976-1979. DURING THE REMAINDER OF THE FIRST STAGE, [redacted]

CHARACTERIZED AS ONE OF "MILITARY ABSOLUTISM," THE CURRENT GOVERNING STRUCTURE REMAINS IN FORCE, I.E. NO CHANGE IN THE MILITARY JUNTA OR THE PRESIDENCY. TOWARDS THE END OF 1978 THE NUCLEUS OF THE MRN IS TO BE FORMED.

(B) 1979-1982, A NEW MILITARY JUNTA IS TO BE INSTALLED IN 1979, BUT VIDELA REMAINS AS PRESIDENT, I.E. AS "THE 4TH MAN." ADMIRAL MASSERA DND GENERAL AGOSTI, ALREADY RETIRED, BECOME LEADERS IN THE MRN. SOME PARTICIPATION OF CIVILIAN ELEMENTS TO BE ALLOWED IN THE GOVERNMENT, PRESUMABLY SELECTED FROM THE MRN.

(C) 1982-1985. IN ADDITION TO THE INSTALLATION OF A NEW JUNTA IN 1982, VIDELA MUST STEP DOWN FOR ANOTHER MILITARY MAN FROM THE MRN LEADERSHIP WHO WILL BE PRESIDENT UNTIL 1988. THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNORS WOULD ALSO HAVE TO COME FROM THE MILITARY.

(D) 1985-1988. THE JUNTA CHANGES AGAIN, BUT THE PRESIDENT SELECTED IN 1982 REMAINS, HIS PRINCIPAL TASK BEING TO ORGANIZE A REFERENDUM (TO TAKE PLACE IN 1986) REGARDING THE INSTITUTIONALIZATION PROCESS. MAYORS AND CITY COUNCILMEN WOULD BE ELECTED IN 1987 AND PROVINCIAL LEGISLATORS IN 1988 FROM LISTS DRAWN UP REPRESENTING VARIOUS CURRENTS OF OPINION WITHIN THE MRN.

(E) 1988-1991. ANOTHER JUNTA IS INSTALLED, HOPEFULLY THE LAST IN THE REORGANIZATION PROCESS. THE NEW PRESIDENT WOULD COME FROM THE MRN, BUT HE COULD BE A CIVILIAN. IN 1989 THE MRN WOULD BE DISSOLVED TO ALLOW ITS MEMBERS TO REGROUP IN ONE OR MORE NEW POLITICAL PARTIES. POSSIBLY, IT WOULD BE SPLIT INTO TWO, LIKE AN AMOEBA, TO FORM THE START OF A TWO-PARTY SYSTEM. ELECTIONS FOR MEMBERS TO THE NATIONAL CONGRESS WOULD BE HELD IN 1990. BY 1991, THE AUTHORS OF THIS POLITICAL SCENARIO HOPE THE CONFIDENTIAL

MILITARY WILL HAVE BEEN ABLE TO WITHDRAW QUITELY AND SLOWLY TO THE SIDELINES, LEAVING THE CIVILIANS PRESUMABLY FREE TO CALL PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS AND TO RUN THE NEW GOVERNMENT ON THEIR OWN.

10. AT HIS PRESS CONFERENCE IN MONTEVIDEO JUNE 24 VIDELA APPEARED TO BE REACTING NOT ONLY THE THE TRIAL BALLOONS LAUNCHED FROM AUTHORITARIAN QUARTERS, BUT ALSO TO BE RETREATING FROM THE EXCESSIVE EXPECTATIONS AROUNDES IN PERONIST AND RADICAL POLITICAL SECTORS BY HIS CALL FOR DIALOGUE. SAID VIDELA, THE PURPOSE OF THE PROPOSED DIALOGUE WITH CIVILIAN REPRESENTATIVES WAS TO ENRICH THE IDEAS OF THE ARMED FORCES AS THEY WORKED TOWARD THE COMMON OBJECTIVE OF BUILDING A "STRONG, STABLE AND MODERN DEMOCRACY." A "CIVILIAN-MILITARY CONVERGENCE," HOWEVER, DID NOT MEAN THAT THE ARMED FORCES SHOULD FATHER THEIR OWN POLITICAL PARTY. ON THE OTHER HAND, THE DIALOGUE EXCLUDED NOT ONLY SUBVERSIVES, ECONOMIC DELINQUENTS AND THE CORRUPT, BUT ALSO "THOSE WHO EXCLUDED THEMSELVES BECAUSE THEY DO NOT SHARE OUR IDEAS." HE GRUDGINGLY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE PROPOSED DIALOGUE COULD BE CALLED "A POLITICAL OPENING," BUT NOT IN AN ELECTORAL SENSE. "WE ARE FAR FROM THE POSSIBILITY OF ELECTIONS, WHETHER MUNICIPAL, PROVINCIAL OR NATIONAL," HE SAID. IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION, VIDELA DISCLAIMED CURRENT CONSIDERATION OF A "4TH MAN" THESIS, SEEING NO NEED TO CHANGE THE EXISTING POWER STRUCTURE. HOWEVER, HE HEDGED, SHOULD CIRCUMSTANCES DURING THE REORGANIZATION PROCESS SO REQUIRE, HE WOULD NOT RULE OUT NEW SOLUTIONS INCLUDING A 4TH MAN IDEA.

11. THERE HAVE BEEN OTHER INCIDENTS OF STATEMENTS ON THE RECORD WHICH FURTHER SUGGEST THE PARAMETERS OF, OR CONSTRAINTS ON, VIDELA'S CALL FOR DIALOGUE:

-- IT IS RUMORED IN POLITICAL CIRCLES THAT AT A RECENT MEETING OF SENIOR ARMY OFFICERS ARCH-HARDLINER GENERAL SANTIAGO OMAR RIVEROS OPENLY CHALLENGED PRESIDENT VIDELA'S PLANS, ONLY TO BE ARGUED DOWN BY III CORPS COMMANDER GENERAL MENENDEZ, A

HARDLINER WHO REPORTEDLY HAS MOVED INTO VIDELA'S CAMP. THESE REPORTS DO NOT MAKE CLEAR AT WHICH RECENT MEETING THE ALLEGED

ENCOUNTER TOOK PLACE, BUT SEE HAB-8606 FOR A DETAILED REPORT OF AN INCIDENT AT A MEETING OF THE ARMY HIGH COMMAND ON JUNE 30 WHICH SOUNDS AS IF IT MAY BE THE SAME EVENT. (MENENDEZ, INCIDENTALLY, IS INCREASINGLY BEING TOUTED AS A SWINGMAN AND POTENTIAL ARBITER WITHIN THE ARMY.)

-- TWO WEEKS AGO THE ARMY ISSUED A COMMUNIQUE CALLING FOR THE AGING POLITICAL PARTY CHIEFS AN

-- DESPITE VIDELA'S DISAVOWAL OF THE "4TH MAN" THESIS, RUMORS

CONTINUE THAT HE MAY STEP DOWN FROM THE JUNTA EARLY NEXT YEAR, BUT REMAIN IN THE PRESIDENCY. CURIOUSLY, SOME SEE THIS AS A SIGN OF VIDELA'S GROWING STRENGTH AND THE ASCENDANCE OF THE MODERATE POSITION IN THE ARMY. ACCORDING TO THE OPTIMISTIC VERSION, VIOLA WOULD REPLACE VIDELA IN THE JUNTA AS COMMANDER OF THE ARMY. HOWEVER, WE DOUBT THAT VIDELA WILLINGLY WOULD PERMIT HIMSELF TO BE SEVERED FROM THE UMBILICAL CORD WHICH TIES HIM TO THE ARMY COMMAND STRUCTURE WHEN THE MOST LIKELY CONSEQUENCE WOULD BE HAVING SUCH OPPOSING POLITICAL FIGURES AS "POPULIST" VIOLA AS ARMY COMMANDER AND JUNTA MEMBER ON THE ONE HAND AND EITHER HARDLINER SUAREZ MASON OR SUPPOSEDLY EX-HARDLINER MENENDEZ AS ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF ON THE OTHER. SEE PARAGRAPH 17 BELOW.)

12. THERE HAVE BEEN OTHER INCIDENTS OR MILESTONES MARKING MORE CLEARCUT POSITIVE GAINS FOR THE VIDELA-VIOLA FORCES IN RECENT WEEKS: THE APPEALS COURT DECISION RELEASING EX-PRESIDENT LANUSSE AND FORMER AIDES FROM PREVENTIVE DETENTION (PORBABLY QUASHING THE CHARGES AGAINST LANUSSE IN THE ALUAR CASE FOR GOOD); GOVERNOR SAINT JEAN'S TELLTALE PROTESTATIONS OF HIS DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN CONVICITIONS TO THE "NEW YORK TIMES"; THE JUDICIAL DECISION ALREADY MENTIONED IN THE MATTER OF THE UCRP STATEMENT, WHICH IS EXPECTED TO STIMULATE RENEWED POLITICAL DEBATE; AND ADMIRAL MASSERA'S SPEECH A WEEK AGO DECLARING THAT DEMOCRACY WAS BEING REBUILT "EVEN FOR THOSE WHO TORE DEMOCRACY TO SHREDS."

13. ON BALANCE, WE BELIEVE THAT THE MODERATES OF "POPULISTS" HAVE MADE IMPORTANT GAINS IN THE ARMY OVER THE PAST MONTH OR SO, AND THAT THIS WILL ADVANCE THE CHANCES OF THE "DIALOGUE" VIDELA SEEKS. THE END OBJECTIVE APPEARS TO BE THE CONSTRUCTION OF A FEDERALIST, REPUBLICAN AND PLURALIST DEMOCRACY TAILORED TO MEET THE DISTINCTIVE CHALLENGES OF THE ARGENTINE POLITICAL CULTURE--PERHAPS THROUGH SOME ADMISSION OF "CORPORATIST" PRINCIPLES. BUT

JUST WHAT IS THE SIGNIFICANCE OF VIDELA'S PROPOSED DIALOGUE AND WHAT ARE THE PROSPECTS? FIRST OF ALL, IT SHOULD BE EMPHASIZED THAT ACCORDING TO ITS OWN PROPONENTS "THE DIALOGUE" HAS NOT YET FORMALLY BUGEN. IN ORDER FOR THE ARMED FORCES OFFICIALLY TO APPROVE THE DIALOGUE, THEY MUST FIRST HAVE A CLEARLY DEFINED POLITICAL REORGANIZATION SCHEME ABOUT WHICH THEY CAN "DIALOGUE" WITH CIVILIAN SECTORS. OUR READING OF HAB 8597 SUGGESTS THAT THE ARMY HAS NOT YET DECIDED WHAT FORM THE GOVERNMENT'S STRUCTURE SHOULD TAKE IN THE MEDIUM TERM, LET ALONE WHAT THE NEXT CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT SHOULD LOOK LIKE. THE DRAFT "NATIONAL PROJECT" WILL NOT BE READY UNTIL NEXT YEAR--IF THEN. SECONDLY, EVEN ASSUMING THAT VIDELA IS DISPOSED TO INCLUDE SOME OF THE OLD TIME POLITICIANS IN HIS PROPOSED DIALOGUE ABOUT THE FUTURE, WE SERIOUSLY DOUBT HE WOULD RESERVE A PRINCIPAL PLACE IN THE FUTURE CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT HE IS PLANNING FOR POLITICAL FIGURES INTIMATELY CONNECTED WITH THE POLITICAL DISASTERS OF THE RECENT PAST.

14. WE TEND TO VIEW VIDELA'S CALL FOR DIALOGUE PRINCIPALLY AS A PSYCHOLOGICAL DEVICE INTENDED TO CONVINCE THE ARMED FORCES TO BEGIN THE PROCESS OF PLANNING THE BASES FOR FUTURE CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT. AFTER ALL, A DILAOGUE OF SORTS HAS BEEN GOING ON BETWEEN CIVILIANS AND THE MILITARY SINCE THE COUP--ACTUALLY SINCE BEFORE THE COUP. HOWEVER, WE BELIEVE THE ALL-IMPORTANT DIALOGUE OF THE FUTURE, I.E. THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE CIVILIAN GROUP EVENTUALLY TO TAKE OVER FROM THE MILITARY IS A LONG WAY FROM BEING APPROVED BY THE JUNTA, NOTWITHSTANDING THE FACT THAT THERE ARE RADICALS AND PERONISTS SALIVATING IN THE WINGS WHO THINK THEY WILL BE INVITED TO JOIN THE CABINET OR OTHER HIGH LEVEL POSTS AS EARLY AS NEXT YEAR.

15. THERE COULD BE NEW SETBACKS FOR THE MODERATES' TIMETABLE. BETWEEN NOW AND THE NEXT MEETING OF ALL THE ARMY GENERALS SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST, THE HARDLINE GENERALS COULD STRIKE BACK AGAIN AND THE VIDELA "DIALOGUE" PUT IN THE TRASH BASKET. HAB-8606 SUGGESTS THAT VIDELA-VIOLA GROUP HAD CONSIDERABLY ROUGHER GOING IN THE HIGH COMMAND ("ALTOS MANDOS") MEETING OF JUNE 30 THAN IN THE GENERALS' MEETING A MONTH BEFORE. THE SUPPORT OF THE GENERALS WHO ARE MEMBERS OF THE 76TH GRADUATION CLASS OF THE MILITARY ACADEMY IS WHAT APPEARS TO GIVE VIDELA HIS DECISIVE EDGE IN THE MEETINGS OF GENERALS AS OPPOSED TO THOSE OF THE HIGH COMMAND.

16. A KEY CONSTRAINT ON THE DIALOGUE IN THE LABOR SECTOR IS WHETHER MARTINEZ DE HOZ' BECOMINC POLICY WILL PROVE SUCCESSFUL. UNTIL THERE ARE GREATHER SIGNS OF ECONOMIC RECOVERY IT DOES NOT APPEAR LIKELY THAT HE WILL FAVOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING, LET ALONE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, IF HE HAS ANY SAY IN THE MATTER. MOREOVER, OUTBREAKS OF LABOR OR SOCIAL UNREST COULD PRODUCE DEMANDS FOR RENEWED AUTHORITARIAN MEASURES. ANOTHER POTENTIALLY CRUCIAL AND LARGELY UNKNOWN VARIABLE FOR THE MEDIUM TERM COULD BE THE NEW GENERATION OF YOUNG MILITARY OFFICERS WHO HAVE BORNE THE BRUNT OF THE COUNTERINSURGENCY AND WHO PRESUMABLY HAVE AN INTEREST IN PREVENTING FUTURE CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENTS FROM EXAMINING THE COUNTERTERRORIST METHODS USED TO WIN THE WAR. WHETHER THIS [redacted]

ELEMENT WILL PLAY A SIGNIFICANT POLITICAL ROLE IN THE FUTURE IS STILL UNCLEAR, BUT SOME OBSERVERS FEAR THAT THERE ARE NATIONALIST AUTHORITARIAN IDEAS STIRRING IN THIS GROUP. (SEE HAB-8596 FOR A RECENT REPORT ABOUT ONE GROUP OF ARMY OFFICERS WITH NATIONALIST/CATHOLIC SOCIAL JUSTICE TENDENCIES.)

17 DESPITE VIDELA'S RECENT GAINS, THERE IS AN ACCOMMODATION PROCESS AT WORK WITHIN THE ARMED FORCES AND HE PROBABLY WILL HAVE TO COMPROMISE SOME ON HIS PROGRAM IN ORDER TO GAIN THE FULL ACQUIESCENCE OF THE MILITARY. NOT THAT WE SEE HIM WILLINGLY ACCEPTING THE "4TH MAN" THESIS BEFORE 1979

WHEN, BY STATUTE, HE MUST GIVE UP HIS POSITION AS ARMY COMMANDER ANYWAY. UNLESS THERE IS MORE LOGIC AND DYNAMISM BEHIND THE PRESSURE FROM ARMY HARDLINERS AND THE OTHER TWO SERVICES FOR NOT ALLOWING VIDELA TO WEAR HIS JUNTA AND PRESIDENTIAL HATS SIMULTANEOUSLY THAN PRESENTLY MEETS THE EYE, WE ARE SKEPTICAL THAT HE IS ABOUT TO CONCEDE ON THIS POINT--ESPECIALLY WHEN HIS POSITION OF STRENGTH WITHIN THE ARMY APPEARS TO BE ON THE INCREASE. THE AUTHORITARIAN POLITICAL THINKERS HAVE MADE A CONTRIBUTION TO THE DEBATE (OR DIALOGUE), BY PLACING A 13-YEAR OUTSIDE LIMIT ON MILITARY RULE. VIDELA PUBLICLY STILL REFUSES TO BE DRAWN INTO A CONVERSATION OF TIMETABLES, BUT PRESUMABLY HIS SCENARIO CALLS FOR A SHORTER TRANSITION PERIOD. (CURIOUSLY, ADMIRAL MASSERA ALSO MAY BE THINKING IN TERMS OF A RELATIVELY BRIEFER REORGANIZATION PROCESS (5-6 YEARS WAS THE GUESS OF ONE OF HIS AIDES), BUT THIS IS PRESUMABLY BECAUSE OF MASSERA'S OWN PERSONAL POLITICAL AMBITIONS.)

18. ANOTHER APPARENT DISTINCTION IS THAT AT LEAST SOME CONSERVATIVE/AUTHORITARIAN POLITICAL THINKERS TEND TOWARDS A BRAZILIAN-LIKE POLITICAL SOLUTION WITH ARTIFICIALLY STRUCTURED GOVERNMENT AND OPPOSITION PARTIES, WHEREAS VIDELA'S CIVILIAN AIDES CARTER MORE TO THE TRADITIONAL PARTY POLITICIANS (RADICALS, [redacted]

PERONISTS AND OTHERS). HOWEVER, VIDELA'S OWN GAME PLAN IS BY NO MEANS CLEAR ON THIS POINT. THE CURRENT POLITICAL LEADERS DO NOT INSPIRE MUCH CONFIDENCE IN IMILITARY RANKS AND VIDELA MAY BE FORCED TO STRETCH OUT HIS REORGANIZATION SCENARIO. SERIOUS ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL PROBLEMS COULD INTERRUPT THE MILITARY CYCLE AS THEY HAVE THE OTHER ARGENTINE IMILITARY GOVERNMENTS OF THE RECENT PAST, REQUIRING A HASTY TRANSFER OF POWER ONCE AGAIN TO THE POLITICIANS. HOWEVER, OUR IMPRESSION IS THAT THE PREDOMINANT MOOD IN THE ARMED FORCES AT PRESENT IS IN FAVOR OF A LONGER RATHER THAN A SHORTER GESTATION PERIOD, NOTWITHSTANDING VIDELA'S RELATIVELY STRONGER POSITION.

19. IT IS DIFFICULT TO FORESEE AT THIS POINT HOW EVEN VIDELA HIMSELF FORESEES DEVELOPING "THE DIALOGUE" INTO SOME NEW POLITICAL FORMULATION--AND IMPOSSIBLE TO PREDICT THE OUTCOME OF A PROCESS WHICH INVOLVES THE WILL OF SO MANY DISPARATE GROUPS AND THE AMBITIONS OF MANY POWERFUL MEN. WE BELIEVE THAT IF VIDELA CAN SUCCEED IN PRESENTING HIMSELF AS A MODERATOR DEVOID OF PERSONAL AMIBITION, HAVING ONLY NATIONAL INTERESTS IN MIND, THEN A USEFUL "DIALOGUE" CAN BE INITIATED WHICH AT THE LEAST WILL PROVIDE A CLIMATE IN WHICH CIVILIAN POLITICIANS, MILITARY POWER

SEEKERS AND BROKERS, INSTITUTIONS AND INTEREST GROUPS CAN EXPRESS THEMSELVES AND EXPECT AT LEAST A RESPECTFUL AUDIENCE. "DIALOGUE" MAY TURN OUT TO BE NOTHING MORE THAN A USEFUL RUBRIC TO COVER "POLITICAL VENTILATION"--BUT THIS IS, AFTER ALL A PROCESS BADLY NEEDED IN ARGENTINA JUST NOW. IF, HOWEVER, VIDELA CAN CONTROL THE DIALOGUE PROCESS FOR SUFFICIENT TIME, AND IF HE CAN SUCCEED IN ACCOMMODATING WITHIN THE PROCESS THE WISDOM OF THE CIVILIAN AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS AS WELL AS THEIR POLITICAL APPETITES, THEN IT APPEARS POSSIBLE TO US THAT REAL BASIC CHANGE COULD RESULT.

E.O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: PINS, PINT, SHUM, ELAB, AR
SUBJECT: VIDELA CALLS FOR A POLITICAL DIALOGUE

SUMMARY: PRESIDENT VIDELA'S CALL FOR A NATIONAL DIALOGUE WITH CIVILIAN POLITICAL SECTORS IS SEEN BY MANY ARGENTINE POLITICAL OBSERVERS AS A SIGN THAT THE STRUGGLE FOR POWER BETWEEN DEMOCRATIC AND AUTHORITARIAN TENDENCIES IN THE ARMY IS BEING WON BY THE MODERATE MILITARY FACTION HEADED BY VIDELA. THERE IS VIRTUAL UNANIMITY IN THE ARMED FORCES THAT BASIC INSTITUTIONAL REFORMS ARE NECESSARY IF ARGENTINA IS TO BREAK ITS SUCCESSIVE CYCLES OF MILITARY TAKEOVERS REQUIRED TO UNDO THE CHAOS LEFT BY WEAK AND INEFFECTUAL CIVILIAN GOVERNMENTS. HOWEVER, THE ISSUES CURRENTLY DIVIDING THE ARMY APPEAR TO INCLUDE THE PERIOD OF TIME NECESSARY TO PREPARE THE GROUND FOR A RETURN TO STABLE CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT, THE POLITICAL GROUP OR GROUPS WITH WHOM THE MILITARY SHOULD "DIALOGUE" CONCERNING THE FUTURE, AND THE STRUCTURE OR SHAPE WHICH THE FUTURE CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE IN ORDER TO ASSURE THE STABILITY DESIRED. THE VIDELA-VILOA FORCES APPEAR TO FAVOR NEGOTIATIONS WITH TRADITIONAL PERONIST AND RADICAL PARTY POLITICIANS AND A SHORTER TRANSITION PERIOD, WHEREAS AUTHORITARIAN AND RIGHTWING MILITARY MEN SEEM TO BE THINKING IN TERMS OF A MORE RADICAL REFORM OF THE POLITICAL SYSTEM, WHICH WOULD REQUIRE MORE TIME. THERE SEEMS TO BE A ROUGH CORRELATION BETWEEN THE DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES IN THAT THE MODERATES FAVORING A POLITICAL DIALOGUE TEND TO BE MORE SENSITIVE TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM (AT LEAST FROM THE PUBLIC RELATIONS STANDPOINT), WHEREAS THE AUTHORITARIANS TEND TO BE MORE HARDLINE ON BOTH ISSUES. HOWEVER, THIS IS AN OVERSIMPLIFICATION. TRADITIONAL INSTITUTIONAL RIVALRIES WITHIN THE ARMED FORCES AND PERSONAL AMBITIONS OFTEN SUPERSEDE THE IDEOLOGICAL OR POLICY DIFFERENCES AND CONFUSE THE ISSUES. DESPITE VIDELA'S RECENT GAINS IN THE ARMY, HE IS A LONG WAY FROM WINNING THE STRUGGLE. THE DIALOGUE HAS NOT YET BEEN FORMALLY APPROVED IN THE ARMY AND MOREOVER THE ARMY HARDLINERS APPEAR TO HAVE SIGNIFICANT SUPPORT WITHIN THE NAVY AND THE AIR FORCE. THE LATTER TWO SERVICES ARE PUTTING PRESSURE ON VIDELA TO RELINQUISH HIS COMMAND OF THE ARMY AND STEP DOWN FROM THE JUNTA WHILE REMAINING AS PRESIDENT, I.E. TO BECOME THE -FOURTH MAN." AN IMPORTANT INDICATOR OF THE OUTCOME OF THE IMMEDIATE STRUGGLE IS WHETHER VIDELA WILL BE ABLE TO RETIRE EXTREME HARDLINE GENERALS WHO OPPOSE HIS PLANS. THIS PAPER IS AN INITIAL ATTEMPT TO GET AT THE ISSUES INVOLVED IN "THE DIALOGUE" AND THE CONCLUSIONS CONTAINED HEREIN SHOULD BE REGARDED AS TENTATIVE. END SUMMARY.

1. THE UNLEASHING OF THE GRAIVER AND THE ALUAR SCANDALS BY RIGHTWING MILITARY HARDLINERS IN APRIL AND MAY HAS PROVEN TO REPRESENT NO MORE THAN A TEMPORARY INTERRUPTION IN PRESIDENT VIDELA'S ATTEMPT TO CONSOLIDATE HIS POSITION WITHIN THE MILITARY REGIME AND USE THIS POSITION TO BRING ABOUT THE POLITICAL REFORMS HE IS SEEKING. VIDELA WON MAJOR GAINS DURING THE MEETING OF ARMY GENERALS IN FEBRUARY AND, AS THE COUP MARKED ITS FIRST ANNIVERSARY IN MARCH, THE GOVERNMENT APPEARED TO OBTAIN A NEW DEGREE OF STABILITY. THEN CAME THE CHALLENGE FROM PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR SAINT JEAN (PREVIOUSLY RUMORED AS AN ASPIRANT TO THE "4TH MAN" [redacted]

POSITION) IN THE FORM OF THE GRAIVER-ALUAR CRISES. HAVING DISSIPATED THE MOST FRIGHTENING ASPECTS OF THESE POLITICAL STORM CLOUDS (BY REMANDING THE ISSUES INVOLVED TO THE CIVIL AND MILITARY JUDICIAL SYSTEMS), VIDELA RECOVERED SUFFICIENT MOMENTUM TO MAKE A FRESH START TOWARD INITIATING THE PROCESS OF POLITICAL REFORM.

2. IN HIS ARMY DAY SPEECH OF MAY 29 VIDELA ANNOUNCED THAT PLANS

WERE UNDERWAY TO INSTITUTIONALIZE A "WIDE AND GENEROUS DIALOGUE" WITH ALL SECTORS OF PUBLIC OPINION "EXCEPT THE CORRUPT AND SUBVERSIVES." SUCH A CIVIL-MILITARY DIALOGUE, SAID VIDELA, WOULD PREVENT THE ARMED FORCES, IN THE SOLITUDE OF THEIR POWER, FROM FALLING INTO ELITIST OR CORPORATIVIST HABITS; THE END OBJECTIVE WAS TO BUILD "AN EFFICIENT AND STABLE DEMOCRACY." THERE WAS ANOTHER EQUALLY IMPORTANT DIMENSION TO THE SPEECH: HIS CALL TO BEGIN "WINNING THE PEACE" AFTER THE WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION WAS WON CARRIED WITH IT THE IMPLICIT PROMISE OF GREATER OBSERVANCE OF LEGALITY AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE FUTURE.

3. VIDELA THEN REPAIRED TO A KEY MEETING OF ARMY GENERALS MAY 31-JUNE 1, IN WHICH IT IS SAID THAT ALL THE GENERALS PRESENT, EXCEPT TWO, ACCEPTED HIS PROPOSAL TO INCLUDE POLITICIANS IN THE DIALOGUE. ACCORDING TO A CASA ROSADA SOURCE, IT WAS AGREED THAT DETAILED PLANS FOR A NATIONAL DIALOGUE WOULD BE DRAWN UP AND PRESENTED AT THE NEXT REGULAR MEETING OF ALL THE GENERALS SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST. AMONG THE DETAILS PENDING CLARIFICATION ARE THE AGENDA TO BE DISCUSSED, WITH WHOM, WITH WHAT OBJECTIVE AND OVER WHAT PERIOD. REPORTEDLY, THOSE HIGH RANKING OFFICERS WHO CANNOT ACCEPT THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN FOR A POLITICAL DIALOGUE WILL BE EXPECTED TO RESIGN--OR THEY WILL BE RETIRED. FOR THIS PURPOSE, ARMY PROMOTION AND ASSIGNMENT PANELS WILL MEET EARLIER THIS YEAR. (FOLLOWING THE GENERALS' CONCLAVE RUMORS BEGAN CIRCULATING THAT ARMY I CORPS COMMANDER GENERAL SUAREZ MASON, A PRINCIPAL HARDLINER, WOULD BE REASSIGNED OR RETIRED AT THE END OF THE YEAR AND THAT SAINT JEAN WOULD BE REMOVED FROM THE BUENOS AIRES GOVERNORSHIP).

4. IN AN APPARENTLY SEPARATE ENDEAVOR IN EARLY JUNE, PLANNING MINISTER (GEN.) DIAZ BESSONE PRESENTED TO THE JUNTA A DRAFT INTRODUCTION TO A "NATIONAL PROJECT" OR PLAN FOR OVERHAULING THE NATION'S POLITICAL INSTITUTIONS AND PREPARING THE WAY FOR A NEW CONSTITUTIONAL REPUBLIC. ALTHOUGH OUR PALACE SOURCE VIEWED DIAZ BESSONE'S DRAFT AS A SEPARATE INITIATIVE INTENDED TO UPSTAGE THE PRESIDENT, THE PRELIMINARY WORKING PAPER SUBSEQUENTLY WAS EXAMINED EXTENSIVELY AT VARIOUS LEVELS OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND THE ARMED FORCES AND PRESUMABLY WILL PROVIDE THE FRAME OF REFERENCE FOR "THE DIALOGUE" WITH CIVILIAN SECTORS WHENEVER ONE GETS FORMALLY UNDERWAY. INDEED, VIDELA'S RECENT SPEECHES HAVE BEEN INTERPRETED IN THE PRESS AS MEANING THAT GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION PLANS ARE NOW CONCEIVED AS RESTING ON TWO PILLARS--THE NATIONAL PROJECT AND THE DIALOGUE. HOWEVER, IT IS APPARENT THAT THERE ARE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE TWO PLANS.

5. PARALLELING THE PLANS FOR A "NATIONAL DIALOGUE," IT IS ALSO RELEVANT TO NOTE THAT THERE HAS BEEN A GREATER RECOGNITION OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM IN VIDELA'S PUBLIC PRONOUNCEMENTS OVER THE PAST TWO MONTHS. AS THE WAR AGAINST SUBVERSION WINDS DOWN, VIDELA HAS BEEN QUOTED AS SAYING, THE ABUSES WILL ALSO DISAPPEAR. IN AN ATTEMPT TO AVERT A NEGATIVE U.S. VOTE IN THE WORLD BANK, GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES APPEARED TO BECOME MORE [redacted]

RESPONSIVE TO OUR DIPLOMATIC INITIATIVES. ON THE LABOR FRONT THERE ALSO HAS BEEN AN ALBEIT BRIEF CONTRIBUTION TO THE DIALOGUE AS THE GOVERNMENT CONSULTED A GROUP OF HANDPICKED LABOR LEADERS CONCERNING THE GUIDELINES FOR A NEW TRADE UNION LAW RECENTLY APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE BY THE JUNTA.

6. VIDELA'S RECENT INITIATIVES HAVE PRODUCED A FLURRY OF QUASI-POLITICAL ACTIVITY AROUND THE COUNTRY. OVERNIGHT, EVERY CONTACT BETWEEN A LOCAL GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL AND A CITIZENS GROUP, EVERY PRONOUNCEMENT BY A PRESSURE GROUP WAS SEEN AS PART OF THE NEW

DIALOGUE, THANKS IN PART TO THE MORNING DAILY "LA OPINION" WHICH, INTERVENED BY MODERATE (SOMETIMES ALSO REFERRED TO AS "POPULIST") MILITARY AUTHORITIES ANSWERABLE TO ARMY CHIEF OF STATE VIOLA, UNDERTOOK THE TASK UNOFFICIALLY--AND PERHAPS PREMATURELY--OF PROPAGATING THE NEW PHILOSOPHY. DESPITE THE BAN ON POLITICAL PARTY ACTIVITY, UCRP LEADERS ISSUED A STATEMENT CRITICIZING VARIOUS ASPECTS OF GOVERNMENT POLICY; PERONISTS ANNOUNCED THE OPENING OF A STUDY CENTER; A CONSERVATIVE STUDY AND ACTION GROUP CALLED "SEA" RELEASED A DOCUMENT SETTING FORTH ITS OBJECTIVES; CONSERVATIVE MINIPARTIES ANNOUNCED AN ATTEMPT AT UNIFICATION; AND A NEW SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC SPLINTER GROUP CAME INTO BEING. RESPONDING TO THE GENERALLY FREER AIR, SOME 3,000 PERONISTS ALSO STAGED A BRIEF STREET DEMONSTRATION ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF PERON'S DEATH BEFORE BEING DISPERSED BY POLICE. ON THE LABOR FRONT THE TRADE UNION COMMITTEE CONSULTED BY THE GOVERNMENT WITH RESPECT TO A NEW UNION LAW STATED ITS PREFERENCE FOR RETAINING THE PERONIST LABOR LEGISLATION. THE INTERVENED AUTO WORKERS AND LIGHT AND POWER WORKERS UNIONS ALSO ISSUED STATEMENTS COMDEMNING THE GOVERNMENT'S LABOR POLICIES.

7. AS TO BE EXPECTED, THE VIDELA ADMINISTRATION VIEWED SOME OF THESE DEVELOPMENTS AS GOING TOO FAR TOO FAST AND IT REACTED WITH IRRITATION. THE RADICAL PARTY STATEMENT PUBLISHED TWO [redacted]

[redacted]

AFTER THE MEETING OF THE ARMY GENERALS WAS PARTICULARLY UPSETTING FOR THE GOVERNMENT NOT ONLY BECAUSE OF ITS TRONG CRITICISM OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES AND MARTINEZ DE HOZ' ECONOMIC POLICY BUT ALSO DUE TO THE TIMING OF THE DOCUMENT'S RELEASE. VIDELA AIDES WERE FEARFUL IT WOULD ALARM THE HARDLINE GENERALS AND STRENGTHEN THEIR RESOLVE TO RESIST THE PRESIDENT'S PLANS. ACCORDING TO OUR PALACE SOURCE, THE PRESIDENT HAD A CAREFULLY DELINEATED GAME PLAN FOR BRINING THE ARMED FORCES AROUND TO HIS POINT OF VIEW. HE COULD NOT HAVE WON THE GENERALS' APPROVAL OF A POLITICAL DIALOGUE IN FEBRUARY, FOR EXAMPLE. THE RADICAL STATEMENT COULD HAVE UNDONE VIDELA'S SCENARIO, IT WAS ARGUED. IN ORDER TO CALM THE GENERALS, VIDELA AGAIN RESORTED TO THE COURT SYSTEM TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE BAN ON POLITICAL ACTIVITY HAD BEEN VIOLATED. HOWEVER, BY SELECTING A FEDERAL JUDGE OF KNOWN "DEMOCRATIC PERSUASION," IT WAS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION THAT THE CASE AGAINST THE RADICALS WOULD DIE A NATURAL DEATH. (INDEED, A NOT-GUILTY VERDICT WAS HANDED DOWN A WEEK AGO, ALTHOUGH THERE ARE ELEMENTS IN THE GOVERNMENT WHICH STILL APPEAR DETERMINED TO CONTEST THE DECISION AND THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR IN FACT FILED AN APPEAL.)

8. IF THE GOVERNMENT HAD REASON TO BE DISPLEASED WITH THE CRITICAL TONE OF THE COMMENTS FROM TRADITIONAL POLITICAL PARTY AND TRADE UNION QUARTERS WHICH VIDELA'S CALL FOR A DIALOGUE HAD EVOKED, THE CREATIVE IMAGINATION OF AUTHORITARIAN OR CENTER-RIGHT CIVILIAN ELEMENTS WAS NO LESS DISTRUBING. IN HIS N.Y. STATEMENT, EX-JUSTICE MINISTER AND "SEA" FOUNDING MEMBER JAIME PERIAUX NOT ONLY PREDICTED THAT THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT WOULD LAST 10 TO 12 YEAR. HE RESURRECTED THE "4TH MAN" THESIS BY REPORTEDLY ANNOUNCING THAT VIDELA PLANNED TO REMAIN AS PRESIDENT, ALTHOUGH STEPPING DOWN FROM THE JUNTA AND RETIRING FROM THE ARMY IN 1979. VIDELA WOULD DO BETTER, SUGGESTED PERRIAUX, IF HE ALSO GAVE UP THE PRESIDENCY IN 1979 AND HELD HIMSELF "IN RESERVE" SO THAT HE COULD LAUNCH HIS CANDIDACY AS THE FIRST CIVILIAN

PRESIDENT AT THE END OF THE PERIOD OF MILITARY RULE. PERRIAUX WAS IMMEDIATELY POUNCED ON BY OLD-LINE POLITICANS FOR HINTING THAT THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD SEEK TO INCORPORATE ALL CENTER AND CENTER-RIGHT OPINION IN A SINGLE OFFICIAL PARTY TO FILL A ROLE SIMILAR TO THAT PLAYED BY THE PRI IN MEXICO. THIS IDEA HAD FIRST BEEN INTRODUCED BY "CARTA POLITICA'S" MARIANO GRONDONA BACK IN APRIL WHEN HE SUGGESTED THE CREATION OF A NATIONAL REORGANIZATION MOVEMENT ("MRN") WHICH, AS ONE ASTUTE POLITICAL OBSERVER CALLED IT, WAS NOT INTENDED "TO WIN ELECTIONS FIRST AND THEN GOVERN BUT TO GOVERN FIRST AND WIN ELECTIONS AFTERWARDS."

9. GRONDONA'S THESIS WAS DEVELOPED FURTHER IN THE JUNE 23 ISSUE OF THE FORTNIGHTLY MAGAZINE "CONVICCION," WHICH ALSO CONTAINED A DETAILED PLAN FOR GRADUALLY PREPARING THE COUNTRY FOR CIVILIAN RULE OVER THE NEXT 13 YEARS. BECAUSE THIS IS THE MOST ELABORATE STATEMENT OF AUTHORITARIAN (BUT NOT NECESSARILY ANTI-VIDELA) THINKING ABOUT THE POLITICAL FUTURE WHICH HAS APPEARED TO DATE, IT DESERVES SUMMARIZATION HERE. (SOME SAY IT WAS INSPIRED BY THE NAVY, HOWEVER, SEE HAB 8586 FOR THE OUTLINE OF A PLAN PREPARED BY AUTHORITARIAN GEN. OLIVERA ROVERE, THE ARMY'S SECREATRY GENERAL, WHICH BEARS SOME RESEMBLANCE.) THE "CONVICCION" ARTICLE FORESEES A FIVE-STAGE SCENARIO AS FOLLOWS:

CHARACTERIZED AS ONE OF "MILITARY ABSOLUTISM," THE CURRENT GOVERNING STRUCTURE REMAINS IN FORCE, I.E. NO CHANGE IN THE MILITARY JUNTA OR THE PRESIDENCY. TOWARDS THE END OF 1978 THE NUCLEUS OF THE MRN IS TO BE FORMED.

(B) 1979-1982, A NEW MILITARY JUNTA IS TO BE INSTALLED IN 1979, BUT VIDELA REMAINS AS PRESIDENT, I.E. AS "THE 4TH MAN." ADMIRAL MASSERA DND GENERAL AGOSTI, ALREADY RETIRED, BECOME LEADERS IN THE MRN. SOME PARTICIPATION OF CIVILIAN ELEMENTS TO BE ALLOWED IN THE GOVERNMENT, PRESUMABLY SELECTED FROM THE MRN.

(C) 1982-1985. IN ADDITION TO THE INSTALLATION OF A NEW JUNTA IN 1982, VIDELA MUST STEP DOWN FOR ANOTHER MILITARY MAN FROM THE MRN LEADERSHIP WHO WILL BE PRESIDENT UNTIL 1988. THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNORS WOULD ALSO HAVE TO COME FROM THE MILITARY.

(D) 1985-1988. THE JUNTA CHANGES AGAIN, BUT THE PRESIDENT SELECTED IN 1982 REMAINS, HIS PRINCIPAL TASK BEING TO ORGANIZE A REFERENDUM (TO TAKE PLACE IN 1986) REGARDING THE INSTITUTIONALIZATION PROCESS. MAYORS AND CITY COUNCILMEN WOULD BE ELECTED IN 1987 AND PROVINCIAL LEGISLATORS IN 1988 FROM LISTS DRAWN UP REPRESENTING VARIOUS CURRENTS OF OPINION WITHIN THE MRN.

(E) 1988-1991. ANOTHER JUNTA IS INSTALLED, HOPEFULLY THE LAST IN THE REORGANIZATION PROCESS. THE NEW PRESIDENT WOULD COME FROM THE MRN, BUT HE COULD BE A CIVILIAN. IN 1989 THE MRN

WOULD BE DISSOLVED TO ALLOW ITS MEMBERS TO REGROUP IN ONE OR MORE NEW POLITICAL PARTIES. POSSIBLY, IT WOULD BE SPLIT INTO TWO, LIKE AN AMOEBA, TO FORM THE START OF A TWO-PARTY SYSTEM. ELECTIONS FOR MEMBERS TO THE NATIONAL CONGRESS WOULD BE HELD IN 1990. BY 1991, THE AUTHORS OF THIS POLITICAL SCENARIO HOPE THE [redacted]

MILITARY WILL HAVE BEEN ABLE TO WITHDRAW QUITELY AND SLOWLY TO THE SIDELINES, LEAVING THE CIVILIANS PRESUMABLY FREE TO CALL PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS AND TO RUN THE NEW GOVERNMENT ON THEIR OWN.

10. AT HIS PRESS CONFERENCE IN MONTEVIDEO JUNE 24 VIDELA APPEARED TO BE REACTING NOT ONLY THE THE TRIAL BALLOONS LAUNCHED FROM AUTHORITARIAN QUARTERS, BUT ALSO TO BE RETREATING FROM THE EXCESSIVE EXPECTATIONS AROUNDES IN PERONIST AND RADICAL POLITICAL SECTORS BY HIS CALL FOR DIALOGUE. SAID VIDELA, THE PURPOSE OF THE PROPOSED DIALOGUE WITH CIVILIAN REPRESENTATIVES WAS TO ENRICH THE IDEAS OF THE ARMED FORCES AS THEY WORKED TOWARD THE COMMON OBJECTIVE OF BUILDING A "STRONG, STABLE AND MODERN DEMOCRACY." A "CIVILIAN-MILITARY CONVERGENCE," HOWEVER, DID NOT MEAN THAT THE ARMED FORCES SHOULD FATHER THEIR OWN POLITICAL PARTY. ON THE OTHER HAND, THE DIALOGUE EXCLUDED NOT ONLY SUBVERSIVES, ECONOMIC DELINQUENTS AND THE CORRUPT, BUT ALSO "THOSE WHO EXCLUDED THEMSELVES BECAUSE THEY DO NOT SHARE OUR IDEAS." HE GRUDGINGLY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE PROPOSED DIALOGUE COULD BE CALLED "A POLITICAL OPENING," BUT NOT IN AN ELECTORAL SENSE. "WE ARE FAR FROM THE POSSIBILITY OF ELECTIONS, WHETHER MUNICIPAL, PROVINCIAL OR NATIONAL," HE SAID. IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION, VIDELA DISCLAIMED CURRENT CONSIDERATION OF A "4TH MAN" THESIS, SEEING NO NEED TO CHANGE THE EXISTING POWER STRUCTURE. HOWEVER, HE HEDGED, SHOULD CIRCUMSTANCES DURING THE REORGANIZATION PROCESS SO REQUIRE, HE WOULD NOT RULE OUT NEW SOLUTIONS INCLUDING A 4TH MAN IDEA.

11. THERE HAVE BEEN OTHER INCIDENTS OF STATEMENTS ON THE RECORD WHICH FURTHER SUGGEST THE PARAMETERS OF, OR CONSTRAINTS ON, VIDELA'S CALL FOR DIALOGUE:

-- IT IS RUMORED IN POLITICAL CIRCLES THAT AT A RECENT MEETING OF SENIOR ARMY OFFICERS ARCH-HARDLINER GENERAL SANTIAGO OMAR RIVEROS OPENLY CHALLENGED PRESIDENT VIDELA'S PLANS, ONLY TO BE ARGUED DOWN BY III CORPS COMMANDER GENERAL MENENDEZ, A

[redacted]

HARDLINER WHO REPORTEDLY HAS MOVED INTO VIDELA'S CAMP. THESE REPORTS DO NOT MAKE CLEAR AT WHICH RECENT MEETING THE ALLEGED ENCOUNTER TOOK PLACE, BUT SEE HAB-8606 FOR A DETAILED REPORT OF AN INCIDENT AT A MEETING OF THE ARMY HIGH COMMAND ON JUNE 30 WHICH SOUNDS AS IF IT MAY BE THE SAME EVENT. (MENENDEZ, INCIDENTALLY, IS INCREASINGLY BEING TOUTED AS A SWINGMAN AND POTENTIAL ARBITER WITHIN THE ARMY.)

[redacted] SECTION 4 OF 5 BUENOS AIRES 5281

-- THE DECISION TO OFFICIALLY HEADQUARTER THE MILITARY JUNTA AT THE NATIONAL CONGRESS BUILDING LENDS THE IMPRESSION OF UPGRADING THE JUNTA VIS-A-VIS THE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENCY. IT PARALLELED A RECENT DECREE PLACING LIMITS ON THE AMOUNT OF TIME THE EXECUTIVE POWER COULD HOLD UP LEGISLATION PROPOSED BY THE JUNTA'S LEGISLATIVE ADVISORY COMMISSION (CAL).

-- THE APPOINTMENT OF A PROTEGE OF PERRIAUX, DR. JUAN JOSE CATALAN, AS MINISTER OF EDUCATION AND CULTURE, GAVE THE IMPRESSION, PERHAPS ERRONEOUSLY, THAT VIDELA HAD MADE A CONCESSION TO THE CONSERVATIVE "SEA" GROUP.

-- ON THE SAME DAY THAT VIDELA ADMITTED IN MONTEVIDEO THAT THE DIALOGUE COULD BE INTERPRETED AS A LIMITED "POLITICAL OPENING," INTERIOR MINISTER HARGUINDEGUY EXPRESSLY REJECTED THIS DEFINITION.

-- TWO WEEKS AGO THE ARMY ISSUED A COMMUNIQUE CALLING FOR THE AGING POLITICAL PARTY CHIEFS AND THE LEADERS OF OTHER KEY SECTORS OF SOCIETY TO TURN OVER THEIR LEADERSHIP POSTS TO A YOUNGER GENERATION AS A CONTRIBUTION TO THE NATIONAL REORGANIZATION PROCESS.

-- DESPITE VIDELA'S DISAVOWAL OF THE "4TH MAN" THESIS, RUMORS [redacted]

CONTINUE THAT HE MAY STEP DOWN FROM THE JUNTA EARLY NEXT YEAR, BUT REMAIN IN THE PRESIDENCY. CURIOUSLY, SOME SEE THIS AS A SIGN OF VIDELA'S GROWING STRENGTH AND THE ASCENDANCE OF THE MODERATE POSITION IN THE ARMY. ACCORDING TO THE OPTIMISTIC VERSION, VIOLA WOULD REPLACE VIDELA IN THE JUNTA AS COMMANDER OF THE ARMY. HOWEVER, WE DOUBT THAT VIDELA WILLINGLY WOULD PERMIT HIMSELF TO BE SEVERED FROM THE UMBILICAL CORD WHICH TIES HIM TO THE ARMY COMMAND STRUCTURE WHEN THE MOST LIKELY CONSEQUENCE WOULD BE HAVING SUCH OPPOSING POLITICAL FIGURES AS "POPULIST" VIOLA AS ARMY COMMANDER AND JUNTA MEMBER ON THE ONE HAND AND EITHER HARDLINER SUAREZ MASON OR SUPPOSEDLY EX-HARDLINER MENENDEZ AS ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF ON THE OTHER. SEE PARAGRAPH 17 BELOW.)

12. THERE HAVE BEEN OTHER INCIDENTS OR MILESTONES MARKING MORE CLEARCUT POSITIVE GAINS FOR THE VIDELA-VIOLA FORCES IN RECENT WEEKS: THE APPEALS COURT DECISION RELEASING EX-PRESIDENT LANUSSE AND FORMER AIDES FROM PREVENTIVE DETENTION (PORBABLY QUASHING THE CHARGES AGAINST LANUSSE IN THE ALUAR CASE FOR GOOD); GOVERNOR SAINT JEAN'S TELLTALE PROTESTATIONS OF HIS DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN CONVICITIONS TO THE "NEW YORK TIMES"; THE JUDICIAL DECISION ALREADY MENTIONED IN THE MATTER OF THE UCRP STATEMENT, WHICH IS EXPECTED TO STIMULATE RENEWED POLITICAL DEBATE; AND ADMIRAL MASSERA'S SPEECH A WEEK AGO DECLARING THAT DEMOCRACY WAS BEING REBUILT "EVEN FOR THOSE WHO TORE DEMOCRACY TO SHREDS."

13. ON BALANCE, WE BELIEVE THAT THE MODERATES OF "POPULISTS" HAVE MADE IMPORTANT GAINS IN THE ARMY OVER THE PAST MONTH OR SO, AND THAT THIS WILL ADVANCE THE CHANCES OF THE "DIALOGUE" VIDELA SEEKS. THE END OBJECTIVE APPEARS TO BE THE CONSTRUCTION OF A

FEDERALIST, REPUBLICAN AND PLURALIST DEMOCRACY TAILORED TO MEET THE DISTINCTIVE CHALLENGES OF THE ARGENTINE POLITICAL CULTURE--PERHAPS THROUGH SOME ADMISSION OF "CORPORATIST" PRINCIPLES. BUT [redacted]

JUST WHAT IS THE SIGNIFICANCE OF VIDELA'S PROPOSED DIALOGUE AND WHAT ARE THE PROSPECTS? FIRST OF ALL, IT SHOULD BE EMPHASIZED THAT ACCORDING TO ITS OWN PROPONENTS "THE DIALOGUE" HAS NOT YET FORMALLY BUGEN. IN ORDER FOR THE ARMED FORCES OFFICIALLY TO APPROVE THE DIALOGUE, THEY MUST FIRST HAVE A CLEARLY DEFINED POLITICAL REORGANIZATION SCHEME ABOUT WHICH THEY CAN "DIALOGUE" WITH CIVILIAN SECTORS. OUR READING OF HAB 8597 SUGGESTS THAT THE ARMY HAS NOT YET DECIDED WHAT FORM THE GOVERNMENT'S STRUCTURE SHOULD TAKE IN THE MEDIUM TERM, LET ALONE WHAT THE NEXT CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT SHOULD LOOK LIKE. THE DRAFT "NATIONAL PROJECT" WILL NOT BE READY UNTIL NEXT YEAR--IF THEN. SECONDLY, EVEN ASSUMING THAT VIDELA IS DISPOSED TO INCLUDE SOME OF THE OLD TIME POLITICIANS IN HIS PROPOSED DIALOGUE ABOUT THE FUTURE, WE SERIOUSLY DOUBT HE WOULD RESERVE A PRINCIPAL PLACE IN THE FUTURE CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT HE IS PLANNING FOR POLITICAL FIGURES INTIMATELY CONNECTED WITH THE POLITICAL DISASTERS OF THE RECENT PAST.

14. WE TEND TO VIEW VIDELA'S CALL FOR DIALOGUE PRINCIPALLY AS A PSYCHOLOGICAL DEVICE INTENDED TO CONVINCE THE ARMED FORCES TO BEGIN THE PROCESS OF PLANNING THE BASES FOR FUTURE CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT. AFTER ALL, A DILAOGUE OF SORTS HAS BEEN GOING ON BETWEEN CIVILIANS AND THE MILITARY SINCE THE COUP--ACTUALLY SINCE BEFORE THE COUP. HOWEVER, WE BELIEVE THE ALL-IMPORTANT DIALOGUE OF THE FUTURE, I.E. THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE CIVILIAN GROUP EVENTUALLY TO TAKE OVER FROM THE MILITARY IS A LONG WAY FROM BEING APPROVED BY THE JUNTA, NOTWITHSTANDING THE FACT THAT THERE ARE RADICALS AND PERONISTS SALIVATING IN THE WINGS WHO THINK THEY WILL BE INVITED TO JOIN THE CABINET OR OTHER HIGH LEVEL POSTS AS EARLY AS NEXT YEAR.

15. THERE COULD BE NEW SETBACKS FOR THE MODERATES' TIMETABLE. BETWEEN NOW AND THE NEXT MEETING OF ALL THE ARMY GENERALS SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST, THE HARDLINE GENERALS COULD STRIKE BACK AGAIN AND THE VIDELA "DIALOGUE" PUT IN THE TRASH BASKET. HAB-8606 SUGGESTS THAT VIDELA-VIOLA GROUP HAD CONSIDERABLY ROUGHER GOING IN THE HIGH COMMAND ("ALTOS MANDOS") MEETING OF JUNE 30 THAN IN THE GENERALS' MEETING A MONTH BEFORE. THE SUPPORT OF THE GENERALS WHO ARE MEMBERS OF THE 76TH GRADUATION CLASS OF THE MILITARY ACADEMY IS WHAT APPEARS TO GIVE VIDELA HIS DECISIVE EDGE IN THE MEETINGS OF GENERALS AS OPPOSED TO THOSE OF THE HIGH COMMAND.

16. A KEY CONSTRAINT ON THE DIALOGUE IN THE LABOR SECTOR IS WHETHER MARTINEZ DE HOZ' BECOMINC POLICY WILL PROVE SUCCESSFUL. UNTIL THERE ARE GREATHER SIGNS OF ECONOMIC RECOVERY IT DOES NOT APPEAR LIKELY THAT HE WILL FAVOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING, LET ALONE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, IF HE HAS ANY SAY IN THE MATTER. MOREOVER, OUTBREAKS OF LABOR OR SOCIAL UNREST COULD PRODUCE DEMANDS FOR RENEWED AUTHORITARIAN MEASURES. ANOTHER POTENTIALLY CRUCIAL AND LARGELY UNKNOWN VARIABLE FOR THE MEDIUM TERM COULD BE THE NEW GENERATION OF YOUNG MILITARY OFFICERS WHO HAVE BORNE THE BRUNT OF THE COUNTERINSURGENCY AND WHO PRESUMABLY HAVE AN INTEREST IN PREVENTING FUTURE CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENTS FROM EXAMINING THE COUNTERTERRORIST METHODS USED TO WIN THE WAR. WHETHER THIS [redacted]

ELEMENT WILL PLAY A SIGNIFICANT POLITICAL ROLE IN THE FUTURE IS STILL UNCLEAR, BUT SOME OBSERVERS FEAR THAT THERE ARE NATIONALIST AUTHORITARIAN IDEAS STIRRING IN THIS GROUP. E

17 DESPITE VIDELA'S RECENT GAINS, THERE IS AN ACCOMMODATION PROCESS AT WORK WITHIN THE ARMED FORCES AND HE PROBABLY WILL HAVE TO COMPROMISE SOME ON HIS PROGRAM IN ORDER TO GAIN THE FULL ACQUIESCENCE OF THE MILITARY. NOT THAT WE SEE HIM WILLINGLY ACCEPTING THE "4TH MAN" THESIS BEFORE 1979 WHEN, BY STATUTE, HE MUST GIVE UP HIS POSITION AS ARMY COMMANDER ANYWAY. UNLESS THERE IS MORE LOGIC AND DYNAMISM BEHIND THE PRESSURE FROM ARMY HARDLINERS AND THE OTHER TWO SERVICES FOR NOT ALLOWING VIDELA TO WEAR HIS JUNTA AND PRESIDENTIAL HATS SIMULTANEOUSLY THAN PRESENTLY MEETS THE EYE, WE ARE SKEPTICAL THAT HE IS ABOUT TO CONCEDE ON THIS POINT--ESPECIALLY WHEN HIS POSITION OF STRENGTH WITHIN THE ARMY APPEARS TO BE ON THE INCREASE. THE AUTHORITARIAN POLITICAL THINKERS HAVE MADE A CONTRIBUTION TO THE DEBATE (OR DIALOGUE), BY PLACING A 13-YEAR OUTSIDE LIMIT ON MILITARY RULE. VIDELA PUBLICLY STILL REFUSES TO BE DRAWN INTO A CONVERSATION OF TIMETABLES, BUT PRESUMABLY HIS SCENARIO CALLS FOR A SHORTER TRANSITION PERIOD. (CURIOUSLY, ADMIRAL MASSERA ALSO MAY BE THINKING IN TERMS OF A RELATIVELY BRIEFER REORGANIZATION PROCESS (5-6 YEARS WAS THE GUESS OF ONE OF HIS AIDES), BUT THIS IS PRESUMABLY BECAUSE OF MASSERA'S OWN PERSONAL POLITICAL AMBITIONS.)

18. ANOTHER APPARENT DISTINCTION IS THAT AT LEAST SOME CONSERVATIVE/AUTHORITARIAN POLITICAL THINKERS TEND TOWARDS A BRAZILIAN-LIKE POLITICAL SOLUTION WITH ARTIFICIALLY STRUCTURED GOVERNMENT AND OPPOSITION PARTIES, WHEREAS VIDELA'S CIVILIAN AIDES CARTER MORE TO THE TRADITIONAL PARTY POLITICIANS (RADICALS, [redacted]

PERONISTS AND OTHERS). HOWEVER, VIDELA'S OWN GAME PLAN IS BY NO MEANS CLEAR ON THIS POINT. THE CURRENT POLITICAL LEADERS DO NOT INSPIRE MUCH CONFIDENCE IN IMILITARY RANKS AND VIDELA MAY BE FORCED TO STRETCH OUT HIS REORGANIZATION SCENARIO. SERIOUS ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL PROBLEMS COULD INTERRUPT THE MILITARY CYCLE AS THEY HAVE THE OTHER ARGENTINE IMILITARY GOVERNMENTS OF THE RECENT PAST, REQUIRING A HASTY TRANSFER OF POWER ONCE AGAIN TO THE POLITICIANS. HOWEVER, OUR IMPRESSION IS THAT THE PREDOMINANT MOOD IN THE ARMED FORCES AT PRESENT IS IN FAVOR OF A LONGER RATHER THAN A SHORTER GESTATION PERIOD, NOTWITHSTANDING VIDELA'S RELATIVELY STRONGER POSITION.

19. IT IS DIFFICULT TO FORESEE AT THIS POINT HOW EVEN VIDELA HIMSELF FORESEES DEVELOPING "THE DIALOGUE" INTO SOME NEW POLITICAL FORMULATION--AND IMPOSSIBLE TO PREDICT THE OUTCOME OF A PROCESS WHICH INVOLVES THE WILL OF SO MANY DISPARATE GROUPS AND THE AMBITIONS OF MANY POWERFUL MEN. WE BELIEVE THAT IF VIDELA CAN SUCCEED IN PRESENTING HIMSELF AS A MODERATOR DEVOID OF PERSONAL AMIBITION, HAVING ONLY NATIONAL INTERESTS IN MIND, THEN A USEFUL "DIALOGUE" CAN BE INITIATED WHICH AT THE LEAST WILL PROVIDE A CLIMATE IN WHICH CIVILIAN POLITICIANS, MILITARY POWER SEEKERS AND BROKERS, INSTITUTIONS AND INTEREST GROUPS CAN EXPRESS THEMSELVES AND EXPECT AT LEAST A RESPECTFUL AUDIENCE. "DIALOGUE" MAY TURN OUT TO BE NOTHING MORE THAN A USEFUL RUBRIC TO COVER "POLITICAL VENTILATION"--BUT THIS IS, AFTER ALL A PROCESS BADLY NEEDED IN ARGENTINA JUST NOW. IF, HOWEVER, VIDELA CAN CONTROL THE DIALOGUE PROCESS FOR SUFFICIENT TIME, AND IF HE CAN SUCCEED IN ACCOMMODATING WITHIN THE PROCESS THE WISDOM OF THE CIVILIAN AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS AS WELL AS THEIR POLITICAL APPETITES, THEN IT APPEARS POSSIBLE TO US THAT REAL BASIC CHANGE COULD RESULT.

1. ALL OF US HERE WHO HAVE RESPONSIBILITY FOR NOTING ARGENTINE PROGRESS IN HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVANCE, AND THOSE IN MISSION WHO HAVE THE BEST MEANS OF OBSERVING THE ARGENTINE WAR AGAINST THE GUERRILLA MOVEMENT, HAVE GIVEN CAREFUL CONSIDERATION TO REFTEL AND TO POSSIBLE EFFECTS SOME STATEMENT OF PRESIDENTIAL INTEREST AND ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF IMPROVEMENT HERE MIGHT HAVE. WE CONCLUDE THAT AN INITIATIVE INVOKING THE PRESIDENT'S NAME WOULD NOT BE ADVISABLE AT THIS TIME. THIS COURSE IS, HOWEVER, ONE WE MAY WANT TO TAKE IN THE VERY NEAR FUTURE.

2. WE AGREE THERE ARE ENCOURAGING SIGNS IN FACT THAT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, AND ARGENTINE EXCESSES IN THE WAR AGAINST TERRORISM HAVE DIMINISHED. IT IS ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO COMMENT ON A SIGNIFICANT SAMPLING OF THE 342 NAMES LISTED RECENTLY AS THOSE OF PERSONS RELEASED FROM CUSTODY HERE AND CITED BY REFTEL. WE CAN POINT, HOWEVER, TO KNOWLEDGE THAT THREE PRESONS ON THIS LIST HAVE IN FACT GAINED THEIR FREEDOM. WHAT INTERESTS US EQUALLY IS FACT THAT THERE IS INCREASING OFFICIAL RECOGNITION

THAT HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES HAVE OCCURRED. AS WAR AGAINST TERRORISM WINDS DOWN, IT APPEARS TO US THAT THERE IS BETTER CONTROL BY THE GOVERNMENT OF THOSE OF ITS OWN FORCES WAGING THE WAR. WE FURTHER BELIEVE THAT GENERAL VIDELA AND HIS MODERATE MILITARY COLLEAGUES ARE GAINING INFLUENCE IN THE LONGER AND LARGER QUESTION OF WHO ULTIMATELY WILL RULE IN ARGENTINA. (SEE BUENOS AIRES 5281)

3. ON THE OTHER HAND, THERE IS MUCH THAT DISTURBS US. DISAPPEARANCE OF EIGHT PERSONS FROM MAR DEL PLATA, ALL LAWYERS OR WIVES OF LAWYERS, IS A BROODING SCANDAL WHICH DAILY ATTRACTS MORE ATTENTION HERE. OVER WEEKEND EMBASSY WAS GIVEN NEW INFORMATION CONCERNING HARASSMENT BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS OF RANKING UNION MEMBERS. ALTHOUGH WE HAVE NO FIRM DATA ON THIS, WE CREDIT STORIES TO EFFECT THAT AT LEAST FIVE LABOR UNION LEADERS HAVE BEEN THREATENED WITH HARM UNLESS THEY PULL OUT OF LABOR AFFAIRS AND, ACCORDING TO ONE SOURCE, LEAVE THIS COUNTRY. THE GRAIVER AFFAIR APPEARS TO BE HEADED TOWARD A RESOLUTION WHICH WE FEAR WILL BE UNSETTLING FOR THOSE WATCHING HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS IN ARGENTINA. "LA OPINION" FORMER EDITOR TIMMERMAN HAS, WE ARE TOLD, BEEN RECENTLY TRANSFERRED TO LA PLATA WHERE HE IS AGAIN BEING HELD INCOMMUNICADO AND AGAIN WE FEAR THE OUTCOME WILL BE DISTRESSING.

4. ALL THIS LEADS US TO HESITATE IN USING A PRESIDENTIAL ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF AN IMPROVING SITUATION, LEST SUBSEQUENTLY WE DISCOVER THAT HUMAN RIGHTS GAINS HERE WERE ILLUSORY. CHARGE WILL BE SEEING MINISTER OF ECONOMY MARTINEZ DE HOZ TO QUESTION THE MINISTER WHAT ADVANCES IN HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVANCES ARE, IN HIS OPINION, WORTH OUR TAKING NOTE OF AND REPORTING TO OUR GOVERNMENT. CHARGE WILL AT THAT TIME TAKE NOTE OF SEVERAL "STRAWS IN THE WIND" WHICH LEAD US TOWARD ENCOURAGEMENT.

MEMORANDUM FOR: DR. ZBIGNIEW BRZEZINSKI

From: Cyrus Vance

Subject: The President's Interest in Argentine Human Rights Improvements

After consulting with our Embassy in Buenos Aires as you requested on the President's behalf, we do not believe that this is the right time to use the President's name publicly in connection with the human rights situation in Argentina. An exchange of messages with the Embassy on this subject is attached.

The Embassy points out three recent, very negative developments in the Buenos Aires region:

-- Eight lawyers or their wives have been kidnapped at a sea resort near Buenos Aires; one has been murdered brutally. It seems likely that the security forces are responsible.

-- The publisher of the only major Argentine newspaper which has demonstrated consistent courage on behalf of human rights is once more being held incommunicado.

-- At least five labor leaders have been warned recently to leave Argentina. (Earlier this month a prominent Jewish leader fled to the United States after being threatened.)

With respect to human rights improvements, the Embassy has been unable to verify whether more than three of 342 persons were released by the Argentine government in June. We do not doubt that many more were released but note that on July 1, the Interior Ministry announced 114 arrests under the state of siege provisions of the Argentine constitution and only 5 releases for the preceding week. There is also no further information concerning the restoration of the "right of option", whereby state of seige prisoners may seek voluntary exile.

Our Embassy is looking further into these matters and we will keep the National Security Council advised.

Nearly all serious violations of human rights in Argentina are now taking place in the Buenos Aires military region. The commander of the region, General Suarez Mason, is a notorious hardline general, and viewed as one of Argentine President Videla's principal rivals for power; Suarez is seconded by a retired General, who acts as governor. These men are being held responsible by many for the latest round of violence. In fact, Argentina's most important newspaper, La Nacion, which has not distinguished itself on behalf of human rights, called unequivocally on July 18 for the Argentine government to protect lawyers from barbarism.

There are also signs that President Videla may be gaining support from other generals for a greater ventilation of political ideas with civilian leaders. This promoted Argentina's oldest party, the Radicales, to criticize the governments's human rights record. The Radicales were accused of engaging in politics by the government but rather than punish the politicians, the government took the case to the courts. The lower courts ruled against the government and the matter is under appeal.

We will remain alert for favorable developments, as the President has directed, to express his gratification. We do feel, however, that we need a more clear cut step to applaud, such as a court decision accepted by the government or the restoration of the "right of option".

SUBJECT: DISAPPEARANCE OF ARGENTINA'S AMBASSADOR TO VENEZUELA; BUENOS AIRES PROVINCE GOVERNOR'S SON ALSO REPORTED MISSING

1. BUENOS AIRES NEWSPAPERS NOTED TODAY JULY 19 APPARENT DISAPPEARANCE OF ARGENTINA'S AMBASSADOR TO VENEZUELA HECTOR HIDALGO SOLA. HIDALGO SOLA ARRIVED SEVERAL DAYS AGO FROM HIS POST TO ATTEND THE MARRIAGE OF HIS DAUGHTER WHICH WILL TAKE PLACE JULY 22.

2. ACCORDING TO ONE OF HIDALGO SOLA'S FRIENDS THE AMBASSADOR LEFT HIS APARTMENT YESTERDAY JULY 18 AT 8:30 IN THE MORNING WITHOUT ANY FEAR OR PREOCCUPATION. HE WAS SEEN PARKED ON A MAIN AVENUE LEADING TO HIS OFFICE BY ONE ACQUAINTANCE. HIDALGO SOLA WAS AT THAT TIME TALKING WITH ONE OR MORE PERSONS WHO HAD PARKED THEIR FORD FALCON JUST BEHIND HIS CAR. HIS FAMILY PROFESSES NO KNOWLEDGE OF WHAT MIGHT HAVE HAPPENED TO THE AMBASSADOR. THIS AFTERNOON'S PRESS REPORTS THAT OCCUPANTS OF THE OTHER CAR WERE "HEAVILY ARMED."

POST THIS TIME BY MAKING SEVERAL PRONOUNCEMENTS CONCERNING ARGENTINA'S INTERNAL POLITICS. AMONG HIDALGO SOLA'S SEVERAL SPECULATIONS WAS ONE WHICH FORESAW A RETURN TO CIVILIAN RULE "MUCH SOONER THAN ANYONE MIGHT EXPECT". DURING HIS BRIEF STAY IN BUENOS AIRES BEFORE HIS DISAPPEARANCE HIDALGO SOLA WAS AN OUTSPOKEN FIGURE ON THE DIPLOMATIC/POLITICAL CIRCUIT. AS THOUGH THIS MIGHT BE INSUFFICIENT FOR GAINING HIM ENEMIES, HIDALGO SOLA IS REMEMBERED FOR HAVING RECEIVED DEPOSED ARGENTINE TRADE UNION LEADER CASILDO HERRERAS LAST YEAR AT HIS EMBASSY IN CARACAS. HERRERAS, WHO IS IN EXILE ABROAD, IS ANATHEMA TO HARDLINING MILITARY ELEMENTS. IT IS ALSO CONSIDERED RELEVENT IN LOCAL POLITICAL CIRCLES THAT HARDLINE MILITARY ELEMENTS STRONGLY OPPOSED PRESIDENT VIDELA'S RECENT OFFICIAL VISIT TO VENEZUELA BECAUSE THEY SAW IT AS PART OF MOVE TOWARDS A POLITICAL OPENING IN ARGENTINA. A KNOWLEDGEABLE AND WELL PLACED SOURCE WITHIN THE GOVERNMENT RULED OUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT I CORPS COMMANDER GENERAL SUAREZ MASON MIGHT BE BEHIND THE AMBASSADOR'S DISAPPEARANCE SINCE THERE IS A LONGSTANDING PERSONAL FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN THE TWO. HOWEVER, OUR SOURCE COULD NOT RULE OUT THE POSSIBILITY OF AN ACTION BY UNCONTROLLED SUBORDINATE ELEMENTS IN THE SECURITY FORCES.

5. IN A SEPARATE AND PERHAPS COMPLETELY UNRELATED INCIDENT, WE HAVE HEARD ON GOOD AUTHORITY THAT ONE SON OF BUENOS AIRES PROVINCE GOVERNOR ST. JEAN DISAPPEARED FROM HIS HOME JULY 17 AND HAS NOT SUBSEQUENTLY REAPPEARED.

Country where the human rights violation ocurred: ARGENTINA

Name of the Victim MARIA TERESA ALVAREZ Cubillos

Nationality ARGENTINE age 22 occupation student additional identification PARENTS: FRANCISCO & CAROLINA ALVAREZ

Home:

Date of the violation NOVEMBER 17, 1976 Place of the violation HER HOME

Description of the violation AT 11:00 p.m. on NOVEMBER 17, 1976 FIVE INDIVIDUALS, WHO IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS MEMBERS OF THE "COORDINACION FEDERAL" CAME TO THE HOUSE & TOOK MARIA TERESA. FIVE DAYS LATER, SHE TELEPHONED TO SAY SHE WAS ALRIGHT & WOULD RETURN IN A FEW DAYS — THE CALL WAS ABRUPTLY CUT OFF. ON DECEMBER 13, 1976, SEVERAL MILITARY PERSONNEL CAME TO THE HOUSE, INQUIRED ABOUT THERESA & SEARCHED THE HOUSE. UPON LEARNING SHE HAD BEEN TAKEN 4 WEEKS PREVIOUSLY, THEY LEFT IMMEDIATELY

Legal actions undertaken in regard to this case "father contacted different Governmental departments to no avail."

Response received Feb 1977 the GOVERNMENT SAID MARIA THERESA WAS NOT IN ANY JAIL OF BUENOS AIRES. NO REPORT ON WHETHER SHE MAY BE IN Documents enclosed (if any) A MILITARY OR CLANDESTINE JAIL.

The present situation within the country where the victim's human rights were violated is such, that it is impossible to seek legal recourse within that country. It is necessary therefore to have recourse to international agencies with jurisdiction on human rights.

We have received direct information regarding this case from relatives of the victim and from eye witnesses. None of these sources can be mentioned by name because of the serious risks to them from the local authorities. For our part, however, there is no problem being identified as the source of information if you should determine that this would in no way harm the situation for the victim.

DISTRIBUTION: S, D, P, INR, M/CT, NSC-Mr. Pastor, FBI-Mr. Graham, Customs-Mr. Muegge, CIA-[redacted] L, ARA

Mr. Garcia phoned me early morning saying he had some information he wished to convey urgently. He and Arboleya (whom I assumed to be a goon -- he drove me to the Shelbourn Hotel where they had rented a suite for the meeting. (The Shelbourn is known because Fidel was thrown out of it in 1960 during the stormy UN session -- when Khrushchev banged his shoe -- for cooking chickens in his room and then stalked off to a hotel in the Harlem.)

Garcia opened by saying that Cuban exile terrorists were planning actions in the next few days and he was instructed to make the following oral statement on behalf of the Cuban Government. Garcia did not offer to provide me with a copy of the statement, which was in Spanish, but he translated it slowly into English as follows:

Cuban Oral Statement on Exile Terrorism

In response to information provided by the United States Government about terrorist actions, it is in the interest of the Cuban Government to provide some data on hostile actions being prepared on US territory by Cuban-born residents, who say they have support of the CIA and FBI. They are based in Florida and the name of their organization is CORU.

According to the information of the Cuban Government these elements plan to make armed attacks on Cuba before July 26 — an important anniversary of the Cuban Government. These attacks will be made by three vessels and are being mounted from Miami and will be re-staged in the Bahamian Islands. The objective are on the north coast of Cuba — Camaguey and Ciega d'Avila provinces. Targets will be fishing vessels and merchant ships.

The principal executor of the plot is Armando Lopez Estrada, a US citizen - naturalized, who has confessed to having been recruited by the CIA in the 1960's. He is the military chief of the terrorist band "Brigade 2506". He heads a group of 15 men trained for para-military action during the time they used to work under CIA orders.

Other members of the group are "Gerra" -- the number 2 man. He is 5'5", white, 150 lbs. He is an electrician. He drives a white station wagon when engaged in his profession.

Santana, who participated with Gerra in the attack on Boca de Sama in 1971.

Victor, known as "El Negro", 5'8", thin, curly hair and black; used to work as a mechanic. Now works in Amoco Gas Station at 8th St. and 36th Ave. in front of the Datsun Automobile Agency.

Armando, known as "The Palestinian", 26 years old, white, 5'7" and having a strong constitution -- unemployed -- lives with his mother Prado Avenue, Miami. Identified as one of the masked men in Bill Moyer's CBS TV program "The CIA's Secret War".

Pineiro, 40 years old, 170 lbs, owner of gas station at 8th St. and 104 Ave., SW Miami. Owner of one of the boats to be used; it is regularly moored at a marina at 22nd Avenue and Miami River. The boat is 29' long. Has a V-8 motor, sonar, CB equipment, 33 c[illegible]nuel[illegible] color blue, with [illegible] mo[illegible] for a 20 mm cannon on the prow.

Pedro, 42 years. 5'6". 145 lbs, white, lives at 58th Avenue between Flager and Ist Street NW in Miami. He is the owner of another of the boats which is V-24 model, license FL 3717 AH, blue and white color, sometimes kept at home on a trailer.

The others are known as Mesias, Rapheel, Carmego, Juan Arce, Ivan, Rojas, Becera, Perez Noa, and Jurito.

The third boat belongs to Lopez Estrada. It is blue with a white stripe and has an inboard motor. Has navigational equipment and CB — the latter provided by the CIA through another terrorist named Gerra (Garcia said that the statement did not indicate whether this was the same Gerra mentioned above). Lopez Estrada says he received some money from Lincoln and Omar Babun, whose office is at 741 SW 131st Ave.

Dr. Enrico Huertas, Administrator of the Jose Marti Bank, has been threatened in the shake-down to provide funds by Lopez Estrada, on the pains of being removed from his position as head of the Cuban Medical College in Exile. In place of Huertas, CORU is threatening to emplace Dr. Eacas, whose office is at 27 SW and 13 or 14 Street and whose home address is 2640 SW 12th Street, phone 649-6837. He is a member of CORU.

The group has weapons: 15 AR rifles, 15 modified M-16 rifles, 2 M-14 rifles -- sport model, 2 30cal. machine guns of WW II model, and one 20 mm. cannon.

The group used to meet with Lopez Estrada at the Versailles Restaurant, 3555 SW 8th Street, phone 444-0240 or 445-7614 -- usual at noon.

The plans of the terrorists were approved by Roberto Carballo, President of Brigade 2506, who lives in a townhouse at Reparto Lagunas in front on 104 Ave; his office is 11th St and 72 Ave., NW. He participated in a meeting in Pedro's house in early July. Also present were Lopez Estrada, Gaspar Jiminez Escobedo, Gerra, and Pedro.

Training activities for these terrorist plots have been conducted at a location described as following: take 8th Street SW out of Miami to the West — cross on left -- turn left and see radar base of US Army — proceed for 4 miles on orad, turn right and proceed 2 miles on 197 Ave. and turn right and find woods belonging to The Everglades. There Gerra conducts training, using weapons, uniforms, grenades, etc.

Gaspar Jiminez is the deputy to Orlando Bosch as Chief of CORU. He is a fugitive from Mexican justice for the assassination of the Cuban Technician ~~Peterenan~~ Diaz Diaz. He lives at 5250 SW 82nd Street in Miami. There are frequent meetings in his house for laying terrotist plots. Following instructions from Bosch — known as "El Medico" — the group plans to attack planes on the ground and in flight of Air Cubana and Air Iberia on flights between Madrid and Havana.

Participating in the above aircraft sabotage plots are Ramon Sanchez, known as "Ramoncita", Raziel Rodriguez and his brother, Reynold, who have obtained legal US documentation. They are coordinating plans for Operations in Spain, Venezuela, and the Dominican Republic. They plan to kidnap personalities from Florida, New York, Mexico, and Venezuela. They are trying to collect money by extortion.

Orlando Bosch has given instructions to his group to prepare terrorist actions as soon as possible against Venezuela and Puerto Rico, including Manolo Ledo, who came from Puerto Rico for that purpose.

In Puerto Rico, the terrorists have the support of Raul Varandela Estevez. As part of these plans, Frank Castro, known as "Cylindro Gonzalez", travels freely and frequently from Miami using commercial airplanes and false documents and transporting explosives. On June 14 he arrived in Caracas from Grand Cayman with a final destination of Caracas bringing 100 lbs. of explosives given to him by Antonio Veciano-Blank, known as "Toni". On this trip he used a Cessna 401, licensed in the US no. 6226. Explosives were given to Afredo Aguilar, who lives in Venezuela. This Ramon Sanchez is tying to kill a Cuban, Migule Angel Peraza, who testified in a trial against the terrorist Selacova, who was sentenced in Miami. There is a plot to kill Peraza. Participating will be Ramon Sanchez, his brother, Luis, and Pablo Sarduy, known as "El Gajacito". Sarduy has also been identified as one of the masked men who appeared in Bill Moyer's CBS show on Cuban terrorism.

The weapons to kill Peraza will be supplied by Jimienz Escobado and Duney Perez Alamoas, who lives next door to Jiminez.

Roberto Carballo, who apparently has left CORU and is known as an FBI agent, has frequent contacts with Jiminez. They meet in a blue Volkswagen, a ranchwagon, Fla. plates ID 111-852. The vehicle has a dent in the rear fender and is missing a signal light. These contacts also used to go to the Versailles Restaurant at 8th and 36th Ave. Jiminez — known as "Marcos" — is head of CORU in the United States. He is living freely in Miami, having broken out of a Mexican jail, where he was incarcerated for a crime. According to Jiminez' own words, he received protection and an alert from the FBI about danger to his own person about a plot that would come from the Cuban Government.

The FBI alerted Jiminez in April, 1977, 24 hours after he arrived in Miami.

Other terrorists connected with CORU are: Gustavo Castillo known as "Tzvo", Luis Sanchez, Juan Hernandez, Juan Ganzales, Antonio Eswuierdo, Francesco Guzman Pastrana, known as "Negro".

CORU has its headquarters for these actions outside the US in Jiminez' house, where it maintains a quantity of birth certificates from Puerto Rico, drivers licenses, and other documents obtained by Raul Varandelo Estevez.

In this house also live Victor Manuel Quesada and Carlos Manuel Molina-Alvarado, both of whom participate in CORU activities. A frequent visitor and participant is Ives Vidanas, head of Abdala in Miami, who has secret links with CORU and meets with its leaders in Jiminez' house and also on the second floor of a cafeteria at Flager and 17th Avenue. The heads of CORU are trying to contact rightwing societies and organizations in the US such as the John Birch Society and the Minutemen. Because of the Cuban policy of the Carter Administration they think it is necessary to find help in rightwing sectors which they consider their natural allies.

On Bosch's orientation CORU is preparing its people with fascist literature such as Hitler's Mein Kampf.

Other elements of interest are: Dionisio Suarez Esquivel, actually in jail. According to CORU, he has not testified to the D.C. Grand Jury about the activities of the terrorist organization because the brothers Novo San Pol have threatened to kill him.

The heads of CORU have received a statement written by Bosch in which he says he has nothing to do with the denunciation made to the Novo brothers related to the death of Orlando Letelier, making clear that Letelier was killed by the Novo brothers as a result of a brotherhood agreement with the Chilean Junta.

The author of the bombing of the Soviet ship in New Orleans was Frank Castro.

The Government of Cuba has given these facts to the Government of the USA in the same spirit and for the purpose of making more effective the actions announced by the Government of the USA to end definitely the activities organized and executed against Cuba and other countries by terrorist elements living on US territory.

Cuban Oral Presentation about Assassination Attempts in New York

The Government of Cuba knows that some counterrevolutionary elements living in the US guided by the Cubans Felipe Rivero Diaz and Eduardo Paz have decided to concentrate their terrorist actions in New York. At present they are trying to find explosives and means to assassinate Ambassador Alarcon and the secretaries of the Cuban UN Mission Hugo Yidra and Julio Torez Rizo.

We have obtained information that the killer of the Chilean ex-Minister Orlando Letelier belongs to the Movimiento Nationalista Cubana.

I thanked Mr. Garcia for the above information and said that it would be conveyed promptly to the appropriate authorities of the US Government.

Representation About Cuban Detention of American Fishing and Pleasure Craft

I told Mr. Garcia that I had been instructed to inform him about our concern over the recent rash of detentions of American fishing and pleasure vessels in international waters. In some cases these vessels may have been in waters claimed as a territorial sea by Cuba, but we believed that the methods of detaining and inspecting vessels were excessivly heavy handed. We had requested information from the Cuban Foreign Ministry through the Swiss Embassy in Havana and also an explanation about these incidents. We were aware that the Cuban authorities may have placed their coastal patrols on a state of heightened alert as the result of information the US Government provided to the Cuban Government with regard to the detention of these fishing and pleasure vessels which we considered unjustified and which has caused us embarrassment with our Congress and the US public.

Mr. Garcia said he would report this representation promptly to Havana.

SUBJECT: DINA/CUBAN EXILE INVOLVEMENT IN LETELIER CASE

1. EUGENE M. PROPPER, THE ASSISTANT U.S. ATTORNEY WHO IS INVESTIGATING THE LETELIER CASE FOR THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT, HAS REQUESTED THAT YOU OBTAIN INFORMATION FROM PRESIDENT PEREZ ABOUT THE CASE. THE DEPARTMENT CONCURS IN HIS REQUEST.

2. DURING HIS MEETING WITH PRESIDENT CARTER, PRESIDENT PEREZ STATED THAT HE HAD "GOOD REPORTS BUT NO PROOF" THAT LETELIER WAS KILLED BY CUBANS SENT AND SUPPORTED BY THE CHILEAN SECRET POLICE (DINA). IN LIGHT OF THESE FACTS, IT WOULD BE APPRECIATED IF THE FOLLOWING REQUESTS COULD BE MADE OF PRESIDENT PEREZ:

(A) WE WOULD LIKE THE REPORTS THAT PRESIDENT PEREZ HAS CONCERNING THE CUBANS SENT TO KILL LETELIER AND THEIR RELATIONSHIP WITH DINA. IT IS IRRELEVANT TO US WHETHER THIS INFORMATION COULD BE USED IN COURT; OUR PRIMARY CONCERN AT THIS TIME IS SIMPLY TO OBTAIN THE INFORMATION;

(B) OFFICIALS OF THE VENEZUELAN SECRET POLICE (DISIP) SENT ROLANDO OTERO HERNANDEZ INTO CHILE IN EARLY 1976, FOR THE PURPOSE OF HAVING MR. OTERO ATTEMPT TO INFILTRATE DINA TO FIND OUT WHAT IT DOES AND HOW IT OPERATES. OTERO SUCCEEDED IN INFILTRATING DINA AND WAS ORDERED BY DINA OFFICIALS TO TRAVEL TO COSTA RICA IN FEBRUARY, 1976, WHERE HE WAS TO KILL PASCAL ALLENDE AND A FEMALE COMPANION OF HIS. OTERO DID NOT CARRY OUT THE MISSION, BUT HE DID REPORT THE FACTS OF IT TO THE DISIP. WE UNDERSTAND THAT OTERO WAS GIVEN PHOTOGRAPHS AND PERSONAL INFORMATION ON ALLENDE TO ASSIST HIM IN HIS MISSION. THESE FACTS ARE VERY IMPORTANT IN SHOWING THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE DINA AND ANTI-CASTRO EXILES AND ANY INFORMATION IN THE POSSESSION OF THE VENEZUELAN GOVERNMENT ON THIS INCIDENT, OR SIMILAR INCIDENTS WHICH SHOW THE OPERATION OF THE DINA IN THIS AREA, WOULD BE OF GREAT ASSISTANCE TO THE INVESTIGATION;

(C) WHEN ASSISTANT UNITED STATES ATTORNEY EUGENE M. PROPPER WAS IN CARACAS, HE SPOKE TO DISIP OFFICIAL RIVAS VASQUEZ WHO PROVIDED PROPPER WITH CERTAIN HELPFUL INFORMATION. PROPPER HAS INDICATED THAT HE IS MOST APPRECIATIVE OF THE ASSISTANCE HE RECEIVED. VASQUEZ TOLD PROPPER THAT HE HAD A SOURCE AT THE CORU MEETING WHICH TOOK PLACE IN THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC IN JUNE, 1976. THAT MEETING IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT TO THE INVESTIGATION BECAUSE LETELIER'S MURDER WAS DISCUSSED THERE. WE WOULD LIKE WHATEVER INFORMATION YOU POSSESS ON THAT MEETING.

3. WE SHOULD STRESS THAT ANSWERING THESE TWO REQUESTS MAY GREATLY ASSIST IN BRINGING ABOUT A RESOLUTION OF THE LETELIER CASE AND MAY HELP TO DECREASE THE ESCALATING AMOUNT OF INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM. WE SHOULD FURTHER STRESS THAT COMPLYING WITH THESE REQUESTS CAN IN NO WAY HAVE AN EFFECT ON THE CUBANA AIRLINE CRASH CASE NOW PENDING IN THE VENEZUELAN COURT SYSTEM. VANCE

MEMORANDUM

Re: Argentine prisoners

(This is a copy of a message transmitted to WOLA by a relative of one of the prisoners listed below.)

El seminarista franciscano JORGE EDUARDO MERINO fue capturado el 20 de abril de 1975. Tiene sentencia provisoria de 5 años y abogado dice que puede ser reducida a 3 años. Ya sirvió 2 años. Su familia quiere saber si podemos ayudarles a sacarlo de Argentina. Se encuentra actualmente en el Penal de La Plata, Unidad 9, Buenos Aires.

Junto con el se encuentran en la misma carcel un grupo de 10 sacerdotes que también han sido sentenciados a varios años de prisión. Ellos quieren que se les expulse del país "en bloque". Sus nombres son los siguientes:

HUGO ORLANDO MATHOR
GIANFRANCO TESTA
JOAQUIN NUNEZ
SILVIO MELANIO LIUZZI
ELIAS MUSSI - sentenciado a 18 años de carcel
JAVIER MARTIN DOCE
RAUL TRONCOSO
FRANCISCO GUTIERREZ GARCIA
LUIS LOPEZ MOLINA
JORGE EDUARDO MOLINA

Asistencia también está pedido para las siguientes personas que se encuentran sometidas a barbaras torturas en Villa de Votos en la provincia de Buenos Aires:
HORTENCIA ESPINOLA
SUSANA LIGGERA.
Ellas fueron capturadas como en mayo de 1975.

Memo Presented on the 18 August 1977 By Dr. JOSE ANTONIO QUADROS of Montevideo, Uruguay, lawyer, former member of the Uruguayan Parliament, former Uruguayan ambassador to London, Paris and Bonn.

ANA INES QUADROS, born in Montevideo, today 32, divorced from Miguel Strauch, mother of three. Her parents: J.A.Quadros and Esther Herrera Méndez.

Since December 1973 Ana Inés was residing in Buenos Aires where she had to stay for political reasons and where she obtained permission to take up residence, was given a regular identity card and got a job.

In mid-July 1976 she was abducted in the streets of Buenos Aires, jailed, tortured and later brought over to Montevideo where her torments continued. The entire operation was carried out by the Uruguayan armed forces in cooperation with their Argentine opposite numbers. At this moment she is locked up in a concentration camp called "Punta de Rieles" near Montevideo. She is under military justice and lacks any possibility to choose her defense.

Two publications, viz. "Stern" of Western Germany (No.17 of 14 April 1977) and "Amica" of Italy (No.20,21 of 26 May) have devoted extensive articles on the specific case of Ana Inés. Other publications such as "The Sunday Times" (London, 27 March), "Le Monde" (9 April), "The Washington Post" (16 March), "The Morning Star" (24 March), "Excelsior" (Mexico,12 April), "El Día" (Mexico, 22 April), "El Universal" (Mexico, 2 April), have revealed the story as told by one Enrique Rodríguez Larreta Piera. This individual was among those kidnapped by the Uruguay armed forces together with Ana Inés but was released because apparently the armed forces feared even wider repercussions since he was kidnapped while on a visit from Montevideo to his daughter-in-law (also jailed) in Bs. As. and was thus not even a refugee.

Thereupon he left Uruguay and told his story to the world press as well as Anmesty International, The High Commisioner for Refugees in Geneva and the US Senate, at least.

His case is registed with the Human Rights Committee of the OAS under number 2155, and that of Ana Inés under number 2074.

No less tragic are the cases of the other members of the group, all absconded on or just before the 13 July 1976 in Buenos Aires, and listed on the enclosed sheet.

ARGENTINE COMMISSION for HUMAN RIGHTS

COMISION ARGENTINA POR LOS DERECHOS HUMANOS (CADHU)
Washington, D.C. Information Bureau

R

August 31st, 1977

President James Carter
White House
Washington D.C.

Dear President Carter:

On September 7th you will sign the new canal treaty between the United States and the Republic of Panama. This treaty will be an important step forward towards the recognition of Panamanian sovereignty over the canal. For that occasion you will host the visit of the heads of state of most member nations of the Organization of American States. Among them will be those representing the worst human rights violators of our hemisphere, including General Videla with whom reportedly you will be having a personal meeting. We think this is an appropriate opportunity to share with you our views on the evolving policies of your administration with respect to Argentina.

Upon return from his visit to Argentina, Mr. Terence Todman, Assistant Secretary of State for Interamerican Affairs, was widely quoted by the world press saying that "violations of human rights have decreased" in that country, and that everyone he had spoken with believed that "there had been improvements in all areas." In addition, in a clear reference to the critical attitudes towards the repressive Argentine military regime prevailing in the U.S. Congress, Mr. Todman affirmed that some in the U.S. had a "distorted view of Argentine reality" and that the press was to be partially blamed for this situation.

Amnesty International, and the International Commission of Jurists as well as the United States' Department of State and the United States Embassy in Buenos Aires are well aware of the long list of human rights violations which have taken place in Argentina in the period immediately preceding Mr. Todman's visit to that country. Furthermore, contrary to Mr. Todman's statements to the press, opposition to the military regime of General Videla has been steadily growing in recent months. On June 4th, for example, leading members of the Radical Civic Union Party, some of whom met with Mr. Todman, made public a statement criticising explicitly all aspects of the military regime's policies. Five other political parties representing together over 80% of the electorate are currently discussing ways of promoting a prompt return to constitutional rule. In addition, some of the trade unionists who met with Mr. Todman had chosen only weeks before, not to be identified with the military regime by refusing to participate in the Argentine official delegation to the International Labor Organization's convention in Geneva, thus denouncing the total disregard for internationally recognized trade union rights in Argentina.

In short, Mr. Todman's public comments on Argentina are misleading because there is in fact no indication of any significant improvement in the human rights situation in Argentina, and because representative democratic political figures are now expressing openly, within the limits imposed by the repression, their disapproval of the military regime's political, economic, trade union and human rights policies. Mr. Todman's criticisms of the press are particularly unfair considering that journalists in Argentina have been severely victimized by the regime, and that members of the foreign press corp have often risked their jobs and their lives attempting to report accurately on the brutalities committed by the Argentine Armed Forces. These misrepresentations can only favor the resurgence of a U.S. policy conciliatory with the repressive military regimes of Latin America — a policy throughly discredited among the peoples of the world and the people of the United States.

The Washington Post of August 30 reports that in recent weeks the Argentine government has begun an ambitious public relations offensive in an attempt to change their international image which includes "a reputation for institutionalized repression, political imprisonment and torture that has brought them both verbal and economic sanctions." In this context your upcoming meeting with General Videla acquires special significance. Interested parties in the U.S. and particularly in those countries ruled by discredited and diplomatically isolated regimes, will attempt to portray your hosting and meeting with the Latin American dictators as an expression of tacit support for their past and current policies, as well a departure from your stated intentions on human rights. A week before your scheduled meetings with General Videla, the government controlled press in Argentina is already depicting this event as a significant diplomatic achievement of the military regime. We fear, Mr. President, that unless you explicitly and publicly disassociate yourself from the dictatorial and brutal practices of some of your guests you may, in the eyes of the world, be lastingly identified with them.

Therefore, in view of the above and deeply concerned about the damage being done to the cause of human rights and democratic liberties in Argentina in particular, and in the Americas in general, we recommend that you consider the following suggestions.

During your meeting with General Videla put forth specific basic requests whose fulfillment should become your administration's known and publicized basic criteria for evaluating whether or not there is any progress in the Argentine situation. These requests should be:

- to make public a complete list of all political prisoners held, including those "disappeared persons" presumed to be held in concentration camps around the country, the charges against them, and their places of detention.

- to restore and respect the constitutional right of prisoners held under State of Siege regulations to leave Argentina for the country of their choice

- to grant former President Dr. Hector Campora, who sought asylum in the Mexican Embassy in Buenos Aires 16 months ago, the safe-conduct to leave Argentina as he has requested.

- to thoroughly investigate the abduction and possible murder of Dr. Hidalgo Sola, Argentine Ambassador to Venezuela, to prosecute and punish those responsible for this action.

We also recommend that you address the issue exemplified by Mr. Todman's recent statements by instructing the Bureau of Interamerican Affairs of the Department of State, as well as all other branches of your administration, to depict accurately the political and human rights situation in Argentina, and to make known to the American people the information available to the U.S. government on human rights violations in Argentina.

Hoping that these recommendations contribute to the restoration of democracy in our hemisphere, and to the freedom and wellbeing of our peoples, I remain,

Horacio D. Lofredo

DECAPTIONED

E.O. 11652:XGDS-2, AND 4
TAGS: SHUM, AR
SUBJECT: INTERIOR MINISTER SEES JACOBO TIMERMAN; CONGRESSMAN GILMAN ALSO PERMITTED INTERVIEW WITH TIMERMAN

REF: BUENOS AIRES 6173; BUENOS AIRES 6137

1. SUMMARY. CONGRESSMAN GILMAN'S RECENT MEETING WITH TIMERMAN IS SUMMARIZED BELOW. THERE IS ALSO CONTAINED A SUMMARY OF AN ALLEGED CONFESSION MADE BY TIMERMAN DURING HIS CAPTIVITY. UNDER GROUND RULES ESTABLISHED BY THE GOA, MR. GILMAN AGREED NOT TO GIVE ANY PUBLICITY TO HIS MEETING. THE DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS MESSAGE WOULD PLACE TIMERMAN IN IMMEDIATE JEOPARDY AND COULD ALSO ADVERSELY AFFECT US-ARGENTINE RELATIONS. END SUMMARY.

2. DURING THE VISIT OF CODEL YATRON TO BUENOS AIRES, AUGUST 17-20, REPRESENTATIVE BENJAMIN GILMAN ASKED FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIALS FOR PERMISSION TO INTERVIEW JACOBO TIMERMAN, THE PUBLISHER OF "LA OPINION" UNTIL HIS ARREST LAST APRIL IN CONNECTION WITH THE GRAIVER INVESTIGATION. UNTIL NOW THE ONLY INDIVIDUALS ALLOWED TO VISIT TIMERMAN HAVE BEEN CLOSE FAMILY MEMBERS AND HIS R-[illegible] (WHO IS A UNITED STATES CITIZEN). WITHIN 24 HOURS OF MR. GILMAN'S REQUEST, THE FOREIGN MINISTER OBTAINED A GOVERNMENT DECISION TO PERMIT A CONFIDENTIAL INTERVIEW WHICH TOOK PLACE IN THE EVENING OF AUGUST 18 IN GOVERNMENT HOUSE. MR. GILMAN INTERVIEWED TIMERMAN IN THE PRESENCE OF A FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL AND AN EMBOFF. AS A PRECONDITION FOR THE INTERVIEW, MR. GILMAN AGREED TO GROUND RULES LAID DOWN BY THE FOREIGN MINISTRY THAT HE WOULD NOT PUBLICIZE THE MEETING OR THE SUBSTANCE OF THE CONVERSATION. ON A CONFIDENTIAL BASIS, HOWEVER, THE CONGRESSMAN WAS AUTHORIZED TO INFORM "HIS COLLEAGUES," WHICH LATER WAS DEFINED TO INCLUDE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE. THE FOREIGN MINISTRY SOURCE BELIEVED THAT PRESIDENT VIDELA WAS AWARE OF THE DECISION TO PERMIT THE INTERVIEW, BUT IT WAS BEING HELD CLOSELY WITHIN THE GOVERNMENT.

3. TIMERMAN WALKED UNHANDCUFFED AND ALONE INTO A ROOM WHERE HIS VISITORS WERE WAITING. HE CONVERSED WITH THE CONGRESSMAN IN ENGLISH. HE WAS DRESSED IN CASUAL STREET CLOTHES AND AN OLD SPORT JACKET WHICH APPEARED TO BE HIS OWN. HIS MANNER WAS SUBDUED, BUT HE APPEARED TO BE REMARKABLY IN CONTROL OF HIS MENTAL FACULTIES. IN FACT, HE DEMONSTRATED CONSIDERABLE ACUITY AND WIT AND HIS CONVERSATION WAS LACED WITH BITTERSWEET IRONY AT TIMES. EXCEPT FOR A DISCOLORED (BLACK) SKIN AREA UNDER ONE FINGERNAIL, THERE WAS NO OUTWARD SIGN OF BRUISES.

4. MR. GILMAN ASKED HOW HE WAS BEING TREATED AND HOW HE WAS FEELING. TIMERMAN REPLIED THAT A PRISONER IN HIS CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD NOT ANSWER THAT KIND OF A QUESTION, BUT HE WAS ALRIGHT NOW -- WITH EMPHASIS ON THE "NOW". HE SAID HE HAD LOST WEIGHT, WHICH WAS A MIXED BLESSING. HE DID NOT APPEAR TO BE SUBSTANTIALLY UNDERWEIGHT, BUT IT IS

POSSIBLE THAT HE HAS BEEN GAINING AGAIN IN RECENT WEEKS AS A RESULT OF IMPROVED TREATMENT.

5. TIMERMAN SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHY HE WAS BEING HELD AS NO FORMAL CHARGES HAD BEEN LODGED AGAINST HIM. HE HAD NOT BEEN ALLOWED TO SEE THE MILITARY JUDGE'S INVESTIGATING REPORT, WHICH WAS SECRET. FROM THE NATURE OF THE QUESTIONS ASKED OF HIM, HOWEVER, THE MILITARY OFFICIAL'S HANDLING OF THE INVESTIGATION HAD NO SOURCE OF COMFORT FOR M.M. THE FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL, ADMITTING THAT HE TOO HAD NOT BEEN ALLOWED TO SEE THE PRELIMINARY JUDICIAL REPORT, STATED THAT ACCORDING TO COMMON KNOWLEDGE MR. TIMERMAN WAS SUSPECTED OF "ECONOMIC SUBVERSION" IN CONNECTION WITH THE GRAIVER AFFAIR. THE OFFICIAL DOUBTED THAT TIMERMAN COULD BE GRANTED THE RIGHT OF OPTION OF SELF-EXILE ABROAD AS HIS CASE HAD NOW IN THE JUDICIAL PROCESS. TIMERMAN SAID HIS INTERROGATORS NEVER ONCE ASKED HIM ABOUT GRAIVER. INSTEAD, THE BULK OF THE QUESTIONS HAD TO DO WITH A PRESUMED WORLD JEWISH CONSPIRACY AGAINST ARGENTINA. HE WAS TOLD THAT SOVIET PREMIER KOSYGIN WAS A JEW. HIS INTERROGATORS ASKED WHAT HE KNEW ABOUT

SECRET MEETINGS BETWEEN ISRAELI PRIME MINISTER BEGUIN AND THE MONTONEROS AND A SECRET PLAN OF "THE ELDERS OF ZION" (IN THE LAST CENTURY) TO TAKE OVER PATAGONIA ("PLAN ANDINA"). AT ONE TIMERMAN SAID HE ALMOST GIVE IN TO TEMPTATION TO PLAY ALONG WITH THE ANTISEMITIC PARANOIA OF HIS CAPTORS AND INVENT A STORY ABOUT SECRET MEETINGS OF THE "ELDERS OF ZION" IN ARGENTINA. HE ALSO MENTIONED THAT HE HAD ASKED HIS JAILER, A SIMPLE MAN, WHICH WAS THE EAST WALL OF HIS TINY PRISON CELL SO THAT HE COULD SAY HIS DAILY PRAYERS, BUT THIS INFORMATION LUDICROUSLY WAS DENIED ON SECURITY GROUNDS.

5. TIMERMAN WENT OUT OF HIS WAY TO EXPLAIN TO THE CONGRESSMAN THE GOVERNMENT'S NEED TO TAKE EXTRAORDINARY ACTION AGAINST TERRORIST SUBVERSION AND ASKED FOR THE CONGRESSMAN'S UNDERSTANDING OF THE SUBVERSIVE THREAT FACING THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT WHEN IT TOOK POWER. TIMERMAN SAID HE WAS A STRONG SUPPORTER OF THE VIDELA ADMINISTRATION AND HOPED THAT THE U.S. WOULD DO EVERYTHING IT COULD TO SUPPORT VIDELA. HE COMPLAINED THAT THE U.S. CONGRESS AT TIMES NAIVELY HAD APPROACHED THE ARGENTINE QUESTION AND RECALLED THAT HE HAD OFFERED LATE LAST YEAR TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE FRASER SUBCOMMITTEE ABOUT THE TERRORIST CONNECTIONS OF GUSTAVO ROSA AND CARLOS MACEDA, WHOSE TESTIMONY FRASER HAD TAKEN EARLIER. SHAKING HIS HEAD SADLY, "LOOK WHAT HAPPENS TO A MAN WHO WAS TRYING TO DEFEND THE GOVERNMENT," HE SAID.

6. TIMERMAN WAS VERY GRATEFUL FOR MR. GILMAN'S EFFORT TO SEE HIM AND ALSO FOR MS. DEFIANT'S INTEREST IN HIS WELFARE. GILMAN EXPRESSED THE HOPE THAT JUSTICE WOULD BE DONE IN THE TIMERMAN CASE, IMPRESSING UPON THE FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL THAT TIMERMAN'S CAPTIVITY HAD EARNED ARGENTINA ENORMOUS NEGATIVE PUBLICITY ABROAD. TIMERMAN WAS THEN ESCORTED WITHOUT HANDCUFFS TO A JEEP WAITING OUTSIDE AND DRIVEN AWAY.

7. COMMENT: WHILE IT IS POSSIBLE THAT TIMERMAN MAY HAVE BEEN GIVEN SOME COACHING BEFORE THE MEETING, THIS IS NOT NECESSARILY THE CASE. TIMERMAN DID NOT SAY ANYTHING WITH RESPECT TO U.S. POLICY AND THE NEED TO SUPPORT THE MODERATE VIDELA FORCES THAT HE HAD NOT SAID BEFORE PUBLICLY IN HIS OWN NEWSPAPER WHEN HE WAS A FREE MAN. GOVERNMENT'S MOTIVE IN ARRANGING THE INTERVIEW APPARENTLY WAS TO APPEAR TO BE RESPONSIVE TO A PRESUMABLY FRIENDLY U.S. CONGRESSMAN WHO OPPOSED SANCTIONS AGAINST ARGENTINA AND WAS PERSONALLY WELL INFLUENTIAL IN AMERICAN JEWISH CIRCLES. ARGENTINES HAVE EXAGGERATED IDEAS OF INFLUENCE OF JEWISH THINKING ON U.S. DECISION-MAKING AND PURPOSE PRESUMABLY WAS TO DEMONSTRATE THAT TIMERMAN WAS IN REASONABLY GOOD HEALTH AND RECEIVING GOOD TREATMENT. NEVERTHELESS, AUTHORITIES APPEARED NERVOUS ABOUT HOW THIS MIGHT BE PLAYING WITH MASS OF MILITARY AND SO AVOIDED SENDING MORE PROGRESSIVE SPOKESMAN QUALITY TO THE EVENT. WE BELIEVE IT PREMATURE TO DRAW ANY CONCLUSIONS AS TO THE FINAL OUTCOME OF THE TIMERMAN CASE FROM THIS EVENT. END COMMENT.

8. EMBASSY ALSO HAS BEEN CONFIDENTIALLY TRANSMITTED A SERIES OF DOCUMENTS FROM NAVAL INTELLIGENCE SOURCES THAT WE ORIGINALLY WERE TOLD WOULD DEMONSTRATE THAT TIMERMAN HAD CONFESSED TO BEING A COMMUNIST AND SOVIET SPY. HOWEVER, THE DOCUMENTS WE HAVE INSTEAD INCLUDE COMMENTS PURPORTEDLY MADE BY THE POLICE CHIEF OF THE PROVINCE OF BUENOS AIRES, COL. CAMPS, IN A BRIEFING ON MAY 3, 1977. REPORTEDLY ACCORDING TO CAMPS, TIMERMAN DEFINED HIMSELF AS A MARXIST SINCE HIS YOUTH WHO HAD BEEN ACTIVE IN STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS. HE ADMITTED PATTERNING HIS NEWSPAPER ALONG THE MARXIST LINES OF "LE MONDE". (SIC) HE ALSO ADMITTED THAT DAVID GRAIVER HAD PROVIDED ALL THE CAPITAL FOR THE NEWSPAPER AND THE PRINTING PLANT AND TIMERMAN ORIGINALLY HAD BEEN ACCORDED A 45 PERCENT INTEREST AS THE FRUITS OF HIS LABOR. ON THE DEATH OF GRAIVER, TIMERMAN ALLEGEDLY THREATENED GRAIVER'S WIDOW WITH DEATH UNLESS SHE TURNED OVER TO HIM HER LATE HUSBAND'S SHARES. HE ALLEGEDLY ADMITTED HAVING RECEIVED A $200,000 BRIBE TO WRITE A FAVORABLE STORY ON THE ALUAR DEAL AND ANOTHER $125,000 ON ANOTHER OCCASION BY ITT. ACCORDING TO COL. CAMPS' REPORTED STATEMENT, TIMERMAN ADMITTED ALL OF THESE THINGS IN A SIGNED CONFESSION. ANOTHER DOCUMENT INCLUDED IN THE PACKET CITES MEDIA ARTICLES AS REPORTING THAT TIMERMAN HAD BEEN A MEMBER OF A COMMUNIST YOUTH FRONT GROUP IN 1942, HAD ADMITTED BEING A "LEFTIST ZIONIST," HAD BEEN FRIEND OF FORMER PERONIST ECONOMY MINISTER JOSE BER GELBARD WHOSE POLICIES HE UNCONDITIONALLY SUPPORTED IN HIS NEWSPAPER, HAD PURSUED A CONFUSED EDITORIAL LINE WHICH AT ONE TIME SUPPORTED TERRORIST SUBVERSION AND SUBSEQUENTLY ATTACKED IT AND WHO WAS A SELF-CONFESSED SUPPORTER OF EURO-COMMUNISM AS OPPOSED TO THE SOVIET LINE. THERE IS ALSO A HODGEPODGE OF OTHER CHARGES SUCH AS THAT HE HIRED WELL-KNOWN LEFTISTS AND ALLEGED TERRORIST SUPPORTERS ON HIS NEWSPAPER STAFF.

SUBJECT: Your Meeting with the American Jewish Committee - Thursday, September 1 - 5:00 pm

Four representatives of the American Jewish Committee will meet with you Thursday, September 1 at 5:00 pm. Those attending will be Richard Maas, President of the AJC, Bertram Gold, Executive Vice President, David Geller, Director of Latin American Affairs, and Jacobo Kovadloff, who ran the AJC office in Buenos Aires.

The discussion will center around Geller's recent trip to Argentina and the growing concern of the Argentine Jewish community that anti-Semitism is increasing within the GOA. Geller told us that the AJC is especially distressed by the Reznizky kidnapping (the son of leader of the Argentine Jewish community was kidnapped and only released after his father had interceded with President Videla) and the Timerman case (Timerman told Congressman Gilman that he had been questioned about an international Jewish conspiracy). Notwithstanding GOA assurances that religious persecution will not be tolerated, the AJC is worried.

I have attached a cable on the Gilman-Timerman conversation to illustrate why this AJC nervousness may be well justified.

Jim Bumpus and I would like to sit in on the meeting if you have no objections.

Attachment: As stated.

The Honorable Cyrus R. Vance
The Secretary of State
State Department of the United States
2201 C Street N.W.
Washington, D.C.

Sir:

We draw your attention to a suppression of human rights in Argentina by the Military Junta in power of which the President of the Republic is a member.

We refer to the imprisonment of Sr. Diego Sebastian Ibañez, Secretary General of S.U.P.E. (Sindicato Unido Petroleros Del Estado) an affiliated free and democratic member union of this Federation.

The union (S.U.P.E.) has been "intervened" by the government and Sr. Ibañez imprisoned without charges or trial in the Penal de las Fuerzas Armadas at Magdalena, in the Province of Buenos Aires.

We request that you use your good offices to secure the release of Sr. Ibañez and further to this the restoration of free trade union rights in Argentina.

Your intervention is most urgently needed and will be most deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,

Curtis J. Hogan

ANOMALIAS JURIDICAS DE PROCESOS Y CONDENAS A PROCESADOS Y CONDENADOS POLITICOS ENCARCELADOS EN CHILE

UNCLASSIFIED

I.- Proceso de la Armada. Causa 3926, caratulada "Contra Juan Cardenas y Otros", de la Fiscalia Naval de Valparaiso; Fiscal: Capitan de Fragata Victor Villegas.

a) Delito improcedente. La accion que realizan marinos y suboficiales es informar al gobierno constitucional de las maniobras golpistas y precaver de esta accion sediciosa (segun el art. 4° de la Constitucion Politica del Estado), que realizan oficiales sediciosos. Cumplian con su deber constitucional y patriotico.

b) Cambio procesal. Son detenidos el 6 de agosto de 1973. La acusacion que formulo el Fiscal en ese entonces, fue: "Incumplimiento de deberes militares". Segun el Codigo de Justicia Militar, esto significaba condenas que oscilan entre los 61 dias de arresto y 541 dias de prision. El cambio de regimen, impuesto el 11 de septiembre de 1973, significo un cambio en la acusacion, sin que mediaran nuevos antecedentes: "SEDICION O MOTIN FRUSTRADO".

c) Defensa dolosa y limitada. En general, la unica defensa posible, fue asumida por abogados del Colegio de Abogados, a traves de su departamento de Asistencia Judicial Gratuita, a traves de los senores Barraza y Neira. Estos abogados fueron nombrados de oficio por la Fiscalia Naval. Otra defensa era practicamente imposible por el temor y la persecusion.

d) El proceso.- Al centenar de marinos detenidos se les forzo a declarar bajo torturas. Desde el 13 de diciembre de 1973 al 25 de abril de 1974 fueron llevados al Campo de Concentracion de Riesco y al de Puchuncavi, donde debieron realizar trabajos forzados y vivir aislados. Fue imposible una defensa legal plena. Durante tres anos y dos meses, este proceso fue ilegal.

e) La condena.- La condena se formulo en terminos generales, sin especificar acusaciones ni cargos especificos, sin que los acusados lograsen conocer las acusaciones concretas formuladas en su contra. El asesor juridico del Juez Naval informo con mucha anticipacion a los familiares, convirtiendose la jefatura naval en parte, en un proceso que le correspondia juzgar. El caracter politico de la accion se evidencia en el hecho de haberse constituido los acusados - marinos, civiles y suboficiales - en defensores del gobierno constitucional. Los civiles involucrados en el proceso fueron condenados, ademas de la pena de presidio, a la inhabilitacion perpetua de sus derechos civiles y a no trabajar en la administracion publica. De este proceso, aun quedan como presos politicos:

1. Juan Cardenas Villablanca	condenado a	13 anos de presidio
2. Pedro Lagos Carrasco		8
3. Jaime Salazar Jeldres		8
4. Pedro Blasset Castro		8
5. Juan Roldan Beltran		8

II. Proceso 830-74 de la Segunda Fiscalia Militar de Santiago

a) El procedimiento. La unica evidencia es lograda bajo tortura y amenaza de muerte. El Codigo Penal Chileno sostiene que la sola confesion es insuficiente como prueba acusatoria. Los acusados solicitaron que se recibiera, como medio de pruebas, las retractaciones por escrito al Juez, quien las rechazo de plano, desestimandolas.

b) Las condenas. Se aplicaron condenas maximas, para acusaciones que aparecen como verdaderos delitos impracticables, como es el caso de haber acusado a este grupo de opositores a la Junta Militar, de "poner en peligro la seguridad del Estado", probandose los medios requeridos para tal fin. Se rompio con la Doctrina Juridica de la unidad de la accion, que plantea que se condenen varias acciones antijuridicas como formantes de una sola accion y un solo delito. En este caso, por un lado se configuro el delito de conspiracion y subversion contral el gobierno de la Junta

UNCLASSIFIED

Militar, y por otro, se diferencio una de las acciones que constituyen parte del conjunto anterior, como son las acciones armadas de expropiacion.

La sola condena por conspiracion o subversion contra el gobierno, califica la accion como politica . Los prisioneros politicos de este proceso son:

1. Sergio Olivares Urtubia	condenado a 3 anos,	mas 5 anos
2. Jose Ovalle Canales	10	5
3. Valeriano Dinamarca	10	5
4. Hector Rivas Diaz	10	5
5. Sergio Monsalve Vergara	15	5

III. Proceso caratulado "Maltrato a las Fuerzas Armadas, causandole la Muerte"

a) Anomalias del proceso. La existencia de dos procesos con expedientes distintos. El primero, anterior al 11 de septiembre de 1973. En este se anexo el acta del examen de autopsia del oficial de ejercito muerto (Subteniente H. Lacrampette), en la que quedo constancia del grado alcoholico del oficial (48%) y de marihuana, tanto fumada como en especia, que portaba el occiso, con lo cual se explicaba facilmente el estado de intoxicacion del suboficial. En el primero constaba ademas, que el oficial disparo primero dos veces su arma de servicio, calibre 7-65. Dicha arma fue entregada por efectivos del Servicio de Investigaciones al Juez del 9° Juzgado del Crimen de Santiago, Sr. Albonico, en presencia de Jorge Soza Gil, uno de los inculpados, como parte de las pruebas del enfrentamiento.

Despues del 11 de septiembre de 1973, el 9° Juzgado se declaro incompetente y la IIa Fiscalia Militar tomo el proceso, cambiando el expediente, haciendo desaparecer las pruebas y evidencia de legitima defensa.

b) Revision dolosa del proceso . En septiembre de 1974, todos los implicados en el proceso fueron conducidos a la Segunda Fiscalia Militar de Santiago, donde el actuario les leyo la condena de 20 anos de Presidio Mayor a dos inculpados y 4 anos de presidio menor a otros tres. Uno de los inculpados es de nacionalidad mejicana y el gobierno chileno envio una nota a la Cancilleria Mexicana comunicando esta condena; de esto existe constancia en la Embajada de Venezuela en Santiago, a cuyo resguardo quedaron los asuntos diplomaticos de Mexico en Chile.

c) En febrero de 1975 se les comunico que las condenas no eran las que se les habian notificado, sino de cadena perpetua mas 3 anos de presidio para dos inculpados y de 15 anos de presidio para los tres restantes. Con este proceso, el gobierno Militar quiso ejemplarizar las acciones del "extremismo armado", sacando posteriormente afiches con sus fotografias, ilustrando esta tesis oficial: "que militantes de la izquierda se dedicaban a asesinar oficiales indefensos". La mayoria del pais se preparaba para defender a su gobierno ante los intentos golpistas ya conocidos. En esa preparacion legitima se encontraban estos prisioneros de guerra, cuya militancia politica la Junta Militar aprovecho como propaganda, desconociendo el hecho de la legitima defensa como atenuante de responsabilidad, y desconociendo tambien las graves alteraciones procesales, las que fueron totalmente arbitrarias. Estos prisioneros politicos son:

1. Jorge Soza Gila (ciudadano mexicano)	condenado a	presidio perpetuo mas 3 anos
2. David Quintanilla Digueno	" "	" " 3 "
3. Luis Save Lara	" "	15 anos de presidio

IV. Proceso 5-73 de las Industrias COMANDARI, CODECAR, DINAC, CORFO, INDUMET

La acusacion es por acciones armadas que se desarrollaron el mismo 11 de septiembre de 1973, en la zona industrial de San Miguel (comuna ubicada en el sur de la ciudad de Santiago), por obreros de las industrias, en defensa del gobierno. En estos enfrentamientos generalizados, murieron obreros y uniformados. El proceso estuvo a cargo del Comandante Roberto Sanchez.

a) Detencion y proceso. Fueron detenidos masivamente alrededor de 350 obreros de las industrias Comandari, e Indumet-Codecar. En estos enfrentamientos murieron carabineros. En los interrogatorios se busco identificar obreros y dirigentes responsables. El metodo para lograrlo fue la aplicacion generalizada de la tortura, en la XII Comisaria de Carabineros (ubicada en San Miguel), Regimiento Tacna, Estadio Chile, Estadio Nacional. Ocho trabajadores de INDUMET fueron fusilados.

b) La condena. El fiscal de la Segunda Fiscalia Militar de Santiago, no logro establecer autoria directa material, por lo que se baso en la presuncion de responsabilidad de los que tienen "mayor nivel intelectual". Se les acuso de ser los autores intelectuales de los enfrentamientos, de la muerte de los carabineros. Y esta presuncion se establece en circunstancias que:

- en cada zona industrial se desarrollaron multiples enfrentamientos;
- la unica consideracion del Fiscal, es buscar alguien responsable de los hechos cualesquiera sea su condicion;

Es muy dificil en una zona, donde pelean cientos de obreros, lograr la identificacion de un grupo, los autores intelectuales; la legitimidad de la accion de los trabajadores de San Miguel que luchan por su gobierno, defienden sus industrias ante el asalto de fuerzas sediciosas, es absolutamente valido. Los prisioneros politicos de este proceso son:

1. German Navarrete Carrillo condenado a cadena perpetua
2. Mario Ruiz Solis " " " "

V. Proceso FACH 1-73, "Contra Bachelet y Otros"

Se inicio el 16 de septiembre de 1973. El Fiscal fue el General de Aviacion Orlando Gutierrez, e involucro a miembros de la institucion, acusados de presuntas actividades politicas en favor del gobierno constitucional.

a) Anomalias del proceso.

- se usan como pruebas solamente declaraciones de los inculpados (autoincul-pacion);
- la casi totalidad de las declaraciones son logradas bajo tortura;
- los abogados de aproximadamente 70 procesados, solo tienen acceso al expediente, que posee mas de 2,000 fojas, solo por cinco dias.
- las defensas deben ser presentadas a una censura previa, ante el Consejo de Guerra, el que elimina aquellas partes que no son de su agrado.
- los abogados fueron acusados, llegandose incluso a su detencion.

b) Sobre el Delito y la Condena.- El procedimiento juridico del sumario se baso en la premisa de la existencia del Estado de Guerra con anterioridad al dia 11 de septiembre de 1973; sin establecer la fecha de su iniciacion, se hace aplicacion retroactiva de la disposicion que establece la vigencia del tiempo de guerra.

- Se establece retroactivamente el caracter de "enemigo" del Presidente y los Ministros de Estado y Partidos Politicos juridicamente reconocidos como tales.
- En base a lo anterior, se tipifica el delito de "traicion a la patria en tiempo de guerra" (Codigo de Justicia Militar, articulo 245, bajo el titulo "De la Seguridad Exterior del Estado").
- A pesar de la postulacion por parte del Fiscal del caracter de "enemigo" del Presidente y los Ministros de Estado, es decir, el gobierno constituido, se tipifica en los procesados el delito de "Sedicion" (segun el articulo 274 del Codigo de Justicia Militar), acusandolos de intentar derrocar al gob[illegible] legalmente constituido es decir, al gobierno "enemigo".

Tanta ficcion juridica es para ocultar que el delito de sedicion, segun el articulo 4° de la Constitucion Politica vigente (Ley Suprema sobre el Codigo de Justicia Militar, obviamente), lo desarrollan los golpistas.

Los prisioneros politicos que quedan en este proceso son:

1.	Ernesto Galaz Guzman	condenado a	30 anos y	1 dia
2.	Raul Vergara Meneses		30	1

VI, Proceso 1-73-C de la Fiscalia de Aviacion de Santiago

La acusacion consiste en desarrollar organizacion politica que atenta contra la Seguridad Interior del Estado; afecta a ocho personas.

a) Anomalia del Proceso.-- Se lleva a cabo la detencion y el interrogatorio por parte del personal de la Fuerza Aerea, de la Guarnicion de "El Bosque", los prisioneros son compartidos por personal de la DINA, que continua el interrogatorio. Durante el traslado a los recintos de la DINA, los prisioneros intentan una fuga, logrando espacar uno, siendo baleado otro y resultando mal herido un agente de la DINA. El grupo permanecio luego incomunicado durante 10 meses en la Academia de Guerra Aerea, limitando este hecho la defensa juridica.

b) Sobre el delito y la condena .- Segun la legislacion vigente se condena por delitos contra la Seguridad Interior del Estado, dandose algunas penas de extranamiento, lo que evidencia la naturaleza de la accion politica del grupo detenido y condenado. En el caso del prisionero acusado del intento de fuga con agresion a miembros de las Fuerzas Armadas, se le aumenta la condena pretendiendo un escarmiento. El Consejo de Guerra no considera la declaracion del prisionero, sobre el hecho que se produjo por estar siendo torturado, como consta en el sumario, ni la legitimidad de la accion para un prisionero de guerra de este proceso.

Robinson Perez Vera, condenado a 15 anos de presidio.

VII. Proceso 1-73-B de la Fiscalia de Aviacion de Santiago

La acusacion se basa en la tesis general de "Traicion a la Patria en Tiempos de Guerra" del articulo 245 del Codigo de Justicia Militar.

a) Anomalias del Proceso .- Detencion e interrogatorio, efectuados por el Servicio de Inteligencia de la Fuerza Aerea, en mayo de 1974. El interrogatorio se verifico en la Academia de Guerra Aerea, donde permanecio incomunicado durante cuatro meses. Las unicas pruebas acusatorias son las declaraciones del inculpado, obtenidas bajo tortura. Adolecio de las misma limitaciones a la defensa juridica, indicadas en el proceso 1-73.

b) Sobre la condena y el delito .- El Fiscal pidio 30 anos de presidio, condena correspondiente a tiempos de guerra, que fue aplicada a cargos cometidos en tiempos de paz. La acusacion se basa en el delito de "Traicion a la Patria" en el titulo "Sobre Seguridad Exterior del Estado lo que implica relacion con un enemigo extranjero, potencia agresora que no existio.

El prisionero politico es:

Jorge Hernandez Figueroa, condenado a 30 anos.

VIII. Proceso 471-73 de la Fiscalia de Aviacion de Antofagasta

La acusacion se basa en el delito de "Traicion a la Patria" y "Sedicion", de los articulos 245 y 299 del Codigo de Justicia Militar.

UNCLASSIFIED

a) Sobre el proceso.- Se le mantuvo tres meses desaparecido e interrogatorios bajo torturas, para obtener declaraciones (7 de noviembre de 1973 al 11 de febrero de 1974). No se le permitio ejercer el derech de elegir su abogado defensor, debiendo aceptar el que designo la Fiscalia. El abogado militar tomo relacion con el acusado, 12 horas antes del Consejo de Guerra.

b) Sobre condena y delito .- Condenas de tiempo de guerra aplicadas a cargos correspondientes a tiempo de paz. Adjudicacion de relacion con una potencia extranjera, para imputarle el delito de "Traicion". La misma ficcion de basarse solo en el Codigo de Justicia Militar para acusarlo de "Sedicion" sin considerar la Constitucion Politica del Estado. El prisionero politico es:

Luis Gabriel Torres Valeria, condenado a presidio perpetuo.

IX. Proceso 84-74 de la Fiscalia de Aviacion de Santiago

La acusacion consiste en pertenecer a una organizacion clandestina y realizar actividades que atentan contra la Seguridad del Estado, basandose en la Ley de Seguridad Interior del Estado.

a) Sobre el Proceso .- La incomunicacion tuvo una duracion aproximada de un ano, en la Academia de Guerra Aerea. El metodo procesal se basa en confesiones logradas bajo torturas, Durante el desarrollo del sumario por parte del Fiscal, no hay defensa juridica alguna. La relacion con los abogados se establece recien despues de 10 meses de detencion. Son trasladados a la Carcel Publica, y despues de un ano de estar alli recluidos, son sacados a interrogatorio por agentes de la DINA.

b) Sobre condena y delito .- La condena no esconde en ningun momento su naturaleza politica, ya que el proceso se instaura contra un partido politico : el Movimiento de Izquierda Revolucionario (MIR), por su oposicion a la dictadura. De este proceso son prisioneros:

1. Ricardo Ruz Zanartu - condenado a 10 anos de presidio
2. Arturo Villavela Araujo - 15

X. Proceso 358-73 de la Fiscalia de Carabineros de San Felipe

Se les imputa el cargo de enfrentamiento con fuerzas militares.

a) Sobre el proceso.- Las confesiones se logran bajo la aplicacion de torturas, realizadas en unidades policiales (Petorca, La Ligua, San Felipe) y militares (Regimientos Coraceros). En uno de los interrogatorios muere bajo torturas ORLANDO GALDAMES ROJAS (octubre,1973). El propio Fiscal tomo declaraciones empunando armas de fuego. No existieron posibilidades de defensa; el abogado fue designado por la Fiscalia y solo tomo contacto con el acusado, un dia antes del Consejo de Guerra (13 de diciembre, 1973)/

b) Sobre la condena.- La condena se baso en presunciones. En las declaraciones de participacion y en la forma juridica del fallo condenatorio se dice que "podria, seria o habria sido el culpable". El proceso se baso en la Ley de Seguridad Interior del Estado.

De este proceso quedan un prisionero politico:

Oscar Veliz Flores, condenado a 20 anos de presidio.

XI. Proceso 16.157 del 4° Juzgado de San Miguel

La acusacion consiste en robo con intimidacion y el proceso se caratul: "Contra Angel Guerrero Castillo, Ricardo Alarcon Alarcon, Mario Maureira Vasquez y otros".

a) Detencion e interrogatorio.- la detencion fue efectuada por efectivos de la DINA el 18 de agosto de 1976, como lo estipula el D.L. 1.009. Fueron obligados a firmar una veintena de hojas en blanco, bajo amenaza de muerte. Estas fueron utilizadas por la DINA para inculparlos como participantes en asaltos. En los interrogatorios y traslados entre "Villa Grimaldi" y "Cuatro Alamos" quedaron desaparecidos hasta hoy, Angel Guerrero y Mario Maureira; hay testigos que declararon haber presenciado su detencion el 25 de mayo y el 7 de agosto de 1976, respectivamente. Todos los recursos de Habeas Corpus fueron rechazados.

b) El proceso.- Transcurrido ya un ano del inicio del proceso, el sumario continua con caracter secreto. Se les procesa en tribunales de Justicia Ordinaria, presentadoseles como "asaltantes". Al pretender hacer uso de la peticion de libertad bajo fianza, se aduce el caracter politico de "extremistas peligrosos". La prolongacion innecesaria del proceso se debe a falta de elementos probatorios, obstaculizando las posibilidades de defensa, de sobreseimiento o de uso del D.S. 504 sobre extranamiento.

La acusacion presentada por la DINA es: actividad politica, documentacion subversiva, creacion de estructura politica clandestina. Segun el procedimiento habitual de enmascarar la existencia de presos politicos, separan una accion particular de todo el conjunto, rompiendo la unidad juridica de la accion. De este modo, por el presunto asalto, pretenden desconocer la naturaleza politica del trabajo de organizacion clandestina. De este proceso hay dos prisioneros politicos:

1. Ricardo Alarcon Alarcon
2. Esteban Amigo Latorre.

SITUACION MEDICA DE ALGUNOS PRISIONEROS POLITICOS

1. MARIO LEIVA CASTRO, detenido en marzo de 1977. Sufre falta de ereccion del pene, como resultado de la aplicacion de electricidad en los interrogatorios. Esta procesado y recluido en la Carcel Publica de Santiago.

2. JORGE AGUILERA PAVEZ, detenido y en proceso desde junio de 1971. Sufre artritis y dolores articulares. La artritis tiene su origen en las bajas temperaturas de las celdas y en la inmovilidad resultante de encierros prolongados en la Carcel Publica de Santiago.

3 ARNALDO CARVAJAL GARCIA, detenido y en proceso desde junio de 1971. Cayo en un enfrentamiento armado y fue intervenido quirurgicamente, extirpandosele parte del estomago, hecho que le genera permanentes molestias.

4. DANIEL VERGARA RUFATTE.- detenido y procesado desde junio de 1971. Tiene un cuadro clinico grave, por haber recibido balazos en el estomago, comprometiendole la columna vertebral y generandole una paralisis en la pierna derecha; lo que consta en los informes del Comite Internacional de la Cruz Roja. La atencion medica del Servicio de Gendarmeria de Chile es sumamente deficiente.

5. MARCEL CARRASCO VALDIVIA.- detenido el 7 de octubre de 1976, procesado en la Carcel Publica de Santiago; sufre falta de ereccion del pene, como resultado de la aplicacion de electricidad en el glande, durante los interrogatorios.

6. JUAN CARDENAS VILLABLANCA.- condenado en el proceso de la Armada (N° 3926), actualmente recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene lesiones en la columna vertebral a la altura de la duodecima vertebra dorsal; lesiones en los rinones que se traducen en micciones sanguinolentas luego de practicar ejercicios fisicos, razon por la cual debe permanecer inactivo. Estas lesiones resultaron de las torturas practidas durante los interrogatorios. Estuvo en tratamiento en el Hospital Van Buren de Valparaiso.

7. PEDRO LAGOS CARRASCO.- condenado en el proceso Armada (N° 3926), actualmente recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. En tratamiento por posible tuberculosis; tiene lesiones en la columna vertebral (region lumbar) y en los testiculos (requiere intervencion quirurgica), producto de la tortura.

8. JAIME SALAZAR JELDRES.- condenado en el proceso de la Armada (N° 3926) recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene perdida de la audicion por efecto de las torturas.

9. HUGO MALDONADO ALVEAR.- condenado en el proceso de la Armada (N° 3926) recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene una lesion osea en el temporal, por efectos de la flagelacion; conjuntivitis aguda y colicos hepaticos.

10. JUAN FUENTES RETAMAL.- condenado y recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene supuracion permanente de los oidos, lesionados por las torturas.

11. SALVADOR ORMENO ORTEGA.- condenado y recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene problemas generalizados en las articulaciones, especialmente en las rodillas, manos y codos. Actualmente no puede practicar ejercicios fisicos y camina con dificultad.

12. ERNESTO ZUNIGA VERGARA, condenado en el proceso de la Armada N° 3926), recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene lesion en el oido izquierdo con supuracion y desviacion de la columna lumbar, como resultado de las torturas.

13. OSCAR VELIZ FLORES.- condenado y recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Sufre de ulcera gastrica, comprobada en examen clinico.

14. GERMAN NAVARRETE CASTILLO.- condenado, recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Sufre desgarros y dolor permanente en la espalda, con afeccion de la columna vertebral.

15. VALERIANO DINAMARCA BRAVO.- condenado y recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Esta en tratamiento de tuberculosis (incompleto); evidencia perdida de peso corporal; tiene salivacion con sangre; padece de xifosis. Todo como resultado de las torturas aplicadas por el Servicio de Inteligencia de Carabineros.

16. ARTURO VILLAVELA ARAUJO.- condenado y recluido en la Penitenciaria de Santiago. Durante la detencion fue baleado, por lo que fue sometido a intervencion quirurgica en el Hospital de la Fuerza Aerea, donde la extirparon parte de los intestinos. Actualmente esta hospitalizado y en estado muy delicado. Se espera la ficha medic para someterlo a una probable intervencion quirurgica por lesione al higado y/o vesicula. La colecistografia no evidencio existencia de vesicula, estimandose que esta le pudo ser extirpada en el hospital de la Fuerza Aerea, entidad que resiste entregar su ficha clinica.

17. RAUL VERGARA MENESES.- condenado en proceso de la Fuerza Aerea (1-73), recluido en la penitenciaria de Santiago. Tiene lesion en la articulacion de algunas costillas con el esternon, lo que le origina dolores periodicos. Todo como resultado de las torturas a que se le sometio. Tiene ademas hernia abdominal.

ENFERMEDADES FRECUENTES

Ademas de los casos descritos, que solo son un ejemplo de los multiples existentes, segun consta en el Informe del Comite Internacional de la Cruz Roja, hay afecciones menores:

1. El 90% de los prisioneros politicos de Santiago sufre de caries dentarias por la alimentacion carenciada y la prohibicion de consumir citricos.

2. Hay un progresivo avance de las enfermedades artriticas (7 casos) y digestivas (15 casos).

3. Son frecuentes las apariciones de parasitos y hongos en las carceles, razon por la cual periodicamente se ven afectados de dolencias dermicas.

Limitaciones

(a) Solamente tres veces al ano, un medico del Comite Internacional de la Cruz Roja, realiza examenes medicos a los prisioneros politicos. La atencion se obstaculiza en las carceles.

(b) No hay posibilidad de tratar las artritis, asi como tampoco las afecciones que no tienen origen infeccioso o impican disfunsiones leves.

(c) La atencion en los hospitales, cuando existen, de las carceles, es limitada.

(d) Los examenes de laboratorio son dificiles de obtener

(e) Las interconsultas medicas se logran en forma limitada

(f) En general, no se autoriza la atencion medica de profesionales elegidos por los prisioneros politicos, sino solo los de los establecimientos penales y del Comite Internacional de la Cruz Roja, los cuales no estan disponibles en situaciones de emergenc ni pueden abordar toda la fama de dolencias que aparecen.

SUBJ: SPANISH SOCIALIST VISITS CHILE ON BEHALF OF POLITICAL PRISONERS

REF: MADRID 6167

1. SUMMARY: THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE SPANISH SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (PSOE), FELIPE GONZALEZ, VISITED SANTIAGO AUGUST 28-31 OSTENSIBLY ONLY ON BEHALF OF CHILEAN PRISONERS, ERICH SCHNAKE AND CARLOS LAZO, AND NOT AS A POLITICIAN. BUT THE GOC GAVE HIM FREE REIN TO TALK WITH LOCAL OPPOSITION FIGURES (HE AVAILED HIMSELF OF THE CHANCE) AND HAD HIS TRIP PLAYED UP AS AN EXAMPLE OF CHILE'S OPENNESS. GONZALEZ DID HIS BEST TO DUCK PUBLIC COMMENT ON THE CHILEAN SCENE BUT LEFT THE IMPRESSION THAT IT WAS NOT AS BAD AS REPORTED ABROAD. END SUMMARY.

2. GONZALEZ VISITED SCHNAKE AND LAZO IN THEIR JAIL CELLS, MADE CALLS ON THE JUSTICE MINISTER MONICA MADARIAGA, SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT, JOSE EYZAGUIRRE AND THE HEAD [redacted]

OF THE COMMISSION RESPONSIBLE FOR REVIEWING SUPREME DECREE TPR COMMUTATIONS--THAT WOULD ALLOW SCHANKE AND LAZO TO GO INTO EXILE.

3. ASSISTANT SECRETARY TODMAN ON HIS RECENT VISIT ALSO RAISED WITH MADARIAGA THE QUESTION OF DECREE 504 RELEASES FOR SCHNAKE AND LAZO. AT THAT TIME SHE GAVE AS HER "PERSONAL OPINION" THAT THESE TWO MEN, BECAUSE OF THEIR POLITICAL IMPORTANCE, SHOULD BE EXCHANGED FOR POLITICAL PRISONERS ELSEWHERE.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. APART FROM HIS OFFICIAL CALLS, GONZALEZ MET WITH CARDINAL RAUL SILVA, OFFICIALS OF CATHOLIC CHURCH'S HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP, MEMBERS OF FAMILIES OF SOME DISAPPEARED PERSONS AND WITH LEADERS OF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC AND SMALL SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTIES. IN PRESS INTERVIEWS HE CAREFULLY AVOIDED ANY POLITICAL STATEMENTS. HE DID NOTE, HOWEVER, IN DEPARTING SANTIAGO, THAT HE HAD HAD COMPLETE LIBERTY TO MEET AND TALK WITH WHOM HE WISHED, AND ADDED THAT IT WAS ALWAYS HARD TO GET A CLEAR PICTURE OF A COUNTRY FROM AFAR.

5. COMMENT: WE BELIEVE THE GOC IS MOVING TOWARD THE RELEASES OF SCHNAKE AND LAZO, ALTHOUGH IT WOULD FIND IT MORE PALATABLE IF AN EXCHANGE FOR COMMUNIST HELD POLITICAL PRISONERS COULD BE WORKED OUT.

6. THE GOC MADE ITS POINT THAT EVEN STAUNCH OPPONENTS COULD MOVE FREELY IN CHILE. GONZALEZ, BY "PLAYING BY THE RULES", MADE IT EASIER FOR MORE FLEXIBLE ELEMENTS WITHIN THE CONSERVATIVE GOC TO RISK FURTHER VISITS BY CRITICS.

Dear Ms Denar,
On Sept. 5 1977 Silvia Streger a 26 year old Argentinian citizen was arrested by army police forces in her apartment. Silvias place of detention is unknown. Please try to find out where Silvia is and why the Argentinian police took her away. She had no known political involvement yet I wonder why the police didn't have a warrant for her arrest. Let's work to improve human rights in Argentina.

INR WEEKLY HIGHLIGHTS OF DEVELOPMENTS IN HUMAN RIGHTS*

No. 22, September 13, 1977

NEAR EAST AND SOUTH ASIA

Iraq

Baghdad to Host Rights Symposium. The Iraqi News Agency announced on August 29 that early next year Baghdad will host an international symposium on human rights and democratic freedoms to mark the International Year for the Release of Political Detainees and Prisoners. Subject matter will include political and economic rights, freedom of the press, and racial discrimination. The symposium is being organized under the auspices of the Arab Jurists Federation, and representatives of its member organizations will form the core of participants. Representatives from the Arab Lawyers Federation, Arab Journalists Federation, and delegates from the Arab League have also been invited. The announcement stated that "delegates with observer capacity" will come from Amnesty International, the International Association of Democratic Lawyers, the International Organization for Progress (Austria), the Non-Governmental Organizations Conference (Geneva), the Special Commission on Human Rights (Geneva), and the Organization for the Liberation of Peoples (Italy). Representatives from branches of the Arab Jurists Federation in the US, Britain and Geneva will also participate in the symposium. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Baghdad 1506, September 3)

INR Comment: We agree with USINT Baghdad that the Iraqi organizers of the symposium probably intend to score points in the Arab arena by focusing on alleged human rights violations in Syria and Israel. It will be more difficult to impress competent international observers, such as those from Amnesty International, who cannot be controlled by the Baghdad authorities and who have independent means of measuring Iraqi performance. The Iraqis thus appear to have broader objectives than simply throwing darts at their Middle East rivals. The Bakr/Hussein regime has displayed sensitivity about its international reputation for laxity on the human rights front. With the Kurdish problem largely contained, the Iraqis probably believe they have a human rights case that is strong enough to withstand outside scrutiny. The symposium also provides those in the regime who may wish to improve internal police and judicial procedures with a practical reason for some domestic house-cleaning before the symposium takes place. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Nepal

King Birendra Non-Committal on Human Rights Problems. During their meeting on August 19, Ambassador Heck told the King that, according to US criteria and concepts, it appeared that violations of human rights were occurring in Nepal. Although King Birendra did not admit that a human rights issue existed, he agreed to further discussion on the subject. The King noted that he was considering political reforms but was concerned that, if he abandoned the "partyless" system and restored parliamentary government, the political parties would turn to outsiders for financing and thus bring in foreign influence. (CONFIDENTIAL, Kathmandu 3789, September 3)

Prime Minister Criticizes Koirala Activities in the US. Prime Minister Giri was quoted by the Indian press as saying that former Prime Minister B.P. Koirala had "misused" his special release from prison for medical treatment in the US by appearing on television shows. He reportedly added that if "anyone in the US" thought that Koirala's release was part of a compromise on the part of the Nepalese Government, they were wrong. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Kathmandu 3815, September 7)

INR Comment: Koirala, who still faces treason charges when he returns to Nepal, recently told television interviewers that he was interested in meeting President Carter to promote democracy in Nepal. Giri's statement may be designed to head off such a meeting. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Nepalese Concerned Over US Rights Policies. Nepalese officials and professionals at a recent human rights seminar sponsored by Embassy Kathmandu expressed concern that US human rights policies:

--can cause political destabilization in small countries such as Nepal;

--are not applied uniformly or fairly;

--constitute interference in another country's affairs.

The Nepalese also took the position that, should violations lead to a US aid cutoff to poor countries, this would be a violation of human rights in itself. The Embassy considers that the session was useful but noted that the absence of invited Foreign Ministry officials demonstrates the government's sensitivity on this issue. EAST ASIA AND PACIFIC

Indonesia

US Rights Policy Seen Through a Glass--Darkly. A member of the Supreme Advisory Council to the Indonesian President who is also a journalist recently called on the Public Affairs Officer in Jakarta to discuss human rights. He said that:

--the imposition by the US of its human rights values on other countries is a form of imperialism;

--the US does not understand the real problem of Communism in Southeast Asia because it is safe and far away;

--US society is oriented toward the protection of the rights of the individual over those of society; in Indonesia it is the reverse;

--Indonesian culture cannot be reconciled with the liberalism of US culture; the US is "too tolerant of murderers, and the courts release them too quickly in the name of human rights"; and

--in the world of Southeast Asia it is a question of kill or be killed, which is what happened in the attempted coup of 1965 and the subsequent massacres. Indonesians have no regrets about the imprisonment of Communists on the Island of Buru. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, USIS Dakarta Memcon, August 19)

INR Comment: These rough-hewn views probably are shared by many leading Indonesians. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Korea

Churchman, Poet Arrested. Embassy Seoul reports that:

--Rev. O Chung-il, Secretary General of the Korean Evangelical Church, has been arrested for circulating copies of an earlier speech in which a Rev. Cho Yong-sul accused President Pak of leftist tendencies; Rev. Cho had been arrested in July after delivering his speech;

--Poet Yang Song-ŭ was arrested for violating Emergency Measure 9 by publishing a poem--"Diary of a Slave" in the prominent leftist Japanese publication Sekai (The World). (CONFIDENTIAL, Seoul 7579, September 8)

INR Comment: The arrests demonstrate that foreign criticism of the government's human rights practices has not altered its continued determination to control domestic dissent. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Malaysia

Fourteen-Year-Old Boy Sentenced to Death. On September 1 the Penang High Court sentenced to death a fourteen-year-old boy for possession of a loaded pistol. The death sentence in such a case is mandatory under Malaysia's Internal Security Act. The sentence was strongly protested by opposition party members and lawyers. The Malaysian Bar Council appealed to the Prime Minister to repeal certain provisions of the Act because they "manifestly undermine the principles of democracy." (UNCLASSIFIED, Reuter 1120, September 2)

INR Comment: It is unlikely that the death sentence will be carried out. The Attorney-General and Law Minister told the press that the sentence was "unfortunate" and said that he would raise the case with the government pardons board. The rigorous provisions of the Internal Security Act have been under fire recently. Cases have occurred where an accused has been acquitted after a court trial, only to be re-arrested immediately for the same offense and detained indefinitely without trial. The Act is designed to combat Communism, and the government is unlikely to accede to pressures for a relaxation of its strict provisions. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Philippines

Marcos Outlines Conditions for a Return to Normalcy. Embassy Manila reports that in a September 7 speech to the armed forces, President Marcos reiterated his commitment to the eventual lifting of martial law. He stressed, however, that the return to "normalcy" would be gradual and depend upon events in the Muslim south and the maintenance of law and order in the country. He warned against over-optimism and said that he would reconsider his decision "if there are indications of a return to old vices." Marcos pointed out that the "liberalization" process had already started, and that over 66,000 prisoners--most of them admittedly criminal--had been released between 1972 and 1977. The curfew had also been lifted except for certain areas. Marcos further stated that elections would not take place at all levels at once: he emphasized that, even after the formation of a national legislature, the President would retain great power. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Manila 14096, September 7)

INR Comment: Marcos' statement underlines his continued interest in redeeming the Philippines' human rights reputation. It can also be construed, however, as an assurance to the police and military that he will not allow the liberalization process to set back law-and-order gains made under martial law. The linking of the Muslim insurgency with the lifting of martial law suggests that Marcos may view this problem as the final stumbling block in the way of a return to "normalcy." (CONFIDENTIAL)

LATIN AMERICA

Chile

Socialist Conference Urges Strong Measures Against Chile. Embassy The Hague reports that the Socialist International and the Dutch Labor Party sponsored a conference of international organizations and European Socialist parties on the future of Chile in Rotterdam on August 29-31. The conference issued a statement saying that the US holds a special responsibility for the situation in Chile and "the attitude of the present administration concerning human rights has created expectations in this field." Conference chairman, Willy Brandt, called for "all serious democratic forces in Chile and outside" to lay the basis for a functioning democracy in Chile. The conference also advised the constituent socialist parties of the Socialist International to (a) press for an end to all loans and credits to Chile by international financial institutions; (b) end weapons transfer and training programs for the Chilean military, and (c) study the possibility of imposing economic sanctions. (CONFIDENTIAL, The Hague 4493, September 2)

Haiti

Mexico

Rights Record Weighed. According to Embassy Mexico's draft human rights evaluation report, Mexico sees itself in the forefront of countries advocating strong human rights policies both nationally and internationally. It has:

--long sustained a liberal policy of political asylum and immigration;

--denounced human rights violations in other countries; and

--traditionally followed a foreign policy of non-intervention in the internal affairs of other countries.

Despite initial reserve and some suspicion, high-level Mexican officials have become increasingly supportive of US human rights initiatives. For both political and philosophical reasons, however, Mexico will continue to stress a multilateral approach to human rights problems. Mexico will also place considerable emphasis on social and economic rights. Mexico, for example, would be unwilling to criticize socialist or Communist countries for violations of political rights without, at the same time praising them for their accomplishments in the fields of health care and education.

The Embassy considers that Mexico's domestic record is "good within the context of a developing country with a basically one-party system", i.e., it is not free from blemishes. According to the Embassy, "the 'average Mexican' --limited only by his economic, social and cultural means-- can read any author, travel and settle in the country freely, complain about the government, spend his money as he wishes, and generally live his entire life without experiencing being followed, spied upon, or wiretapped. However, those deeply tied to the political system (i.e., newspaper editors) or those seriously threatening the system (i.e., terrorists), will find their human rights to be much more limited. And those Mexicans who form part of the economically marginal population, while having the same political freedoms as the 'average Mexican', suffer from a deprivation of their basic economic, social and cultural rights." (CONFIDENTIAL, Mexico 14767, September 2)

INR Comment: The safest way for the "average Mexican" to avoid offical abuse of his human rights is to steer clear of confrontation with authority. Such contact obviously includes politically-oriented violence, but it could also involve confrontation of an essentially peaceful nature, e.g., student or trade union demonstrations, not sanctioned by the government. (CONFIDENTIAL)

AFRICA

Mozambique

INR Comment: The number of detainees is plausible and not out of line with an estimated 15,000 detainees a year ago. Most of the detainees are urban elements whose identification with the former Portuguese colonial system has made them inconvenient and, in some cases, suspect in the eyes of the new government. SUBJECT: TROUBLES IN THE JUNTA

1. SUMMARY - IN THE PAST FEW DAYS THE EMBASSY HAS HEARD SEVERAL ACCOUNTS OF INCREASING TENSION BETWEEN PRESIDENT VIDELA AND HIS JUNTA PARTNER ADMIRAL MASSERA. WE DO NOT BELIEVE THINGS HAVE REACHED SUCH A SERIOUS STATE THAT THERE COULD BE AN OPEN FALLING OUT BETWEEN THE TWO MEN LEADING TO THE KIND OF INTER-SERVICE ARMED CONFLICT THAT HAS OCCASIONALLY TROUBLED ARGENTINE POLITICS. WHAT WE DO FORESEE IS INCREASING PUBLICITY FOR THE FALLING OUT, AND POSSIBLY AN ESCALATION OF MEASURES TAKEN BY ONE MAN AGAINST THE OTHER WHICH COULD LEAD TO LESS EFFECTIVE GOVERNMENT. END SUMMARY.

2. THE RIVALRY BETWEEN VIDELA AND MASSERA IS INCREASING AND MAY BE BREAKING INTO THE OPEN. ALREADY THE QUARREL HAS TROUBLED POLICY MAKING. IT WAS AN OPEN SECRET THAT MEMBERS OF THE NAVY OPPOSED VIDELA'S TRIP TO WASHINGTON. NOTABLE AMONG OPPONENTS WAS DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER (NAVY) CAPTAIN ALLARA, ALTHOUGH HIS BOSS ADMIRAL MONTES IS REPORTED TO HAVE PLAYED A MODERATING ROLE. WHAT HAS SET RUMORS BUZZING TODAY IS THAT A SMALL PUBLICATION CALLED "CONVICCION,"

WHICH IS BELIEVED BY MANY TO BE DIRECTLY LINKED TO THE NAVY, HAS COME FORTH WITH A BLISTERING ATTACK UPON THE VIDELA JOURNEY LIKENING THOSE WHO ATTENDED THE PANAMA TREATIES SIGNING TO LACKEYS JUMPING TO THE SIGNAL OF THE "OAS MANAGER" WHO TOLD THEM THAT THE "BOSS" WANTED TO SEE THEM IN WASHINGTON. THE PAPER'S EDITOR, HUGO EZEQUIEL LEZAMA, A FANATIC YOUNG RIGHT WINGER THOUGHT TO BE RABIDLY ANTI-US, PRINTED THE OPINION THAT IT WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER FOR THE ARGENTINE PRESIDENT TO FOLLOW THE DIGNIFIED LEAD OF THE PRESIDENTS OF BRAZIL AND MEXICO.

3. TODAY SEPT 22 AN EXECUTIVE ORDER BANNED "CONVICCION" FOR THREE MONTHS, A FACT LIKELY TO BE WIDELY REPORTED AND, SO IT APPEARS, DIRECTLY ATTRIBUTED TO VIDELA'S HAVING ACTED TO CURB THE ACTIVITIES OF HIS NAVY RIVAL.

4. EARLIER [redacted] THERE HAD BEEN A REPORT OF THE VIDELA-MASSERA ARGUEMNT'S BEING EXPRESSED IN SUCH MINOR DISCOURTESIES AS ADMIRAL MASSERA'S HAVING CALLED A MEETING OF HIS ADMIRALS, AND HAVING INSISTED THEY ATTEND, AT PRECISELY A TIME WHEN VIDELA HAD SUMMONED HIS CABINET. TWO ADMIRALS ARE MEMBERS OF THE CABINET BODY. (NEWSPAPERS EARLIER THIS WEEK DID INDEED REFER TO A "PREVIOUSLY UNSCHEDULED" ADMIRALS' MEETING.) B1

5. ODDLY, IT SEEMS THAT MASSERA'S CAMPAIGN AGAINST HIS ARMY COLLEAGUE DID NOT EXPRESS ITSELF IN DIRECT ATTACKS ON THE RESULTS OF THE VIDELA WASHINGTON VISIT. FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIALS WITH WHOM WE TALKED HAD TOLD US EARLIER THAT EVEN THOSE WHO OPPOSED THE TRIP HAD GONE QUIET IN THE FACE OF THE JOURNEY'S APPARENT SUCCESS. [redacted] HOWEVER, THAT MASSERA HAD BEEN PIQUED AT HEARING THAT VIDELA HAD SPOKEN FOR TWO HOURS IN WASHINGTON WITH MASSERA'S CLOSEST B1

[redacted]

NAVY RIVAL, ADMIRAL MENDIA, SERVING NOW AS ARGENTINA'S REPRESENTATIVE ON THE INTER-AMERICAN DEFENSE BOARD.

6. IN THIS MURKY POLITICAL ATMOSPHERE IT IS DIFFICULT TO KNOW AT ALL WHETHER THE NOTORIUOUS ALFREDO BRAVO CASE FIGURES IN THE VIDELA-MASSERA RIVALRY. FACTS ARE, HOWEVER, THAT BRAVO DID INDEED DISAPPEAR WHILE THE PRESIDENT WAS IN THE US AND THE DISAPPEARANCE WAS INTERPRETED AS AN ATTEMPT

TO DISCREDIT THE PRESIDENT. BRAVO'S REAPPEARANCE IN LA PLATA CAUSED SPECULATION THAT IT WAS THE NAVY HAD HAD ENGINEERED THE DISAPPEARANCE, AND THAT ENORMOUS EFFORT HAD BEEN EXPENDED TO SMOKE OUT BRAVO'S WHEREABOUTS. (THIS ENORMOUS EFFORT WAS CLEARLY EXERTED UPON SOMEONE, ALMOST CERTAINLY AT VIDELA'S BEHEST, THOUGH IT COULD WELL HAVE BEEN AGAINST SOME OTHER ARM OF THE SECURITY APPARATUS.)

7. INTERNATIONAL IMPLICATIONS? WHETHER BY DESIGN OR BY ACCIDENT THE ARGENTINE NAVY HAS IN RECENT DAYS TAKEN ON AN IMMEDIATE AND CREDIBLE ROLE AS THE NATION'S FIRST DEFENDER WHICIH COMES AS HEAVEN-SENT OPPORTUNITY FOR ADMIRAL MASSERA -- WHETHER IN PURSUING HIS QUARREL WITH PRESIDENT VIDELA OR MAKING HIMSELF INTO A NATIONAL HERO. NEWS BROKE THIS PAST WEEKEND OF A MYSTERIOUS FISHING FLEET STEAMING WITHOUT FLAGS OR MARKINGS OFF THE ARGENTINE COAST. TODAY THE NAVY ANNOUNCED THAT THREE OF ITS DESROYERS HAD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY THE SOVIET SHIPS "BUSSOL," "APATIT," "TEODOR LETTE," AND "MAGEIT" FOR ILLEGAL ENTRY INTO TERRITORIAL WATERS AND WAS BRINGING THE SHIPS TO AN ARGENTINE PORT. THE NOTICE CONTINUES THAT OTHER UNITS OF THE FLOTILLA HAD "ABANDONED THE 200 MILE AREA AHEAD OF IMMINENT CAPTURE." THIS EVENT TAKES PLACE ON THE HEELS OF A STIFF ARGENTINE PROTEST TO CHILE OVER TERRITORIAL WATERS VIOLATIONS AND UNAUTHORIZED OVERFLIGHTS. THESE WILL BE TOUGH ACTS FOR THE ARGENTINE ARMY TO FOLLOW.

8. PROGNOSIS. WHAT CONCERNS US NOW IS THAT THE MASSERA-

[redacted]

VIDELA QUARREL HAS BROKEN INTO THE OPEN WITH "CONVICCION" AFFAIR (THE BRAVO AFFAIR IS MORE A MATTER OF POLITICAL SPECULATION), AND THAT MASSERA'S NEXT ACT WILL ALMOST CERTAINLY BE TO PRESERVE FACE BY ESCALATING THE ARGUMENT.

9. WE DO NOT KNOW WHETHER VIDELA IN HIS OWN MIND BLAMES THE NAVY FOR SUCH EXTRAORDINARY ACTS AS THE BRAVO DISAPPEARANCE, BUT FOR WHOMEVER ENGINEERS SUCH EVENTS THERE IS TROUBLE COMING: VIDELA TOLD A GROUP OF US AND ARGENTINE CORRESPONDENTS ON SEPTEMBER 21 THAT HEADS WOULD ROLL BECAUSE HE PERSONALLY WOULD TAKE ACTION AGAINST THESE PERPETRATORS. HE WENT ON TO RELATE THAT HE HAD HAD TO FACE UP TO RESPONSIBILITY FOR SUCH ACTS TOO LONG, AND THAT

DURING HIS VISIT TO THE US THIS HAD AMOUNTED TO A HUMILIATION GREATER THAN HE INTENDS TO CONTINUE TO BEAR.

10. THIS ALL LOOKS SERIOUS, BUT IT BEARS REMBERING TOO THAT THE JUNTA HAS SHOWN A REMARKABLE ABILITY TO WALK RIGHT UP TO CONFRONTATION AND THEN TURN BACK.

1. INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY. REFTEL B, WHICH REPORTS ILGWU PRESIDENT SOL CHAIKIN'S PRESS CONFERENCE, IS A GOODNSUMMARY INTRODUCTION TO THE RESULTS OF THE AFL-CIO SOLIDARITY TEAM'S 2 1/2 DAY VISIT TO BUENOS AIRES, SEPTEMBER 6-8. WE BELIEVE THAT THE VISIT WAS A SUCCESS IN TERMS OF DEMONSTRATING THE AFL-CIO'S SOLIDARITY WITH THE ARGENTINE UNION MOVEMENT AND IN INCREASING PRESSURE ON THE GOA, EVEN THOUGH NO SUBSTANTIALLY POSITIVE, IMMEDIATE RESULTS CAN BE EXPECTED AND, IN FACT, THE SHORT TERM PROSPECTS REMAIN BLEAK. THE

VISIT TO SOME DEGREE WAS COMPLICATED BY AN INTERNATIONAL CHRISTIAN LABOR CENTRAL DELEGATION WHICH VISITED THE COUNTRY THE WEEK BEFORE AND WHOSE RESULTS WERE SIMILAR TO THOSE OF THE AFL-CIO. THE LOCAL CLAT REPRESENTATIVE HAS HAILED THE TWO VISITS AS BEING OF "HISTORIC IMPORTANCE" IN THE STRUGGLE TO REESTABLISH TRADE UNION LIBERTIES AND HUMAN RIGHTS TO ARGENTINA. THE SUCCESS OF THE AFL-CIO MISSION WAS IN NO SMALL MEASURE DUE TO THE PERSONAL DYNAMISM AND COMMITMENT OF DELEGATION LEADER CHAIKIN WHO CAME ACROSS AS A TOUGH, AUTHENTIC UNION LEADER GENUINELY INTERESTED IN HELPING THE ARGENTINE LABOR MOVEMENT. END SUMMARY.

2. THE AFL-CIO TEAM AVOIDED THE PITFALLS WHICH BEFELL THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU) MISSION LAST FEBRUARY. THAT VIST WAS ESSENTIALLY A FACT-FINDING AND NEGOTIATING EXPEDITION. PLAYING OUT THE ROLE EXPECTED OF THE CHIEF OF A CONFEDERAL INTERNATIONAL LABOR CENTER, ICFTU'S OTTO KERSTEN CAME TO PRESSURE GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES INTO RESTORING TRADE UNION LIBERTIES TO THE ICFTU'S ARGENTINE AFFILIATE LABOR UNION MOVEMENT. AS WE SAID ON THAT OCCASION, THE LION DEPARTED THE COUNTRY LOOKING LIKE A LAMB, EVIDENTLY CHARMED BY PRESIDENT VIDELA AND ADMIRAL MASSERA'S PROMISES THAT IMPORTANT CHANGES FOR THE BETTER WERE ON THE WAY. THEIR EXPECTATIONS HAVING BEEN RAISED BEYOND REASON BY THE VISIT, THE ARGENTINE LABOR LEADERS FELT LET DOWN WHEN KERSTEN APPEARED TO BE TAKEN IN BY THE GOVERNMENT'S EMPTY PROMISES.

3. THE AFL-CIO VISITORS TOOK A DIFFERENT TACK. AS REPRESENTATIVES OF A FRATERNAL FOREIGN NATIONAL CENTER, THE AMERICANS CAME PRINCIPALLY TO RENEW CONTACTS AND TO DEMONSTRATE SOLIDARITY WITH THEIR ARGENTINE TRADE UNION BROTHERS. THEIR DISCUSSIONS WITH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WERE PLAYED DOWN RELATIVELY. IT IS WELL THAT THEY WERE, SINCE THE GOVERNMENT IS NOT YET PREPARED TO MAKE ANY OF THE MAJOR CONCESSIONS WHICH THE [redacted]

LOCAL LABOR MOVEMENT WANTS.

4. THAT THE AFL-CIO TEAM WAS PRECEDED A WEEK EARLIER BY THE VISIT TO ARGENTINA OF A JOINT WORLD CONFEDERATION OF LABOR/LATIN AMERICAN CENTRAL OF WORKERS (WCL-CLAT) DELEGATION WAS BOTH AN ADVANTAGE AND A DISADVANTAGE. INSPIRED BY LABOR MINISTRY SPOKESMEN, THE MEDIA TREATED THE WCL-CLAT COLDLY (FOR HAVING INSPIRED RESOLUTIONS IN THE ILO AGAINST ARGENTINA AND FOR HAVING

Case Number: 200000044

PROVIDED PROTECTION TO THE MILITANTLY ANTI-GOA EXILE LABOR LEADER, RAIMUNDO ONGARO). ON THE OTHER HAND, THE PRESS AT FIRST WELCOMED THE AFL-CIO VISIT, INTERPRETING IT AS PART OF A SERIES OF OFFICIAL U.S. MANEUVERS (TODMAN, DERIAN, CODELS, ETC.) BEING ORCHESTRATED WITH THE INTENT OF IMPROVING BILATERAL RELATIONS--AT LEAST UP TILL THE MOMENT THEY GOT WIND OF THE MESSAGE SOL CHAIKIN WAS SENDING AROUND TOWN.

5. CLAT SOURCES MAINTAIN THAT BEHIND CLOSED DOORS THEIR MEETINGS WITH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WERE FRANK AND CORDIAL. THEY WERE EVEN ALLOWED -- QUIETLY -- TO VISIT SELECTED UNION CORELIGIONARIES IN TWO DIFFERENT JAILHOUSES -- A REQUEST WHICH THE AFL-CIO ALSO MADE AND WAS DENIED. THE CHRISTAIN LABOR GROUP WAITED UNTIL THE LAST DAY BEFORE ISSUING A FORMAL CONDEMNATORY STATEMENT OF WHAT THEY HAD FOUND IN ARGENTINA. THE COMMUNIQUE UPSET THE LABOR MINISTRY GREATLY BECAUSE IT COULD HAVE UNLEASHED A NEW WAVE OF CRITICISM FROM HARDLINE MILITARY SECTORS AGAINST THE MINISTRY FOR HAVING ALLOWED THE VISIT IN THE FIRST PLACE. THUS, MINISTRY OFFICIALS WERE THROWN INTO A MOMENTARY TIZZY ON THE EVE OF THE AFL-CIO'S ARRIVAL, FEARING PERHAPS THAT THE WORST WAS YET TO COME.

6. THIS MAY EXPLAIN THE FACT THAT ASIDE FROM THE UNEVEN PRESS TREATMENT, THE TWO MISSIONS HAD ABOUT THE SAME EXPOSURE TO GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS. BOTH DELEGATIONS MET WITH THE CGT INTERVENTOR AND THE LABOR MINISTER. WCL-CLAT WAS DENIED PERMISSION TO SEE PRESIDENT VIDELA AND, UNFORTUNATELY, VIDELA LEFT THE COUNTRY (FOR THE U.S.) THE DAY THE AFL-CIO TEAM

ARRIVED. A REQUESTED MEETING WITH ACTING PRESIDENT DIAZ BESSONE NEVER MATERIALIZED. THIS WOULD NOT HAVE SERVED ANY USEFUL PURPOSE ANYWAY, EXCEPT AS A MINOR FEAT OF ONES UPMANSHIP OVER WCF-CLAT. THE ARGENTINE TRADE UNIONISTS WANTED BADLY TO SEE A VIDELA SUMMIT CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON WITH GEORGE MEANY, BUT WE UNDERSTAND THAT MR. MEANY REJECTED THIS ON GROUNDS OF PRINCIPLE.

7. BEST THAT WE CAN TELL, THE WCL-CLAT AND AFL-CIO DELEGATIONS HAD ABOUT THE SAME DEGREE OF EXPOSURE TO UNION LEADERS IN BUENOS AIRES--MAXIMUM AUDIENCES BEING IN THE AREA OF 150 SPECTATORS. ONE POSSIBLE DIFFERENCE WAS THAT THE WCL-CLAT (THEY CLAIM) HELD OPEN DOOR DISCUSSIONS IN ALL CASES AND WE UNDERSTAND THAT ONE OF THEIR SESSIONS ENDED IN AN EMOTIONAL OUTBURST OF SINGING "LOS MUCHACHOS PERONISTAS." THE WCL GROUP ALSO SPENT MORE TIME IN ARGENTINA--UPWARDS OF A WEEK. THEY VISITED CORDOBA AND, WE GATHER, HELD A WELL-ATTENDED TRADE UNION MEETING THERE. THE AFL-CIO ABIDED BY THE RULE LAID DOWN BY THE GOVERNMENT NOT TO HOLD HUGE RALLIES WHICH MIGHT TAKE ON THE CHARACTERISTIC OF A PLENARY SESSION -- SOMETHING THE GOVERNMENT HAS DENIED THE MOVEMENT THESE PAST 17 MONTHS. THIS REQUIREMENT ALSO COINCIDED WITH THE WISHES OF THE COMMITTEE OF 25 UNION LEADERS WHICH HOSTED THE AFL-CIO VISIT. THE COMMITTEE, TO SOME DEGREE INFLUENCED BY GOVERNMENT PRESSURES BUT ALSO BY MORE ORDINARY [redacted] PERSONAL CONSIDERATIONS OF LEADERSHIP AMBITION, WANTED SUBSTANTIVE DISCUSSIONS WITH THE AFL-CIO TO TAKE PLACE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

Case Number: 200000044

8. WE SUSPECT THAT, WHETHER CLAT HELD OPEN DOOR SESSIONS OR NOT, THE TURNOUT FOR THEM WAS ABOUT THE SAME AS THAT OF THE AFL-CIO, ESPECIALLY AS THE COMMITTEE OF 25 ACTED AS OFFICIAL HOSTS FOR THE WCL-CLAT MISSION AS WELL. MOREOVER, WE FIND IT HARD TO BELIEVE THAT IN MOST MINDS THE AFL-CIO WAS NOT CONSIDERED THE MORE IMPORTANT OF THE TWO IN TERMS OF THE RELATIVE PRESSURES WHICH THE TWO LABOR ORGANIZATIONS CAN BRING TO BEAR ON THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT. DESPITE STRONG VESTIGES OF TRADITIONAL NATIONALISM IN THE PERONIST LABOR MOVEMENT AND APPARENTLY IMPORTANT INROADS WHICH CLAT HAS BEEN ABLE TO ACHIEVE IN RECENT YEARS, THE AFL-CIO IS HIGHLY RESPECTED IN THE ARGENTINE LABOR MOVEMENT FOR THE POLITICAL CLOUT AND, WHAT'S MORE, FOR THE STRONG STAND WHICH THE CARTER ADMINISTRATION HAS TAKEN ON HUMAN RIGHTS.

9. MOREOVER, WE THINK THE AFL-CIO'S PROCEDURE OF GIVING WEIGHT TO THE 25 MECHANISM AND OF TRYING TO WORK THROUGH THEM WAS A CORRECT MOVE. HOWEVER, IMPERFECTLY THEY MAY HAVE BEEN SELECTED IN THE CURRENT SEMI-CLANDESTINE CIRCUMSTANCES, THE COMMITTEE IS SUPPOSED TO REPRESENT THE INTERESTS OF BOTH THE INTERVENED AND NONINTERVENED AND VIRTUALLY ALL SHADES OF PERONIST LABOR THOUGHT ARE REFLECTED. IT IS THE ONLY BODY PURPORTING TO REPRESENT THE LABOR MOVEMENT AS A WHOLE DURING THE CURRENT PERIOD OF SUSPENSION OF LABOR ACTIVITIES. IT WAS INEVITABLE, BECAUSE OF PERSONAL RIVALRIES AND JEALOUSIES, THAT NOT ALL THE UNION LEADERS OUTSIDE THE 25 BOARD WOULD BE CONTACTED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE MEETINGS--AND SOME CRITICISM HAS BEEN HEARD IN THIS VEIN--BUT THIS IS DIFFICULT TO AVOID ENTIRELY, EVEN UNDER THE BEST OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

10. THE MOTIVATION BEHIND THE COMMITTEE OF 25'S PARTIALLY SUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO EXCLUDE EX-LIGHT AND POWER LEADER JUAN JOSE TACCONE AND EX/UOM (METAL WORKER) AND EX-CGT BOARD MEMBER ALBERTO CAMPOS FROM THE RECEPTION COMMITTEE DESERVES FURTHER INQUIRY. THE MOST SIMPLE REASON WAS THAT THE TWO ARE NOT MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE. HOWEVER, CAMPOS PARTICULARLY WAS A TARGET, WE SUSPECT, BECAUSE HE IS WIDELY REGARDED AS BEING A STAND-IN FOR THE JAILED FORMER TOP LABOR BOSS, LORENZO MIGUEL. UNDER MIGUEL'S LEADERSHIP, THE UOM WAS THE NERVE-CENTER OF THE "62 ORGANIZATIONS" POLITICAL MACHINERY SUPPORTING MRS. PERON'S REGIME WHILE IT LASTED. THE HISTORY OF DISAFFECTION OF THE "GROUP OF EIGHT" AND "INDEPENDENTS" FROM THIS POLITICAL MACHINE

Case Number: 200000044

IS CLOSELY TIED TO THE STORY OF THE MILITARY COUP AGAINST THE PERONIST GOVERNMENT IN MARCH 1976, WHICH WAS FACILITATED BY THE MILITARY'S ABILITY TO GAIN THE SUPPORT OF THE ANTIVERTICALIST LABOR LEADERS IN THE CONSPIRACY. WE BELIEVE THAT THE ATTEMPT TO COLD-SHOULDER CAMPOS AND TACCONE DURING THE AFL-CIO VISIT WAS AT LEAST PARTIALLY GUIDED BY GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY OFFICERS WHO STILL HAVE SOME OF THE REMAINING LEADERS DELUDED INTO BELIEVING THAT THEY WILL NOT ONLY SURVIVE THE NATIONAL REORGANIZATION PROCESS BUT MAY EVEN EVENTUALLY INHERIT THE TOP CGT POSITIONS VACATED BY THE LEADERS WHOSE MANDATES THIS GOVERNMENT HAS TERMINATED. WE HAD THOUGHT THAT, TO A DEGREE, THESE OLD RIVALRIES HAD BEEN PUT ASIDE AS A RESULT OF GROWING RECOGNITION OF THE COLD REALITIES OF THE GOVERNMENT'S LABOR POLICIES. INDEED, THE FORMATION OF THE COMMITTEE OF 25, WHICH INCLUDES FIVE LEADERS OF INTERVENED UNIONS (BUT NOT UOM) AND THE DECISION NOT TO FIELD A WORKER DELEGATION TO THE ILO CONFERENCE LAST JUNE, HAVE BEEN SEEN AS EVIDENCE OF A GROWING UNITY OF THE NONINTERVENED AND INTERVENED CAMPS AND A SENSE OF FATALISM WITH RESPECT TO THE GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS. WE THINK THIS TREND TOWARDS REALIZING THAT THEY ARE ALL IN THE SAME SINKING BOAT WILL CONTINUE TO GROW--ESPECIALLY AS MORE LEADERS ARE PRESSURED INTO RESIGNING FROM THEIR UNION POSTS--BUT THE INCIDENT INVOLVING CAMPOS (WHICH INCIDENTALLY CAMPOS SEEMED INPERVIOUS TO, AS HE [redacted]

PARTICIPATED IN ALL EVENTS ANYWAY) SHOWS THAT THE GOVERNMENT RETAINS A SUBSTANTIAL CAPACITY TO MANIPULATE TRADE UNION LEADERS AGAINST EACH OTHER.

11. THE EMBASSY FELL AFOUL OF THE INTERVENDED VS. NONINTERVENED ISSUE INCIDENTALLY WHEN LABOR MINISTER LIENDO AND ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF GENERAL VIOLA DECLINED TO ACCEPT OUR INVITATION TO LUNCH WITH THE AFL-CIO DELEGATION IN THE COMPANY OF EX-AS WELL AS CURRENT ARGENTINE TRADE UNION LEADERS. (LIENDO AND HIS ENTOURAGE EAGERLY ACCEPTED A HURRIEDLY PUT-TOGETHER SUBSTITUTE EVENT AS THE RESIDENCE TO WHICH NO LOCAL LABOR LEADERS WERE INVITED). WE ARE NOT ENTIRELY UNHAPPY ABOUT OUR UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORT TO GET THE ARMY GENERALS TO SIT DOWN AND BREAK BREAD WITH LEADERS WHOSE MANDATES THE GOVERNMENT HAS TRUNCATED. WE WERE ABLE TO GET ACROSS THE POINT THAT WE DO NOT NECESSARILY

ACCEPT GOVERNMENT FIAT AS FAIT ACCOMPLI-- AND WE DID SO WITHOUT SUBSTANTIALLY ALIENATING EITHER LIENDO OR VIOLA.

12. NOT ALL THE MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE OF 25 CAME OUT TO MEET THE AFL-CIO. BY OUR COUNT, TEN WERE ABSENT, WE THINK, MOSTLY BECAUSE OF THE GOVERNMENT PRESSURES HANGING OVER THE LABOR MOVEMENT. MUNICIPAL WORKER LEADER GERONIMO IZZETA IS REPORTED ILL, HEALTH UNION LEADER OTTO CALACE PERHAPS STAYED AWAY BECAUSE HIS SOCIAL WELFARE DEPARTMENT HAD JUST BEEN TAKEN AWAY FROM HIM BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES, AND TOBACCO EMPLOYEE LEADER ROBERTO DIGON LEFT THE COUNTRY OVER A MONTH AGO ON A CLAT SCHOLARSHIP ALONG WITH HIS WIFE (A TELEPHONE UNION LEADER IN HER OWN RIGHT) WHO RECENTLY WAS RELEASED FROM PROLONGED DETENTION FOR BEING A MONTONERO SUSPECT. SODA FACTORY UNION LEADER JUAN RACCHINI (WHO EVIDENTLY IS NO LONGER A MEMBER OF THE 25) WAS CONSPICOUSLY ABSENT. SO WAS EX-GASTRONOMIC LEADER RAMON ELORZA (ALSO A NON-

MEMBER), WHO WE NOW PRESUME SHOULD BE CATALOGUED AS LIVING IN EXILE ABROAD. PERHAPS IT IS REMARKABLE THAT SO MANY LEADERS DID PARTICIPATE. AMONG THOSE WHO DESERVE SPECIAL MENTION ARE COMMERCIAL WORKER LEADER FLORENCIO CARRANZA, WHO WAS IN THE FINAL STAGES OF AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO HANG ONTO HIS JOB; TRUCK DRIVER HEAD RICARDO PEREZ, WHO WAS FORCED TO RESIGN BY THE GOVERNMENT (A FEW DAYS BEFORE THE AFL-CIO VISIT) ON HIS RETURN FROM THE ITF CONGRESS IN DUBLIN BECAUSE OF THE CONGRESS' BLANKET CONDEMNATION OF MILITARY GOVERNMENTS; AND PAPER UNION LEADER FERNANDO DONAIRES, WHO HAD TAKEN ADMINISTRATIVE LEAVE FROM HIS UNION FOLLOWING A THREATENING VISIT FROM MILITARY AND POLICE OFFICERS.

13. A DAY OR TWO FOLLOWING THE AFL-CIO TEAM'S DEPARTURE FROM BUENOS AIRES, THE PRESS REPORTED CARRANZA AND PEREZ' RESIGNATIONS. INEVITABLY IN SOME MINDS THESE RESIGNATIONS BECAME LINKED TO THE VISIT, ALTHOUGH THIS IS NOT NECESSARILY ACCURATE. NOR IS IT LIKELY THAT TEACHER UNION (CTERA) LEADER ALFREDO BRAVO'S ABDUCTION (THE DAY AFTER HE AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS HAD MET WITH THE AFL-CIO) WAS PRECIPITATED BY THE AFL-CIO MEETING. (HE HAS SINCE BEEN RESURFACED AND IS NOW UNDER OFFICIAL ARREST). NEVERTHELESS, THESE INCIDENTS ARE CHALKED UP IN WORKERS' MINDS AS NEGATIVE DEVELOPMENTS WHICH HAVE OCCURED SUBSEQUENT TO THE AFL-CIO VISIT AND, THEREFORE, AS EVIDENCE OF THE VISITORS' INABILITY TO TURN THE GOVERNMENT AROUND.

14. HOWEVER, THIS PENCHANT FOR LINKAGES CAN CUT BOTH WAYS. FOLLOWING THE AFL-CIO'S VISIT, DONAIRES DECIDED TO DEFY THE AUTHORITIES BY WALKING BACK INTO HIS UNION HALL AND REASSUMING HIS DUTIES. ALSO, A PROMINENT TRADE UNION LEADER WAS RELEASED FROM EXECUTIVE POWER CUSTODY ON THE DAY OF CHAIKIN'S PRESS CONFERENCE. THIS, OF COURSE, SERVES TO WHIP UP HOPES FOR GOVERNMENT ACTION PROVIDING FURTHER RELIEF.

15. NOTWITHSTANDING THE UNREALIZABLE, UNREALISTIC EXPECTATIONS IMPOSED ON THE AFL-CIO TEAM BY THEIR ARGENTINE COLLEAGUES IN TERMS OF HOPED-FOR IMMEDIATE CHANGES IN GOVERNMENT POLICY, THE MISSION WAS A SUCCESS IN REESTABLISHING TIES WITH THE LOCAL LABOR MOVEMENT. THE HIGH QUALITY OF THE TEAM WAS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR, ESPECIALLY SOL CHAIKIN WHO CAME ACROSS AS A SINCERE, TOUGH-TALKING, GENUINE LABOR LEADER OF THE FIRST ORDER. ONE LOCAL LEADER, ROBERTO GARCIA (TAXIS), TOLD US THAT UNTIL HE HEARD CHAIKIN'S RIP-SNORTING EXTEMPORANEOUS ADDRESS AT THE SANITATION WORKERS HALL HE THOUGHT THE AFL-CIO WAS NOT SINCERELY INTERESTED IN ENDURING TIES WITH THE ARGENTINES. AFTER THAT FIERY SPEECH, GARCIA SAID HE WAS HOOKED. EVEN CLAT REPRESENTATIVES TOLD US HOW IMPRESSED THEY WERE BY CHAIKIN.

16. NEARLY AS WE CAN TELL FROM A SINGLE CONVERSATION AT THE LABOR MINISTRY, OUR RELATIONS ARE STILL INTACT. THE MISSION'S CONVERSATIONS WITH THE LABOR MINISTER BEHIND CLOSED DOORS WERE HARD AND TOUGH AND LACED WITH A HEALTHY DOSE OF ICY NEW YORK HUMOUR. LIENDO TOOK IT ALL LIKE A GOOD SOLDIER. EITHER HIS EAR FOR ENGLISH WAS INSUFFICIENT TO CATCH THE SARCASM OR ELSE HE MADE A CONSCIOUS EFFORT NOT TO MAR THE PROSPECTS FOR AN IMPROVEMENT IN U.S.-ARGENTINE RELATIONS AT A MOMENT WHEN HIS PRESIDENT WAS EMBARKED ON A PROMISING MISSION TO WASHINGTON. LABOR UNDERSECRETARY (NAVY CAPTAIN) DALL'ASTA EVEN APPEARED PLEASED WITH THE AFL-CIO VISIT. HE NOTED THAT CHAIKIN HAD RAISED MANY OF THE SAME POINTS AT HIS PRESS CONFERENCE WHICH WCL HAD INCLUDED IN ITS COMMUNIQUE, BUT CHAIKIN HAD DONE IT IN A LESS OFFENSIVE WAY. (WE THOUGHT THE PRESS CONFERENCE WAS PARTICULARLY WELL DONE. THE ONLY CRITICISM HEARD WAS THAT THERE WAS NO MENTION OF THE WAGE PROBLEM.) DALL'ASTA ALSO SAID HE HAD NOT HEARD ANY COMPLAINTS FROM MILITARY QUARTERS (BUT WE SUSPECT THAT THE INTELLIGENCE REPORTS MAY NOT ALL BE IN YET). DALL'ASTA ALSO STATED THAT THE TRADE UNION REFORM BILL WAS TIED UP--ALMOST HOPELESSLY--IN THE MILITARY COMMANDS. WHILE THE BASIC PRINCIPLES (INCLUDING TRADE UNION PERSONALITY ONLY FOR FIRST-DEGREE UNIONS)

HAVE BEEN APPROVED BY THE JUNTA AND ARE NOW ACCEPTED BY ALL, THERE IS A DISAGREEMENT AMONG THE MILITARY OVER THE TRANSITION ARRANGEMENTS, I.E. WHEN AND HOW THE NEW RULES SHOULD BE PUT INTO EFFECT. HE ADMITTED THAT SOME OF THE SERVIES MAY JUST BE STALLING FOR TIME.

17. WHAT DALL'ASTA NEGLECTED TO TELL US WAS THAT THE LABOR MINISTER ISSUED A WARNING TO THE MEDIA WITHIN TWO HOURS AFTER THE PRESS CONFERENCE HAD ENDED ADVISING THEM TO EXERCISE DUE CAUTION AS TO WHAT WAS FIT TO PRINT. THE RESULT WAS THAT CHAIKIN'S REMARKS WERE TONED DOWN IN MOST PAPERS AND RECEIVED ONLY SCANT ATTENTION IN OTHERS. (NEWSCLIPS BEING POUCHED TO AIFLD'S DOHERTY, AS REQUESTED). SINCE THE AFL-CIO'S DEPARTURE, THERE HAVE BEEN SOME WHIFFS OF CRITICISM IN THE CAPTIVE OR

DEMOCRACY OR THE PERONISTS FOR FORGETTING THEIR NATIONALIST HERITAGE. THERE ALSO WAS SOME UNHAPPINESS IN UNION CIRCLES OVER A STATEMENT MADE INFORMALLY TO THE PRESS AT THE END OF THE CONFERENCE BY ONE OF THE DELEGATION MEMBERS. IN CATEGORIC AND ALMOST GLEEFUL TERMS THE AFL-CIO'S PULLOUT OF THE ILO WAS REPORTEDLY CONFIRMED, WHICH SOME HERE FOUND UPSETTING AS THE ILO IS SEEN AS AN ESSENTIAL TOOL IN THE STRUGGLE TO GET THE GOVERNMENT TO REESTABLISH UNION LIBERTIES. ONE VERSION CURRENTLY MAKING ITS ROUNDS INTHE PRESS IS THAT THE AFL-CIO IS PLANNING A NEW TRADE UNION CENTRAL IN LATIN AMERICA AS A SEQUEL (SIC) TO ITS DEPARTURE FROM THE ILO.

18. ON BALANCE, WE BELIEVE THAT THE AFL-CIO VISIT SERVED A VERY USEFUL PURPOSE--NOT ONLY IN TERMS OF THE SENSE OF SOLIDARITY

RESTORED WITH THE ARGENTINE LABOR MOVEMENT, BUT ALSO AS A MEANS OF KEEPING UP THE PRESSURE ON THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT. EVEN THOUGH NO IMMEDIATE POSITIVE RESULTS CAN BE EXPECTED, THE VISIT SERVED AS A REMINDER TO THE GOVERNMENT THAT IT CANNOT HOPE TO GET AWAY OVER A PROLONGED PERIOD OF TIME WITH THE CURRENT SUSPENSION OF TRADE UNION LIBERTIES AND HUMAN RIGHTS WITHOUT RISKING INCREASINGLY MORE ARTICULATE POLITICAL AND LABOR OPPOSITION FROM ABROAD.

19. UNION LEADERS APPEAR ENTICED BY CHAIKIN'S PROMISE OF CONTINUING TIES IN THE FORM OF LABOR GRANTS TO THE U.S. AND OTHER SUGGESTIONS OF ADDITIONAL FORMS OF SUPPORT. SOME LEADERS SEEM TO BELIEVE THEY HAVE A COMMITMENT FROM AIFLD TO FINANCIALLY SUPPORT THE CREATION OF A LOCAL PERONIST LABOR INSTITUTE WHICH WOULD FUND HUMAN RIGHTS SOLIDARITY ACTIVITIES. WITHOUT COMMITING OURSELVES TO ANY PARTICULAR COURSE OF ACTION, THE EMBASSY WILL BE INTERESTED IN DISCUSSING AIFLD'S PROPOSALS AT THE EARLIES OPPORTUNITY AND PRESENTING THEM TO AMBASSADOR-DESIGNATE CASTRO FOR HIS CONSIDERATION.

Dr. Porto proved to be an attractive, articulate, extremely bright and well-informed educator with a broad range of interests and capabilities. Trained as a lawyer, Dr. Porto began his career in the early 1950's assisting a Federal Court judge and teaching law at the University of Buenos Aires. Several years later, while Porto was still in his 20's he joined friends in founding the University of Belgrano. As rector (president) of that institution, Porto has guided the university's expansion into what is now the largest private university in Argentina. Well known as a writer, educator and administrator, Dr. Porto is currently vice-president of the Association of Rectors of Private Latin American Universities.

Dr. Porto displayed considerable interest in academic subjects--he lectures in law and history at Belgrano--literature, education, and Argentine politics. He claims affiliation to no political party, but he is acutely sensitive to the political nature of Argentine education. During our luncheon, Dr. Porto made the following observations:

The Ministry of Education: Minister Catalán is an unfortunate mistake, a man with no background in academia and no real interest in education. Catalan is most interested in promoting his own candidacy as a civilian Interior Minister, as his and other circles believe that the Junta will eventually replace the present Interior Minister Army General Harguindeguy with a civilian to please the political parties and democratic forces. The Education Ministry is at a complete standstill, no new policies are being developed; there is no guidance, no direction and no money.

UNCLASSIFIED

Private activity in education: Although the Education Ministry is moribund, privately educators are working on policy for the future. Belgrano has assembled eight "working groups" of prominent educators to study educational policy. Their research will hopefully be useful when the government eventually becomes interested in reviving the education sector.

Education budget: State expenditure for education is at an all-time low. A decade ago, Education got approximately 25% of the Federal budget, roughly the percentage expended in countries like Brazil, Venezuela and Mexico today. Now, Education receives only 7.4% of the state budget. Cuts in resources to the educational sector result from two reasons: One, education doesn't "show" like other government-funded social projects such as housing; and two, when Argentine governments, whether civilian or military, are upset with the country's social and administrative failings, they tend to blame the education sector. A cut in resources is a form of punishment. Belgrano University, which charges about $400 in annual matriculation tuition, doesn't pay its professors much more than public institutions. Like other universities, it has lost some staff.

Internal Security: Although some Belgrano students have disappeared and others have been detained for subversive activities, Belgrano University did not suffer massive purges in the internal security campaign. It did not have security agents infiltrating the student body. Porto spent considerable time and effort with students to minimize damage during student demonstrations and alienation in early 1970's and during Peronist regime.

The Ministry is conducting an anti-subversive education campaign among secondary school and university administrators. Courses are being given to help administrators identify subversive instructors, and libraries are being checked for subversive books. Porto has resisted Ministry pressures not to rehire several suspected professors.

Educational policy: Porto is opposed to centralized educational planning to the extent that the State determines the number of persons who can enter the university and allocates openings in the various professional schools. He also opposes State-determined hiring, promotion, tenure and salary policies for faculty. He believes the government should establish a basic educational philosophy and guidelines which would be the responsibility of each university rector to carry out in his own institution. Porto is distressed by the low priority and budget for scientific research.

Educational exchange: As vice-president of the Association of Rectors of Latin American Private Universities, Porto would like to have more contact with U.S. educators and university administrators.

Re: Human Rights Talking Points_ Argentina

The summation of the human rights situation currently in Argentina is that a consistent pattern of gross violations of internationally recognized human rights has been established. The rights violated include the right to be free from torture, from arbitrary detention, from invasion of the home, from the arbitary taking of life. They also extend to the full range of civil and political liberties which are denied or curtailed by the existence of a state of seige and the authoritar control of the military.

The talking points of current Secretary's book are adequate; how they do not respond directly to the question on Argentine minds: What do we have to do to obtain a change in U.S. positions on IFI loans,&on major arms sales?

Talking Points:

1. Release of the prisoners, either directly or through use of right of option. End to arbitrary arrest. End to prolonged detention withou charge.
2. Reinstitution of civilian due process.
3. End to use of torture and the punishment of those who commit those acts, with public disclosure.
4. Lifting of the state of seige
5. Accounting of those detained or sentenced
6. Reinstitution of civil liberties: association, expression, press.
7. Steps toward ending authoritarian rule and providing transitic to civilian democratic system.

One through five are required for any movement; six for substanti movement and seven for normal relationship.

To the Argentine assertion that there has been improvement in the human rights situation since Grenada, the following might be appropriate:

1. Torture continues. Disappearances continue. Arbitrary arrests continue. Very few of the detainees have been turned over to the courts and had their charges heard and decided. Several thousand political prisoners remain. The disppearances now number in the many thousands as well.
2. Neither the Inter-American Human Rights Commission nor the UN Human Rights Commission has been permitted into the country. In fact, the ARgentine representatives drew a sharp criticism for having threatened the UN Subcommission which was considering their case (the threat worked and the subcommission did not pass the case up to the UN Human Rights Commission).
3. Even with regard to right of option, administrative restrictions enable very few to utilize it. Many times that number have been pic

List of Prisoners:

Essential Factors: The Coalition for a New Foreign and Military Policy submitted a list of 7500 names to you for the purpose of seeking from the Argentine Government information on their status and prospects for release or due process. This group includes the National Council of Churches, the Washington Office of Latin America, the U.S. Catholic Conference, the Americans For Democratic Action and others. The list they submitted also includes the 3000 names previously turned over to the Argentine Foreign Ministry by the U.S. Embassy on direction of the Department. President Carter in his conversation with President Videla in September had informed Videla that we had received the original list and the Department would provide it to the Argentine Government. In addition, we have received a list of sixteen names from Senator Kennedy's office and twenty-three other names from family members, friends and human rights organizations. Senator Kennedy's office also asked you to urge that former Argentine President, Hector Campora, who is currently in refuge at the Mexican Embassy in Buenos Aires, be allowed to leave the country as soon as possible. While the Campora case has political overtones because of his opposition to the current regime, humanitarian considerations argue for your raising it.

Points to be made:

-- We have received a list of 7500 names from a coalition of human rights groups in the United States of persons alleged to have been detained or disappeared.

-- This list includes the 3000 names previously submitted by our Embassy at the direction of the President.

-- We cannot vouch for the accuracy of these names either but would appreciate whatever response you may be able to provide for the family and friends who are concerned.

-- We will provide the list to the Foreign Ministry.

-- In response to a letter from Senator Kennedy, there are sixteen names which have been added to the list. Senator Kennedy also requested that I note the continuing concern with regard to the status of former President Hector Campora in the Mexican Embassy. Permission to leave the country obviously would be welcomed by many people in the international community.

-- Others, including human rights organizations and Congressional offices, have submitted 23 other names to me, which I have included on the list.

-- In all of these cases, we obviously would hope to be able to respond first with information on their status, if they are detained and what their future situation will be and then hopefully to be able to report that they have been released.

LS NO. 65031 - C

MEMORANDUM

To: Major General Leopoldo Galtieri
Chief of the Second Corps of the Argentine Army

Evidence and documents regarding the detention of Epifanio Méndez Fleitas and his son Epifanio Méndez Vall:

1. Events Leading Up to Both Persons' Detention

On Thursday, October 6, Epifanio Méndez Vall, a 24-year-old Paraguayan citizen, was traveling with the editor of Noticuer, an independent publication where he worked as a feature writer and photographer, on routine duties. At approximately 11 p.m. the car in which they were traveling was stopped in front of the Hotel Nogaró by police officers for a traffic violation. During an exchange of words between the driver and the officer who asked for pertinent identification, the occupants of the car were taken to the Second Precinct of the Federal Police, the precinct station for that area.

After being identified, Epifanio Méndez Vall was released during the morning of Friday, October 7. However, in mid-afternoon the same day two uniformed police officers appeared at Méndez Vall's home to inform him that he had to return to the police station in order to correct the document he had signed for his release (Exhibit 1: cassette, side B, annexed hereto). When he returned from work about 8:30 p.m. -- he had gone back to work that morning -- he went to the Second Precinct with his father Epifanio Méndez Fleitas in response to the police request.

Both were detained, remaining incommunicado in those quarters under military jurisdiction, accused of having ties with an Argentine extremist organization and of being members of an organization of Paraguayan workers according to the reply to the habeas corpus petition filed on their behalf on Monday, October 10, and, according to the reply to another habeas corpus petition filed on Thursday, October 13, accused of being members of the ERP and PRT extremist organizations (See annexed envelope 1 for additional evidence).

From their detainment on October 7 until Thursday, October 13, they were held at the police precinct. On Friday, October 14, when Mrs. Fredelinda Vall Méndez went there to take them food and clothing, she was told that they had been transferred. Since that time their whereabouts have been unknown to their relatives (Envelope 1 rejoinder to the Judge).

2. Steps Taken to Clarify the Motives and Situation of Both Persons

a. Civil Courts: On Monday, October 10, Major (DEM/R) Jesús María Villamayor filed a petition for habeas corpus for both detainees in the Court presided over by Acting Judge Tabares, in Dr. Macchi's clerk's office. The reply to the habeas corpus petition was that they were being held under military authority on charges of having ties with the subversive ERP organization and of being members of an organization of Paraguayan workers. On Thursday, October 13, Juan Bernardino Méndez Vall field a habeas corpus petition for both parties. The Ministry of Interior replied that no arrest order had yet been issued by the National Executive Authority. The Federal Police's reply is contained in the "last minute" testimony (Envelope 1). The reply was supplemented by the report of the Commander in Chief of the Army saying that the Army had no record of the parties concerned (Testimony, envelope 1). The said habeas corpus was contested within the requisite 24 hours on October 26 (envelope 1).

All Civil Court proceedings, meaning the actions instituted and results, were made known to the competent judges of the Federal Chamber as well as to the civilian and military authorities of the Argentine Republic and international organizations.

b. Telegrams and letters were sent to the civilian and military authorities of the Argentine Republic. Documentation on the case was delivered to the respective authorities together with other documents proving the persecution across national borders to which we are systematically subjected by the current regime in power in Paraguay (Envelope 2: documentation on this point).

On Monday, October 17, we were granted an appointment in the President's Private Staff Office where we reported on and furnished documents regarding this and similar previous cases.

c. Owing to the fact that for many years Epifanio Méndez Fleitas has maintained relations with international organizations and well-known persons of indubitable democratic affiliation, the following organizations, well-known persons, and foreign governments have taken an interest in this case:

Organizations

1. United Nations (the UN's Commission on Human Rights gave priority consideration to the case);

2. The Commission on Human Rights of the OAS gave immediate attention to the case since Epifanio Méndez currently heads the Republican National Association, an exile organization recognized by the Organization of American States (Envelope 3: testimony);

3. Amnesty International made a television report on the case on United States television and has also granted it priority attention;

4. The International Red Cross was informed and sent documentation. We do not know what action it has taken;

5. The Charles de Gaulle Institute of which Epifanio Méndez is an honorary member and literary contributor to Espoir, the Institute's official organ, was informed and sent documentation on this matter (Envelope 4);

6. The ICFTU (International Confederation of Free Trade Unions) of which the Paraguayan Confederation of Workers in Exile (CPTE) is a fraternal member, was for that reason informed;

7. The ILO (International Labor Organization) was informed and sent documentation by CPTE;

Epifanio Méndez Fleitas See cover of the book Ideologías de Dependencia y Segunda Emancipación [Ideologies of Dependence and Second Emancipation.] Envelope 7 contains several periodicals attesting to Epifanio Méndez' ideological persuasion and also several photocopies of periodicals opposing our Party which prove Méndez' Colorado militancy (Envelope 8, photocopy O.I. Missions).

Méndez is also author of the following books: Bajo la verde arboleda [Under the Green Grove] (poems and stories); El valor social de la Historia [The Social Value of History] (philosophical essay); El orden para la libertad [Order for Freedom] (politics and history); Batallas por la democracia [Battles for Democracy] (collection of newspaper editorials written by him and by Dr. Osvaldo Chaves); Ordenamiento Económico y Financiero [Economic and Financial Order] (treatise on the Paraguayan economy); Diagnosis paraguaya [Paraguayan Diagnosis] which can be considered his leading work (historical-political-economic work); Sicología del Colonialismo [Psychology of Colonialism] (sociological essay); Ideologías de Dependencia y Segunda Emancipación [Ideologies of Dependencies and Second Emancipation] (sociological lecture), and Lo histórico y lo antihistórico en el Paraguay [Historic and Anti-historic in Paraguay] (historical documentary). (We are enclosing four works.)

Musician and poet, composer of over 40 musical works (Envelope 9). Founding member of Associated Paraguayan Authors (APA).

Exiled from 1956 to 1973 in the Oriental Republic of Uruguay, he moved to Buenos Aires with his entire family where he has since resided at [ ] His residence has been known to the Civil Courts since July 13, 1976. 86

As a composer and musician he recorded a long-playing record with the San Solano Group which was released this year in Buenos Aires (record is enclosed). Mr. Méndez Fleitas has sent many of his literary and musical works to distinguished Argentinians and foreigners (Envelope 10).

Epifanio Méndez Vall Born at Asunción, Paraguay, on March 9, 1953, he moved to Montevideo, Uruguay, with his family in 1959. He attended the José Pedro Varela Secondary School No. 5 in Montevideo and completed preparatory studies in engineering at the Alfredo Vázquez Acevedo Institute in the same city. He moved to Argentina with his parents and brothers and enrolled at the Engineering School of Córdoba, Argentina, in 1974. When personal circumstances forced him to abandon his studies, he returned to Buenos Aires where he lived in his parents' house. His political involvement is limited to joining the Colorado Youth in Exile. As a member of Colorado Youth he was a delegate to the organization's congress in July 1974 where he and 50 other youths were arrested by the police as the result of a false denunciation. They were absolved of blame and cleared of charges for that "offense." He is currently pursuing a career as a journalist and is beginning to work as a feature writer and photographer for Noticuer, a publication of the leather industry. He has a degree in drafting but supports himself as a photographer.

5. Remarks on the Case

We learned from the officers who went to get Epifanio Méndez Vall on Friday, October 7, to have him come to the Second Precinct to "correct his file," that a Paraguayan military delegation led by General Prieto Bustos of the Military College happened to be staying at the Hotel Nogaró. We wonder why he would have been released on Friday, October 7, if [a warrant for his] arrest dated November 29, 1976 existed.

We also wonder how one can believe that a warrant for Epifanio Méndez Fleitas' arrest existed in a district of the Argentine Army, on no lesser charges than having subversive ties, and yet he had not been sought earlier at his home. Since everyone is aware of the effectiveness of the security authorities of the Republic of Argentina, it is difficult to believe that someone accused of being a subversive must go to them to be taken, particularly when the accused person's home address is public knowledge.

We further wonder how it is possible that a warrant for Méndez Fleitas' arrest could be entered in the La Plata Register, Page 28, dated February 13, 1975, Article 1(1), at the request of the Santa Delegation of the Federal Police in document S.F. 411, and yet the Federal Police failed to make the arrest when Mr. Méndez Fleitas was detained at Police Headquarters on an immigration matter from July 8 to 13, 1976.

The questions all but answer themselves. We believe that they must be considered carefully by the Argentine authorities in order to satisfy justice.

We who for more than 20 years have lived in exile and know the psychology and the power of Stroessner's tyranny would not be surprised if these libelous accusations are based on information from that regime. After repeatedly abusing the good faith of the authorities of friendly countries, it has used them to pursue across borders its unrelenting enemies. In the incident which concerns us we point to the strange coincidence of the presence of Paraguayan authorities so close to the chance traffic violation of the vehicle in which Epifanio Méndez Vall was traveling.

We, who have always abided by the cardinal principle of defense of national sovereignty, are faced with the entreguista ["sell out"] conduct of the current regime which governs our country and is set forth in the Itaipú Treaty. In 1966 dissident Colorados proclaimed: "The Sapena Pastor-Magalhaes Agreement on the Guayra Falls is contrary to the interests of Paraguay and contrary to American solidarity." That historic pronouncement foresaw today's problems in reconciling the interests of the nations of the La Plata Basin and it advocated the system of multilateral negotiations among the countries bordering the Paraná affected by the said Treaty. This position, long staunchly maintained by the historic Colorado movement has been and still is the cause of systematic persecution by the Stroessner regime -- tied by powerful interests to a foreign country -- of those of us who maintain it. The childish and recurrent claim that we are involved in subversive activities or associated with extremist organizations is part of the strategy to destroy or silence us. Paraguay, America, and the world are aware of the historic basis of our ideology which is incompatible with totalitarian methodologies and systems, of the extreme left or right. They are also aware of our uncompromising respect for the principle of nonintervention in matters affecting the internal policy of other States.

On the basis of this memorandum, evidence, and documents, as well as information on steps taken and our modest remarks on the case, we believe that we have sufficiently helped the military authorities to clarify the situation of Epifanio Méndez Fleitas and Epifanio Méndez Vall.

After submitting to your Command these clarifications and proof of the thought, conduct, and intellectual and human worth of Epifanio Méndez Fleitas and Epifanio Méndez Vall, we invoke the inalienable right of petition and the universally sacred principles of the Declaration of Human Rights so that Your Excellency may give orders to the appropriate official under your jurisdiction for the immediate release of the said persons.

Fully confident that you will render a just decicion, we remain,

Respectfully,

US Policy Toward Brazil/Southern Cone

Summary

The current military regimes in Brazil and countries to the south interrelate with respect to key US interests. Four countries--Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Peru--play determinant roles, with wide freedom of independent action; three others--Uruguay, Paraguay, Bolivia--are in contrast less consequential and subject to heavy external influence, particularly from within the region.

A number of possible developments over the coming year could have crucial importance for longer term US influence and interests in the region: improvement in the human rights situations in Argentina and Chile; progress on our own proliferation objectives in Brazil/Argentina; political reform in Brazil leading up to late 1978 elections; the ability of Peru to maintain its good record on human rights and begin transition to civilian government in the face of acute economic problems; and political reorientation of the US/Brazil relationship.

Medium Term Outlook: Several likely medium term trends in the region will also have major bearing on the appropriate course for US policy:

1. The authoritarian military-dominated regimes will gradually make concessions to internal and external pressures to liberalize the political process. Progress will be most striking in terms of protection of the individual, while the transition to some form of popular government will be slower and probably partial at best.

2. Brazil, Argentina, and Chile, with reasonably favorable external circumstances, can achieve steady economic growth over the next several years, including greater attention to social problems. Economic "success" (particularly compared with previous austerity or economic chaos under prior civilian rule) will reinforce the position of moderate-conservative economic strategists.

GDS

UNCLASSIFIED

3. One result of economic success in these semi-industrialized countries will be a continuing drift away from the G-77 bloc view on specific policy issues. Significant moves will take place in bilateral or limited size functional groupings rather than in the large and more political international forums.

4. Security ties will steadily diversify away from the United States as a result of our arms transfer and human rights policies, on the one hand, and the development of an indigenous defense industry in Brazil and Argentina on the other. The military in these countries will remain friendly to the United States, but the intimacy and pervasive bonds of the past will gradually and greatly diminish.

5. Local disputes and divergence of interests will prevent the emergence of a regional political bloc in the short term. However, the confluence of political and economic circumstances in these countries tends to strengthen the staying power of the current national strategies and to promote closer economic and even military sales relationships within the region. Over the longer term, a more cohesive grouping may emerge as a somewhat independent force in world politics.

6. Brazil, over the next several years, will steadily increase its power and influence, and become a counterweight to the United States throughout South America. A more balanced relationship with the United States will mean more frequent problems of conflicting interest, particularly in the trade field. Brazil will gradually be drawn into a position of influence in world politics, most importantly in black Africa.

7. The overall result of these developments on the US position in this region will be one of increasing popularity and decreasing influence. The relationship will be more and more in terms of shared interests and mutual accommodation rather than asymmetric dependence by these countries on the United States and corresponding preponderant leverage on our part.

US Policy Response: US immediate objectives in this region center on nuclear non-proliferation and human rights, for which elaborate strategies and policy mechanisms exist. The medium term objective is to develop a revised broader relationship with these countries, taking account of the changing circumstances enumerated above.

A medium term strategy will be determined most importantly by the course of relations between the United States and Brazil. This is not only because of Brazil's size and economic influence in the area, but because of the precedental impact of US actions toward Brazil and the political interaction among the existing military governments.

A policy framework consists of broad lines of policy applicable to the region as a whole and more detailed country strategies. Suggested general lines of US policy are elaborated for: (A) The Political relationship between the United States and the current military regimes; (B) Human rights; (C) Economic interests; and (D) Security ties.

An individual country strategy is elaborated only for Brazil, although the same basic approach in attenuated form would be applicable to Argentina. The central US objective should be to bring Brazil gradually into the community of industrial democracies. The primary focus for achieving this over the next several years should be in a strengthened bilateral structure based on a more balanced partnership, and informal country groups related to functional issues.

The substantive components of the evolving new relationship with Brazil should consist of agreed basic principles or concepts and a growing framework of specific functional ties. Statments of principle, which could take various forms and have a cumulative impact over time, might include: (1) Support for our long tradition of democratic processes and the rule of law; (2) Agreement to develop economic relations on the basis of a liberal trading system with fair, equitable procedures on both sides; (3) Recognition of the energy problem as central to both of our economies, and on which we need to cooperate more closely; (4) Recognition of the growing complexity of urban problems in an advanced industrial society; (5) Agreement on the need for larger powers to work together constructively to maintain peace and solve disputes; and (6) Agreement on the need to transfer technology and resources to the poorer countries, and to seek closer collaboration to that end.

Suggested priority areas for developing strengthened functional ties are: (1) Energy cooperation (nuclear and non-nuclear); (2) Overall economic strategy (to seek an agreed and consistent set of objections); (3) International financial cooperation (including activities of the private banking sector and cooperation in Central Bank intervention and swap activities); and (4) Joint US-Brazil technical assistance /aid to poor countries (in the Amazon region or black Africa.

END SUMMARY

US Policy Toward Brazil/Southern Cone

1. Introduction

Brazil and countries to the south have a long history of interaction. Books have been written about parallel developments in the so-called southern cone (primarily the "most European" countries of Argentina, Chile, and Uruguay, but often including Paraguay and Bolivia as well), and among key ABC countries of Argentina, Brazil and Chile.

One of the most prophetic linkages--although in retrospect a diplomatic blunder--was the 1972 statement by the US President that, "As Brazil goes, so goes South America": within two years, three southern cone countries--Argentina, Chile, and Uruguay--had substituted repressive military for moderate to left civilian governments, "following the Brazilian example" in far harsher terms.

A policy assessment of this sub-region now is particularly appropriate for several reasons:

1. Human Rights Objectives - This region is likely to be the litmus test of US human rights policy. The human rights targets in the area include large and important countries (Brazil and Argentina alone account for over two thirds of the population of South America). At the same time, unlike the more static situation in most of Asia, Africa and Eastern Europe, South American countries have a deep and longstanding commitment to Western ideals and democratic processes. Over the next two to three years, there will almost certainly be substantial change in the situation of some if not all of these countries and the outcome will be a most tangible measure of the success of our human rights policies.

2. Political Orientation Toward the US - The political evolution in these countries, in addition to human rights objectives, will have a major effect on overall US interests and influence in South America. Most of the current military regimes have an unprecedented unity in political orientation which is strongly anti-communist, relatively internationalist in economic outlook, and predisposed toward cooperation with the US despite the pressures we are exerting against them in the human rights field. Political changes over the next few years are likely to lead to lessened represssion and somewhat more democratic processes. Beyond that, however, the future political orientation of these countries, and its impact on various US interests, is unclear.

3. Nuclear Non-Proliferation - This pressing US interest is essentially a Brazil/Argentina issue, but there are also some secondary regional aspects. Argentine assistance to Peru for nuclear power development is a noteworthy element in what appears to be a broader alignment between these two countries. Chile has a significant card to play with respect to the Treaty of Tlatelolco. And growing energy needs present related opportunities for broader cooperation in the energy field--oil in Argentina, several major alternative sources in Brazil.

4. Brazil's Rise to Major Power Status - Brazil's emergence as a major power is not only inexorable but in a number of areas already a reality. Brazil is a major participant in the international trade and financial systems; its political/economic influence permeates all neighboring South American countries; its ethnic and cultural bonds with Africa underlie Brazilian sentiment for closer cooperation across the South Atlantic; and its program for development of nuclear technology puts Brazil in a category of major security interests. Brazil's relationship with the US is changing from the traditional "dependent" status to one of greater "equality" and independence, but the full implications of this new relationship, for neighbors in South America as well as the United States, are unclear.

In considering these issues, four of the current military regimes appear to be playing "determinant," or largely "independent" roles, while three others have "subsidiary" or "dependent" positions. The four determinant countries are Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Peru. (Peru is not normally considered part of the "southern cone," but in terms of the current configuration of military governments in South America, it interacts with its more conservative neighbors in a number of ways, and will be highly influential in the period ahead. Each of the four is likely to experience a significant political evolution away from total military rule over the next few years, while a highly distinct and independent set of circumstances in each makes it likely that the outcome will be determined primarily by internal developments and only secondarily by external influences. At the same time, the result in each of these countries will have a substantial effect on the future political character of South America and US interests in the area.

The three subsidiary countries are Uruguay, Paraguay, and Bolivia, and their situations are somewhat the reverse: significant internal changes unlikely except perhaps Bolivia; external influence, particularly from within the region, relatively more important, and the outcome unlikely to have a great impact on US interests.

As a consequence, the emphasis of this assessment is placed on the four key countries. Discussion of the other three (and other countries) is limited to where significant issues are raised. The time frame is the medium term of one to four years, and policy issues are discussed primarily in terms of consistent overall approach to the several countries in the region. The objective is to give a broader perspective of our interests and policy constraints in the area rather than to second guess those involved in specific issues for decision in coming weeks or months.

II. Medium Term Outlook for the United States: Increasing Popularity and Decreasing Influence.

Despite obvious differences country by country, and the degree of uncertainty involved, several common developments appear highly likely in the Brazil/southern cone region which, cumulatively, will have a major bearing on the appropriate course for US policy:

1. The authoritarian military-dominated regimes will gradually make concessions to internal and external pressures to liberalize the political process. Progress will be most striking in terms of protection of the individual, while the transition to some form of popular government will be slower and probably partial at best. Over the next several years return to a classic form of parliamentary democracy is unlikely; a limited return to elected government, with a continuing major role for the military, is most likely.

The cumulative trend toward conservative, highly authoritarian military government in these countries derives from a series of historical events. The Brazilian revolution of 1964 produced dynamic economic growth and political stability--at the conscious price of democratic institutions and social reform. The 1968 Peruvian revolution, similar in that a military regime replaced ineffective civilian government, started from the left, but developed major economic problems. The southern cone countries continued with weak civilian governments unable to put together successful economic or social strategies. Chile under Allende followed a leftward course while Argentina and Uruguay drifted, with popular discontent overtaken by terrorist assault. By the mid-1970's, hard-line military regimes in Argentina, Chile and Uruguay had adopted the Brazilian approach with a vengeance, while even in Peru, phase II of the Revolution was following a more moderate economic course and a more conciliatory political line with neighboring conservative regimes.

It now appears that in all of these countries there is the beginning of a swing in the other direction. There are growing pressures for reduced police power and transition to some form of popular or pluralist form of government; and successful economic austerity programs over the past couple of years should permit greater resources for social programs in the period ahead (except Peru, which faces at least two more years of austerity).

The emphasis for reform at this stage is on specific steps to protect the individual, or the "integrity of the person" category of human rights problems. A consistent pattern prevails throughout the region of specific goals to liberalize the judicial system and eliminate violations of the person: opposition groups in Brazil are pressing for habeas corpus, reduced government powers to cassate politicians and to inhibit the press, more control over local police abuses; in Chile the emphasis is on ending the state of siege, release of prisoners, elimination of arbitrary arrest, and greater press freedom; Argentina remains most grim, with disappearing persons, summary executions of suspected subversives, and other physical violations of the person the central concerns; Peru has the least direct threat to individuals, and pressure centers on greater press freedom and right of public political dissent. (However, the economic austerity ahead in Peru may create pressures for more authoritarian control.)

The process of transition from authoritarian military rule to some form of popular government, in contrast, is more nebulous, with pressure building up in each country to do something but with a longer term timeframe and no consistent set of end result objectives. The traditional political parties are widely discredited, weak or no longer functioning (with the possible exception of the Christian Democrats in Chile); the military in Chile and Peru have in mind transition to some form of "functional" or "corporatist" representation; Brazil, where a strong presidency long predates the current regime, now has a weak two-party Congress of pro-government and opposition parties that could be strengthened over time, or replaced by a proposed and more traditional four party structure (i.e. liberal, conservative, 2 central parties); Argentina has no obvious alternative to military rule at this point, with the Peronist party most likely to fill a political vacuum if the opportunity presents itself (but the direction of even this outcome is unclear since no new leadership of the Peronist party has emerged). In sum, there is a very broad spectrum of thought as to how best to return to popular rule, from traditional party politics to a "strong executive" model to varying corporatist schemes to vague references to the Mexican model.

Some deadlines have been set: Peru and Bolivia back to civilian government by 1980, preceded by constituent assemblies; Brazil likely to make some changes in connection with elections in late 1978; a less credible Chilean transition by 1985 could be accelerated if pressures build up. Each country, to some extent, is jockeying for position to create a better public image for its planned return to democratic government, and the coming year will be crucial in developing momentum in this direction.

There are thus significant cross influences within the region: any relaxation of police power in Chile is closely observed in Argentina; the June 78 constituent assembly in Peru can influence the situation in Brazil and Chile; a visit by the IAHRC to Paraguay would be precedent for others; and the future political course of Brazil has pervasive influence throughout the region.

The US is most visibly involved through our human rights policy, which is a significant catalyst to the underlying cyclical swing away from authoritarian regimes. Again, however, there is a dichotomy in the impact of US objectives between the integrity of the person (category I) and return to popular government (category III). In the first instance, the US human rights stand is widely applauded outside the governments as helpful to achieving progress, and our pressure also appears to inhibit the more hard line factions within the military. Regarding a return to popular government, however, there is an ambiguous to negative attitude toward perceived US pressure to impose our unrestrained form of democratic government on these Latin American countries. The Christian Democrats in Chile and the parties of the left in general are most responsive to such a call, since early and open elections could benefit them most. The more general attitude, however, is that Latin American countries are very different from the United States, that an early return to overly pure forms of popular rule could lead back to endemic problems of political instability and corruption along the lines that led to military intervention in the first place, and that each country itself should decide how a return to more democratic processes is to be implemented.

2. Over the past three years, the conservative economic policies of most of these governments have successfully coped with the initial destablizing effects of the oil price increase and, in the southern cone, the excesses of previous regimes. With reasonably favorable external circumstances, steady economic growth over the next several years is feasible, including greater attention to social problems and unemployment. Economic "success" (particularly compared with previous austerity or economic chaos under prior civilian rule) will reinforce the position of moderate-conservative economic strategists in these countries.

Argentina, Brazil, and Chile are on a largely parallel economic track, and the medium-term outlook is good, if external conditions are reasonably favorable. (In contrast, renewed recession in the industrialized countries would have serious adverse economic impact on these countries, increase internal political tensions, and perhaps lead to greater repression rather than the liberalizing trend predicted above.) All three have implemented austerity programs over the past two to three years, and have successfully brought their external deficits under control. These programs were carried out at the cost of a drop in real wages, more unequal income distribution, rising unemployment, and varying complaints by investors. Now, however, the governments are in a position to resume steady growth without serious threat to renewed external disequilibrium. Chile conservatively predicts a 7% growth rate through the end of the decade (although it is most dependent on external factors, in particular the price of copper); Brazil is trying to hold down growth to the 4-5% level this year and next, and to accelerate to a more "normal" rate of 7+% thereafter; and Argentina should be able to maintain a 4-5% rate of growth over the next few years.

Such growth strategies, while potentially favorable in terms of permitting expansion of wages as well as investment, will not be easy to implement. Chile is in the strongest internal position, since Pinochet fully supports his economic team, and the result thus far of reducing unemployment from 18% to 13%, with a 10% target by early next year (not counting hidden unemployment) is a highly visible sign of movement in the right direction. The Videla/De Hoz team in Argentina is now fairly well in control, but the future cohesion is shaky in view of rival factions within the military that seek to discredit Videla, and the traditionally strong "statist" economic philosophy in Argentina which conflicts with the largely international orientation of the current economic team; Brazil suffers from weariness with the long authoritarian control over economic decisions, plus invidious comparisons with the halcyon days before the oil price rise.

A key to whether the current regimes will be able to capitalize on their current situation will be the performance of the investment sector. Both Argentina and Chile are encouraging private investment, domestic and foreign, but political uncertainty is holding back major commitments. Brazil is more complicated in that it tries to balance tight fiscal restraint against the need to maintain a dynamic investment sector; it also has to compromise between strong domestic interests for a protectionist policy and the market oriented disciplines of an export led growth strategy. Economic slow-down has caused widespread discontent among domestic entrepreneurs, and has constrained the basic international orientation of the finance minister. However, the economic course for Brazil over the longer run would appear to dictate further liberalization and market orientation. The alternative of widespread control over economic decisions is becoming more and more unmanageable from the point of view of the technocrats in Brasilia.

The situation in Peru is somewhat analogous to the others, but with several years time lag. Austerity measures in response to past excessive spending and depressed markets are being faced by Peru during 1977-79. If Peru is successful in this difficult effort, balanced growth in the context of a more market-oriented economy is likely toward the end of the decade.

One could argue that no such analogy can be justified between Peru on the one hand and Chile or Brazil on the other. Certainly the largely socialist objectives of the Peruvian revolution are in sharp contrast with the rhetoric of the Chilean economic team, most of whom boast of their "Chicago School" background. However, the reality lies somewhere in between, since in all of these countries, a large share of industry is state owned and unlikely to revert to private hands (even in "capitalist" Chile), and a complex set of government incentives/disincentives greatly influences decisions in the private sector. This factual similarity cuts across current rhetoric while at the same time acting as a limitation on integrating these countries into the highly market-oriented trading relationship that now prevails among the industrialized countries.

3. One result of economic success by these semi-industrialized and increasingly self-confident countries will be a continuing drift away from the G-77 bloc view on specific policy issues. From energy imports to foreign investment to trade in manufactures, the objectives of these countries cannot be met through the common positions espoused by the G-77. This does not mean a quick conversion to industrialized country status. Change will take place gradually and at the margins. Significant moves will be in bilateral linkages or limited size functional groupings rather than in the large and more political international forums.

This trend has already been apparent over the past couple of years, but the evolving realities of self-interest take time to gain acceptance and legitimacy in terms of government policy. Outwardly, these countries continue to participate as full members of the G-77, but privately, and in more limited functional forums, they are more and more bold in distinguishing their particular interests from the more general objectives of the G-77. In trade, these countries seek broad market access for manufactures, and are becoming more concerned about possible quota limitations in the shoe or textile sector than on gaining new but limited special preferences. (They are among the largest beneficiaries of existing tariff preferences, but further major gains are unlikely.) In the investment field, they seek more advanced technology, which they realize can only be obtained through a mutually acceptable participation by multinational corporations, rather than through restrictive international codes and sanctions. In the financial field, a good bank rating is the requirement, and G-77 objectives in the field of debt rescheduling can be damaging. As for aid and other highly concessionary resource transfers, this is more and more a fourth world problem.

The drift away from G-77 solidarity, however, does not automatically propel these countries into the OECD club of advanced industrialized countries. As noted above, government ownership and intervention are widespread and traditional statist pressures, supported by indigenous industry, labor and more left wing political groups, conflict with the international market disciplines that now prevail among the industrialized countries. Time appears to be gradually on the side of further opening of the national economies, particularly in Brazil and Argentina, but the process will be gradual and for the foreseeable future partial.

Finally, there is a political dimension in that the conservative military regimes in the ABC countries are uncomfortable with radical left leaders that are often the most vocal spokesmen in the G-77. Even Peru, an active leader of the G-77 in the early 70's, now has become muted as the more moderate current government puts primary emphasis on solving its economic problems. The most frequent line heard throughout these countries, but particularly in Brazil, with regard to the political configuration of North/South relations, is that there should be less emphasis on rigid groups on both sides, and a greater flexibility in approaching particular problems.

4. Security ties will steadily diversify away from the United States as a result of our arms transfer and human rights policies, on the one hand, and the development of an indigenous defense industry in Brazil and Argentina on the other. The military in these countries will remain friendly to the United States, but the intimacy and pervasive bonds of the past will gradually and greatly diminish.

UNCLASSIFIED

Ties over the past 30 years between US and Latin American military establishments have been unique in their intimacy. Most generals and colonels on the Latin American side have spent considerable time in the United States and, until recently, their forces were largely dependent on US armaments and doctrine.

This situation is now undergoing fundamental change, although the full impact will not be felt until the current junior and middle ranks of officers succeed to senior positions. Brazil was already developing its own arms industry, but the shift away from dependence on the United States has been accelerated throughout the continent as a result of our arms transfer and human rights policies. The uncertainty and delay in the US Government's response to new requests for armaments has had negative effect on the United States as a reliable supplier and ally. There is frustration and criticism from officers on both sides, largely on grounds that Latin American countries have maintained a relatively low level of defense expenditures and that they have been loyal allies against the communist threat.

The situation is most acute in the southern cone where Chile now and Argentina by September 1978 will be totally cut off from arms purchases, including replacement parts for their American built planes and ships. This could lead over the next year or so to a cannibalization of exisiting equipment (expensive and humiliating) and early attempts to make major purchases in Europe or elsewhere. Chile is now cut off politically from all major suppliers, but as current human rights violations decline, a European source may develop; moreover, Chile feels most vulnerable in security terms in view of the Peruvian arms buildup and the border dispute with Peru over Bolivian access to the sea that may reach a decisive point in 1979.

The Brazil situation is potentially less contentious (unless a complex legal question over human rights conditions for puchase of replacement parts for Brazilian F-5s reaches an impasse) but more inexorable. Brazil will gradually become highly self-sufficient in arms production, and a supplier to others in the region.

UNCLASSIFIED

The overall result will be a steady and major decline in US influence and leverage in South America and in the security field. We should be able to maintain close liaison and cooperation, based on common political objectives, but the considerable leverage we now have in the southern cone should not last more than a couple of years.

5. Local disputes and divergence of interests will prevent the emergence of a regional political bloc in the short term. However, the confluence of political and economic circumstances in these countries tends to strengthen and to promote closer economic and even military sales relationships within the region. Over the longer term, a more cohesive grouping of these semi-industrialized nations may emerge as a somewhat independent force in world politics.

There were concerns in early 1977 that the southern cone countries, in response to US policy on human rights, would coalesce into a more entrenched and anti-American bloc. This has not happened for several reasons: Brazil, the key to an effective counter-weight to the United States, has nothing to gain from associating itself in this way with the tainted regimes to the south, and prefers to pursue a more independent foreign policy course in its own right; the southern cone military regimes justify their repressive actions largely in terms of an international communist threat which makes it extremely difficult for them to turn away from the United States, no matter how hard we pressure them on human rights; and longstanding territorial disputes, rivalries, and a relatively low level of economic ties inhibit close political cooperation.

Over the next several years, however, a different form of regional cohesion may evolve which could be largely independent of the United States, but not anti-American. As the southern cone countries (and Brazil) moderate repressive police powers and move toward some form of representative government, they will become more acceptable in international forums and better able to play an independent international role. Brazil remains the key, and all signs are that the independence already achieved from the United States (in economic and military terms) will be directed in part to closer ties within the region. Unlike the long and ineffective attempt of Argentina, particularly under Peron, to become an independent force on the world scene (even while Brazil maintained a solid alignment with the United States), Brazil is now achieving this status, which will have major centrifugal effect on the countries to the south.

The result could be a loose regional grouping of semi-industrialized countries, with growing economic and security ties, pro-West in basic political orientation, but capable of highly independent action and substantial influence as a bridge between the industrialized and less developed groups.

The key to such an outcome is the evolution of the Brazil/Argentina relationship. Traditional rivalry and the Argentine obsession over gradual Brazilian hegemony in Paraguay, Uruguay and Bolivia, have long made any form of common cause remote. Recently, however, Argentina appears to be moving from a posture of antagonism to one of accommodation and even cooperation with its large neighbor to the north. In part this reflects a more self-confident (and self-critical) Argentine attitude, less prone to seek external causes for its internal shortcomings. It also indicates gradual acceptance of a less than equal power relationship with Brazil in some third countries, while correctly understanding that Brazil will never threaten to dominate Argentina itself. In any event, there is a growing number of guarded, vague, comments in both countries that a closer relationship is desirable. If the Argentine economy should achieve sustained growth, as anticipated, the basis for such closer ties will materialize.

6. Brazil, over the next several years, will steadily increase its power and influence, and become a counter-weight to the United States throughout South America (and in parts of the Carribbean). Brazil will be increasingly independent of the United States for its basic needs. A more balanced relationship with the United States will mean more frequent problems of conflicting interest, particularly in the trade field. Although the Brazilian role in world politics will remain ambiguous, it will gradually be drawn into a position of substantial influence, most importantly in black Africa.

A comprehensive analysis of Brazil is beyond the scope of this paper, but there seems to be no doubt that Brazil will continue on its path toward major power status. Questions were raised about Brazil's staying power in the wake of the oil crisis, but after three years of adjustment the external debt situation is under control and by next year the country should again be in position for sustained, fairly rapid expansion. The revised Brazilian economic strategy puts a premium on energy self-sufficiency and expanding export markets for manufactures, both sources for future cooperation as well as conflict with the United States.

The thrust of Brazil's policy toward the United States has been to end the long history of dependence and "automatic alliance" and achieve a more equal, independent status. This has been largely achieved: the share of Brazilian exports to the United States has declined steadily from 44% in 1960 to less than 20% today (smaller than the EC share); and the decision in September to terminate the remaining military agreements was symbolic of Brazil's independent security posture.

While rejecting the former relationship, however, Brazil remains ambiguous about its future role. It considers itself (and is) first among the semi-industrialized powers and therefore more and more estranged from a leadership role in the G-77. It is gradually extending its economic influence throughout South America (and is becoming the dominant presence in Bolivia, Paraguay and Uruguay to the south and Surinam to the north), but is not accepted as leader of the Latin American group in international forums. It is willing to be drawn into closer ties with black Africa (the tumultuous public reception for the recent visit of the Nigerian head of State was unprecedented), particularly in the former Portuguese colonies.

Brazil is, in fact, already a major regional power and a minor international power, and both roles will grow over time. Brazil has also achieved diversity in its geographic ties, the central fact that makes our relationship with Brazil greatly different from that with Mexico (and, by extension, most of South America from that of Central American/Carribbean).

Mexico, for at least a decade or two, will inevitably follow the Canadian path of preponderant dependence on the United States; Brazil, in contrast, is following more in the wake of Japan, with highly diverse geographic interests--plus an abundant supply of natural resources!

7. The overall result of these developments on the US position in this region over the next several years will be one of increasing popularity and decreasing influence.

The US human rights stand has increased our popularity greatly outside of government circles, and assuming moderate progress on human rights and some accommodation between the military and other political forces, we should be able to develop a relatively positive, albeit sometimes cool official relationship. In any event, the conservative sectors of the military have little choice other than outwardly good relations with us; a sharp rupture would leave them isolated internationally.

In contrast, US direct influence and leverage in these countries will steadily decline. Improved international standing on human rights (in effect, the result of a successful policy on our part) will reduce the political leverage in terms of moral authority we now have over the repressive regimes in these countries. Successful economic performance and the relatively low share of trade most of these countries have with the US (as a rough share of exports, Argentina 7%, Chile 10%, Brazil 20%, Peru 25%) will translate into even more limited economic leverage. Bilateral economic and security assistance have been almost totally phased out and are not likely to be reinstated in any significant way. US arms sales, particularly replacement parts for existing aircraft and vessels, will likely give us substantial leverage over Argentina and Chile during the next year or so. Looking ahead, however, these countries are diversifying purchases of military equipment away from the US to avoid a repeat of their current vulnerability.

UNCLASSIFIED

In sum, the longstanding relationship of great dependence on the United States has been eroding and this trend will continue. The considerable political and economic leverage we are currently bringing to bear against the southern cone countries in support of human rights objectives is hopefully a temporary phenomenon, after which the underlying trend will reassert itself more clearly. This does not mean a worsening relationship: the United States and the countries of South America share a wide range of political objectives and economic interests, and as the current governments move to liberalize the political process, our rapport with democratic elements will take on added substance. We will retain political influence through our moral authority, enhanced by our human rights stand, and American technology will remain the norm. There will be greater interplay, toward mutual interests, in multilateral forums. But the relationship will increasingly be in terms of shared interests and mutual accommodation rather than asymmetric dependence by these countries on the United States and corresponding preponderant leverage on our part.

III. US Policy Response

US immediate objectives in Brazil/southern cone center on nuclear non-proliferation and human rights. We have an elaborate strategy for each and critical decision points will likely be reached over the next 6 - 12 months in both cases (i.e., for non-proliferation, whether a multilateral/bilateral scenario can be agreed that will at least slow down the dissemination of dangerous technology; for human rights, in particular, if and when to make a significant positive response in the IFIs and for arms purchases to Argentina and/or Chile).

The medium term objective is to develop a revised broader relationship with these countries, based on the changing circumstances described in the previous section. The broader relationship would include the crucial elements of non-proliferation and human rights, but would also take account of other political, economic and security interests. This assessment concentrates on the medium term policy framework, but includes a number of shorter term measures that would support such a result.

UNCLASSIFIED

A medium term strategy for Brazil/southern cone will be determined predominantly by the course of relations between the United States and Brazil. Not only does Brazil's preponderant size entail proportionately greater US interests, but the character of the US relationship with the military-dominated government in Brasilia will have considerable fallout effect on the attitudes of the military regimes in the southern cone. Whatever rationale we might adopt to strengthen ties with Brazil will be treated as precedent by the other regimes "in transition" back to democratic government. Moreover, the more forceful US human rights policy in Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, and Paraguay limits our freedom of action with these countries in other areas of policy. In addition, our economic interests, which will become relatively more important over time, do not face the same array of problems, qualitatively as well as quantitatively, in the southern cone countries as they do in Brazil.

A policy framework for our relationship with these countries should be a combination of broad lines of policy applicable to the region as a whole and more detailed country strategies. The following section sets out such broad lines of policy. A detailed strategy is presented only for Brazil. A medium term strategy for Argentina, however, would take a similar form as that for Brazil, only attenuated in intensity and somewhat longer in time frame. Chile and Peru, in contrast, have a narrower set of national interests (for example, export concentration in a few commodities) and other special circumstances (an acute debt problem in Peru; the Chile/Peru border dispute) that require more distinct country analysis. Such detailed analysis is not attempted here, but it would not, in any event, lead to substantial change in the overall approach suggested for the region.

Suggested General Lines of Policy: Brazil/Southern Cone

(A) Political relationship: Official government-to-government relationships should be correct and open to full discussion of issues, as between sovereign governments with a long history of friendship. At the same time we should continue to be frank and reservedly cool, as appropriate, in expressing displeasure with human rights violations. We should insist on maintaining dialogue with various elements in society, including opposition groups, but would do this in a way that avoids charges of interferences in the internal affairs of these countries. It would be both wrong in principle and counterproductive in practice to become involved in internal politics in the ways we have in the past, with all the recrimination and suspicion that this has engendered.

UNCLASSIFIED

(B) Human Rights - We should continue to pressure these countries, as elaborated in PRM 28, with special effort to develop a more effective monitoring role for the UN and the IAHRC. Specific objectives as well as punitive acts on our part should remain concentrated in category I violations of the person, with transition to a more democratic structure of government (category III) dealt with in general terms, primarily through the moral suasion of our public statements and the level and intensity of official contacts. This distinction is not only to avoid unwarranted intrusion in the complicated internal political evolution of these countries, but because there is a much stronger indirect pressure on category III objectives (democratic processes) through progress in category I (violations of the person) in Latin America than in other parts of the world (and particularly the communist states). In Brazil/southern cone, personal safety and protection of basic rights almost immediately lead to renewed pressure by politicians, journalists, students, priests, etc. for a return to popular government. This is already evident in Chile. We are better off putting maximum pressure on protection of the individual and then letting nature take its course without US Government intervention.

The most difficult and crucial decision likely to arise in the human rights field (probably during the next 6 - 12 months) will be if and when to make a significant positive response to Argentina and/or Chile. In terms of improvements to date, the Chilean record is far better, and a gradual trend toward public recognition of this will create pressure for an official positive response on our part. On the other hand, the Videla government faces greater obstacles, including continued terrorism, while the Pinochet regime has even less justification now than in the past for not ceasing its violations. The precise timing and tactics for such a decision cannot be judged at this point, although there appears to be merit in keeping the two countries more or less on the same plane. Looking ahead to 1978 in this regard, a critical decision for both countries is the embargo on all arms sales, including replacement parts. In current legislation, these countries (as well as Uruguay) are explicitly listed for unqualified embargo. If a major redrafting of the security assistance act takes place next spring, as anticipated, an important positive move might be to seek exclusion of such country designations and to treat the southern cone countries under the same human rights criteria as apply to other countries. If country embargos are rewritten into the law, it would likely force these countries into early and expensive arms purchases elsewhere, with long term negative impact on US security and political ties.

A final human rights question that frequently arises in these countries is whether we are not judging our long-standing friends in South America more harshly than other countries, particularly with regard to democratic processes (category III). The facts would appear to justify this charge (i.e. we will presumably keep pressure on the southern cone for a more free press and some form of popular, elective process, while our objectives at Belgrade are more modest). It would be better, therefore, to state frankly that we do set higher standards for countries with whom we have long been aligned and who profess Western ideals; in fact, an effective response to the threat of communist dictatorship can best be based on a truly democratic political structure, and not by a dictatorship of the military. In contrast, for violations of the person (which are the direct triggers to the sanctions we have imposed), we should follow, as far as possible, a consistent approach for all countries.

UNCLASSIFIED

(C) Economic Interests - By and large, our economic interests are receiving reasonably favorable treatment in these countries, and our basic approach has been to support economic strategies that reestablish equilibrium and an orderly growth path that includes a more open trade and investment relationship. One objective we should pursue forcefully is equal treatment compared with the other industrialized countries. Although evidence of outright discrimination is rare, Brazil, in particular, has long pursued a policy of "diversifying" its economic ties. The specific substance of such and objective has never been made clear, but if discriminatory practices have ever been justified in the past, they certainly are not justified now.

We should also note our concern that development strategies take appropriate account of the needs of the poorest within countries, but our resources to help out in this area of human rights (category II) are extremely limited in the ABC countries. We can set an example, however, in our aid programs in Peru, Bolivia, and Paraguay, and perhaps seek joint aid projects in these countries together with Brazil and Argentina on the donor side.

Investment relations are more a matter of political climate than national economic policy. If anything, overly generous investment incentives in Chile might entice US firms back into the extractive industries in a way that could cause a repeat of past expropriation disputes. This whole region (Peru and Bolivia, as well as Chile) is ripe for initiatives to combine private capital, host country and some World Bank participation for the extractive industries that avoid the political problems of the past. We are working toward this end, but perhaps without sufficient priority and zeal.

Finally, we need to continue our discussions in multilateral forums, from Law of the Sea to the MTN to the Common Fund. Reports vary as to whether our human rights policy has a negative tradeoff in terms of cooperation by Brazil/southern cone countries in such forums, but it would appear that any such negative effect is relatively small and is a price we should be willing to pay in pursuit of our human rights objectives.

(D) Security Ties - Current US security objectives in this region are modest in scope: maintain close contacts with national services, deny bases and access to adversaries, particularly the Soviets, and seek to avoid regional arms buildups and armed conflict.

As described earlier, our direct links and leverage have been greatly reduced by our policy to limit arms sales, phase-out of the MAAGs and, in the southern cone, severe restrains or prohibitions in the security field in pursuit of human rights objectives. It is assumed here that these policy objectives override corresponding loss in direct influence from earlier security ties.

Looking ahead, however, there is a need to develop a revised framework for the more modest level of contacts that will prevail. By its nature, it will be more political and less technical. The major components that need to be considered are:

(1) Clearer guidelines for arms sales. Even abstracting from human rights leverage, the uncertainty and delay of all decisions on arms sales are an unnecessary irritant. Hopefully some more expeditious if not semi-automatic decision process for non-sophisticated weapons can be developed, particularly for those Latin American countries where defense expenditure is below a given minimal level of GNP.

(2) An updated training and exchange program (IMET) - This is a key remaining resource, although diminished in amount as well. We should be more selective in the people we target as well as the kind of training we provide (or exchange). We probably should concentrate more on selecting the most promising younger officers and offering comprehensive training, including a broad view of US interests and ideals. This follows the French pattern, whereas our emphasis has been more on large group training for shorter periods of time. With the larger countries, particularly Brazil, the more these programs are reciprocal, the better.

(3) Integrated official liaison - The relative roles of the Defense Attache and the new Office of Defense Cooperation (ODC) are not fully clear, and will require a shaking down process over time. We may need to develop a more integrated approach for our various service-to-service linkages.

(4) A new start for US-Brazil security ties - The recent termination by Brazil of the US-Brazil military agreements can be rationalized in terms of obsolescence: the old agreements typified the former "dependent" relationship rather than a more balanced relationship in tune with Brazil's new status. This does not mean that Brazil will not want to continue some form of "special" relationship in the military field. However, in view of the unilateral termination of the old agreements by Brazil, it would be better for Brazil to take the initiative with respect to new forms of cooperation. For the time being we should concentrate on maintaining and enhancing service-to-service ties through the many individual linkages (often first in line at budget-cutting time). Later, some form of political chapeau might be developed, perhaps along the lines of the US-Canadian defense relationship.

The US/Brazil Relationship

Brazil is well on its way to being a highly self-sufficient industrialized country, a major regional power and substantial international power as well. The central US objective should be to bring Brazil gradually into the community of industrial democracies, taking on the responsibilities as well as the privileges of sharing the management of the world economy and polity.

From this premise, the basic policy choice for the United States is whether to hold back any initiative on our part and let the situation evolve further in Brazil (because the military is too oppressive or the economy not yet sufficiently advanced) or to actively seek to strengthen our relationship with Brazil toward the objective defined above.

The following is couched in terms of the latter, more activist option, as the means for describing more clearly the substance of policy involved; the basic political judgment on how fast and how far to proceed with Brazil is not addressed here, however, and more passive alternatives can easily be derived from this, in effect, maximum approach.

Basic policy orientation: primary emphasis on bilateral and informal groups: There is increasing use of the analogy between the situation of Japan in the early 50's and of Brazil in the late 70's, and Brazilians themselves are not inclined to oppose such comparison (as in the US-Brazil planning talks this October). There are in fact interesting parallels: Japan in the early 50's was a dual economy, with the rural half of its population poor and under-developed; domestic industry was fledgling (or "infant") and in need of protection; trade interests were shifting from preponderant dependence on the United States to broad geographic diversity; and it was widely accepted that Japan would soon be the dominant regional economic power.

Even accepting this analogy, however, the strategy for bringing Brazil gradually closer to the industrialized democracy grouping should be sharply different from that adopted for Japan. Our approach for Japan was to put the central emphasis on the multilateral institutions (GATT, IMF, OECD), and pressure Japan to accept the rules and to take on the full responsibilities of membership (i.e., drop special status in GATT and IMF; join as full member of the OECD). This is not feasible for Brazil over the next several years for the two principal reasons: (1) the current polarized North/South configuration in international bodies, and the continuing allegiance Brazil will have as a member of the developing country group; and (2) the declining relevance of the "rules" of these bodies for the economies of even the most advanced developing countries such as Brazil, and hence the declining significance of Brazil shifting official status. (For example, even if Brazil dropped its special developing country status in the GATT, the problems of export subsidies and other government incentives would probably still be addressed in bilateral or ad hoc negotiations rather than through juridical review of GATT articles.) A third, somewhat controversial reason for eschewing this route, is the desirability of playing down the "bloc" structure in international relations.

There are, of course, some positive acts that Brazil could or should undertake in these institutions, from specific trade concessions in the MTN to participation in some open-ended research projects in the OECD International Energy Agency, and we would of course continue to consult closely in the broader forums such as the UN and the OAS. But the primary focus for developing a strengthened US/Brazil relationship over the next several years should come in our bilateral structure and in small informal groups. Such informal groups could be formed within the framework of international institutions and would thus constitute the practical means for evolving a new economic order that responds to the great diversity of national interests. This is a much broader subject, but highly relevant to the future course of US relations with Brazil (and Argentina).

The substantive components of the evolving new relationship with Brazil should consist of agreed basic principles or concepts and a growing framework of fairly specific functional ties. In simplest form, the principles would constitute the foundation of a balanced relationship between friendly countries with broadly agreed common objectives, while the functional structure would permit us to negotiate and reach mutual accommodation on the growing range of specific issues where our interests coincide or conflict.

A. Mutually Agreed Principles: Statements of agreed principles can take various forms, from communiques and toasts during State visits, to summation of cabinet level discussion to more routine statements in other forums. Statements could be unilateral as long as they were sufficiently acceptable that the other side could not object. They could relate to ultimate objectives rather than the current state of affairs, but to be effective there should be some reasonable movement or implementation process toward the objective.

Repetition and elaboration of such statements over time would tend to strengthen the common conceptual base, as well as to give direction to activities at the technical level. The kinds of concepts that could usefully be promulgated at this time are:

(1) Support for our long tradition of democratic processes and the rule of law. (Obviously, Brazil will not be specific on human rights, as such, but it is difficult for Brazil to deny its long allegiance to Western political ideals, and a solid statement now could help Geisel or others trying to liberalize the current situation.)

(2) Agreement to develop economic relations on the basis of a liberal trading system and fair, equitable procedures on both sides. (This is the most general language, with the more precise targets a growing degree of reciprocity and avoidance of any form of discrimination against the United States in favor of Europe or Japan.)

(3) Recognition of the energy problem as central to both of our economies and the need to cooperate more closely. (This could lead to specific follow-on in terms of bilateral technical cooperation.)

(4) Recognition of the growing complexity of urban problems in an advanced industrial society and the need to work together more closely. (There are various activities, usually limited to OECD countries, where Brazil might join in without appearing to break ranks with the G-77.)

(5) Agreement on the need for larger powers to work together constructively to maintain peace and solve disputes. (Recently Brazil has been as much a problem as a help, as in the Middle East and Southern Africa, but over time continued close consultation might help convince Brazil that "constructive" large power behavior entails an even-handed approach rather than taking sides on the basis of narrowly defined self-interest, as Brazilians often do in what they call their "pragmatic" approach to foreign policy.)

(6) Agreement on the need to transfer technology and resources to the poorer countries, and to seek closer collaboration to that end. (Brazil could become a useful partner to the United States in regional aid efforts in South America, such as food and health problems in the upper Amazon, or various projects in parts of black Africa.)

B. A Growing Structure of Functional Relationships. There are already a large number of bilateral and multilateral efforts where Brazil and the United States are engaged on specific functional problems. The question is one of choosing priorities for increased effort where there is likelihood of significant results, rather than elaborating an exhaustive list of such entities. To this end, the following are just a few selected areas where a greater effort might be made:

(1) Energy cooperation. There is considerable potential here, not only for nuclear cooperation but in various other forms of energy: oil, hydro-power, coal technology, solar, gasohol, and geothermal. The Brazilian energy program to 1985 is almost as elaborate as ours, and the technicians feel that there is scope for substantial technical cooperation and joint efforts. Unfortunately, the non-proliferation issue has put the rest of energy cooperation on political ice. (Last March, we offered help on non-nuclear energy if Brazil would back off on its nuclear technology, a "carrot" the Brazilians promptly rejected.) Now, however, our multilateral/bilateral approach on non-proliferation, plus the growing problems and delays in the Brazil/FRG agreement, could provide an opening to broader efforts in the energy field. A first step would be to organize the bureaucracies up to the task. In the US Government, the foreign affairs establishment lacks the resources and expertise to organize such an effort, while the energy experts in DOE are unfamiliar and therefore reluctant to take initiative in international endeavors. A similar situation exists in Brazil.

There is a working group on energy within the scope of the MOU; and a meeting late this year could be a start for more ambitious linkages. What the group needs is leadership and political impulse.

(2) Overall Economic Strategy - Whereas the trade working group under the MOU has met a couple of times (and could be given a more ambitious mandate), the broader, more senior economic group has never met. Such a meeting, perhaps at ministerial level, would be useful in developing an agreed and consistent overall strategy. This would include not only the trade balance (where the standard Brazilian objective is bilateral balance with the United States), but other key elements, such as distribution of the aggregate oil deficit, the relationship of current and capital accounts, the growing protectionist threat, the workings of the Brazilian exchange rate/subsidy mechanism, and the state of health of the international banking sector. There may not be specific, early payoff to such talks, but the objective is to get Brazil focused more on the broader responsibilities of a major participant in the world trade and payments sytem.

(3) International financial cooperation - This is an area where Brazil is most reluctant. As a major borrower from private banks, she is most interested in avoiding constraints on her freedom of action with the banks, and minimizing any IMF role in Brazilian affairs. The United States, in contrast, has an interest in better organization and information about major borrowers as well as lenders, particularly since US banks are now the principal conduit for transferring petrodollars through the Eurodollar market to such countries as Brazil.

We have toyed with the idea of an inner financial group, including the largest borrowers such as Brazil and Mexico, but so far nothing has resulted (and the procedural problems in organizing such a "club" are formidable). The first step would probably be for the IMF or home countries of the banks (i.e. the United States) to seek more complete accounting procedures from the banks and to establish some norms for bank lending. Concurrently, the simplest procedural step vis-a-vis borrowers would be for the United States to seek regular consultations with the major borrowing countries, such as Brazil, Mexico and Peru. A more ambitious approach would be to include some monitoring role for the IMF over private bank lending to deficit countries.

An entirely different area of possible US-Brazil cooperation in the financial field would be in Central Bank swap arrangements. For example, Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia recently provided Peru with short term swap facilities to bridge the time until Peru completed its IMF standby. The US might cooperate or consider, as appropriate, joint participation with these stronger South American countries in their arrangements between Central Banks. (The opportunity may arise with Peru again next year.)

(4) Joint US-Brazil technical assistance/aid to poorer countries. This form of triangular aid projects exists in the Middle East and with India, and could offer significant potential with Brazil. Brazil's experience with tropical technologies and its regional links within South America and with Portuguese-speaking black Africa could complement US technology and financial resources. Projects could easily fit into a basic human needs set of objectives.

The foregoing is illustrative of an evolving US-Brazil relationship based on shared broad objectives and a growing network of practical, functional linkages. In addition, of course, there would be the many ongoing multilateral efforts, from Law of the Sea to the MTN to sugar and other commodity talks. The aggregate result, hopefully, is a more balanced and fully engaged partnership for pursuing mutual interests and resolving the growing number of instances, particularly in the economic field, of competing interests.

Dear Mr. President:

I want to thank you for your letter of September 16 and to express my pleasure that you were able to visit Washington to witness the signing of the Panama Canal Treaties. These Treaties will greatly strengthen relations among the nations of the Americas, and demonstrate our ability to resolve problems through frank discussion and negotiation as equals.

I also found it helpful to meet you personally to discuss issues of concern to both our governments. I gained a better understanding of your views, and hope that our meeting will stimulate further exchanges between our governments. You will have in Santiago Ambassador George Landau, who has my complete confidence. I urge you to speak with him as you would with me.

As I noted during our conversation, human rights considerations remain the major obstacle to restoration of the traditionally close relations between the United States and Chile. I earnestly hope such friendly and close relations can gradually be reestablished between our two countries. I am convinced, however, that there will be little change without increased evidence that your government is taking steps to safeguard and promote human rights and to restore to Chile the vigorous and open democratic tradition of which all Chileans have justly been proud.

I was particularly interested in your indication of willingness to receive two United Nations human rights observers, provided that they visit without publicity and meet privately with you before returning to the United Nations and making their report public. I have no intention of intervening in the affairs of your country, but I believe that the interests of Chile would best be served by such a visit and the subsequent submission to world opinion of an objective report concerning the human rights situation in Chile. I was pleased with the peaceful outcome of the demonstration by the Chilean women at ECLA headquarters, and hope that you will be able to

Augusto Pinochet Ugarte,
President of the Republic of Chile, cooperate with the United Nations Secretary General on this matter. I will follow the course of your government's discussions with the United Nations on both matters with great interest.
Santiago.

In this regard, let me mention the very important role played by the non-governmental human rights organizations, and my hope that they will continue to contribute to the advancement of human rights and my firm belief that they should retain their consultative status at the United Nations.

As you know, I had the opportunity to review Bolivia's desire for renewed sovereign access to the Pacific with Presidents Banzer and Morales Bermudez. I assured them, as I did you, of my government's support for negotiations to find a solution satisfactory to all three nations, and of our continued interest in the achievement of a peaceful settlement. I was pleased that you and they were subsequently able to take advantage of your joint presence in Washington to meet privately on this important subject.

Finally, let me repeat my profound interest in nuclear nonproliferation. You commented that Chile would be able to sign the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty and permit the Treaty of Tlatelolco to come into effect if Argentina were to do so. This would be a courageous and important decision. I discussed these same matters with President Videla, and urged him to take the remaining steps necessary to bring the Treaties into force. I expect that there may be some progress soon. We can all hope that Latin America, before too long, will become the first region in the world to bar nuclear weapons.

Sincerely,

/s/ Jimmy Carter

I address this appeal to all governments, to all Churches, to political parties and their leaders, and to all institutions in the world concerned with solidarity and the defense of human rights. To families all over the world, to all mothers, to all men of good will.

I do this urged by my grief as a mother, my responsibility as a grandmother and by the terrible anguish I feel faced with after the disappearance of my family over the past year. If I have not addressed public opinion before now, it was because of the hope of getting some result from the legal steps taken after the kidnapping and disappearance of all my children. In spite of following the classical means which in earlier days always produced an answer from the powers of justice this turned out to be a vain hope. The six writs of "habeas corpus" presented after the desappearance of my children had either no answer or a negative one. None of the attempts made in the Argentine Republic to obtain information as to their whereabouts bore any fruit.

On the 26th of July 1976, my youngest son was kidnapped together with his wife. Martin Belaustegui Herrera, who whould have been 20 years old the following day, and Maria Cristina Lopez Guerra, 21 years of age and two months pregnant, were coming home from work that afternoon. A group of fifteen armed men in civilian clothers were waiting for them concealed in the court of their house. Once they had caught the two young people, the so-called civilians blast the door with their machine-guns and pushed them inside. The neighbours were forbidden to open their doors or windows and, as usually happens in this type of action, terror prevented any reaction from them part. The people from the neighbourhood, thus frightenend, witnessed the kidnapping peeping t through their closed shutters. After a while spent inside the house, the two young people were seen to be shoved out and into a car with hoods over their heads. But this was not all: a few minutes later an army truck parked in front of the house and uniformed troops looted all its contents.

Neighbours cannot avoid weeping when they talk about this. "They were very young, good kids, hardworking. Why did they take them in this way? Why did they steal every thing from their house? If they did something wrong, why not take them to court? Why don't they say anything about it?". I, too, as a mother have asked myself why for over a year. All the steps we have taken since then have been useless, we have unable to obtain any information about the couple. If they are alive, where are they? If they have died... shouln't their bodies at least be given to their desperate parents?

On the 13th May 1977, at 7 p.m. my daughter's mother-in law received a call from a clinic in the city of San Antonio de Padua, Buenos Aires State, warning her that some civilians had left there a baby-girl, a year and a half old, with a note handing from her neck with the inscription "I am Valeria Belaustegui's daughter" and a phone number. She is the child of my daughter Valeria Belaustegui Herrera, 24 years of age, and her husband Ricardo Waiberg, 25 years of age. When baby's paternal grandmother arrived at the clinic she was informed by the staff, obvioully frightened about the whole case, that the baby was extremely upset and had been given sedatives and taken to the local police station. There she was handed over to her grandmother. The child suffers from a serious nervous condition. For several nights she woke up crying and calling her parents. We don't know what happened betweeb 5 p.m. when Valeria called the child's pediatrician to discuss a minor ailment, and 7 p.m., the time of the call from the clinic. All attempts at obtaining information concerning the whereabouts of my daughter and her husband have been unsuccessful. We don't know what happened to them, who kidnapped or arrested them, we don't know if they are alive or dead.

On the 30 th May of the current year, a Joint Armed Forces procedure took place in an apartment in downtown Buenos Aires. My son, Rafael José Belaustegui Herrera, 23 years old that very day, his wife Electra Irene Lareu, also 23, and their twenty month old son were staying there with some friends. The house-owner, my son and his wife were taken handcuffed, while the baby was left with the friend's wife. Once in the street my son managed to cry out: "Lareu, Belaustegui, we are being kidnapped". Maybe a goodwilled neighbour would dare to alert their families! The search for information about my son and his wife has been completely fruitless so far. Twenty days after this event, the baby's maternal grandparents received a call from a guardian on the staff of a children's institution belonging to the Ministry of Social Welfare, saying that the child had been left there and that they could pick him up. The child is later given to the care of his grandfather by a judge. The baby is anxious and nervous, sleeps poorly and is taking time to recover from his grief.

In less than one year a whole family has disappeared. Nobody has told me what they are accused of, or where they are. I don't know if they are sick, if they are being tortured, if they are alive or dead. If they are prisoners, I lnow that this horror of misinformation and doubts is one of the weapons employed by the government of my country in this so-called "war" in which the lists of arrested people are not made public. I'm not addressing the Argentinian authorities because all the steps I have taken in this direction have been absolutely useless.

I simply want, in my name and in the name of those two babies who have been separated from their parents, to ask those who are in a position to get in touch with or to influence the Argentinian Government to try, with all the means in their power, to find out from the military, civil or ecclesiastical authorities if my six children are alive or dead.

If they are alive, I ask those who hold them to inform me about it and about their condition. If they have died, I hope the strength and the forbearance to carry on, teaching my grandchildren lover for man and life, remembering the young and beautiful faces of my children, their capacity for love, their devotion to their own children, their generosity, their love for all.

I don't think I have the monopoly of pain in Argentina. I don't want you to interpret my words in this way. Maybe I have spoken as too sad a mother, but I also want to take upon myself the pain of all Argentinian mothers who are in the same circumstances. It is of utmost importance to ask the Argentina Government to publish the lists with the names of all those who have disappeared or been kidnapped, and the list of deaths.

By what right -as Christian men- have they become the inflictors, the administrators of so much pain? What is their idea of justice? Or do they think they will not have to account for the fate of 15.000 who have disappeared?

I believe that the time has come for all men with a sense of justice to ask for these lists of the men who govern the Argentine Republic.

I thank you for your attention and for any steps you take in order to alleviate our grief, our terrible uncertainty.

As an Argentinian, as a woman, as a mother, as a grandmother, thank you.

Matilde Herrera

1. IN A COURTESY CALL ON AMBASSADOR OF CHILE, MANUEL TRUCCO, YESTERDAY (OCTOBER 25TH), I USED THE OCCASION TO LEARN WHAT WAS HAPPENING IN THE G-77 REGIONAL GROUP OF LATIN AMERICAN STATES. BY ROTATION PROCEDURE, CHILE WAS SCHEDULED TO BECOME G-77 COORDINATOR, SUCCEEDING YUGOSLAVIA, AND CUBA WAS TO BECOME COORDINATOR OF THE REGIONAL GROUP. MEXICO, CUBA, VENEZUELA AND JAMAICA OPPOSED DESIGNATION OF CHILE FOR G-77 POSL. AFTER IMPASSIONED DISCUSSIONS, MEXICO AND CUBA PERSISTED IN OPPOSITION, STATING THAT CONSENSUS WITHIN THE GROUP REQUIRED UNANIMITY AND THEREBY VETOING THE DESIGNATION OF CHILE AS THE LATIN AMERICAN CANDIDATE POR THE POSITION OF G-77 COORDINATOR. IN RETALIATION, CHILE VETOED SELECTION OP CUBA AS REGIONAL COORDINATOR ALTHOUGH AMBASSADOR TRUCCO MADE CLEAR THAT CHILE WAS QUITE

PREPARED TO ACCEPT CUBA IN THIS ROLESBECAUSE IT INTERPRETS SUCH DESIGNATIONS AS PROCEDURAL ROLES RATHER THAN SUBSTANTIVE REFLECTIONS. THE IMPASSE CONTINUES AND AMBASSADOR TRUCCO INDICATED THAT HIS GOVERNMENT WILL NOT ACCEPT LESS THAN DESIGNATION AS G-77 COORDINATOR. FOR THE MOMENT YUGOSLAVIA CONTINUES IN THAT ROLE AND MAY WELL DO SO UNTIL THE END OF 1977, AT WHICH TIME THE AFRICAN NATIONS HAVE THE RIGHT TO DESIGNATE COORDINATOR.

2. TRUCCO AND I DISCUSSED AT LENGTH THE INTERNATIONAL CONCERNS REGARDING HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE. HE GAVE ME A

UNCLASSIFIED

COPY OF A MEMORANDUM DATED AUGUST 25TH, 1977 WHICH HE HAD GIEN TO THE GOVERNMENTS OF TEN EUROPEAN AND MIDDLE EAST COUNTRIES WHICH HE HAD VISITED IN AUGUST TO EXPLAIN CHILE'S POSITION. A COPY OF THE MEMORANDUM IS BEING AIR POUCHED. HE SAID THAT CHILE IS ANXIOUS TO HAVE THE INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS TAKE JURISDICTION OF THE INVESTIGATION INTO MISSING PERSONS. HE STATES THAT THERE IS SOME CONFUSION AS TO THE OFFICIAL NUMBER OF THOSE DESIGNATED AS MISSING SINCE THE ICRC LIST CONTAINS 893 NAMES BUT THE ARCHBISHOP OF SANTIAGO WAS QUOTED AS TELLING FELIPE GONZALEZ, A SPANISH SOCIALIST LEADER WHO RECENTLY VISITED CHILE, THAT THERE WERE APPROXIMATELY 500 MISSING.

3. AS AN INDICATION OF HIS COMMITMENT TO BRING IN AN OBJECTIVE INTERNATIONAL AGENCY, TRUCCO TOLD ME OF HIS EFFORTS WITH HIS PERSONAL FRIEND, SENATOR STONE OF FLORIDA, TO URGE THE AMERICAN RED CROSS TO TAKE A LEADERSHIP ROLE IN THE INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGATIONS OF TORTURE AND BRUTALITY. THIS EFFORT FAILED BECAUSE THE AMERICAN RED CROSS CLEARLY HAD NO JURISDICTION. HE BELIEVES THAT SOME OF THOSE DESIGNATED AS MISSING ARE RESIDENT IN [redacted]

OTHER COUNTRIES AND ALTHOUGH HE IS ACUTELY SENSITIVE TO ANY CHILEAN EFFORTS TO SEEK THE IDENTITY OF CITIZENS LIVING ABROAD, HE HOPES THAT ICRC, ICEM AND/OR UNHCR COUPD HELP IN IDENTIFYING CHILEANS ABROAD WHOSE NAMES ARE ON THE MISSING PERSONS LIST.

4. TRUCCO DESCRIBED AT LENGTH THE RECENT INCIDENT IN GENEA WHERE A CHILEAN STUDENT ACCUSED THE COUNSELOR OF THE CHILEAN EMBASSY OF HAVING TORTURED HIM DURING INCARCERATION IN 1973-74. TRUCCO DEMANDED A DIRECT CONFRONTATION BETWEEN THE ACCUSER AND THE ACCUSED. HIS DESCRIPTION OF THAT CONFRONTATION FAVORED THE INNOCENCE OF HIS COUNSELOR AND HE INDICATED THAT A LAW SUIT IS NOW BEING PLANNED IN GENEVA AGAINST THE GROUP THAT BROADCAST THESE CHARGES IN A RECENT PRESS CONFEJENCE.

5. ANOTHER COMMENT THAT MAY BE OF INTEREST WAS HIS REFLECTION THAT THE CREDIT TAKEN BY THE UNITED STATES IN WHAT IT BELIEVES TO BE ITS SUCCESSFUL PRESSURE CAUSING THE RELEASE OF PRISONERS IN CHILE IS COUNTERPRODUCTIVE. HE CITED THE EXAMPLE OF RESENTMENT WHEN SEVERAL PROMINENT PRISONEJS WERE RELEASED SEVERAL MONTHS AGO. THE RESULT WAS THAT GENERAL PINOCHET DELAYED HIS LIFTING OF THE STATE OF SIEGE LAWS RATHER THAN APPEAR TO BE REACTING TO WASHINGTON PRESSURES AS A RESULT OF HIS VISIT DURING THE SIGNING OF THE PANAMA CANAL TREATY. ACCORDING TO TRUCCO, GENEJAL PINOCHET'S ORIGINAL INTENTION HAD BEEN TO LIFT THE MARTIAL LAW PROVISIONS ON THE SEPTEMBER 11TH ANNIVERSARY.

Dr. Virgil T. DeVault
Secretary General
International College of Surgeons
1516 North Lake Shore Drive
Chicago, Ill. 60610

Dear Dr. DeVault:

This is to inform you of a matter which in my judgment merits the most serious consideration by the distinguished organization which you serve.

Dr. Jorge A. Taiana, a Vice President of the International College of Surgeons in 1950-52, 1960-62 and 1969-70, has been held prisoner by the military government of Argentina for the past 18 months. Dr. Taiana, Argentina's foremost surgeon, served as his country's Minister of Education in 1973-74. On April 5, 1976, shortly after the present military government took power by means of a coup d'etat, Dr. Taiana was arrested and imprisoned. He has remained incarcerated from that time to the present, and is clearly a political prisoner. But what is most outrageous about his case is the fact that the authorities have never charged him with any crime! He has had no opportunity to defend himself, because he does not know the specific (or even general) offense of which he has been accused. This seems to be as clear-cut a violation of human rights as could be imagined.

Dr. Taiana has been a Research Fellow in Surgery at Harvard under a Rockefeller Grant (1941-42), and has served as an assistant in surgery at the Massachusetts General Hospital, the Peter Bent Brigham and the New Deaconess Hospitals in Boston. He has made numerous trips to the United States to perform surgical services. In addition to his asso ciation with your organization, he is a member of the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Chest Physicians and the International Broncho-Esophagological Societ He belongs to academies and societies in Italy, Paraguay, Brazil, Spain, Mexico, France and Peru, as well as in his native Argentina. He has received decorations from the governments of Spain, France, Panama and Mexico. He has been Professor of Thoracic Surgery and Dean of the Faculty of Medical Sciences in Buenos Aires, and Rector of the University of Buenos Aires.

Though I have never met Dr. Taiana, I became interested in his case during a recent visit to Argentina. I feel that in addition to its obvious human-rights aspect, the continued imprisonment, without charges, of Dr. Taiana represents a deplorable waste of a human resource which could be serving mankind in Argentina or elsewhere.

I am bringing Dr. Taiana's plight to your attention in the hope that the Internation College of Surgeons might consider making some gesture on his behalf. The most effective step that could be taken at this point would be simply a letter to the U.S. Ambassador in Argentina expressing concern and asking that he look into the matter. Any communication should be sent to:

U.S. Ambassador to Argentina
A.P.O., N.Y. 09871

If I can supply you with any further information, please write to me, or call me at (202) 624-8379.

With thanks for your kind and prompt attention, I am

Sincerely yours,

Joseph A. Page

SUBJECT: DETENTION OF EPIFANIO MENDEZ FLEITAS AND SON

REF: (A) STATE 260863 (B) BA 8231

SUMMARY: MEMBERS OF PARAGUAYAN COLORADO EXILE COMMUNITY CALLED AT AMEMBASSY BUENOS AIRES TO DISCUSS DETENTION OF EPIFANIO MENDEZ AND HIS SON. SEVERAL VERSIONS OF WHY MENDEZ WAS DETAINED, VAGUE HOPES FOR HIS RELEASE, POLITICAL ASYLUM FOR MENDEZ AND HIS COLORADO PARTY FOLLOWERS AND THE POSSIBILITY OF MENDEZ' IMMIGRATION TO THE U.S. WERE DISCUSSED.

1. THREE MEMBERS OF THE PARAGUAYAN EXILE COLORADO PARTY YOUTH MOVEMENT, INCLUDING ANOTHER SON OF THE DETAINED LEADER EPIFANIO MENDEZ, CALLED ON EMBASSY POLITICAL OFFICER ON NOVEMBER 3. IN A LONG CONVERSATION WHICH SWITCHED BACK AND FORTH FROM OPTIMISM FLOWING FROM THE INTERNATIONAL PRESSURES BEING BROUGHT TO BEAR ON GOA TO EFFECT THE RELEASE OF MENDEZ AND HIS SON, EPIFANIO, TO SOMBER EVALUATION OF THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE COLORADO EXILE COMMUNITY CONTINUING TO LIVE IN ARGENTINA, THE FOLLOWING POINTS WERE RAISED:

2. DETENTION --

EPIFANIO MENDEZ FLEITAS SPOKE TO HIS DAUGHTER, THERESA FAITH, IN PALO ALTO, CALIF [redacted] ON OCT 31. MENDEZ INDICATED IN THECALL THAT HE WAS BEING DETAINED FOR INVESTIGATION OF SUPPOSED CONNECTIONS WITH THE ERP/PRT. THIS IS THE SAME REASON GIVEN IN THE SECOND ARMY'S FORMAL HABEAS CORPUS REPLY. IT IS AT VARIANCE WITH THE INFORMATION GENERAL SUAREZ MASON REPORTEDLY PROVIDED TO CNGRESSMAN PAUL MCCLOSKEY LAST WEEK THAT MENDEZ AND SON WERE BEING HELD IN RESISTENCIA, CHACO FOR COMMON CRIMES. B6

LOCAL COLORADO PARTY MILITANTS BELIEVE THAT THE ACTION AGAINST MENDEZ IS INSPIRED BY THE PARAGUAYAN GOVERNMENT WISH TO KEEP EPIFANIO MENDEZ "FROZEN" UNTIL AFTER THE UPCOMING PARAGUAYAN ELECTIONS WITH THE HELP OF THE ARGENTINE POLICE WHO THEY CLAIM ARE ENGAGED IN SMUGGLING JOINT OPERATIONS IN CHACO PROVINCE.

3. INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT --
THERE IS SUBSTANTIAL INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT BUILDING FOR THE RELEASE OF MENDEZ AND HIS SON. THE COLORADO EXILE GROUP IN BUENOS AIRES (WHICH CLAIMS 400 TO 600 MILITANTS) HAS CONTACTED THE EMBASSIES OF COLUMBIA, VENEZUELA, COSTA RICA AND MEXICO, TO SEEK DIPLOMATIC SUPPORT FOR THE RELEASE OF THEIR LEADER. THEY HAVE ALSO APPROACHED DR. DUTO OF THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSION FOR REFUGEES FOR HELP. FAMILY AND FRIENDS OUT-SIDEOF ARGENTINA HAVE CONTACTED THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION OF THE OAS AND THE UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS.

4. ASYLUM --
THIS SECOND DETENTION OF MENDEZ IN ARGENTINA IS CAUSING CONSIDERABLE APPREHENSION AMONG THE COLORADO EXILES IN BUENOS AIRES. THEY FEAR THAT UNLESS THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA WILL GUARANTEE MENDEZ' FUTURE SAFETY HERE, HE WILL BE FORCED TO SEEK POLITICAL ASYLUM OUTSIDE OF THE-COUNTRY.

[redacted]

B3N1

THE GROUP INDICATED THAT THEY HAVE RECEIVED A "TACIT PROMISE" FOR POLITICAL ASYLUM IN VENEZUELA FOR MENDEZ SHOULD THAT BE NEEDED. HOWEVER, THEIR REAL HOPE WAS THAT SOME SORT OF UNDERSTANDING COULD BE REACHED FOR MENDEZ' CONTINUED RESIDENCE IN ARGENTINA BECAUSE IF A MAN OF HIS STATURE IS FORCED OUT, THERE ARE NO GUARANTEES FOR THE ENTIRE EXILED COLORADO COMMUNITY IN THE COUNTRY. THEY ASSERTED THAT THERE WAS LIST OF OVER 200 LOCAL COLORADO RESIDENTS IDENTIFIED FOR ARREST SHOULD THE GOA DECIDE TO MOVE AGAINST THE GROUP.

5. RELEASE --
EMBOFF WAS UNABLE TO ELICIT ANY CONCRETE INFORMATION REGARDING A SCENARIO FOR MENDEZ FLEITAS AND HIS SON'S RELEASE FROM CHACO. THE COLORADO PARTY MEMBERS SEEMED OPTIMISTIC THAT THIS WOULD BE ACCOMPLISHED BY THE PRESSURES OF WORLD PUBLIC OPINION ON THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA.

6. DR. OSVALDO CHAVEZ, WHO DESCRIBED HIMSELF AS AN PARAGUAYAN AMBASSADOR TO THE U.S. AND OAS (DURING EISENHOWER ADMINISTRATION) PAID A SEPARATE CALL AT EMBASSY TO DISCUSS THE MENDEZ CASE. CHAVEZ STATED THAT IT WAS BY PURE COINCIDENCE THAT THE TRAFFIC ALTERCATION INVOLVING THE SON TOOK PLACE IN FRONT OF A HOTEL WHERE A VISITING PARAGUAYAN MILITARY DELEGATION WAS BEING LODGED. CHAVEZ SAID HE HAD NO FIRM INFORMATION AT THIS DISPOSAL WHICH COULD EXPLAIN THE MOTIVES OF THE ARGENTINE AUTHORITIES WHO DETAINED MENDEZ, NOR COULD HE CONFIRM THAT THE PARAGUAYAN GOVERNMENT WAS RESPONSIBLE.

HOWEVER, HIS LINE OF CONJECTURE WAS THATON LEARNING THERE WAS A TRAFFIC INCIDENT NEAR THEIR HOTEL INVOLVING A PARAGUAYAN NAMED EPIFANIO MENDEZ THE VISITING MILITARY IMMEDIATELY RECOGNIZED THE NAME, AND CONFUSING THE SON WITH THE FATHER, MAY HAVE PERSUADED THE ARGENTINES TO PICK UP MENDEZ SR. ON THE ALLEGATION HE WAS A SUBVERSIVE (WHICH CHAVEZ VEHEMENTELY DENIED). CHAVEZ SEEMED TO BELIEVE THAT THE PARAGUAYAN'S MOTIVE WAS TO HARASS AND INTIMIDATE MENDEZ ON ACCOUNT OF HIS PUBLIC STAND AGAINST THE STROESSNER REGIME AND THAT SOONER OR LATER HE WOULD BE RELEASEDBY THE ARGENTINES.

7. CHAVEZ INCIDENTALLY EXPRESSED INTEREST IN MAINTAINING CONTACT WITH EMBASSY. WOULD APPRECIATE ASUNCION'S COMMENTS.

8. EMBASSY COMMENT: MUCH OF THE COMMENTARY OF THE MEMBERS OF THE EXILE COMMUNITY APPEARS TO BE BASED ON SPECULATION AND WE DO NOT HAVE HARDER INFORMATION AS TO THE REASONS FOR THE MENDEZ DETENTIONS ORTHEIR PROSPECTS. CHAPLIN

BH01

COMISION ARGENTINA POR LOS DERECHOS HUMANOS (CADHU)
Washington, D.C. Information Bureau

PD - for trip - NB - also to include in briefing papers for use / particularly points in Jan. letter.

November 10th, 1977

Mr. Mark Schneider
Office of Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs
Department of State
Washington DC 20520

Dear Mr. Schneider:

In view of the Secretary of State's upcoming visit to Argentina, a representative number of human rights, religious, trade-union, and political organizations and personalities have joined together and written Secretary Vance on the human rights situation in that country. I am enclosing a copy of this letter.

In our letter we put forth four basic criteria to evaluate any changes in the Argentine situation. We hope these can be brought up during discussions in Buenos Aires later this month.

Our letter also requests that the Secretary deliver on our behalf a partial list of political prisoners and disappeared persons to the Argentine authorities. This list was compiled in the U.S. by the Argentine Information and Service Center from sources in Argentina and outside in the various committees functioning around the world. The list contains approximately half the total number of victims of the repression in Argentina.

This list will be circulated internationally for comparison with other sources and will be regularly updated. We expect to have more than 10,000 names before Christmas. We will make each new version available to your office for your reference.

We hope that the list and your own efforts might encourage the Argentine government to make public a complete list with the proper explanations on the status of those detained or missing.

If I can be of any further help, please do not hesitate to call me, cordially,

Gino Lofredo

De nuestra mayor consideración:

Nos dirigimos a Vd. en representación de cientos de madres de jóvenes que se los llama DESAPARECIDOS, los cuales fueron secuestrados por fuerzas de seguridad, de lo cual nadie se hace responsable por ello, ni se nos informan dónde están y qué ha sido de los mismos.

En nuestra incesante búsqueda de ayuda, solicitamos de Vd. la deferencia de permitirnos una entrevista, como fiel representante de un pais que goza de una absoluta democracia.

Agotadas ya todas las posibilidades ante las gestiones oficiales para poder averiguar sus respectivos paraderos y no pudiendo sobrellevar tan angustiosa situación, la que por demás resulta intolerable (en muchísimos casos hace más de un año que buscamos infructuosamente a nuestros hijos), es que deseamos esclarecer frente a Vd. algunos hechos.

Nos permitimos aclararle que somos única y exclusivamente MADRES que frente a nuestra Casa de Gobierno pedimos por la pronta aparición de los hijos que nos fueron arrebatados.

Jamás hemos exigido su libertad, solamente solicitamos que nos digan dónde están, que sean juzgados para aclarar qué delito han cometido (si lo hay), pero que cese esta tortura : física, que padecen ellos y la nuestra que ya ha destrozado nuestros corazones.

Por todo esto, confiamos en que nuestra esperanza no será defraudada ante el interés de los EE.UU. por apoyar los Derechos Humanos de la República Argentina.

Agradecemos anticipadamente la atención que pudiera dispensarnos al concedernos una breve entrevista.

Reciba nuestros respetos.

1.- All copies of the November 7 issue of the weekly newspaper Correo de la Semana (Circ. 5,000) were confiscated by executive order. The GOA said an analysis of the latest edition "makes clear the evident purpose of showing to the reading public a situation of chaos, uncertainty and incoherence in the face of facts which, even if they are real and true, are distorted by the publication." Another reason given for the action was "the harm done to the image of the Nation as such and the principle of authority."

of Cabinet Ministers in the Illia government caused the downfall of several of them. An ex-Navy Captain, he is an [redacted] ardent anti-communist with an equal dislike for extreme right wing nationalism.

3.- A government media official who saw the offending issue said the front page was a collage of local newspaper headlines about the recent strikes encircling a quotation from interior minister Harguindeguy saying "strikes are prohibited." The official added personally he would not have confiscated the issue "because it will only call attention to a publication that few read anyway and exaggerate its importance."

4.- The Buenos Aires Herald echoed the same sentiments in an editorial November 10. The paper concluded that: "Closing down Correo de la Semana for a while has done far more damage to Argentina's image than anything ever printed in it, while the knowledge that the government is unable to stand even mild and friendly criticism from a magazine that has consistently shown a constructive approach to the country's problems is scarcely likely to enhance the [redacted] principle of authority."

5.- Comment: Once again (see reftel) the government's action seems hasty and ill-considered. The labor crisis was substantially [redacted] over when Correo de la Semana appeared and the confiscation served no useful purpose other than to focus public attention on the newspaper and the government's continued efforts to intimidate the media.

SUBJECT: DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ALLARA MEETING WITH ASSISTANT SECRETARY TODMAN

1. ARGENTINE DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER GUALTER ALLARA, ACCOMPANIED BY AMBASSADOR AJA ESPIL AND MINISTERS JUAN CARLOS ARLIA AND MIGUEL ANGEL ESPECHE GIL CALLED ON ASSISTANT SECRETARY TODMAN ON NOVEMBER 4, 1977. AMBASSADOR CASTRO, DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY MCNEIL, COUNTRY DIRECTOR ZIMMERMANN AND DESK OFFICER BUMPUS ALSO ATTENDED.

2. AT ALLARA'S REQUEST, HE MET PRIVATELY WITH ASSISTANT SECRETARY TODMAN FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES BEFORE THE GENERAL CONVERSATION BEGAN. DURING THIS PRIVATE MEETING ALLARA ASKED FOR THE U. S. TO CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING POINTS TO BE TAKEN UP DURING THE SECRETARY'S VISIT:

A. A JOINT COMMUNIQUE: THE ARGENTINES RECOGNIZE THE U. S. GENERALLY DOES NOT FAVOR JOINT COMMUNIQUES BUT FEEL THE VISIT SHOULD BE HIGHLIGHTED BY A JOINT STATEMENT. IT SHOULD STRESS THE WILLINGNESS OF THE TWO COUNTRIES TO COOPERATE TO SOLVE COMMON PROBLEMS.

B. DISCUSSION ON TERRORISM: ALLARA POINTED OUT THAT THERE IS A GROWING WORLDWIDE CONSENSUS THAT TERRORISM IS A VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND THAT SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT IT NOW. WE SHOULD CONSIDER WAYS IN WHICH THE TWO QUESTIONS, HUMAN RIGHTS AND TERRORISM, CAN BE JOINTLY DISCUSSED.

C. CLARIFICATION OF U. S. POSITION ON IFIS AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN ARGENTINA: IN JUNE, THE U. S. ABSTAINED BUT EXPLAINED ITS VOTE ON AN ARGENTINE LOAN IN THE IBRD, STRESSING IMPROVEMENT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN ARGENTINA. YET, IN OCTOBER THE U. S. VOTED NO ON ARGENTINE IDB LOAN REQUEST IN THE FACE OF GREATER IMPROVEMENT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THIS IS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND; ARGENTINA WOULD LIKE US TO EXPLAIN OUR VIEWS AND INTENTIONS ON HUMAN RIGHTS. AMBASSADOR TODMAN EXPLAINED OUR CRITERIA OF VOTING YES ON LOANS FOR THE NEEDY, BUT WARNED THAT OTHER ARGENTINE LOANS IN THE IFIS COULD FACE PROBLEMS.

D. MILITARY SALES: MANY ARGENTINES FAVOR CONTINUING PURHASES OF U.S. MILITARY EQUIPMENT BUT THERE ARE OTHERS WHO ARE SERIOUSLY CONSIDERING PURCHASING MILITARY EQUIPMENT FROM OTHER SOURCES IF THE U. S. IS UNWILLING TO SUPPLY IT. THIS QUESTION IS CREATING DIVISIONS WITHIN THE ARGENTINE MILITARY, AND THEY WISH TO KNOW WHAT CRITERIA THE U. S. WILL APPLY TO MILITARY SALES TO ARGENTINA.

[redacted]

E. MALVINAS: ALLARA STATED THAT ARGENTINA WAS CONCERNED THAT AN INCIDENT COULD DEVELOP. THERE IS ANOTHER MEETING WITH THE BRITISH IN DECEMBER, AND THEY WANT US TO PUT PRESSURE ON THE U.K. TO NEGOTIATE IN GOOD FAITH AS THE U. S. DID WITH PANAMA ON THE CANAL.

3. DURING THE GENERAL DISCUSSION, THE PRINCIPLE TOPIC WAS THE SECRETARY'S VISIT AND THE ITEMS HE WOULD DISCUSS TO FONMIN MONTES AS A MESSAGE FROM SECRETARY VANCE.

3. RESPONDING TO GENERAL OBSERVATIONS THAT THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION CONTINUED TO BE CRITICAL, ESPECHE GIL, NORMALLY A TACITURN INDIVIDUAL, MADE A FORCEFUL AND ALMOST EMOTIONAL DENIAL THAT SITUATION HAD NOT IMPROVED. HE SAID THERE WERE MANY EVIDENCES OF IMPROVEMENT IN RESPONSE TO SPECIAL GOVERNMENT EFFORTS TOWARD THIS END. HE PARTICULARLY EMPHASIZED THE IMPORTANCE OF THE RIGHT OF OPTION, SAYING THAT IT WAS A SERIOUS AND GENEROUS MEASURE OF WHICH THIS GOVERNMENT WAS MOST PROUD. HE ASSERTED THAT IT WILL HAVE MAJOR RESULTS AND THAT CRITICISM OF THE MEASURE IS ENTIRELY UNFAIR BECAUSE ITS PROCEDURES HAVE NOT YET HAD EVEN THE MINIMUM TIME TO BE TESTED. WITH REGARD TO SERRAT HE RESPONDED THAT HE WAS FREE AND HOME NOW. WITH REGARD TO THE EXTRAJUDICIAL TREATMENT OF TIMERMAN, HE SAID THAT TIMERMAN WAS DEALT WITH UNDER A GENERAL INSTITUTIONAL REFORM MEASURE OF THE REVOLUTION AND HIS TREATMENT WAS NOT DISCRIMINATORY. HE WAS MOST EMPHATIC IN ASSERTING THAT THERE WAS NO ELEMENT OF RACISM IN THE TREATMENT ACCORDED TO TIMERMAN. (HE DID NOT ADDRESS THE QUESTION OF LACK OF PROGRESS ON DETAINEES. THE DEUTSCHES' DETENTION HAS NOW BEEN REGULARIZED BY PLACING THEM UNDER THE EXECUTIVE POWER, AND MENDEZ AND HIS SON WERE RELEASED YESTERDAY.) ESPECHE CONCLUDED THAT SECRETARY VANCE'S VISIT WOULD PROVIDE HIM AN OPPORTUNITY TO VERIFY THAT ARGENTINA HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY MOVING TOWARD NORMALITY.

4. NUCLEAR MATTERS:

[redacted]

IN MEETINGS ON SUNDAY AND MONDAY GREAT CARE WAS GIVEN TO DESCRIPTION OF WHICH ACTIONS WOULD BE ASSOCIATED WITH WHICH TECHNOLOGY AND/OR EXPORTS. THE MATTER OF A POSSIBLE MISUNDERSTANDING (PARA 6 REFTEL) WAS SCARCELY DISCUSSED. THE TWO-STAGE APPROACH WAS DESCRIBED IN DETAIL AND WRITTEN OUT BY THE ARGENTINES TO AVOID MISUNDERSTANDING. ESPECHE GIL INDICATED THAT GOA POSITION WOULD BE WORKED OUT WITH ARGENTINE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION AND WE UNDERSTAND THIS TO HAVE BEEN THE CASE.

5. IN RESPONDING TO PRESENTATION OF POINTS 6 THROUGH 8 OF REFTEL, ESPECHE EMPHASIZED THAT GOA HAD IN NO WAY ALTERED ITS DISPOSITION TO RATIFY TREATY OF TLATELOLCO, AND THAT WHILE THE TREATY HAD NOT YET BEEN SUBMITTED TO LEGISLATIVE ADVISORY COMMISSION FOR THE NECESSARY APPROVAL, GOA CONTINUED TO INTEND TO DO SO. WHEN PRESSED ON AGREEMENT ON FIRST STAGE (PARA 8), HE RETREATED TO GENERALITIES, SAYING THAT GOA HOPED TO HAVE WIDEST RANGING DISCUSSIONS DURING VISIT. WHEN ASKED IF GOA COULD BE DESCRIBED AS DECLINING TO AGREE TO STAGE ONE, HE SAID HE WOULD GIVE US VERBATIM TEXT OF GOA POSITION IN RESPONSE TO US PROPOSALS.

5. TEXT PROVIDED AS FOLLOWS:

BEGIN TEXT: THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA CONTINUES TO BE FULLY DISPOSED TO RATIFY THE TREATY OF TLATELOLCO. THERE IS NO CHANGE IN ITS POSITION. THE POINTS EXPRESSED BY PRESIDENT VIDELA TO PRESIDENT CARTER AND BY SUBSECRETARY ALLARA IN WASHINGTON TEN DAYS AGO CONTINUE VALID. IT IS PRECISELY THE ARGENTINE INTEREST THAT BOTH NUCLEAR TOPICS--THE TREATY AND NUCLEAR COOPERATION--BE DEALT WITH IN DEPTH DURING SECRETARY'S VISIT. END TEXT.

6. WHEN HE WAS PRESSED THAT ARGENTINE STATEMENT WAS NOT HIGHLY RESPONSIVE, ESPECHE REQUESTED

A REVIEW OF DETAILS OF STAGE ONE AND TWO, PARTICULARLY PARA 8. HE SAID THAT, NOT BEING AN EXPERT IN A TECHNICAL SUBJECT, HE WISHED TO BE ABSOLUTELY SURE THAT HIS PREVIOUS DESCRIPTION OF THE US POSITION WAS CLEAR. WHILE HE THOUGH IT HAD BEEN, HE REQUESTED THAT DCM DEFER TRANSMITTAL OF GOA POSITION UNTIL 2 P.M. WASHINGTON TIME TODAY SO THAT HE COULD RECHECK WITH INTERESTED AGENCIES TO ASSURE THAT QUOTED TEXT WAS PRECISE RESPONSE THEY WISHED TO MAKE TO US DEMARCHE.

COMMENT: AS IS CLEAR FROM OUR DISCUSSIONS WITH ESPECHE, MFA WANTS TO GIVE US IMPRESSION THAT GOA IS WELL-DISPOSED TO SIGNATURE OF TLATELOLCO TREATY AND THAT THERE ARE NO FORESEEABLE POLITICAL OR TECHNICAL PROBLEMS. IT IS ALSO EQUALLY CLEAR, HOWEVER, THAT THE MFA IS UNWILLING TO COMMIT ITSELF IN ADVANCE OF THE SECRETARY'S VISIT TO SPECIFIC STAGE ONE PROPOSAL OUTLINED REFTEL -- AN INDICATION THAT THE GOA DOES WANT SOME CONDITIONS SATISFIED OR CONCESSIONS FROM THE UNITED STATES IN RETURN FOR AGREEMENT TO INITIATE RATIFICATION PROCESS OF TLATELOLCO TREATY IN ARGENTINA. WITHOUT SPECIFICS, IT IS DIFFICULT TO JUDGE JUST HOW FAR

GOA IS WILLING TO GO TO MEET OUR CONDITIONS. ALL THE EVIDENCE UP UNTIL NOW SUGGESTS THAT MAIN ARGENTINE OBJECTIVE IN NUCLEAR FIELD IS TO OBTAIN

HEAVY WATER TECHNOLOGY SO THAT ARGENTINA CAN ACHIEVE A FULLY INDEPENDENT FUEL CYCLE. IN PRELIMINARY TALKS WITH U.S. OFFICIALS, THEY HAVE ALSO MADE IT CLEAR THAT THEY ARE UNWILLING TO PAY THE PRICE OF DEFERRING REPROCESSING. THE QUESTION REMAINS WHETHER THEY MIGHT BE WILLING TO PLAY THEIR MAIN ACCEPTABLE CARD -- RATIFICATION OF TLATELOLCO TREATY -- IN RETURN FOR THE LESS IMPORTANT OBJECTIVE OF OBTAINING AN ASSURED SUPPLY OF HEAVY WATER AND HEU FOR THEIR RESEARCH REACTORS. EVEN IF THE GOA AGREED TO STAGE ONE, THERE WOULD STILL BE A QUESTION AS TO WHETHER RATIFICATION WOULD BE APPROVED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ADVISORY COUNCIL, AN ORGANIZATION WHICH HAS HAD A HIGHLY NATIONALISTIC BENT AND WHICH HAS SHOWN ITSELF TO BE HIGHLY INDEPENDENT BY REJECTING THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH'S LEGISLATIVE PROPOSALS (IN THIS PARTICULAR CASE, PERHAPS WITH THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH'S OWN BLESSING). MOREOVER, THERE IS THE QUESTION WHETHER THE GOA IS WILLING TO WAIVE PROVISIONS OF ENTRY INTO FORCE OF THE TLATELOLCO TREATY. STORY REPORTED REF B SUGGESTS THAT SOME ARGENTINES (AND PROBABLY CNEA SOURCE OF THE STORY) BELIEVE THAT IT WILL BE DIFFICULT TO MEET THE CONDITIONS OF ENTRY INTO FORCE OF THE TREATY BECAUSE OF OPPOSITION FROM SUCH COUNTRIES AS THE SOVIET UNION AND CUBA AND THAT THEREFORE IT WILL BE A LONG TIME, IF EVER, BEFORE TREATY IS BINDING ON ARGENTINA.

2. INFORMATION IN REFTEL -- NAME AND PENAL INSTITUTION -- IS SUFFICIENT FOR IDENTIFYING PRISONERS.

3. FOREIGN OFFICE AND MINISTRY OF INTERIOR CAN IDENTIFY CASES OF INDIVIDUALS DETAINED UNDER PEN ON BASIS OF NAME ALONE AND WITH NAME AND CEDULA NUMBER THEY CAN LOCATE PERSONS IN ARGENTINE JAILS ON CRIMINAL CHARGES. HOWEVER, IN DISAPPEARANCE CASES FOWG AND MINISTRY OF INTERIOR MUST HAVE FULL INFORMATION TO CONDUCT COMPLETE INVESTIGATION -- I.E. NAME, CEDULA NUMBER, HOME ADDRESS, DATE AND PLACE OF DISAPPEARANCE AND IF AVAILABLE CIRCUMSTANCES AND IDENTIFICATION OF "ARRESTING OFFICIALS". THIS INFORMATION ALLOWS MINISTRY OF INTERIOR TO LODGE FORMAL INQUIRY WITH APPROPRIATE PROVINCIAL POLICE AND MILITARY AUTHORITIES.

SUBJECT: TIMERMAN LOSES ARGENTINE CIVIL RIGHTS

1. EX-LA OPINION EDITOR, JACOBO TIMERMAN, WAS PLACED UNDER THE "INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ACT" BY THE MILITARY JUNTA ON NOVEMBER 10. HIS INCLUSION UNDER THE ACT MEANS HE LOSES ALL CIVIL RIGHTS, THE USE OF PROPERTY AND OTHER ASSETS UNTIL LEGITIMATE OWNERSHIP IS ESTABLISHED, AND CAN BE HELD IN JAIL INDEFINITELY.

2. THE TIMERMAN FAMILY IS STUNNED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION. THEY LEARNED OF IT ONLY WHEN THEY READ THE MORNING PAPERS AND DO NOT KNOW HOW TO INTERPRET IT. TIMERMAN'S SON COMMENTED TO THE USIS PRESS OFFICER "WHY NOW AFTER SEVEN MONTHS? IT CAN'T BE ANYTHING BUT A VINDICTIVE ACTION." ONE FAMILY FRIEND VENTURED THE THEORY THAT THIS PAVES THE WAY FOR TIMERMAN'S RELEASE, BUT THE FAMILY IS NOW VERY PESSIMISTIC ON THAT SCORE.

3. IN A RELATED DEVELOPMENT, THE GOA ON NOVEMBER 8 CREATED A "NATIONAL COMMISSION OF PATRIMONIAL RESPONSIBILITY" (CONAREPA) TO INVESTIGATE AND RULE ON THE LEGITIMACY OF PROPERTY AND OTHER ASSETS HELD

SUBJECT: SERRAT RELEASED

REF: BUENOS AIRES 8488

AP REPORTED OSCAR SERRAT WAS RELEASED IN EARLY MORNING NOVEMBER 11 AND IS NOW SAFE AT HOME. AP PROVIDED USIS WITH DETAILS OF HIS DETENTION.

SERRAT WAS INTERCEPTED BY TWO MEN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES AS HE LEFT HOME NOVEMBER 10 FOR WORK. THEY BUNDLED HIM INTO A CAR WHERE HE WAS BLINDFOLDED AND HANDCUFFED. AFTER A ONE HOUR JOURNEY, HE WAS LED INTO AN UNDERGROUND ROOM, HOODED AND LEFT ALONE FOR APPROXIMATELY 2 HOURS. HE WAS THEN INTERROGATED ABOUT HIS RELATIONS WITH RODOLFO WALSH, A WELL-KNOWN LEFTIST ARGENTINE WRITER, AND ABOUT THE COMMUNIQUES SUBVERSIVE GROUPS OFTEN SEND TO THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS AGENCIES. AROUND 11 P.M. HE WAS PERMITTED TO CALL HIM HOME AND OFFICE. SHORTLY THEREAFTER HE WAS DRIVEN, STILL BLINDFOLDED, TO A SPOT NEAR HIS HOME AND RELEASED. SERRAT BELIEVES HE WAS HELD AT A MILITARY OR POLICE INSTALLATION JUST OUTSIDE THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

COMMENT: GIVEN THE NATURE OF SERRAT'S INTERROGATION,

Case Number: 200000044

IT APPEARS HIS DETENTION WAS A "NORMAL" ONE AND NOT INTENDED TO COINCIDE WITH AMBASSADOR CASTRO'S ARRIVAL TO EMBARRASS THE GOA (AS SOME SPECULATED) OR SPECIFICALLY TO INTIMIDATE THE MEDIA. AP BUREAU CHIEF BILL NICHOLSON THANKED THE EMBASSY FOR ITS QUICK, WHOLE-HEARTED SUPPORT AND EXPRESSED HIS CONVICTION THAT ONLY THE FAST, HIGH-LEVEL CAMPAIGN THAT WAS ORGANIZED ON SERRAT'S BEHALF MADE HIS RELEASE POSSIBLE.

SUBJECT: CNI'S FIRST QUARTER PERFORMANCE: GENERALLY IMPROVED, BUT SOME EXCEPTIONS

BEGIN CONFIDENTIAL

1. SUMMARY: THE CHILEAN NATIONAL INFORMATION CENTER'S (CNI) FIRST THREE MONTHS DEMONSTRATED, OVERALL, A CONTINUATION OF THE TREND TOWARD BETTER RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS BEGUN EARLY THIS YEAR BY ITS PREDECESSOR NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTORATE (DINA). CNI ACTIVELY SOUGHT INTELLIGENCE LEADS, BUT MOST OF THE SIXTY-ODD DETENTIONS BELIEVED RELATED TO ITS INVESTIGATIONS -- EVEN IF INITIALLY CARRIED OUT BY CNI -- WERE QUICKLY TURNED OVER TO PLAINCLOTHED POLICE FOR BOOKING. NONETHELESS, ENOUGH CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE AND ALLEGATIONS OF CNI EXCESSES HAVE CROPPED UP TO CONCLUDE THE CNI DID NOT ELIMINATE ALL ITS INHERITED MODUS OPERANDI. PERPETRATORS OF A RASH OF BOMBINGS AND CONTINUING BOMB THREATS HAVE NOT BEEN CLEARLY IDENTIFIED; SEVERAL CASES OF PROLONGED ILLEGAL DETENTION AND PRISONER ABUSE HAVE COME TO LIGHT; AND SEVERAL ALLEGATIONS OF CNI RESPONSIBILITY FOR BRIEF, ILLEGAL AND ROUGH DETENTIONS HAVE BEEN MADE. THE COMBINATION OF THESE REPORTS MAY HAVE GIVEN PRESIDENT PINOCHET AN ADDITIONAL INCENTIVE TO REMOVE DINA/CNI CHIEF MANUEL CONTRERAS. END SUMMARY.

2. BETTER OVERALL: WHEN THE GOC TRANSFORMED THE NOTORIOUS DINA INTO CNI IN MID-AUGUST, PRESIDENT PINOCHET TOLD INTERESTED OBSERVERS THAT THE CHANGE IN NAME SYMBOLIZED A MEANINGFUL CHANGE IN THE ORGANIZATION'S OPERATIONS. AND, INDEED, CNI GENERALLY CONTINUED THE PROCESS BEGUN IN JANUARY 1977 WHEN DINA SHARPLY CURTAILED ITS ILLEGAL OPERATIONS. WE REPORTED IN SANTIAGO 7064 THAT CARABINEROS CONDUCTED THE RAID ON A SANTIAGO NURSERY SCHOOL WHERE A GROUP WAS ARRESTED (OF THE GROUP A MILITARY COURT SUBSEQUENTLY LET THE MEN OUT ON PERSONAL COGNIZANCE WHILE KEEPING THE WOMEN INCARCERATED -- A VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY SOURCE SAYS THE MEN ARE INNOCENT BUT THAT THE LADIES WERE CAUGHT ACTIVELY OPPOSING THE GOC). CNI-INSPIRED INVESTIGATION IN CHILLAN (ALSO SEE BELOW) MOST OF THE 40 PERSONS SO FAR QUESTIONED WERE PICKED-UP BY PLAINCLOTHED POLICE OPERATING ON CNI INTELLIGENCE (ONLY SIX REMAIN IN CUSTODY). THE LEADERSHIP OF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PDC) TOLD EMBOFFS NOVEMBER 9 THAT THE LEVEL OF OVERT REPRESSION HAD DROPPED MARKEDLY AND CONTINUED AT A LOW LEVEL.

3. BEGIN SECRET NO FOREIGN. BOMBINGS: ATTRIBUTION UNCLEAR: THE REAL AUTHORS OF THE RASH OF BOMBINGS AND BOMB THREATS WHICH OCCURRED IN THE SANTIAGO AREA IN SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER HAVE YET TO BE IDENTIFIED. ALTHOUGH SOME MEMBERS OF MILITARY SECURITY SERVICES [ ] AND MAY KNOWLEDGEABLE OBSERVERS BELIEVE THAT A CNI UNIT IS THE MOST PROBABLE CULPRIT, THERE IS EVIDENCE THAT CNI LAUNCHED A MAJOR INVESTIGATION [ ] AND EVENTUALLY PRODUCED A REPORT BLAMING THE BOMBINGS ON THREE SEPARATE GROUPS: HARDCORE REVOLUTIONARY LEFTISTS (MIR) -- GIVEN CREDIT FOR THE FEW ALLEGEDLY POWERFUL EXPLOSIONS; CADRE DRWN FROM EX-ALLENDE COALITION PARTISANS -- FOR THE NOISE BOMBS; AND RIGHTIST FANATICS OF THE SUPPOSEDLY OUTLAWED "PATRIA Y LIBERTAD" ILK -- ALSO NOISE BOMBS AND BOMB THREATS [ ]

4. THE ALLEGED PREMATURE EXPLOSION (NOVEMBER 5) OF A DEVICE BEING [redacted]

ASSEMBLED BY TWO MEN IN A HOUSE CONTINING LEFTIST PROPAGANDA, COUNTERFEITING EQUIPMENT AND RUSSIAN ARMS MAY CONSTITUTE EVIDENCE OF MIR INVOLVEMENT IN THE BOMBINGS. ALSO, [ ] REPORTS A SHOOTOUT BETWEEN SECURITY FORCES AND ALLEGED MIRISTAS WHICH SUPPOSEDLY LEFT THREE DEAD AND ONE WOUNDED. AND GOC-OWNED "EL CRONISTA" REPORTS THAT A MIR FLYER TAKES CREDIT FOR THE BOMBINGS. ON THE OTHER HAND, NO [ ] SOURCES HAVE PINPONTED A LIKELY LEFTIST GROUP [ ] CITES MIRISTAS AS VIGOROUSLY DENYING RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE BOMBINGS WHILE ADMITTING THE REMOTE POSSIBILITY THAT A SPLINTER GROUP MIGHT HAVE DONE IT. A KNOWLEDGEABLE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY SOURCE HAS NO CONFIRMATION OF THE ALLEGED SHOOTOUT, BUT THIS SOURCE DOES NOT RULE OUT THE POSSIBILITY OF MIR, LEFT OR RIGHT CULPABILITY. (COMMENT: DESPITE SOME "EVIDENCE" TO THE CONTRARY, EMBASSY BELIEVES THAT CNI REMAINS A MAJOR SUSPECT. WHILE WE DO NOT DOUBT THAT THERE ARE SYMPATHIZERS OF THE MIR, THE UP AND THE RIGHT WHO MIGHT WANT TO SET OFF BOMBS, WE THINK THE POSSIBILITY OF ANY ONE OF THE THREE DOING SO WITHOUT WORD GETTING OUT IS LESS THAN LIKELY. THAT THREE SUCH GROUPS WOULD START OPERATING AT THE SAME TIME SEEMS QUITE UNLIKELY. [ ] REPORTING LINKED DINA TO THE NOISE BOMBS DETONATED IN MAY. IT SHOULD BE RECALLED THAT DINA APPEARED INTERESTED IN TYING THE VILLA MEXICO CAPER INTO THE BOMBINGS (THROUGH THE DISAPPEARED JAIME TRONCOSO - SANTIAGO 6222) AND THEREBY TO THE PDC, THE COMMUNISTS AND THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. THE PATTERN HERE IS REMINISCENT.) END SECRET NO FOREIGN

5. BEGIN CONFIDENTIAL. THE ROUGH STUFF: VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY SOURCES BELIEVE THAT CNI HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR AT LEAST THREE SERIOUS INCIDENTS OF PRISONER ABUSE: ONE IN CHILLAN AND TWO IN SANTIAGO. ALL INVOLVED PROLONGED DETENTION, SUBSTANTIAL PHYSICAL ABUSE AND DRUGGING. ACCORDING TO THE VICARIATE, SOME THREE WEEKS AGO TWO PERSONS ARRESTED IN CONCEPCION AND BROUGHT TO CHILLAN IN CONNECTION WITH THE MAJOR INVESTIGATION MENTIONED ABOVE WERE ABRUPTLY TOLD LATE ONE NIGHT THAT THEY WERE TO BE RELEASED ON BAIL. ALLEGEDLY THEY WERE PICKED UP AS THEY LEFT DETENTION AND NV AGAIN UNTIL SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 7. THEY REAPPEAREDAT WIDELY SEPARATED LOCATIONS ALONG THE TRUNK NORTH/SOUTH HIGHWAY, ONE SERIOUSLY DISORIENTED; BOTH APPEARED TO HAVE BEEN DRUGGED. THEY HAVE NOW RETURNED TO CONCEPCION. THE SECOND INCIDENT BEGAN TWO-THREE WEEKS AGO IN SANTIAGO. TWO YOUNG MEN WERE PICKED UP BY WHAT WITNESSES HAVE IDENTIFIED AS THE SAME VEHICLE. ONE IS STILL MISSING; THE OTHER APPEARED A FEW DAYS AGO APPARENTLY IN A DRUGGED CONDITION. MEANWHILE A TEENAGED FEMALE ACQUAINTANCE OF THE PAIR DISAPPEAREDUNDER MYSTERIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES LAST WEEK.

6. A RIGHTIST ACTIVIST, VICTOR FUENZALIDA, WAS SNATCHED DINA-STYLE OCTOBER 28. TWO DAYS LATERHE GROGGILY DROVE HIS CAR INTO A LAMPPOST MID-DAY ON A MAIN SUBURBAN THROUGHFARE. HE ALLEGED THAT HE HAD BEEN DRUGGED AND INTERROGATED BY PERSONS HE PUBLICLY SPECULATED MAY HAVE BEEN FROM THE LEFT. WE RULE OUT THE LEFT, BUT CONCEIVABLY SOME APOLITICAL MOTIVATION MAY HAVE BEEN INVOLVED (THE FUENZALIDAS ENJOY A RATHER UNSAVORY REPUTATION IN THE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS). HOWEVER,

7. CHRISTIAN PRECHT, DIRETOR OF THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY (PROTECT SOURCE AND FOLLOWING SUBSTANCE) TOLD EMBOFF OF A PARTICULARY HARROWING EXPERIENCE. SEVERAL WEEKS AGO A MAN ALLEGING TO BE FROM THE CNI TOLD PRECHT THAT HE FEARED FOR HIS LIFE AND WOULD TELL WHAT HE KNEW OF CNI OPERATIONS IN EXCHANGE FOR VICARIATE HELP IN FLEEING CHILE. PRECHT, NOTING THE MAN'S NERVOUSNESS AND FEARING ENTRAPMENT, HAD HIM DICTATE WHAT HE KNOW BEFORE TWO VICARIATE LAWYERS. THE MAN DID SHOW UP AT THE VICARIATE ONCE AGAIN -- APPARENTLY MORE FRIGHTENED THAN BEFORE. PRECHT WAS STARTING TO PROCESS HIS CASE WHEN HE READ THE THE MAN HAD BEEN FOUND SHOT REPEATEDLY AND KNIFED. BRUISES FROM HANDCUFFS WERE STILL VISIBLE. HE IS TAKING HIS TRANSCRIPT AND THE FULL STORY TO SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT EYZAGUIRRE.

EVEN IF CNI WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR ALL THE FOREGOING INCIDENTS, THE RATE AND SEVERITY WOULD STILL BE CONSIDERED LOW COMPARED WITH EARLIER PERIODS SINCE THE COUP. NONTHELESS, WIDESPREAD BELIEF THAT CNI HAS STAYED ILLEGALLY ACTIVE, AND COMPLAINTS FROM MILITARY AND CIVILIAN OPPONENTS OF CONTRERAS AND HIS METHODS, MUST HAVE PLAYED A PART IN PRESIDENT PINOCHET'S DECISION TO REMOVE MANUEL CONTRERAS. THE ARGENTINE JEWISH SITUATION: NEGATIVE DEVELOPMENTS OFFSET THE POSITIVE

Two negative trends have in significant measure offset positive developments affecting the Argentine Jewish community during the past year. The trends which concern us are: 1. The intimidation of Jewish community leaders and 2. Anti-Semitism within the security-panel system. In addition, there are other negative trends, affecting the entire Argentine nation, which pose a threat to the security of Argentine Jewry.

Negative Factors

Last week, the government announced that Jacobo Timerman, one of the most prominent members of the Jewish community, has been deprived of his civil rights and will be detained in prison indefinitely, without charges. His property has been placed in state custody. This most recent development came as a blow to those who believed that Timerman, the editor-publisher of La Opinion, would soon be released from prison because two courts had found no cause for his continued detention.

Seven months ago, Timerman was dragged from his home by a dozen heavily armed men in civilian clothing. Twenty-four hours later, in response to widespread and insistent inquiries, the government announced that he was being held prisoner; the "kidnapping" had been done by government agents. Initially, he was suspected of having links to the "Graiver case", and he was held for alleged subversion. After that allegation was dropped, he was held for alleged economic crimes. After a second court found insufficient basis for preferring charges, his wife, early this month, filed a petition for his release. The response of the government has been to make him a political prisoner.

The Timerman case has had a shattering effect upon the entire Jewish community. The Jewish masses have lost a champion and a voice. Under Timerman's direction, La Opinion, one of Buenos Aires leading dailies, did battle with Argentine anti-Semites and championed the cause of Zionism and Israel. Now, Timerman is silenced and humbled, and his paper is controlled and run by the army. That a world-famous journalist could be dealt with in this manner suggests to Jewish leaders that a similar fate could also be theirs, if they are too outspoken.

In June, Jacobo Kovadloff, the director of the Argentine office of the American Jewish Committee, received threatening phone calls warning him that "... if he does not leave the country the same thing that happened to Timerman will happen to him." A note delivered to his home warned, "Go away before it will be too late. We do not want Yankee or Jewish offices." Kovadloff fled the country, followed several days later by his wife and children. When officials of AJC subsequently closed the office, the Jewish community was the weaker.

A frontal attack on the leadership of the Jewish community occurred several months ago when agents kidnapped the adult son of Dr. Nehemias Resnizky, the President of D.A.I.A., the representative body of Argentine Jewry. First public mention of the kidnapping appeared in an anti-Semitic right-wing magazine, Cabildo, which said that Resnizky's father "would not be able to continue with his campaign denouncing anti-Semitism in the Argentine government." It took three days to secure his release, after which he left the country.

It is obvious that the Timerman, Kovadloff and Resnizky cases have had a chilling effect on Jewish leadership. Less apparent, but also disconcerting, is the fact that the kidnap and release of Resnizky has given rise to some resentment and suspicion within the Jewish community, where people have been heard to say, "He got his son out, why not mine?' Some have been heard to wonder aloud whether there was a quid pro quo for his release, thus spreading seeds of suspicion which tend to undermine the confidence of the community in its leadership, at the very moment of crisis when solidarity is most crucial.

A second cause for concern is the prevalence of anti-Semitism within the security-prison system. This is manifest when Jews are interrogated about communal affairs and bizarre issues such as the Protocols of the Elders of Zion and alleged Jewish plans to create a second Zionist state in Argentina, a calumny first disseminated in Argentina about four years ago in a tract called The Andinia Plan. We have reliable information that Jews are also being subjected to more cruel physical mistreatment than non-Jews who are picked up for investigation. Some who have been detained and interrogated by the Argentine security services have said that elements of Nazism are prevalent, including Nazi symbols and recordings of Nazi speeches and music. Given the prevailing climate of fear, little is said or done to bring this practice to an end.

POSITIVE DEVELOPMENTS

As the foregoing trends have emerged, there have also been some positive developments in matters affecting the Jewish community of Argentina. When the House of Representatives Subcommittee on International Organizations held hearings on Human Rights in Argentina in September, 1976, the Anti-Defamation League offered testimony on anti-Semitism in Argentina. At that time, we described an eighteen-month series of bombings of synagogues and Jewish communal buildings and other violent manifestations of anti-Semitism. We also reported on the proliferation of Nazi books, in Spanish translation, and other anti-Semitic propaganda.

Since October, 1976, there have been few bombings and the volume of Nazi literature has been reduced. Although the Nazi books are still available, successive government decrees ordered the seizure of some titles and closed several publishing houses that produced Nazi tracts. The government also imposed modest sanctions against the anti-Semitic magazine Cabildo, which used the "Graiver case" as a vehicle for branding the entire Argentine Jewish community as part of a Zionist-Marxist-Montonero plot against Argentina. The ban was effective for only two months, so the magazine is again free to foment anti-Jewish prejudice.

A very promising development occurred in mid-October when the government proposed the legal prohibition of anti-Semitism. The Executive asked the Legislative Advisory Committee to study a proposed law which provides prison sentences for incitement to acts of violence and/or any discriminatory actions against people because of their race, religion, ethnic origin or color. The new law, which has been proposed by the Ministry of Justice, is apparently in response to a request made early this year by leaders of the Jewish community.

Looking back upon the events of the past year it is apparent that the Argentine government is sensitive to the issue of anti-Semitism and has taken some measures to deal with the problem. Unfortunately, these measures have generally been late in coming and far less forceful than one would reasonably anticipate. The adoption of the proposed group libel law, which would impose severe penalties upon those inciting to or committing anti-Semitic acts, would be a major step forward, if the law were adopted and enforced in a meaningful way. The past record of government prompts a wait and see attitude.

The Argentine government has also endeavored to assure Jews, at home and abroad, that it is not anti-Semitic. High-level officials have met with delegations of D.A.I.A. to discuss their complaints about conditions which threaten the security of the Jewish community. Representatives of ADL were invited to meet with Argentine President Jorge Rafael Videla and Foreign Minister Oscar Antonio Montes when they visited the United States last month.

Despite the assurances we have received from government officials, the negative trends previously cited are sufficient to largely offset the positive developments. We must remain preoccupied by incidents which undermine Jewish leadership and the existence of anti-Semitism within the security system, an area which is largely beyond the reach of the law and public scrutiny.

GENERAL FACTORS

Any attempt to assess the security of Argentine Jewry must take into account not only those trends which are directed specifically against Jews as Jews, but must also include developments which affect Jews as part of the total Argentine population. Here too, there is ample cause for concern. The suspension of certain basic legal guarantees has created an environment in which the rights of Jews and non-Jews alike are being violated on a major scale.

During the past year, the ADL Latin American Affairs Department has been deluged by pleas for help coming from relatives and friends of Argentine citizens who have either disappeared or are being held for long periods of time without formal charges against them. There is no indication that Jews are being singled out for arrest, but the dimensions of the problem are so huge that hundreds of Jews are affected. Some estimates as to the total number of disappeared in Argentina range up to 20,000.

When requests for aid are received by ADL, we turn to representatives of the Argentine government, the U.S. State Department and other organizations concerned with the problem of political prisoners. Because the Argentine government has persisted in its policy of not acknowledging whom it is holding we have had little success in locating those who have disappeared. We have, however, had modest success in helping to secure the release of prisoners. In October, the Argentine Foreign Minister accepted from ADL a list of more than 100 names of people disappeared or in prison; we have had no response yet, though six weeks have elapsed.

The problem of disappeared persons is distant and anti-septic when reported in statistical form. The overwhelming majority of cases get no public attention, even when an entire family disappears. For example, in June, 1976, five members of the Tarnapolsky family were kidnapped. Blanca, age 52, is a distinguished psychologist, author and educator. Those taken with her were her husband Hugo, daughter Betina, son Sergio and his wife Laura. All are still disappeared.

The Deutsch family is the exception. When five members of the Deutsch family of Cordoba, Argentina were kidnapped on August 27, 1977, their relatives in the United States launched a massive effort to publicize their disappearance and generate pressures on the Argentine government to disclose where they were being held. Ten days after the kidnapping, the army announced that they were being held for investigation of alleged subversive links. The case was reported in the New York Times and by wire services in papers around the world. An unprecedented number of U.S. Senators and Congressmen inquired about the Deutsch family and President Carter personally discussed the case with President Videla in September. Last month, Mrs. Deutsch and two of her daughters were released from prison. However, the father and youngest daughter remain in jail, despite the publicity and the intervention of President Carter. Ironically, the family was jailed in error by low-level police officials looking for the Deutsch's son.

CONCLUSION

So long as the Argentine government, as a matter of policy, permits security agents dressed in civilian clothing to routinely kidnap individuals and hold them indefinitely without acknowledging that they are prisoners, the security of all Argentine citizens will be tenuous. Jews will be in greater peril because of the prevalence of anti-Semitic sentiment among members of the security services.

The military forces justified their seizure of power in March, 1976 by the need to prevent the disintegration of the social and economic structure of the country. Once in power, they waged an aggressive "dirty war" against subversion and imposed stringent economic controls designed to turn the economy around. Now, the economy has improved and the guerrillas have been largely defeated. President Videla has said that 80% of the guerrilla strength has been destroyed and expressed the belief that the guerrillas would be eliminated by Christmas. However, government agents continue apace their war against "the enemy". Having eliminated gun-toting guerrilla subversives, they are now seeking out those whose ideas are considered subversive. On November 2, a worker was shot down and killed as he spoke in a main street of Buenos Aires. The official army communique on the incident said that "a patrol of the legal forces surprised an activist inciting a work stoppage and trying to stop some workers from going to their jobs, and shot him down....The legal forces are carrying out their mission of guaranteeing the right to work..."

In schools, there is an active effort to identify subversives. Anybody over the age of 15 is considered a potential subversive, so students are subject to denunciation by teachers and teachers to denunciation by students and other teachers. A journalist of the Buenos Aires Herald, the most outspoken paper in Argentina today, wrote, "If the recommendation of some would-be schoolmasters to the nation are followed, Argentina will become a paradise for the busy-body, the nosy parker, the part-time spy, the informer.....The mood in Argentina today is of McCarthyism triumphant. If anyone, particularly anyone in a position of authority, wants to destroy somebody he simply points his finger at him and yells "Commie" or "Subversive" at the top of his voice. If he has intellectual pretensions, there are euphemisms like "dissociative". These double whammies can also be used with deadly effect to discredit institutions and humane attitudes."

The columnist concludes by saying that "the prevailing atmosphere is unhealthy and bodes ill for the future." In such environment, Jews are especially vulnerable.

SUBJECT: RECENT EXAMPLES OF CHILEAN MILITARY JUSTICE

1. SUMMARY: THREE CURRENT LEGAL ACTIONS EXEMPLIFY A BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS FLAW IN THE CONTINUED USE OF "TIME-OF-WAR" MILITARY COURTS WHOSE DECISIONS ARE APPEALABLE ONLY UP THE MILITARY CHAIN OF COMMAND. INSULATED FROM CIVILIAN JUDICIAL REVIEW, THE JUDGES APPEAR BENT OF DEFENDING THE MILITARY INSTITUTION THROUGH FACE SAVING RULINGS EVEN WHEN THEY MAY SYMPATHIZE WITH THE DEFENDANTS. END SUMMARY.

2. IN ARICA, A COURT MARTIAL OPERATING UNDER "TIME-OF-WAR" CONDITIONS CONVICTED EIGHT MEN FOR THEIR ROLE IN DISTRIBUTING AN ANTI-GOVERNMENT PAMPHLET IN MAY 1977. THE RING LEADER RECEIVED A FIVE YEAR SENTENCE. TWO OTHER COMMUNISTS, THREE YEARS, AND THE REST BETWEEN ONE AND TWO YEARS. THE DECISION IS BEING APPEALED UP THE CHAIN OF COMMAND WITHOUT MUCH EXPECTATION THAT IT WILL BE OVERTURNED OR THE SENTENCES REDUCED. ONE OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH'S VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY LAWYERS DEFENDED THE GROUP AND WAS QUOTED IN THE PRESS AS STATING THAT THE PROCEEDINGS WERE CONDUCTED ACCORDING TO THE LETTER OF THE LAW AND THAT SENTENCING WAS NOT UNDULY HARSH. CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC LEADERS TOLD US THAT THE CASE MARKS [redacted]

A NEW STAGE OF GOC REPRESSSION IN THAT THE DETERRENT EFFECT OF A FIVE YEAR PRISON SENTENCE FOR MERELY CIRCULATING A CRITICAL FLYER WILL BE IMMENSE. IT SHOULD BE NOTED, HOWEVER, THAT THE RINGLEADERS WERE REGARDED AS IMPORTANT COMMUNIST FIGURES IN THE SECURITY SENSITIVE ARICA AREA.

3. WE HAVE REPORTED PREVIOUSLY ON THE BIZARRE VILLA MEXICO CASE, INVOLVING THE MAY 1977 DETENTION OF A GROUP OF MEN FOR THE ALLEGED KIDNAP-TORTURE OF A YOUTH CALLED VELOSO. ALL BUT TWO OF THE DEFENDANTS WERE COMPLETELY

UNCLASSIFIED

LIBERATED AFTER VELOSO SWORE THAT HE HAD BEEN ABDUCTED BY DINA. A MILITARY COURT DROPPED TWELVE OF FIFTEEN CHARGES AGAINST THE REMAINING PAIR, BUT FINALLY CONVICTED THEM OF CONSPIRACY AND ARMS CONTROL VIOLATIONS. THE GOVERNMENT ASSERTED THAT EXPLOSIVES WERE FOUND IN THEIR HOMES. THEY WERE GIVEN A THREE YEAR SENTENCE, BUT IMMEDIATELY PLACED ON PAROLE. DEFENSE LAWYERS PRODUCED SIX WITNESSES TO PROVE NO EXPLOSIVES WERE FOUND IN THE DEFENDANTS' HOUSES. TESTIMONY BROUGHT OUT THAT THE PAIR CONFESSED UNDER DURESS (THEIR ACCOUNTS OF TORTURE AT THE HANDS OF DINA WERE PART OF THE RECORD). AND LAWYERS ARGUED THAT A TIME-OF-WAR COURT MARTIAL, GIVEN CONDITIONS IN CHILE, WAS TOTALLY UNJUSTIFIED. NEXT DAY GENERAL MOREL (SANTIAGO'S NEW ZONE COMMANDER) UPHELD THE CONVICTION AFTER A CURSORY REVIEW OF THE 700 PAGE COURT RECORD. IT WILL BE RECALLED THAT IN THE ORIGINAL CHARGES, FILED BY THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR AND DINA, THE PROSECUTION ASSERTED THAT THE VICARIATE, THROUGH THE CARDIJN FOUNDATION, WAS BEHIND THE "CONSPIRACY." CHURCH LAWYERS ARE NOT GOING TO LET THIS CASE DIE WITHOUT FURTHER APPEALS.

4. RELATED TO THE FOREGOING, A SECRET MILITARY COURT IS [redacted]

REPORTEDLY CONDUCTING AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT'S CHARGES THAT THE VILLA MEXICO GROUP HAD BEEN TORTURED WHILE IN DINA'S HANDS. COURT PRESIDENT EYZAGUIRRE BASED HIS CHARGE ON FIRST-HAND EXAMINATION OF THE MEN DURING A SURPRISE VISIT TO CUATRO ALAMOS JUNE 2. HE BACKED IT UP WITH A MEDICAL REPORT PREPARED BY THE DOCTOR HE BROUGHT ALONG. FACED WITH THIS INCONTROVERTIBLE EVIDENCE, THE MILITARY HAD LITTLE CHOICE BUT TO PROCEED TO LOOK INTO THE MATTER. VICARIATE LAWYERS LEARNED OF IT ONLY AFTER BEING TOLD THAT THE DEFENDANTS' ACCOUNTS OF TORTURE WILL CONTINUE TO PRESS FOR FURTHER INFORMATION.

5. COMMENT: A BASIC FLAW OF "TIME-OF-WAR" COURT MARTIALS STANDS OUT IN THESE CASES. INSTITUTIONAL LOYALTY REQUIRES SOME SORT OF FACE SAVING FINDING EVEN WHEN THE COURT SEEMS TO SYMPATHIZE WITH THE DEFENDANTS. UNLIKE "TIME-OF-PEACE" COURT MARTIALS (WHICH ENTAIL AUTOMATIC APPEAL TO A MIXED MILITARY/CIVILIAN COURT AND FROM THERE TO THE CIVILIAN SUPREME COURT) "WAR-TIME" RULES INSULATE THE MILITARY FROM CIVILIAN LEGAL REVIEW. CONTRARY TO THE EMBASSY'S UNDERSTANDING THAT THE GOC WOULD NOT RESORT TO "WAR-TIME RULES" UNDER THE LOWEST LEVEL OF STATE OF SIEGE ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 11, FIVE SUCH PROCESSES REPORTEDLY HAVE BEEN STARTED SINCE MID-SEPTEMBER.

6. THE VILLA MEXICO CAPER HAS, SINCE ITS BEGINNING, BEEN A MOST UNUSUAL CASE. WIDELY REPORTED IN THE MEDIA, NO OTHER CASE HAS SO CLEARLY DEMONSTRATED TO THE CHILEAN

The Honorable

Dear Cy:

As you may know, my office has been discussing with your human rights group a number of cases involving continued violation of human rights in Argentina. I appreciate the professional way in which they have responded to our requests.

I look forward to your forthcoming trip to Argentina as a key occasion for you to pursue our human rights interests. You have been asked by the Coalition for a New Foreign and Military Policy to intervene on behalf of thousands of innocent people who have been kidnapped, detained and tortured in that unfortunate country. I support that request, and hope that you will seize every occasion to remind the Argentine authorities of the profound humanitarian issues at stake. In any event, I urge you to meet separately and privately with democratic political and human rights leaders in Buenos Aires --- thereby demonstrating our commitment to restoration of democratic rule and respect of human rights in Argentina.

I would like to draw to your attention five specific cases which I believe merit special efforts during your trip and in follow-up action both here and in Buenos Aires. These are cases, Cy, in which the families have appealed to me personally, and Amnesty International and church groups (including confidentially the Vatican) have taken a direct interest.

First is the case of Marcelo Gelman and Claudia Garcia-Gelman, the son and daughter-in-law of the Argentine poet Juan Gelman, who is an active critic and opponent of President Videla. Like so many other terrible cases, they were kidnapped but are reliably confirmed to be detained without charge in Argentine prisons. There is simply no excuse to penalize the children for the actions of their father --- I need hardly add legitimate actions; indeed, after we had made strenuous efforts Gelman's daughter was released by the Argentines last year.

Second are the terrible cases of the disappearance of the three children, and their respective spouses, of Mrs. Matilde Herrera. In less than a year following July 1976, a whole family disappeared in Argentina. I enclose a copy of Mrs. Herrera's self-explanatory and heartbreaking appeal, on which she has sought my personal intervention.

Third is the case of Dagmar Ingrid Hagelin, of dual Swedish and Argentine citizenship, who was shot and abducted by military security forces last January in Buenos Aires. Despite representations by the Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of Sweden and despite President Videla's undertaking last August to clear up this case, Argentina has yet to supply any information as to the whereabouts of this 17-year-old girl. I have a personal appeal from her father for help, and I hope that you can assist in responding to his plea and that of his Government.

Fourth is the case of former President Hector Campora, who remains under asylum in the Mexican Embassy in Buenos Aires. I believe it would be a positive and easily achievable gesture for President Videla to permit Campora to leave the country in the near future.

Fifth is the case of Claudio and Irene Bermann. Professor Bermann, Director of the Neuropathic Institute of Cordoba, has been under detention without charges since April 1976. I have an appeal from his sister, Dr. Sylvia Bermann, who is in hiding from the authorities, and whose daughter Irene was kidnapped in November 1976 and allegedly tortored while under detention without charges. The previous July, two close colleagues of Dr. Bermann's at the Policlinic Finochietto, Drs. Raul Fuentes and Juan Carlos Risau, were kidnapped with no word since about their whereabouts.

I do not underestimate the difficulty of your resolving these and I am sure many other cases of serious concern. But I am hopeful that through persistent efforts, on our part and that of other Governments and non-governmental organizations, our interventions will help rescue at least some of these unfortunate human beings. Please feel free to mention my personal concern to President Videla if you believe this will help. For my part, I am prepared to appeal directly on these and other cases as soon as you can advise me of the nature and results of your efforts.

My thanks and best wishes on this difficult but important trip,

Sincerely,

Edward M. Kennedy

1. NOT MUCH IS AVAILABLE HERE BY WAY OF RECENT REPORTS ON THE CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS PICTURE. WE HAVE REVIEWED THE IAHRC THIRD REPORT ON CHILE

(FEBRUARY 1977); AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL'S MARCH 1977 SPECIAL REPORT ON MISSING CHILEANS, AND FREEDOM HOUSE'S 1977 MAP OF FREEDOM ISSUE. A LOCAL MEMBER OF THE ICJ KNOWS OF NOTHING RECENT FROM THAT SIDE; THE LAST SPECIAL ILO REPORT IS YEARS OUT OF DATE.

5. WE HAVE NOT HAD TIME TO REVIEW IN DEPTH THE NEW ALLANA REPORT (THE VICARIATE LOANED US A COPY NOVEMBER 14) BUT WE NOTE THAT THIS REPORT, AS ITS PRDECESSOR AND UNLIKE THE IAHRC REPORT, TAKES A CONSIDERABLY BROADER VIEW OF "HUMAN RIGHTS".

SIXTY-THREE OF SIXTY-SEVEN OUTSTANDING CASES RECEIVED REPLIES. Senator Alan Cranston
The Senate
Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Cranston,

It has come to my attention that the family of Miguel Hernan Ovalle Narvaez, a citizen of Chile, believes that the government of Chile has kidnapped him and are keeping him incommunicado, and possibly doing him bodily harm. An obvious victim of political repression, his case is deserving of our human rights attention.

Would you please do all in your power to learn the whereabouts of this political victim in Chile so that his family can be spared the unnecessary cruelty of his "disappearance."

Thank you for your prompt attention to this grave personal matter.

Sincerely,

According to press reports CORREO reprinted last week's offending first page (see reftel) and carried a letter to the editor that made "offensive remarks about armed forces officers".

"impatience with the press is understandable; but it is self-defeating. No government can be well-informed if it cannot count on an honest press. Intimidated newspapers never report what they should report nor say what they really think."

COMMENT: The GOA's action was taken by the Interior Ministry despite the recommendation of the Presidential Press Secretariat. It clearly illustrates a difference of opinion within the government on how to handle the press. So far the Interior Ministry has prevailed, to the annoyance of the Press Secretariat which must defend publically the Ministry's actions.

1. AP Bureau Chief Bill Nicholson was called to the Interior Ministry last night (November 14) where he had a 45 minute meeting alone with Interior Minister Harguindeguy. While Harguindeguy ostensibly saw Nicholson to inform him of the Ministry's efforts to locate Serrat, Nicholson feels the real reason was to warn him and the AP to be careful. Nicholson said the Minister seemed to know a lot about what went on at AP, "more than you would think".

2. Harguindeguy said AP reporter Serrat "got off easy" and when asked about a guarantee for Serrat's future safety he replied "if we felt we had the proof, we'd throw him in jail for eight years". He also implied that the same goes for Nicholson. At another point the Minister said "we know what you're doing here". When pressed for what he meant by that remark, he replied "You arranged an interview for Mrs. (Rodolfo) Walsh with Patt Derian". ~~To the best of our knowledge,~~ so what?

3. (Embassy Comment: To the best of our knowledge, Mrs. Derian did not meet Mrs. Walsh). However, Nicholson said that Mrs. Walsh visited the AP office two or three times and expressed an interest in meeting Mrs. Derian. When American correspondents met with Mrs. Derian at the PAO residence and she mentioned that one of the purposes of her visit was to meet with family members of disappeareds, Nicholson mentioned Mrs. Walsh's name, but said he didn't know how to get in touch with her. The ~~next~~ next day Mrs. Walsh appeared again at the AP office and Nicholson gave her the Embassy telephone number and said she could reach Mrs. Derian there. This was his only involvement.

4. "The Minister definitely tried to bully me" Nicholson told the USIS Press Officer. He said the atmosphere was tense and at times "tempers flared". He added that he would report the substance of this conversation to his New York editors today and had no objection to the Department transmitting the substance of this message to AP's Keith Fuller in New York.

5. Nicholson said he has no intention of leaving or changing AP's style of operation in the light of these developments.

SUBJECT: TIMERMAN WRITES EMBASSY OFFICER FROM JAIL

REF: BUENOS AIRES 8638

1. IN A HANDWRITTEN LETTER TO THE USIS PRESS OFFICER, EX-LA OPINION EDITOR JACOBO TIMERMAN PROPOSES THAT SECRETARY VANCE ASK PRESIDENT VIDELA TO LET HIM LEAVE THE COUNTRY ON THE SECRETARY'S PLANE. TIMERMAN SAYS THAT "CERTAINLY VIDELA COULDN'T REFUSE." THE LETTER WAS TAKEN (OR POSSIBLY SMUGGLED OUT) OF THE PRISON BY TIMERMAN'S SON HECTOR. THAT THE EMBASSY HAS RECEIVED THIS LETTER SHOULD BE CAREFULLY PROTECTED INFORMATION.

IF MR. VANCE PROPOSES TO PRESIDENT VIDELA THAT HE LET ME LEAVE THE COUNTRY ON THE SECRETARY OF STATE'S PLANE, THAT IS TO SAY THAT I GO WITH MR. VANCE, CERTAINLY VIDELA COULDN'T REFUSE. IMAGINE IT, IT, IT MEANS AN IMPORTANT TRIUMPH FOR THE CARTER ADMINISTRATION THAT WILL HAVE WORLD WIDE REPERCUSSIONS.

BESIDES, NO SERIOUS PROBLEMS EXIST. I WAS DECLARED INNOCENT BY THE MILITARY TRIBUNAL. I AM NOT SUBJECT TO ANY TRIBUNAL-CIVIL OR MILITARY-NOR DO PENDING ACCUSATIONS EXIST. I WAS INCLUDED IN THE INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ACT, BUT IT IS TO ESTABLISH THE LEGITIMACY OF MY PROPERTY, IT DOESN'T MEAN PRISON. THERE ONLY REMAINS THE PEN DECREE WHICH COMES UNDER VIDELA AND IT CAN BE SIGNED IN A FEW MINUTES. I BELIEVE THE MATTER IS NOT DIFFICULT. THANKS FOR EVERYTHING. UN ABRAZO, TIMERMAN. END QUOTE.

3. COMMENT: THE LETTER CLEARLY DEMONSTRATES THAT TIMERMAN HAS NOT LOST HIS SHARP MIND DURING HIS DETENTION. DESPITE HIS OPTIMISM, WE DO NOT BELIEVE THAT IT WOULD BE EASY, FEASIBLE OR EVEN POSSIBLE FOR PRESIDENT VIDELA TO AGREE TO RELEASE HIM. SUCH ACTION ON THE PART OF AN ARGENTINE PRESIDENT WOULD BE CONSIDERED AN IGNOMIOUS CAVING-IN TO THE AMERICANS, AND IT WOULD BE HIGHLY DANGEROUS POLITICALLY. IN ADDITION, TIMERMAN'S INTERPRETATION OF HIS STATUS UNDER THE ACT COULD BE WRONG.

1. BACKGROUND -----
THE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS TAKEN SO FAR IN THE TIMERMAN CASE HAVE COVERED A RANGE OF CHARGES:

-APRIL 23, 1977: MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR COMMUNIQUE

CHARGED TIMERMAN WITH ECONOMIC CRIMES.

-APRIL 28, 1977: PEN DECREE ISSUED BY MININT HARGUINDEGUY STATING THAT MR. TIMERMAN'S/WAS INCOMPATIBLE WITH THE PUBLIC SAFETY.

-LAT SPRING, 1977: ARMY ANNOUNCED THAT TIMERMAN WAS BEING INVESTIGATED BY SECOND SPECIAL MILITARY COURT FOR SUBVERSION AND LINKS WITH GRAVIER GROUP.

-SEPTEMBER, 1977: SECOND SPECIAL MILITARY COURT CLEARED TIMERMAN OF ANY INVOLVEMENT IN SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES.

-LATE OCTOBER, 1977: APPEALS COURT ASKED MININT FOR REASONS FOR TIMERMAN'S CONTINUED DETENTION.

-NOVEMBER 1, 1977: PRESS RELEASE ISSUED BY MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR ANNOUNCED THAT TIMERMAN HAD BEEN PLACED UNDER ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

2. TIMERMAN'S LEGAL SITUATION -----
FROM A LEGAL STANDPOINT, THE TIMERMAN CASE IS UNIQUE. SO FAR AS HIS LAWYER KNOWS, IT IS THE ONLY CASE OF THE THOUSANDS OF HABEAS CORPUS PETITIONS PENDING IN THE ARGENTINE COURTS IN WHICH THE PLANTIFF HAS BEEN FOUND NOT TO BE INVOLVED WITH SUBVERSION BY A COMPETENT MILITARY TRIBUNAL. IN ADDITION, ARGENTINE COURTS HAVE BEGUN TO CONSTITUTIONALLY LIMIT THE EXECUTIVE'S STATE OF SIEGE DETENTION POWERS. FOR EXAMPLE, AN ARGENTINE FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT LAST MONTH ORDERED THE IMMEDIATE RELEASE OF A SUGAR DEALER HELD UNDER EXECUTIVE DETENTION ON PURELY ECONOMIC CHARGES. EARLIER DECISIONS OF THE COURT OF APPEALS AND THE SUPREME COURT IN THE ZAMORANO CASE REAFFIRMED THE PRINCIPLE THAT THE EXECUTIVE'S [redacted]

STATE OF SIEGE DETENTION POWER IS NOT DISCRETIONARY, BUT MUST BE EXERCISED REASONABLY ON THE BASIS OF RELEVANT EVIDENCE AGAINST THE DETAINEE. ACCORDING TO TIMERMAN'S ATTORNEY, WITH THIS BACKGROUND, THERE WAS A SIGNIFICANT CHANCE THAT THE FEDERAL COURT OF APPEALS (THE MOST PROGRESSIVE COURT IN THE COUNTRY) WOULD HAVE ORDERED TIMERMAN'S RELEASE FROM EXECUTIVE DETENTION WITHIN THE NEXT SEVERAL WEEKS, AS THE GOVERNMENT COULD NOT

SUCCESSFULLY REPLY TO THE COURT'S INQUIRIES OF LATE OCTOBER ASKING FOR THE GOVERNMENT'S CHARGES AGAINST TIMERMAN. TIMERMAN'S LAWYER BELIEVES THAT TO AVOID A SERIOUES (AND PERHAPS LOSING) LEGAL CLASH, THE JUNTA DECIDED TO TAKE EXTREME ACTION AND PLACE HIM UNDER THE ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

3. ACT OF INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY ----
THE INSTITUTIONAL ACT IS VIEWED BY LIBERAL JURIS HERE AS A REVOLUTIONARY EQUIVALENT TO A COMMON LAW BILL OF PAINS AND PENALTIES WHICH THE JUNTA HAS ADOPTED UNDER ITS EMERGENCY POWERS TO PUNISH PERSONS SUPPOSED TO BE GUILTY OF SERIOUS CRIMES WITHOUT JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS. A SIMILAR ACT PASSED BY A PREVIOUS MILITARY GOVERNMENT WAS UPHELD BY THE ARGENTINE SUPREME COURT.

4. ARTICLE 1 OF THE ACT LISTS A NUMBER OF VAGUE PUNISHABLE ACTS SUCH AS TOLERANCE OR NEGLIEGENCE OF ADMINISTRATIVE CORRUPTION, FAILURE TO OBSERVE BASIC MORAL PRINCIPLES IN THE EXERCISE OF PUBLIC FUNCTIONS, SERIOUS NEGLIGENCE IN THE EXERCISE OF PUBLIC FUNCTIONS. ARTICLE 2 SETS FORTH PUNISHMENTS WHICH MAY BE APPLIED TO PERSONS FOUND BY THE JUNTA TO HAVE VIOLATED ARTICLE ONE, AMONG WHICH ARE THE LOSS OF POLITICAL RIGHTS, THE LOSS OF CITIZENSHIP AND/OR THE EXPULSION OF NATURLIZED CITIZENS, INTERMENT IN A PLACE DECIDED BY THE EXECUTIVE AND THE PROHIBITION AGAINST THE PERSON'S DISPOSING OF HIS GOODS UNTIL THEIR LEGITIMATE ACQUISITION HAS BEEN PROVISION.

[redacted]

5. THE JUNTA MUST CHOOSE WHICH OF THE ACT'S PENALTIES TO APPLY IN EACH CASE. DESPITE SPECULATION IN THE LOCAL PRESS, TIMERMAN HAS NOT BEEN INFORMED WHAT SPECIFIC ACTIONS THE JUNTA WILL TAKE. THE JUNTA TAILORS PENALTIES TO INDIVIDUALS CASES. FOR EXAMPLE, TWO OF THE 48 PERSONS UNDER THE ACT HAVE NOT BEEN DETAINED, ONLY THEIR GOODS HAVE BEEN EMBARGOED. RECENTLY THE JUNTA ESTABLISHED LEGAL PROCEDURES AND A BOARD TO LEGITIMIZE GOODS EMBARGOED UNDER THE INSTITUTIONAL ACT. HOWEVER, TO OUR KNOWLEDGE THERE IS NO TIME LIMIT OR REVIEW MECHANISM FOR THE OTHER CATEGORIES OF PUNISHMENT INCLUDED IN THE ACT (SUCH AS LOSS OF CIVIL RIGHTS).

6. USIS PRESS OFFICER HAS RECEIVED LETTER DATED NOVEMBER 15 FROM JACOBO TIMERMAN EXPRESSING OPINION THAT THE RECENT GOVERNMENT ACTION IS INTENDED ONLY TO PLACE AN EMBARGO ON HIS PROPERTY, BUT DOES NOT PRECLUDE HIS BEING PLACED AT LIBERTY. (SEE SEPTEL) UNTIL RECEIPT OF THIS LETTER, THE VIEW WE RECEIVED FROM THE TIMERMAN FAMILY WAS JUST THE OPPOSITE, I.E. THAT THE ACTION WAS DESIGNED TO CONTINUE HIS INCARCERATION INDEFINITELY. OUR REQUEST FOR AN EXPLANATION FROM THE FOREIGN MINISTRY SO FAR HAS BEEN MET WITH VAGUE, PRO FORMA ANSWERS THAT THE ACTION IS REASONABLE AND LEGITIMATE UNDER REVOLUTIONARY JUNTA PROCEDURES. WE ARE PRESSING THE MINISTRY FOR FURTHER CLARIFICATION.

7. WE UNDERSTAND THAT AN AIDE TO ADMIRAL MASSERA CONTACTED TIMERMAN FAMILY ON NOVEMBER 11 AND CLAIMED THAT ADMIRAL MASSERA HAD OPPOSED THE JUNTA'S TIMERMAN DECISION BUT HAD BEEN OUT-VOTED. WHETHER THIS IS ANYTHING MORE THAN A TYPICAL MASSERA PLOY, WE DO NOT KNOW.

1. FAMILY MEMBERS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF ARGENTINE CITIZENS BEING HELD BY EXECUTIVE (PEN) DECREE ARE INQUIRING AT EMBASSY AT RATE OF 10 TO 15 PER WEEK ABOUT POSSIBILITY OF PEN DETAINEES BEING ADMITTED INTO THE UNITED STATES IF, UNDER THE NEWLY INSTITUTED "RIGHT OF OPTION" PROCEDURES, THEY ARE RELEASED FROM PRISON AND PERMITTED TO LEAVE ARGENTINA. TO DATE, EMBASSY HAS RECEIVED INQUIRIES OF THIS KIND ON BEHALF OF 50 ARGENTINE DETAINEES.

2. AS DEPARTMENT IS AWARE, PETITIONS FOR RELEASE FROM DETENTION UNDER THE GOA'S LIMITED "RIGHT OF OPTION" PROGRAM MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY A CERTIFICATE FROM THE PROSPECTIVE RECEIVING COUNTRY'S EMBASSY STATING THAT THE APPLICANT WILL BE ADMITTED TO THAT COUNTRY IF HIS RELEASE FROM DETENTION IS APPROVED.

[redacted]

3. THE EMBASSY HAS THUS FAR ISSUED ONLY ONE SUCH CERTIFICATE --

Case Number: 200000044

THAT IN THE CASE OF [redacted] B3 N A

[redacted] IN THIS CASE, EMBASSY FELT IT COULD ISSUE A CERTIFICATE SINCE THERE WAS REASONABLE CERTAINTY THAT [redacted] WOULD QUALIFY FOR AN IMMIGRANT VISA AND WOULD BE ADMISSIBLE TO THE UNITED STATES.

4. THE ISSUE REMAINS, HOWEVER, AS TO HOW TO HANDLE THE OTHER PROSPECTIVE CASES (NOW NUMBERING 50) OF INCARCERATED ARGENTINE CITIZENS MOST OF WHOM WOULD NOT QUALIFY FOR PREFERENCE STATUS FOR IMMIGRANT VISAS. WHILE WE WISH TO BE AS FORTHCOMING AS POSSIBLE IN THE HANDLING OF THESE CASES, IN ABSENCE OF AUTHORIZATION FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO PROCESS ARGENTINE DETAINEES AS PAROLEES UNDER SECTION 212(D)(5), THERE APPEARS TO BE NO PRESENT ALTERNATIVE TO TREATING SUCH CASES AS APPLICANTS FOR IMMIGRANT VISAS. ACCORDINGLY, WE ARE PROVIDING THEM, THROUGH THEIR FAMILY OR REPRESENTATIVE, WITH THE PRELIMINARY QUESTIONING KEYED FOR DETERMINING CLASSIFICATION FOR IMMIGRANT VISA PURPOSES, AS WELL AS INFORMATION ABOUT THE LABOR CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENT, ETC.

5. EMBASSY ASSUMES THAT IN SEEKING APPROVAL FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL FOR AUTHORIZATION FOR 500 REFUGEES AND DETAINEES FROM LATIN AMERICA (REFERENCE B), THE DEPARTMENT ENVISAGES A PROGRAM UNDER WHICH SUCH REFUGEES AND DETAINEES WILL BE ADMITTED TO THE UNITED STATES IN PAROLE STATUS UNDER CRITERIA SIMILAR TO THOSE UNDER WHICH CHILEAN, URUGUAYAN AND BOLIVIAN REFUGEES IN ARGENTINA ARE NOW BEING PROCESSED, EXCEPT THAT THE TERM "REFUGEE" WOULD NOT APPLY TO ARGENTINES UNDER DETENTION.

Nov 18, 1977

To Whom it may concern,

I am writing this report in response to recent human and religious rights violations concerning "The International Society for Krishna Consciousness", the "Hare Krishna Movement", or "La Asociacion Internacional para la Conciencia de Krishna". This Society, founded originally by His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada, was started with the intention of giving freely, knowledge of spiritual life and at the same time fulfill one's social responsiblity. Of course, today the banner of inalienable human rights has grown in import, but the real inalienable rights are the rights of the soul, eternal rights. As of approximately 1 year the Argentine Government has prohibited the existence of our Society, which is simply interested in the spiritual welfare of the whole society. This should be considered an international crime in the eyes of the worlds' Gov'ts. I, myself, as of 3 days ago was put in jail simply for observing a wake for our beloved Spiritual Master, who, at the advanced age of 84 years, gloriously left this planet. This social policy is unbecoming of a civilized society, and, although their own constitution prohibits religious obstruction, and the freedoms therein, the gov't in Argentina persists in their persecutions of our members as if they were common criminals. Literally millions of people (especially in India), accept Krishna as God, and in literally 90% of all American Universities there are standing orders for all 60 volumes of our books. Unfortunately, these same books that have received great acclaim amongst learned scholars all over the world, here in Argentina, are treated as something against the morality of the people. In Argentina approximately $40,000.US worth of books have been confiscated by the gov't, the printing costs of which, have come from American funds.

We beg you to try and present this problem to the Argentine Government and try to make them understand this most basic of violations. The U.S. was started on the basis of these basic freedoms of religion, and it would be incorrect for it now to overlook these basic discrepancies. We are asking that the decreto that prohibited the liberty of our Society, be rescinded, and striken from the Argentine Law Books. One may rationalize that under martial law some restrictions must be taken, but why against an organization that has centers in every major American city, and is known for it's passivist philosophy? We again beg you to push this point and beg pardon for any inconvenience. I remain,

Yours truly,

John M. Gilbakian

Buenos Aires Noviembre 18 de 1977

De nuestra mayor consideración:

Nuestra preocupación por la seguridad, de nuestras hijas detenidas en el penal de Villa Devoto, nos obliga a escribir estas líneas: El día 2 de Noviembre ppdo. falleció en el penal una de las internas, se llamaba ALICIA PAIS, esta joven padecía de asma, sufrió muchos ataques y cuando sus compañeras pedían con su auxilio, eran sancionadas, y a la enferma no se le prestaba la atención necesaria que corresponde en estos casos, falleció sin tener la atención que merecia, la DOCTORA GONZALEZ que en ese momento se encontraba en el hospital, no quiso hacerse cargo de la enferma, no le prestó el auxilio necesario para salvar su vida, ALICIA PAIS, tenía esposo y deja dos hijitos.

Pasamos a las requisas: que a menudo se realizan en los diferentes pabellones; demás esta explicar el control que se nos hace a cada familiar que visita a la persona interna, además las visitas son en locutorios, los que cubiertos por grandes cristales impiden que tengamos algún contacto directo con los nuestros. ¿Es necesaria entonces la requisa que pretender hacerle a nuestras hijas?: Sabrán como es, en determinado momento, van las celadoras al pabellón y eligen un grupo de chicas al azhar, pretenden que las chicas elegidas se desnuden totalmente, a las que ellas se niegan como es natural. Los resultados son: Golpeadas por las celadoras una de las castigadoras es la celadora ESTELA MONTI, luego las internas arrastradas por los cabellos y a golpes son llevadas a las Celdas de Castigo, durante varios días son privadas de recreo comun, entrada exagerados alimentos y la visita de los padres, en estos últimos tiempos se limita la concesión que estamos teniendo 1 ó 2 visitas cada dos meses.

A demás ya viven tan atemorizadas, que si se sienten con necesidad de ir al odontologo, no lo hacen, pués en el trayecto de la celda al consultorio, reciben golpes e insultos por parte de los guardias. ¿ es esto justo?. Son innumerables los vejámenes que se producen a diario contra las detenidas, esperamos que este problema sea interpretado por gente de buena voluntad y se le de rápida solución .

Muy agradecidos , les saludamos muy atte

ALL LOCAL OBSERVERS AGREE THAT THERE IS A GREAT NEED FOR NCO ORGANIZATION INVOLVEMENT IF THE ARGENTINE RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM RESULTS IN THE RELEASE OF A SUBSTANTIAL PERCENTAGE OF THE ESTIMATED FOUR TO SIX THOUSAND POLITICAL PRISONERS BEING HELD BY GOA AUTHORITIES. THERE IS FURTHER AGREEMENT THAT BECAUSE OF THE POLITICAL SUBVERSIVE LABEL ATTACHED TO THE DETAINEES IT WILL BE DIFFICULT FOR ARGENTINE VOLAGS TO AID IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF THIS PROGRAM, THE GOA DOES NOT

2. ICEM HAS ALREADY APPROACHED THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR TO OFFER THEIR SERVICES. MININT UNDER SECRETARY PALACIOS REPLIED THAT THE GOA SAW NO NEED FOR INTERNATIONAL NCO ASSISTANCE IN THE RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM AS THE NUMBERS PRESENTLY INVOLVED WERE SO SMALL. (EMBASSY UNDERSTANDS THAT OVER 500 CERTIFICATES IN RIGHT OF OPTION CASES HAVE BEEN ISUED BY SPANISH AND ITALIAN EMBASSIES FOR PRISONERS WHO HAVE CLAIM TO DUAL NATIONALITY.) ICEM DIRECTOR, JOHN THOMAS, WILL BE VISITING ARGENTINA FROM DECEMBER 3 TO 8 TO HOLD FURTHER DISCUSSIONS WITH SENIOR FONOFF AND MININT OFFICIALS ON ICEM SERVICES.

3. ICRC LATIN AMERICAN DELEGATE NESSI TOLD EMBASSY OFFICERS ON NOVEMBER 15 THAT ALTHOUGH ICRC FAVORED RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM AS IT WOULD IMPROVE OVERCROWDED PRISON CONDITIONS, IT DID NOT SEE A ROLE FOR THE ICRC IN ITS ADMINISTRATION. NESSI SAID THAT THE ICRC HAD TAKEN THE SAME POSITION IN CHILE AND THAT RED CROSS WOULD NOT INVOLVE ITSELF IN A POLITICAL PRISONER RELEASE PROGRAM UNLESS THERE WAS NO OTHER ORGANIZATION AVAILABLE. HE STATED THAT ICEM WAS BOTH ABLE AND WILLING TO UNDERTAKE A COORDINATING AND ADMINISTRATIVE ROLE IN AN ARGENTINE DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM

HUMAN RIGHTS IN ARGENTINA

1. Detentions. Since March 24, 1976 practically in our country there are no detentions for political reasons, etc.
Our Constitution and laws are against them. But the actual terror in which our country is living is aginst it.

2. Disappearances. Daily in every parts of Argentina there are made operatives during which people disappeared.

b) Operativos Rastrillos y "Pinzas". Great zones are searched and people are detained and disappeare.

c) From the street,"bar", shops, cinema, etc. people are detained and pass to be disappeared.

d) Following all these, come the detentions because of notes find on the prisoners, and accusations taken by force.

e) Situation of Concentration Camps. (There are named some of the known concentration camps).

III. PROCEDURE FOR THE FAMILIES TO FIND THE MISSING PERSONS.
(Explain the different places they have to visit, all without obtaining any reply about the whereabouts of the disappearances.)

IV) Released people. Some are re-leased, but always they are told not to speak about the time they had been in prison.

V. Actual Situation in the Legal Jails. (As they say the conditions are very bad.)

VI. Option Right to Leave the Country. (Explain the faults of this Option Right.)

VII. Press Freedom and Human Rights in Argentina. (We have no posibility of publishing in the newspapers).

Nov. 18, 1977

Dear Mr. Schneider:

I have read with deep concern your letter of October 18, 1977 to President Carter which dealt with the cases of eight prisoners in Argentina who were arrested on November 10, 1974. Ms. Bova, of my staff, called Olga Talamante about it. As a result of the additional information on the case which Ms. Talamante was able to supply, we sent a cable to our Embassy in Buenos Aires noting that seven of the prisoners' jail sentences were due to end on November 10, 1977 and asking our Embassy to alert the Foreign Ministry of our government's interest and concern in these cases.

The Embassy informed us that it would be making a formal inquiry with the Foreign Ministry about these cases on November 11, the day after seven of them were to be released.

As you may know, I will be going to Argentina with the Secretary on November 20. While there, I will personally raise these cases with the Argentine officials. I will let you know of any information I receive upon my return to Washington.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Raul H. Castro
Ambassador
Embassy of the United States of America
Buenos Aires, Argentina

Dear Mr. Ambassador:

The Committee on Human Rights of the United States National Academy of Sciences was formed out of concern that the human condition is absolutely diminished by deprivations of basic rights whenever, wherever and to whomever they may occur. Our Committee feels a special sense of responsibility toward scientific colleagues, worldwide and we concentrate our limited resources on selected cases whose situation is particularly troublesome and well documented. In April 1977, the Committee spoke out on behalf of a number of individuals from Argentina, Uruguay and the USSR. (See enclosure)

In my capacity as chairman of the National Academy of Sciences Committee on Human Rights I am writing to urge that you actively seek the release of Miss Elena Sevilla, physicist, from Villa De Voto prison. I have been told that you are well aware of the facts in the case of Miss Sevilla. I understand that Cornell University has offered a tuition-free scholarship to pursue advanced training in physics and that arrangements have also been made for living expenses and other incidental costs. My letter is in support of the petition of Cornell University and reflects the deep concern of the scientific community in the United States of America as it has been reflected to me through members of the National Academy of Sciences.

Our committee, Mr. Ambassador, will deeply appreciate your personal attention to inquiries with the Argentine Government on behalf of Miss Sevilla and your helping to expedite a visa for her under provisions of humanitarian parole.

Sincerely yours,

Joint Communique

of the Argentina Republic and the United States

November 21, 1977

Buenos Aires, Argentina

1. The Secretary of State of the United States, Mr. Cyrus Vance, visited the City of Buenos Aires at the invitation extended by his Excellency, the President of Argentina, Lt. Gen. Jorge Rafael Videla, at his meeting in the City of Washington last September with his Excellency, the President of the United States, Mr. Jimmy Carter.

2. During the course of his visit Secretary Vance was received by Their Excellencies, the members of the Military Junta, Lt. Gen. Jorge Rafael Videla, President of the Nation and Commander in Chief of the Army, by Admiral Emilio Eduardo Massera, Commander in Chief of the Navy, and by Brig. Gen. Orlando Ramon Agosti, Commander in Chief of the Air Force, in separate meetings.

3. In the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Worship, the Foreign Minister, Vice Admiral Oscar Antonio Montes, held conversations with the Secretary of State; there also were working sessions in which members of the visiting delegation, the Argentine Foreign Ministry and other State Agencies participated.

4. During the course of these meetings there was an exchange of ideas with regard to the international situation, with special attention being paid to the role of Latin America in the world.

5. Both governments expressed their firm determination to promote a fruitful understanding between the two countries.

6. The Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Secretary of State exchanged views on important issues in the nuclear field. There was wide-ranging discussion of the evolution of international cooperation and existing problems in the field of transfer of nuclear technology in advancing the peaceful uses of nuclear energy, and of the shared interest in measures to prevent all forms of proliferation of nuclear weapons, including the bearing of these efforts on hemispheric security.

7. They discussed future cooperation in the peaceful uses of nuclear energy. They expressed their interest in increasing the present cooperation and enlarging the scope of their existing Agreement for Cooperation to include relevant teachnology and ways of meeting Argentina's heavy water needs as well as provision of fuel to be used in the research reactors that Argentina has proposed to export to Peru, recognizing Argentina's potential as a significant nuclear supplier on the same basis as other suppliers.

8. Each side expressed satisfaction at the recent launching of an International Fuel Cycle Evaluation, to which both plan to make significant contributions of scientific talent and effort. Confidence was expressed that this broadly-based international study would contribute to a better understanding of how nuclear energy needs can be met in ways that minimize the risk of proliferation of nuclear weapons.

9. The U.S. reiterated its commitment to continue efforts to halt the vertical proliferation of nuclear weapons. Secretary Vance noted recent encouraging developments in the SALT negotiations and in negotiations relating to a comprehensive test ban treaty.

10. Minister Montes declared the intention of his Government to ratify the Treaty for the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons in Latin America. Secretary Vance welcomed this Argentine announcement, noting that the United States had previously ratified Additional Protocol II to the Treaty. Secretary Vance declared the intention of his Government to ratify Additional Protocol I to that Treaty.

11. Minister Montes and Secretary Vance expressed joint support for the Treaty's goal of creating a zone forever free of nuclear weapons, and for the objective of bringing the Treaty and its protocols into full force for all of Latin America. They trust that all states whose actions are needed will promptly take the remaining steps to achieve this end.

12. The subject of human rights was dealt with at length. Both sides agreed that the protection and enhancement of human rights of all peoples is a major responsibility of all governments which adhere to the Universal Delcaration on Human Rights. They affirmed that respect for the integrity of the individual person and for the rule of law are essential for governments to be able to assure to their people the full enjoyment of their human rights.

13. There was also an evaluation of the impact caused by the latest outbreak of international terrorism in various parts of the world. Both parties firmly repudiated terrorist actions and agreed on the necessity of multilateral cooperation in this area.

14. They agreed to provide their full support, cooperation and endorsement of the important work of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights, noting the desirability of strengthening the Commission through the effective application of the resolutions approved by the O.A.S. General Assembly in Grenada. Both sides trust that international organizations will take into account, in making evaluations of human rights conditions, the influence which terrorism and social, economic and cultural injustice have on the full enjoyment of human rights in a country.

15. Taking into account the spirit which inspired the achievement of the Panama Canal Treaties, the two Parties expressed the hope that just solutions will be reached in other hemispheric questions. In the same spirit, both Parties view with satisfaction the continuation of negotiations aimed at a just resolution of the sovereignty dispute existing between Argentina and the United Kingdom.

16. Encouraged by the expansion in bilateral trade which has taken place in recent months the two parties affirmed their decision and commitment to achieve a broad and substantial increase in trade by both sides. The two parties expressed conviction that the meeting of the Mixed Commission which will take place early in 1983 will find means to achieve this objective. The Commission will also consider other subjects of cooperation in the bilateral as well as the multilateral field.

17. Considering that certain areas of this hemisphere have not yet achieved a satisfactory level of nutrition, the two Parties agreed to cooperate in studying and developing means of alleviating the situation through the transfer of knowledge and techniques for the production, processing and distribution of food to the affected areas. They agreed that officials of the two governments should meet soon to discuss useful forms of collaboration. In this way the two governments will work toward meeting human needs and improving the quality of life of the people of the world.

18. They agreed on the need for increasing cooperation between the two governments in curbing the illegal trafficking in narcotics and in improving drug rehabilitation programs. In so doing, they reaffirmed the Memorandum of Understanding of 1972 which relates to the interdiction of illegal trafficking in narcotics.

19. Finally, the parties reiterated the faith of both governments in the guiding principles under which both nations were founded and are sustained: Equality, justice, and full enjoyment of liberty.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

DATE: November 21, 1977

SUBJECT: Private Meeting Between The Secretary and Foreign Minister Montes

PARTICIPANTS: Argentina: Foreign Minister Oscar A. Montes
Mr. Magnacca (interpreting)
Mr. Ferrari (notetaker for the Foreign Minister)

US: The Secretary
Notes by: Neil A. Seidenman, Interpreter, OPR/LS

DISTRIBUTION: S, D, P, S/P, NSC, S/S, ARA, INR, HA

Secretary Vance told the Foreign Minister that he wished to obtain clarification on several matters in the human rights area of current concern to the United States: the Timerman case, the Deutsch family case, and right of option.

Foreign Minister Montes replied that, as promised, he would discuss these matters willingly, and disclose classified information to Secretary Vance for purposes of clarification. He went on to say that Timerman's case currently came under the Institutional Responsibility Act, which also covered cases such as Mrs. Peron and other members of her government, based on summary proceedings instituted in connection with charges of crimes against the national economy. The Timerman problem was that he was involved with the daily, Opinion, with financing supplied by Graiver. Timerman supplied the ideas and the staffing, Graiver provided the money. Graiver held a majority of stocks in the daily, and Timerman a minority. Graiver had left Argentina, as one also being sought under charges of economic crimes, and could not return to the country. However, Graiver died in an airplane crash, following which Timerman convened all the stockholders of the Opinion, and managed to buy up all of the Graiver stock. The present situation was that the Argentine government must have Timerman disclose the source of the money he used to buy out Graiver's stock, and to whom in the Graiver family the money went. All of the stock was now in Timerman's name.

Secretary Vance asked if Timerman was accused of economic crimes or violation of the economic laws. FM Montes said he was.

Secretary Vance said he was asking this in particular, because there was feeling on the part of the public concerned that Timerman was not actually charged with anything, and was being held arbitrarily.

Foreign Minister Montes replied that there was no formal charge against him, but that the foregoing was the current status of the case. There had also been allegations of torture, he said, conveyed to him by an American representative in Buenos Aires. He accordingly had met secretly with a representative of Timerman at the Ministry of Interior to ascertain whether there was any substance to the allegation of torture, and he was able to confirm that at no time had Timerman been subjected to torture, and that his physical condition was good.

Secretary Vance asked why no word of charges had been released to the public.

Foreign Minister Montes said it was in order to avoid maneuvering that could thwart the investigation into the source of the money involved, and to whom it was paid, whether or not the money had been properly or improperly acquired in the first place. Graiver and members of his family had connections with the terrorists. $17 million of Graiver money had been traced to an account with the Bank of Belgium containing $50 million that had been paid to the terrorists as ransom in the Born brothers kidnapping case.

Secretary Vance indicated that, as the problem was seen from the outside, since Timerman and the Deutsch people were Jewish, the impression had arisen that there was an anti-Semitic movement on the part of the Argentine government, a reflection of which was seen to be the seizure and holding of Timerman and the two members of the Deutsch family. For this reason, the United States hoped that Argentina would grant the right of option to these individuals so as to lay aside this problem and eliminate grounds for the accusation of anti-Semitism.

At this point in the conversation, a note was brought in to Foreign Minister Montes, who after reading it, informed Secretary Vance that Ambassador Smith wished to converse with him. Secretary Vance thanked him, but replied that he wished to continue the conversation on the matter at hand for as long as it might take them to achieve adequate clarification.

In reply to Secretary Vance's previous statement, Foreign Minster Montes said that the anti-Semitic image stemming from the Timerman and Deutsch cases had been conveyed to him on other occasions in conversations with American and local Jewish representatives. He had not been in a position to clarify the matter then to the extent he was attempting to do so with Secretary Vance, because of the confidential nature of some of the information involved. But in the case at hand, the Argentine government was practically acting on behalf of the interests of Graiver, a Jew, despite his having been linked to the terrorist organization. Regarding the Deutsches, the present situation had to do with Deutsch, Senior, and Deutsch, the daughter, who had come under the jurisdiction of the Executive proceedings, Second Court of Cordoba. As to right of option, Deutsch, Senior, was probably to be released by the Court, which had just initiated its inquiry upon receiving jurisdiction. His only act was to aid his son to flee the country to escape arrest for terrorist activities. On the basis of this act, it was unlikely that he would be prosecuted. In the case of the daughter, who like the son (now out of the country) had also been involved with the terrorists, she probably would be sentenced. This was the present status of the two Deutsches under custody.

Secretary Vance suggested that some additional action on the father's case would be highly significant for world public opinion, thus demonstrating prompt due process on the part of the Argentine authorities.

Foreign Minister Montes stated that the Court had only recently acquired jurisdiction, under the pertinent decree transferring the case from the Executive to the Court, and within a short period the magistrate would make the decision as to what information regarding the case should be released for publication and what should be withheld from the public for purposes of ongoing investigation.

Secretary Vance asked if the proceeding under the Court's jurisdiction was secret or in open court.

Foreign Minister Montes said the Court had just initiated the proceeding based on the investigative file received on the case from the III Army Command that had had original jurisdiction, and accordingly, the case had been entirely confidential heretofore. Now, once the magistrate has completed his examination of the Deutsch file, he would make the decision regarding the extent to which the case would be made public. But summary jurisdiction of the Court would proceed from information in the file developed by the III Army Command, as explained.

Secretary Vance stated that this, of course, was a domestic issue involving the responsibilities and prerogatives of the Argentine government. It was, therefore, as a friend that he wished to suggest that one problem in the perception of the situation in the eyes of the outside world was the secrecy in which the case was being handled. This was contrary to a sense of due process, which usually operated in terms of an open trial. This aspect was a large part of the problem. It was the problem with the detainees who were being held but had not yet been identified as having been charged with any offense. And it was associated with the problem with the list of people who had disappeared and could not be found. It could be assumed that some of the people involved had fled to the ranks of the terrorists or had gone underground, and thus, could not be accounted for by the authorities. But to hold individuals in custody without charges, and not to make public charges against individuals created a negative impression. Secretary Vance stressd that he raised the question as a friend of the Foreign Minister, who had asked him to be frank.

Foreign Minister Montes replied that he was grateful to the Secretary for his last remark, and asked that he take into account the fact that he, the Foreign Minister, was striving to have these matters clarified for his own purposes, and accordingly, had been engaging in daily contacts with the Ministry of Interior in order to clear up the matters of the list of disappearances and charges for offenses. This was indeed a conversation between friends, and he was not offended, he said, by their dwelling on a strictly internal matter, inasmuch as he realized that he was not being forced to explain, but rather only discussing a matter to be clarified between the two governments, which would benefit both countries.

Secretary Vance went on to make reference to another problem area: the question of Argentina's having ceased to allow the International Red Cross to visit the jails. There had been no visits permitted since April 1977, and this too was a subject that had raised misgivings.

Foreign Minister Montes said that he had recently met with representatives of the International Red Cross on two or three occasions, and as of three days before, "thanks to the Almighty," the problem appeared to be cleared up with the Ministry of Interior. As of the beginning of December, visits could be resumed. On the previous Thursday (November 17), the Red Cross representatives had met with him to thank him for his mediation and for the outcome of the matter. He, accordingly, trusted that there would be no further problem with the Red Cross.

Secretary Vance said that he considered this to be very positive, indeed. The Secretary then made reference to the right of option. He pointed out that on their visit to Washington in September, the Foreign Minister and President Videla had told him and President Carter that the right of option had been restored, and on the basis of that, the President and he had understood that prisoners would be free to avail themselves of the right of option. However, to date only about 20 cases had been reported in which the right of option had actually been exercised. He asked why it took so long for right of option actions to be completed, and inquired whether or not it would be possible to expand the process in terms of what he and President Carter had understood in Washington.

Foreign Minister Montes explained that under the right of option, any detainee could request the option of leaving the country. He could do this through legal counsel, through a member of his family, etc., in the form of a signed petition, the forms for which were readily available at all places of detention. The prisoner must sign the petition. As of the time, it was true that only 17 signed petitions had been submitted, as of October 24. This was because one problem standing in the way of many potential applicants was that they were classified as "dangerous," and accordingly were not able to find a host country to go to. The right of option required the signature of the Ambassador of the intended host country. And in this connection, Foreign Minister Montes asked whether the United States would be able to receive some of the prisoners classified as "dangerous," whom the Argentine government would be willing to identify so as to facilitate their exit, if U.S. regulations would permit.

Secretary Vance replied that the United States would be willing to study the matter and look into some of the background involved.

Foreign Minister Montes said that he would communicate with Ambassador Castro in regard to this matter.

Secretary Vance agreed to this. However, he asked why other cases, not classified "dangerous," could not be dealt with more expeditiously.

Foreign Minister Montes explained that, in all cases under the jurisdiction of the Courts, only the Court itself could make the decision as to whether the individual was eligible for right of option. In fact, of the 17 right-of-option cases processed to date, all were still under the jurisdiction of the Executive, not under the judiciary. Once under the judiciary, only the magistrate could decide whether right of option might be approved.

Secretary Vance asked if anyone arrested and jailed was not automatically eligible for right of option.

Foreign Minister Montes replied that anyone was automatically entitled to it, provided he applied prior to referral of his case to the judiciary. Because when the person was arrested, within a given region, he was still under Executive jurisdiction, which at that stage could consider the right of option request immediately. But once the case had been referred to the judiciary, only the Court could authorize it.

Secretary Vance asked if the Court was military or civilian.

Foreign Minister Montes said it could be either. But in the case where the military court still had jurisdiction, right of option was facilitated because the case would still be under the Executive, which could act more quickly.

Secretary Vance said he understood. He then asked what determined the placing of the detained under Executive authority, as opposed to the judiciary.

Foreign Minister Montes said that when an arrest was made, the individual was under Executive custody. Only the Executive could make a legal arrest. Given the nature of the fight against terrorism, only the Executive was in a position to legally arrest and detain individuals for a period of time that would allow for investigation of the individual's possible connections with terrorist organizations, something the Civil Court system could not do. When all connections had been traced, sometimes through friends of the arrestee as witnesses, then the case would be referred to either a military or civilian court.

Secretary Vance said he understood the procedure. He then asked whether it would be possible to do something towards clarifying the status of those who were under arrest to date, in order to eliminate one extremely serious source of international criticism.

The Foreign Minister replied that all of this might seem an easy matter on the face of it, but it was far from being easy in Argentina. For example, if an individual were arrested, say, in the northern region, III Army Command, it would likely as not be kept very confidential for a period of time. The government was infiltrated, and it would be necessary to take precautions so that news of the arrest did not leak out to friends and associates of the arrestee, because these people would all get away and the investigation would be frustrated. This was why the Foreign Minister sometimes had so much difficulty in tracking down names of people arrested submitted to him by various organizations -- Jewish, Catholic, Moslem -- on lists of people who might have been arrested but whose names had not been forwarded to Interior or Army in the Capital, and whose identity was being kept confidential owing to the nature of the struggle going on. This was one of the Foreign Minister's main problems in this area.

The Secretary replied that he could understand the Foreign Minister's problem. However, the fact of the matter was that the procedures described were one on-going source of problems for Argentina in world public opinion. Perhaps the Argentine government could find a way to make some quick progress in this area, which would be greatly effective toward improving public perception of Argentina.

The Foreign Minister replied that he was all too aware of his problems in the area of international relations. He was in fact having weekly meetings with the Ministry of Interior to try to get the clearest possible report as quickly as possible regarding the status of individuals under custody following their arrest. He had conceived the idea that it might be accomplished by means of special Army or Air Force couriers delivering unwritten notification, which could not be picked up by infiltrators who might alert others. He felt this might be a workable arrangement with the Ministry of Interior, and was making efforts in this direction.

The Secretary stated that, speaking as a friend, without intending to intervene in Argentina's domestic affairs, he would urge them to do something in this area, because if there was to be a change in world public opinion, some convincing action would be necessary. A further issue that had arisen was the question of torture. The Secretary said that he knew the Argentine government was completely opposed to torture. However, stories continued to appear indicating that "some torture" occurred. Such statements might be false, but he inquired whether or not the Argentine government had been saying or doing anything of much significance about this.

The Foreign Minister stated categorically that there was no physical torture. He had himself tried to arrange interviews with individuals concerning whenever there had been allegations of torture, just as he had done in the Timerman case. Unfortunately, the organizations or representatives involved subsequently failed to make themselves sufficiently heard by the media regarding their findings. The Foreign Minister explained that he was convinced that a statement by the government denying torture or clarifying matters on the basis of these direct interviews would only be seen by the public as biased evasive attempts on the part of the government to wash its hands of the problem. His hope was that the organizations concerned, once having ascertained that torture had not been employed, would act as the spokesman for the government, as it were, which would be more convincing to the international public. Unfortunately, the representatives carrying out the interviews mentioned have often been rather bashful about revealing their findings.

Secretary Vance inquired as to whether the International Red Cross could be asked to make the necessary statement, saying that they had looked into a case and found that allegations of torture were unfounded. This could be of help to Argentina.

The Foreign Minister said that might be a way.

Secretary Vance indicated to the Foreign Minister that Senator Kennedy had mentioned concern about Hector Campora, granted asylum by the Mexican Embassy, and could he not be allowed to leave the country?

The Foreign Minister replied that as a friend he wished to clarify that Campora, a former President, his son, and Abal Medina, were self-exiled at the Mexican Embassy, and that long conversations had been held with the Mexican government in regard to them. President Videla had told Mexican Foreign Minister Roel that Campora, Senior, was considered to be compromised, because as former President he was seen to be responsible for the present situation in Argentina, and the Armed Forces of Argentina would not consent to a safe conduct for Mr. Campora, Sr. Accordingly, the Foreign Minister wished to proceed in the following manner with the Mexicans: obtain safe conduct for Campora, Junior; eventually persuade the Armed Forces Junta to grant the same for Medina; subsequently, when the pschological climate was right within the Armed Forces Junta, eventually do the same for Campora, Senior. This was the way they were approaching the problem with the Mexicans.

Secretary Vance thanked the Foreign Minister, stating that with this he had covered all his points in this area. He went on to say that military cooperation and the question of international financial assistance would be based on the human rights problem. He was concerned about the future, because in the event that tangible, visible progress in the human rights field failed to materialize in a way that could be reported to the world, we would be in a situatin where we would have to vote against Argentine loans in the international financial institutions. Obviously, this would be painful to us. We wanted to vote yes. But this matter has become very serious in Congress, which has passed legislation recently that could still be amended in various ways during the year. So that, in regard to military cooperation, again if there were no progress, by October 1978 we would have to cut off all sales and training. The Secretary said that this was the last thing he would want to see happen. It would be extremely bad for our relations with Argentina. That was why he was concerned about the lack of substantial progress that would show the world that there was a basis for our telling Congress that we should lift our ban on military matters and we should vote to approve loans for Argentina.

The Foreign Minister said he understood the Secretary very clearly. At the same time, he hoped the Secretary understood his situation. He compared himself to a mattress, being buffeted from the top and from underneath. Assailed by the United States about human rights; by the Armed Forces, especially the Navy, about the lack of assistance from the United States. They saw the American position from a less enlightened viewpoint. They did not understand that the United States was not turning against Argentina, but rather that this was a particular line of policy being pursued by the USG. So they would attack the Foreign Minister, because his conception continued to be that Argentina's relations with the United States could not be allowed to deteriorate. In addition, he was pressured by the Ministry of Finance when there were reports that the United States would vote against credits for Argentina. So the Secretary could see why he felt like a mattress.

The Secretary said he understood this very clearly, and for this reason he was trying to discover with the Foreign Minister if there was not some way to do something tangible. He realized that it could not all be done overnight. But Argentina could help its own cause by demonstrating progress.

The Foreign Minister replied that at present the terrorist problem in Argentina is being cleared up rapidly, and he expressed confidence that his country's image would be quite different by October, 1978.

Secretary Vance mentioned that, when President Videla was in Washington, he had told President Carter that a large number of the detainees would be released by Christmas. He asked if the Foreign Minister thought this would happen.

The Foreign Minister replied that he hoped it would, but advised the Secretary to pose this question to President Videla himself.

Secretary Vance expressed his gratitude to the Foreign Minister for his candor in responding to his questions, thereby helping him to understand the problems involved. He tried himself to speak frankly as a friend, and shared the Foreign Minister's view that U.S.-Argentine relations were extremely important.

2. DURING THE COURSE OF HIS VISIT SECRETARY VANCE WAS RECEIVED BY THEIR EXCELLENCIES, MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY JUNTA LT. GEN. JORGE RAFAEL VIDELA, PRESIDENT OF THE NATION AND COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE ARMY, BY ADMIRAL EMILIO EDUARDO MASSERA, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE NAVY, AND BY BRIG. GEN. ORLANDO RAMON AGOSTI, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE AIR FOCE, IN SEPARATE MEETINGS.

3. IN THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND WORSHIP, THE FOREIGN MINISTER, VICE ADMIRAL OSCAR ANTONIO MONTES, HELD CONVERSATIONS WITH THE SECRETARY OF STATE; THERE ALSO WERE WORKING SESSIONS IN WHICH MEMBERS OF THE VISITING DELEGATION, THEARGENTINE FOREIGN MINISTRY AND OTHER STATE AGENCIES PARTICIPATED.

4. DURING THE COURSE OF THESE MEETINGS THERE WAS AN EXCHANGE OF IDEAS WITH REGARD TO THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION, WITH SPECIAL ATTENTION BEING PAID TO THE ROLE OF LATIN AMERICA IN THE WORLD.

5. BOTH GOVERNMENTS EXPRESSED THEIR FIRM DETERMINATION TO PROMOTE A FRUITFUL UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

6. THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND THE SECRETARY OF STATE EXCHANGED VIEWED ON IMPORTANT ISSUES IN THE NUCLEAR FIELD. THERE WAS WIDE-RANGING DISCUSSION OF THE EVOLUTION OF INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION AND EXISTING PROBLEMS IN THE FIELD OF TRANSFER OF NUCLEAR TECHNLOGY IN ADVANCING THE PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY, AND OF THE SHARED INTEREST IN MEASURES TO PREVENET ALL FORMS OF PROLIFERATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS, INCLUDING THE BEARING OF THESE EFFORTS ON HEMISPHERIC SECURITY.

7. THEY DISCUSSED FUTURE COOPERATION IN THE PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY. THEY EXPRESSED THEIR INTEREST IN INCREASING THE PRESENT COOPERATION AND ENLARGING THE SCOPE OF THEIR EXISTING AGREEMENT FOR COOPERATION TO INCLUDE RELEVANT TECHNOLOGY AND WAYS OF MEETING ARGENTINA'S HEAVY WATER NEEDS AS WELL AS PROVISION OF FUEL TO BE USED IN THE RESEARCH REACTORS THAT ARGENTINA HAS PROPOSED TO EXPORT TO PERU, RECOGNIZING ARGENTINA'S POTENTIAL AS A SIGNIFICANT NUCLEAR SUPPLIER ON THE SAME BASIS AS OTHER SUPPLIERS.

8. EACH SIDE EXPRESSED SATISFACTION AT THE RECENT LAUNCHING OF AN INTERNATIONAL FUEL CYCLE EVALUATION, TO WHICH BOTH PLAN TO MAKE SIGNIFICANT CONTIBUTIONS OF SCIENTIFIC TALENT AND EFFORT. CONFIDNECE WAS EXPRESSED THAT THIS BROADLY-BASED INTERNATIONAL STUDY WOULD CONTIBUTE TO A BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF HOW NUCLEAR ENERGY NEEDS CAN BE MET IN WAYS THAT MINIMIZE THE RISK OF PROLIFERATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS.

9. THE U.S. REITERATED ITS COMMITMENT TO CONTINUE EFFORTS TO HALT THE VERTICAL PROLIFERATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS. SECRETARY VANCE NOTED RECENT ENCOURAGING DEVELOPMENTS IN SALT NEGOTIATIONS AND IN NEGOTIATIONS RELATING TO A COMPREHENSIVE TEST BAN TREATY.

10. MINISTER MONTES DECLARED THE INTENTION OF HIS GOVERNMENT TO RATIFY THE TREATY FOR THE PROHIBITION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS IN LATIN AMERICA. SECRETARY VANCE WELCOMED THIS ARGENTINE ANNOUNCEMENT, NOTING THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD PREVIOUSLY RATIFIED ADDITIONAL PROTOCOL II TO THE TREATY. SECRETARY VANCE DECLARED THE INTENTION OF HIS GOVERNMENT TO RATIFY ADDITIONAL PROTOCOL I TO THAT TREATY.

11. MINISTER MONTES AND SECRETARY VANCE EXPRESSED JOINT SUPPORT FOR THE TREATY'S GOAL OF CREATIING A ZONE FOREVER UNCLASSIFIED

Embassy Takes Issue With UN Draft on Chilean Rights Situation. Embassy Santiago disagrees with the judgment of the drafters of the Chile Resolution at the UNGA to the effect that "the system of violation of human rights has now become institutionalized," and "there have been no significant changes leading to the restoration and safeguarding of human rights in Chile." The Embassy considers that while Chile appeared to have been on the verge of institutionalizing repression in 1975 and 1976, there is evidence that the government is now attempting to reverse that trend. The Embassy maintains that the abolition of the Directorate of National Intelligence (DINA) and the establishment of the Center for National Intelligence (CNI) is more than a cosmetic change. In this regard, a usually reliable clandestine source reports that:

--the nefarious Manuel Contreras has been ousted from the DINA/CNI directorship;

--CNI personnel cutbacks of approximately 20 percent are being initiated; and

--the requested resignations of most of the organization's colonels and lieutenant colonels have been accepted.

The Embassy reports that the European Common Market ambassadors in Santiago and the Embassy have concluded in separate studies that the performance of the Chilean security forces has improved in 1977:

--some 4,000 political prisoners have been released--leaving less than 300 in custody, some of whom are, in fact, convicted terrorists;

--there has been a sharp reduction in reports of disappearances--only 5-7 cases this year as opposed to 100 in 1976;

--ICRC estimates of instances of torture are down significantly; and

--military courts now question "evidence" submitted by security forces and not infrequently dismiss the case. (CONFIDENTIAL, Santiago 9288, November 15; CONFIDENTIAL, STADIS, LIMDIS, Santiago 9303, November 15;

INR Comment: A number of Chilean leaders are convinced that if they are to get on with their primary task of developing the nation, Chile's human rights reputation must be changed. They recognize that cosmetic changes will not suffice at a time when Chile is under intense international scrutiny. President Pinochet appears to be listening to them. (CONFIDENTIAL)

El Salvador

Pressures on Romero From the Left, the Right, and the North. Embassy San Salvador reports three recent incidents which have tested President Romero's resolve to maintain a moderate course on human rights:

--the Popular Revolutionary Bloc (BPR) seized the Ministry of Labor and held the Ministers of Labor and Economy and over 100 employees for two days;

--a "lock-in" at a US-owned factory held the American managers and some 450 local employees captive for a day; and --a prominent businessman was shot to death during an attempted kidnapping.

Security forces acted with prudence and restraint in the already tense atmosphere. According to the Embassy, there is a general belief that Romero chose moderation out of deference to the human rights aspect of El Salvador's relationship with the US. There is strong evidence, however, that his posture may also reflect a genuine concern for the welfare of the impoverished lower classes, since two of the incidents revolved around labor and wage issues. The political right and the business community, on the other hand, see a steadily worsening trend toward anarchy which they attribute to US human rights pressures on Romero.

On November 15, both morning papers in San Salvador carried a full-page open letter to Assistant Secretary Todman, stating that El Salvador is under systematic terrorist attack. The letter claimed that government authorities have not taken measures to protect the life of the nation and its citizens because they fear that the US would impose sanctions. It called on Todman to declare that the US recognizes the government's right to take action "during a public emergency." The letter was signed by the Salvadorean League for Human Rights--a "paper organization" created by the Salvadorean Association of Industrialists. (CONFIDENTIAL, San Salvador 5236 and 5272, November 15; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, San Salvador 5279, November 16)

INR Comment: Romero has often been quoted as hoping to demonstrate to the US that it is the extreme left, rather than the government, which violates human rights in El Salvador. The prudence and restraint with which the government's security forces have acted in the five months since he took office, and especially during the current tense situation, lend credence to his assertion. No Progress on Prisoner Release Talks. Negotiations between South Korean Christian leaders and KCIA officials for the release of political prisoners did not go well this past week. [redacted]

Thammasat Detainees Permitted Legal Counsel. In one of its last announcements before appointing the interim government on November 12, the Revolutionary Party modified the military court act to permit legal counsel for 18 persons arrested during the rioting at Thammasat University in October 1976. They apparently still will not have the right to appeal a guilty verdict. A Bangkok attorney who had been providing informal legal advice to the "Thammasat 18" expects to represent them in court when the trial resumes November 17. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Bangkok 29285, November 15)

Goma in Paris. Paul Goma, noted author and leader of a short-lived Romanian dissident "movement," has arrived in Paris with his family on a one-year tourist visa. (UNCLASSIFIED, Washington Post, November 21)

INR Comment: Goma's departure from Romania was not unexpected. His fellow dissidents had gone into exile or been isolated by the regime. Goma, himself, was reported to be demoralized and ready to leave. The regime was more than willing to see him go. The question now is whether he will want, or be permitted, to return. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

MIDDLE EAST AND SOUTH ASIA

Bangladesh

CBS Rights Report Seen As "Nonsense." Embassy Dacca describes as "nonsense" statements made in a November 10 CBS Radio report on human rights in Bangladesh. The Embassy comments on the CBS claims (in quotes) as follows:

--"the free press has been muzzled" - the press is freer than under Mujib's regime;

--"all opposition leaders have been arrested" - there are opposition leaders in jail, most of whom were arrested by the previous regime; about 2,000 political detainees have been released in the past year (including 830 on November 7);

--"there are between 30,000 and 60,000 political prisoners" - while the Embassy does not have precise figures, it considers that these (also used by Amnesty International) are absurd, and estimates the number of political detainees at several thousand;

--"secret trials and executions are being held" - the courts martial of military personnel charged with the September/October mutinies and the executions of at least 37 were not secret, nor is there any evidence of such treatment of civilian detainees. (CONFIDENTIAL, Dacca 6513, November 11)

INR Comment: Over the past year, the Zia regime has taken various steps to improve its rights reputation. Most recently, it abolished part of the martial law administrative structure and extended civilian authority in legal affairs. The regime undoubtedly resents criticism of the executions, however. It considers that the mutinies and coup attempt, which clearly demonstrated the country's fragility, justified the court martial process and the stern measures taken against the military dissidents. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Nepal

Koirala Expected to Face Charges. Embassy Kathmandu reports general local agreement that opposition leader and former Prime Minister B. P. Koirala will be tried on at least some of the seven charges pending against him, all of which carry the death penalty. Koirala was remanded to judicial custody upon his recent return to Nepal after spending five months abroad--most of it in the US for medical treatment. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Kathmandu 4938, November 14)

INR Comment: That Koirala is again under detention is no surprise. Efforts toward a compromise between him and the King which would promote political reforms have been continuing, however. The outcome of these negotiations is likely to affect the punishment Koirala receives. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Pakistan

Regime Charged With Rights Abuses. A British pro-South Africa interest group has charged Pakistan's "self-appointed military regime" with the arrest of four newspaper editors and the death of a fifth editor from brain hemorrhage "shortly after the same army authorities had closed his newspaper." The group's November 18 half-page paid advertisement in the Washington Post questioned the "double standard" of the US Congress in taking South Africa to task for human rights violations while abuses of the press in Pakistan, Turkey, Africa, and Communist countries pass without comment.

Reuter reported on November 15 that former Prime Minister Bhutto's wife also accused General Zia's government of rights violations:

--arresting thousands of Pakistan Peoples' Party supporters;

--flogging prisoners outside Bhutto's Lahore jail cell;

--torturing a prisoner with electric shocks. (UNCLASSIFIED, Washington Post, November 18 and Reuter, November 15)

INR Comment: The British group presumably was more interested in helping South Africa than in accurately reporting abuses elsewhere. According to Embassy Islamabad, the four editors were released after having been detained briefly. We know of no other media representatives presently in prison. Although the advertisement in the Post implies a connection between the closure of a fifth newspaper and the death of its editor, we have no reason to believe that the editor, who was not imprisoned, died from other than natural causes. The newspapers in question have been allowed to resume publication.

Some of Mrs. Bhutto's accusations may be partly true. Zia has arrested some of Bhutto's party workers, particularly in connection with alleged railway sabotage in Sind. Sentences of flogging are commonly awarded in Pakistan and at least some have been carried out. We are not aware, however, of any other allegations of prisoner torture under the martial law regime. It is generally conceded that human rights were abused far more severely under Bhutto than they are now. (CONFIDENTIAL)

SUMMARY: A RADICAL PARTY BARBECUE IN CORDOBA, WHICH ENDED IN A MASS ARREST OF PARTICIPANTS DEMONSTRATES THE METHODS DEVELOPED BY THE ESTABLISHED POLITICAL PARTIES TO KEEP ALIVE DURING THE CURRENT PERIOD OF SUSPENSION OF POLITICAL ACTIVITIES. SUCH ATTEMPTS HAVE BEEN LOW KEY THUS FAR AND OLD TIME PARTY POLITICIANS REMAIN BASICALLY DEMORALIZED, ESSENTIALLY FOLLOWING AND NOT INFLUENCING GOVERNMENT PLANS AND TIMETABLES FOR A POLITICAL OPENING. WHAT COULD ACCELERATE THE PACE OF POLITICAL EVENTS (AS WELL AS COMPLICATING THE TRANSITION PROCESS), HOWEVER, IS JUNTA MEMBER ADMIRAL MASSERAS LATEST POLITICAL MOVES. END SUMMARY.

1. EIGHTY FOUR YOUNG RADICAL PARTY MEMBERS AND FRIENDS, INCLUDING FORMER NATIONAL DEPUTY CARLOS BECERRA, WERE ARRESTED AT UCRP OFFICES IN CORDOBA DURING A BARBECUE LAST WEEKEND. ACCORDING TO NEWS REPORTS, THE DETAINESS WERE TAKEN IN ARMY TRUCKS TO CORDOBA POLICE HEADQUARTERS AND THEY WERE SCHEDULED TO BROUGHT BEFORE A JUDGE YESTERDAY (NOVEMBER 22).
[redacted]

2. POLITICAL PARTY ACTIVITIES HAVE BEEN BANNED SINCE THE

MILITARY JUNTA TOOK POWER 20 MONTHS AGO, BUT IMPLEMENTATION IS SUBJECT TO THE INTERPRETATION OF THE ARMY CORPS COMMANDER OR OTHER MILITARY AUTHORITY IN EACH AREA AS TO WHAT CONSTITUTES "PARTY ACTIVITY". LARGE BARBECUE FETES ARE OCCASIONALLY ORGANIZED TO CIRCUMVENT THE BAN AGAINST POLITICAL PARTY AND TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES AND FROM TIME TO TIME WE HAVE HEARD OF BIRTHDAY OR ANNIVERSARY PARTIES IN SUCH CITIES AS ROSARIO AND CORDOBA WHICH HAVE SERVED AS COVER FOR POLITICAL PARTY CRONIES TO GET TOGETHER AND TALK.. IN SOME CITIES, LOCAL AUTHORITIES HAVE ALLOWED SUCH HARMLESS ACTIVITY TO PASS WITHOUT OFFICIAL NOTICE. HOWEVER, GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS RECENTLY DISSUADED PERONIST PARTY LEADERS FROM SCHEDULING A DINNER WHICH WAS INTENDED TO BRING DIPARATE ELEMENTS OF THE MOVEMENT TOGETHER AND TO DISCUSS THE FUTURE.

3. THE PRESENT CASE MAY MARK THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE CURRENT GOVERNMENT TOOK POWER THAT THE AUTHORITIES HAVE BUSTED UP SUCH A GET TOGETHER WHILE IT WAS IN SESSION. WE HAVE SCANT INFORMATION ABOUT THIS PARITCULAR EVENT, BUT WHAT MAY HAVE MADE THE DIFFERENCE IN THIS CASE WAS ITS YOUTH ANGLE. ACCORDING TO ONE NEWS REPORT, THIS BARBECUE WAS INTENDED TO KICK OFF A POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONAL EFFORT IN UNIVERSITIES THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. UCRP SOURCES TELL US THAT THE PARTY YOUTH MOVEMENT IS STILL INTACT AND OCCASIONALLY ABLE TO CONDUCT BULL SESSIONS IN THE UNIVERSITIES. ALSO, UCRP YOUTH WING EVIDENTLY MAINTAINS CONTACT WITH THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY YOUTH MOVEMENT OF WESTERN EUROPE. OUR GUESS IS THAT THE UCRP YOUTH WING CONSTITUTES A MAJOR UNDERPINNING OF THE RADICAL PARTY'S(RELATIVELY MODERATE) LEFT WING, AND MILITARY AUTHORITIES PROBABLY VIEW THE UCRP YOUTH WARILY AS POTENTIAL AGENTS OF SUBVERSION, WHICH MAY EXPLAIN THE RECENT INCIDENT IN CORDOBA.

THE ARREST MAY ALSO BE RELATED TO A STATEMENT ISSUED TO THE PRESS BY UCRP CHIEF BALBIN (SEE PARAGRAPH 5 BELOW).

4. WHILE THERE THUS MAY BE SPECIAL ANGLE TO THE CORDOBA ARRESTS, POLITICAL PARTY BARBECUES AND OCCASIONAL ISSUANCE OF STATEMENTS HAVE NOW BECOME PART OF THE LANDSCAPE, ALTHOUGH THE PROMOTERS CAN NEVER BE QUITE SURE HOW THE GOVERNMENT WILL REACT UNTIL AFTER THE EVENT. FROM TIME TO TIME, PROMINENT POLITICAL PARTY LEADERS CIRCULATE TO GOVERNMENT LEADERS AND THE PRESS STATEMENTS CONTAINING THEIR ANALYSES OF

THE CURRENT POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC SITUATION WHICH THEY BILL AS REPRESENTING THEIR CONTIBUTION TO PRESIDENT VIDELAS CALL FOR A DIALOGUE. UNDER THE CURRENT RULES OF THE GAME THE AUTHORS SIGN THEIR NAMES AS INDIVIDUALS AND NOT AS MEMBERS OF ANY GIVEN POLITICAL PARTY, ALTHOUGH IT IS WELL UNDERSTOOD BY ALL THAT SUCH CONTRIBUTIONS ARE INTENDED AS PARTY DOCUMENTS. EMBASSY RECENTLY FORWARDED COPIES (B.A. A-139) OF A TYPICAL DOCUMENT EMITTED BY ANTIVERTICALIST PERONISTS AT THE TIME OF ASSISTANT SECRETARY TODMAN'S VISIT LAST AUGUST.WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENCY OF THE NATION LAST WEEK PERSUADED PERONIST LEADERS TO DELAY THEIR RELEASE OF ANOTHER STATEMENT SO AS NOT TO COMPLICATE THE VISIT OF SECRETARY VANCE. RADICAL PARTY LEADERS ALSO DISTRIBUTED A DOCUMENT RECENTLY CRITICIZING THE GOVERNMENT'S ECONOMIC POLICY. AT TIMES, EXCERPTS OR SYNOPSES OF SUCH DOCUMENTS ARE REPORTED IN THE PRESS. MANY TIMES THEY ARE NOT.

5. RICARDO BALBIN, PRESIDENT OF THE UCRP NATIONAL COMMITTEE, HAD AN INTERVIEW WITH A NEWSPAPER IN MENDOZA LAST WEEK IN WHICH HE ISSUED SOME OF THE MOST POINTED PUBLIC PRONOUNCEMENTS MADE BY A CIVILIAN POLITICAL FIGURE SINCE MARCH 1976. BALBIN WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT THE YOUTH OF THE COUNTRY SHOULD BE PREPARED FOR THE TIME THEY ARE CALLED UPON TO VOTE. NOBODY WAS DEMANDING AN IMMEDIATE RETURN TO THE ELECTORAL PROCESS, SAID BALBIN, BUT THE NATION, ESPECIALLY THE YOUNG, SHOULD BE CIVICALLY PREPARED FOR THE TIME THEY ASSUME THE RESPONSIBLITY OF GUIDING THE NATION.

6. THE OCCASIONAL BARBECUES AND STATEMENTS ARE INTENDED AS A REMINDER TO THE PARTY FAITHFUL AND GOVERNMENT THAT THE OLD POLITICAL PARTIES ARE NOT DEAD. THE POLITICAL LEADERS ALSO HOPE THEREBY TO INFLUENCE GOVERNMENT POLICY AND PERHAPS EVEN TO UNDERSCORE THEIR AVAILABLITY FOR GOVERNMENT JOBS WHENEVER THE HOPED FOR POLITICAL OPENING COMMENCES. THE TONE OF SUCH POLITICAL STATEMENTS SO FAR HAS BEEN GENERALLY VERY LOW KEY, WITH BALBINS REMARKS PERHAPS BEING SOMEWHAT OF A DEPARTURE FROM THE NORM. THE PREVAILING MOOD AMONG THE PROFESSIONAL POLITICIANS, AT LEAST IN BUENOS AIRES, REMAINS QUITE GLOOMY ABOUT THE PROSPECTS FOR AN EARLY RESUMPTION OF NORMAL CIVILIAN POLITICS. THE BASIC POSTURE AMONG OLDTIME PARTY LEADERS IS STILL ONE OF CAUTION AND AVOIDING A CONFRONTATION WITH THE GOVERNMENT. THE POLITICAL PROS ESSENTIALLY ARE STILL WAITING FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO TAKE THE INITIATIVE AND GIVE THEM

Case Number: 200000044

THE SIGNAL WHEN AND WHAT KIND OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY IS PERMISSIBLE. IN THIS CONTEXT, A CLOSE WATCH MUST BE KEPT ON THE SIGNALS BEING EMITTED BY ADMIRAL MASSERA (SEE BUENOS AIRES 8752). IF MASSERAS POLITICAL MOVES BECOME MORE BLATANT, THEY COULD ENCOURAGE GREATER AUDACITY ON THE PART OF THE POLITICIANS.

E.O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: OVIP (VANCE, CYRUS) SOPN, SHUM, AR
SUBJECT: FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL REACTS STRONGLY AGAINST U.S. CORRESPONDENTS

1. IN A HIGHLY UNUSUAL MOVE, THE FOREIGN MINISTRY PRESS SECRETARY CALLED IN THE USIS PRESS OFFICER ONLY HOURS AFTER THE DEPARTURE OF SECRETARY VANCE TO ACCUSE CORRESPONDENTS KAREN DEYOUNG, WASHINGTON POST AND JUAN DE ONIS, NY TIMES, OF PUBLISHING STORIES ON THE DAY OF SECRETARY VANCE'S ARRIVAL WITH THE INTENTION OF DISRUPTING ARGENTINE-U.S. RELATIONS. THE SPOKESMAN SAID SEVERAL TIMES DURING THE HOUR AND 15 MINUTE LONG SERIES OF FULMINATIONS AGAINST THE CORRESPONDENTS THAT HE WAS ACTING ON HIS OWN AND THAT HE WAS NOT MAKING AN OFFICIAL PROTEST ON THE PART OF THE GOA.

2. THE SPOKESMAN, NAVY CAPTAIN ROBERTO PEREZ FROIO SAID HE HAD JUST RENEWED JUAN DE ONIS' VISA "IN SPITE OF MILITARY PRESSURE TO DENY IT". HE ADDED THAT THE MILITARY HAS "CONCRETE EVIDENCE OF HIS (ONIS') LINKS WITH LEFTIST GUERRILLAS". THE USIS PRESS OFFICER ASKED WHAT THE MINISTRY

[redacted]

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

WAS GOING TO DO ABOUT THE ARTICLES AND PEREZ FROIO SAID THAT HE HAD CALLED DE ONIS IN YESTERDAY (MONDAY) AND THEY WOULD "TALK AGAIN" WHEN ONIS RETURNED FROM THE VANCE TRIP. NO MENTION WAS MADE OF PLANS TO TALK TO KAREN DE YOUNG.

3. PEREZ FROIO SAID THE STORIES PUBLISHED ON THE EVE OF VANCE'S VISIT WERE PART OF A "CONSPIRACY TO UNDERMINE US-ARGENTINE RELATIONS". HE ADDED "HOW IS IT POSSIBLE THAT WHILE VANCE IS MEETING WITH MONTES, TODMAN WITH OTHER OFFICIALS, DERIAN WITH THE HUMAN RIGHTS WORKING GROUP ALL SEEKING TO ESTABLISH A BETTER RELATIONSHIP, THESE U.S. PAPERS ARE ATTACKING ARGENTINA CALLING VIDELA AN ASSASSIN AND PUBLISHING PURE LIES". HE CHARACTERIZED THE STORIES AS "EXTREMELY DETRIMENTAL" (PERIODISMO LAPIDARIO) AND "VICIOUS". PEREZ FROIO COMPLAINED THAT THE ONLY WIREPHOTOS OF THE VISIT TO BE SENT ABROAD BY THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS AGENCIES SHOWED THE MOTHERS PROTESTING AT THE SAN MARTIN PLAZA. THIS WAS ANOTHER ILLUSTRATION OF THE "CONSPIRACY" HE SAID.

4. AN ARGENTINE CORRESPONDENT WHO COVERS THE FOREIGN MINISTRY TOLD THE USIS PRESS OFFICER JUST BEFORE HE ENTERED PEREZ FROIO'S OFFICE THAT THE PRESS CHIEF WAS "VERY DISTRUBED" AND HAD BEEN CALLING IN LOCAL AND FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS TO COMPLAIN ABOUT THEIR COVERAGE OF THE VANCE VISIT AND OTHER EVENTS. THIS CORRESPONDENT ADDED THAT HE DIDN'T THINK PEREZ FROIO HAD ANY RIGHT TO DO THIS ASKING "WHO DOES HE THINK HE IS?"

5. COMMENT: DESPITE HIS DISCLAIMERS THE POSSIBILITY EXISTS PEREZ FROIO WAS ACTING ON ORDERS FROM HIS SUPERIORS IN THE FOREIGN MINISTRY. THE INCIDENT MARKED THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE MILITARY TAKEOVER THAT AN INFORMATION OFFICIAL OF THE GOA HAS [redacted]

MADE THIS UNUSUAL COMPLAINT TO AM EMBASSY OFFICER. PEREZ FROIO WAS NOT EXPLICIT IN JUST WHAT IT WAS HE EXPECTED PRESS OFFIVER TO DO WITH THE INFORMATION GIVEN, MAKING ABUNDANTLY CLEAR ONLY THAT PEREZ FROIO WAS ANGRY WITH CORRESPONDENTS WHO IN HIS VIEW WERE "DAMAGING BILATERAL RELATIONS." THE PRESS OFFICER EXPLAINED SEVERAL TIMES THAT FREEDOM OF THE PRESS IS A REALITY IN THE UNITED STATES AND THAT THE MEDIA ARE IN NO WAY UNDER USG CONTROL.

Case Number: 200000044

6. EMBASSY SUBSEQUENTLY RAISED THIS MATTER WITH ESPECHE GIL, HEAD OF NORTH AMERICAN DEPARTMENT AT MFA, FOR CLARIFICATION OF PEREZ FROIO'S INTENT AND AN EXPLANATION OF WHY THE DEMARCHE WAS MADE. ESPECHE GIL PROMISED A REPLY BY THE END OF THE WEEK.

Dear Mr. Dornan:

Thank you for your letter of [illegible], which transmitted an inquiry from the [illegible] family concerning the Chilean national [illegible] and the many other persons who have disappeared or been detained in Chile.

While reports of formal arrests of political dissidents and persons suspected of subversive activities have decreased sharply in the past months, the number of Chileans missing under ambiguous circumstances continues to attract worldwide attention. Estimates of the "disappeared" range from a few hundred to as many as 2500 since September 1973 and about 100 during 1976. During 1977 the number of actual and alleged disappearances has been very greatly reduced over 1976.

We have been deeply concerned about these disappearances and other evidences of human rights abuses in Chile. We continue to express our concern at every opportunity to the Chilean authorities. The Chilean Government has been urged to take immediate steps to stop the disappearances and to take every effort to account for persons who have disappeared in the past. In a great many instances we have undertaken to discuss with the Chilean authorities individual cases of concern to United States citizens and Congressmen.

The Honorable
Robert K. Dornan,
House of Representatives,

On July [illegible] President Pinochet of Chile gave a speech in which he described a process for an eventual return to elections and constitutional rule. The Central National Intelligence Directorate (DINA) was abolished and [illegible] replaced it. These are positive developments and we hope they will lead to further improvements in the observance of human rights in Chile. In that vein, we are continuing discussions with [illegible] Chilean Government.

[illegible] our inquiry in accordance with [illegible] will keep at your and your constituent's interest in this concern and as appropriate, any communications to the Chilean Government. If the [illegible] additional information we will ask that it be sent to us for further reply to you.

Finally, [illegible] point out that the International Committee of the Red Cross has responsibility for tracing detained persons and monitoring their treatment. You might suggest that your constituent write to:

TO: The Acting Secretary

FROM: ARA - William P. Stedman, Acting

SUBJECT: Progress on Human Rights in Argentina

Ambassador Castro, in his initial round of courtesy calls on Argentine government leaders, has received encouraging signs that the GOA may be moving to meet some of our human rights concerns. Specifically, he received assurances from Interior Minister Harguindeguy that U.S. consular officers could visit prisoners to complete preparations for right of option petitions. He was also informed by the Minister that Argentina may release some 375 prisoners in a Christmas amnesty. In addition, the Argentines have given permission for the ICRC to resume visits to prisoners in jails and military installations. These visits will be resumed on December 12.

If and when implemented, these Argentine moves might make it possible for us to reconsider our "no" votes in the IFIs and our hold up on military sales.

SUBJECT DISAPPEARANCES REPORTED OF MOTHERS OF PLAZA DE MAYO AND THEIR SUPPORTERS

1. SUMMARY: IN WHAT APPEARS TO BE CONCERTED GOVERMENT ACTION, ABOUT SIXTEEN PERSONS ASSOCIATED THE "MOTHERS OF THE PLAZA DE MAYO" ARE REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN TAKEN BY SECURITY AUTHORITIES ON DECEMBER 8. ANOTHER WOMAN PROMINENT IN THE MOVEMENT WAS SNATCHED DECEMBER 10. THE WHEREABOUTS OF THOSE TAKEN ARE UNKNOWN. DEPARTMENT AND EMBASSY HAVE BEEN ASKED TO HELP SEEK RELEASE OF THESE PERSONS. END SUMMARY.

2. SOME FIFTEEN PERSONS--BOTH WOMEN AND MEN--ASSOCIATED WITH THE "MOTHERS OF THE PLAZA DE MAYO" PROTEST MOVEMENT WERE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY THE EVENING OF DECEMBER 8 FROM THE STEPS OF A CHURCH BY PERSONS WHO DESCRIBED THEMSELVES AS SECURITY OFFICERS. ON THE SAME NIGHT REMO BERARDO, AN ACTIVIST SUPPORTER OF THE MOTHERS GROUP WAS PICKED UP AT HIS HOME IN BUENOS AIRES' LA BOCA DISTRICT. EARLY SATURDAY MORNING DECEMBER 10 SEVERAL UNIDENTIFIED MEN PICKED UP MRS. ASUSANA DE VICENTI, THE MOTHER CREDITED WITH HAVING

MRS. DE VICENTE STRUGGLED, BUT IN THE END WAS FORCED INTO THE ABDUCTORS VEHICLES. AS OF NOON MONDAY DECEMBER 12 NOTHING WAS KNOWN OF THE WHEREABOUTS OF ANY OF THE PERSONS TAKEN.

3. THE MOTHERS' GROUP HAD BECOME PARTICULARLY ACTIVE AS THE CHRISTMAS SEASON APPROACHED, PLANNING TWO MAJOR DEMONSTRATIONS AND PLACEMENT OF A LARGE ADVERTISEMENT IN "LA NACION," A LEADING BUENOS AIRES DAILY. THE CHURCH FROM WHICH SOME FIFTEEN PERSONS WERE TAKEN WAS ONE OF THREE POINTS IN THE CITY FOR COLLECTING SIGNATURES AND MONEY FOR THE PAID ADVERTISEMENT. IN ADDITION TO TAKING THE FIFTEEN GROUP MEMBERS, WHO HAD BEEN MEETING INSIDE THE CHURCH, "SECURITY OFFICERS" -- WHO USED SIX UNMARKED CARS FOR THEIR OPERATION -- TOOK SOME $250 COLLECTED BY THE GROUP AND A LIST OF SIGNATURES FOR THE ADVERTISEMENT. (COMMENT: THE ADVERTISEMENT DID APPEAR IN LA NACION'S DECEMBER 10 EDITION.)

4. THE PARTICULAR COLLECTION SITE AT WHICH THE ACTION TOOK PLACE -- THE CHURCH OF SANTA CRUZ-- WAS BEING MANNED BY MEMBERS OF THE "MOVIMIENTO ECUMENICO POR LOS DERECHOS HUMANOS" ("MEDH"), DESCRIBED AS AN ARGENTINE AFFILIATE OF THE WORLDWIDE CATHOLIC ORGANIZATION "PAZ Y JUSTICIA." ACCORDING TO THE BUENOS AIRES HERALD -- THE ONLY LOCAL NEWSPAPER TO COVER THE EVENT-- MEMBERS OF THE GROUP TAKEN INCLUDED ESTER CARRIAGA, ONE OF THE MOTHERS PROMINENTS IN THE PROTEST MOVEMENT, AND A FRENCH NUN KNOWN AS "HERMANA ALICIA." OTHER PERSONS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY AND LISTED BY THE HERALD WERE MARIA PONCE DE BLANCO, PATRICIA OVIEDO, JULIO FONEVILA, HORACIO ANIBAL ELBERT, EDUARDO GABRIEL ORANI AND RAQUEL BULIT. A FULL LIST IS NOT AVAILABLE BECAUSE OF CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE ARREST-- PERSONS AT THE CHURCH WERE NOT ALL KNOWN TO ONE ANOTHER, AND IT WAS NOT POSSIBLE FOR THOSE NOT [redacted]

FOR THE SECRETARY FROM PATT DERIAN

E.O. 11652: NA

AGS: PFOR, AR

SUBJECT: ARGENTINA HUMAN RIGHTS

1. THOUGHT YOU SHOULD KNOW THAT N.Y. TIMES DEC. 11 REPORTS THAT EIGHT RELATIVES AND FORMER EMPLOYEES OF DAVID GRAIVER HAVE BEEN SENTENCED TO UP TO 15 YEARS IN JAIL BY AN ARGENTINE COURT-MARTIAL, WHICH IS QUOTED AS SAYING THE PUNISHMENT IS "AN EXAMPLE OF THE PENALTIES THAT APLY TO PEOPLE WHO COLLABORATE, EVEN AGAINST THEIR WILL, WITH LEFT-WING GUERRILLA GROUPS IN ARGENTINA." (GRAIVER IS THE BANKER ACCUSED OF HAVING INVESTED MONEY ABROAD FOR GUERRILLAS, WHO WAS ALLEGEDLY KILLED IN 1976 IN AN AIR CRASH.)

2. GRAIVER'S FATHER, WIDOW, AND A BROTHER RECEIVED MAXIMUM 15 YEAR SENTENCES. HIS MOTHER WAS SENTENCED TO FOUR YEARS, THE LIGHTEST SENTENCE. ACCORDING TO THE TIMES, THE MILITARY COMMUNIQUE SHED NO FURTHER LIGHT ON THE BASIS FOR THE CHARGES, OR ON THE GROUNDS FOR CONVICTING HIS FAMILY MEMBERS AND EMPLOYEES.

3. ACCORDING TO THE TIMES, DIPLOMATIC SOURCES SAY THERE IS A POSSIBILITY THAT PRESIDENT VIDELA WILL NOW BE ABLE TO ORDER THE RELEASE OF JACOBO TIMMERMAN, WHO EARLIER HAD BEEN CLEARED OF CRIMINAL CHARGES IN THE PROCEEDING.

4. TIMES ALSO STATES THAT ELSEWHERE IN BA ARMED MEN IN FIVE AUTOMOBILES RAIDED A MEETING OF RELATIVES OF MISSING PEOPLE AT THE ROMAN CATHOLIC HOLY CROSS PARISH, AND DETAINED ABOUT 25 OF THEM. PURPOSE OF THE MEETING WAS TO RAISE MONEY TO PLACE AN ADVERTISEMENT IN NEWSPAPERS WITH THE NAMES OF MISSING RELATIVES. (THESE ARE THE MOTHERS WHOSESONS AND HUSBANDS ARE MISSING, KNOWN AS THE "MAD WOMEN OF THE PLAZA DEL MAYA.")

Text of TELEX sent by Charles Harper of the World Council of Churches in Geneva to William Wipfler of the National Council of Churches in New York.

Information just received confirmed that there were approximately twenty persons detained on Thursday evening December 8 at a church called Iglesia Santa Cruz. Their whereabouts are still unknown. Of the twenty, nine names are as follows:

1. Alicia Domon (French), Sister of a French religious order, known as Hermana Alicia.
2. Renee Duquet (French), Sister of a religious order, known as Hermana Lioni.
3. Esther Careaga I.D. 424-14-55
4. Maria P. de Bianco Civic document 0288009
5. Azuzena de Vicentini Civic document 2.L95.883
6. Patricia Oviedo
7. Julio Sonsovilla
8. Raquel Bulit
9. Horacio Elbert

Please inform us of any additional names which come to your attention. In addition, we are informed that Carlos Gattinoni, one of the presidents of the Asemblea Permanente de los Derechos Humanos in Argentina, gave a press conference on the same day of the detention in which he asserted that over 12,000 persons are believed "to have either disappeared or have been arrested for political reasons in Argentina since the military government seized power in March 1976." A list was delivered by the Asemblea, according to Reuter wireservice, to General Videla by the Asemblea, containing names of 225 persons missing this year, whose relatives filed habeas corpus writs on their behalf. The Asemblea sources estimate that 6,000 persons are missing since March 1976 and claim that 6,000 are being held in prison for political reasons. We have not received direct confirmation of any relationship between this press conference and the detention of the twenty the Thursday evening, but are inquiring.

1. AMBASSADOR RAISED MATTER OF RECENTLY DETAINED OR ABDUCTED HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS FROM MOTHERS OF PLAZA DE MAYO GROUP DURING SOCIAL OCCASION WITH ADMIRAL MASSERA EVENING DECEMBER 12, DURING COURTESY CALL ON MINISTER OF ECONOMY MARTINEZ DE HOZ EARLIER ON THE SAME DAY, AND ON DECEMBER 13 WITH CHIEF OF THE ARMY STAFF GENERAL ROBERTO VIOLA. WE ARE CERTAIN VIOLA WILL TELL PRESIDENT VIDELA OF US CONCERN OVER THIS INCIDENT.

2. MASSERA PROFESSED NOT TO HAVE KNOWN OF EVENT UNTIL TOLD BY AMBASSADOR. HE THEN REFUSED TO REGISTER SURPRISE SINCE--IN HIS WORDS--THIS SORT OF MUDDLED, ILL-JUDGED CAPER IS WHAT ONE HAS COME TO EXPECT OF THE ARMY. VIOLA KNEW OF INCIDENT BUT DISCLAIMED ANY KNOWLEDGE OF THE ABDUCTIONS' ORIGINS AND/OR [redacted]

AUTHORED AND CARRIED OUT THE EVENT BUT SO FAR HAS NOT BEEN SUCCESSFUL. VIOLA WENT ON TO SPECULATE THAT SOME "OFFICIAL AUTHORIZATION" OF THE ABDUCTIONS HAD TAKEN PLACE, HINTING THUS HIS BELIEF THAT ANOTHER MILITARY SERVICE (READ NAVY) HAD BEEN RESPONSIBLE. MARTINEZ DE HOZ--AND ALSO DEFENSE MINISTER KLIX, TO WHOM THE SUBJECT WAS RAISED AT A SOCIAL OCCASION WITH A LARGER GROUP OF PEOPLE--TOOK THE HARD LINE THAT THIS IS BUT A NEW DIRTY INCIDENT IN AN OLD DIRTY WAR, ESSENTIALLY JUSTIFYING THE ABDUCTION AS HAVING PROPER SECURITY MOTIVATION EVEN WHILE DISCLAIMING KNOWLEDGE OF THE FACTS.--

3. PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE MOTHERS' PROTEST MOVEMENT SPECULATE THAT THE ABDUCTION-DETENTION MIGHT HAVE BEEN STAGED TO DETER A LARGE PRE-CHRISTMAS DEMONSTRATION AT THE PLAZA DE MAYO SLATED FOR TOMORROW DECEMBER 15. IF THIS IS THE CASE THEN THEY EXPECT THE DETAINED GROUP TO REAPPEAR OVER THE WEEKEND, MONDAY AT LATEST. IF THIS FAILS TO TAKE PLACE THEN CLEARLY THE INCIDENT WILL TAKE ON EXTRAORDINARY SIGNIFICANCE IN THE HISTORY OF DISAPPEARANCES IN ARGENTINA.

4. BUENOS AIRES HERALD--WHICH IS STILL THE ONLY LOCAL PAPER THAT HAS COVERED THE DISAPPEARANCES--REPORTED TODAY DECEMBER 14 THAT THE EMBASSY OF FRANCE HAS PROTESTED THE DISAPPEARANCE OF TWO NUNS WORKING FOR A FRENCH MISSIONARY ORDER HERE. THE FIRST, SISTER ALICIA (NEE ANA MARIA DOMON), A NATURALIZED ARGENTINE, WAS MENTIONED IN THE BUENOS AIRES REFTEL AMONG THOSE WHO DISAPPEARED FROM THE CHURCH OF SANTA CRUZ. THE SECOND, A SISTER LEONIE (NEE RENEE DUQUET) IS REPORTED TO HAVE [redacted]

BEEN TAKEN OVER THE PAST WEEKEND BY FOUR MEN DRIVING AN UNMARKED, US-MADE CAR. SISTER ALICIA IS REPORTED TO HAVE WORKED WITH A MONSIGNOR NOVAK IN THE ECUMENICAL MOVEMENT, WHILE SISTER LEONIE WAS ASSOCIATED WITH THE BISHOP OF SAN JUSTO, MONSIGNOR CARRERAS, AT THE CHAPEL OF SAN PABLO IN RAMOS MEJIA. THE HERALD GAVE AGES OF ALICIA AND LEONIE AS 40 AND 61, RESPECTIVELY.

5. WE WILL PURSUE OUR INQUIRIES, OF COURSE, INCLUDING AT FOREIGN MINISTRY.

SUBJECT ARGENTINE HUMAN RIGHTS CASES

1. THANK YOU FOR YOUR INQUIRY OF OCTOBER 28TH, 1977 REGARDING THE WHEREABOUTS OF 24 ARGENTINE CITIZENS. TWENTY ONE OF THESE CASES ARE WELL KNOWN TO THE EMBASSY AND HAVE BEEN SUBJECTS OF EMBASSY ACTIONS.

2. IN THE THREE NEW CASES OF MARIA JOSE DE DEL CARPIO, RODOLFO URANGA AND ROQUE ROMERO, WE WILL MAKE FORMAL INQUIRIES AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE REGARDING THE WHEREABOUTS OF THESE INDIVIDUALS. HOWEVER, ON THE BASIS OF THE INDIVIDUAL NAMES ONLY A LIMITED INVESTIGATION CAN BE CONDUCTED. IF YOU CAN PROVIDE US WITH FULL NAMES, ADDRESSES, IDENTITY CARD NUMBERS, INFORMATION REGARDING THEIR DISAPPEARANCES, A MORE COMPLETE CHECK CAN BE MADE TO SEE IF THEY HAVE BEEN DETAINED BY ARGENTINE AUTHORITIES.

3. THE EMBASSY HAS THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION ON THE PERSONS LISTED IN YOUR CONSTITUENTS'S LETTER. THE NUMBER BEHIND EACH NAME IS THE EMBASSY CASE NUMBER.

EO 11652: NA
TAGS: ELAB, SHUM, CI
SUBJ: BANISHED LABOR LEADERS REPORTED TO BE HAVING TOUGH TIME

REF: SANTIAGO 9704

1. SUMMARY: FRIENDS OF THE SIX LABOR LEADERS BANISHED TO THE FAR NORTH SAY THEY ARE LIVING IN EXTREMELY DIFFICULT CIRCUMSTANCES. CONCERNED BY THESE REPORTS AND ENCOURAGED BY LOCAL EMBASSIES, THE ICRC DELEGATE IS SEEKING PERMISSION FROM HIS HEADQUARTERS AND FROM THE GOC TO SPEND TWO WEEKS VISITING THE MEN WITH THE REGIONAL ICRC DOCTOR IN TOW. SOME LOCAL EMBASSIES HAVE CONSIDERED SENDING OFFICIALS TO VISIT THE MEN, BUT PROBABLY WILL AWAIT THE FINDINGS OF THE ICRC TEAM BEFORE MAKING A FINAL DECISION. ENS SUMMARY.

2. ACCORDING TO FRIENDS WHO HAVE VISITED THE SIX LABOR LEADERS BANISHED BY PRESIDENTPINOCHET IN LATE NOVEMBER THEY ARE HAVING A ROUGH TIME INDEED. THE SIX ARRIVED AT THEIR SEPARATE DESTINATIONS IN THE CHILEAN ALTIPLANO WITH [redacted]

LITTLE MORE THAN THE CLOTHES ON THEIR BACKS. JUAN MANUEL SEPULVEDA IS IN CHUCUYO; JUAN FINCHEIRA IN VISIVIRI; MILTON PUGA IN CAQUENA; CARLOS ARELLANO IN CORONEL ALCERRECA; CARLOS FREZ IN GUALLATIRI, AND HECTOR CUEVAS IN CHAPIQUINA. SOME OF THE SITES ONLY APPEAR ON LARGE SCALE MAPS, ALL ARE MORE THAN 13,500 FEET HIGH.

3. ACCORDING TO MANUEL BUSTOS PRESIDENT OF THE SUMAR TEXTILE UNION, ALL SIX HAVE BEEN VISITED BY FRIENDS AND RELATIVES. HE SAID THAT THE CHURCH-RELATED CARDIJN FOUNDATION IS INTERESTED IN SENDING A PRIEST AND DOCTOR TO

UNCLASSIFIED

ASSIST THEM. BUSTOS ADDED THAT ALL SIX WERE SUFFERING FROM ALTITUDE SICKNESS. HE ADDED THAT CUEVAS AND ARELLANO ARE IN PARTICULARLY BAD SHAPE AND ARE PHYSICALLY UNABLE TO WALK THE FIVE KILOMETERS TO SIGN IN TWICE A DAY AS REQUIRED BY THE POLICE. BUSTOS FEARS THAT DURING THE BOLIVIAN RAINY SEASON, WHICH BEGINS IN JANUARY, ONLY FINCHERIA AND ARELLANO WHO LIVE NEAR THE RAILROAD, WILL BE ACCESSIBLE TO VISITORS. IN SOME CASES, APPARENTLY, THERE IS NO WAY TO OBTAIN FOOD OTHER THAN THROUGH THE KINDNESS OF SUPERVISING CARABINEROS OR THE FEW RESIDENT FAMILIES.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. A CARABINERO IN THE HIGLANDS REPORTEDLY TOLD ONE OF THE VISITORS THAT TECHNICALLY THE MEN HAD BEEN "TRANSFERRED" ("TRANSLADO) RATHER THAN BANISHED (RELEGADO) SINCE THERE HAD BEEN NO DECREE APPROVED BY THE CONTROLORIA AS REQUIRED BY LAW FOR BANISHMENT. PERSONS TRANSFERRED ARE NORMALLY KEPT IN THAT STATUS FOR BETWEEN 30-60 DAYS. MEANWHILE, POLICE SAY THAT THEY HAVE NOW BEEN INSTRUCTED TO PERMIT VISITS BY ONLY NEXT-OF-KIN.

5. WE HAVE URGED SOME LABOR LEADERS AND OTHER EMBASSIES [redacted]

TO ENGAGE THE LOCAL OFFICE OF THE ICRC IN THE MATTER. PERHAPS AS A RESULT, THE RESIDENT ICRC DELEGATE HAS WRITTEN THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR ASKING THE GOC'S PERMISSION TO SPEND APPROXIMATELY TWO WEEKS IN THE AREA BEGINNING ABOUT DECEMBER 20. HE WILL FOLLOW UP HIS LETTER WITH AN ORAL DEMARCHE DECEMBER 16. MEANWHILE HE HAS CABLED HEADQUARTERS FOR AUTHORIZATION WHICH HE EXPECT TO RECEIVE SHORTLY. THE ICRC REGIONAL MEDICAL OFFICER, NOW IN ARGENTINA, WILL RETURN IN A DAY OR SO AND WLL ACCOMPANY THE DELEGATE IF AUTHORIZATIONS ARE APPROVED.

6. SEVERAL LOCAL EMBASSIES WERE CHEWING OVER THE IDEA OF SENDING OFFICIALS TO VISIT THE SIX MEN. AT LEAST ONE SCANDINAVIAN AMBASSADOR OPPOSES THIS IDEA BECAUSE SUCH ACTION WOULD BE REGARDED BY THE CHILEANS AS INTERVENTION AND WOULD BE LIKELY TO LENGTHEN RATHER THAN SHORTEN THE RUSTICATION OF THE LABOR LEADERS. DEPENDING ON THE RESULTS OF THE ICRC VISIT THE ISSUE MAY COME UP AGAIN.

7. COMMENT: THE ON-SITE TRIP OF THE ICRC TEAM WILL BE PARTICULARLY IMPORTANT IN VERIFYING THE CURRENT ALLEGATIONS. IF ACCURATE, THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH THE SIX MEN REPORTEDLY ARE BEING FORCED TO LIVE ARE THE ROUGHEST TO COME TO OUR ATTENTION IN BANISMENT CASES. ISOLATED AND SUFFERING THE EFFECTS OF ALTITUDE, THEY SEEMINGLY WOULD BE BETTER OFF IN A REGULAR DETENTION CAMP SUCH AS TRES ALAMOS. IN EFFECT, THE GOC IS NOW HOLDING AT LEAST SIX PERSONS WITHOUT CHARGE UNDER EMERGENCY POWERS.

UNCLASSIFIED

8. IF THE SIX LABOR LEADERS HAVE NOT BEEN RELEASED BY EARLY JANUARY AND IF THERE IS AGREEMENT AMONG THE INTERESTED EMBASSIES HERE ON THE UTILITY OF SENDING REPRESENTATIVES TO VISIT THE SIX LEADERS, WE WOULD PLAN FOR LABOR ATTACHE EDWARD ARCHER TO ACCOMPANY ANY SUCH EXPEDITION.

E. O. 11652: GDS

SUBJECT: PINOCHET REFUSES APPEAL FROM RADIO COOPERATIVA

REF: SANTIAGO 9594

1. SUMMARY: THE GOC'S INTENT TO CLOSE DOWN THE BULK OF RADIO COOPERATIVA'S FACILITIES WAS MADE PUBLIC IN LATE NOVEMBER. COOPERATIVA'S BOARD OF DIRECTORS IMMEDIATELY SOUGHT AN INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET IN HOPES OF REVERSING THE DECISION. THAT REQUEST HAS BEEN TURNED DOWN. SEVEN OF THE CHAIN STATIONS WILL HAVE TO CLOSE BY DECEMBER 31 AND IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THE OTHER THREE WILL ALSO FOLD. THE MOVE AGAINST COOPERATIVE IS POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. THE NETWORK HAS FOLLOWED AN INDEPENDENT LINE BUT IS GENERALLY CONSIDERED TO BE PDC-ORIENTED. END SUMMARY.

2. THE GOC'S OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF NOVEMBER 29 CARRIED DECREES (ALL WITH MID-OCTOBER 1977 DATES) ANNOUNCING THE CLOSING OF SEVEN RADIO STATIONS BELONGING TO THE COMPANIA CHILEAN DE COMUNICACIONES, OTHERWISE KNOWN AS RADIO COOPERATIVA. THE STATIONS TO BE CLOSED ARE THE BROADCASTING STATIONS IN ANTOFAGASTA, CONCEPCION, VALDIVIA, PUERTO MONTT AND PUNTA ARENAS AND THE RELAY STATIONS IN SANTIAGO AND ANTOFAGASTA. NOT INCLUDED ARE THREE STATIONS, ONE OF THEM THE COMPANY'S MAIN BROADCASTING STATION IN SANTTIAGO.

THE OPERATING LICENSES OF THE CLOSED STATIONS HAD ALL EXPIRED, A FACT CITED BY THE GOC AS THE REASONS FOR THE CLOSINGS.

3. COOPERATIVA'S BOARD OF DIRECTORS IMMEDIATELY SOUGHT A MEETING WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET (BY LAW THE ONLY OFFICIAL WHO CAN GRANT RADIO LICENSES). BY LETTER OF DECEMBER 7 PRESIDENTIAL CHIEF OF STAFF GENERAL SERGIO COVARRUBIAS SAID THAT THE PRESIDENT COULD NOT GRANT THE MEETING DUE TO A "HEAVILY BOOKED CALENDAR." REPORTEDLY, COVARRUBIAS ALSO USED THE LETTER TO REITERATE THE GOC'S DETERMINATION NOT TO ALLOW STATIONS TO OPERATE WITHOUT VALID LICENSES.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

4. COOPERATIVA'S OFFICIALS HAVE KEPT QUIET WHILE THE APPEAL TO PINOCHET WAS PENDING. THEY SAY THEY WILL NOW INSTITUTE LEGAL PROCEEDINGS TO BLOCK THE CLOSING AND CLAIM THAT THEY CAN DEMONSTRATE THAT REQUESTS FOR LICENSE RENEWALS WERE FILED WITH THE GOC.

5. COMMENT: COMING AT THE SAME TIME AS THE GOC TOOK OTHER MEASURES AIMED AT ITS MORE VOCAL OPPONENTS, IT SEEMS CLEAR TO US THAT THE MOTIVE FOR THE CLOSINGS IS POLITICAL NOT TECHNICAL. RADIO COOPERATIVA'S CHAIN IS ONE OF FOUR PROVIDING PROGRAMMING AND NEWS SERVICES THE LENGTH OF CHILE. AFTER THE CLOSURE OF RADIO BALMACEDA (SEE SANTIAGO 6886 IN JANUARY 1977) COOPERATIVE REMAINED AS THE ONLY NETWORK WHOSE RELATIVELY COMPREHENSIVE NEWS REPORTING HAS PROVED A CONSISTENT THORN IN THE GOC'S SIDE. THE NETWORK HAS A CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC (PDC) ORIENTATION. GOC NEWS CZAR MAX REINDL HAS FEEQUENTLY CALLED IN THE COOPERATIVE MANAGMENT TO PROTEST THE RADIO'S NEWS PROGRAMS AND TO ISSUE SUBTLE WARNINGS THAT IF THE TONE OF THE REPORTING DID NOT CHANGE, COOPERATIVE WOULD BE INFOR SOME SANCTIONS. THE LICENSES OF THE SEVEN COOPERATIVA STATIONS HAD, IN FACT, EXPIRED. HOWEVER, THERE ARE REPORTS THAT SOME 60-70 OF CHILE'S 200 ODD STATIONS NOW OPERATE WITHOUT

TAGS: SHUM, AR
SUBJECT: DISAPPEARANCE OF MOTHERS GROUP'S SUPPORTERS:
LATEST DEVELOPMENTS

REF: BUENOS AIRES 9420 (NOTAL)

SUMMARY: OVER THE WEEKEND ARGENTINE AUTHORITIES (GOA) MADE TWO DRAMATIC ANNOUNCEMENTS REGARDING THE DEC. 8-10 DISAPPEARANCES OF 13 PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE MOTHERS OF THE PLAZA DE MAYO. ON FRIDAY NIGHT (12/16) THE GOVERNMENT'S INFORMATION OFFICE ISSUED A CAREFULLY WORDED COMMUNIQUE REPUDIATING ANY GOVERNMENT INVOLVEMENT AND BLAMING SUBVERSIVE NIHILISM FOR THE DISAPPEARANCES. THE FOLLOWING NIGHT (12/17) THE FIRST ARMY COMMAND ISSUED A BULLETIN ANNOUNCING THAT THE MONTONERO ORGANIZATION HAD CLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE KIDNAPPING OF THE TWO FRENCH NUNS AND HAD MADE FOUR [redacted]

DEMANDS, INCLUDING THE FREEING OF 21 POLITICAL PRISONERS, FOR THEIR RELEASE. THE MONTONERO PLOY IS, HOWEVER,

UNCLASSIFIED

WIDELY DISBELIEVED, AND FAMILY MEMBERS OF SOME OF THE DISAPPEARED PERSONS CALLED ON THE FRENCH AND AMERICAN EMBASSIES ON MONDAY (12/19) TO REGISTER THIS DOUBT AND URGE THAT DIPLOMATIC PRESSURE BE BROUGHT AGAINST GOA TO FORCE IT TO PRODUCE THE PERSONS ABDUCTED. WE ARE USING ALL EMBASSY RESOURCES TO TRY TO SORT OUT WHAT MAY ACTUALLY HAVE HAPPENED TO THE PERSONS ABDUCTED. ELEMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT CONTACTED CONTINUE TO PROFESS MYSTIFICATION AND AT THE SAME TIME PRIVATELY TO DERIDE THE "MONTONERO PLOY". END SUMMARY

1. THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA BROKE ITS OFFICIAL SILENCE REGARDING THE DISAPPEARANCES OF AT LEAST 13 MEMBERS AND SUPPORTERS OF THE "MOTHERS OF THE PLAZA DE MAYO", AFTER A WEEK OF CONSIDERABLE DIPLOMATIC AND PRESS INTEREST, BY ISSUING AN INTRICATELY WORDED COMMUNIQUE LATE DECEMBER 17. THE PRESIDENCY'S COMMUNIQUE OBLIQUELY MADE THREE POINTS--THE GOVERNMENT WAS NOT INVOLVED IN THE DISAPPEARANCES; "NIHILISTIC SUBVERSION" WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THESE ACTIONS; AND LASTLY, THE GOVERNMENT REJECTED THIS ATTEMPT TO CAUSE CONFRONTATIONS WITH OTHER COUNTRIES, THE CHURCH, AND FAMILIES CAUGHT UP IN EXTREMIST VIOLENCE. THE GOVERNMENT'S ANNOUNCEMENT DID NOT ANSWER QUESTIONS REGARDING CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE DISAPPEARANCES OR DISPEL THE STRONG NEGATIVE REACTIONS IN FRANCE TO THE DISAPPEARANPD OF TWO NUNS FROM A TOULOUSE ORDER.

2. THE FOLLOWING NIGHT (12/17) IN AN UNUSUAL COMMUNIQUE THE FIRST ARMY COMMAND ANNOUNCED THAT THE AGENCE FRANCE PRESSE HAD RECEIVED A COMMUNICATION EARLIER THAT DAY FROM THE MONTONERO ORGANIZATION CLAIMING CREDIT FOR THE [redacted]

KIDNAPPING OF THE TWO FRENCH NUNS, SISTER ALICIA AND SISTER LEONIE. ACCORDING TO THE ARMY COMMUNIQUE THE "MONTONERO" DOCUMENT DEMANDED:

A. THAT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH ISSUE A DOCUMENT REPUDIATING THE PRESENT ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT;

B. THAT THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT ISSUE A DOCUMENT REPUDIATING THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT AND GRANT ASYLUM TO ARGENTINE POLITICAL PRISONERS;

C. THAT THE MILITARY JUNTA SUBMIT A PUBLIC REPORT

TO THE UNITED NATIONS REGARDING THE STATUS OF DETAINED AND DISAPPEARED PERSONS IN ARGENTINA;

D. AND, THAT 21 "CRIMINAL SUBVERSIVES" (SEE LIST BELOW) BE RELEASED. THE ARMY COMMUNIQUE THEN WENT TO REPEAT PARTS OF THE PREVIOUS DAY'S PRESIDENTIAL OFFICE ANNOUNCEMENT.THE COMMUNIQUE WAS GIVEN WIDE PLAY IN THE ARGENTINE PRESS WITH NO COMMENT.

3. THE FRENCH PRESS AGENCY IN FACT DID RECEIVE THREE DOCUMENTS IN THEIR NOON MAIL ON SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17-- THE "MONTONERO" LETTER, A HANDWRITTEN LETTER IN FRENCH FROM SISTER ALICIA AND A 6 X 8 GLOSSY PHOTOGRAPH OF THE TWO FRENCH CAPTIVE NUNS SEATED BELOW A MONTONERO FLAG HOLDING A COPY OF THE DECEMBER 14 EDITION OF "LA NACION". THE "MONTONERO" LETTER STATED THAT ON DECEMBER 8 AND 10 TWO COMBAT CELLS OF THE MONTONERO ARMY HAD DETAINED THE TWO FRENCH NUNS. (NO MENTION WAS MADE OF THE OTHER 11 DISAPPEARED PERSONS.) IT ADDED THAT THEIR DETENTION HAD TAKEN PLACE IN ORDER TO OBTAIN CERTAIN STATEMENTS FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE, THE CATHOLIC CHURCH, AND THE ARGENTINE MILITARY GOVERNMENT AND TO FREE BEFORE DECEMBER 24 THE FOLLOWING PERSONS:

4. IN RESPONSE TO THE ARMY'S ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE MONTONERO LETTER, THREE RELATIVES OF THE DISAPPEARED MEMBERS OF THE MOTHERS GROUP CALLED AT THE AMERICAN EMBASSY ON MONDAY (12/19) TO URGE THE US GOVERNMENT TO CONTINUE ITS PRESSURE AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA TO RELEASE THEIR RELATIVES. THEY CLAIMED THAT INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE FROM THE US AND FRANCE WAS THE ONLY HOPE FOR THEIR RELATIVES'
[redacted]

RELEASE. THEY CHARACTERIZED THE MONTONERO DOCUMENT AS BEING A FABRICATION. THE FAMILY MEMBERS ARGUED THAT ALL THE EVENTS BEAR THE CLEAR HALLMARK OF A SECURITY FORCE OPERATION. THE TEN PERSONS TAKEN AT THE CHURCH OF THE HOLY CROSS ON DECEMBER 8 WERE ABDUCTED BY SIX CARLOADS OF

ARMED MEN DRESSED IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES. STARTING LATER THAT SAME NIGHT MEN IDENTIFYING THEMSELVES AS POLICE OFFICERS SEARCHED FIVE OF THE ABDUCTED PERSONS' AND THEIR RELATIVES' HOMES IN WHAT WERE TERMED ROUTINE POLICE SEARCHES. IN THE CASE OF HORACIO ANIBAL ELBERT, HIS MOTHER'S, HIS FATHER'S AND HIS AUNT'S HOMES WERE SEARCHED BY FIVE SELF PROCLAIMED POLICEMEN WHO ACTUALLY CONDUCTED THE INVESTIGATION WHILE FIVE OTHERS GUARDED THE BUILDINGS ENTRANCES. THE FAMILY MEMBERS ALSO STATED THAT ONE OF THE DETAINEES MANAGED TO SEND A MESSAGE TO HIS FAMILY THROUGH A FREED PRISONER THAT HE WAS BEING HELD IN THE FEDERAL POLICE HEADQUARTERS. FAMILY MEMBERS ARE ALSO CONCERNED THAT IN THE "MONTONERO" DOCUMENT ONLY THE TWO FRENCH NUNS WERE MENTIONED WITH NO DISCUSSION OF THE OTHERS TAKEN.

5. WE HAVE DEPLOYED EMBASSY RESOURCES AS BEST WE COULD TO TRY AND GET TO THE BOTTOM OF THIS MURKY BUSINESS. NOT SURPRISINGLY EVEN OUR CONTACTS WITHIN GOVERNMENT PRIVATELY DISCOUNT THE "MONTONERO PLOY." (COMMENT: A MONTONERO SPOKESMAN IN PARIS, ACCORDING TO ONE REPORT, AND ONE IM MEXICO CITY AS WELL HAS DISCLAIMED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE NUNS'S ABDUCTIONS. THIS DENIAL HAS NOT BEEN PRINTED HERE AND WE DO NOT EXPECT IT WILL.) ONE VERY INFORMAL SOURCE ATTRIBUTED THE ABDUCTIONS TO THE STATE SECRETARIAT FOR INTELLIGENCY ("SIDE"), ADDING THAT THEY RESULTED FROM THE DECISION OF A LOW RANKING OFFICER. OTHER SOURCES SIMPLY [redacted]

PROFESS MYSTIFICATION--BUT AT THE SAME TIME DO NOT EXPRESS DOUBT THAT THE ABDUCTIONS WERE AUTHORED BY SOME--UNNAMED--BRANCH OF THE GOVERNMENT'S SECURITY SERVICES.

6. FRENCH EMBASSY OFFICIALS HERE ARE DISMAYED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S AND "MONTONERO" STATEMENTS. THEY HAD BEEN CONFIDENT, UNTIL THE WEEKEND ANNOUNCEMENTS, THAT STRONG DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIONS BOTH HERE AND IN PARIS, PLUS THE SHARP PROTESTS OF THE FRENCH PRESS WOULD RESULT IN THE RELEASE OF THE TWO FRENCH NUNS. THE FIRST ARMY'S RAPID ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE "UNBELIEVABLE MONTONERO LETTER" (TO QUOTE A FRENCH EMBASSY OFFICIAL) RAISES FEAR THAT THE "MONTONERO PLOY" IS BUT A DEVICE TO RESOLVE THE PROBLEM BY PLACING THE BLAME ON A THIRD PARTY. EMBASSY OFFICIALS DOUBT THAT THE MATTER WILL BE RESOLVED SO EASILY, AND EXPECT FRENCH DIPLOMATIC PRESSURE TO CONTINUE.

7. TWO FRENCH VISITORS ARE CURRENTLY IN BUENOS AIRES. THE PREVIOUSLY PLANNED VISIT TO THE FRENCH MISSIONARY COMMUNITY IN ARGENTINA OF FRENCH BISHOP BERNARD STARTED LAST WEEK. ALTHOUGH THE FRENCH BISHOP HAS STATED THAT HIS VISIT WAS NOT A RESPONSE TO THE DISAPPEARANCE OF THE TWO FRENCH NUNS, HE HAS USED THE OCCASION TO MEET WITH THE PERMANENT COMMISSION OF THE ARGENTINE BISHOPRIC TO DISCUSS THE NUNS' DISAPPEARANCES. A MR. GADOT, PRINCIPAL ASSISTANT TO EDGARD FAURE, GAULLIST DEPUTY FROM DOUBS, ARRIVED FROM PARIS ON DECEMBER 19 SPECIFICALLY TO PRESSURE THE GOA INTO EFFECTING THE RELEASE OF THE TWO TOULOUSE NUNS.

8. THE FRENCH EMBASSY IS FURTHER DISTRUBED AT THE LACK OF RESPONSIVENESS FROM THE FOREIGN MINISTRY. FOR EXAMPLE, OVER A WEEK AGO THEY PROVIDED THE LICENSE PLATE NUMBER OF A CAR REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN USED IN THE HOLY CROSS CHURCH ABDUCTIONS, BUT THE FOREIGN MINISTRY HAS REFUSED TO DISCUSS THE ISSUE FURTHER.
[redacted]

9. IN TALKS WITH PEOPLE CONNECTED IN SOME WAY WITH PERSONS ABDUCTED WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO COME UP WITH THE FOLLOWING CHRONOLOGY DESCRIBING AT LEAST SOME OF THE RELATED EVENTS:

DECEMBER 8

1600 - MOTHER MET IN PLAZA DE MAYO

200 - REMO BERARDO AND ANOTHER UNIDENTIFIED PERSON TAKEN FROM BERARDO'S ARTIST STUDIO IN LA BOCA AREA

2100 - APPROXIMATELY 10 PEOPLE, INCLUDING SISTER ALICIA, TAKEN FROM VESTIBULE OF THE HOLY CROSS CHURCH IN BUENOS AIRES. A SHEET WITH "MANY" SIGNATURES AND 140,000 PESOS (US$250) FOR THE MOTHERS' ADVERTISEMENT PETITIONING THE GOVERNMENT WERE TAKEN. 2-4 PM - MOTHERS' GROUP MET IN THE PLAZA DE MAYO. A PLANNED "MASSIVE" PRECHRISTMAS DEMONSTRATION, WITH MOTHERS COMING FROM ALL OVER ARGENTINA TO PARTICIPATE, TURNED INTO A REGULAR SIZED THURSDAY GATHERING. THERE WAS NO POLICE HARASSMENT.

COMMENT: OUR PRELIMINARY VIEW IS THAT WHAT MAY HAVE BEGUN AS A MISTAKE IN JUDGMENT BY THE ARGENTINE SECURITY FORCES IS NOW BEING COMPOUNDED BY FURTHER MISTAKES BY THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT ITSELF. THE ACTOUNS TAKEN AGAINST MEMBERS OF THE MOTHER' GROUP IN AN EFFORT TO STEM THE MOTHERS' XMAS INITIATIVE TO FOCUS GOVERNMENTAL ATTENTION ON THE DISAPPEARANCE PROBLEM HAS BACKFIRED TERRIBLY. SUBJECT: AISC LIST OF DISAPPEARED AND DETAINED PERSONS - "THE LIST OF 7,500"

REF: (A) BUENOS AIRES 8958 (B) BUENOS AIRES 9109 (NOTAL)

1. LONDON TIMES STRINGER ANDREW TARNOWSKI MET WITH EMBASSY POLITICAL OFFICER ON DECEMBER 20 TO DISCUSS TARNOWSKI'S ALLEGATIONS THAT THE "ARGENTINE INFORMATION SERVICE CENTER" (AISC) LIST IS A "GROSS MISREPRESENTATION" OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN ARGENTINA AND UNFAIR TO GOA. ACCORDING TO TARNOWSKI, A STORY HE WROTE ON THE VANCE VISIT WHICH APPEARED IN THE LONDON TIMES ON NOVEMBER 23 CORRECTLY CHARACTERIZED THE AISC LIST AS BEING FILLED WITH ERRORS AND DUPLICATIONS. TARNOWSKI SAYS HIS STORY PRODUCED A STRONGLY WORDED LETTER FROM AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL SECRETARY GENERAL MARTIN ENNALS REBUTTING THE LONDON TIME'S PRESENTATION. TARNOWSKI FEELS THAT HIS REPUTATION AS A JOURNALIST IS AT STAKE.

[redacted]

HE SAID FALSE RUMOURS HAVE BEEN CIRCULATING THAT HE RECEIVED 10 TO 20 THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR THE STORY FROM A PERSONAL FRIEND AT GOA'S NEW YORK PUBLIC RELATIONS FIRM. HE AND HIS WIFE, ISABEL TRUJILLO, STRINGER FOR THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE HERE, HAVE BEEN CONDUCTING AN INTENSIVE STUDY OF THE LIST.

2. IN DISCUSSION WITH EMBOFF TARNOWSKI STRONGLY CRITICIZED THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT FOR "ITS MISREPRESENTATION" OF THE LIST. EMBOFF POINTED OUT THAT EMBASSY AIDE-MEMOIRE (WHICH WAS LATER READ TO HIM) TRANSMITTING THE LIST SPECIFICALLY STATED THAT THE USG HAD NO MEANS OF VERIFYING THE INFORMATION ON THE LIST BUT WISHED TO MAKE IT AVAILABLE FOR THE GOA'S USE. TARNOWSKI RESPONDED THAT AS THE U.S. GOVERNMENT HAS LENT ITS PRESTIGE TO THE LIST, IT HAS RESPONSIBILITY TO CORRECT FALSE CHARACTERIZATIONS WHICH HAVE APPEARED IN THE WORLD PRESS. TARNOWSKI STATED THAT THE LIST DOES NOT CONTAIN 7,500 PERSONS BUT CONTAINS BY HIS ESTIMATE UNDER 5,700 PERSONS. (HE MAY BE CORRECT -- TO OUR KNOWLEDGE NO EARLIER COMPLETE TABULATION WAS MADE.) FURTHERMORE HE POINTED OUT THE LIST CONTAINS PERSONS WHO WERE DETAINED OR DISAPPEARED PRIOR TO THE MILITARY JUNTA'S ASSUMPTION OF POWER IN MARCH, 1976 -- SOMETHING, OF COURSE, APPARENT TO ANYONE READING THE LIST. FURTHERMORE, THE LIST COUNTS PERSONS WHO WERE DETAINED AND THEN RELEASED BY THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT.

3. TARNOWSKI IS EXTREMELY UPSET OVER THE AMNESTY LETTER TO THE LONDON TIMES. HE STATED THAT ATTACKING THE LIST WILL STRENGTHEN HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS EFFORTS SUCH AS AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL'S BY INSURING THAT "IN THE FUTURE THEY DO THEIR HOMEWORK."

4. EMBOFF REPEATEDLY POINTED OUT THAT TARNOWSKI'S PROBLEMS REGARDING THE LIST RELATE TO HOW THE LIST WAS DESCRIBED BY HIS FELLOW JOURNALISTS; HE CONTINUES TO BELIEVE THAT USG HAS SOME TYPE OF OVERRIDING RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE CONTENT AND PRESS CHARACTERIZATION OF THAT DOCUMENT. WE BELIEVE THE TARNOWSKIS WILL SUBMIT SOME KIND OF "EXPOSE" TO THE TIMES WITHIN THE NEXT FEW WEEKS.

DAYS AFTER THE FIRST CORPS COMMUNIQUE.

3. THE PAPAL NUNCIO, MSGR. PIO LAGHI, CALLED ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON ON FOREIGN MINISTER MONTES. THE NUNCIO, REPORTEDLY, GEGAN HIS CONVERSATION BY STRONGLY QUESTIONING THE AUTHENTICITY OF THE "MONTONERO" LETTER WHICH MONTES DID NOT REBUT. AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE MEETING THE NUNCIO STATED THAT HE COULD NOT SEND A REPORT TO ROME, ASSERTING THAT THE MONTONEROS WERE HOLDING THE NUNS FOR RANSOM, BASED ON NEWS STORIES; HE HAD TO RECEIVE AN OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION REGARDING THAT EVEN FROM THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS. ADMIRAL MONTES DID NOT AFFIRM HIS INTENTION TO SEND A NOTE.

4. WEDNESDAY'S (12/21) ARMY CONTROLLED DAILY LA OPINION FRONT PAGED A STORY THAT MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR HARGUINDEGUY HAD TOLD THE VISITING REPRESENTATIVE (A MR GADOT) OF MR EDGARD FAURE, PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH HOUSE OF DEPUTIES, THAT HE WAS OPTIMISTIC THAT THE KIDNAPPING OF THE FRENCH NUNS WOULD HAV A "HAPPY ENDING." AGAIN A HIGH OFFICIAL SEEMS TO HAVE DENIED HIMSELF AN OPPORTUNITY TO CITE MONTONERO INVOLVEMENT.

5. OTHER EMBASSY CONTACTS -- INCLUDING ESPECHE GIL AT THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTRY'S NORTH AMERICAN DESK AND RICARDO YOFRE, SENIOR CIVILIAN AT THE PRESIDENCY, HAVE SIMPLY CLAMMED UP WHEN WE RAISED THE RECENT ABDUCTIONS, RATHER THAN TAKING GOA OFF THE HOOK BY REPEATING THE FIRST GORPS' ALLEGATION.

6. MEANWHILE THE FRENCH EMBASSY HAS BEEN ACTIVE IN POINTING OUT A DISCREPANCY BETWEEN KIDNAPPED SISTER ALICIA'S LETTER AND THE MONONERO'S DOCUMENT, BOTH OF WHICH WERE DELIVERED TO AGENCE FRANCE PRESS ON DECEMBER 17. SISTER ALICIA'S [redacted]

LETTER STATES THAT SHE IS BEING HELD BY A DISSIDENT GROUP OF THE GOVERNMENT -- "UNGROUPE DISCIDENT AU GOUVERNEMENT ACTUEL". EMBASSY OFFICIALS POINT OUT THAT THIS IS NOT A DEFINITION THAT WOULD PRECISELY FIT THE MONTONEROS. IN ADDITION, THE SYNTAX OF THE FRENCH AND THE SUBSEQUENT USE OF THE WORD "AQUI" ALONGSIDE THE FRENCH WORD "ICI" INDICATE TO FRENCH EMBASSY OFFICIALS THAT THE SISTER TRANSLATED THE LETTER INTO FRENCH FROM A SPANISH ORIGINAL.

7. COMMENT: WE ARE ENCOURAGED THAT THE CONSIDERED REACTION HERE BY THE GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN TO IGNORE THE "MONTONERO LETTER. IF BY TACIT UNDERSTANDING THE MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT CONTINUE TO REGARD THE MONTONERO LETTER AS "INOPERATIVE", IT WILL ENHANCE THE CHANCES OF LOCATING AND RELEASING OF THE DISAPPEARED NUNS AND SUPPORTERS OF THE MOTHER'S OF THE PLAZA DE MAYO.

Soviet Workers "Complaint" Group Adopts Rights Dissent Tactic. Unusual expressions of workers', as opposed to intellectuals', grievances are causing Soviet authorities obvious concern and may bring stronger measures to curb internal criticism. The press conference with Western newsmen held by a small unofficial workers "complaint" group early this month is one of the few instances in which workers have sought Western publicity for their cause. The move also confirms that although the workers have not espoused the broader goals of the human rights movement, they have at least established practical links with the intellectuals, and have, to some extent, adopted their tactics. Such a collaboration must seem potentially ominous to the Kremlin.

The arrest and psychiatric confinement of the leader of the group reflects this concern. Although the workers' complaints were non-ideological and confined to labor grievances, the official reaction was, in addition, in keeping with the policy of clamping down on all forms of internal criticism.

Surge of Polish Rights Activism. Rights activism increased in the pre-holiday season. Police rounded up students distributing leaflets endorsing President Carter's human rights stand in Warsaw's main shopping center. Thirteen persons were reportedly detained in five Polish cities for distributing leaflets and collecting signatures on a petition to the State Council calling for publication of the text of the UN Human Rights Convention ratified by Poland earlier this year. Some 7,000 persons, according to a dissident spokesman, attended various human rights rallies on December 17. There are also reports that the police confiscated several duplicating machines used by dissident groups as well as a considerable number of copies of underground publications. A dozen different underground publications are rumored to be circulating in Poland.

New Czechoslovak Charter 77 Document Anticipated. The Charter 77 movement is expected to issue a new document on the first anniversary (January 1) of the Charter Manifesto. It reportedly will denounce the regime for continued violations of human and civil rights and call for broader implementation of these rights. The party daily Rude Pravo bitterly attacked Amnesty International on December 17 for calling attention to alleged violations of human rights in Communist countries while systematically ignoring repression in the West, including the US. AFRICA

Ethiopia

Urban Terrorism at New High.

INR Review and Analysis. The level of urban terrorism in Ethiopia has steadily increased since September and now surpasses the high level of March-April. Probably only a small proportion of the thousands of Ethiopians who have died since the Revolution began three years ago, however, have been executed by the Mengistu regime. Most have been victims of the periodic breakdowns of order that have accompanied the destruction of the old ruling institutions. Personal, class, and ethnic scores are being settled, and the government is unable to control the violence. In addition, the government contributes to the atmosphere of violence by its use of brutal and arbitrary measures to quell dissidence.

The current upsurge in terrorism in Addis Ababa began in September with the assassination of the head of the pro-government trade union. Government reprisals followed which, in turn, resulted in new killings of government officials, including a member of the ruling military council. The council apparently now has given a free hand to squads of urban dwellers' associations (kebeles) and the police to carry out a "red terror" designed to counter the "white terror" of counterrevolutionaries.

The EPRP is the most important of several underground groups warring with one another and against Mengistu. The EPRP core is just as radical as Mengistu, differing only on its goal of civilian rule. Its supporters, however, include many members of the former privileged classes who oppose Mengistu's social leveling. The EPRP conflict with the kebeles--who represent the urban proletariat--increasingly resembles a class conflict. Mengistu has tried to reach a truce with the EPRP but has been rebuffed.

India

Government Admits Wiretaps. Prime Minister Desai has told Parliament that he has personally reviewed the list of persons whose telephones are being tapped, saying that no new name could be added without his personal approval. He also said that no MPs are on the list, which is restricted to those who engage in violent activities. MPs, nevertheless, have charged that intelligence officials have maintained surveillance over their movements; a Communist MP alleged that the government has tapped the telephones of and maintained surveillance over his party members. (UNCLASSIFIED, Reuters 1134, December 17)

INR Comment: Indian law permits telephone taps and personal surveillance. Both practices were widely used by Prime Minister Gandhi against her political opponents during the 1975-77 State of Emergency. The new Janata government probably uses these powers far more sparingly, but it is unlikely that it will abandon them entirely. These police powers date back to the pre-independence period and are widely accepted in India as necessary to maintain law and order. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Pakistan

Mrs. Bhutto Under House Arrest For Threatening Agitation. The military government has placed Mrs. Nusrat Bhutto, wife of the jailed ex-Prime Minister and leader of the formerly dominant Pakistan People's Party (PPP), under house arrest for two weeks from December 27 to January 10. Mrs. Bhutto was to have led a "Day of Democracy" agitation on January 5 (her husband's birthday) to demand his release and a return to civilian government. She has also threatened street violence unless the government immediately calls for elections. The Bhuttos' 24-year old daughter, along with prominent PPP leaders in the Punjab, was arrested on December 20 in the wake of a pro/anti-PPP riot stirred up by the two Bhutto women at a cricket match in Lahore.

INR Comment: Mrs. Bhutto's house arrest carries out a threat General Zia ul-Haq made on December 19 when he learned of the cricket match fracas. According to a reliable source, he has become more impatient with Mrs. Bhutto's provocative political behavior and evidently feels that the planned January 5 demonstration would have posed a significant threat to public order. All outdoor political activity has been banned since Zia postponed the elections in October.

General Zia has been observing some of the niceties of due process. Miss Bhutto was given the right to challenge her house arrest in court; other provincial courts are full of cases brought by PPP sympathizers challenging the legality of Mr. Bhutto's detention. A Supreme Court ruling in November upheld the legality of the present martial law regime, but also held that the regime is answerable to the law and the constitution for its actions. LATIN AMERICA

Chile Now Less of an Issue in UN. USUN reports that the majority of the non-aligned nations are losing interest in the human rights issue in Chile because

--US policy towards Chile has defused efforts by certain delegations (e.g., Cuba) to use condemnation of the Chilean Government as a rallying point for non-aligned anti-Americanism; and

--there is general recognition that the Chilean human rights situation has improved.

The "tired and frustrated" Working Group (WG) on Chile also recognizes that human rights progress has been made, and hopes to find a way to make a quiet exit from the scene while making it appear that the UN has won a victory. Members of the WG believe that this aim could be achieved if the Chilean Government would invite it for a visit, thereby enabling them to write a report finding that although some problems remain, there has been substantial improvement. The WG could then recommend that its mandate calling for vigorous oversight of Chile should be replaced by a much milder directive. However, negotiations over a possible visit remain stalemated over Chile's insistence on conditions unacceptable to the Working Group. (CONFIDENTIAL, USUN 5718, December 17)

INR Comment: [redacted] suggest that Perez is prepared to use harsh counterterrorist methods, including summary execution of guerrillas and their supporters. It seems likely, that DISIP and the military have been proceeding in a heavy-handed manner against the approximately 150-200 insurgents, who are more of an embarrassment than a threat to the government.

President Perez' basic inclination probably is to proceed against guerrillas with all available means. He is likely to be restrained by solicitude for his party's chances in the upcoming presidential election, however, as well as the need to preserve his own reputation as a human rights champion and the most outspoken regional supporter of the US rights policy.

Argentina

Christmas Amnesty Affects 432 Prisoners. On December 23 the government announced an amnesty affecting 432 persons jailed by the executive branch under state of siege powers. Three hundred and eighty-nine prisoners were released from executive custody, and 43 more were expelled, permitted to leave the country, paroled, or placed under house arrest. This was the largest release of executive detainees under the current military government, although, as Embassy Buenos Aires notes, it fell far short of expectations entertained by some observers.

Release from executive detention means only that those named will not be charged under national security laws; an unknown number of the 389 named may continue in jail as a result of parallel and pending criminal charges.

The government also stated that there are now 3,607 persons being held under executive authority, and that a list of their names will be published "at an opportune time." There is no way to check the government's figures. (CONFIDENTIAL, Buenos Aires 9881, December 28)

INR Comment: Whether the 389 are physically freed or held for criminal proceedings, official acknowledgement of their detentions means that they can now expect normal prison treatment, and they no longer are candidates for the list of "disappeareds." The 17 protesters associated with the "Mothers of Plaza de Mayo" who disappeared in mid-December were not included in the amnesty, and no information has yet been received about them. (CONFIDENTIAL)

EAST ASIA and the PACIFIC

Indonesia

Massive Prisoner Release Goes Off on Schedule. The government announced the release on December 20 of 10,000 political prisoners. Official spokesmen said that while the detainees were being given "complete freedom," they would still be subject to government control and guidance "until their loyalty is assured." Those who could not find jobs, or who had no families to rejoin, would be offered voluntary resettlement outside of overcrowded Java. A house, two hectares of land, and temporary subsistence would be provided for each family.

During the release ceremonies the detainees took an oath of allegiance to Indonesia, agreed to be available to the authorities for further questioning on security matters, and pledged not to engage in actions to undermine political stability.

Embassy Jakarta officers who attended release ceremonies found the detainees generally in good health and spirits and saw no evidence of intimidation regarding resettlement. The government has promised foreign ambassadors and the International Committee of the Red Cross access to camps and resettlement areas. Amnesty International has called for the release of all remaining prisoners immediately and unconditionally, and says that it is unwilling to accept the December 20 release at its face value until the names, dates, and places of release are publicly made available. (UNCLASSIFIED, FBIS, December 20; UNCLASSIFIED, New York Times, December 20; CONFIDENTIAL, Medan 6498, December 20; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Jakarta 17054, December 20)

Six Boys Die in Cramped Cell. Reuter reports that the official Indonesian news agency issued a release on December 26 stating that six boys, between 10 and 16 years of age, had died in an eight-by-fourteen foot cell in South Sumatra, apparently because they could not get enough fresh air. They reportedly had been in prison since December 21, following their arrest for having put road blocks in front of a house. (UNCLASSIFIED, Reuter, December 26)

INR Comment: This tragic case of official neglect, if true, will not be helpful in Indonesia's attempts to improve its human rights reputation. (UNCLASSIFIED)

South Korea

Kim Moved to "Half-Way House". Government authorities transferred imprisoned opposition party leader. Kim Tae-jung to a hospital on December 19 for treatment of a rheumatoid condition he suffered from prior to his arrest last year. They denied he was being released on "sick bail" and said that his legal status remained unchanged. The event has renewed speculation among Korean dissidents about the timetable for the release of other political prisoners. (CONFIDENTIAL, Seoul 10652, 10672, December 19 and 22, respectively)

INR Comment: Seoul's disclaimer notwithstanding, Kim now enjoys better living conditions and greater access to his family and lawyer. His transfer to a de facto half-way house also may make it easier for negotiators from the KCIA and dissident church groups to agree on a compromise solution for the release of other political prisoners. If this occurs--and dissident sources expect some releases by the end of the year--it will, in turn, set the stage for Kim's eventual release. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Philippines

INR Comment: This is the second reported such instruction in six months. After a similar instruction in June apparently resulted in a decline in countersubversion initiatives, however, Marcos reportedly let it be known that the instruction would not be strictly enforced. [redacted] say that the new instructions are being enforced, recent evidence of the torture of Communist Party chairman Jose Sison after his capture on November 10 raises doubts about how much the situation has improved.

Cambodia/UK

UK to Propose Cambodia Rights Resolution in UNHRC. Embassy Brussels reports that the British representative told the meeting of European Community political directors on December 14 that the UK will introduce a resolution charging human rights violations in Cambodia at the February meeting of the UN Human Rights Commission. APARTADO M8644 MEXICO I, D.F

DECLARACION DE PRINCIPIOS

Los familiares de presos, muertos y desaparecidos por razones políticas en la República Argentina, sentimos la necesidad y el deber de dirigirnos al pueblo mexicano, a sus instituciones y a la opinión pública en general, con el obeto de dar a conocer los fundamentos de nuestra actividad como comisión de familiares (COSOFAM).

Residimos en México, bajo el amparo solidario del pueblo y el gobierno de este país. Estamos aca porque el ataque que han sufrido nuestros familiares y, en muchos casos, nosotros mismos, nos ha obligado, a transitar el camino del exilio.

Pero aunque estemos geográficamente lejos de nuestra patria y de nuestros seres queridos, sentimos la impostergable nocesidad de proteger la vida, la integridad y la felicidad de ellos.

Nuestra máxima aspiración es que la paz y la justicia vuelva a ser marco digno de la vida de todos los argentinos.

Ha corrido ya mucha sangre sobre nuestras ciudades y nuestros campos. Sangre de nuestros hijos, esposos, padres y hermanos.

La lista de presos, muertos y desaparecidos crece dia a día, desgarrando a miles de familias argentinas.

La persecución, la tortura, los vejámenes, se han convertido en una práctica cotidiana de persecución política.

¿Quienes son las víctimas?

Ancianos, mujeres, hombres y niños, extranjeros o argentinos, de cualquier credo o religión, campesinos, obreros, estudiantes o profesionales, cuyo único delito fue y es alzar sus voces sensibles y humanitarias, para pedir justicia. La justicia que se expresa en un trabajo digno, en escuela para los hijos, en el pan para todos, en la seguridad, en el derecho a vivir sin temor, en el pleno respeto a los derechos humanos.

¿Quienes son los responsables?

La Junta Militar Argentina que desde el 24 de marzo de 1976 agudiza el proceso represivo en contra del pueblo y todas aquellas personas que le prestan su ayuda.

Esta es la tragedia de nuestros familiares y de todo nuestro pueblo. Es por ello que nos hemos unido, para hacerla conocer y para movilizar a todos los hombres respetuosos de los derechos humanos, para exigir el fin de este baño de sangre sin precedentes en nuestra historia.

No nos alienta ningún movil ajeno a nuestra condición de familiares, actuamos libres de cualquier tutelaje partidario, político o religioso. Y bienvenidos a todas aquellas personas o instituciones que, sintiendo la nuestra como una causa justa y humana deseen ayudarnos.

OBJETIVOS

a) Respecto a nuestros familiares presos.
1.—Suspensión definitiva de todo tipo de tortura y vejámenes.
2.—Libertad inmediata a todos los presos sin causas y vigencia plena del derecho de opción conforme lo establece la Constitución Nacional.
3.—Garantías para la integridad física y psíquica de los presos políticos.
4.—Que se juzgue a todos los detenidos con causa conforme a la Constitución Nacional y leyes que no contravengan a esta.
5.—Alojamiento de todos los presos en penales federales provinciales.
6.—Publicación mensual de la nómina de los detenidos.
7.—Garantías para que los liberados no sean nuevamente objeto de la represión.

b) Respecto a nuestros familiares no reconocidos oficialmente.
1.—Publicación de nóminas.
2.—Donde están y cuál es su estado de salud.
3.—Cese de detenciones y centros de detención no reconocidos oficialmente.

c) Respecto a nuestros familiares muertos.
1.—Publicación de la nómina de muertos en manos de los organismos represivos del estado. (Fuerzas de seguridad, paramilitares y parapoliciales).
2.—Lugar y fecha y circunstancias de su muerte.
3.—Entrega de los cuerpos a los familiares.

d) Respecto a nuestros familiares asilados.
1.—Otorgamiento de salvoconducto a todos los asilados en las distintas embajadas en la Argentina.

e) Cese definitivo de la persecución y represalias a los familiares de presos, muertos y desaparecidos por causas políticas.

f) Solidaridad material y moral con la lucha de los familiares en Argentina.

LA PAZ COMIENZA CON LA VERDAD Y LA JUSTICIA

"Hoy Argentina, la prensa censurada, la Iglesia perseguida, el pueblo padeciendo hambre e injusticia, campos de concentración y cárcel para miles y miles de hombres y mujeres de nuestra patria, sometidos a las más terribles crueldades.

"Nosotros desde acá, estiramos nuestras manos y sabemos que nos encontraremos con las de ustedes y que nuestra voz callada ahora por este bárbaro sistema, serán mil voces, las de ustedes mostrando al mundo la verdadera cara de esta Argentina bañada en sangre".

Llamado de un preso político argentino.

La persona abajo firmante

Señora Laura Beatríz Bonaparte de Bruschtein domiciliada en Atoyac 26 Dto. 10, Col. Cuauhtemoc, México 5, D.F., desea comunicar a la Comisión Interamericana de Derechos Humanos para los fines previstos en su estatuto y Reglamento lo siguiente:

1. Aída Leonora Bruschstein nacida en Beunos Aires 21 Mayo 1951 soltera, de profesión maestra.

Hechos: A las 10 horas de la mañana, el 24 de Diciembre de 1975 fue secuestrada por personal del Ejercito Argentino (Batallon 601) de su lugar de trabajo como maestra de alfabetisación en la villa de Monte Chingolo, Pcia. de Buenos Aires. Un día antes fue the escena de un frentamiento que dejó un saldo de 100 muertos mas o menos, incluyendo muchos vecinos del lugar. Sin previa identificación fue fusilada ese mismo día y enterrada en un fosa común en el cementerio de Avellaneda. La identificación posterior a su muerte fue realizada a través del frasco No. 24 donde se encontraban sus manos cercenadas, dato proporcionado por el Juzgado No. 8 de La Plata. Ver anexo en inglés para informe más detallado. Muchos testigos incluyendo personal militar que informaron de los tratos bestiales que fueron sometidos antes de ser muerto.

En enero de 1976 yo, domiciliada en Lavalle 730, 5to Piso, Dto. 9 de Capital Federal entabló un juicio por asesinato al Ejercito Argentino en el Juzgado No. 8 de La Plata.

Fosa Común: En la comisaria principal de la Policia de la Provincia de Buenos Aires, alrededor de 12 de enero, me informaron después de un interrogatorio de tres horas que mi hija estaba enterrada en la Fosa 28 del cementerio de Avellaneda. Al día siguiente fui al cementerio donde descubro la fosa común. Era una cuadrada de cinco por cinco entre la pared del fondo y el deposito de Coronas de Flores. Al lado había una foso de agua verde - en cima una cruzecito con un cajón abierta. Me causó una impresión tan tremenda que de esa forma se había enterado mas que 100 personas incluyendo mi propia hija. Dejé mas flores y me fuí.

2. Santiago Bruschtein, Argentino, Nacido 15 diciembre de 1918, padre de Aída Leonora Bruchstein, y doctor bioquimico teniendo un laboratorio en la ciudad de Moron.

Hecho: El 11 de Junio de 1976 llega un grupo de miembros de las Fuerzas Armadas vestidos de civil y fuertemente armados a su departamento en la calle Lavalle 730 5to piso, Dto. 9, Capital Federal circa de mediodía. Por estar doliendo de un infarto cardiaco estaba acostado acompañandole una enfermera. Sus medicos pronosticaban unos 3 meses más de vida y así estaba practicamente en un estado muribundo. Irrumpieron en su departamento pidiendo por mi y los hijos preguntando "Como un judio Hijo de puta se atreve a hacer un juicio por asesinato al ejercito Argentino" Lo hicieron levantar y golpeandolo, lo metieron en un coche, negandole totalmente que llevara algunos de sus remedios. En todo el operativo, segun testigos, participaron mas de 20 coches. Nunca más supimos de él. Segúninformes extra oficiales habrá fallicido al administrarle el personal militar los primeros golpes pero hasta el día de hoy no sernos devolvió ni siquiera su cuerpo.

3. Patricia Villa, Argentina, nacida en Buenos Aires, 1952, periodista, trabajaba en el Inter Press News Agency. Era hermana de mi nuera Ana Villa de Bruschtein.

Hecho: Septiembre de 1976: a las dos de la tarde llegó a su oficina del Inter Press en Buenos Aires una comisión policial quien la detuvo frente a muchos testigos. Fue llevada a la Coordinación Federal, Calle Moreno, Capital Federal. Una semana después su familia fue notificada por personal de la marina Argentina de su muerte. Les piden mantener el hecho como "secreto" si no le iban a pasar lo mismo a ellos. Sin embargo co cadaver nunca fue devuelta a su familia ni tampoco identificado.

4. Eduardo Suarez, Argentino nacido 1948. Marido de Patricia Villa, periodista unico hijo.

Hecho: En días posteriores a la detención de Patricia Villa fue arrestado en la calle de Capital Federal y llevado a Co-ordinación Federal. De ahí no se supo mas nada a pesar de todas las denuncias.

5. Adrian Saidón, Argentino, nacido 1952, empleado Prometido de mi hija Alda. Hechos Los primeros días de Marzo, 1976, fue muerto por la policia en un enfrentamiento en la calle. Su cadaver nunca fue entregado a su papá, el Dr. Adrian Saidón, abogado y empresario a pesar de sus reclamos.

6. Irene Mónica Bruschstein de Ginsburg, Argentina, nacida el 21 de Agosto, 1954 de profesión artista plastica, casada con Mario Ginsburg Argentino, nacido en 1952, maestro mayor de obras y estudiante de architectura.

Hechos El dia 11 de mayo de 1977 a las 6 de la mañana entró en su departamento de Capital Federal una delegación conjunta de la Policia Federal y el Ejercito Argentino. Llevaron detenidos la pareja matrimonial, dejando los hijos Victoria de dos años nueve meses, y Hugo Roberto de un año y cinco meses de edad en la puerta del edificio.

Yo presenté inmediatamente un recurso habeas corpus en la embajada de Argentina en México, el padre de Mario hizo lo mismo en Buenos Aires por su hijo. Hizo denuncias a las Naciones Unidas, Amnestía Internacional, etc. A pesar de todo todavia no hay un indicio oficial sobre el paradero de su detención. Tengo una esperanza firme de que esten con vida.

La detención y desaparición de mi hija Irene Mónica y de su marido Mario figura ante su comisión como el caso Nº 2676 O.E.A.

Hasta ahora no hay respuesta del gobierno Argentino a este caso.

Como madre ,imposibilitada de volver a la Argentina por las razones descriptas y teniendo en cuenta la situación de completa inseguridad de Irene y Mario toda vez que no existe un jurista que pueda hacerse cargo de promover los recursos pertinentes en Buenos Aires pido que intervengan todas las instituciones que luchan por la defensa de los Derechos Humanos a fin que se inicie el procedimiento necesario y poder salvaguardar la vida y la libertad de las personas mencionadas.

DENUNCIA TESTIMONIAL:

La abajo firmante

Susana Yofre de Vaca Narvaja

de nacionalidad argentina, domiciliada en Cerrada de Mercaderes 16,2do.Piso, Dpto.202, Mexico 19, desea testimoniar ante la Comision Interamericana de Derechos Humanos para los fines previstos en su Estatuto y Reglamento lo siguiente:

1)NOMBRE DE LA PERSONA:

MIGUEL HUGO VACA NARVAJA:

Nacido en la Provincia de Córdoba, el 5 de Julio de 1915, libreta de Enrolamiento 2772633, de profesión abogado, padre de 12 hijos, fue Ministro - de Hacienda y de Gobierno a nivel Provincial, Presidente del Banco de Córdoba por dos periodos, profesor de la Universidad, Ministro del Interior y Candidato al Gobernador de Córdoba por la Unión Cívica Radical Intrasigente.

DOMICILIO:

Villa Walcarde, Córdoba

EL HECHO:

El 1o de Marzo de 1976 a las dos menos cuarto de la mañana penetraron en el domicilio doce hombres fuertemente armados identificándose como miembros de la Policia Federal. En esos momentos nos encontrabamos descansando mi marido, mi hijo Gonzalo y yo. Ellos dijeron que venían a practicar un allanamiento. Ataron las manos de mi esposo atras con una tira de plástico, lo llevaron al living y le prohibieron hablar. A mi hijo y a mi nos pusieron contra la pared en uno de los dormitorios con la cabeza tapada. Durante mas de media hora, revisaron y saquearon toda la casa. Robaron joyas artículos del hogar, treinta y tres peliculas filmadas de la familia, un proyector, cintas grabadas de discursos de mi marido de cuando era Ministro. Yo tuve una crisis nerviosa y empecé a gritar. Apresuraron el procedimiento "legal" y me llamaron para que me despidiera de mi marido que estaba con ropa de dormir y cubierto con una cubrecama. Yo pregunto entonces si es un procedimiento legal porque se lo llevan de esa forma. Entonces llaman a mi hijo para que le alcance un pantalón y zapatos. De esta manera mi esposo es retirado de casa y por versión de vecinos que presenciaron el hecho fue introducido en el baul de uno de los coches , ya que eran tres los coches en que se hicieron presentes.

No dejaron constancia del procedimiento, en el cual nada fue hallado, que pudiera comprometernos.

Esa misma noche nos presentamos en la seccional 14 de la policía de la Provincia de Córdoba para denunciar el hecho. A las diez de la mañana del mismo dia 10 de Marzo se presento un recurso de Habeas Corpus en el juzgado Federal No.1. Fuimos a todos los organismos de seguridad y en todas partes respondieron que ellos no habian practicado el procedimiento. Quiero dejar constancia que esa misma noche en Cordoba se produjeron once secuestros mas. Desde entonces nunca mas hemos sabido de mi esposo.

2) A partir del secuestro de mi esposo, nuestro numeroso grupo familiar comienza a recibir amenazas de muerte, razon por la cual 26 miembros de mi familia pedimos asilo en la Embajada de Mexico, la que nos lo concedio con toda generosidad.

3) NOMBRE DE LA PERSONA:

MIGUEL HUGO VACA NARVAJA YOFRE

Nacido en la provincia de Cordoba, el 20 de Junio de 1941, de profesion abogado, casado y padre de 3 hijos. Fue procuardor del tesoro de la provincia de Cordoba, periodista de Radio Universidad, profesor suplente de la Universidad de Cordoba, profesor de historia del Colegio Nacional de Montserrat. Defensor de presos politicos y apoderado del Partido Autentico en Cordoba.

EL HECHO:

Fue detenido por la policía de la Provincia de Cordoba en el Juzgado Federal el 20 de Noviembre de 1975 mientras representaba al padre del joven Ciriani, que habia sido muerto por apremios ilegales en una dependencia policial. Desde ese dia hasta el 24 de Marzo de 1976 nunca fue indagado. Al no tener causa ni proceso se tramitó la opción para salir del pais, tramite que estaba terminado y el que le permitía viajar a Francia.

Despues del golpe militar, el penal no permitio que los presos politicos recibieran visita de sus familiares, ni de sus abogados, ni de sacerdotes. El 12 de Agosto de 1976 fecha en que aun seguían sin visitas, en un comunicado que aparecio en los diarios emitido por el 3er. cuerpo de Ejercito, anuncio la muerte de mi hijo con otros 2 detenidos Toranzo y Debreuil . El comunicado decia que al ser trasladados para ser interrogados habían intentado fugarse. Pero yo digo que esto no es cierto y paso a detallar porque:

Los presos que a fines de Setiembre fueron trasladados del penal de Cordoba, al penal de Sierra Chica, en el que sí habia visitas, contaron a sus familiares lo que realmente su-cedio: Los tres jovenes fueron trasladados al patio del penal. Junto con ellos llevaron a otro preso para que presenciaria el fusilamiento de sus compañeros diciendole que al volver contara a sus compañeros lo que habia visto y que si no se portaban bien a todos les pasaria lo mismo.

4. CARLOS FELIPE ALTAMIRA YOFRE

Nacido el 29 de Julio de 1947 en la provincia de Còrdoba, soltero de profesión abogado,miembro del Colegio de Abogados de Córdoba,defensor de pros políticos y actuó en la investigación de los hechos de mi marido.

HECHO

El 27 de Mayo de 1976 a las 5 de la tarde mientras se diri a la casa de un cliente "Empresa MacKentor,Pavimentadora y Constructora de Córdoba" fué interceptado por hombres armados y según un testigo fué golpeado e introducido en el baù de un auto.Fuentes fidedignas indicaban que el Doctor Altamira estaba detenido en la Div sión de Informaciones de la Policía de la Provincia de Córdoba.Su madre presentó Habeas pus.No hubo contestación a este.Se dirigió al 3º Cuerpo del Ejército,negando estos que l tuvieran.Una semana después de detenido una patrulla militar se presentò a la empresa ll vándose las fichas y expedientes del Doctor Altamira ,cuya información según el oficial, la había obtenido del Doctor Altamira.

Además del recurso de Habeas Corpus,se hicieron telegramas a las autoridades nacionales eclesiásticas e inclusive organismos internacionales sin que hasta el momento se sepa su paradero.

5. GABRIELA YOFRE

Nacida el 4 de Junio de 1951 en Córdoba.Estudiante universi taria y madre de un hijo de 3 años.

HECHO

Entre los días 28 y 29 de Octubre de 1976,cuando caminaba po las calles de Capital Federal,sin precisar donde ,desapareció según de cree en un operat vo de control militar.Desde entonces no se supo mas de ella.Como consecuencia sus padres tuvieron que salir del país.

6. MARIA JOSE YOFRE

Argentina de 27 años ,detenida en"unidad 2" de Villa Devoto, a disposición del Poder Ejecutivo Nacional (PEN) .Tiene pedida la opción y pido que le sea permitido salir del país.

Solicito a la Organización de los Estados Americanos protección para su vida .

DENUNCIA TESTIMONIAL:

Por la persona abajo firmante, SUSANA DE MIGEZ ,

En favor de:LIDIO ANTONIO MIGUEZ, nacido en Buenos Aires año 1940, de profesion empresario(fabricante de muñecos de mano y juguetes). Padre de tres hijos.

LOS HECHOS : El dia 10 de Enero de 1976, aproximadamente a las 4,15hs. de la mañana, fuimos despertados por fuertes golpes en la puerta de nuestra casa, Calle Juan Maurizzi 162, Córdoba.

Se presentaron alrededor de 15 personas, vestidas de civil, que dijeron ser policias. Allanaron nuestra casa y se llevaron a mi marido.

Ya en la mañana hicimos la denuncia del hecho, presentamos un recurso de Habeas Corpus ante el Juzgado Federal NO 1, redactado en su estudio por el Dr Jorge de la Rua. Hasta la fecha no hemos obtenido ninguna respuesta a las acciones realizadas y no hay indicios del lugar donde se podria encontrar mi marido.

Es de destacar que en la misma madrugada de la detencion de mi esposo, fueron detenidas, en similares caracteristicas, otras 16 personas mas.

En el mes de Marzo del mismo año, fueron descubiertos en el Lago San Roque,(Prov. de Cordoba) 24 cadáveres que nunca fueron identificados.

Algunas de los nombres que yo recuerdo de las persona s que desaparecieron junto con mi marido son: HECTOR OVERLIN-PILAR LOPEZ-NORMA WAQUIN-GLORIA WAQUIN-DANIEL SUAREZ Y SU ESPOSA-FERRARIS-A NNONE-BAUDRACCO. De ellos hasta el dia de hoy tampoco se sabe nada.

El Dr. Jorge de la Rua que hizo el habeas corpus de mi marido, se encuentra hoy exiliado en Venezuela, por amenazas recibidas por ser defensor de presos politicos.

A partir de la desaparicion de mi esposo, junto con otros familiares paso a integrar la COMISION de desaparecidos por causas politicas de la Pvcia.

da que inician todos los días decenas de familiares que lo único que piden es saber donde se encuentra su familiar.

Es así como nos presentamos, siempre en grupo, para nuestra propia seguridad, ante el 3er.Cuerpo de Ejército a cargo del General Lucio Benjamin Menendez, quien desde noviembre del año 75 se había hecho cargo del área seguridad y a quien responsabilizamos de todoas las detenciones.

Tambien nos presentamos ante la Aeronáutica, a la Gobernacion, a los juzgados Federal y Provincial, a la Policia Federal y Provincial, al Arzobispado. Enviamos telegramas al Ministerio del Interior, a la Presidencia de la Nacion y también a la Secretaría de Seguridad. Es allí donde nos presentamos con una nota como Comisión de Familiares y en ella figura mi nombre pues yo fui una de las personas que integraban la Comisión.

Eran ya los ultimos dias de Enro de 1976 y el Gobierno convoca a una reunión multisectorial , donde concurren todas las fuerzas políticas, el Gobernador, el Ministro de Gobierno, el arzobispo de Córcdba, Monseñor Primatesta, y todos los sectores del pueblo. Los únicos ausentes a esa rarnion son la policia Federal y el Comandante del 3er. cuerpo ejército quienes eran los principales convocados.

Allí hablan unas 29 personas, cada uno por su agrupacion y yo lo hago en nombre dela Comisión. Todos piden al Gobierno el total esclarecimiento de los hechos y que las personas desaparecidas aparezcan con vida. Asi lo promete el Gobierno. Hasta el 24 de Marzo de 1976, en que se produce el golpe militar no tuvimos ninguna respuesta.

Una vez la Junta militar en el gobierno, la comisión de desaparecidos se une a la comisión de presos politicos y comenzamos un accionar conjunto. Volvemos a iniciar todos los pasos enumerados anteriormente y ya somos cerca 300 personas las que nos movilizamos. A mediados de abril en momentos que nos encontramos frente a Aeronautica, camino a Carlos Paz, más de 30) personas fuimos amenazados y a los gritos nos ordenaron retirarnos, Al no cumplir la orden

In 1978, a group of relatives of disappeared Uruguayans formed in Paris an association of families of disappeared Uruguayans (A.F.U.D.E.) to concern itself with the persisting problem of the disappearances of Uruguayan citizens in Uruguay and in neighboring countries. The A.F.U.D.E., composed of mothers, wives, sisters, and husbands of disappeared Uruguayans, seeks to inform international public opinion of the gravity of the systematic practices of the Uruguayan government to cause its citizens to "disappear", and to obtain information on the whereabouts of their disappeared relatives.

Representatives of A.F.U.D.E. have lodged complaints about the inhuman practices of their government before international bodies and have attended meetings of the U.N. Human Rights Commission to talk to governmental representatives and parliamentarians about their disappeared relatives. Two A.F.U.D.E. representatives have come to the United States to talk to U.S. government officials, United Nations representatives, and members of the Organization of American States about the documented list of over 100 persons disappeared since 1973, and also to present new evidence of and testimony to the consistent practice of the Uruguayan government of violating all international Human Rights conventions and asylum treaties by pursuing the repressive practice of causing Uruguayan citizens to "disappear" in Uruguay, Argentina, Paraguay, and Brazil.

MARIA DEL CARMEN ALMEIDA DE QUINTEROS: Mother of Elena Quinteros (30 years old), who was kidnapped by the Uruguayan armed forces in June 1976 on the grounds of the Venezuelan embassy in Montevideo. As a result of Elena's kidnapping from the embassy, a breach of diplomatic asylum treaties, the Venezuelan government broke off diplomatic relations with Uruguay. For the past three years, Mrs. Quinteros has been trying to get information on the whereabouts of her disappeared daughter.

General Background

Since 1973, there has been a progressive deterioration of the human rights situation in Uruguay: the General Assembly was dissolved; constitutional guarantees were suspended; all Union and political activities are prohibited; and cases of arbitrary detention, torture, and disappearances are rising precipitously in number. Many international bodies, including the O.A.S. (see 1978 CIDH report, 1976 CIDH Annual Report) have condemned the brutal practices of the Uruguayan government and its military.

Approximately 400,000 Uruguayans, 18% of the active population, have left their country, 200,000 of them going to Argentina. There are approximately 5,000 political prisoners in Uruguay and over 50 reported deaths from ill-treatment, suicide, and torture, as well as over 15 disappearances in Uruguay. In 1974, the Uruguayan government began kidnapping political refugees in Argentina. In recent months, testimonies have been received confirming the collusion between the Uruguayan, Paraguayan, Brazilian, and Argentine security forces in the "disappearance" of Uruguayan citizens; this collusion is in violation of asylum treaties. 77 Uruguayans, including 6 children, have disappeared in Argentina. Some of these have been seen in Argentinian jails and pozos (wells), and some have been transferred to Uruguayan jails. 2 Uruguayans who disappeared in Paraguay were later seen in Uruguayan prisons. In Brazil, 4 Uruguayan disappeared in 1978, including 2 children. The O.A.S. Inter-American Commission on Human Rights passed Resolution 2155 in February 1979 accusing the Argentine and Uruguayan governments of cooperation in repressing the political exile community by illegally returning exiles to their home countries.

Mrs. Quinteros has additional information to present to the United Nations, the O.A.S., to the U.S. government, and to Mrs. Rosalynn Carter regarding the problem of disappeared Uruguayans.

Guinea

Situation Improves. According to Embassy Conakry, during December Sekou Toure ordered the releases of at least 62 political prisoners, the largest single political amnesty in Guinea's history. Those released appear to have been mostly middle- to higher-level former officials of less than ministerial rank arrested in a 1970-72 political purge (in the paranoid period that followed the raid on Conakry by Portuguese-backed exiles). Toure's motives for the amnesty derive essentially from his apparent willingness to listen once more to moderate advisors who appear to have urged pragmatism and conciliation internally (internal pressures which built up last summer have eased), pressures from abroad (particularly France and the US) concerning human rights, as well as from Toure's interest in increasing foreign assistance in an effort to correct internal economic weaknesses and lack of development. More releases reportedly are scheduled during the early part of this year. According to an Embassy source, it is intended that virtually all ranking political prisoners will be released before the end of 1978.

In a related development, Toure gave his assent last week for a visit to Guinea by a group representing the International Committee of the Red Cross to observe the human rights situation in Guinea. No date for the visit has yet been set. (CONFIDENTIAL, Conakry 2417, Conakry 0012, Conakry 0047, December 27, January 4, and January 6, respectively)

Kenya

Leading Intellectual Jailed. Embassy Nairobi reports that police arrested Kenya's leading intellectual dissident, author, and chairman of the Department of Literature of the University of Nairobi, Ngugi Wa Thiongo, on December 30. According to Wa Thiongo's wife, the police searched the house, confiscated 100 books, and detained the author for questioning. There has been no further word concerning his whereabouts, the specific reason for his detention, or the government's intentions in the case.

An avowed Marxist, Wa Thiongo has written forceful condemnations of the country's political-economic system, lambasting especially the current system and the acquisitiveness of the new Kikuyu elite. According to one source, President

~~SECRET~~/NOFORN/NOCONTRACT/UNCLASSIFIED - XGDS-1,2

Kenyatta personally ordered the detention after some passages from a recently-published novel by Wa Thiongo were read to him.

Until now, leading intellectuals, journalists, and other critics not directly involved in the political process have been perceived as less of a threat than dissident politicians and have not been imprisoned. If, however, Wa Thiongo coninues to be held (either under the provisions of the Public Safety Act or for purported criminal offenses such as possession of subversive literature), Embassy Nairobi feels that there can be little doubt about the extent of the government's tolerance for criticism, and predicts that it will eventually be exposed to more serious criticism on human rights than heretofore. (CONFIDENTIAL, Nairobi 0052 and 0273, January 3 and 6, respectively)

INR Comment: The detention of Wa Thiongo, who has a considerable following among disenchanted university elements, was probably timed to coincide with the school's Christmas break. Sharp penalties imposed upon protesting students by the government in the last few years have rendered student activism almost inconsequential, although there is some apprehension that the arrest may touch off student protest. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Madagascar

President Questions West on Human Rights Policies. In an interview on a wide range of foreign policy subjects with the Paris-based periodical Afrique-Asie, President Ratsiraka responded to a question about the US human rights campaign by characterizing it as a two-sided policy. He asked specifically why the West continues to trade with, arm, and lend money to countries like Chile, Brazil, South Korea, South Africa, and Rhodesia. The President also declared that there is "not one political detainee" in Madagascar. (UNCLASSIFIED, Antananarivo 17, January 6)

INR Comment: Madagascar, which permits anti-government declarations and even tolerates considerable alleged coup-plotting by known opponents of the government, has a relatively good human rights record. We believe, however, that some of the suspected conspirators whose arrests have been reported in the past few months may still be detained without due process. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Czechoslovakia

Factionalism Plagues Charter 77 Movement. According to Embassy Prague, Jiri Hajek, former Czechoslovak Foreign Minister and original Charter 77 spokesman, is considering resigning from the Charter 77 movement because of increasing factionalism and a trend toward anti-Soviet attitudes which are likely to lead to punitive actions. Catholics and a group of intellectuals centered around the moderate position of recently appointed Charter spokeswoman, pop singer Marta Hajek. (CONFIDENTIAL, Prague 0013, January 3)

INR Comment: The Charter 77 movement has been plagued with factionalism virtually from its establishment in January 1977. Differences reportedly have existed between Czechs and Slovaks, Catholics and Protestants, intellectuals, and non-intellectuals, and former (expelled) Communists and non-Communists. There is also said to have been opposition to Kubisova's appointment as spokeswoman last fall--allegedly because she appealed to elements more interested in defying the regime than in furthering the human rights struggle.

Factionalism within the Charter 77 movement has, for months, made it virtually impossible for the leadership to take decisive action. Hajek, the last of the three original spokesmen (one died of a stroke last March following intensive police interrogation and the other ceased his Charter activities after being released from prison), has been a powerful force in keeping the movement together. His resignation during this troubled time would constitute a serious setback to the movement. (CONFIDENTIAL)

USSR

Dissident Activity Continues. Embassy Moscow reports that Soviet tactics against dissidents in 1977 were reasonably successful in minimizing potentially embarrassing dissident activity during the Belgrade Conference and the October Revolution anniversary celebrations. While the Shcharanskiy case was drawing greater attention in the West than the Soviets probably expected, they apparently were able to break up embryonic human rights movements in Vilnius, Kiev, Tbilisi, and Yerevan. The Soviet tactics include isolating dissidents:

--from the West, through harassment of Western correspondents, stifling contacts with embassy officials, and curtailing the flow of mail;

--from one another, through exile, emigration, infiltration, and intimidation of family members; and

--from the Soviet public, through press attacks, close control of demonstrations, and arrest.

Nevertheless, dissident activities have not been halted; personal contacts with Westerners continue, and new members are joining the Helsinki group. The Embassy believes that the KGB will pursue its tactics in 1978, but not to the degree necessary to bring dissident activities to a complete halt. Potential sources of increased activism in 1978 are:

--the Shcharanskiy, Ginzburg, and Orlov trials; and

--broadening of refusenik demands for emigration rights to issues of religious freedom and Jewish cultural rights.

The Embassy believes that Soviet leaders are concerned about the consequences of a Shcharanskiy treason trial both at home and abroad. It estimates that they are prepared to accept possible negative foreign policy consequences, however, rather than tolerate any loss of domestic control. INR Review and Analysis

Implications of Pinochet Plebiscite Victory. Pinochet's overwhelming vote of support (75 percent) in the January 4 referendum, in which Chileans were asked to support or negate the legitimacy of his government

--will increase his personal power;

--seems likely to stall any moves toward internal liberalization; and

--will probably harden the regime's resistance to external pressures for improvements in human rights.

Pinochet called for the "national consultation" because he was angry and frustrated by what he perceived as US-Cuban collusion in the UN to pass a resolution condemning human rights violations in Chile. He clearly expected to win the plebiscite, but the margin of victory was larger than he had expected. Even given the element of fear which may have motivated some Chileans to vote "Yes," and the fact that opposition elements were largely denied the opportunity to express their positions publicly, the magnitude of the victory indicates substantial support for the regime.

Pinochet is flushed with victory, and it is highly unlikely that he will respond positively to any US and/or international pressures for internal change at this time. He has stated publicly that neither the state of siege nor the curfew will be lifted, and that there will be no more elections for 10 years. Human rights progress in Chile is likely to be nonexistent in the immediate future, and if Pinochet perceives even a minimal threat to internal security, there may be a renewal of repressive measures.

It does not appear likely that, as clandestine sources reported earlier, he will carry out his threat to withdraw from the UN. However, should the UN Human Rights Commission, which meets in Geneva in February, pass another condemnatory resolution on Chile, Pinochet may reconsider that threat. (SECRET/NOFORN/NOCONTRACT)

A Stiff Letter to the UN. Immediately following Pinochet's January 4 plebiscite victory, he publicly promised Chileans that SYG Waldheim would be sent a harsh letter outlining Chile's position on the UN's condemnatory human rights resolution and its policy toward the UN Human Rights Commission. That letter was much milder than expected, according to Embassy Santiago.

The operative section stated: "I am informing you that the Chilean Government, from this moment on, will demand from the UNHRC a behavior strictly in accord with the law and in accord with the respect due it (Chile) and which our nation energetically demands as a sovereign and free country."

An official of the Foreign Ministry told the Embassy that negotiations with the UNHRC have not been broken off, and an on-site inspection by the commission remains a possibility. However, Chile is insisting upon new operational procedures, and if the UNHRC rebuffs this demand, Chile will restudy its position. (CONFIDENTIAL, Santiago 0106, January 6)

INR Comment: The government appears to be giving the UN and possibly the US another chance to soften what Pinochet views as discriminatory and unfair attitudes and policies toward Chile. The plebiscite victory has restored Pinochet's confidence, and he seems likely, at least in the near term, to resist UN demands to which he might previously have yielded. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Paraguay

Labor Leaders Detained. Embassy Asuncion has provided the following details concerning the mid-December arrest of Paraguayan labor and rural leaders:

--19 Christian Democratic trade unionists and rural activists are in jail, all having been beaten following their arrests and two apparently having been tortured by the Investigations Police;

--all 19 have been turned over to the courts on charges stemming from Paraguay's vague internal security laws; and

--judicial processing is liable to take months even if the detainees are found innocent.

The Paraguayan Labor Conferation (CTP), traditionally one of Stroessner's instruments of control, has protested the detentions in a letter to the Minister of Labor. It was the first time in 23 years, according to the Embassy, that the CTP has stood up to the government in defense of worker rights.

The Embassy attributes the incident to Police Chief Pastor Coronel's desire to maintain the myth of an omnipresent internal security threat to the country. The Embassy terms it a "major setback" for government officials disposed to improve Paraguay's human rights practices. (CONFIDENTIAL, Asuncion 17, 39, 76, and 91, January 3, 4, 6, and 9 respectively)

SUBJECT: UPDATE ON BANISHED CHILEAN CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS

REF: SANTIAGO 0300 (NOTAL) B) GENEVA 588

1. SUMMARY: THE DOZEN CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS (PDC) DETAINED JANUARY 13 ARRIVED AT THEIR DESTINATIONS IN REMOTE NORTHERN SITES JANUARY 14. THE RED CROSS REPRESENTATIVE HAS ASKED GENEVA'S AUTHORIZATION TO GET HIS DOCTOR TO THE AREA LATER THIS WEEK. THE GOC MOVED QUICKLY TO EFFECT THE BANISHMENT, RELYING ON STATE OF SEIGE EXECUTIVE POWERS. MEETING WITH THE AMBASSADOR THE EVENING OF JANUARY 15, PDC LEADERS SAID THEY VIEWED THE GOC'S ACTION AS A WARNING, BUT ADDED THAT IT MAY BE THE FIRST HINT OF THE ACROSS-THE-BOARD CRACKDOWN THAT GENERAL LEIGH HAS WARNED OF. THE EEC MAY CALL IN THE CHILEAN AMBASSADOR. END SUMMARY.

AYLWIN HAS BRONCHIAL PROBLEMS ASSOCIATE WITH ARRESTED TB. AYLWIN ACCORDING TO THE PDC, WAS EVACUATED TO PUTRE WHEN HE SUFFERED ALTITUDE SICKNESS BUT WAS RETURNED TO GUALLATIRI ONCE HE RECOVERED FROM THE INITIAL ATTACK. EDUARDO FREI CALLED NORTHERN ZONE COMMANDER, GENERAL TORO, JANUARY 15 AND WAS ASSURED THAT REYES' MEDICAL PROBLEMS WOULD BE ATTENTED TO. WE HAVE JUST LEARNED HE IS IN CODPA, NEAR SEA LEVEL.

4. WE HAVE SPOKEN WITH LOCAL ICRC REPRESENTATIVE RUEFLI WHO TELLS US THAT HE HAS ASKED GENEVA'S PERMISSION TO GO TO THE AREA HIMSELF EVENTUALLY AND TO BRING THE ICRC DOCTOR BACK FROM BUENOS AIRES AND GET HIM IN THE NORTH BY LATER THIS WEEK.

(E)

5. AS REPORTED REFTEL, SOME 16 PEOPLE WERE DETAINED IN CONNECTION WITH A MEETING HELD AT YOUTH LEADER YUNGE'S DOWNTOWN SANTIAGO OFFICE. LABOR SOURCES SAY THAT THE GATHERING WAS TO DISCUSS MODERATE PDC POLICY TOWARD CUTS IN THE BUDGET OF THE CARDIJN FOUNDATION, A CHURCH-RELATED LABOR SUPPORT ORGANIZATION. A WEEK OR SO EARLIER MORE RADICAL PDCERS WORKING AT THE CARDIJN HAD BRIEFLY SEIZED THE PREMISES OBJECTING TO PERSONNEL CUTS. THE GOC MUST HAVE BEEN CONFIDENT THAT THE MEETING WOULD BE A LONG ONE SINCE THEY ALERTED THE MEDIA AND MADE THEIR RAID AN HOUR AFTER THE SESSION STARTED.

6. WE STILL ARE NOT SURE JUST WHAT LEGAL AUTHORITY THE

GOC USED. VIOLATION OF THE POLITICAL RECESS HAS BEEN MADE A CRIME UNDER VARIOUS DECREE LAWS. IT APPEARS THE GOC USED ITS EXECUTIVE POWERS UNDERS THE STATE OF SIEGE TO DETAIN AND BANISH THE GROUP.

ZALDIVAR DESCRIBED THE GOC'S ACTIONS AS "MORBID." THE PAIR EXPRESSED CONCERN FOR THE HEALH OF REYES AND AYLWIN, BUT SEEMED COMFORTED BY THE RESPONSE FREI RECEIVED FROM GENERAL TORO (PARAGRAPH 3). THEY HOPED THAT A VISIT BY THE RED CROSS REPRESENTATIVE WOULD DETER THE GOC FROM IMPOSING SUCH HARSH BANISHMENTS IN THE FUTURE AS WELL AS MITIGATING CONDITIONS FOR THE 12. THEY SAID THAT ALTHOUGH BANISHMENT IS TRADITIONAL IN CHILE, NEVER BEFORE THE PRESENT REGIME HAVE PEOPLE BEEN SENT TO SUCH HAZARDOUS AREAS.

THE POSSIBILITY OF A MEETING WITH CAUAS.

10. COMMENT: WE TEND TO SUBSCRIBE TO ZALDIVAR'S THEORY THAT THE GOC TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE MEETING AS AN EXAMPLE FOR OTHER POLITICIANS RATHER THAN AS THE FIRST STEP IN A CALCULATED SWEEP. THE SEVERITY AND CALLOUSNESS OF THE SANCTION IS NOT UNPRECEDENTED, BUT REYES AND AYLWIN ARE THE BEST KNOWN POLITICAL FIGURES YET AFFECTED.

11. THE STEPS ALREADY TAKEN AND UNDERWAY APPEAR TO HAVE GREATLY REDUCED THE THREAT TO REYES' AND AYLWIN'S HEALTH AND WILL START THE PROCESS OF PUTTING PRESSURE ON THE GOC. WE DO NOT ANTICIPATE A LENGTHY BANISHMENT (THE LABOR LEADERS GOT OUT IN ABOUT A MONTH). WE ASSUME THAT DEBATE WITHIN THE GOC WILL BE SPEARHEADED BY THOSE WORKING ON THE BEAGLE CHANNEL ISSUE IN WHICH THE GOC IS BASING ITS FORMAL POSITION ON STRICT ADHERENCE TO INTERNATIONAL PRINCIPLES AND SEEKING WORLD SUPPORT.

12. FOR GENEVA: WE THINK IT IS A GOOD IDEA FOR THE RED CROSS TO GET UP AND SEE THE TWELVE AND VERIFY THE CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH THEY ARE LIVING. THE DOCTOR WOULD BE A GOOD START.

INR WEEKLY HIGHLIGHTS OF DEVELOPMENTS IN HUMAN RIGHTS

No. 40, January 19, 1978

AFRICA

South Africa

Destruction of Black Squatter Camp. American Consul Cape Town reports that South African workmen, escorted by an armed police guard, bulldozed about 100 shacks in a squatter camp 10 miles outside of Cape Town on January 16. The government claimed demolition was necessary to avoid a probable outbreak of typhoid due to the camp's lack of adequate sanitation facilities. Razing of the entire camp, "Unibell," would leave about 15,000 blacks, mostly women and children, homeless.

South African officials have indicated they would slow down demolition if the residents, primarily of the Xhosa tribe, voluntarily moved to their designated homeland, the Transkei. Transkei officials tried to stop the razing, but camp leaders have now rejected the advice of the "Transkei Consul" in Cape Town to accept the government offer of free rail transportation to return to the Transkei. The residents said they would remain at "Unibell" until the government offered an alternative site with both jobs and accommodations.

Under South Africa's "Population and Racial Control Law," blacks need official permission to live in white areas. Government policy has been to restrict permission to those who are effectively employed, usually men, and to deny it to their families. Few of the squatters had left the camp by the afternoon of the 16th, but the government position is unlikely to change, and razing will continue. Journalists were permitted to observe the demolition, but others were refused entry to the camp. (UNCLASSIFIED, Cape Town 0049, January 17)

Christmas Amnesty. Local human rights advocates, including a prominent member of the Permanent Assembly for Human Rights, have told Embassy Buenos Aires that most of the 389 persons listed as having been released from state-of-siege detention during the Christmas amnesty have, in fact, been released form jail. None of the Embassy's contacts claims to have examined the list on a case-by-case basis, but the Permanent Assembly spokesman said that he believed that at least 300 persons were granted full liberty and that, to his knowledge, none had been rearrested. (CONFIDENTIAL, Buenos Aires 0318, January 13)

INR Comment: If the Embassy's sources are correct, the Christmas amnesty represents a significant departure from the GOA's normal "release" policy. In the past, prisoners released from state-of-siege detention have usually remained in jail awaiting judicial action on parallel and pending criminal charges. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Chile

INR Review and Analysis.

Government Banishes Christian Democrats, Gives Safe Conduct to Asylees, Agrees to Admit Three Women. Acting from new confidence growing out of the January 4 plebiscite victory, the Pinochet government has arrested and sent into internal exile 12 Christian Democratic Party (PDC) leaders. The arrests are a clear signal that political activity will not be tolerated.

Pinochet almost certainly interprets his plebiscite victory as a personal mandate for carrying out the junta goal of structuring a new Chile in which the old political parties have no place. However, the government's treatment of the PDC leaders does not necessarily indicate the initiation of a new wave of repression. Their arrests and banishment have been well publicized, indicating that the government is making an example of them for other "recalcitrant" politicians. It is highly doubtful that Pinochet perceives the PDC as any clear and present threat to his government and the banishment of the party leaders may be of short duration (the late 1977 banishment of union leaders lasted approximately one month).

Internal exile or "rustication" is not an unprecedented practice in Chile politics. The government would probably brand any formal diplomatic protest as unwarranted interferences in the internal functioning of the nation. Since Pinochet is still euphoric over his plebiscite victory and in no mood to brook any international interference in his government, protests could even result in a prolongation rather than a shortening of the period of banishment.

In a more positive development, the Chilean Government agreed to safe-conducts for five political asylees in the in the Venezuelan Embassy in Santiago. It also agreed to the admission of the three women (Chilean nationals) previously excluded from Chile because of their intention to search for missing ("disappeared") relatives. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Uruguay

EASTERN EUROPE

Czechoslovakia

New Human Rights Document. The Charter 77 movement, commemorating the first anniversary of its establishment (January 1), has issued a document which calls on the regime to --release all political prisoners;

--cease harassment of human rights advocates;

--initiate a dialogue with Charter leaders "in appropriate places, not in the prison cells of State Security;" and

--honor the international covenants on human rights which it had ratified.

On January 12, Charter spokesmen released a letter thanking the Belgrade CSCE review conference for publicizing the Charter's demands for more human rights in Czechoslovakia. This was the first time that the Charter group had sent an official letter to an organization outside Czechoslovakia. The same day, despite the symbolic hunger strike in front of the court building, the Czechoslovak Supreme Court rejected the appeals of four intellectuals (three of them Charter signatories) convicted of subversion in October 1977. It did, however, reduce by one year the sentence of the non-Charter signatory who decided to collaborate with the authorities. (CONFIDENTIAL, Prague 116, January 13; UNCLASSIFIED, New York Times, January 11 and Reuter, January 12)

INR Comment: The latest document comes as a surprise: Charter factions reportedly were so divided over the timing and content of a new declaration that none was expected for the first anniversary. No information is available as to whether its release represented a compromise between the factions or was forced through by the younger, more "radical" elements which are said to be increasing their influence in the movement. The letter to the CSCE review conference, which debated the trials of the intellectual dissidents last October, may reflect the assertiveness of these youthful elements.

However, despite protestations by Charter spokesmen--reiterated in the latest document--that the human rights struggle in Czechoslovakia will be continued, the movement has lost much of the momentum it had in early 1977. (CONFIDENTIAL)

USSR

INR Review and Analysis.

Continued Stirrings Among Dissidents. The investigation of the Shcharanskiy case reportedly has been extended until January 25. Attempts by the Shcharanskiy family to enlist a foreign lawyer have been firmly rebuffed, and it appears that a Moscow attorney with KGB "clearance" has already been selected. With CSCE re-opening this week in Belgrade-however, the Kremlin is probably reluctant to try him until after the Conference ends. The negative effects of a trial were conveyed to the Soviets last week by Senator Stevenson in Moscow, who reportedly told them that it would be "impossible" to lift restrictions on bilateral trade if Shcharanskiy were tried as a CIA agent.

Meanwhile, there have been unconfirmed reports that Sakharov's step-son and family have been granted exit visas to Israel. Sakharov has lately been pictured as tired and discouraged, but this development could revive his spirits and prompt him to renew his challenge to the authorities, an act that might lead, in turn, to his involuntary departure.

Although the dissident movement has been gravely affected by the arrests and exiles of the past year, there is some evidence of an upsurge of activity:

--several recently or soon-to-be-released political prisoners (including a Crimean Tatar leader and the founder of the Moscow branch of Amnesty International) are expected to renew their activities;

--plans are afoot among Jewish scientist refuseniks to hold a conference in Moscow in cooperation with an international scientific organization; and

--the CSCE Monitoring Group continues to function, albeit on a reduced scale.

Religious believers have been subjected to renewed pressures. There are reports that some Penteacostalists allegedly promised exit permission by the authorities were not allowed to emigrate or even travel to Moscow to protest. Unregistered Baptists have been harassed, and the son of a leading preacher in the Ukraine reportedly was beaten and detained for over 15 days. (CONFIDENTIAL)

NEAR EAST AND SOUTH ASIA

Iran

Resurgence of Dissent. A spokesman for a newly-formed Iranian Human Rights Committee claims that 76 persons died on January 9, when police opened fire on a demonstration by conservative religious elements in the city of Qom. The group sent UN Secretary General Waldheim (in Iran on an official visit) a copy of a letter to Prime Minister Amouzegar asserting that the streets of Qom were "littered with the dead and wounded."

On January 8, Grumman Corporation's Tehran office received a letter from the People's Sacrifice Guerrillas (Chariks) threatening to "destroy" F-14 and F-16 aircraft projects and claiming credit for the December 31 explosion at the Iran-American Society's Academic Center. (CONFIDENTIAL, Tehran 389 and 390, January 11; CONFIDENTIAL, Tehran 425, January 12)

INR Comment: Restiveness has been steadily growing in Iran over the past several months, partly due to the system's failure to provide an outlet for complaints about dislocations caused by Iran's efforts to modernize.

--Conservative religious leaders strongly oppose the Shah's policies of land reform and emancipation of women, and their willingness to speak out has been heightened by US emphasis on human rights.

--The Qom incident suggests that conservative elements may be more willing to resort to violence, and the police reaction to the demonstration may herald a reversal of the Shah's recent liberalization policies.

--The Grumman incident and the December 31 bombing may presage a new phase of terrorist activity directly aimed at Americans. The Charik threat was the first against Americans in recent years, although three US employees of Rockwell International were killed by another Iranian terrorist group in August 1977.

Pakistan

Amnesty International Won't Defend Bhutto. Martin Ennals, the Secretary General of Amnesty International, was quoted by Pakistani newspapers on January 15 as saying that Pakistan's former Prime Minister Bhutto, currently under trial on criminal charges which include murder, "is not a political prisoner and Amnesty therefore will neither defend him nor will send observers to his trial." Ennals also reportedly expressed his happiness that there were now no prisoners of conscience in Pakistan. (UNCLASSIFIED, Islamabad 0493, January 15)

INR Comment: Martial law leader General Zia's international image on human rights will be enhanced by Ennals' remarks, if correctly reported. As we noted earlier, Zia has shifted Bhutto's trial from a military court to a civil court, and in December and January released the 54 accused in the so-called Hyderabad Conspiracy Case, the only remaining such group of political prisoners in Pakistan. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Bhutto Women Released. Pakistani newspapers reported on January 15 that the former Prime Minister's wife and daughter have been released from house detention. The two were arrested two weeks ago under martial law regulations for disturbing public order. Numerous other People's Party colleagues who had been arrested at the same time were also released. (UNCLASSIFIED, Islamabad 0493, January 15)

INR Comment: Mrs. Bhutto and the PPP had threatened mass demonstrations on January 5, in observance of "Democracy Day" to protest martial law. The demonstrations fell flat, partly because many party leaders were under detention. (UNCLASSIFIED)

CHILE RESPONDS TO GROWING INTERNATIONAL PRESSURES ON HUMAN RIGHTS

Chile's military government has shown itself sensitive to recent international criticisms concerning its treatment of political prisoners and its abridgment of human rights. Rebukes by the Third Committee of the UN General Assembly, the International Commission of Jurists, and the Inter-American Human Rights Commission, together with the anticipated visit of Secretary Kissinger, apparently are working to produce some liberalizing of the internal security system.

The Evidence. Former Foreign Minister Clodomiro Almeyda, the government's most important political prisoner, was released on January 11 after 16 months' imprisonment and deported to Romania. Along with Almeyda, the government also released without trial four ranking officials of Allende's Popular Unity (UP) regime. Almeyda personified the evils of the UP period in the eyes of the military junta, which repeatedly refused to release him until he had been formally tried on charges of embezzlement and misuse of government funds. His release must have been a bitter pill for the Pinochet government to swallow.

Other recent actions taken by the Chilean regime include:

--the release on January 9 of Gaston Pascal Lyon, father of Andres Pascal Allende, leader of the extremist Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) and estranged husband of Laura Allende, after a month's detention without formal charges;

--a proposal by President Pinochet on New Year's Day to release 200 political prisoners, including Laura Allende, if Mexico were willing to accept them;

--the release to the US Embassy of statistics on the number of prisoners taken since the fall of Allende and the current status of detainees;

--the creation, in the face of strong opposition from within the military, of a civilian committee to study the internal security problem and make recommendations by January 31;

--generally mild sentences for Chilean Army personnel secretly tried on charges of "crimes against the order and security of the Army," in contrast to mid-1974 trials of Chilean Air Force personnel on similar charges; and

--a drastic reduction of some 30 military tribunal sentences imposed over a year ago, constituting a virtual admission that the immediate post-coup sentencing was too severe.

Intelligence reports indicate that President Pinochet and his senior military advisers are considering a number of further steps:

--In deference to Secretary Kissinger's proposed visit to Santiago in February, the government reportedly is making plans to release several senior-level detainees.

--All political prisoners may soon be able to appeal sentences imposed by military tribunals directly to the Supreme Court.

--The government seems to be moving to enforce its stated policy position against the use of torture by members of the military intelligence apparatus.

--The "state of siege" may be downgraded, which would restrict the military's authority to take extralegal actions in security cases and would restore some degree of Chile's traditional juridical-procedural safeguards.

Offer to Mexico. President Pinochet's offer to send 200 political prisoners to Mexico "at no cost" to the Mexican Government was made formal on January 3 by Chilean diplomatic notes. Their freedom is conditioned on Mexico's willingness to receive them. The majority of the prisoners are identified as members of the extremist MIR or MIR affiliates. The principal figure on the list is former President Allende's sister, Laura Allende Gossens, who was arrested in November 1974 as an MIR collaborator.

Mexico broke diplomatic relations with Chile on November 26, 1974, over the human rights issue,* and has never disguised its hostility toward the military regime since the fall of President Allende. President Echeverria reportedly has accepted an invitation to address the third meeting of the International Investigative Commission on the Crimes of the Military Junta in Chile, scheduled to meet in Mexico City February 18-21. Pinochet's offer to free 200 prisoners to Mexico tends to place Echeverria in a "put up or shut up" position.

Prisoner Statistics. The Chilean National Secretariat for Detainees has provided detailed--and apparently reliable--statistics to our embassy on the government's security operations. According to data, some 30,000 persons have been processed by security authorities on "political" or "national security" grounds since September 1973. About 90 percent of these individuals are free today in Chile or have been allowed to leave the country.

Of the remaining 10 percent (approximately 3,660 persons), about 760 are being held under "state of siege" authority without formal charges. This group includes:

--100 prisoners which the government offered to release last November 1974 provided other countries would accept them;

--100 additional prisoners to be released after placement of the above group;

--200 prisoners, including Laura Allende, offered to Mexico;

--100 prisoners whose cases are being studied further; and

* See INR IN-119, "Mexico's Break With Chile", December 2, 1974 (SECRET/NO FOREIGN DISSEM).

[redacted]

--260 hard-core Allende and Popular Unity militants considered too dangerous to release (and who probably face prolonged imprisonment).

Approximately 2,900 persons are listed as being under formal court jurisdiction. This group includes:

--prisoners whose indictments are being prepared by the authorities (procesados);

--prisoners currently being tried by civilian or military courts;

--prisoners now serving sentences; and

--prisoners on probation who remain under court jurisdiction (about 600 persons).

Prospects. The Chilean Government is seriously concerned about internal security and will continue to arrest suspects. Rightly or wrongly, President Pinochet and the other chiefs of the armed forces assess the potential for violence as very high if security measures are relaxed too far. They appear to be resolved to weather international criticism for the sake of national survival. Nevertheless:

--the number of detainees probably will be reduced;

--the treatment of prisoners probably will improve; and

--the government may admit that charges against some detainees are unsubstantiated and that sentencing has been too harsh.

Statistics provided by the National Secretariat on Detainees may indicate increasing executive control over the once chaotic situation which characterized the government's security program. The offer to release prisoners to other countries suggests that the government wishes to reduce to the minimum those prisoners who have not been bound over to the judicial system. Finally, the offer to release 200 prisoners to Mexico shows that the Chilean military--in the face of what they consider to be hypocritical attacks by foreign governments--may be learning how to respond to international criticism.

REPORT OF THE MOST NOTORIOUS CASES OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN URUGUAY FROM AUGUST 1977 to JANUARY 30th 1978

1/30/78

R

GENERAL REMARKS

- We have choosen 8 differents kinds of situations and selected some of the most representative cases in order to best examplify the situations.
- Neither the kinds of situations nor the number of cases are exhaustive.
- It must be remembered that this report is limited in time to the last 6 months. For that reason there are only four death cases reported as result of systematic practices of physical and psychological torture or abuses on detainees (although there are more than 60 death cases during the last years); twelve cases of disappearence in Uruguay and Argentina (although there are almost 100 cases since the end of 1975); one hundred of arbitrary arrests, administrative detentions or unfair trials (actually there are more than 6.000 political prisoners in Uruguay); and a few but significant cases of attacks against the Press (although more than 30 newspapers and other publications have been closed in Uruguay); etc.
- These situations confirm that the Uruguayan Government during the last 6 months had not stopped its violations of human rights, but has in fact, increased them.

I DEATHS in consequence of abuse or torture practices

1. PEREYRA, Hugo: 54 years old, detained on the fall of 1975 and later indicted by the Military. On August 1977, the Army delivered his corpse to his family with the head almost shattered and a large incision across the abdomen: The Armed Forces certified the reason for death as "cerebral embolism".

2. ESQUIVO, Héber: 42 years old with 3 children. Accused by a military court in 1972, detained at "Libertad" (Military Detention Establishment Nr. 1), last August he was forced to undergo a prolonged "plenton" (forced standing for long periods) which caused a fatal heart attack.

3. GARCIA, Marcelino, 63 years old, a former sargent. Also detained in "Libertad" prison, his death was a result of a heart attack (infarct) which not received any medical care.

4. SOARES NETTO, Myriam VIENES de: 46 years old, the widow of Deputy Soares Netto. Died in November 5th 1977 in the "Hospital Italiano". She was arrested by the Navy the 6th May 1977 and was held "incomunicado" without warrant of charge for more than three months. On 15th August 1977 a Military Court accused her of "Asistencia a la Asociacion" (Assistance to subversive association). On 29th October 1977 she was released and died seven days later - another example of omission of medical care. The official explanation of the Uruguayan Navy stated:

a) that when Mrs. Soares Netto was arrested the Army verified a pre-cancerous wound.

b) that only three months after she was admitted to the Military Hospital.

c) the same year, on September 18th, a biopsy indicated cancer.

d) Nevertheless the same day (September 18th 1977) Mrs. Soares Netto returned to the place of detention when she was previously held by the Navy,

e) 8 days later the Army returned her to the Military Hospital.

f) when she was finally released from custody she was admitted immediately to the "Hospital Italiano" in such a serious condition that she was put in the intensive medical care center, where she died seven days after.

5. CEDRES IBARBOUROU, Norma: widow, 45 years ols. Arrested in the fall of 1975 and salvagely tortured. According an official communicate she committed suicide at her cell in Punta Rieles", femenin prison, during the month of January 1978.

II DISAPPEARANCES

A. Disappearances in Uruguay

1. CASTRO, Julio: 69 years old, eminent teacher and journalist, he was for a long period the UNESCO Programme Director for several Latin America countries. He was also assistant director of "Marcha", an influential cultural weekly, until its close in 1974.
He was arrested on a street of Montevideo, on August 1st. 1977. Since this day no news about his whereabouts nor about the car he was driving when detained. The Uruguayan Government have never admitted his detention, and on October 3rd. 1977, an official communicate stated that Julio Castro made a voyage to Buenos Aires the 22nd. September 1977. Nevertheless the Argentinean Government - answering officially to the Inter-American Human Rights Commission of the O.A.S. stated that in spite of the fact that his name figures in a passenger list, Julio Castro entrance in the Argentina Republic was not registered. The Reverend Josph Eldridge of the Washington Office of latin America Director, declared that"the Argentinean answer constitutes a documentary evidence of the Uruguayan authorities falsehood in order to cover their responsability in the Julio Castro's sequestration and murder". Those who known Julio Castro well are completely convinced that his age and feeble health would not enable him to survive the habitual treatement that the Military forces inflict to political detainees.

2. COHEN PAPPO, Ricardo: 28 years old, with one son, advanced Medical student. Arrested in Montevideo in the beginning of September 1977. Up to now his relatives have been unable to get any information about his actual situation.

3. ESCUDERO, Julio César: clerk of a Bank.

B. Disappearances in Argentina

1. D'ELIA PALLARES, Julio César, Uruguayan, 32 years old, married, an economist. Arrested in Buenos Aires the 2nd half of December 1977, the Argentinean authorities have refused to give any information about his detention.

2. DELIA, Yolanda de : wife of Julio C D'Elia, Uruguayan. When she was arrested with her husband, was 8 months pregnant.

3. BORELLI CATTANEO, Raúl: Uruguayan, 23 years old, a Medical student. Arrested in B. Aires on December 22nd, 1977 at 6 o'clock A.M. His relatives presented an appeal of "Habeas Corpus" and a complaint to the ACNUR, but the Argentinean Authorities didn't admit his detention.

4. MARTINEZ, Mario: Uruguayan, social worker. Arrested during the 2nd half of December 1977, in B. Aires.

5. CASTRO de MARTINEZ, Maria Antonia: Uruguayan, physician, the wife of Mario Martinez, was arrested with him.

6. CABEZUDO PEREZ, Carlos Federico: Uruguayan, 29 years old, Mathematics professor, arrested in B. Aires on 30th December 1977.

7. CARNEIRO DA FONTOURA, Jubelinho Andrés: Uruguayan, 34 years old, student, arrested together with his wife Carolina BARRIENTOS an Argentinean on 30th December 1977 in B. Aires.

8. GOMEZ ROSANO, Célica: Uruguayan, 31 years old, employee. Arrested in B. Aires upon leaving her office, the 30th December 1977.

9. CASTILLO, Ataliva: Uruguayan, rural worker, arrested in B. Aires at the end of December 1977.

10. RIOS CASAS, Miguel Angel: Uruguayan, arrested in B. Aires during the last days of December 1977.

Note: Unless otherwise indicated , in all the cases cited above in which the persons were apprehended at their homes (in B. Aires), the Argentinean authorities have either refused to give any information about their detention, or have denied their detention. In all these cases the persons who were detained had not any penal or political antecedent in Argentina, but all of them had been persecuted in Uruguay by political reasons.

III Complete destruction of the constitutional Judicial Power and persecutions of lawyers.

The 1967 Uruguayan Constitution rests upon a carefully delineated separation of executive, legislative and judicial powers, that in fact has been utterly destroyed. The primary step in this process was the "coup d'état" of the 27th June 1973 which dissolved the elected General Assembly. Another recent step was the "Institutional Act. No. 8 of July 1st, 1977" by which the Executive (backed by the military) decrees the elimination of the Judicial Power as an independent State Power and makes the magistrates mere instruments of the Executive.

At the same time, the "Executive" took direct measures against the individuals who filled offices in the administration of justice. More than 10% of all judges and functionaries have been removed from office without following proper procedures, by a simple order of the Justice Ministry.

Lawyers have also been persecuted, in order to impede the exercise of their natural right to defend their clients, and to deny their clients right to be defended.

Among the numerous lawyers obliged to leave the country in the last three months we cite: ADREASSEN, Susana, CORBO, José Luis, URIOSTE, Fernando and MARTINEZ MORENO, José Carlos.

A list of lawyers arrested in these last six months is found below.

Thus the constitutional bulkward designed to protect the arbitrary exercise of Governmental powers has been completely destroyed.

IV DETAINMENTS

1. SCHUMANN PACHECO, Rodolfo: 55 years old, lawyer, one of the most famous penalists of Uruguay, author of many books and articles on Penal Law and Professor of Penal Law at the Law School of the Montevideo University. He never had any political activity except voting. He was arrested on September 30th 1977 and tried in a military court for "Asistencia a la Asociacion ", for "Usurpacion de Funciones" (Functions Usurpation), and for "desacato" (disobedience).

2. FRAGA, Jorge: Lawyer, he worked with Dr. Schuman and was captured with him.

3. FABRI, Hugo: Lawyer, 65 years old. Arrested on October 21st 1977 and later tried for "Atentado a la fuerza moral de las Fuerzas Armadas" ("Outrage against the moral resources of the Armed Forces"). He is prosecuted once (more than 6 years ago) he criticized an action of the military in a paper filed with a court. Being in prison, he suffered an heart attack.

4. BIASCO, Emilio: Lawyer, tried by a military court for "Atentado a la Fuerza moral de las Fuerzas Armadas". The prosecution is based on a plea filed with an administrative court which alleged that his client had been removed from public office for political reasons.

5. STURINI, Martha: notary.

6. COLETTA, Alvaro: Law student

7. GONZALEZ MENTHOL, Julian: Dentist, former Dean of the Faculty of Dentistry, captured on January 3rd 1978, tried by a military court for "escarnio"("derision") because he had criticized - 5 years ago during a session of the Faculty Council - the occupation and destruction of some universitary places by the military.

For the same reasons and almost at the same time many others university professors were prosecuted. The words considered punishable by the military courts in these cases, were pronounced also from universitary offices, some as long as 10 and even 15 years ago.

8. VIERA, Luis Alberto: Lawyer and notary.

9. FIRPO, Orlando: Notary.

10. FIRPO , Mario: Notary.

11. DRI, Jaime: Former Argentinean Deputy, captured in Montevideo on December 10th 1977.

PINEYRUA, Bernardo: Captain (Navy), former President of the Navy Club, on May 12th 1978 withdraw from active duty to retirement by order of the Navy Commander in Chief, and later tried by a military court.

V. ATTACKS AGAINST THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

1. On August 1977 the 3 editors of "El Dia" (newspaper), Dr. Guzman, Leonardo, Dr. Barbagelata, Anibal and Mr. Batlle Chevriere, Jose and two journalists of the same paper, Mr. Hierro, Luis and Mr. Crespo, Juan A., were arrested and interrogated for several hours about two news articles published by "El Dia". One reported a militar meeting held for decision of the new Chief of the Army nomination, and the other reproduced a judicial decisoon affirming the independency of the Judicial power and its judges. The Judge who signed that sentence was later removed from his office by an order of the Justice Ministry.

2. On 30th August 1977 the executive power decreed the closing (only for two editions)of the monthly review "Busqueda", edited by the jurist Ramon

Diaz and belonging to the close associates of Alejandro Végh Villegas Councellor of State. This sanction was inflicted because an article in the review criticized the "Institutional Act. Nr. 8" (see III above).

3. On September 12th 1977 the executive power mandated the permanent closing of the newspaper "El Heraldo" edited in the city of Young (Department of Rio Negro).

4. On 26 September 1977 the Executive decreed the closing for 10 editions of the newspaper "El Dia" as well as the expulsion from the country for an indefinite period of Dr. Leonardo Guzman, (see case 1 above), one of the paper's editor. Furthermore the Government decreed the suspension of all tax-exemptions and other benefits of the uruguayan press. The argument of these three sanctions was the publication in an advertising page of a coarse affront against the military.

The policy inquiry confirmed that the authorities of the newspaper were innocent of these insultants words (as they themselves had previously maintained). Some "El Dia" printing office workers were interrogated under torture in order to prosecute this case. The economic sanction was maintained for a month and Dr. Guzman was authorized to return to Uruguay only after three months.

5. From September 22nd to December 21st 1977 two Uruguayan newspapers did not receive the customary governmental advertising. This two month sanction was based on the unintentional neglect of publish an official communicate of the DINARP "Direccion Nacional de Relaciones Publicas" (an State office charged to assure the relationships between the Government and the Press).

6. In November 1977 a military court tried the journalist Guillermo Gonzalez (married, 42) for"Ataque a la fuerza moral de las Fuerzas Armadas" because he was the author of an interview (published 8 years ago) with political prisoner, in which the interviewed related the tortures inflicted during his detention period. The notary who asisted to this interview and certified it, Mr. José Maria Vilaboa was imprisoned and tried also at the same time that the journalist. (see situation III).

7. The Brasilian journalist Flavio TAVARES, correspondent of the newspapers "O Estado de Sao Paulo" and "Excelsior" of Mexico, was expelled from the country at the end of January 1978. Tavares had been captured and tried by an Uruguayan military court on July 1977 because of his professional activities. Prior to his expulsion he was released in the beginning of January 1978.

VI Deprivation of the guarantees of a due process of law and equal protection of the law and of the right to a fair trial.

During the last months the military courts tried civilians for acts committed prior to the law which made them illegal. In many cases the same persons, was prosecuted again, for acts for which they had already servel a term in prison. Thus they were punished twice by the military courts. Among these are the following cases:

1. CAMPORA, David, Accountant. The military jurisdiction had ordered his release during the year 1973, but in reality he was not set free. 82 German Federal Republic Deputies addressed to the Uruguayan Government a petition asking for his freedom. Shortly afterwards the military courts tried him again for the same facts that had caused him original imprisonment.

2. ROMERO, Héctor: Worker.

3. DE VARGAS SACCONE, Washington: in this case we remark that this detainee, in the Libertad Prison, when he had news about his new trial, and fearing a new torture "process" (in orderto get his "confessions" that would permit another judicial proceeding) attempted suicide by cutting his arms vains. Nevertheless a military court tried him again,

VII EXPULSIONS

Besides the expulsions cited above, the Uruguayan Government ordered on September 1977 the expulsion of Leonel BRIZOLA, a former Governor of Rio Grande do Sul (Brazil) in exile in Uruguay since 1964. He had no political activity and was not notified about the reasons of his expulsion.

VIII CASH PRISONS

In Uruguay, nowadays, the political prisoners must pay 10 new pesos for each day of detention or prison. This signifies that for each month in jail people must pay almost 60 dollars (the 75% of a good salary in Uruguay). Of course, this provision is applied only to political prisoners, and is not in force for the ordinary prisoners, who are allowed to work in prison and earn a low salary. The political prisoners who must pay for their stay are not allowed to earn any salary or compensation for any kind of work or activity that they could (and often are forced to) perform.

SUMMARY: Anticipated fireworks failed to materialize at Jan 30 private luncheon with Dep. FonMin Allara at Embassy luncheon. My leading questions failed to jar Allara's composure as we discussed human rights and other sensitive topics. He asserted that the right of option program is to be vigorously carried out by GOA and denied that Massera's differences with Videla are significant. END SUMMARY

1. Missing Nuns and Mothers: Avoiding subleties, I told Dep FonMin that consensus in diplomatic corps and among private Argentines was that kidnapping of French Nuns and Plaza de Mayo [redacted] mothers was carried out by a GOA agency. There was no outburst from Allara and he said he concluded same thing. As an exculpatory note, Allara said probably some bumbling low-grade officer was behind kidnapping, for it was not an officially approved GOA project. On being asked, Allara refused to speculate on which might be the guilty GOA agency. I suggested to him that this episode could be the straw that breaks the camel's back with regard to USG/GOA relations. I emphasized my government's concern over lack of progress in the human rights field. His response was limited to saying that GOA was trying its best but having problems with the meddling of a few hard-line military units which he failed to identify.

2. Jacobo Timerman Case: When I told Allara that I had been repeatedly advised in the US that Argentina was anti-semitic, his stoicism yielded a bit. He became defensive, saying that the Jewish community in Argentina loved the country. I reminded Allara that when I made my rounds to meet members of the Junta, Cabinet members and key military leaders, the Timerman case had been discussed at length. During these calls I was led to form the impression that Timerman would be released during the Christmas holidays-which did not take place. Congressional interest in this case was heavy and increasing. Allara responded that it was his impression that a solution to the Timerman case would be reached soon. I told him that this was more of the "promises promises" I had been hearing before, but without action. He repeated that a solution would be found soon; perhaps Timerman would be released from the P.E.N. and turned over to the judicial system. I said this would be "double Jeopardy" since Timerman had been acquitted by a military tribunal and it would be seen as an unjudicial and unsophisticated act which would give Argentina a barbaric image abroad. Allara said he was not privy to all details in the Timerman case, but that something was in the wind.

3. Deutsch, Vogler and Rus Cases: I mentioned, in general terms, the cases of Deutsch family, Vogler and Rus. Allara was familiar with them. I explained that these were high interest cases in the eyes of the USG, Congress and the world. He commented that it was unfortunate they were all Jewish. He affirmed that he and FonMin Montes were sympathetic toward all these cases, but could not prevail against the pressure of a few military hard-liners.

4. Right of Option: The topic of the right of option seemed to agree with Allara. He immediately took the initiative, stating that the GOA could not support its current prison population. He said they were ready to release as many prisoners as possible under the right of option program and emphasized they wanted more embassies to issue certificates (guaranteeing entry into a foreign country) so the program could be implemented speedily.

UNCLASSIFIED

He said FonOff will furnish embassies with any and all background info they need on a prisoner. He concluded by pleading that all countries accepting right of option cases should monitor the activities of these individuals at their destinations. Allara said he feared many pockets of subversion were being formed in key capitals of the world. This he felt could be avoided by surveillance on the part of the host country.

5. Beagle Straits: Allara prophesied that the Beagle Straits differences would be resolved to the satisfaction of Chile and Argentina. He displayed no concern over the topic.

6. Times and Post Stories: On being asked if he had read recent stories in the New York Times and Washington Post, Allara said he was familiar with the contents of both. The Times story's thrust was the lack of progress by the GOA in the field of human rights. He characterized Juan de Onis, author of the Times story, as an arch enemy of Argentina and incapable of objectivity. He vigorously denied the Washington Post story's contention that Massera and Videla are on the point of a split. He repeated it was widely known that Massera had honest differences of opinion with the President, and these differences would not merit being called acrimonious debate. He did not foresee a real split nor a change of the current GOA.

7. COMMENT: Allara proposed that we get together for luncheon. He seemed more subdued than usual and I got the impression that he was taking soundings of my opinion about Admiral Massera as a potential leader. Allara impressed me that GOA is, in fact, ready to move ahead to make this program a reality. He offered his full personal cooperation on any problem I had to raise with the Foreign Office and asked that I call him directly. He did his best to leave the impression with me that the Argentine Navy offers its full cooperation to the United States and, after all, the Foreign Office is Navy controlled.

Dear Tex,

You requested a copy of what the Argentine human rights report might have looked like. A copy of one of the later drafts is attached. The adjectives changed almost every day as the report went from hand to hand. I'm sure that Jim would welcome your comments, particularly factual ones. Don't pick on the editorial style since it has the blessings of the seventh floor mighty.

As usual I reiterate my request for more frequent human rights roundups. There is no other way to inject order into the human rights information monster. The roundup should include a summary of terrorist activity for the period addressed as well as the plusses and minusses of the same period. As I think you know, the roundup is the basic reference document for the Christopher Committee reports and affects IFIs and Eximbank. It is also used to backup or reject arms transfer requests.

One last word, keep the information flowing to us on Deutsch,Timerman and Vogler. Guillermo Vogler is very angry and seems to want to join the ranks of Argentina's opposition in exile. The Fournesses are concerned that this will hurt Liliana and Luz. You can imagine all the ruckus that Deutsch,Timerman and Vogler will raise when they are free.

I hope you are enjoying BA's warmth. The Potomac is clogged with icebergs which at times are a much more impressive sight than what one sees in Foggy Bottom.

My best to Bill,Tony and Yvonne.

Mr. Allen Harris
Human Rights Officer
American Embassy
Buenos Aires, Argentina

Dear Tex:

Welcome back from vacation! While you were gone you missed the visit of Herb Semmel from the Center for Law and Social Policy and Admiral Sanguinetti from the French-based International League for Human Rights. I had a chance to talk with both of them upon their return to the United States and thought I would pass on what they said for your information and in case any of it is news (some of it was to me).

Sanguinetti did most of the talking. He passed on the following information from a meeting with Harguindeguy. According to the Minister 43 additional people will be granted the right of option on February 15. 3,472 is the number of people under PEN (slightly lower than that published in the press). Of these six are religious, 144 are foreigners. 1,899 have been held since the days of Isabel Peron, leaving 1,583 as detained after the coup. Harguindeguy says Isabel released 729 such detainees in her day while the military have released 2,361. Evidently Harguindeguy agreed to give a dossier containing this and, perhaps, additional information to a third member of the Semmel Group, John Carroll, a Supreme Court Justice from New York. I'll pass it on if Carroll has it.

Harguindeguy said that two people are under house arrest and 46 are allowed freedom under surveillance with a check-in to the police station required every two weeks. Harguindeguy claims all detainees are in official prisons with a few exceptions, i.e. six or eight. He admitted that detainees may be kept for four to six days at military installations during their initial interrogration. In response to a question by the Group, Harguindeguy said that no lawyers are in prison for having defended terrorists, rather they are held for being "more deeply involved" with terrorists. He responded to the question of why the State of Seige has not been lifted when it is recognized that armed terrorism is under control, by saying that if the State of Seige were lifted all the detainees would have to be released and he did not want this to happen. The Government

Harguindeguy told the Group that by February 15, the GOA will begin to publish the names of the detained. Semmel stressed that it is necessary for the USG to make public its concern over those held at military installations and outside the regular prisons in detention centers so that the GOA will be under some pressure to include their names as well in any lists published. Perhaps, the presence of the ICRC could be used somehow to prod the GOA to be more accountable on this score. That is unless, of course, one wishes to accept Harguindeguy's account that only six to eight are held outside of the regular prisons in contrast to other reports that from 2,000 to 2,500 may be held in Campo de Mayo alone.

Admiral Sanguinetti was shocked by Massera, with whom the Group also met. He said he denied responsibility for any detentions and constantly smiled while the most terrible things were being discussed.

With regard to the right of option, Semmel stressed that we could expect the GOA to provide biased dossiers on those requesting exile -- i.e. indicating they are terrorists in an effort to discourage governments from receiving them. I told Semmel that the Embassy would not take such briefs at their face value, but you may wish to keep this in the back of your mind. Further on the right of option, Semmel recounted a conversation with Ambassador Castro which indicates that the Ambassador did not understand our willingness and ability to accept those opting to come to the U.S. In referring to a remark made by Foreign Minister Montes to the Group that neither U.S. nor France would accept refugees, Castro said there was an element of truth in this and said we had no refugee program and that such a program would require an act of Congress. This, of course, is not the case Tex and we are sending a cable out to explain how the refugee program works. Semmel suggested we make some sort of statement that we have refugee numbers available and are not getting the cooperation of the GOA. One other thing, Semmel felt the attitude of the Embassy staff with whom he spoke was overly defensive of the Argentine Government's need to restore order in the wake of terrorism.

Sanguinetti made inquiries about 16 French detained or disappeared (six of whom are dual nationals). He ran up against a stone wall with regard to the eight who are disappeared, including the two nuns. Although he received the cooperation of the French Embassy, apparently, the GOA was not made aware of any connection with them, much to my disappointment. He will hold a press conference upon his return to France. Let's hope this will generate some additional pressure on the part of French public opinion.

Sanguinetti picked up two other stories of interest. One involved an eyewittness account of uniformed military dumping some 20 or 25 cadavers at La Chacarita cemetary a week or so ago. Another involves a meeting of private and public school directors presided over by Lt. Col. Valladares, military advisor to the Ministry of Education on December 22. Other such meetings were supposedly held around the country. The theme was that the war against terrorism had now entered the ideological phase and the directors should set aside an hour each day to reflect on their subordinates. If any of their subordinates seemed discontent, e.g. were demanding higher wages or complaining, this was a sign that they were subversives and they should be reported to Valladares. Fantastic as this seems it fits in with what Harguindeguy told John Carroll. Carroll asked him to define subversion. Harguindeguy replied that the aim of the government was to get rid of all toltalitarian parties, whether of the right or the left. Tex, if this is real, and if it is to be stopped, it can only be stopped now.

On that happy note I'll close. I'm sorry that I haven't been writing more often but I'll try whenever I come across something which I think may be of use to you. We all appreciate very much the excellent work you've been doing. I'm sorry Herb Semmel didn't have a chance to meet you as I think he would have come away with a different opinion of the Embassy.

Yours truly,

Michele M. Bova
Human Rights Officer

P.S.

On November 22 we cabled the name of a young women who has disappeared, Teresa Lajmanovich, (State 279351). Since then the Embassy submitted her name to the Foreign Ministry Working Group (BA 8872). However, according to the girls sister Ana who lives here, her parents have gone to the Embassy to ask if the name was submitted and have been told it has not. Could you help relieve their anxiety by telephoning them or dropping them a line to assure them that we've made the inquiry? Their address is: [redacted] B6

Ms. Patricia Derian
Office on Humanitarian Affairs
U.S. State Department
Washington, D.C.

Dear Ms. Derian:

I was very glad to read in the New York Times that you have been in Southeast Asia and that the various forms of repression have been obvious to you. I know that you will be a help to many unfortunate men and women who suffer in Thailand, Philippines, Indonesia, Korea, and elsewhere.

However, I am writing about two people in Argentina who have been held by the police, one of whom has been tortured during her two years incarceration and the other having been held more recently.

Alicia Wieland - a former Rotary exchange student to Youngstown, Ohio, photographer for a newspaper shut down by the Isabelita Peron regime and further harrassed by the military. Miss Wieland was imprisoned in Cordova, then Buenos Aires, now back in Cordova, as far as we know. She has been held for over two years.

Alicia Elena Alfonsin de Cabandie, identification number 8.863.490. She was 17 on January 5, 1978, married and well along in pregnancy. She was arrested at 688 Solis Street, 7th Floor, Apt. 30, in Buenos Aires on November 24, 1977.

We have received various appeals from friends and loved ones of these two young women, through church channels in Europe and Latin America. Please let me know what you have been able to do since Mr. M. Frisco Gilchrist of our International Human Rights Program Office wrote you a month ago about Mrs. Cabandie.

I hope that you will be able to help her and Alicia Wieland. Please let me know if you need more information.

Sincerely,

(Dr.) William J. Nottingham

Cambodia

Ieng Sary Defends Evacuation of Phnom Penh. Cambodian leaders now claim to foreign visitors that they decided to evacuate the estimated 3,000,000 residents of Phnom Penh in the span of one week in April 1975, in order to:

--avoid a food shortage in the city;

--increase agricultural production; and

--disperse and ease identification of Lon Nol forces hiding in the city.

Cambodian Deputy Prime Minister Ieng Sary gave this account to the Danish Ambassador to Peking during the January 7-21 visit of Nordic Ambassadors to Cambodia. The Danish Foreign Office provided Ambassador Dean with a copy of the conversation.

Sary claimed that only about 2,000 people died during the evacuation, and that an unspecified number of others died of malaria upon arrival in the rural areas. He stated that 2.3 million of the evacuees faced no hardship since they were originally farmers. He said that difficulties encountered by the remainder have now "by and large" been overcome. Housing, food, and clothing, he said, are all sufficient and evacuees, originally suspect, have been fully accepted as part of the community.

The Danish Ambassador comments that "this account cannot be regarded as satisfactory. Ieng Sary did not cast much light on the real extent of the human losses during the evacuation, and my request to visit an area where city dwellers had been sent was rejected." (CONFIDENTIAL, Copenhagen 0493, January 23.)

INR Comment: Ieng Sary's benign account of the evacuation and subsequent conditions in Cambodia is at odds with those of numerous Cambodian refugees. Their reports consistently note the brutality of those directing the evacuation, the forced separation of families, and the miserable conditions in the countryside which, together with a systematic policy of executions, may have led to the death of hundreds of thousands of Cambodians. (CONFIDENTIAL)

South Korea

Embassy Seoul also reports that a group of well-known Korean human rights activists have established a Korean Human Rights Council which they intend will be more aggressive in pursuit of its objectives than existing human rights committees are. The Korean media did not publicize the Council's formation.

INR Comment: Although Seoul is continuing its gradual loosening of political restraints, there are well-defined bounds beyond which it is not likely to permit transgressions. If the new Council is too aggressive, the government--already fearful of new student and labor unrest in the spring--can be expected to crack down. (SECRET)

Philippines

Marcos Permits Detainees to Run in Election. On January 25 Marcos repealed a Presidential decree which had banned detainees from voting, stating that "the move to return to normalcy requires that political rights...be enjoyed by every citizen who has not been found guilty of...crimes." The Secretary for Information told the press that detainees such as former Senator Aquino may file their certificate of candidacy for the interim legislature, but that they cannot be released from detention in order to campaign. (CONFIDENTIAL, Manila 1499, January 28; UNCLASSIFIED, Manila 1458, January 27.)

INR Comment: It is still not certain whether the opposition will participate in the April 2 election. The new draft election code provides for "bloc voting"--i.e., voting by party list--to which opposition leaders have reacted adversely and strongly. (CONFIDENTIAL)

SOUTH ASIA

India

Foreign Minister Criticizes US Rights Record. In an extemporaneous address, Foreign Minister Vajpayee told a large crowd that the US still had much to do to achieve racial justice. He asserted that India had moved more expeditiously than the US in removing social injustices. He also argued that unless the US record improved, Washington would have difficulty convincing other countries to accept its human rights doctrine. Paraphrasing Martin Luther King, Vajpayee asked rhetorically whether it is possible for a black to become President of the US today, and declared that, while India had had a woman prime minister, it was "unimaginable" for the US to have a woman president. (UNCLASSIFIED, New Delhi 0874, January 18.)

INR Comment: Vajpayee is a nationalist who delights in pointing out the moral lapses of other countries. His comments, however, do not signal any changes in official Indian attitudes toward the US; Vajpayee is strongly in favor of a better balance in New Delhi's relations with Moscow and Washington. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Pakistan

Press Restrictions Lifted. Pakistan's military ruler, General Zia, recently announced a decision to remove government controls on the import and purchase of newsprint. (UNCLASSIFIED, Dawn, January 11.)

INR Comment: The allocation of scarce newsprint has traditionally been used by the government to ensure that newspapers carry only approved versions of the news. The decision to allow newspapers to control their own supplies could significantly enhance the freedom and independence of the Pakistani press. Procedural details have yet to be announced. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Government Establishes Special Courts. By establishing 12 special courts to try former elective office holders on "misconduct in office" charges, General Zia hopes to speed up the "accountability" process through Pakistan's traditionally leisurely court system. The special courts are entirely within the civilian judicial system, and their findings can be appealed to the Supreme Court. (CONFIDENTIAL, Islamabad 0568, January 17.)

INR Comment: This step will garner more public support for General Zia than his past attempts to set up military tribunals, especially since misconduct charges have been levied against politicians who oppose Bhutto, as well as his supporters. Many of the cases against Bhutto's compatriots are based on the extensive "dirt" files now in the hands of the administration, which Bhutto kept on his colleagues to ensure their loyalty. (CONFIDENTIAL)

SOVIET UNION

Workers Form Unofficial Union. A group of protesting workers announced at a Moscow press conference in late January, the formation of an unauthorized union designed to defend workers treated unjustly. The group claims that the new organization, the "Trade Union in Defense of Workers," already has 200 members from around the country and intends to apply for membership in the ILO. (UNCLASSIFIED, Reuters, January 24 and 27)

INR Comment: The formation of the non-official trade union is additional evidence that a new strand is being added to the dissident movement. Failing to get a redress of grievances through regular channels, these disgruntled workers have turned to the Western press for support and publicity. This latest press conference is their third in two months, and the group's leader has credited Western radio broadcasts with gaining new recruits for the union. While intellectual dissidents have remained aloof from the dissenting workers, the mere possibility of an alliance will lead the authorities to take measures to quash the union. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Regime Continues to Harass Dissidents. The regime maintains its policy of selective arrest and harassment of other dissidents:

--A public lecturer has disclosed that a month ago four persons from Leningrad Oblast were tried and sentenced to 3 1/2 years in prison for attempts to publish underground religious materials.

--According to Andrey Sakharov, judicial proceedings are under way to deprive a Baptish minister and his wife of their children.

--Sakharov also confirmed that members of the Nakhodka Pentecostal community have been prevented from meeting Embassy officials and that the MVD's Office of Visas and Internal Registration has refused to honor official invitations to emigrate to Pentecostals from US co-religionists.

--The KGB has arrested yet another member of the Georgian branch of the Helsinki Monitoring Group. A second member of the Georgian group has been released from KGB custody but was told that a case of "parasitism" was being prepared against him.

--Two Leningrad refuseniks recently have been subjected to KGB harassment and warned against contacts with foreigners. On January 20, cameramen harassed a Leningrad ConGen officer while he was en route to meet one of them. (CONFIDENTIAL, State 02038, January 29; Leningrad 00254, January 26 and 00291, January 30; Moscow 01353, January 29.)

WESTERN EUROPE

Turkey

Turks Angered by Human Rights Report. Foreign Minister Okcun has taken strong exception with Ambassador Spiers to the Department's draft Human Rights Report on Turkey. He objected particularly to references to Turkey's minorities and to Greek Cypriot allegations of Turkish misconduct during the 1974 Cyprus intervention. The report is one of 109 reports required by Congress on all countries proposed for or receiving security or bilateral economic assistance.

In Turkish eyes to issue the report at this time, even with modifications, would call into question the fresh start in US-Turkish relations seen during the Secretary's recent visit to Ankara and thus would complicate US efforts to develop a productive working relationship with the new Ecevit government. Okcun told Ambassador Spiers that the draft did not reflect Ecevit's long dedication to the advancement of human rights, but repeated Greek Cypriot charges. The Turks fear that the latter would be given credence by inclusion in a US public document. The Foreign Minister was particularly concerned that the mention of Turkey's Kurdish minority suggested a new US policy of encouraging separatism within Turkey. He said this encouragement of divisiveness is especially unwelcome at a time when his government is working to resolve major foreign policy problems, including bettering US-Turkish relations. (CONFIDENTIAL, Ankara 0801 and 0816, January 31.)

INR Comment: The Ecevit government probably sees this report, no matter how amended, as an example of US insensitivity to Turkey's sovereignty and national pride. Ecevit himself has long been suspicious of US motives and may take this incident not simply as a personal affront, but as a conspiratorial effort to discredit his foreign policy initiatives. (CONFIDENTIAL)

AFRICA

Angola

Violations of Religious Freedom. In early January the Catholic bishops of Angola protested the "frequent and lamentable" violation of religious and other freedoms in Angola, according to Vatican Radio. In a letter read to all churches, the bishops of Angola's 12 dioceses complained that Catholics, possibly half of the population, suffered discrimination for their beliefs. The letter said that steps had not yet been taken to implement constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion. It also complained that freedom of speech has practically disappeared at the public level and arbitrary arrests and prolonged imprisonment have taken place on unfounded suspicion without proper trial. (UNCLASSIFIED, FBIS, January 24 and 26.)

INR Comment: In an apparently retaliatory action on January 25 the Angolan Government seized the Catholic-owned radio station and all its assets. The government justified its actions by claiming a constitutional monopoly on the dissemination of information. It also renounced a concordat between Portugal, its former colonizer, and the Roman Catholic Church which had permitted the private radio station to operate.

LATIN AMERICA

Chile

Court Permits Christian Democrats to Move to Less Remote Location. The Santiago Appeals Court has ruled that the 12 Christian Democratic Party (PDC) leaders who were "rusticated" to the barren and inhospitable highlands of Chile's northern Arica Province can choose where they wish to reside within the province. Although the Chilean Government probably could have appealed the decision successfully, it has agreed to let the PDCers move to more pleasant surroundings. A PDC source has informed our Embassy that the exiles have taken advantage of the ruling, and all 12 have now moved to the port city of Arica. The Embassy sees this as an indication that those within the government who are somewhat more sensitive to international and domestic criticism may have won a point. (CONFIDENTIAL, Santiago 0639, January 27; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Santiago 0659, January 30.)

INR Comment: To many government hardliners, the current disposition of the PDCers is probably of limited significance. They probably view the original act of rustication as sufficient to forcefully convey the government's message that it has only limited tolerance for domestic political party activity. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Argentina

Recent Rights Developments. The foreign diplomatic community in Buenos Aires is expressing growing concern over the local human rights situation. Ambassador Castro's soundings have revealed agreement among diplomats from the EC countries and Sweden that conditions warrant some sort of multilateral approach to the Videla government. EC representatives are drafting a statement on the situation pursuant to directions from the EC Political Commission, but it probably will not be completed for weeks. The German, Danish, and Swedish ambassadors strongly favor a joint demarche, the French seem less enthusiastic, and the Netherlands ambassador expressed reluctance on trade grounds.

On January 25, Argentine Ambassador Aja Espil, fresh from a trip to Buenos Aires, told Department officers that President Videla's disgust over the December disappearances of the 13 persons associated with the "Mothers of the Plaza de Mayo" prompted Videla's December 23 announcement that a complete list of state-of-siege detainees would be published. Aja Espil also expressed hope that the recent appointment of a new police chief for Buenos Aires Province would help curb the vigilante activity of security personnel.

Judge John Carro of the New York State Supreme Court visited Buenos Aires in late January as part of a delegation from the International Federation for the Rights of Man. Interior Minister Harguindeguy told Carro that:

--the right of option program (enabling state-of-siege prisoners to petition for exile) began functioning on December 20, 1977; 115 petitions had been filed, 10 were considered and approved in December, and 43 more cases would be decided on February 15;

--there were 3,472 state-of-siege detainees as of January 20; 1,889 were arrested before the military government assumed power; 1,700 have charges pending against them, and 1,400 of those cases will be tried in civilian courts; and

--publication of the list of prisoners would begin on January 27.

Members of the Carro mission and another Paris-based human rights group also met with Navy Commander Massera. The Admiral expressed sympathy with the human rights victims, bemoaned his inability to change matters, and blamed the situation on the army. (CONFIDENTIAL, State 023405, January 28; Buenos Aires 657, January 26 and 704, January 27.)

INR Comment: Despite the promises of Videla and Harguindeguy, there is still no official published list of state-of-siege detainees. Harguindeguy may be encountering the same uncooperative attitude on the part of various security entities holding prisoners that he has faced in the past.

Massera's lament is now familiar but difficult to credit. He is a clever, unscrupulous politician whose subordinates have been guilty of human rights abuses. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Venezuela

INR Comment: This report is further evidence, but not proof, that high officials in the Venezuelan Government may have condoned violations of human rights in order to combat a bothersome left-wing insurgency in eastern Venezuela.

SUBJECT: PROGRESS REPORT ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN ARGENTINA

REF: STATE 31249

1. THE EMBASSY USED THE FOLLOWING INDICATORS BY WHICH TO MEASURE PROGRESS OF LACK THEREOF WITH REGARD TO THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT'S OBSERVATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS. COMMENTS RELATE PRIMARILY TO DEVELOPMENTS OF THE PAST THREE MONTHS:

A. A. IMPLEMENTATION OF THE RIGHT OF OPTION--
NEW PROGRAM NOW DEFINITELY BEING IMPLEMENTED BY GOA. SOME RECENT APPROVALS, SUCH AS GUILLERMO VOGLER AND PINERO SISTERS WERE PROCESSED UNDER PREVIOUS PROCEDURE. GOA HAS TOLD US AND OTHER EMBASSIES THEY WILL HELP IN HARMONIZING PROCEDURAL ASPECTS OF PROGRAM WITH COUNTRIES' VISA REQUIREMENTS.

B. REGULARIZATION OF THE STATUS OF PRISONERS --
(THIS INCLUDES PUBLICATION OF NAMES OF PEOPLE ARRESTED OR RELEASED FROM CUSTODY UNDER EXECUTIVE--STATE OF SEIGE--PEN, AS WELL AS CURRENT LISTS OF PRISONERS HELD UNDER THE PEN.) APPROXIMATELY 440 HELD UNDER THE PEN HAVE BEEN RELEASED FROM PEN SINCE CHRISTMAS, OF WHICH 389 WERE ON THE CHRISTMAS

[redacted]

LIST. LIMITED NUMBERS OF EXPULSIONS HAVE CONTINUED TO BE ANNOUNCED. THE PUBLICATION ON FEB 3 OF A PARTIAL LIST OF 705 PRISONERS HELD UNDER PEN WAS A SIGNIFICANT EVENT WHICH WILL GENERATE INCREASING PRESSURE ON GOA TO CONTINUE TO PUBLISH MORE SUCH LISTS.

C. TREATMENT OF PERSONS BEING HELD --
ICRC JAIL VISITS RESUMED DEC 77. THEY REPORT POLITICAL PRISONERS ARE BEING HELD UNDER SAME PHYSICAL CONDITIONS AS OTHER PRISONERS. IN LAST SIX MONTHS GOA HAS ADOPTED PROGRAMS TO MAKE IT EASIER FOR SUSPECTED TERRORISTS TO SURRENDER TO GOVERNMENT AND RECEIVE GUARANTEES OF HUMANE TREATMENT. COOPERATIVE PRISONERS RECEIVE REDUCED SENTENCES.

D. DISAPPEARANCES -- OUR DATA SHOW THESE AS DECLINING, IN PART, NO DOUBT, TO THE DECLINE IN REMAINING NUMBERS OF SUSPECTS, AS WELL AS MORE SELECTIVE TARGETING. WE HAVE NO INFORMATION THAT SECURITY FORCES HAVE ABANDONED THEIR PRACTICE OF ABDUCTION OF SUSPECTS. THERE ARE CONTINUING REPORTS OF EXTRA-LEGAL DETENTION CENTERS AND OF EXECUTIONS OF ABDUCTEES. THERE IS SCANT INFORMATION ON THESE AREAS, SO NO TREND CAN BE IDENTIFIED.

F. TORTURE -- WE HAVE NO INFORMATION TO SUGGEST THAT SECURITY FORCES HAVE ABANDONED PRACTICE OF TORTURE TO OBTAIN INFORMATION.

G. GREATER CONTROL OVER THE SERVICES EMPLOYED IN CONTROLLING SUBVERSION --
WE HAVE HEARD REPORTS THAT PRESIDENCY IS CONTINUING EFFORTS TO OVERCOME RESISTANCE TO REORGANIZE COUNTERSUBVERSIVE OPERATIONS AND INTELLIGENCE IN THE FEDERAL DISTRICT INTO A SINGLE UNIT STAFFED BY ALL THREE SERVICES, WITH OBJECT OF ACHIEVING CLOSER CONTROLS, AND VIRTUALLY ELIMINATING POS-

[redacted]

[redacted]

SIBILITY OF UNAUTHORIZED OPERATIONS. THIS COMPLEMENTS REPORTS OF EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH TIGHER CONTROLS OVER SECURITY FORCES AND TO PUNISH CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES BY POLICE CARRIED OUT IN NAME OF COMBATTING SUBVERSION. ROLLS OF POLICE HAVE BEGUN TO BE REDUCED. ARMED FORCES ARE RESUMING THEIR CONVENTIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING CYCLES WICH HAD BEEN SUSPENDED TO DIVERT RESOURCES TO COUNTERSUBVERSIVE PROGRAMS.

2. NOT MEASURABLE, BUT OF EQUAL OR GREATER IMPORTANCE IS THE MATTER OF "SENSITIVITY"--THE DEGREE TO WHICH THE GOVERNING ESTABLISHMENT SEES THE NEED OF PUTTING IN ORDER

ITS EFFORTS AGAINST TERRORISM, WHETHER BECAUSE OF DOMESTIC OPINION, FOREIGN PRESSURES OR SOME INNER SENSE OF LEGALITY AND JUSTICE. IN PAST, GOA HAS STONEWALLED CHARGES OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, CALL ATTENTION TO ABUSES BY TERRORISTS. SIGNIFICANT EVENT OCCURRED FEB 6 WHEN SEVERAL FONOFF OFFICIALS CALLED IN EMBOFF TO COMPLAIN OF AMBASSADOR CASTRO'S PUBLIC DISCUSSION OF ARGENTINA'S BAD HUMAN RIGHTS IMAGE OVERSEAS (BA 493). THEY SPELLED OUT A LIST OF RECENT ACTIONS SUCH AS THE INAUGURATION OF THE RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM, LIST OF DETAINEES, AND ACTIONS ON HIGH-INTEREST US CASES SUCH AS VOGLER AND DEUTSCH, ALL OF WHICH RESPONDED TO PROBLEM AND FOR WHICH GOA SHOULD RECEIVE CREDIT. THEY ASKED WHAT DO WE HAVE TO DO TO SHOW WE ARE SOLVING PROBLEM? THIS IS A NEW RESPONSE FROM A GOA OFFICIAL. IN PAST THEIR TACTIC HAS BEEN TO TEMPORIZE, APPARENTLY ASSUMING USG WOULD LOSE INTEREST.

3. WE STILL HAVE NO SATISFACTORY EXPLANATION REGARDING WHO WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ABDUCTION OF THE FRENCH NUNS AND THEIR ARGENTINE HUMAN RIGHTS MOVEMENT ASSOCIATES, ALTHOUGH IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVE THAT ELEMENTS OF THE SECURITY FORCES WERE INVOLVED. WE KNOW THAT MANY IN THE GOVERNMENT AND EVEN THE SECURITY FORCES WERE APPALLED BY THESE ABDUCTIONS. BESIDES THE NUNS AND THEIR ASSOCIATES, THE EMBASSY HAS RECEIVED REPORTS OF SOME 26 DISAPPEARANCE [redacted]

CASES FROM DECEMBER 1, 1977 TO JANUARY 20, 1978, WHICH IS COMPARABLE TO THE FIGURE FOR THE SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR.

4. WE COMMEND TO DEPT THE EXCELLENT DEC 77 REPORT ON ARGENTINA TO AAAS BY EMILIO DADDARIO WITH WHICH WE AGREE, PARTICULARLY WITH HIS COMMENT ON IMPACT ABROAD OF THE PRESIDENT'S HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY, AND THE PRESCRIPTION IN FINAL PARAGRAPH: QUOTE WHILE THE SITUATION IN ARGENTINA IS AN UNHAPPY ONE, WE MUST FACE THE FACT THAT THE GOVERNMENT IS STRONGLY ENTRENCHED AND HAS SUBSTANTIAL SUPPORT FROM THE PEOPLE. THE BRIGHTEST PROSPECT FOR BETTERMENT OF THE REPRESSED AND IMPRISONED SCIENTISTS IS THROUGH STEP-BY-STEP PROGRESS TOWARDS MODERATION, ACKNOWLEDGING THE POSITIVE ACTIONS WHICH THE GOVERNMENT NOW SEEMS READY TO TAKE, AND ENCOURAGING OTHERS. END QUOTE.

THE DRAFT AS IT STANDS NOW DOES NOT INCLUDE SPECIFIC REQUESTS FOR ACTION, (ALTHOUGH HELP WITH FOREIGN CITIZEN CASES IS CLEARLY IMPLIED), NOR WILL IT RECOMMEND ANY SPECIFIC PUNITIVE ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY THE NINE. THE EUROPEAN MISSIONS HERE ARE CONSIDERING RECOMMENDING THAT THE DEMARCHE BE MADE VERBALLY AND CONFIDENTIALLY AND VIA THE ARGENTINE AMBASSADOR IN DENMARK, SINCE COPENHAGEN IS PRESENTLY THE PRESIDING SEAT OF THE EEC. NO FURTHER ACTION IS CONTEMPLATED, THE DUTCH EMBASSY OFFICIAL SAID, ADDING THAT EUROPEAN COMMERCIAL INTERESTS AND FAVOR FOR THE "QUIET DIPLOMACY" APPROACH ARGUE AGAINST TAKING A MORE CONFRONTATIONAL STAND WITH GOA OVER HUMAN RIGHTS. (COMMENT: WE BELIEVE THE DUTCH ARE DRAGGING THEIR HEELS ON MAKING HUMAN RIGHTS GESTURES WHICH COULD DISRUPT THEIR FAVORABLE TRADE RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA. WHAT OUR DUTCH FRIEND MAY HAVE CITED HERE IS HIS AMBASSADOR'S OWN POSITION -- WHICH MAY OR MAY NOT IN THE END PREVAIL.)

3. AMBASSADOR CASTRO RAISED HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE WHEN HE SAW IRISH AMBASSADOR FEBRUARY 1. AT THAT TIME IRISH AMBASSADOR PRODUCED A COPY OF AN EEC TRADE COMMISSION REPLY TO CRITICISM AGAINST THE RECENT EXTENSION OF THE EEC-ARGENTINA TRADE AGREEMENT IN LIGHT OF ARGENTINA'S BAD HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THE COMMISSION'S REPLY INDICATED THAT TRADE RELATIONS BETWEEN ARGENTINA AND THE EEC HAD IN FACT COOLED CONSIDERABLY AND THAT ARGENTINA WAS GIVEN TO UNDERSTAND THAT "AN IMPROVEMENT IN RELATIONS COULD ONLY BE CONSIDERED AGAIN WHEN THE INTERNAL SITUATION IN ARGENTINA HAD DEVELOPED IN A PEACEFUL MANNER."

4. SWEDISH EMBASSY HERE PLANS TO WAIT OUT THE ANTICIPATED EUROPEAN COMMUNITY DEMARCHE ON HUMAN RIGHTS BEFORE DOING ANYTHING ON ITS OWN. THE SWEDES HAVE APPARENTLY DECIDED TO ADHERE TO COMMUNITY INITIATIVES RATHER THAN STRIKE OUT ON THEIR OWN.

5. A SENIOR ARGENTINE ARMY OFFICER INFORMED US RECENTLY THAT THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT HAS WITHDRAWN TWO SLOTS IN THE FRENCH ARMY WAR COLLEGE TRADITIONALLY RESERVED FOR ARGENTINE ARMY OFFICERS. THIS OPPORTUNITY WAS CONSIDERED A PLUM ASSIGNMENT INVOLVING TWO YEARS' RESIDENCE IN PARIS ON HIGH PER DIEM AND FRENCH LANGUAGE TRAINING. IT WENT TO TOP ARGENTINE OFFICERS. ACCORDING TO THE ARMY OFFICER, THE ACT WAS TAKEN AS A DIRECT RESPONSE TO THE NUNS' ABDUCTION. THIS ACTION FULFILLS THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT'S REQUEST TO ITS MILITARY ATTACHE HERE TO "FIND SOMETHING THAT WOULD HURT".

UNCLASSIFIED

6. WE HAVE BEEN PROMISED A COPY OF THE EEC DEMARCHE DRAFT WHEN IT IS COMPLETED HERE AND WE WILL CONTINUE TO FOLLOW OUR EUROPEAN COLLEAGUES' INITIATIVES ON BEHALF OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

DEC 31: ISSUE 18 OF EVITA MONTONERO WAS RECEIVED BY RADIO STATION 9 IN SALTA PROVINCE.

RSO COMMENT: THE REPORTED INCIDENTS REFLECT REDUCED ACTIVITY BY THE TERRORISTS IN ALL FIELDS. THIS IS SUPPORTED BY OTHER INFORMATION PROVIDED BY THE SECURITY FORCES WHICH REFLECT MAJOR WEAKNESS IN TERRORIST ELEMENTS SINCE AUGUST 1977. THEIR PRINCIPLE ACTIVITY IS CENTERED IN THE SOUTHERN INDUSTRIAL AREA OF GREATER BUENOS AIRES WHERE THEY HAVE THEIR STRONGEST CADRE. THE SECURITY FORCES STILL EXPRESS CONCERN THE MONTONEROS MIGHT ENGAGE IN SOME SPECTACULAR DURING THE WORLD CUP SCHEDULED FOR JUNE 1978.

SUBJECT: DISAPPEARANCES AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS MATTERS

MEMORANDUM FOR THE FILES

Mr. and Mrs. Jose Westerkamp came to the Embassy during the afternoon of February 9 to pass on some disturbing news concerning disappearances in La Plata.

According to the Westerkamps three young men disappeared shortly after midnight on February 3 within minutes of having been released from La Plata prison .

Gonzalo Carranza was apparently released first--at about 10 minutes past midnight. He had been held in "UNIDAD 9 - PABELLON 2" charged under PEN with a specific crime, and was believed to have been released in accordance with a judge's decision following a legal process.

Carranza's mother told Mr. and Mrs. Westerkamp that her son's release had been confirmed to her by prison authorities when she attempted to visit her son at prison during the following weekend. She confirmed this in a telephone call to Blanca Vollenweider here at the Embassy. Her son never arrived home. Mrs. Carranza said that she had been told by a priest (She did not give his name.) that Gonzalo had been taken by members of the Army two or three blocks from the prison's entrance, within minutes of his middle-of-the-night exit.

Mrs. Carranza was also told by the priest that a young man named Guillermo Segalli and another whose last name was Dominguez had been released within an hour of Gonzalo, and that both had disappeared under similar circumstances. Segalli's mother also called the Embassy to confirm this.

Segalli's departure was apparently expected--his name had appeared on the PEN release list. He had been held under PEN for 17 months but never charged. The priest who spoke with Mrs. Carranza did not know the first name of Dominguez, nor the circumstances of his detention.

Families of persons in prison at La Plata are anguished at this news. The Westerkamps, who have a son in jail there, hope now that his name will not appear on a PEN list since they believe he could be actually safer remaining in prison. (Comment: Minister of Interior Harguindeguy recently told an American judge that he had told Mrs. Alfredo Bravo "your husband is actually safer in La Plata in prison--there are people who would otherwise do him in."). The Westerkamps reported that it is commonly believed that prison authorities had to be in league with the Army abductors; they would never otherwise have arranged prisoner releases to take place at that hour of the night.

PERMANENT ASSEMBLY

Dr. Westerkamp said that he has resigned from his position of leadership in the Permanent Assembly because he fears that Communists or people with Communist associations are taking charge of the Assembly's activity. He did not elaborate, but did say that he is the only person who has resigned. He said that members of this "communist" group had all along opposed contacts between the Assembly and American Embassy. He said that when the Mothers of the Plaza de Mayo originally came to the Assembly asking that space within its headquarters be given them for organizing their activities it was the same leftist group that had voted against this and thereby, according to Westerkapm, "pushed the mothers into the arms of the Liga--a Communist-oriented organization." Mrs. Westerkamp at this point said she was acquainted with several of the mothers and believed it unlikely that many of them had a Communist orientation.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTE

Westerkamp mentioned again that he has been dismissed from his position as Professor of Physics at the Buenos Airs Univeristy, he believes because of his association with the Permanent Assembly. He said that it came as a surprise when his name did not appear among those of other professors rehired for the academic year beginning March 1978. Only a few weeks before Westerkamp has been commended by his department head and been guest of honor at a luncheon given by his colleagues. His dismissal, Westerkamp believes, must have been the decision of the University Rector.

PRESS REPORT

After this memorandum was put in final form the story of the Carranza abduction, and the abductions of several others, was published in the Buenos Aires Herald. It explains further the nature of the charges against and the release of Carranza, and it adds a name--that of "Gallardo" to the list of persons apparently abducted. See below:

BUENOS AIRES HERALD

Parolee vanishes

GONZALO Abel Carranza, an inmate of Correction Unit (prison) Nine in La Plata, vanished after being released on parole at 12.10am on the third of this month, according to his mother, Sara Garcia Muñiz de Carranza. Mrs Carranza and her son's father-in-law, Jorge Aurelio Mazza, have sent letters to the Federal Court of Criminal Appeals, which ordered the release, on parole and to Interior Minister General Albano Harguindeguy reporting the young man's disappearance and asking for their help in locating him.

The missing man was arrested three years ago, placed at the disposal of the executive and tried and convicted of having had in his possession multiple copies of banned publications. He was acquitted of all other charges after it was confirmed that he had not had arms in his possession and had not participated in any violent or illegal action.

In December 1976 Carranza was taken off the list of those held at the disposal of the executive and put under the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts. Last October, his case was reviewed by the Federal Court of Criminal Appeals. In view of the fact that Carranza had been a civil servant employed by the justice department and had no previous criminal record, the court ordered his five-year sentence reduced to three and a half years. At the same, he was stripped of all civil rights for life.

With his sentence ending next May 6, Carranza filed for parole, and last January 31 the appeals court ordered his release. Mrs Carranza said she waited three days and then went to the prison where her son was being held. She was told that her son had been released that same morning at 12.10 along with three other inmates. Mrs Carranza says that she subsequently learned that the other three men — allegedly identified as Segall, Dominguez and Gallardo — also supposedly disappeared after leaving the prison.

Mrs Carranza, who was born in Spain, says that she is now completely alone. Her husband deserted her years ago, her only daughter lives in Europe and her other son died of leukemia 15 months a[illegible]

1. REFTEL (B) REPORTED THE POSSIBLE IDENTIFICATION OF RAFAEL UNDURRAGA CRUZAT AS ALEJANDRO ROMERAL JARA. IN INTERVIEWS WITH THE MEDIA, UNDURRAGA HAS DENIED THAT HE IS ROMERAL AND DECLARED THAT HE WOULD SUE "SEGUNDA". HE IDENTIFIED HIMSELF AS MANAGER OF AN ELECTRONICS FIRM NAMED UNDURRAGA-PHILLIPS AND STATED THAT AT THE TIME OF LETELIER'S DEATH HE WAS DOING ELECTRONIC WORK FOR THE CHILEAN TELEPHONE COMPANY. UNDURRAGA ACKNOWL-EDGED A RELATIONSHIP WITH TOWNLEY (REF A) AND SAID THAT HE HAD SERVED FIVE MONTHS IN JAIL IN 1973 FOLLOWING THE TALCAHUANO INCIDENT. Student Protests Rekindled. Indonesian troops and security officers entered two University of Indonesia campuses in Jakarta on March 3 to break up anti-government student protests. This action follows recent violence between troops and student demonstrators on the prestigious and volatile Gajah Mada University campus in which several students and soldiers reportedly were injured and about 150 students arrested. In yet another incident, 69 high school students in Jakarta reportedly were arrested last week for gathering at the grave of a student killed during a 1966 student movement which helped to depose former President Sukarno. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Surabaya 0089, February 27; CONFIDENTIAL, Surabaya 0089, March 2.)

INR Comment: These incidents occurred after three weeks of relative quiet following the military crackdown on dissent. They indicate continuing support for demonstrations directed against what the students see as military repression and massive corruption. The military, however, appears to be determined to break up all forms of protest. There may be more confrontations over the next two weeks when the People's Congress meets to elect a new president and adopt new state policies for the next five years. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Singapore

Well-Known Lawyer Released From Detention. Embassy Singapore reports that on February 26 the Singapore Government released G. Raman, a well-known lawyer who had been detained without trial under the Internal Security Act for approximately one year. During his detention, Raman confessed publicly to being a Communist and participating in Communist-front activities. Conditions imposed on his release include a $100,000 bond, a two-year suspension from the practice of law, travel restrictions, and a ban on political activity. MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION
Amembassy Santiago

Participants: Jose Antonio Cousiño, Director of Journalism School, Catholic University and Editorial Writer for "El Mercurio"
Marcelo Rosas, PDC Youth Leader
Felix C. Vargas, Jr., Political Officer

Date & Place: March 14, 1978, Chamberi Restaurant, Santiago

Distribution: AMB/DCM, POL, POL/R, ECON, USIS, DAO, ARA/AND/CH, INR/OIL/B

During a brief chat at lunch -- Cousiño had arrived 45 minutes late -- the "Mercurio" writer discussed the newspaper's political position and current news developments.

"El Mercurio"

Cousiño claimed that, while the newspaper supported the GOC economic policy ("it would not be as successful were it not for our support"), it was not hesitant to criticize human rights abuses. He reminded us of past editorials expressing disapproval of expulsions, disappearances and GOC measures restricting freedom of the press (i.e. Bando 107). Turning to Rosas, he stated that, although the Christian Democrats may think otherwise, "El Mercurio" supported an accelerated return to a democratic political system. (Comment: According to Rosas, Cousiño had recently said that "Mercurio" sought a dialogue with mainstream PDCers. Rosas speculated that this reflected a growing disillusionment with the GOC among the paper's editorial staff. He claimed that "Mercurio" Assistant Director Arturo Fontaine is on board with this idea).

Letelier Investigation

Cousiño said that for the present, "Mercurio" plans to continue its investigation of the Letelier case. People are calling in frequently, claiming to have information and the daily is checking out all good leads. He said that some writers are uneasy in that they fear that continuing probes may reveal GOC involvement. While the daily remains firm in its belief that the GOC is clean, it has not discarded the possibility completely. Should it be shown that DINA was involved, Pinochet will simply find a way

China

Human Rights in the New Constitution (INR Review and Analysis). Reflecting the stress of China's leaders on "great order in the land," the new Chinese constitution provides the legal framework for more effective government and more rights and security for the individual. It gives broad and explicit powers to government and to a revived judiciary. At the same time, it carefully defines and limits the responsibilities of each organ of government and places strict requirements on state officials. This should reduce abuses of power and improve Peking's ability to coordinate and control the country's administrative machinery.

The constitution explicitly resurrects such rights of individuals as election by secret ballot, public trial, and defense in court. It also encourages intellectual activities and explicitly protects from discrimination formerly suspect groups (e.g., non-party intellectuals, returned overseas Chinese, and national minorities). In a clause found in neither previous constitution, citizens can appeal against infringements of their rights to organs of state at any level.

In actual practice, however, the rights granted by the constitution are still severely circumscribed by the continuing requirement that citizens must support the socia system, the "leadership" of the Communist Party, and the dominance of "Marxism-Leninism Mao Tse-tung Thought." Moreover, reflecting the push for economic development, there is new stress on labor discipline and prohibition against economic crimes, as well as a notable absence of freedom concerning employment, residence, travel, and emigration. ...udent Protests Undermining Suharto's Position (INR ...iew and Analysis). While President Suharto will certainly be reelected president by the current People's Consultative Assembly, his position is being undermined by student protests. His tenure after the election will depend on his ability to maintain the unity of the military and damp down the protests. In Jakarta's present tense atmosphere, overreaction by either the students or the authorities could precipitate widespread violence.

Since January 21 the students have been sternly suppressed by the military. Reacting to a call for Suharto's ouster, the government has prohibited publication of news of protests or criticism of the government. Several hundred students have been arrested, armed troops sent to university campuses and into high schools, and student council activities banned. Recently, security troops have acted roughly, and there are rumors of injuries and even deaths.

The situation in Jakarta at this time is highly volatile. Many students are reported to have infiltrated from other areas to demonstrate while the Assembly is in session. Protests in the form of poster-hanging and pamphleteering in universities and high schools are continuing. Student strikes have halted almost all academic activity at the major colleges in Jakarta, Bogor, and Bandung, and several well-known university rectors are publicly siding with the students.

The authorities are determined to maintain order, but their tough measures may prove counterproductive. Some of the students are children of the military elite, and harm to them could split the military, which heretofore has been solidly behind Suharto.

The top military leaders do not want Suharto to leave office under public pressure. They believe, however, that his effectiveness has been diminished. If dissidence increases, they may conclude that he should be eased out of office in Javanese style--with dignity and appropriate timing. (SECRET/NOFORN/NOCONTRACT)

Philippines

Government Gives Aquino TV Time. The Philippine Government permitted imprisoned opposition leader Benigno Aquino to give a 90-minute televised interview on March 10 to reply to President Marcos' charges that he was a Communist sympathizer and a CIA agent. This was Aquino's first chance to take his case to the public on TV since the campaign for the Assembly elections began in mid-February. He used the occasion to score several points against Marcos and martial law. Although he feared that the government might edit the taped program, the interview reportedly was broadcast uncut. (CONFIDENTIAL, Manila 3940, March 11)

INR Comment: The fact that Marcos allowed Aquino this opportunity may temper some of the criticism Marcos has received over his handling of the Aquino case. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Detainee Reportedly Tortured. According to information provided to Embassy Manila last week by a staffer of the Catholic Church-sponsored Task Force on Detainees, two Filipinos arrested on December 12 in Manila reportedly were tortured in a safehouse before they were released on December 17. The staffer doubts that there were any official police records of their arrest since they were never taken to a detention center. (CONFIDENTIAL, Manila 3862, March 10)

INR Comment. This is the first report of alleged torture which INR has received since last December. (CONFIDENTIAL)

South Korea

Labor Day Demonstrations. Embassy Seoul reports that the KCIA blocked demonstrations by church groups scheduled for Korean Labor Day on March 10 by keeping the dissidents away from the demonstration site at Myongdong Cathedral. However, a surprise demonstration did break out at the official Labor Day commemorative meeting in Seoul hosted by the government and the Federation of Korean Trade Unions (FKTU). In the presence of the prime minister, the mayor of Seoul, and FKTU leaders, 20 young women textile workers -- apparently members of the Christian "Urban Industrial Mission" -- demonstrated vocally against government-sanctioned labor conditions. Police and FKTU guards forcibly removed the demonstrators, beating some in the process.

(LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Seoul 2003, March 11; CONFIDENTIAL, Seoul 1824, March 7; SECRET/

INR Comment: Much of Korean labor - and most of its leaders - are content with Korea's current prosperity and do not want to get entangled in political protest. (CONFIDENTIAL)

SOVIET UNION AND EASTERN EUROPE

USSR

Tactical Preliminaries to Moscow Trials (INR Review and Analysis). The conclusion of the Belgrade CSCE conference removed one factor hindering the opening of the trials of dissidents Shcharanskiy, Orlov, and Ginzburg. Movement on the Shcharanskiy case is now stalled by his refusal to talk to his regime-appointed defense attorney. This should delay matters only briefly, however, since the regime can force him to accept an appointed counsel. The regime may be planning for a trial opening soon.

The regime attaches more importance to the Shcharanskiy case than to the Orlov and Ginzburg cases and will handle it differently. It now appears that the latter two will be tried on relatively narrow charges and may receive relatively light sentences. Ginzburg's participation in disbursing Solzhenitsyn's book royalties to needy families of imprisoned dissidents has evidently been dropped from the indictment. Quick trials with minimal publicity would reduce Soviet embarrassment over prosecuting these men, who are best known for acts of mercy and for observance of the CSCE concluding document.

The Shcharanskiy case, however, has been selected by the Soviets as a set piece to discredit ties between the dissidents and the foreign (specifically American) journalistic and diplomatic communities. Despite US admonitions, the Soviets appear determined to prosecute Shcharanskiy for treason and stage-manage the case for high publicity. This accounts, in part, for their insistence on hand-picking the defense attorney since an uncooperative lawyer might pick embarrassing holes in the prosecution's case and could leak discrediting information to the dissident community and thence to the foreign press. (CONFIDENTIAL/LIMDIS)

Czechoslovakia

Charter 77 Signatory Vaclav Havel Released. Reuter reports that three Czechoslovak dissidents held since January 28, when police prevented them from attending a railway workers' ball, were released on March 13. According to dissident sources, the police are continuing their investigation into charges that the three men obstructed police and attacked an official during the incident. Playwright Vaclav Havel, an original Charter 77 signatory, was one of these released. He is still under the cloud of an unexpired 14-month suspended sentence meted out in October 1977, however. (UNCLASSIFIED, Reuter 1855, March 13)

AFRICA

South Africa

Changes Affecting Prisoners Largely Cosmetic. Minister of Justice James Kruger last week announced:

--the closing of Robben Island, the notorious prison colony off the Cape Town coast;

--a proposal to appoint "retired" legal men in each province to ensure the "proper protection" of all detainees. These appointees would report directly to the minister on the condition of each prisoner.

--the decision to release several prominent political detainees, including World editor Percy Qoboza, who was a victim of the October government crack-down on its black critics and their sympathizers. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Pretoria 1184, March 3; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Pretoria 1231, March 4; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Johannesburg 651, March 10)

INR Comment: These actions reflect the government's growing awareness of the abhorrence with which the world views its treatment of political prisoners, particularly in the wake of Steve Biko's death while in detention. None of these measures will significantly improve prison conditions, however. Many of the prisoners now held at Robben Island undoubtedly will be transferred to a new maximum security prison to be built north of Johannesburg. Dozens of less prominent detainees of the October crack-down are still in prison, furthermore.

The opposition parties and some members of the legal community criticize Kruger's prisoner welfare oversight plan for failing to remove the abuses of the present system. They call, instead, for substantive reforms which would provide for no detention without due process, immediate access to the prisoner by both his family and counsel, and laws rather than administrative orders to govern procedures affecting prisoners welfare. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Terrorism Trial to Reconvene in Secret. The trial of 17 members of the banned Pan African Congress (PAC) charged with terrorist acts has reconvened "in camera" at the request of the prosecution. The government had argued that its witnesses feared reprisals for their testimony. Only reporters with police press cards are allowed to attend court sessions. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Cape Town, March 10)

INR Comment: The government seems particularly anxious to win this trial. Its desire to hold secret sessions may reflect its concern that public fervor in support of the defendants in an open trial could get out of hand, especially against the background of the recent death of the PAC's revered leader, Robert Sobukwe. The government may also fear that public discussion of its pre-trial "persuasion" tactics would provoke disruption of the court proceedings. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

LATIN AMERICA

Argentina

Rights Update. Recent Argentine human rights developments include:

--publication by the government of the fifth and sixth lists in a series designed to identify all persons acknowledged by the government as state-of-siege prisoners; the six installments name a total of 2,993 prisoners out of 3,747 currently held, according to government figures;

--Foreign Ministry notification of Embassy Buenos Aires on March 10 that nine persons who are of high interest to the US have not "disappeared" as was previously thought but are under state-of-siege detention in Cordoba (central Argentina); and

--the March 8 abduction of an internationally known medical specialist, Beatriz Rosalia Iparraguirre de Weinstein, who, according to Embassy Buenos Aires, was not a political activist.

(CONFIDENTIAL, Buenos Aires 1791, March 10; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Buenos Aires 1680, March 6; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Buenos Aires 1841, March 13)

INR Comment: When serial publication of the detainee list is completed, the government will come under heavy pressure to account for the thousands who have allegedly disappeared but failed to show up on the list. The coincidence of the Weinstein kidnapping with publication of the prisoner lists again emphasizes the absence of a consistent pattern in Argentine human rights matters. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Chile

State of Siege Lifted. Chile's State of Siege, which had been in effect since September 11, 1973, was lifted on March but the State of Emergency has been extended for an additional six months. The government has given up the right to:

--incarcerate people indefinitely;

--try dissidents in "time-of-war" courts martial;

--send dissenters into internal exile; and

--strip persons of their citizenship.

Under the State of Emergency, however, the government has retained a number of powers:

--the president can decree the arrest and detention of individuals for up to five days;

--dissidents can still be expelled;

--labor and political activities are prohibited; and

--freedom of the press is limited.
(CONFIDENTIAL, Santiago 1703, March 10)

INR Comment: The State of Siege had either to be extended or lifted on March 11. President Pinochet said that he had decided to lift it because the January 4 plebiscite had demonstrated the widespread support his government enjoys. However, it is likely that pragmatic political reasons played a more significant role in the decision. The UN Human Rights Committee is currently drafting another resolution on Chile, and Pinochet would like to soften that resolution. He probably sees the lifting of the State of Siege as one way to accomplish that goal.

The continuation of the State of Siege would have required unanimous approval by the junta. Air Force representative Leigh strenuously objected to its continuance last September, and according to clandestine sources, he agreed to the last six-month extension only after Pinochet promised that he would lift the State of Siege in December. Since Pinochet did not respect that promise, it is doubtful that Leigh would have consented to another extension.

Recent revelations concerning the Letelier-Moffitt assassinations have made Chile the target of a great deal of unfavorable publicity. Pinochet probably hoped that lifting the State of Siege would provide a counterweight (albeit a weak one) to that publicity. (SECRET/NOFORN/NOCONTRACT)

Uruguay

Information Office Created. On March 8, a government spokesman announced the creation of the Central Office for Information on Persons (OCIP), charged with responsibility for responding to queries and accusations concerning persons "linked to national security-crimes." Government sources claim that OCIP will emphasize prompt, written replies to all inquiries. Information requests from foreign governments and recognized international organizations must still be submitted to the Foreign Ministry. Government officials have confirmed, however, that the existing informal channel available to Embassy Montevideo will remain in effect.

OCIP has been on the drawing board for about a year, with President Mendez having mentioned such a facility to President Carter during their September 1977 meeting. Embassy Montevideo views its long-delayed emergence as the first concrete human rights accomplishment of the newly-installed Army Commanding General, Gregorio Alvarez. As such, according to the Embassy, it is an "important positive development" and may be a harbinger of things to come. (CONFIDENTIAL, Montevideo 0779, March 9; CONFIDENTIAL, DIA's IR 69000035, March 10)

NEAR EAST AND SOUTH ASIA

Iran

Prisoners Released; Demonstrations Rumored. The Tehran press reported on March 14 that 589 detainees were to be freed that day, including 26 political ("anti-state") prisoners, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of the Shah's father, Reza Shah. (One of those released, it has been confirmed, was Mahmoud Mazaheri-Tehrani, the student-activist husband of an American citizen.) Some 322 of those to be freed are persons convicted in military courts of minor offenses involving sentences of less than three months.

Embassy Tehran expects two more amnesties in the next few weeks: first, the traditional pardon of prisoners on the March 21 Iranian New Year's Day; and secondly, a general release of those covered by the amnesty bill recently passed by the parliament for which administrative arrangements are still being formulated. The Tehran press estimates that some 700 prisoners will be released on New Year's Day. Meanwhile, rumors have circulated in Iran that widespread anti-regime demonstrations will occur on March 15 in an attempt to disrupt the celebration of Reza Shah's birth centenary. (CONFIDENTIAL, Tehran 2464, March 12; Tehran 2522, March 12; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Tehran 2572, March 14)

INR Comment. The release of almost 600 prisoners on March 14 and the news of expected additional amnesties may have been calculated to take some of the steam out of the rumored demonstrations scheduled for March 15. On the other hand, on the face of it, the releases tend to reinforce the Shah's statements after the recent riots in Tabriz that he plans to continue the process of political liberalization despite the series of disruptions which began last November. Despite a rash of warnings from many sources about plans for widespread disorders on March 11, the day passed quietly in Iran. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Iraq

Collective Rather Than Individual Rights Stressed. Iraq will continue to oppose efforts to establish a High Commissioner for Human Rights, according to the Chief of the International Organizations Bureau at the Iraqi Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The official has told our Interests Section in Baghdad that, for reasons of sovereignty, Iraq desires to emphasize collective rather than individual rights. Iraq particularly wishes to avoid situations where individual complainants could enlist the aid of international organizations on behalf of their causes. He observed that the stress upon indivudal rights was of central concern during the days when the US dominated the UN, and implied that Third World countries in today's changed circumstances would handle the issue differently. (CONFIDENTIAL, Baghdad 463, March 4)

INR Comment. The Iraqis have traditionally displayed sensitivity to accusations that their human rights record contains serious blemishes. They probably view the High Commissioner proposal as an idea that would facilitate the efforts of those who wish to embarrass the Iraqi Government by focusing attention upon Baghdad's alleged human rights violations. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Pakistan

Regime Rounds Up Bhutto Supporters. Authorities arrested three editors of a pro-Bhutto newspaper in Lahore and confined Mrs. Bhutto to her home for 15 days on March 12 for violation of a martial law order banning all political activity. The Urdu-language newspaper belonging to Bhutto's Peoples Party (PPP) had published Mrs. Bhutto's charge that the military regime planned to transfer her husband's trial from a civil to a military court in order to deprive the former prime minister of the right of appeal to the Supreme Court. The government denied the charges.

In related moves, the government has arrested several hundred PPP activists since March 1, including a former federal minister and a former provincial governor. It has also brought charges against or temporarily suspended publication of two other newspapers. (CONFIDENTIAL, Islamabad 2528, March 14; UNCLASSIFIED, Reuter 1450 and 1117, March 12)

INR Comment: The government's clamp-down on political activities is widely seen as anticipating violence when a verdict is announced in Bhutto's murder trial, probably in the next day or so. Bhutto faces a possible death sentence if he is found guilty of conspiracy to murder a political opponent. He appears to have received a fair trial, but his involvement in the conspiracy rests on the testimony of one witness and the verdict could go either way.

Mrs. Bhutto's comments reflected the attitudes of most observers, who view the martial law authority's elaborate precautions as an indication of a guilty verdict which could prompt a violent reaction on the part of Bhutto's supporters. General Zia's "caretaker" regime has so far demonstrated a better human rights record than Bhutto's did. However, in its fumbling efforts to bring about Bhutto's political demise through a guilty verdict, the military authorities' record is likely to deteriorate sharply in coming days. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Syria

Assad Emphasizes Need for More Individual Freedom. In a March 8 inaugural address, President Assad pointed to excesses in the application of martial law and said that he had ordered these practices stopped. He also stressed that individual belief and expression will not be questioned as long as individuals exercise their rights within the framework of the law. Embassy Damascus considers that Assad takes his commitment to individual freedom seriously, and believes that additional progress can be expected so long as freedom does not upset the stability which has accompanied Assad's presidency. (CONFIDENTIAL, Damascus 1357, March 9)

INR Comment: Assad has managed to remain in power in part by exploiting the competition for influence among a host of internal security organizations while concommitantly displaying responsiveness to a popular desire for greater individual freedom. As a result of his successful efforts to enhance the regime's stability in recent months, Assad apparently feels sufficiently confident to shift the above balance slightly by curtailing some of the prerogatives of his security apparatus. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Tunisia

Many Union Officials Held Without Charges. In a March 9 conversation with Embassy Tunis, Dr. Zmerli, president of Tunisia's League for the Rights of Man, expressed pessimism about the human rights situation in Tunisia. He criticized what he considers to be the government's general disregard for individual rights, as seen in its continuing detention of 100 individuals--mostly labor union officials--arrested in the aftermath of the January general strike and riots. Zmerli claimed that the government has held them under very poor conditions, has not brought formal charges against them, and has not given them access to their attorneys. One of the detainees has died in custody. Furthermore, when League officials have attempted to bring these matters up with the government, they have been faced with a "wall of silence," according to Zmerli. (CONFIDENTIAL, Tunis 1755, March 10)

INR Comment: Tunisia's leaders clearly hold the union leadership responsibile for the destructive rioting which left several hundred dead and wounded. The interest and concern shown by various international labor organizations and governments friendly to Tunisia, however, may moderate its approach to the trials and soften the sentences of those found guilty. (CONFIDENTIAL)

UNITED NATIONS

UN Human Rights Commission Makes Some Headway (INR Review and Analysis). The recently concluded 34th session of the UN Human Rights Commission (HRC) was probably one of the least contentious on record. Thanks in large measure to the active and constructive role played by the African members under the leadership of Commission chairman M'Baye of Senegal, as well as the tactics of the US delegation, the HRC took a step toward a more even-handed treatment of serious human rights violations.

Uganda. For the first time, the HRC agreed that an "eminent African personality" would undertake a thorough study of the human rights situation in Uganda under the Commission's confidential procedures. In a significant reversal of the former African reluctance to single out a fellow OAU member, the Africans, spearheaded by Senegal and Nigeria, maintained a solid front in overriding Communist and some other Third World opposition.

Cambodia. Also for the first time, the Commission publicly decided to inquire about the human rights situation in Cambodia. Although the decision was a compromise on a UK-inspired resolution that called for an investigation, it ensures that the issue will be raised again by the HRC next year. It was given little chance of success at the start of the session.

Chile, Middle East, South Africa, Cyprus. The HRC adopted the usual public resolutions on Cyprus, Chile, human rights violations in the occupied Arab territories, South Africa's apartheid policies, Western assistance to South Africa, and for the first time, a resolution on Palestinian self-determination. The divisive debate on these issues which has severely disrupted past HRC sessions was absent for the most part.

High Commissioner for Human Rights. The proposal for a High Commissioner for Human Rights was not voted on. Although the post is still strongly opposed by both Communist and Third World countries (among the latter are India, Nigeria, and Brazil), it received a new, though tenuous, lease on life by being listed among several suggestions for improving the UN human rights machinery to be considered at the ECOSOC this spring and the UNGA this fall.

National and Regional Commissions. In obvious moves to sidetrack the High Commissioner proposal, the Indians and Nigerians, respectively, came up with two proposals for the creation of national and regional human rights commissions. From these governments' standpoint, such commissions would be more manageable alternatives to either a High Commissioner or the investigatory procedures of the HRC itself.

It is unclear at this time whether the more even-handed treatment toward human rights exhibited by the Third World countries, particularly the Africans, stemmed from an African decision to be more forthcoming largely because an African was in the chair, or whether their attitude (and those of some of the other Third World countries) represents a stronger commitment to investigating violations of human rights wherever they occur. QUOTE: [redacted] GENEVA 3857

TAGS: SHUM, UNHRC
SUBJECT: 34TH HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION--POSITIVE BALANCE SHEET

SUMMARY: IN TERMS OF U.S. INTERESTS AND OBJECTIVES THE RESULTS OF THIS HRC SESSION TAKEN AS A WHOLE WERE NOTABLY POSITIVE. FOR THE FIRST TIME ACTION WAS TAKEN UNDER THE HRC'S CONFIDENTIAL "1503" PROCEDURES TO INVESTIGATE THE SITUATION IN UGANDA AND EQUATORIAL GUINEA AND ESTABLISH "CONTACTS" WITH PARAGUAY THROUGH THE SECRETARY-GENERAL. BOLIVIA, MALAWI, REPUBLIC OF KOREA AND ETHIOPIA WILL BE KEPT UNDER SCRUTINY BY THE HRC, WHILE INDONESIA IS SIMPLY INVITED TO CONTINUE COOPERATION WITH THE COMMISSION. URUGUAY HAS BEEN ASKED TO PROVIDE FURTHER INFORMATION TO THE HRC. THE "PUBLIC" RESOLUTION ON CHILE WAS FORMULATED TO MEET U.S. CONDITIONS FOR CO-SPONSORSHIP, FORCING OUT CUBAN AND YUGOSLAV COSPONSORSHIP. MOREOVER AN IMPLICITLY CRITICAL "DECISION" ON CAMBODIA WAS ADOPTED WHICH INVITES INFORMATION FROM ALL SOURCES ON HUMAN RIGHTS CONDITIONS IN THAT COUNTRY FOR INCLUSION IN A REPORT BY THE UN SECRETARY-GENERAL. THE SOVIETS ELICITED NO SIGNIFICANT SUPPORT FOR AN ATTEMPT TO INJECT THE NEUTRON BOMB ISSUE INTO HRC BUSINESS. ON THE OTHER HAND PREDICTABLE RESOLUTIONS WERE ADOPTED ON THE ISRAELI SETTLEMENTS ISSUE AND PALESTINIAN SELF-DETERMINATION RIGHTS OVER U.S. OPPOSITION, ALTHOUGH EVEN HERE LANGUAGE IN THE SETTLEMENTS TEXT CONCERNING THE APPLICABILITY OF THE FOURTH GENEVA CONVENTION WAS MODIFIED TO ENABLE U.S. SUPPORT. THE RESOLUTIONS ON THE SOUTHERN AFRICAN APARTHEID ISSUES, WHILE UNACCEPTABLE, WERE NEVERTHELESS PURPOSELY MODERATED TO ENABLE U.S.-WEO ABSTENTIONS. USEFUL THIRD WORLD INITIATIVES ON NEW NATIONAL AND REGIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSIONS WERE ADOPTED. THE U.S. CANDIDATE FOR THE HRC'S SUBCOMMISSION WAS RE-ELECTED. USDEL WAS ABLE TO KEEP THE IDEA OF A UN HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ALIVE. MEASURED AGAINST SOVIET WISHES TO EXTINGUISH THE IDEA, THIS WAS AN ACCOMPLISHMENT. AFRICAN AND OTHER NON-ALIGNED SUPPORT WAS KEY TO THE SUCCESS OF U.S. AND WEO EFFORTS TO ACHIEVE THE POSITIVE ACTIONS RECORDED BY THIS HRC SESSION. THE COOPERATION AND SKILL OF THE SENEGALESE CHAIRMAN WAS IMPORTANT TO THE SUCCESS OF OUR EFFORTS. JUST AS IMPORTANT, HOWEVER, THERE WERE CLEAR

INDICATIONS OF A CONTINUING NEW NON-ALIGNED THRUST ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES THAT IS COMPATIBLE WITH AND CONTRIBUTIVE TO OUR POLICIES. END SUMMARY.

1. THE 34TH SESSION OF THE HRC, COMPRISING 32 NATION-MEMBERS, ENDED MARCH 10 AND REPRESENTED A SINGULARLY SUCCESSFUL SESSION FROM THE U.S. STANDPOINT. THE FOLLOWING IS A PRELIMINARY ASSESSMENT FOR THE DEPARTMENT'S POSSIBLE USE IN TRANSMITTING TO THOSE POSTS WE APPROACHED ON HRC ISSUES. USDEL BELIEVES THAT THE PRE-SESSION GROUNDWORK EFFORTS AT USUN AND IN CAPITALS WITH OTHER GOVERNMENTS CONTRIBUTED IMPORTANTLY TO THE OVERALL POSITIVE OUTCOME OF THE SESSION.

2. THE CONFERENCE WAS GENERALLY CHARACTERIZED BY AN ATMOSPHERE OF PRINCIPLED COMPROMISE AND SUBSTANTIVE PROGRESS ON MOST OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES BEFORE IT. CONFRONTATIONS WERE RARE AND WHEN THEY DID OCCUR THE SOVIETS-EE'S AND ESPECIALLY THE CUBANS WERE MORE OFTEN THE LOSERS THAN THE U.S. AND WEO'S.

3. FOR THE FIRST TIME MEANINGFUL FOLLOW-UP ACTION WAS TAKEN UNDER THE HRC'S CONFIDENTIAL "1503" PROCEDURES, I.E., CLOSED DEBATES AND VOTES. MOREOVER UGANDA WAS THE FIRST COUNTRY EVER TO BE SINGLED OUT FOR FURTHER INVESTIGATION UNDER THESE PROCEDURES. A "PROMINENT AFRICAN" IS TO BE APPROACHED TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS THERE. ADDITIONALLY A DECISION WAS TAKEN TO REQUIRE EQUATORIAL GUINEA EITHER TO RESPOND MEANINGFULLY TO THE COMPLAINTS AGAINST IT UNDER THE CONFIDENTIAL PROCEDURES OR BE CONFRONTED WITH A PUBLIC DEBATE AT NEXT YEAR'S SESSION. SOLID AFRICAN PRESSURE (IVORY COAST, LESOTHO, RWANDA, AND ESPECIALLY SENEGAL AND NIGERIA) PUSHED THROUGH THESE DECISIONS OVER SOVIET-EE AND SOME OTHER THIRD WORLD OPPOSITION. IT WAS DECIDED TO ASK THE SECRETARY-GENERAL TO ESTABLISH "CONTACTS" WITH PARAGUAY TO OBTAIN FURTHER INFORMATION ON THE SITUATION THERE. DECISIONS WERE ALSO TAKEN TO KEEP THE SITUATIONS "UNDER REVIEW" IN BOLIVIA, MALAWI, SOUTH KOREA AND ETHIOPIA. URUGUAY WILL BE ASKED TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON "RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS" AND TO PROVIDE "FULLEST POSSIBLE EXPLANATION" RE THE "PROSPECTS FOR AN EARLY RESTORATION OF POLITICAL RIGHTS" IN THAT COUNTRY. THEIR RESPONSES WILL BE CONSIDERED AT THE NEXT HRC. WHILE INDONESIA, KOREA AND ETHIOPIA WERE TREATED MORE LIGHTLY THAN THE MAGNITUDE OF COMPLAINTS AGAINST THOSE COUNTRIES WOULD SEEM TO MERIT, ALL WILL BE KEPT UNDER SCRUTINY AND HAVE BEEN ASKED TO CONTINUE THEIR COOPERATION WITH THE HRC.

4. PUBLIC RESOLUTIONS WERE ADOPTED ON CHILE, ISRAELI SETTLEMENTS IN THE OCCUPIED TERRITORIES, PALESTINIAN SELF-DETERMINATION RIGHTS, SOUTH AFRICAN APARTHEID POLICIES AND SOUTH-AFRICAN-WESTERN "ASSISTANCE." HOWEVER WE BELIEVE IT IS FAIR TO SAY THAT WHEN THESE ARE CONSIDERED TOGETHER WITH THE 1503 DECISIONS THE HRC CLEARLY DISAVOWED SELECTIVE MORALITY. [redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

5. SPECIFICALLY, THE CHILE RESOLUTION WAS SHAPED TO ACCOMMODATE U.S. CONDITIONS FOR CO-SPONSORSHIP TO THE EXTENT THAT THE CUBANS AND YUGOSLAVS WITHDREW THEIR CO-SPONSORSHIP IN THE ELEVENTH HOUR. A PARTICULAR POINT OF CONTENTION WAS WHETHER OR NOT THE RESOLUTION WOULD "TAKE NOTE" OF THE INTER-AMERICAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION'S MOST RECENT REPORT ON CONDITIONS IN CHILE. THIS WAS ANATHEMA TO CUBA WHICH REGARDS THIS AS AN IMPLICIT EXPRESSION OF SUPPORT FOR THE OAS.

6. AS IN OTHER MULTILATERAL FORA, THE SOVIETS RAISED THE ISSUE OF THE NEUTRON BOMB UNDER THE ITEM CONCERNING THE IMPACT ON HUMAN RIGHTS OF SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENT (SEE SEPTELS). HOWEVER THEIR EFFORTS WERE ONLY RHETORICAL AND TENTATIVE AND THEY DID NOT IN THE END PRESS THE ISSUE VIA AN ALLEGEDLY POLISH RESOLUTION (CIRCULATED INFORMALLY). INDEED THE SOVIETS RESPONDED WEAKLY TO STRONG UK AND U.S. STATEMENTS ON THE ISSUE.

7. THE ARAB-ISRAELI RESOLUTIONS WERE TOUGH AND CLEARLY UNACCEPTABLE TO THE U.S. BUT, IN LIGHT OF PARTICULARLY STRONG ARAB EMOTIONS AT THIS JUNCTURE IN THE MIDDLE EAST DISPUTE, THEY COULD HAVE BEEN MUCH WORSE. PART A OF ONE RESOLUTION CONDEMNED THE ISRAELI SETTLEMENTS POLICY AND ALLEGED TORTURE OF "PRISONERS OF WAR." PART B OF THE SAME RESOLUTION, HOWEVER, WAS SUBSTANTIVELY UNCHANGED FROM THE 1977 RESOLUTION REGARDING APPLICABILITY OF THE FOURTH GENEVA CONVENTION TO THE OCCUPIED TERRITORIES, IN ORDER EXPRESSLY TO ENABLE U.S. PARTICIPATION IN A CONSENSUS. THE FINAL ARAB RESOLUTION ASSERTED A PALESTINIAN RIGHT TO SELF-DETERMINATION TO BE PURSUED (IMPLICITLY) BY ARMED STRUGGLE. IT WAS SIGNIFICANT, HOWEVER, THAT THE TONE OF THESE RESOLUTIONS WAS MODERATED TO SPLIT THE WEO'S BETWEEN CONSISTENT U.S. AND CANADIAN "NO" VOTES AND OTHER WEO ABSTENTIONS.

8. THE HRC ALSO ADOPTED TWO SOUTH AFRICAN RESOLUTIONS. THE FIRST DEALT WITH THE HRC WORKING GROUP REPORT ON SOUTHERN AFRICAN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. HOWEVER, DUE TO AFRICAN DESIRES TO AVOID PROVOKING OUTRIGHT WESTERN, ESPECIALLY U.S. OPPOSITION, IT WAS TONED DOWN SUBSTANTIVELY AND RHETORICALLY FROM THE COUNTERPART RESOLUTION ADOPTED IN 1977, DESPITE CUBAN PREFERENCES AND PRESSURE FOR EXPLICIT ENDORSEMENT OF THE 1977 HAVANA SEMINAR DECISIONS ON AFRICA. SIMILARLY A RESOLUTION CONCERNING WEO COMMERCIAL-NUCLEAR LINKS WITH SOUTH AFRICA WAS ALSO NOTABLY FREE OF ANTI-WESTERN VERBIAGE. INSTEAD THE EMPHASIS WAS ON INTRODUCING PRESSURES FOR PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF THE CONCEPT OF APARTHEID AS AN INTERNATIONAL CRIME. THIS WAS COUPLED WITH OTHER RESOLUTIONS BEARING ON IMPLEMENTATION OF THE ANTI-APARTHEID CONVENTION AND THE CELEBRATION OF 1978 AS INTERNATIONAL ANTI-APARTHEID YEAR. IT IS POSSIBLE THAT FOR THE LONGER TERM THE AFRICANS HAVE DECIDED TO MOVE FOR INCREASED PRACTICAL PRESSURES IN UN FORA RATHER THAN INDULGENCE IN EMOTIONAL ANTI-WESTERN OUTBURSTS.

9. UN HUMAN RIGHTS MACHINERY: HRC ACTIONS ON IMPROVING HUMAN RIGHTS REPORTING AND PROCEDURAL MECHANISMS WERE MIXED BUT GENERALLY POSITIVE. OTHER COMMISSION MEMBERS WERE CLEARLY UNRECEPTIVE TO ENDORSING OR TAKING STEPS TOWARD THE CREATION OF THE POST OF A UN HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS DESPITE OUR STRONG URGING. THIS IDEA WAS LISTED ALONG WITH A NUMBER OF OTHER SUGGESTIONS BEARING ON PRACTICAL ASPECTS OF THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS MACHINERY THAT ARE TO BE STUDIED IN AN OVERALL ANALYSIS TO BE PRESENTED STO THE NEXT SESSION. HOWEVER, IF CONSIDERED AGAINST INTENSE SOVIET EFFORTS TO HAVE THE IDEA EITHER DISAVOWED OR BURIED PERMANENTLY, THE FACT THAT THE CONCEPT HAS BEEN KEPT ALIVE AND WILL BE DISCUSSED FURTHER IS SIGNIFICANT. CLEARLY A LOT MORE WORK HAS TO BE DONE WITH THE THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES WHO SEEM TO PERCEIVE A HIGH COMMISSIONER AS BEING UNIQUELY A HIGH LEVEL INVESTIGATOR WITH A UN CARTE BLANCHE TO INTERFERE WITH OR EMBARRASS MEMBER STATES.

10. SIMILARLY, A JORDANIAN PROPOSAL TO LENGTHEN HRC SESSIONS WAS NOT PRESSED TO A VOTE, BUT FORWARDED AS AN IDEA TO BE CONSIDERED IN THE OVERALL ANALYSIS EXERCISE, WHEN IT BECAME APPARENT THERE WAS INSUFFICIENT COMMISSION SUPPORT.

11. HOWEVER, THE COMMISSION DID ADOPT AN INDIAN INITIATED RESOLUTION ADVOCATING THE CREATION BY ALL UN MEMBERS OF NATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSIONS. EVEN MORE SIGNIFICANTLY, THE COMMISSION ADOPTED A NIGERIAN PROPOSAL CALLING FOR THE CREATION OF REGIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSIONS WHERE NONE PRESENTLY EXIST. IT WAS STATED PUBLICLY AS WELL AS PRIVATELY BY THIRD WORLD PROPONENTS, E.G., EGYPT, THAT THE INTENDED MODEL FOR AFRICA IS THE OAS INTER-AMERICAN COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS. WE CONSIDER THESE IDEAS SOUND STEPS IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION AND FIND EVEN MORE SIGNIFICANCE FOR OUR LONG RANGE HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY IN THE FACT THAT KEY THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES INITIATED AND PRESSED THEM TO FORMAL ADOPTION. IN SUM, OTHERS WELL OUTSIDE THE WEO HUMAN RIGHTS "BLOC" ARE INDEPENDENTLY MOVING TO ENHANCE HUMAN RIGHTS MECHANISMS.

12. THE U.S. ROLE AS A PRIME MOVER IN THE HRC WAS PRESERVED BY THE RE-ELECTION OF AMBASSADOR W. BEVERLY CARTER, JR., (23 VOTES) TO THE HRC'S SUBCOMMISSION ON PREVENTION OF DISCRIMINATION AND PROTECTION OF MINORITIES. THIS BODY, COMPRISING 26 MEMBERS SERVING IN A PRIVATE EXPERT CAPACITY, IS THE CHANNEL THROUGH WHICH COMPLAINTS OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS LODGED WITH THE UN ARE DIRECTED FOR SCRUTINY AND RECOMMENDATIONS FOR TRANSMITTAL TO THE HRC.

13. CAMBODIAN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS WERE EASED INTO

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

THE SPOTLIGHT OF UN ATTENTION BY CONSENSUS ADOPTION OF A "DECISION" THAT ASKS THE SECRETARY-GENERAL TO SUBMIT THE RELEVANT RECORDS OF THIS SESSION'S PROCEEDINGS TO THE GOVERNMENT OF "DEMOCRATIC" KAMPUCHEA FOR ITS RESPONSE. THAT RESPONSE TOGETHER WITH "ALL INFORMATION WHICH MAY BE AVAILABLE ABOUT THE SITUATION" IS TO BE REPORTED BACK TO THE HRC NEXT YEAR THROUGH THE SUBCOMMISSION. THE DECISION WAS A COMPROMISE ON A UK-INITIATED RESOLUTION THAT CALLED FOR A MORE STRAIGHTFORWARD INVESTIGATION. HOWEVER, MINIMAL AS THE DECISION WAS, IT WAS IMPLICITLY CRITICAL AND SEEMS TO PERMIT THE CONSIDERATION BY THE HRC OF INFORMATION SUBMITTED FROM ALL SOURCES, INCLUDING THE DETAILED CHARGES MADE IN THE UK'S SPEECH. SUCCESSFUL PURSUIT OF THE CASE AGAINST CAMBODIA WILL REQUIRE CLOSE AND CAREFUL COORDINATION BEFORE THE 1978 HRC SESSION.

14. ADDITIONALLY, THE COMMISSION WAS ABLE TO ADDRESS, AT LEAST INITIALLY, FAR MORE AGENDA ITEMS THAN IT HAS BEEN ABLE TO IN RECENT YEARS. RESULTS WERE MIXED. THE MOST NOTABLE FAILURE WAS THE EFFORT TO MOVE FORWARD ON A DRAFT DECLARATION ON RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE. THE DRAFT FOUNDERED DUE TO ANGRY THIRD WORLD OPPOSITION (MOSLEM AND CHRISTIAN ALIKE), TO SOVIET INSISTENCE ON LANGUAGE PROVIDING FOR THE FREEDOM NOT RPT NOT TO BELIEVE IN A RELIGION. ON OTHER SUBJECTS, INITIAL STEPS WERE TAKEN BY THE ESTABLISHMENT OF VARIOUS WORKING GROUPS TO COME UP WITH PROPOSALS ON MEASURES TO (A) PROMOTE RIGHTS OF ETHNIC, RELIGIOUS AND LINGUISTIC MINORITIES; (B) ENHANCE RIGHTS OF MIGRANT WORKERS; AND (C) RECONSIDER THE RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE DECLARATION. THE SWEDISH-INITIATED TEXT OF A DRAFT CONVENTION AGAINST TORTURE WAS ACCEPTED AS A BASIS FOR FURTHER DISCUSSION BY A WORKING GROUP TO MEET JUST BEFORE THE NEXT HRC SESSION. UN MEMBER STATES WILL SUBMIT COMMENTS THAT WILL BE COMPILED FOR THE WORKING GROUP'S CONSIDERATION. UNDER THE HEADING OF THE ROLE OF YOUTH IN PROMOTING HUMAN RIGHTS, THE ISSUE OF CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTION TO MILITARY SERVICE WAS HELD OVER FOR THE HRC AGENDA.

15. ONE AREA OF PARTICULAR POTENTIAL CONCERN FOR THE U.S. EMERGED AT THIS HRC: THE AMERICAN INDIAN ISSUE. A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE INTERNATIONAL INDIAN TREATY COUNCIL SPOKE TWICE, AS REPORTED SEPTEL. SPEAKING ON THE ITEM OF THE RIGHT OF SELF-DETERMINATION THE IITC EFFECTIVELY PRESENTED THOUGH EXAGGERATED THE ARGUMENT OF CONSISTENT USG DENIAL OF THIS RIGHT TO OUR INDIAN POPULATION. THEY AGAIN SPOKE LATE IN THE SESSION ON THE TOPIC OF ALLEGED CALCULATED JUDICIAL PREJUDICE AGAINST INDIANS AND ALLEGED BRUTAL MISTREATMENT OF INDIAN PRISON INMATES. WHILE NO RESOLUTIONS WERE PRESENTED, THE STATEMENTS AT THIS SESSION MAY WELL BE LAYING THE GROUNDWORK FOR ESCALATED ACTION AT FUTURE HRC SESSIONS.

16. MANY OTHER DELEGATIONS WERE FAVORABLY IMPRESSED BY

THE USREP'S REPLY TO THE FIRST OF THE ABOVE STATEMENTS THAT WE WELCOMED THE INDIANS' USE OF THE HRC FORUM, AND PROMISED CONTINUED USG EFFORTS TO RESPOND TO INDIAN COMPLAINTS. HOWEVER, IT WAS OUR IMPRESSION THAT MOST OTHER COUNTRIES, QUITE APART FROM THE SOVIETS-EE'S, BELIEVE THE INDIANS' COMPLAINTS HAVE SOME VALIDITY. UNLESS WE SHOW POSITIVE IMPROVEMENT IN THIS AREA, WE MIGHT FIND OTHERS RAISING THIS SUBJECT AT A LATER TIME.

17. LASTLY, THE COMMISSION MUST ALSO BE CONSIDERED FROM THE STANDPOINT OF ITS FUNCTION AS A FORUM TO EXPOUND AND EXCHANGE VIEWS, AS WELL AS TO FUNCTION AS A MECHANISM. FROM THIS STANDPOINT THE U.S. ALSO PROFITTED CONSIDERABLY. FOR EXAMPLE, SOVIET DISCRIMINATION AGAINST ITS CHRISTIANS AND JEWS WAS RAISED VIGOROUSLY FOR THE FIRST TIME IN RECENT YEARS IN STRONG STATEMENTS BY U.S. CHIEF DELEGATE MEZVINSKY AND CONGRESSMAN JOHN BUCHANAN. SEVERAL CHRISTIAN AND JEWISH NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION REPS, AS WELL AS THE ISRAELI OBSERVER DEL HERE, EXPRESSED THEIR DEEP APPRECIATION. ADDITIONALLY THERE WERE SEVERAL EXCHANGES BETWEEN THE U.S. AND THE USSR, CUBAN AND ARGENTINE DELS. NONE RESPONDED AND ALL SEEMED DECISIVELY OUTPOINTED WHEN THE U.S. OFFERED TO ACCEPT HRC INVESTIGATION OF RACIAL ETHNIC MINORITY HUMAN RIGHTS IN AMERICA UPON THE EXPECTATION THAT THE SOVIETS, CUBANS AND ARGENTINIANS WOULD ALSO OPEN THEIR DOORS TO THE HRC TO INVESTIGATE THE COMPLAINTS AGAINST THEM.

18. HOWEVER, EXCHANGES OF RHETORICAL BLOWS WERE RARE. MORE STRIKING, PARTICULARLY IN THE CLOSED SESSION DEBATE, WAS THE LEAD IN DEFENSE OF RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS TAKEN BY SUCH DEVELOPING COUNTRIES AS SENEGAL, NIGERIA, COLOMBIA, LESOTHO AND PANAMA. THESE RESPONDED STRONGLY TO REJECT SOVIET-CUBAN ARGUMENTS THAT REVOLUTIONARY SITUATIONS "JUSTIFIED" THE VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE INTERESTS OF THE "MAJORITY." THERE WAS ALSO A NOTABLY HIGH LEVEL OF DEBATE ON THE SOUTHERN AFRICAN ISSUES. THE THEME PRESSED TIME AND AGAIN WAS THAT THE WEST WAS "GUILTY" OF A DOUBLE STANDARD ON HUMAN RIGHTS BY REFUSING TO TAKE PRACTICAL ACTION ON SOUTH AFRICA. EVEN THIS DEBATE HAD SOME COMFORTABLE MOMENTS FOR THE U.S. WHEN, FOR EXAMPLE, THE DELEGATE FROM LESOTHO IN TRACING HISTORIC LOWPOINTS OF MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN CITED "PRAGUE, 1968." NEVERTHELESS, IT WAS CLEAR THAT SOUTH AFRICA WILL CONTINUE TO BE ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT MEASURES OF U.S. MORAL CREDIBILITY IN THIS FORUM.

19. INDEED THE AFRICANS THROUGHOUT THE HRC WERE THE KEY, GENERALLY CONTROLLING FACTORS. IN PARTICULAR KEBA M'BAYE, CHIEF JUSTICE OF SENEGAL, PROVED HIMSELF TO BE A SUPERB CHAIRMAN. AS DEPARTMENT WILL RECALL, HE PROMISED AND DELIVERED A CREDIBLE AND CREDITABLE SESSION OF THE HRC. HE WAS A TOUGH AND EFFICIENT MANAGER OF SESSION PROCEEDINGS AND YET POLITICALLY DEFT ENOUGH TO PRE-EMPT SEVERAL DEVELOPING CONFRONTATIONS BY WORK BEHIND THE SCENES TO OBTAIN CONSENSUS ACTIONS OR AT LEAST SOFTEN

THE STING OF DECISIONS UNACCEPTABLE TO US (AFRICAN AND ARAB-ISRAELI ISSUES) AND TO OTHERS. USDEL WOULD STRONGLY RECOMMEND THAT DEPARTMENT CONSIDER AN APPROPRIATE EXPRESSION OF U.S. APPRECIATION FOR M'BAYE'S CONTRIBUTION AT THE HIGHEST LEVELS IN SENEGAL. INDEED ONLY NEXT YEAR WHEN M'BAYE IS NO LONGER IN THE CHAIR OF THE HRC WILL WE BE ABLE TO SEE CLEARLY WHETHER THIS SESSION WAS A PHENOMENON OR A STEP FORWARD TOWARD A FRAGILE BUT PROMISING NEW INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS UNDERSTANDING. IN ANY EVENT THIS SESSION HAS DEMONSTRATED THAT HUMAN RIGHTS OBJECTIVES IN THE UN FORA CAN BE PURSUED WITH, RATHER THAN IN SPITE OF, THE THIRD WORLD.

20. THE PRIVATE REMARKS OF A SOVIET DELOFF TO ONE OF OUR DELOFFS YESTERDAY SUGGEST THE SOVIETS ARE CONSIDERABLY LESS THAN CONTENT WITH THIS SESSION.
THE SOVIET OBSERVED THAT THE U.S. SHOULD BE PLEASED WITH THE MEETING'S RESULT. OUR DELOFF REMARKED THAT SHARE-AND-SHARE ALIKE WAS PRESUMABLY ACCEPTABLE TO ANY MARXIST-LENINIST. THE SOVIET RESPONSE WAS: "YES, BUT NOT HERE." VANDEN HEUVEL

Dear Mr. Christopher,

With eighteen months having passed since the assassination of former Chilean Ambassador to the U.S. Orlando Letelier, I am glad to hear that the delay in prosecution of this case may be nearing its end. It appears that the Justice Department and the State Department are finally ready to prosecute Letelier's assassins.

Joining with many persons feeling a strong commitment to see justice prevail, I will continue to watch carefully this investigation, and I hope and pray that my government will proceed to do everything necessary to resolve the case of brutal murder, for political reason, in our nation's capital. I would ask for your personal commitment in this behalf. Most sincerely,

Douglas R. Bernhard

1. SUMMARY. PRINCIPAL EVENTS OF MARCH 23, AS REPORTED SANTIAGO MEDIA, WERE MEETING AT FOREIGN MINISTRY TO ASSESS STATUS OF USG/GOC PROGRESS ON LETELIER CASE, GOC DECLARATION LATE IN DAY PUTTING FORTH ITS VIEWS OF CURRENT STATUS, USG LAWYER ETCHEBERRY'S FORMAL REQUEST TO JUDGE GONZALEZ FOR FERNANDEZ AND TOWNLEY TO APPEAR IN HER COURT, AND THE DEPARTURE OF ASSISTANT US ATTORNEY PROPPER FOR RETURN TO WASHINGTON. END SUMMARY.

2. MORNING MEETING IN OFFICE OF FOREIGN MINISTER CARVAJAL INCLUDED, FOR GOC, DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER VALDES, INTERIOR UNDERSECRETARY MONTERO, CNI HEAD MENA AND [redacted] FOR USG, AMBASSADOR, DCM, PROPPER AND ETCHEBERRY. [redacted] PROPPER'S IMMINENT DEPARTURE AND WAS A GENERAL REVIEW OF PROGRESS TO DATE. ASKED IF IT HAD BEEN DEMONSTRATED THAT THE GOC HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THE LETELIER ASSASSINATION SCHWEITZER REPLIED THAT THAT HAD ALWAYS BEEN HIS VIEW, BUT THAT THE MOST IMPORTANT QUESTION IS WHAT THE USG THINKS. ON THE ISSUE OF WHETHER PROPPER IS SATISFIED WITH THE COOPERATION RECEIVED FROM THE GOC, SCHWEITZER STATED: "MR. PROPPER UNDERSTANDS THAT THERE HAS BEEN GOC COOPERATION, JUST AS WAS PROMISED IN THE UNITED STATES (I.E. THE MONTERO VISIT). BUT HE STILL HOPES THAT OTHER ACTIONS WILL BE CARRIED OUT, SPECIFICALLY IN CONNECTION WITH THE LETTERS ROGATORY."

3. AMPLIFYING THE GOC POSITION, THE MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR ISSUED AN EIGHT-POINT DECLARATION THE EVENING OF MARCH 23. IN SUMMARY, AND INFORMAL TRANSLATION, IT SAYS:

-- ON MARCH 15 THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR INFORMED JUDGE LIBEDINSKY THAT IT HAD THE WILLIAMS AND ROMERAL PASSPORTS, AND ON MARCH 17 IT SHOWED THEM TO LIBEDINSKY.

--ON MARCH 20 LIBEDINSKY TOOK TESTIMONY FROM THE TWO PERSONS CORRESPONDING TO THE PASSPORTS, DETERMINED THAT THEY CAME UNDER MILITARY JUSTICE, AND THEREFORE DECLARED HIMSELF INCOMPETENT TO CONTINUE WITH THE CASE.

-- ON MARCH 22 THE SAME TWO PERSONS WERE PRESENTED TO JUDGE JUANA GONZALEZ IN RESPONSE TO THE LETTERS ROGATORY. USG LAWYER ETCHEBERRY TOLD THE JUDGE THAT US ATTORNEY PROPPER WAS NOT INTERESTED IN THE PERSONS WHO TRAVELLED UNDER THE NAMES WILLIAMS AND ROMERAL ON CHILEAN PASSPORTS; RATHER THAT THE LETTERS ROGATORY WERE DIRECTED TO THE PERSONS WHOSE PHOTOS HAD BEEN ATTACHED. THE JUDGE ACCEDED TO THE USG POSITION THAT QUESTIONING THE TWO PERSONS THEN IN COURT WAS UNNECESSARY.

-- ON THE BASIS OF THE EVIDENCE PROVIDED THE COURTS, THEIR OWN DECLARATIONS, AND INFORMATION RECEIVED BY THE GOVERNMENT, "IT CAN BE AFFIRMED THAT THESE TWO PERSONS HAD NOTHING WHATSOEVER TO DO WITH THE DEATHS OF MR. LETELIER AND MRS. MOFFITT."

-- REGARDING THE TWO PERSONS CORRESPONDING TO THE PHOTOGRAPHS, CAPITAN FERNANDEZ HAS BEEN PLACED AT THE DISPOSITION OF THE COURT; HE HAS NOT YET BEEN QUESTIONED BECAUSE OF THE REQUEST OF THE USG LAWYER THAT HE APPEAR AT THE SAME TIME AS MICHAEL TOWNLEY--"WHO, TO THIS DATE, HAS NOT APPEARED BEFORE THE COURT."

-- "IT STANDS OUT CATEGORICALLY, ON THE BASIS OF EVIDENCE NOW AVAILABLE, THAT THERE HAS NOT APPEARED ANY LINK BETWEEN CHILEAN CITIZENS AND THE DEATH OF ORLANDO LETELIER."
--"THE GOVERNMENT BELIEVES THAT BY THE ACTIONS DESCRIBED ABOVE IT HAS COMPLIED IN ALL ASPECTS WITHIN ITS POWER, AND CONTRIBUTED DECISIVELY TO CLARIFYING THE FACTS -- AS IT HAD SAID PUBLICALLY IT WOULD DO."

--"NEVERTHELESS, WITH ITS CONTINUING CONCERN TO PROMOTE JUSTICE, (THE GOC) REPEATS THAT IT WILL PROVIDE ALL NEW ADDITIONAL ASSISTANCE THAT MAY BE RELEVANT, IN THE INTEREST OF THE AFOREMENTIONED OBJECTIVE."

4. FOLLOWING UP WHAT HE HAD TOLD JUDGE GONZALEZ AT MARCH 22 APPEARANCE OF "WILLIAMS" AND "ROMERAL" (REFTEL), USG LAWYER ETCHEBERRY MADE FORMAL REQUEST TO GONZALEZ MARCH 23 FOR APPEARANCE IN HER COURT OF MICHAEL TOWNLEY AND CAPTAIN ARMANDO FERNANDEZ, AND THAT THEY BE QUESTIONED JOINTLY.

5. ASSISTANT US ATTORNEY PROPPER DEPARTED SANTIAGO FOR RETURN TO US NIGHT OF MARCH 23. HE MADE NO DEPARTURE STATEMENT. IN ANSWER TO PRESS QUERIES HE SAID THAT USG WAS INTERESTED IN FERNANDEZ, AS WELL AS TOWNLEY; HE NEITHER DENIED NOR CONFIRMED THAT HE WOULD SOON RETURN TO CHILE. LANDAU

1. THE MOST IMPORTANT ACTION TAKEN BY THE ICFTU EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING IN HAMBURG MAY 17-19 WAS TO APPROVE FILING OF AN ILO COMPLAINT AGAINST THE USSR AND POLAND FOR VIOLATING TRADE UNION FREEDOMS (REF A). IN ADDITION, THE BOARD RESOLVED TO "INTENSIFY ACTION FOR THE REESTABLISHMENT OF TRADE UNION FREEDOM IN TUNISIA" (REF B).

2. OTHER SIGNIFICANT DECISIONS, ACCORDING TO ICFTU SOURCES, DEALT WITH:

A. INDONESIA. A DELEGATION OF ICFTU BOARD MEMBERS WILL VISIT INDONESIA AT THE TIME OF THE NEXT CONGRESS OF THE ALL-INDONESIA LABOUR FEDERATION (FBSI), STILL NOT SCHEDULED, BUT LIKELY TO BE HELD LATE THIS YEAR. A "FACT-FINDING" GROUP MADE UP OF MEMBERS OF ICFTU AND INTERNATIONAL TRADE SECRETARIAT STAFFERS, WILL GO TO JAKARTA IN A FEW WEEKS AS AN ADVANCE TEAM.

B. WORLD CONFEDERATION OF LABOR (WCL). ALTHOUGH THE BOARD PASSED NO RESOLUTION ON RELATIONS WITH THE WCL, THE CONSENSUS WAS THAT THE ICFTU SHOULD LET ITS FUTURE POSUE TOWARD THE WCL HINGE ON HOW WCL PEOPLE HANDLE THEMSELVES AT THE ILO CONFERENCE IN GENEVA NEXT MONTH: I.E., WHETHER THEY TAKE POSITIONS CLOSE TO THE ICFTU'S OR TO THOSE OF THE EAST EUROPEANS.

C. SOUTH AFRICA. A BOARD RESOLUTION URGES AFFILIATED ORGANIZATIONS TO "CONTINUE PUTTING STRONGEST PRESSURE ON GOVERNMENTS FOR DISINVESTMENT IN SOUTH AFRICA, ESPECIALLY WHERE UNION RIGHTS ARE DENIED" AND TO "CONTINUE MOBILIZING RANK-AND-FILE PRESSURE CAMPAIGNS ON COMPANIES WITH INVESTMENTS IN SOUTH AFRICA, COORDINATED WITH ORGANIZATION EFFORTS INSIDE SOUTH AFRICA."

D. CHILE. THE BOARD ADOPTED (WITHOUT PUBLICITY) A "CLARIFICATION" OF THE ICFTU'S 1975 CONGRESS RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A BOYCOTT OF CHILE, WHICH HAS BEEN IMPLEMENTED BY VERY FEW NATIONAL CENTERS. WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE NEW ZEALAND FEDERATION OF LABOR (FOL) HAS TAKEN THE RESOLUTION VERY SERIOUSLY, HOWEVER, AND THAT AT THE REQUEST OF THE FOL'S JIM KNOX THE BOARD APPROVED A FURTHER RESOLUTION THAT WILL ALLOW THE FOL TO LIFT ITS SHIPPING

BAN ON CHILE WITHOUT ITS LEADERS BEING ACCUSED OF VIOLATING ICFTU POLICY.

E. INTERNATIONAL FAIR LABOR STANDARDS. A 14,000-WORD ICFTU "DEVELOPMENT CHARTER," IN GESTATION FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS, WAS APPROVED. AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE CHARTER ASKS THAT INTERNATIONAL TRADE AGREEMENTS INCLUDE "NEW RULES...TO ENSURE THAT EXPORTERS IN THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES MEET MINIMUM FAIR LABOR STANDARDS." (FULL TEXT OF CHARTER POUCHED TO S/IL.)

F. INTEGRATION OF WOMEN. THE BOARD ENDORSED A PAPER TITLED "THE INTEGRATION OF WOMEN INTO TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS," WHICH CALLS FOR THE ELECTION AND APPOINTMENT OF MORE WOMEN TO TRADE UNION POSITIONS. (THE ICFTU EXECUTIVE BOARD INCLUDES ONLY ONE WOMAN, SHIRLEY CARR, EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF THE CANADIAN LABOR CONGRESS (CLC), WHO TOLD THE ICFTU BOARD THAT IN THE CLC A MALE VICE PRESIDENT IS IN CHARGE OF WOMEN WORKER QUESTIONS.)

G. URUGUAY. THE GENERAL CONFEDERATION OF URUGUAYAN WORKERS (CGTU) WAS SUSPENDED IN HOPES THAT THIS ACTION WOULD HAVE A "SALUTARY IMPACT" WITHIN THE CGTU, E.G., BRINGING ABOUT "REINSTATEMENT OF ALL THE DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNIONISTS WHO HAVE BEEN FORCED TO WITHDRAW FROM THAT CONFEDERATION," ACCORDING TO A SECRETARIAT PAPER.

H. NEXT ICFTU CONGRESS. THE 12TH ICFTU WORLD CONGRESS IS SCHEDULED TO BE HELD IN MADRID OCTOBER 1 TO 5, 1979.

I. NEW AFFILIATES. APPLICATIONSFOR AFFILIATION WERE ACCEPTED FROM THE BASUTOLAND FEDERATION OF LABOR, WHICH CLAIMS 12,000 MEMBERS, AND THE NATIONAL WORKERS UNION OF THE SEYCHELLES, WHICH CLAIMS 6,000 MEMBERS. A THIRD NEW AFFILIATE, THE LESOTHO COUNCIL OF WORKERS, WITH A CLAIMED MEMBERSHIP OF 2,000, WAS ACCEPTED ON THE CONDITION THAT IT SUPPLY ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON ITS MEMBER UNIONS. HINTON

Mr. Warren Christopher
Department of State
Washington, D. C. 20525

Dear Mr. Christopher:

The investigation of the assassination of Orlando Letelier, the former Chilean ambassador to the United States, in the streets of our capital, is long overdue. We who take President Carter's commitment to human rights seriously and hold a deep interest in Latin America are gratified that the Justice Department and the Department of State are beginning to investigate this incident.

We will monitor the course of the investigation with interest. Furthermore, we expect that the U. S. government will use all of the resources at its disposal to guarantee that justice is expeditiously done.

Sincerely yours,

Rights Activist Sees Fewer Abuses of the Person. Father James Reuter, Director of the Church's Office of Mass Media, and a leading Philippine human rights activist, has told Ambassador Newsom that US intervention has created a marked sensitivity in the Marcos government to the treatment of individuals. Reuter considers that there has been a decline in torture and arbitrary detention of Filipinos during the past few months. He does not believe that there has been any improvement in government restrictions on freedom of expression, however, and complained that the government has:

--closed down all the Office of Mass Media's publications;

--refused to act on applications for new publications; and

--banned 10 Easter week religious programs from television because they had been produced by the sister of Marcos' opponent, Benigno Aquino. (CONFIDENTIAL, Manila 4831, March 28)

SOVIET UNION

Soviet Union

Rights Update (INR Review and Analysis). Soviet repressive actions against dissidents continue with the trial of two more Helsinki Group members, retaliation against a noted physicist, and a warning to another:

--Ukrainian Helsinki Group members Marinovich and Matusevich went on trial in a small town south of Kiev on charges of anti-Soviet activity, with close relatives of the accused barred from attending.

--Dr. Polikanov of the Dubna Physics Institute was expelled from the Communist Party and faces probable dismissal from the Institute for telling foreign journalists last November that he had refused to accept a research assignment in Geneva because he was not permitted to bring his family;

--Authorities warned Sakharov that any repetition of his March 12 demonstration would result in prosecution.

Still No Shcharanskiy Trial. The latest warning on the damage a Shcharanskiy trial would do to Soviet-US relations was conveyed to Arbatov and responsible officials of the Soviet legal establishment by Orville H. Schell, former president of the New York Bar Association. We still have no firm indication when the trial will begin.

Emigration Dips. Jewish emigration visas issued during the first half of March (883) dropped by 30 percent compared with the preceding two-week period. Thus far, total emigration still exceeds last year's corresponding period by almost 95 percent; the dip, therefore, is not yet a trend. (CONFIDENTIAL)

LATIN AMERICA

Chile

Prospects for Mezvinsky Visit Good. Chile's Foreign Minister has invited US Representative to the UN Human Rights Commission (UNHRC) Mezvinsky to Chile to discuss with President Pinochet ways to break the impasse between Chile and the UN Human Rights Commission. Ambassador Mezvinsky cannot speak for the UNHRC, but the discussion could be the first step in arranging a visit to Chile by the Commission's ad hoc working group. (CONFIDENTIAL, Santiago 2105, March 23; CONFIDENTIAL, State 074811, March 23)

INR Comment: Current prospects for productive discussions are good. Chile's leaders are determined to improve their country's human rights reputation, and a resolution of the longstanding problems with the UNHRC's ad hoc working group would be a significant step forward. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Haiti

Trials Set Rights Precedents. Embassy Port Au Prince reports that a military court martial sentenced Army Lt. Ernst Remy to six years imprisonment on March 22, and discharged him from the Army for having murdered a civilian in the presence of several witnesses. Remy had escaped prosecution for two similar murders in the past due to his status as the son of Haiti's Ambassador to Venezuela, nephew of an Army colonel with an important command, and a member of the Army officer corps.

On March 21, a civil court sentenced two members of the para-military Volunteers for National Security (descendant of the notorious Tontons Macoute) to four months imprisonment for beating an editor whose newspaper had criticized the Volunteers.

Both trials received extensive coverage in the press. Remy's sentencing was described as the only time "a member of the armed forces has been publicly judged for murdering a civilian." The sentencing of the two Volunteers was said to be the first time that members of the "Macoutes" had been brought before a court as defendants. The Embassy considers that the two precedent-setting trials demonstrate the government's increasing sensitivity to domestic and international human rights pressures. (UNCLASSIFIED, Port Au Prince 971, March 23)

El Salvador

Rights Criticism Moderates. Embassy San Salvador reports that the human rights front was quieter in February and notes a decrease in the frequency and bitterness of church attacks against President Romero. Archbishop Romero (no relation) is also reported ready to name high-level church representatives to a church-government "mixed commission" to investigate human rights incidents. Meetings of the commission may begin next week.

The Embassy also reports that President Romero told Ambassador Devine last week that he was not aware of any political prisoners being held by his government. He said that when he took office last July he had told security officials that political prisoners only bring problems, and he wanted no such complications in his administration. Romero also deplored the anachronistic attitudes of the older landowners and spoke of the urgent need for socio-economic change, especially in the countryside. (CONFIDENTIAL, San Salvador 1211, 1385, 1402, March 13, 22, 23, respectively)

INR Comment: Romero, who was dangerously isolated last fall, appears to have regained the support of the military and the wealthy elite. If, in fact, the church, his most adamant human rights critic, decides to relent and enter into a dialogue with the government, Romero will have won important support which could provide a bridge for him to moderate opposition groups. (CONFIDENTIAL)

NEAR EAST AND SOUTH ASIA

Bangladesh

Political Prisoners Released. The government released 637 prisoners on March 26 to mark the seventh anniversary of national independence. While 336 of the prisoners were classified as "political," only two appeared to have some national stature. Embassy Dacca estimates that the number of political prisoners in Bangladesh is now less than 1,000. (CONFIDENTIAL, Dacca 1858, March 27)

Pakistan

Three Murderers Hanged In Public. Three convicted killers of a 12-year-old boy were hanged in Lahore on March 22--the second public execution in Pakistan in the last 30 years. A crowd estimated at over 100,000 observed the hangings at the invitation of the Punjab state government, which declared, "We want the world to know of our dedication to Islamic law," and described the execution as an effort to "educate" the people in "the ways of Islam." The three men had been convicted of abducting, sexually assaulting, and murdering the child. (UNCLASSIFIED, The Washington Post, March 23)

INR Comment: The men evidently were tried in camera by a military court and not allowed to appeal their sentences. The government probably ordered the public hanging in order to:

--demonstrate its resolve and strength in the wake of the Bhutto death sentence;

--deter a recent "wave of lawlessness" in which several children have been kidnapped, held for ransom, and murdered; and

--test the waters for Bhutto's possible execution. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Pakistan

Bhutto Appeal Alleges Court Bias. Former Prime Minister Bhutto filed a last-minute, 30-page appeal to the Pakistan Supreme Court on March 25. He alleged that the Lahore High Court judges who condemned him to death were prejudiced, and asserted that the conviction should be reversed on grounds of bias. Bhutto's lawyers indicate that they plan to file more appeals, and complain that, although the Constitution generally provides for 30 days to appeal, the Lahore Court gave Bhutto only seven days.

In a separate development, the government closed Musawaat, a Bhutto party newspaper, for an unspecified length of time for printing a letter from the former Prime Minister calling General Zia and the martial law administrators "pious and pompous" and saying they "stink to high heaven." (UNCLASSIFIED, New York Times, March 22; UNCLASSIFIED, Reuter, Mar 25

INR Comment: Bhutto may have decided to appeal his case only when it became apparent by Zia's recent actions and statements--such as the interview in which he said he would not commute a death sentence if the Supreme Court upheld the lower court decision--that the General would not bow to international pressures at this stage. Bhutto's recent transfer from comfortable jail quarters to a death row cell may have helped trigger his decision. His lawyers will try to string out the legal process as long as possible, and have noted to the press that such actions can last for as much as a year in Pakistan. The Supreme Court, however, has announced that it will take up the cases of Bhutto and his four co-defendants on April 1, indicating that the Court may postpone its other business in order to move this politically sensitive case along expeditiously.

Bhutto is probably heartened by international appeals for clemency, calculating that, over time, they will have an effect on Zia. We would agree that, the longer the legal process lasts, the less likely it is that Bhutto will be executed. The same cannot be said for his fellow defendants, however. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Cairo Supports UN Rights Commission But Opposes High Commissioner. Embassy Cairo reports that Egypt assesses the 34th meeting of the UN Human Rights Commission in positive terms and believes that the non-aligned countries will continue to take a strong interest in the subject, largely because of the leadership being provided by the US. A senior Ministry of Foreign Affairs official says that the government strongly endorses the human rights programs and machinery of the United Nations and is officially encouraging the formation of a national Human Rights Commission in Egypt.

Egypt opposes the creation of a UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, however, because it considers that the proposal originated with non-governmental groups who have a particular interest in the emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union to Israel. Egypt also shares the concern of the Arab and most non-aligned countries that the post could be manipulated in a way that would denigrate the power of the UNHRC. Three Political Prisoners Released. Amconsul Johannesburg reports that three more of the 61 political prisoners incarcerated as a result of last October's corralling of critics of the South African Government were released on March 24. While a total of 12 have now been freed, 49 remain in detention. One of those released was Dr. Nthato Motlana, chairman of the Committee of Ten--a self-generated group of leaders from the black township outside of Johannesburg who had tried vainly to enter into a dialogue with the government on power-sharing prior to their imprisonment. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Johannesburg 788, March 24)

INR Comment: Motlana's release was neatly timed to come just before the filing date for the Community Council elections scheduled for April 15. The government, particularly Cornelius Mulder, the new Minister of Plural Relations and Development, hopes that at least some of the Committee of Ten will become candidates. Participation by Motlana or his colleagues would legitimize the government's announced plans to devolve some authority for urban affairs to an elected black leadership. Motlana, on his release, seemed to keep his options open. He called for release of the other committee members before announcing his intentions about electoral participation. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE)

Executed Coup Plotters Denied Due Process. In a preliminary assessment, Embassy Kinshasa considers that the recent trial which resulted in the execution of 13 coup plotters did not conform to Zairian law in several important respects:

--The death sentence for those charged with military plots is applicable only in time of war or in certain circumstances clearly specified in the code of military justice (neither of which applied to this case).

--The President of the Court Martial Board did not respond, as required, to defense requests to follow-up on evidence having a clear bearing upon the guilt or innocence of the accused.

--The prosecution levied new charges and introduced new evidence during the trial in contravention of the code of military justice.

--The execution of the 13 men 14 hours after their sentencing deprived them of appeal procedures called for in the code of military justice. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Kinshasa 2829, March 24)

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance
Department of State
Washington, D. C. 20520

Dear Secretary Vance:

In November of 1977, the Coalition for a New Foreign and Military Policy transmitted to you a list of 7,500 names of victims of persecution in Argentina. Representing United States concern for human rights in that country, you took the list, compiled by the Argentine Information Service Center, to Argentina that month.

The response of the Argentine government was cosmetic. It published lists totalling approximately 2,000 names, most of which belong to persons recognized as prisoners under the administration of former President Isabel Martinez de Peron.

In a previous superficial response to national and international pressure, the Junta restored an extremely limited version of the "right of option," which allows prisoners held under State of Siege regulations to opt to leave the country for exile rather than remain in prison. The Junta has reserved the right to decide in each option case whether or not the release of a given prisoner would "endanger national security" - the justification in most cases for having detained the person in the first place under State of Siege regulations.

According to Justice Carro and Attorney Herbert Semmel - who visited Argentina last January as part of an international fact finding mission - the violations of human rights in Argentina have not abated. Justice Carro reported that despite a superficial appearance of normalcy on the streets of Buenos Aires, each person he met had lost a friend, a colleague, a neighbor, or a loved one to abduction, detention, or death. Furthermore, the conditions in the prisons continue to deteriorate. The uprising at Villa Devoto Prison, last March 14, where upon 61 prisoners were killed and many more seriously injured, is evidence of the critical situation.

As the violations of human rights have mounted, the number of names on the list of victims has grown. AISC requires that there be a minimum of two independent sources for each name on its list. Even with that criterion the list has now grown to 10,000 names by the second anniversary of the coup. We submit this list to you and request that you convey it on behalf of the United States to representatives of the Government of Argentina as a sign of our awareness and continuing concern about the human rights situation in that country.

We feel that international pressure, particularly from the United States Government, can influence the extent to which the Argentine military feels compelled to fulfill its own commitments and to give substance to its widely-publicized moves to restore respect for human rights in that country. It is for these reasons that we urge you at this time to make public once again the Administration's concern on these matters and to encourage the Videla government to comply with the following requests:

1. That the Argentine government make public a complete list of all those it holds in detention, and that it provide a complete accounting of persons missing or disappeared since the present Junta came to power;

2. That the Argentine government allow those being held under State of Siege regulations to leave the country for exile as guaranteed by the Argentine Constitution, without restrictions;

3. That the Argentine government provide safe passage for those who have sought refuge in foreign embassies and allow them to leave for the country of their choice; of particular concern in the case of former President Dr. Hector Campora, who has been forced to remain inside the Mexican Embassy in Buenos Aires since the military coup of March 1976;

4. That the Argentine government begin the process of restoring democratic rule by lifting the ban on political parties and their activities, as a necessary prerequisite to holding free general elections in the near future.

We believe that the above are the basic criteria for judging any changes in the human rights situation in Argentina, and should be a precondition for improving U.S. - Argentine relations.

As long as the violations of human rights continue unabated in Argentina, we urge that the United States deny any financial assistance to the Junta, whether direct or indirect. The United States abstention - as opposed to a negative vote - on Argentina's recent request for $105 million in credits from the World Bank belies our country's original firm stance on such credits to countries which violate human rights.

We welcome the Attorney General's recommendation for a parole visa program for Argentine prisoners, and we urge that it be implemented without delay.

Hoping that you will consider and accept these recommendations intended to contribute to the prompt restoration of democracy in Argentina, we remain

Very truly yours,

Herbert Gross

SUBJECT JUNTA ANNOUNCEMENT ANTICIPATES SOME FEATURES OF NEXT GOVERNMENT

1. TWO ESSENTIAL POINTS WERE CONTAINED IN THE MESSAGE WHICH WAS READ ALOUD MONDAY AT A CEREMONY COMMEMORATING THE SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF THE MARCH 24, 1976 MILITARY COUP, AS FOLLOWS:
A. THE "MESSAGE OF NEXT MARCH 24 WILL NOT BE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE MEN WHO TODAY MAKE UP THE MILITARY JUNTA, THE SUPREME BODY OF THE STATE;"
B. "IN THAT TASK (OF BUILDING A LASTING DEMOCRACY) THERE WILL BE ROOM FOR A PROGRESSIVE PARTICIPATION OF CIVILIANS IN GOVERNMENT FUNCTIONS IN ORDER TO ASSURE A FIRM AND SUSTAINED MARCH IN SEARCH OF SOUGHT AFTER OBJECTIVES."

2. WHILE THESE TWO POINTS--THAT THE CURRENT JUNTA WILL BE REPLACED BY ANOTHER JUNTA BEFORE THE NEXT ANNIVERSARY DATE OF THE COUP AND THAT THERE WILL BE CIVILIAN PARTICIPATION AT SOME STAGE OF THE INSTITUTIONALIZATION PROCESS--HAVE BEEN ANTICIPATED IN PRESS REPORTS BEFORE, THIS

3. OTHER THEMES OF IMPORTANCE CONTAINED IN THE MESSAGE ARE THAT THE INSTITUTIONALIZATION PROCESS WILL BE GRADUAL AND THAT THE END RESULT WILL NOT BE A POLITICAL MODEL OF THE LIBERAL 19TH CENTURY VARIETY. SUPPORT FOR THIS CONTENTION IS SEEN IN THE FOLLOWING PASSAGE OF THE MESSAGE: "IT IS OUR ULTIMATE PURPOSE TO ESTABLISH A REPRESENTATIVE, REPUBLICAN AND FEDERAL DEMOCRACY, IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES AND WITH THE NEED FOR PROGRESS OF THE ARGENTINE PEOPLE. IT IS FIRST NECESSARY TO REACH A LEVEL OF GENERAL WELFARE, ONLY POSSIBLE THROUGH AN ADEQUATE ECONOMIC GROWTH BASED ON THE PRINCIPLES OF SOCIAL JUSTICE WHICH WILL ENSURE EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AND COMMUNAL SOLIDARITY."

4. ACCORDING TO NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS AND SUBSTANTIATED BY OTHER SOURCES, A DRAFT POLITICAL OUTLINE PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT VIDEAL AND ENDORSED BY THE TOP COMMAND OF THE ARMY HAS BEEN FORWARDED TO THE JUNTA FOR ITS CONSIDERATION. THE NAVY REPORTED HAS ALSO BEEN CIRCULATING PRELIMINARY DRAFTS FOR MONTHS, BUT NEITHER THE NAVY NOR THE AIR FORCE HAS YET FORWARDED OFFICIAL PROPOSALS TO THE JUNTA.

5. IT IS COMMONLY BELIEVED IN POLITICAL PARTY CIRCLES THAT THE CURRENT CABINET OFFICERS WILL OFFER THEIR RESIGNATIONS WHEN PRESIDENT VIDELA ASSUMES HIS FUNCTIONS AS "THE FOURTH MAN" (OR FIRST MAN) ON OR BEFORE MARCH 24, 1979, PERMITTING VIDELA TO APPOINT A NEW CABINET WHICH WOULD INCLUDE A GREATER NUMBER OF CIVILIANS THAN AT PRESENT. It has been suggested that we denounce the 1902 bilateral Extradition Treaty with Chile as a sign of our displeasure over the refusal of the Chilean Supreme Court to extradite or order the local trial of three ex-DINA officials. However, if that Treaty were terminated, the multilateral 1933 Montevideo Convention on Extradition would automatically become effective between our two countries. This Inter-American Convention applies between contracting states that do not have other extradition agreements. The Convention covers a broader range of offenses than any U.S. extradition treaty in force -- all crimes punishable under the laws of both the requested and requesting state with a minimum penalty of one year's imprisonment -- and is unsatisfactory in other respects. The U.S. probably should withdraw from it. However, it would not be prudent to denounce these treaties while the President's Constitutional authority to terminate treaties without the advice and consent of the Senate is under judicial examination in Goldwater v. Carter.

WC:

Yes. There are apparently a number of technical problems with the treaty, some of which raise constitutional issues. We have made a number of reservations to the treaty - and Mark says this is an additional point we should have reserved on but overlooked. (He will bring the treaty to the 6:00 mtg). JB

Dear Sir: San Diego

I have recently sent letters to President Jimmy Carter and to S.E. Fernandez, Minister of the Interior of Chile. The content of the letters reads approximately as follows:

"I support the actions of the relatives of the disappeared prison Chile who recently conducted a hunger strike. I suspect that the government knows more about the disappeared than they claim. I r of eighty "disappeared" people -- all have been seen recently in prisons. Why does our President, who speaks so eloquently about rights, welcome the new Chilean ambassador. Why did he remain si about the 2,500 political prisoners still unaccounted for?

"I am particularly concerned about Mr. Lenin Silva Diaz (ID# 53975 Zocopilla) who was arrested by the DINA on May 9, 1976. The arre was witnessed by relatives.

"I believe that the dictatorship's recent amnesty declaration apl to only a small number of prisoners. Miriam Avila Maldonado rema incarcerated at La Casa Correctional in Santiago, although her a cation for commutation of sentence was approved and she has a vi Switzerland.

"I will not believe the reports about the improved situation in until these prisoners and all political prisoners in Chile are a for and released."

Please urge these two authorities to reply to and act on my lett

Additional information on the situation of Argentine scientists and university professors

Jorge Taiana, former professor of the Medicine School of Buenos Aires University, former Minister of Culture and Education in 1973-74, held in the La Plata jail without trial since March 1976.

Ernesto Villanueva, a sociologist, former Rector of Buenos Aires University, held in the La Plata jail without trial for the last three years, was arrested in October 1974.

Oscar Moretti, former professor of the Universidad Nacional del Nordeste, held without trial since 1974 in terrible conditions, had two pneumothorax operations in jail.

Emilio de Ipola, a sociologist of the Latinamerican School of Social Sciences (which moved this year from Buenos Aires to Mexico City) held in jail without trial together with his wife since 4.13.76.

Mauricio López, former Rector of the National University at San Luis, former professor of the Methodist Theological Seminary at the City of Mendoza, kidnapped on 1.1.77, his arrest was afterwards announced, held without trial.

Alfredo Bravo, leader of the Confederación de Trabajadores de la Educación de la Repûblica Argentina (CTERA) a union of grade and high school teachers, kidnapped in August, his arrest was afterwards announced, held withouttrial.

Ignacio Ikonikof, a physicist who worked as a science journalist, former editor of the "Ciencia Nueva" magazine, former member of the leadership of the journalists union, kidnapped with his wife María Bedohian on 6.25.77.

Liliana Galletti, Bachelor in History, 30, former professor of Universidad Nacional de La Plata, former career researcher of the National Research Council, member of the leadership of Comisión Argentina de Derechos Humanos (a human rights group), kidnapped by military at the beginning of 1977.

María Isabel Giménez, age around 40, has a degree in Electrical Engineering, professor of Mathematics and Dean of the Tucumán branch of the National Technological University in 1973 and 1974, kept her job of Mathematics professor until she was kidnapped in June 1977.

Mario Tempone, former Director of the School of Architecture of Buenos Aires University, kidnapped with his wife on 9.5.77.

Carlos Versavsky, has a Ph.D. in Physics from University of Colorado, former professor of Buenos Aires University and former Director of the National Radioastronomy Institute, Director of Research and Development of ALUAR (a metallurgical company), forced to emigrate under threats.

Angel Pisarello, former professor of the Law School at Universidad Nacional de Tucumán, acted as defence attorney for political prisoners, kidnapped and murdered around May. 1977. His body was found with signs of having been burned alive with a gas torch.

Luis Monteiro, doctor in Mathematics, age around 38, Full Professor of Mathematics at Universidad Nacional del Sur, fired in 1974, got a job at Universidad de La Pampa (a local state university), arrested and held without trial from November 1975 until April 1976, fired from his job, unable to get a teaching job now works in a gas company at the city of Bahía Blanca.

The legal situation of the dismissed university teachers:

The mass dismissals at the universities began in September 1974 and have included even some Emeritus Professors, as in the case of professor Antonio Monteiro, of the Universidad Nacional del Sur at Bahía Blanca (now in exile). Dr. Alberto Mario Mariscotti, Physics Professor at the Science School of Buenos Aires University, is to our knowledge the only one who attempted to be reinstated throught legal action, arguing that a university teacher could not be dismissed by a purely administrative procedure and that an academic trial was required. The Supreme Court appointed by the Junta rejected his case around August 1977.

The situation of scientific associations:

The Asociación Física Argentina (Argentine Physical Society) has ceased operations since mid 1976 after the departure of its President, Dr. Juan Mignacco, who left for Brazil. The number of physicists in Argentina has decreased considerably because of emigration caused by dismissals and low salaries.

The situation at universities and research institutes and the unions:

University unions, which included mostly the non teaching staff, have practically ceased to exist as a result of repression, since the Junta took power. A law passed by the Junta almost immediately after seizing power outlaws all "agitation or proselytism" in the universities, including union "agitation" or proselytism. Strikes have been outlawed and strikers may get up to ten years in prison Unions also existed at some non-university research laboratories such as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Agriculture and Cattle Breeding Institute. Although unions have not been banned in these institutions the dismissals and sometimes arrests of the union activists have liquidated all union activity.

The liquidation of union activities and the government policy of denying salary increases in the midst of a 150% yearly inflation has caused mass resignations of teaching and non teaching personnel of the universities, the state research institutes and of the technical personnel of state enterprises and state agencies.

According to information published in the Buenos Aires newspaper "La Opinión" around March Buenos Aires University had some five hundred jobs of non teaching personnel which had been left available by resignations and which could not be filled because of lack of candidates. Another information published in August reported that one fourth of the four hundred non teaching jobs at the School of Economics had been left available through resignations and that the library was operating with half its normal staff.

Salaries of the teaching and research personnel are also low both at universities and state research institutes. According to information published in the Mexican newspaper "El Día" the Atomic Energy Commission was offering a job for a biochemist or biologist at a salary of 40000 pesos (some eighty dollars) while ads published in the Buenos Aires newspapers were offering twice as much for a maidservant. In December Economics Minister José Alfredo Martínez de Hoz announced the budget for 1978, which intends further budget cuts for the Atomic Energy Commission, which may already have lost more than half of its professional staff.

Mass resignations of technical personnel have also been reported at the state oil enterprise (Yacimientos Petrolíferos Fiscales), the state railways, the National Board of Statistics, etc.

Although the situation of Argentine university teachers, scientists and research workers has generally not been good over the last few years, we believe that it has never before reached the catastrophic depths in which it is now.

The situation in the social sciences:

Social scientists have been particularly hard hit, because of the dismissals; because of the massive suppression of university courses in areas such as sociology, political science, economics, anthropology, psychology, etc., which were supposed to be a breeding ground for "subversive elements", and because the atmosphere of hostility created by the Junta against the social sciences has also affected the private institutions which supported research in this area. As a result of this hostile atmosphere, the Di Tella Foundation, which used to support of the order of some fifty researchers is now supporting five or six.

Most of the bibliography available in the social sciences has disappeared because of the closing down of the Siglo XXI publishing house, probably the largest publishing house in the social sciences in Spanish, and the destruction of 150000 copies of books that this publishing enterprise had in storage, including books by Chomsky, Bettelheim, Paulo Freire, Ivan Illich, Rodolfo Stavenhagen, Pablo González Casanova, Fernando Henrique Cardoso, Vania Bambirra, and other well known Latinamerican social scientists.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON THE BAHIA BLANCA TRIAL

The accused are under the jurisdiction of Federal Judge (Juez Federal) Guillermo Federico Madueño. The Judge's office is located at the Palacio de Tribunales, Bahía Blanca, Argentina. The last information we have about the trial is the confirmation of preventive imprisonment for six of the accused by the Federal Court of Appeals (Cámara Federal) of the city of Bahía Blanca, on June 2nd, 1977.

As the preventive imprisonment has been decreed and confirmed, the trial will necessarily enter the "plenario" stage (trial itself, after preliminary inquest). This implies the following steps: 1) presentation of the state's attorney accusation; 2) presentation of the defence case; 3) presentation of proofs; 4) summing up; 5) passing of judge's sentence.

It should be clear that the defence is just a formal affair, because it is not possible to think that the accused will have a due legal trial, because the result of the trial will be what the Junta decides that it should be, because there is no independence of the judiciary, particularly in the Federal branch, which has jurisdiction in cases with political implications, and because regulations passed by the Junta drastically reduce the power of the judges increasing the power of the police and the Armed Forces: for instance a regulation passed by the Junta makes it compulsory for the judges to accept "confessions" from the accused obtained by the police and the Armed Forces during the preliminary inquest (instrucción del juicio), while before any such confessions or proofs had to be confirmed by the accused in front of the judge. "Confessions" are obtained by the police through torture. To this

ON THE CASE OF PROFESSOR MARIO TEMPONE

Professor Mario Tempone was kidnapped in Buenos Aires at the beginning of September. Attempts to find him in police stations or Army barracks have been unsuccessful, and equally an habeas corpus writ presented on his behalf.

He was born in Buenos Aires on April 12, 1937. He was awarded a Prize for "Composición Arquitectónica" (Architectural Design) together with his Architecture degree from Buenos Aires University in 1957. He worked in research in new construction methods and in regional development plans at Buenos Aires University and other state agencies. He was Full Professor of Housing Construction and Director of the Center for Research on Housing Programs and of the Department of Construction Science, at Buenos Aires University and academic adviser of the Architecture School of the Universidad Nacional del Nordeste. He was fired from his academic jobs in 1975.

(This information is from a letter of Ms. Annemarie Fellmann, Limmattalstr. 110, 8049 Zürich, published in the Mexican ma,azine "Proceso of 11.28.77 p.64).

The case of Ignacio Ikonikof

Ignacio Ikonikof, who has a degree in Physics from Buenos Aires University, specialized in Oceanography, and carries an honoris causa degree from the University of Paris awarded in 1969, is one of the very few science journalists in Argentina. He was science editor of the newspaper "La Opinión" and editor of the science magazine "Ciencia Nueva", which is one of the two science magazines published in Spanish. He was active in the professional union of journalists (Asociación de Periodistas de Buenos Aires, of which many members have been kidnapped and assassinated). He was kidnapped on June 25 together with his wife María Bedohian, in their Buenos Aires home, leaving unprotected their three years old daughter.

As in the case of other kidnapped physicists, there might be an element of Antisemitism in his case. Repression by the paramilitary and parapolice gangs encouraged or tolerated by the Junta tends to be more vicious with Jews or Catholics married to Jews, which is the case of Ignacio and his wife, and was also the case of Federico Alvarez Rojas and Hilda Leikis and of Eduardo Pasquini and Liliana Misraijchi. We are asking all scientific organizations to show their solidarity against this new crime of the Argentine government and to ask General Videla that Ikonikof and his wife be immediately released.

Dear Mr. Secretary,

Given the continuing violations of human rights in Chile and given the refusal of the Chilean junta to extradite the three DINA agents responsible for the Letelier-Moffitt murders, I urge the U.S. government to take the strongest possible economic and political measures against the Junta and pressure the Chilean government on the following four points:

P B-C

- The restoration of democratic rights in Chile
- The right of all Chilean exiles to return to their country
- An accounting by the Junta of all the disappeared
- The immediate recognition and amnesty for all political prisoners in Chilean jails.

Sincerely,

Dear Mark:

I have just received some information, which came to me from Mexico, pertaining to the oppression of university professors in Argentina. The enclosed statement, addressed to the Secretary of the Human Rights Committee of the U.N., further substantiates my belief that the Argentine government is engaged upon phase two of its war against subversion, i.e. a war against "ideological" subversion.

Thanks for sending me copies of your speeches, and especially for sacrificing your free time on Sunday to speak to our young leaders.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Bova:

I would like to thank you for your letter of January 26 -- which I think went by sea mail as I only just received it -- and for having forwarded a copy of my previous letter to your Embassy in Buenos Aires.

I am afraid to say that we do not presently have the additional pieces of information concerning Mr. Atencio Maurino that you would require in order to present his name to the Human Rights Working Group of the Argentine Foreign Ministry.

We are, however, very pleased that you have offered to do so and we are currently in the process of trying new ways of obtaining this information. As soon as we have any success in this pursuit, we will write you back.

Yours sincerely,

To the Secretary of the Human Rights Committee of the United Nations.
(Copy to the UNESCO General Secretary)

Dear Sir:

On August 4, 1976, one of the most telling events of the current Argentine situation took place. In a press conference that was reported in most Argentine newspapers and reproduced in full in the next day's issue of the newspaper "la Nación", General Acdel Vilas, Chief of the Fifth Army, headquartered in the city of Bahía Blanca, where the National Southern University (Universidad Nacional del Sur), is also located, announced the uncovering of an "international conspiracy" for "ideological and socio-cultural infiltration" with the object of the ideological shaping of "subversive criminals" at that university. Vilas announced the arrest of fifteen former professors of the university, most of them from the Economics Department, a student and a member of the non-academic staff. Most of those who would be tried for this "crime" had been already arrested at the beginning of July. He also gave a list of fourteen more former professors and two members of the union of the non-academic staff who were under warrant and presumed to be fugitive. In October and November at least nine more former professors were arrested, some of whom were later released. The former Dean of the Bahía Blanca branch of the National Technological University (Facultad Regional) de la Universidad Tecnológica Nacional) was also arrested and a list was given of twenty seven more fugitives, although from the information that was given out and from other sources it seems that the number of those arrested and wanted is probably higher. Among those arrested there were some well known intellectuals, like the former Rector of the University, Víctor Benamo, and the economic historian Horacio Ciafardini, author of several books on Argentine economic history; other well known economists such as Carlos Adolfo Barrera and Dolio Sfascia were also arrested. Among those wanted were Dr.. Gustavo Malek, another former Rector and former Minister of Education (the order for his arrest seems to have been dropped afterwards); the former academic secretary of the University, Augusto M. Pérez Lindo; the former Chairman of the Economics Department, Enrique Rubén Melchior; the former academic secretary of the Humanities Department, Mario Merlino; the former Rector of Comahue National University, Roberto Domecq; the economist José Luis Coraggio, historian José Carlos Chiaramonte, literary critic Jaime Rest, and even a Catholic priest.

One June 2nd of 1977 it was announced that the Federal Court of Appeals in the city of Bahía Blanca confirmed the preventive detention ("prisión preventiva" in the Argentine legal system this means that the judge is supposed to have strong proof "semi-plena prueba") of six of the accused, including Ciafardini, former Economics professors Eduardo Villamil, Héctor Pistonessi Castelli, Carlos Adolfo Barrera, Alberto Barbeito and former Humanities professor Mario Usabiaga. It is also known that the accused are imprisoned in the towns of La Plata and Trelew, some six hundred kilometers from their place of residence, that several of them have been mistreated forcing them to sleep naked on the floor in winter nights and that one attempted suicide. The accused are defended by court appointed lawyers. In many cases political prisoners do not find lawyers in Argentina now, because some fifty lawyers who used to defend political prisoners have been kidnapped by the paramilitary and parapolice gangs, and many of these have been found murdered, some with incredible brutality, and many others have been forced to flee the country.

The illicit conduct of the accused, according to the public accusation pronounced at the press conference of General Vilas, consisted, first, in holding ideas different from those implicit in the official philosophy, which is usually referred to as being within "the principles of Western Christian civilization"; second, in having studied Economics at Buenos Aires University, together with other students who had "Socialist tendencies" because "they were given the opportunity of studying Economics from a political historical point of view";third, in having studied in foreign universities such as the National University of Mexico (Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México), the University of Colorado, the University of Grenoble and other highly prestigious academic centers; fourth, of having used lies and deception to influence their best students, with whom they formed a group known as "the ideological elite of international Economics"; fifth, in having used their influence for getting jobs for their students or colleagues as professors in other universities or as advisers to Provincial governments; sixth, in having used academic freedom for ideological penetration, because "academic freedom allows the professor to choose the ideological thrust he likes, within an unobjectionable scheme"; seventh, of having used their influence to add to all academic majors a course of Political Economics; eighth, of having participated in committees that designed the curriculum for the Bachelors of Economics (licenciatura) giving it a clearcut Marxist ideological content; ninth, of having written analyses of the Argentine economic situation which contained "false and ominous judgements about the economic situation of Patagonia"; and finally of having allowed books from the publishing house Siglo XXI to be sold at university bookstores (this publishing house, one of the most important in Spanish, was closed down by the Junta after the coup).

The "proofs" shown by General Vilas at his press conference consisted of books seized at the houses of the accused, such as "The Open Veins of Latinamerica" by Eduardo Galeano, "Fundamental Concepts of Historical Materialism" by Marta Harnecker, the Education Law of the Socialist Republic of Romania, short stories by Julio Cortázar and a history of Chinese literature, according to information published in "La Nación" and pictures of the exhibit of "subversive" material published in the magazines "Gente" and "Siete Días".

To punish these "crimes" the government intends to apply retroactively the monstrous "security law" passed by the Junta, which bans "proselytism and indoctrination" at universities.

That such grotesque accusations could be seriously taken by most Argentine newspapers; that the Vilas' press conference could have been shown on television, and that no one dared give a public answer, shows the climate under which Argentina is living today. To be an idea of the climate in the Bahía Blanca area we could mention that the Departments of Economics and Humanities of the Universidad Nacional del Sur had already been closed down before the March 24 coup; that even before the coup forces of repression had assassinated students and members of the non-teaching staff union, one of these while he was in his hospital bed after having been injured in a previous attack; that after the coup the forces of repression assassinated Juan Carlos Prádanos and Manuel Tarchinsky, former professors of the Universidad Nacional del Sur and some twenty students of the local branch of the Technological University. The Argentine government has created a climate of unprecedented terrorism and ideological persecution, including book burnings and massive assassinations, all this tolerated, encouraged and executed by the commands of the Armed Forces, in such a way that it brings to mind the worst atrocities of German Nazism. The aberration, without precedent in Argentine legal history, in which the judges are even admitting these unworthy accusations and raving theories of conspiracy, can be explained not only by the general climate of intimidation created by the Junta but also by the total purge of the judiciary that took place after the coup, in which more than a thousand judges and judiciary officials were fired, in order to have a compliant judiciary that would be a tool of ferocious repression.

The purpose of these trials is to turn the teaching of a theory that displeases official ideologists into a crime. The Argentine government has mounted a monstrous show trial based on the crime of thought and opinion, because only if the existence of such "crimes" is admitted can such worthless accusations be considered as the one that the victims were handing down a Marxist ideological education to their students.

This ideological persecution is not an accident. It is part of Junta policy, as confirmed by concomitant events such as book burnings -shown on television-, purging of university libraries and even the seizure of books from private libraries -some ten thousand books were taken from the homes of teachers and students at the Universidad Nacional de Cuyo-, and even the closing down of publishing houses and the kidnapping, murder and/or arrest of their publishers, managers or employees, as in the cases of the publishing houses Siglo XXI, De la Flor, Cartago and others; and the banning of books of local and foreign authors, etc. That ideological persecution is government policy is confirmed by statements of high government officials, as shown by a press conference held by General Luciano A. Jáuregui, a member of the Army Chiefs of Staff. General Jáuregui reported in this conference ("La Opinión" of 4.21.77) on the "struggle against subversion", and fully endorsed General Vilas' line by speaking out openly against academic freedom at the universities, because, he said, it might be used to "ideologically win over teachers, students and the non-teaching staff" through "a malicious manipulation of bibliographies".

These facts should alarm all those interested in the future of education, of science and of culture, wherever they might be. A conspiracy has been fabricated to turn into crimes the teaching of a scientific theory, the free election of bibliography by a professor who is teaching a course and the power of professors of a Department to decide on a curriculum. The victims, who have been chosen as scapegoats, have been subjected to character assassination, imprisonment and mistreatment, and they do not have the slightest chance of giving a public reply to their accusers and much less of having a fair trial, because the climate of fear created by the Junta in general and exacerbated in this particular case, has destroyed any possibility of justice. Public opinion in the whole world, and particularly scientists and intellectuals, should act to put an end to this political and legal monstrosity.

We are, therefore, asking all organizations of scientists and intellectuals everywhere, and also internationsl organizations concerned with the cause of education, science and culture, such as UNESCO, that they raise their protest against this attack on culture, and demand the end of this trial and the liberty of the accused.

SUBJECT EXPLOSION IN PRECINCT STATION -- RESURGENCE OF TERRORISM?

1. BUENOS AIRES NEWSPAPERS 4/7 GAVE PROMINENT COVERAGE TO AN EXPLOSION BETWEEN ONE AND 2 AM ON THE MORNING OF APRIL 6 IN THE 47TH PRECINCT OF THE FEDERAL CAPITAL IN WHICH THE PRECINCT DEPUTY POLICE CHIEF AND ONE OTHER OFFICER WERE KILLED. TWO OTHER PERSONS WERE GRAVELY INJURED. ALTHOUGH FEDERAL POLICE CHIEF OJEDA ORIGINATED AN INVESTIGATION, ACCORDING TO NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS, SUBSEQUENT INVESTIGATIONS WERE TURNED OVER TO MILITARY AUTHORITIES. NO OFFICAL REPORT WAS ISSUED. PRESS ACCOUNTS ATTRIBUTED THE EXPLOSION TO A HAND GRENADE ON THE PERSON OF A SUSPECT WHO HAD BEEN BROUGHT TO THE STATION FOR QUESTIONING.

2. POLICE SOURCES (PROTECT) INFORMED RSO THAT SUSPECT HAD BEEN PICKED UP IN A BAR IN THE 45TH PRECINCT. AT THAT TIME HE WAS ACCOMPANIED BY AN OFFICER OF THE FEDERAL POLICE. HE WAS BROUGH TO THE 47TH PRECINCT FOR QUESTIONING CONCERNING INFORMATION THAT ON PREVIOUS OCCASIONS HE HAD POSSESSION OF EXPLOSIVES AND AUTOMATIC WEAPONS IN HIS VEHICLE. THE FEDERAL POLICE OFFICER WITH SUSPECT IDENTIFIED HIM AS A MEMBER OF THE MILITARY AND WARNED ARRESTING OFFICERS TO HANDLE HIM CAREFULLY. CONSEQUENTLY, ALTHOUGH HE WAS BROUGHT TO THE 47TH POLICE PRECINCT, HE WAS NOT SEARCHED. AT THE PRECINCT, HE IDENTIFIED HIMSELF AS A CONTACT

EMPLOYEE OF SIDE (SERVICIO DE INFORMACIONES DEL ESTADO - INTELLIGENCE). HE WAS ESCORTED TO THE OFFICE OF THE SUBCOMISARIO OF THE PRECINCT. SHORTLY AFTER THAT AN EXPLOSION OCCURED, KILLING THE SUBCOMISARIO, ONE OTHER OFFICER AND SERIOUSLY INJURING THE SUSPECT AND ONE OTHER PERSON. POLICE SPECULATE THAT THE EXPLOSION OCCURED WHEN SUSPECT OR HIS BAG WAS BEING SEARCHED AND ATTRIBUTE IT MOSTLY LIKELY TO AN ACCIDENT.

3. POLICE IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES ARE PUSHING THE STORY THAT SUSPECT WAS A MEMBER OF THE ERP WHO WAS BROUGH IN FOR QUESTIONING. THIS MAY BE NECESSARY AS A COVER STORY AND ALSO TO ENSURE THAT THE DECEASED POLICE OFFICERS FAMILIES RECEIVE FULL INSURANCE FOR PENSION BENEFITS. HOWEVER, OUR SOURCES REASSURED US THIS WAS NOT TRUE AND THAT SUSPECT WAS IN FACT A CONTRACT EMPLOYEE OF SIDE.

4. RSO COMMENT: ALL ARGENTINE SECURITY SERVICES OFTEN UTILIZE CONTRACTUAL PEOPLE TO HANDLE SPECIAL OPERATIONS. THESE PERSONS SOMETIMES WORK WITH SECURITY IDENTIFICATION AND ARE RECRUITED FROM MANY DIFFERENT WALKS OF LIFE. THESE CONTRACT PERSONS NORMALLY WORK UNDER THE DIRECT SUPER VISION OF MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY SERVICES. HOWEVER, ON NUMEROUS OCCASIONS THEY HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN MOONLIGHTING INCIDENTS SUCH AS KIDNAPPINGS, EXTORTIONS AND MURDERS FOR PROFIT. ELIMINATING THE CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES OF THESE CONTRACTUAL PEOPLE HAS BEEN A CONCERN TO THE SECURITY FORCES.

TAGS: SHUM, PNUC, AR
SUBJECT: CONVERSATION WITH PRESIDENT VIDELA ON NUNS' DEATH

REF: (A) STATE 89468, (B) BA 2635

1. UPON RECEIPT OF REFTEL LAST FRIDAY I MADE THE NECESSARY FORMAL REQUEST FOR AN APPOINTMENT WITH PRESIDENT VIDELA. USCINCSO, LTG. MCAULIFFE HAD EARLIER OBTAINED AN APPOINTMENT WITH VIDELA IN HIS ROLE AS COMMANDER OF THE ARGENTINE ARMY FOR 10 TODAY AND THE GENERAL LET ME TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OPPORTUNITY TO REACH PRESIDENT VIDELA BEFORE AN APPOINTMENT WOULD BE FORTHCOMING NORMALLY.

2. GEN. MCAULIFFE INFORMED THE PRESIDENT OF THE PURPOSE OF HIS VISIT (REPORTED SEPARATELY) AND HEAVILY STRESSED THAT IMPROVED RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS IS AN INDISPENSIBLE BASIS FOR GOOD RELATIONS WITH NOT ONLY THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES, BUT ALSO WITH THE U.S. ARMED FORCES. FOLLOWING HIS PRESENTATION THE PRESIDENT AGREED TO HEAR THE MESSAGE WHICH I HAD SOUGHT AN APPOINTMENT WITH HIM TO DELIVER. I REVIEWED WITH HIM THE DEPTH OF OUR CONCERN ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES IN ARGENTINA AND THE SATISFACTION WITH WHICH WE HAD GREETED SEVERAL POSITIVE ACTIONS SUCH AS PUBLICATION OF LISTS OF EXECUTIVE DETAINEES AND THE RIGHT OF

OPTION. WE HAD TRIED TO INDICATE OUR SUPPORT OF THESE MODEST STEPS BY ABSTENTIONS ON IFI LOANS AND THE SALES OF

SOME MILITARY EQUIPMENT. I SAID THE REPORTS OF THE DEATHS OF THE TWO NUNS HAD DEALT A SERIOUS BLOW TO USG VIEWS OF ARGENTINE PROGRESS ON OBSERVANCE OF HUMAN RIGHTS. IT WAS OUR VIEW THAT IT IS CRUCIAL FOR THE GOA TO ESTABLISH RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEATHS OF NUNS AND PUNISH THOSE RESPONSIBLE.

3. PRESIDENT VIDELA'S RESPONSE TO THE REPRESENTATION REGARDING THE NUNS WAS THAT HE WAS AWARE THAT THE DISAPPEARANCES HAD A SERIOUSLY ADVERSE EFFECT UPON THE WORLD'S VIEW OF ARGENTINA AND CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE DISAPPEARANCES MUST BE DISCOVERED AND THOSE RESPONSIBLE JUDGED. HE STRESSED THIS WAS VIEWED WITH UTMOST GRAVITY AND HAD BEEN THE SUBJECT OF INTENSE INVESTIGATION. HE SAID THAT WHILE THE INVESTIGATION HAD SO FAR PRODUCED NO SIGNIFICANT RESULTS IT WOULD CONTINUE TO BE PRESSED. THEY HAD FOUND NOTHING TO CONFIRM THE REPORTS THAT THE BODIES OF THE DISAPPEARED HAD BEEN FOUND BUT WOULD CONTINUE INVESTIGATIONS WITH A VIEW TOWARD MINIMIZING THE SERIOUS DAMAGE TO THE COUNTRY.

4. THE PRESIDENT REVERTED TO THE THEME WHICH HE HAD EXPRESSED TO GEN. MCAULIFFE: THE WAR IS OVER; IT IS TIME TO RETURN TO A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY GOVERNED BY THE FULE OF LAW. SOME STEPS HAVE BEEN TAKEN AND THESE WERE NOT ALWAYS EASY, AND FURTHER STEPS WILL FOLLOW, HOPEFULLY ON A MORE SYSTEMATIC BASIS. HE CLEARLY GAVE THE IMPRESSION THAT HE NEEDED SOME RECOGNITION OF THE POSITIVE MEASURES.

5. PRESIDENT VIDELA ALSO CONFIRMED THAT JACOBO TIMERMAN WOULD BE "GOING HOME SOON", BUT WOULD NOT BE TOTALLY FREE UNTIL THE ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES REVIEWING THE LEGALITY OF HIS ACQUISITION OF HIS WEALTH HAVE BEEN COMPLETED.

[redacted]

THE CONVERSATION ENDED WITH THE PRESIDENT'S CONFIRMATION THAT THE GOA WILL RATIFY THE TREATY OF TLATELOLCO BY MAY 24 (SEPTEL).

6. COMMENT: PRESIDENT CLEARLY GOT THE MESSAGE THAT USG IS OUTRAGED AND CANNOT MOVE TOWARD IMPROVED RELATIONS IN THE FACE OF DISAPPEARANCES. AT SAME TIME HE HAD NO ACCEPTABLE LINE TO TAKE OTHER THAN THE DENIAL OF FIRM INFORMATION ON THE DEATHS (THIS MAY BE CORRECT, AT LEAST IN A FORMAL SENSE, BUT IS NOT A MITIGATING FACTOR). THE GENERAL AND I WERE IMPRESSED WITH VIDELA'S APPARENTLY GENUINE DESIRE TO MAINTIN CLOSE RELATIONS WITH THE USG AND HIS APPARENT COMMITMENT TO MOVE TOWARD NORMALIZATION. WHEN I RAISED A REPORT OF A NUMBER OF PEOPLE DISAPPEARING AT THE SAN JUSTO CHURCH, HE EXPRESSED DISMAY AND SIAD HE WOULD LOOK INTO IT PROMPTLY. OF INTEREST IS HIS USE OF THE PHRASE "THE WAR IS OVER". THIS IS THE FIRST TIME WE HAVE HEARD HIM, OR OTHER GOVERNMENT LEADERS, TAKE THIS POSITION WHICH WILL NOT BE POPULAR THROUGHOUT THE MILITARY, BUT IS A NECESSARY CONDITION FOR RETURN TO RULE OF LAW. PRESIDENT WILL BE GETTING ANOTHER REPRESENTATION TODAY ON HUMAN RIGHTS FROM ARGENTINE CHURCH HIERARCHY WHICH IS BEGINNING TO STIFFEN ITS BACK A BIT IN DEFENSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS, A HEARTENING DEVELOPMENT.

7. IN A DISCUSSION WITH FRENCH AMBASSADOR ON APRIL 7, HE TOLD ME THAT THE GOF HAD CONCLUDED THAT IT IS FRUITLESS TO PRESS THE GOA FURTHER ON THE WHEREABOUTS OF THE NUNS--BILATERAL RELATIONS HAD NOW BECOME SEVERELY STRAINED. THE GOF HAD DECIDED UPON A COURSE WHICH PARALLELS THAT OF THE ARGENTINE CHURCH; PRESSING FOR IMPROVED TREATMENT OF PRISONERS, TRIAL OR RELEASE OF EXECUTIVE DETAINEES, AND REGULARIZED ARREST PROCEDURES. WE WILL CONTINUE TO REPORT ANY PLAUSIBLE INFORMATION WE RECEIVE ABOUT THE NUNS AND THEIR ASSOCIATES.

The Bishop of San Justo confirmed the abduction of a number of persons - he and his assistants say the correct number is II (eleven) - as they were leaving his cathedral after the evening (I9.00 Mass) on Easter Sunday, 26 March. He says that the Mass , the intention of which was to pray for Mrs. Cirila Benitez, was organised by a group of persons of leftist ideology. It appeared to be a well planned act with the character of a 'demonstration' which perhaps would have been carried over into the public square afterwards had not "the authorities" intervened. Leaflets , for example, were distributed by the organisers.

The Bishop had no knowledge of further kidnappings having taken place in his diocese , subsequent to those of 26 March. All efforts made to trace the eleven persons abducted have proven fruitless.

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have received over 50 letters from individuals of your organization requesting action on behalf of Guillermo Martin Villalobos, who is currently imprisoned in Argentina.

I want you to know that the U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires has expressed its concern about Mr. Villalobos to the Argentine Foreign Ministry's Working Group on Human Rights. However, I regret to inform you that there has been no movement in his case and that Mr. Villalobos is still in jail.

The U.S. Government will continue to monitor the case of Mr. Villalobos as well as those of all detainees, and our concern continues regarding the general question of human rights in Argentina.

Sincerely,

Rights Update (INR Review and Analysis). Soviet authorities have reinstated Georgian as the official language in the Georgian draft constitution after demonstrations which took place on April 14 in Tbilisi. The demonstrators objected to the dropping of the final section of the republic's 1937 constitution, which explicitly accorded Georgian the status of the official language.

The number of reported demonstrators ranges from several hundred to 50,000. Two American lawyers in Tbilisi are said to have been told that a regiment of troops had been moved to the outskirts of the city as a contingency. Whatever their size, the demonstrations apparently were impressive enough to force concessions from the regime. According to Western press accounts, the Georgian newspaper Zarya Vostoka reported on April 16 that the new constitution will contain the previously deleted language provisions. Subsequently, official sensitivity to the language issue was revealed by a Moscow English language broadcast emphasizing constitutional guarantees on the use of native languages in State and cultural institutions.

In other developments, Balis Gayauskas, distributor of money from a fund set up by Alexander Solzhenitsyn to aid jailed dissidents and their families, reportedly has been convicted in Vilnyus of anti-Soviet agitation and given the maximum sentence of 10 years in a labor camp and five years of internal exile. In 1973, Gayauskas completed serving a 25-year sentence for Lithuanian nationalist activities.

Former Soviet general and leader in the dissident movement, Pyotr Grigorenko, requested political asylum in the United States on April 18. Stripped of Soviet citizenship earlier this year, Grigorenko said at an INS hearing that he still cherished the hope of returning to the USSR but would return only for a public trial. East Berlin

East Berliner Refuses Military Induction. Nico Huebner, a resident of East Berlin and son of an East German Communist Party functionary, has been arrested for his refusal to be inducted into the East German Army. Huebner argues that Greater Berlin (East and West) remains demilitarized as a result of post-war four-power agreements and contends that the extension of military conscription to East Berlin in 1962 by the East German Government (GDR) is in violation of his rights as a resident of Berlin. Both the Mayor of West Berlin and the West Berlin Senate's three major parties have supported Huebner's arguments. The GDR media termed their support a "gross interference" in the country's internal affairs and an attempt to apply four-power status to East Berlin in violation of the GDR's sovereign rights. The Western allies are studying the case. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Berlin 2492, April 12; CONFIDENTIAL, US Mission Berlin 730, March 31; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, US Mission Berlin 788 and 800, April 6 and 7, respectively; UNCLASSIFIED, FBIS 111, April 7; UNCLASSIFIED, New York Times, April 16)

INR Comment: The case has attracted considerable attention in West Berlin and West Germany, where Huebner is viewed as a courageous individual upholding legal rights which, given political realities, the allies are relatively powerless to protect. Because his stand goes to the heart of East-West contention over the status of East Berlin, the GDR can be expected to take a very hard line toward Huebner and his arguments. It is unlikely, however, that the West Berlin or West German authorities would be willing to see the Huebner case turned into a cause celebre that would disrupt relations between the FRG and the GDR on the eve of Brezhnev's visit to Bonn. Indonesia

Three Leading Opposition Figures Arrested. According to a Jakarta newspaper, Indonesian security officials arrested three prominent Muslim opposition figures on April 10-12. No reason was given for their arrest. The three are Mahbub Junaidi, well-known newspaper columnist, chairman of the Indonesian Journalists Association, and the deputy secretary general of the Muslim opposition party; Professor Ismail Suny, Rector of the Islamic Muhammadiyah University in Jakarta; and Sutomo, familiarly known as Bung Tomo, a respected nationalist and freedom fighter during the revolution against the Dutch. (UNCLASSIFIED, FBIS 91, April 12)

INR Comment: All three Muslims have been arrested before but released after questioning. We have no evidence that any of the three has engaged in subversive political activities. Their arrests may rekindle opposition protests, which had subsided during the past three weeks. Ismail Suny and Bung Tomo are particularly outspoken critics of the Suharto regime. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Philippines

Young Jesuit Worker Reportedly Tortured to Death. A leading Philippine human rights activist told Embassy Manila on April 19 about the alleged torture and death of a 17-year-old Jesuit worker, Teotimo Tantiado, at the hands of the Philippine security service. Tantiado, an associate of Father Romeo Integan, a doctor/priest arrested as one of the leaders of the April 9 election protest march, was picked up by the security service on April 10. On April 18, an anonymous caller told a Catholic Church official that Tantiado had died as a result of torture but that the military had altered the autopsy to indicate that Tantiado died of "acute pancreatis." According to the Embassy source, the military will release his body on April 19; he hopes that independent doctors will make another autopsy at that time. (CONFIDENTIAL/LIMDIS, Manila 6265, April 19)

INR Comment: The source has provided the Embassy with usually reliable and substantiated information on human rights violations in the past. In the wake of protests over the April 7 national elections, there have been unconfirmed reports that Marcos has ordered the security service to clamp down on the opposition and several opposition leaders have been arrested. This is the first allegation of torture of any of the detainees in the post-election period, however. (CONFIDENTIAL/LIMDIS)

Pakistan

Supreme Court Agrees to Delay in Bhutto Hearing. On April 15 the Supreme Court postponed its hearing of former Prime Minister Bhutto's appeal of his murder conviction until May 20, two weeks later than scheduled. (Bhutto's lawyers had requested a two-month delay to prepare the appeal.) The court also announced that it would sit daily during the hearing; even so, most observers believe that the review will be a lengthy affair. (LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Islamabad 3783, April 17)

INR Comment: The Martial Law Administration (MLA) clamped down on political expression shortly before the High Court announced Bhutto's death sentence on March 18. Citing law and order problems, General Zia closed newspapers, increased arrests of Bhutto supporters, and banned all political activity. He has also rejected foreign appeals for clemency for Bhutto. The clampdown on political activity is unlikely to ease until Bhutto's case is resolved. In this atmosphere, the Supreme Court--notwithstanding its relative independence in the past--may find it difficult to render an impartial verdict. It could show its independence, however, by agreeing to further delays and lingering over the written judgment. While General Zia told newsmen he expects the appeal to take six weeks, it is more likely to take at least three months. Bhutto's appeal ultimately will probably be rejected, leaving a decision on clemency squarely with General Zia. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Iran

[redacted]

INR Comment: Although the Shah's idea of using the Rastakhiz Party as a vehicle to legitimize the establishment of "action committees" initially met with opposition from Senate leader Hushang Ansary, orders from the palace made Ansary quickly reverse himself. Few Iranians will fail to recognize that these "partisan forces" are simply SAVAK and police in disguise.

Libya

Potential for Increased Repression (INR Review and Analysis). Developments in Libya over the past several months foreshadow the possibility of increased interference by the government in the lives of its citizens. Embassy Tripoli and clandestine Libyan sources have recently reported several potentially repressive government actions.

--Abolishment of the Libyan Judiciary. A clandestine report based upon information provided by a senior Libyan official indicates that the government intends to replace the Libyan judiciary and court system with local and regional "people's committees."

--Creation of Revolutionary Committees. The Libyan media have proclaimed the establishment of "revolutionary committees" throughout Libya, apparently to enforce revolutionary orthodoxy and "smash the forces of apostasy." Although the functions and methods of the these organizations are unclear, some Libyans are concerned about the prospect of armed goon squads roaming the streets to weed out dissidents and enforce unpopular government policies.

--Stepped-Up Military Conscription. Aggressive press gang tactics have been used to enforce Libya's stringent conscription policies. One effective tactic was the cordoning off by military police of all exits to Tripoli's athletic stadium during a well-attended soccer match.

--Arrests of Officers With Non-Arab Wives. A number of officers were imprisoned (and later released) because they had married non-Arab women.

With the exception of the April 1977 execution of 20 or so military officers accused of having plotted a coup against Qadhafi, the Libyan revolution has been relatively bloodless. The aforementioned measures, however, could introduce a period of increased governmental intrusion into the daily lives of Libyan citizens.

Although Libyans enjoy few of the basic freedoms taken for granted in the West, the enforcement of Qadhafi's revolutionary orthodoxy has heretofore been unorganized and inconsistent at best. The human rights situation in Libya could deteriorate rapidly, however, if Qadhafi, perhaps out of fear that his efforts are failing, moves to hasten the pace of his revolution. Argentina

Timerman Under House Arrest. Journalist Jacobo Timerman was transferred from prison to house arrest on April 17. Relatives told Embassy Buenos Aires that persons wishing to visit him must first obtain permission from the Ministry of the Interior. (UNCLASSIFIED, FBIS 62, April 17; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Buenos Aires 2867, April 17)

INR Comment: Timerman, the former editor and part owner of Argentina's best newspaper, became a cause celebre following his arrest in April 1977. While authorities were unable to link Timerman to subversive activities, he was severely mistreated and subjected to anti-Semitic abuse while in custody. Presumably he will remain under house arrest pending completion of an investigation into whether or not his assets were legally acquired. The US has repeatedly pressed the government about the Timerman case, and the Argentines will view his passage to house arrest as a major human rights concession. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Chile

Efforts to Improve Human Rights Image. Chile has been the subject of several condemnatory UNGA and UN Human Rights

UNCLASSIFIED

Commission (UNHRC) resolutions, and President Pinochet has responded to those resolutions by refusing to allow a visit by the UNHRC working group. The Chilean refusal has been a major stumbling block in Chile's effort to improve its international human rights image. Recently, however, the Chilean Government invited Ambassador Mezvinsky to Chile to discuss ways of breaking that impasse, and as a result of those discussions, Pinochet has agreed in principle to a visit.

Pinochet, who previously insisted that Chile would invite only two members of the working group, told Ambassador Mezvinsky that the full working group will be invited. However, the Chileans and the UNHRC apparently have agreed that one member of the working group, Chairman Allana, who is particularly disliked by the Chileans, will refuse the invitation. Specific conditions governing the working group's visit (i.e., publicity and scheduling) remain to be worked out in New York. (CONFIDENTIAL, Santiago 2702, April 12)

INR Comment: Pinochet clearly wants to resolve the impasse between Chile and the working group and is prepared to be flexible and make some concessions. Improving Chile's human rights image has been a major goal of the Foreign Ministry for several months, and recent developments such as the publicity surrounding the Letelier case and Air Force junta representative General Leigh's public remarks on the need to resolve human rights issues, probably have prompted Pinochet to speed up the process. (CONFIDENTIAL)

Nicaragua

Government Willing To Make Some Concessions. Tension continued in Nicaragua last week as secondary school students occupied schools and churches in most of Nicaragua's major cities demanding better prison conditions and an end to the government's practice of isolating Sandinista Liberation Front prisoners. According to press reports, Archbishop Obando Bravo played an important mediating role, securing a promise from military commanders that the students would not be subject to repression and, from President Somoza, that he would consider the possibility of declaring an amnesty for all political prisoners.

On April 13, the press reported that Somoza had informed the International Committee of the Red Corss (ICRC) that Nicaragua was ready to receive an ICRC visit, implying that the government is prepared to accept the ICRC's demand to visit all detention centers and to talk in private with any prisoner.

With regard to an Inter-American Human Rights Commission visit, however, little progress has been made. President Somoza told Ambassador Solaun on April 15 that, although he is still considering an invitation to the Commission, he does not want to appear to be yielding to external pressures. Somoza added that statements in Caracas by Presidents Perez and Carter had only made it more difficult for him to act. (CONFIDENTIAL/EXDIS, Managua 6328, April 16; STATE 096306 and 096307, April 16; LIMITED OFFICIAL USE, Managua 1733, April 13)

INR Comment: Somoza may yield to an IAHRC visit if he can do so gracefully. Venezuela's insistence on keeping up the pressure on Nicaragua in the OAS, however, is taking on the appearance of a blatant grudge-match with Perez determined to hasten Somoza's downfall. (CONFIDENTIAL)

FOR THE PAST TWO MONTHS REVIEWING THE LIST OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS PRESENTED TO PRESIDENT PINOCHET IN LATE 1976 (76 SANTIAGO 11773). OF 893 NAMES ON THAT LIST THE ICRC MAN HAS MANAGED TO REDUCE THAT NUMBER TO 530 CASES AFTER REVIEWING ALL AVAILABLE RECORDS IN SANTIAGO AND INTERVIEWING RELATIVES AND FRIENDS. OF THE 360 DROPPED, SOME HAVE SINCE TURNED UP HERE IN CHILE OR ABROAD, SOME NAMES PROVED TO BE DUPLICATIONS AND FOR OTHER THE ICRC HAS NO CLEAR EVIDENCE THAT PEOPLE EXISTED AND DISAPPEARED. BUT THE ICRC FOUND APPROXIMATELY 60 ADDITIONAL CASES. THE ICRC WILL SEND THE REVISED LIST OF ABOUT 600 TO PRESIDENT PINOCHET SOMETIME IN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS WITH THE REQUEST THAT THE GOC INFORM THE ICRC OF ANY INFORMATION IT MAY HAVE AVAILABLE ON THESE PERSONS.

Dear Michele and Jim --

I will try and proof this letter before putting it into the pouch. Here are a few tidbits from here.

Everything but everything is taking second place to the power struggle between the Army and the Navy. As usual the Army is appearing wooden and the Navy swift!... but the Army has the troops. Of interest, is the fact that the Navy has made Human Rights an issue in the public debate. I t clearly is a secondary issue to that of the economy which appears to have settled into a 10% a month inflation rate. All the politicos are getting very excited. Videla is making noises about a possibility of bowing out -- the kind of noises one makes when one wants to hear cries of don/t do that. The Arm y and the Navy are calling up the politicos seeking their advice on how to deal with the problems of the nation. The pols are loving it, but it is signalling to them that something is shakey with the Military. Harguindeguy went on TV last nite to blast all this political talk which will of course add more fuel to the fire.

Tell Judy Chavchavadze (did I get it right) that Brian and I are calling our right of option Embassies meeting next week to compare notes. We had another cordial meeting with San Roman (Asst Secy for internal security in the MININT)'; we are still holding our breath hoping that they will produce some real info on some of these cases. Right now the RoO program is still dead in the water. The Swedes have given out 20 or so certificates and no one has been approved. The Italians have given out more than 70;8 or 9 have been granted, 20 denied and the rest are pending within the GOA. They have 450 cases where the application has been filed but the families cannot prove conclusively that the male Italian antecedent came from such and such village. The Italians are planning to tighten up their citizenship law to make it parallel the new Spanish law. It would give citizenship only to persons whose FATHER came from the old country. At present there is no limit on generations but there are real problems on proof .

The Navy has accepted my pitch re the importance of the IAHRC coming. They called me in and said that they wished to invite the IAHRC to come and had communicated this officially to the FORMIN. We do not have any signals from the other two services.

We have been without a secretary for several weeks and my typing is getting somewhat better.

The Massera problem is very tricky. His espousal of the HR cause is greeted by many raised eyebrows here in the Embassy. Many of the same folks who see historical and situational justifica - tions for the government's repression, see sinister and evil motives in the Admiral's privately expressed concerns about the HR situation. The Assembly and other HR groups are aware of the Admirals ambitions (who isn/t) but are willing to carefully play [redacted] along, a step at a time. What is important in the long run, may not be whether Massera as a dark horse wins the big political race; but that in running the race he has introduced Human Rights as an issue. That is very important.

We got a fabulous letter today -- a detailed report of the detention and torture facilities at the Mechanical School. The sender claims to have seen the Nuns. The smart $$$$ here believes that it is an Army intelligence black operation but it underscores someone's concern that Massera is running on the HR issue. Or could it be real":.? I'll send you a copy.

(As you can see I have not figured out all the marks on this new ball that I installed for the letter.)

One of the jargon breakthroughs we have made recently concerns DAMs --Personas bajo disposicion autoridad militar. This is the argot for the [redacted] disappeared, alive non recognized prisoners. In a casual conversation last week with a military contact, I asked when such DAMs would be recognized and I was told that the PON (ie SOP) was that [redacted] DAM prisoners' names are secret. I am trying to work out a report listing all the possible places where DAMs could be housed. Most of the places that we know of [redacted] are small, with one exception - a recently built military prison outside of Junin, Prov. B.A. We have been told that the new facility has not been placed into service. [redacted] The attaches have filed an intelligence report about the place and estimate that it [redacted] would hold up to a 1000 persons with some crowding. I hope that I can get something out that will be meaningful. The problem is that very few people are released from the detention centers which are "outside of the law."

Videla seems to be losing face as a HR type among the HRO's and even with the nuncio here. His recent hardline speeches and the small delivery on his peace by Xmas package have turned people away from treating him specially among the junta members. Massera's HR private pitch have also aided this opinion shift. The most notable event is that of the the Nuncio. When Pat called on the Nuncio, in August, he gave her the full Videla pitch; [redacted] he has come around on the issue and now expresses PRIVATE disappointment re ~~in~~ Videla/s committment to HR issues. The Church fathers are huddled this week. The disappearance issue is high on their agenda. It is a very central Christian and humanitarian issue.

One other thought re my number estimates of the last missive. If my central number is correct or in the ball park[redacted], the Embassy has an 8% sample of the cases which is good enuf for much statistical work. (whether the folks who have registered with us are an accurate sample of the population is another question - we are not dealing with products coming off the production line) I am sending both of you a xerox copy of our card file. There are 999 disappeared and detained cards plus a scattering of others in the list. Does any one have a budget for doing some analysis on a contract basis. What can we learn from this sample?

They have started harassing the mothers group again on the Plaza de Mayo. Evidently, the number of mothers meeting there on Thursday has started to grow. It fell sharply after the leaders were disappeared in early December. REcently , according to the mothers,there have been about 200 mothers present. Last Thursday, the cops moved in and cleared off the entire square. There was no violence; the mothers are becoming experts at civil disobedience - - you only get arrested when you want to be arrested.

I will close with my best regards and a bon mot --
Argentina is the only country in the world where you are safe in the streets,but not in your home.

Cheers,

Tex

1. Embassy reports reflect a major decline in terrorist activities from Feb 77 until the present, with the exception of Oct 77 and Mar 78. During these two months there was an increase in terrorist activities over preceding months, probably associated with dates that are of particular significance to the terrorists: March 24, the anniversary of the military coup, and Oct 27, Peronist Loyalty Day. Current estimates of terrorist strength reflect approximately 450 to 500 Montonero combatants, of which 150 are outside of Argentina, and approximately 200-275 members of the ERP, of whom only 20 are considered combat cadre. Terrorists for the most part have been involved in small, disjointed operations against soft targets, most notably Argentine government

2. Security officials believe the Montoneros are planning a spectacular during the period of the World Cup. Their activities will be directed at attracting world-wide publicity, possibly by destroying the color TV broadcasting system, interfering with the satellite communication system, or any other tactic that will attract worldwide attention. They do not believe the terrorists will initiate any action that would be harmful to the Argentine soccer public or overtly interfere with the matches themselves.

3. During the early part of 1977, there were bomb attacks against public places such as the Sheraton Hotel, La Cabaña, a well-known restaurant, the polo grounds and occasionally a movie theatre. However, there have been no recent reports of such activities, with the exception of bombs planted on railroad tracks during March 1978. These latter incidents can be attributed to a threatened RR strike. Overall, we perceive no general security threat that would affect the average soccer ~~afficion~~ aficionado from the U.S., although there is always the possibility that one could be peripherally involved in a terrorist incident.

4. Over the past two years there has been no indication of terrorist targeting of USG personnel and we do not anticipate any immediate change in terrorist policy in this regard. However, as the terrorist cells are working within a concept of free targeting, with great independence and limited guidance, it is conceivable that a cell could attempt to target a prominent American whose presence might be highlighted by the Argentine media. To a great extent it would depend on the person, the amount of publicity and his accessibility. RSO [illegible].

5. This analysis is primarily based upon GOA's reading of the World Cup terrorist situation, and it takes into consideration several announcements made by Montonero leadership at press conferences in Madrid, Paris and Mexico City. Of greatest interest to us was the declaration made in Madrid April 8 by a Montonero group that included Bidegain, Gelman, Damaso Lopez and Vacanaroa. The group denied the intention even of disrupting the games but stated at the same time it could not be held responsible for "actions of (the Montoneros) military branch."

6. RSO will provide A/SY/CC/TAGS with additional information concerning World Cup security as it becomes available.

E.O. 11652: N/A
TAGS: PINS, SREF, AR
SUBJECT: REQUEST FOR INTERCESSION ON BEHALF OF HECTOR CAMPORA

1. EX-PRESIDENT HECTOR CAMPORA TOGETHER WITH HIS SON HAS BEEN IN ASYLUM IN THE MEXICAN EMBASSY SINCE APRIL 15, 1976. THE GOA HAS REFUSED TO GRANT A SAFE CONDUCT TO PERMIT THEM TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY. CAMPORA IS ONE OF THE 36 PROMINENT PERONIST POLITICIANS WHO ARE INCLUDED IN THE JUNTA INSTITUTIONAL ACT WHICH STRIPPED THEM OF THEIR POLITICAL RIGHTS, THEIR ASSETS, AND PROVIDED FOR INDEFINITE DETENTION AT THE CONVENIENCE OF THE EXECUTIVE.

2. ON APRIL 27 CAMPORA'S NEPHEW MARIO ALBERTO CAMPORA CALLED AT THE EMBASSY TO MAKE INQUIRIES IF THE USG WOULD INTERCEDE IN BEHALF OF HIS UNCLE WITH THE OBJECTIVE OF OBTAINING SAFE CONDUCT FOR HIM. MARIO DID NOT MENTION SAFE CONDUCT FOR THE DAMPORA'S SON OR ABEL MEDINA, ALSO ASYLEES IN THE MEXICAN EMBASSY. MARIO CAMPORA HAD A CAREER IN THE ARGENTINE FOREIGN SERVICE OF 22 YEARS AND WAS POLITICAL COUNSELOR IN WASHINGTON PRIOR TO RESIGNING IN 1973 TO BECOME

FOREIGN AFFAIRS ADVISOR FOR HIS UNCLE. HE STRESSED THAT THERE WERE NO CIVIL OR CRIMINAL CHARGES OUTSTANDING AGAINST HECTOR; THAT THE GOA IS, IN EFFECT, USING THE MEXICAN

EMBASSY AS A PRISON TO PUNISH HECTOR; THAT HECTOR IS IN NO WAY A COMMUNIST OR ASSOCIATED WITH COMMUNISTS DESPITE OCCASIONAL CHARGES TO THE CONTRARY, AND THAT HIS CASE MERITS USG SUPPORT ON HUMANITARIAN GROUNDS. MARIO MENTIONED THAT HECTOR'S WIFE HAD MADE AN APPEAL DIRECTLY TO THE POPE THROUGH AN ARGENTINE CARDINAL IN ROME IN 1977. IT APPEARS THAT THE POPE DECLINED TO INTERCEDE ON HECTOR'S BEHALF. MARIO SAID THAT HE REALIZES THAT A DECISION ON A USG INTERCESSION WOULD REQUIRE SOME DELIBERATION AND IF IT WERE FAVORABLE MRS. CAMPORA WOULD COME TO THE EMBASSY TO MAKE A FORMAL REQUEST THAT THE USG MANIFEST ITS INTEREST IN DR. CAMPORA'S CASE.

3. EMBOFF STATED THAT USG HAD MANIFESTED ITS INTEREST IN RESOLUTION OF HUMANITARIAN CASES, MOST SPECIFICALLY IN INSTANCES OF SOVIET DISSIDENTS, AND THAT DR. CAMPORA'S VIRTUAL INCARCERATION FOR TWO YEARS WITHOUT CHARGES CERTAINLY RAISED HUMANITARIAN ISSUES WORTH OF CONSIDERATION. AT THE SAME TIME INTERCESSION ON BEHALF OF CAMPORA FOR EXECUTION OF TREATY OBLIGATIONS RELATING TO THE RIGHT OF ASYLUM WOULD PUT THE US IN A POSITION OF REQUESTING A RIGHT FOR CAMPORA WHICH THE USG DOES NOT RECOGNIZE. MARIO CAMPORA AGREED THAT THIS LEGALITY WOULD NOT REINFORCE USG STANDING IN THE MATTER. EMBOFF STATED THAT THE PETITION WOULD BE CONSIDERED AND MARIO CAMPORA WOULD BE INFORMED IF THE USG WERE TO FIND IT POSSIBLE TO INTERCEDE IF BEHALF OF HECTOR CAMPORA.

[redacted]

3. EMBASSY RECOMMENDATION: IT WOULD APPEAR THAT GOA IS IN VIOLATION OF ITS INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS BY FAILING TO GRANT SAFE CONDUCT TO CAMPORA. AS MARIO CAMPORA STATED, THIS IS BASICALLY AN ISSUE BETWEENGOA AND THE GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO. EMBASSY AGREES THAT THERE ARE HUMANITARIAN ISSUES INVOLVED IN CAMPORA'S CONTINUED RESTRICTION TO MEXICAN EMBASSY, BUT FEEL THESE PALE BESIDE THE MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES WHICH STAND BETWEEN GOA AND IMPROVED RELATIONS WITH USG. SINCE CAMPORA IS A MAJOR SYMBOL OF THE CORRUPTION AND TOADYING TO TERRORIST ELEMENTS WHICH GENERATED WIDESPREAD SUPPORT FOR MILITARY TAKEOVER IN MARCH 1976, US INTERCESSION

ON HIS BEHALF WOULD HAVE A HOLLOW RING IN THE EARS OF MOST ARGENTINES, AND WOULD CONFIRM TO SOME THAT WE ARE ONLY INTERESTED IN THE WELFARE OF THOSE WHO HAVE WORKED TO UNDERMINE DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS. THIS EMBASSY CANNOT IN GOOD CONSCIENCE RECOMMEND INTERCESSION ON BEHALF OF EX-PRESIDENT CAMPORA, AND BELIEVES THAT WE MUST CONCENTRATE OUR ENERGIES ON THOSE INSTITUTIONAL AND PRACTICAL REFORMS, SUCH AS REGULARIZED ARREST PROCEDURES, WHICH WILL HAVE THE GREATEST POSITIVE IMPACT FOR THE RIGHTS OF ALL ARGENTINES. US INTERCESSION IN THE CASE OF JACOBO TIMERMAN--AS ONE EXAMPLE--HAD SYMBOLIC CONNOTATIONS BECAUSE OF TIMERMAN'S ASSOCIATION WITH FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND AGAINST AUTHORITARIANISM. THIS ARGUMENT DOES NOT APPLY IN THE CASE OF HECTOR CAMPORA, HOWEVER DESERVING HIS INDIVIDUAL CASE MAY BE. THE EMBASSY RECOMMENDS THE DEPARTMENT DECLINE TO INTERCEDE IN HIS BEHALF.

4. THE DEPARTMENT'S INSTRUCTIONS ARE REQUESTED.

1. WE HAVE CONFIRMED THAT THE LOCAL OFFICES OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, THE AGENCE FRANCE PRESS, UPI AND THE FRENCH EMBASSY HERE, HAVE EACH RECEIVED A HANDWRITTEN LETTER AND DIAGRAMS PURPORTING TO DESCRIBE THE DETENTION AND INTERROGATION FACILITY LOCATED IN THE NAVY MECHANICAL SCHOOL GROUNDS AND CONTACTS -- INCLUDING WITH THE ABDUCTED FRENCH NUNS -- THE WRITER CLAIMS TO HAVE HAD WITH PRISONERS THERE WHILE HIMSELF INTERNED. THESE LETTERS APPEAR ALMOST IDENTICAL TO THE LETTER RECEIVED BY THIS EMBASSY WHICH WAS REPORTED IN REFTEL.

2. THE NEWS AGENCIES HAVE DECIDED NOT TO RUN A STORY ON THE REPORT. AS A FRENCH EMBASSY OFFICIAL COMMENTED, "THE LETTERS ARE TOO GOOD".

3. THE PRESENT CONSENSUS IS THAT THE LETTERS ARE EITHER A PASTICHE OF FACTS AND SPECULATIONS PUT TOGETHER BY THE MONTONEROS OR A PROVOCATION WORKED UP BY AN ARMY OR SOME OTHER INTELLIGENCE UNIT.

APR 30: IN THE SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING, UNIVERSITY OF ROSARIO, THE NEWSPAPZR "NUEVA HORA", A PCR PUBLICATION, WAS DISTRIBUTED. IT WAS DATED MARCH 25, 1978. THERE WERE ALSO BULLETINS DISTRIBUTED FROM THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY.
- ON THE SAME DATE IN MENDOZA, AN EXPLOSIVE DEVICE WAS

DETAONATED IN FRONT OF THE RESIDENCE OF CARLOS ALBERTO CURCHOD. THE BOMB WAS PLACED UNDER HIS CAR AND CAUSED CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE. CURCHOD WORKS IN THE CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING AND ALSO BELONGS TO THE CIVIL INTELLIGENCE GROUP "C" OF THE AIR-FORCE.

3. RSO COMMENT: DURING APRIL, RSO MET WITH MEMBERS OF THE ARGENTINE SECURITY SERVICES CHARGED WITH DEVELOPING INTELLIGENCE CONCERNING TERRORIST ACTIVITIES. SOURCES STATED THE CURRENT TERRORIST STRENGTH IS 450-500 MONTONERO COMBATANTS, OF WHICH 150 ARE OUTSIDE OF ARGENTINA, AND 200-275 MEMBERS OF THE RP, OF WHOM ONLY 20 ARE CONSIDERED COMBATANTS, SUPPORTED BY A CADRE OF APPROXIMATELY 100-175 PERSONS IN ARGENTINA. BOTH ORGANIZATIONS, PARTICULARLY THE ERP, ARE WEAK AND HAVE ONLY LIMITED COMBAT CAPABILITY. HOWEVER, THE MONTONEROS CONTINUE ATTACKS ON SOFT TARGETS, INCLUDING BUSINESS PERSONNEL AND MEMBERS OF THE GOA. CASE IN POINT

WAS THE ATTACK AGAINST THE HOME OF MR. DON JOHNONS, U.S. EMPLOYEE OF ALUAR, A DIVISION OF REYNOLDS ALUMINUM, ON 4-14-78. HIS RESIDENCE WAS APPARENTLY THE TARGET OF A G-40 GRENDADE FIRE FROM A GRENADE LAUNCHER.

4. SOURCES STATED THE MONTONEROS, IN SPITE OF LOGISTIC WEAKNESS, STILL HAVE A SUPPLY OF THE LG 22 MP GRENADE [redacted]

LAUNCHER WHICH IS A SOPHISTICATED BAZOOKA-LIKE ATTACK WEAPON AS WELL AS THE SFM G 70 A AND SFM G 40 GRENADES WHICH ARE FIRED FROM THE LAUNCHER. BOTH THESE GRENADES HAVE AN ACCURACY UP TO APPROXIMATELY 100 YARDS AND WILL PENETRATE ONE-HALF INCH OF STEEL. THEY ARE USED AGAINST POLICE PRECINCTS AND MILITARY AND POLICE VEHICLES AS WELL AS OCCASIONALLY IN ATTACKS ON RESIDENCES. THE G 40 IS THE NEWEST IN THEIR SERIES OF LAUNCHED GRENADES. THEY HAVE ALSO REFINED THEIR HAND GRENADE AND DEVELOPED THE SMF G 5 WHICH CONTAINS A VERY HIGH SHRAPNEL CONTENT. UNDER DEVELOPMENT, IS THE SFM TROMBA WHICH IS A LAUNCHER USED TO CONVERT A 12 GUAGE SHOTGUN TO FIRE GRENADES AND THE SFM LGE 22 WHICH IS A SMALL MORAR ONLY IN THE DESIGN STAGE. SOURCES STATED THAT EVEN THOUGH THE MONTONEROS HAVE IN SOME AREAS IMPROVED THEIR WEAPONS, THEY ARE IN VERY LIMITED SUPPLY.

5. THEY HAVE ALSO CTONINUED THEIR DEVELOPMENT OF EXPLOSIVES AND ARE CURRENTLY USING A PLASTIQUE WHICH THEY DESIGNATE AS C2. THE MOST CURRENT EXPLOSIVE DEVICE IS NORMALLY PACKED IN A PLASTIC CYLINDER, 17 CMS HIGH AND 9 CMS IN DIAMETER. IT IS MANUFACTURED TO PRODUCE AN EXPLOSION IN ONE DIRECTION, SIMILAR TO A SHAPED CHARGE. IT IS BELIEVED THAT IT WAS DEVELOPED FOR ATTACKS AGAINST HOMES AND SHOPS WITH THE IDEA OF PRODUCING MAXIMUM DESTRUCTION IN ONE DIRECTION AND DIMINISHING EXPLOSIVE EFFECTS IN OTHER DIRECTIONS. IT IS ACTIVATED BY A TIMER SIMILAR TO THE ONE USED IN WASHING MACHINES AND IS SET NORMALLY FOR A FIVE MINUTE DELAY. THE ACTIVATING SYSTEM IS ELECTRIC AND USED A 1.5 VOLT BATTERY AND A NUMBER 8 ELECTRICAL DETONATOR OF AUSTRIAN MANUFACTURE. THE EXPLOSIVE CHARGE CONTAINS 800 GMS OF AMYNITE ALUMINIZED POWDER. IT CAN BE MANUFACTURED WITH AMMONIUM NITRATE, POTASSIUM PERCLORATE, RUBBER POWDER AND ALUMINUM POWDER. THE EFFECTS ARE QUITE SIMILAR TO TNT. IT ALSO CONTAINS A TRIAL CIRCUIT CHECK SYSTEM WITH A PARALLEL CIRCUIT USING A 1.5 VOLT

LAMP. THE EXPLOSIVE FORCE CAN PENETRATE 60 CM. OF A MASONRY WALL OR 10 CMS OF STEEL. ACCORDING TO SECURITY SERVICES, THIS EXPLOSIVE DEVICE IS THE NEWEST IN THE TERRORIST ARSENAL OF WEAPONS. HOWEVER, IN SPITE OF IMPROVEMENT IN EXPLOSIVES, COMISARIO MARTINI, CHIEF OF FEDERAL POLICE EXPLOSIVES BRIGADE, STATED THAT BOMB INCIDENTS ARE GREATLY RED# FROM THIS TIME LAST YEAR AND THAT SOME EXPERTS OF THE POLICE DEMOLITION UNITS HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO ROUTINE INSPECTION DUTIES. SOURCE STATED HE EXPECTS THIS DOWNWARD TREND TO CONTINUE WITH THE POSSIBLE EXCEPTION OF JUNE 1978, DURING THE WORLD CUP. ALL OTHER INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO RSO SUPPORTS THIS VIEWPOINT.

SUBJECT: REQUEST FOR INTERCESSION ON BEHALF OF HECTOR CAMPORA

1. THE DEPARTMENT UNDERSTANDS EMBASSY CONCERN THAT REPRESENTATIONS ON BEHALF OF HECTOR CAMPORA COULD HAVE NEGATIVE EFFECT ON OTHER U.S. HUMAN RIGHTS INTERESTS IN ARGENTINA. IT IS QUITE CLEAR THAT GOA VIEWS CAMPORA AS AT LEAST PARTIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR PAST AND PRESENT TERRORIST ACTIVITIES AND WOULD BE SENSITIVE TO OUR INTERVENTION ON HIS BEHALF.

2. THE USG HAS HOWEVER MADE HIGH LEVEL REPRESENTATIONS TO GOA ABOUT CAMPORA AND DEPARTMENT BELIEVES THAT FUTURE EMBASSY INQUIRIES AT APPROPRIATE LEVEL AND TIME SHOULD NOT

2. LILIANA AMAYA HAS BEEN ARRESTED AND IS IN JAIL, SECURITY OFFICIALS TOLD EMBOFF TODAY (MAY 14). SHE IS REPORTED IN "GOOD CONDITION" AND WILL BE REMANDED TO A FEDERAL JUDGE NEXT WEEK -- WE DO NOT KNOW ON WHAT CHARGE. SECURITY FORCES ASKED THAT THE EMBASSY SAY NOTHING PUBLICLY ABOUT THE CASE BEFORE A JUDGE HAS ACTED FORMALLY UPON IT. SEE REF B.

3. THE MOTHER OF ROBERTO BARREIROS, MRS. ARTOLA, TOLD EMBOFF BY PHONE TODAY THAT SHE RECEIVED A LETTER FROM HER ON ON MAY 12, POSTMARKED FROM URUGUAY, SAYING THAT HE AND HIS WIFE MARIA ROSA WERE WELL AND IN URUGUAY -- BUT THAT THEY COULD NOT BE CONTACTED "FOR SECURITY REASONS". HE WROTE THAT HE AND HIS WIFE WOULD RETURN HOME IN ABOUT TWO MONTHS AND THAT HIS MOTHER SHOULD NOT WORRY. MRS. ARTOLA TOLD EMBOFF THAT SHE IS CONVINCED THE LETTER WAS WRITTEN BY HER SON. THE LETTER WAS THE FIRST COMMUNICATION SHE RECEIVED FROM THE PAIN SINCE A PHONE CALL FROM HER DAUGHTER-IN-LAW ON APRIL 28.

GKSEE REF C.) MRS. ARTOLA ASSURED EMBOFF THAT THE PHONE CONVERSATION WAS AUTHENTIC AND TWO-WAY AND COULD NOT HAVE BEEN A RECORDING. SHE EVIDENCED GREAT SATISFACTION WITH THE LETTER AND PROMISED TO CONTACT EMBASSY WHEN HER SON COMMUNICATES AGAIN OR ARRIVES HOME.

4. THE BARREIROS' LETTER SOUNDS SIMILAR TO THE ONE RECEIVED BY FRIENDS OF THELMA JARA DE CABEZAS, SAYING SHE WAS ALL RIGHT AND IN THE "EXTERIOR," AS REPORTED IN REFTEL B. WE HAVE BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL TO DATE IN GETTING HOLD OF JARA DE CABEZAS' ACQUAINTANCES TO VERIFY THE LETTER AND RECENT PHONE CALL, BUT HOPE TO ARRANGE CONTACT WITHIN THE NEXT DAY OR SO. WE ARE ALSO PURSUING THE MATTER WITH USUAL ARGENTINE OFFICIAL CONTACTS.

5. COMMENT: NOTWITHSTANDING OUR RELIEF AT THESE REPORTS, WE FIND THE SITUATION OF MRS. JARA DE CABEZAS AND THE BARREIROS PERPLEXING -- UNACCOUNTABLE EVEN.

6. FOR MONTEVIDEO: ANY LEADS ON THE BARREIROS' PRESENCE IN URUGUAY OR ARGENTINE-URUGUAYAN COOPERATION IN HOLDING OR DEPORTING ARGENTINE CITIZENS WOULD BE APPRECIATED.

MEXICAN-USSR RELATIONS

Summary

President Lopez Portillo is expected to promote Mexico's usual aims of increasing trade and technological exchange with the Soviets during his current visit to the USSR, May 17-25. Other possible topics for discussion include the USSR's recent decision to sign Protocol II of the Treaty of Tlatelolco and a proposed quadrangular oil swap involving Spain and Cuba.

According to Foreign Secretary Roel, Mexico's chief interests during the visit will be agriculture, energy, food, and bilateral trade. Lopez Portillo, however, will also want to demonstrate Mexico's independence of the US in international affairs and to counter charges from the Mexican left that his administration has "swung to the right."

The USSR, in keeping with its longstanding desire to increase its presence at the US' "back door," reportedly will press Mexico to conclude a consular treaty providing for the opening of five Soviet consulates general. The USSR also hopes to sell aircraft and possibly military equipment to the Mexicans and reportedly is interested in discussing prospects for assisting in development of Mexico's uranium and nuclear energy potential.

The scope and substance of any agreements the two countries may reach are likely to be limited, however, by Mexican wariness of an expanded Soviet presence and the USSR's disinclination to make trade offers on terms advantageous to Mexico.

Prospects

For the US, Lopez Portillo's visit presents an opportunity to communicate US views on international issues through a friendly intermediary. In bilateral terms, however, Mexican-Soviet relations seem likely to continue at the relatively modest level that has always characterized them, with small increases in trade, technological, scientific, and cultural contacts. Neither side appears inclined to yield any significant benefits to the other. As a result, Lopez Portillo's visit will likely post some clear gains for Mexico's international image--and with the President's domestic constituency--but little of significance in terms of the bilateral relationship.

Cautious Cordiality

The Mexican Government's wariness of Soviet activities in Mexico is the product of experience. Soviet heavy-handedness, combined with Mexico's extreme prickliness about its internal affairs, has produced some rocky periods in the Mexican-Soviet relationship. Although Mexico, in 1924, was the first Western Hemisphere nation to recognize the USSR, relations were severed in the late 1920's with a Mexican denunciation of Soviet interference in its internal affairs. Leon Trotsky's sojourn in Mexico, from 1937 until his assassination in 1940, did little to improve matters. Nevertheless, in the atmosphere of World War II, and partly at US urging, relations were reestablished in 1942; they continued with little friction but little contact through the 1960's.

Relations again deteriorated in 1971, when Mexico expelled five Soviet diplomats as a result of Soviet involvement in the training of Mexican guerrillas in North Korea. Two years later, however, President Echeverria included a stop in Moscow during his six-nation tour to Canada, Great Britain, Belgium, France, and the People's Republic of China. The visit to Moscow was the first for a Mexican president (although a decade earlier President Lopez Mateos had traveled to Poland and Yugoslavia and had begun efforts to intensify trade with the USSR).

Echeverria's tour, undertaken largely to project his own and Mexico's image as a Third World leader, also allowed him to lobby in behalf of his "Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States" (CERDS). He found the results of his stop in Moscow disappointing: although the Soviets voiced their support for CERDS, they flatly refused to sign the Treaty of Tlatelolco. Echeverria returned to Mexico with negative impressions of the USSR's ideological stance, commenting that the Soviet system "had no attraction" for Mexico.

In May 1976, only six months after Mexico and the USSR had signed a broad agreement for cooperation in science and technology, Echeverria privately threatened to break relations with the Soviet Union when he learned of an attempt by Soviet intelligence to penetrate the Office of the Presidency. The Soviets hastily withdrew the offending "diplomat." The incident was not made public, but Echeverria reportedly wrote a scathing letter to Brezhnev.

Although a "warming trend" in Mexican-Soviet relations was forecast with the arrival in mid-1976 of a new Soviet ambassador, the urgency of Mexico's economic problems when Lopez Portillo took office in December 1976 dictated that his administration concentrate on its highest priorities: restoration of confidence domestically, and improved relations with the US. Toward the end of 1977, however, contacts with the USSR and Eastern bloc countries increased slightly, with visits to Mexico by the Polish Foreign Minister, the Hungarian President, the Soviet Vice Minister of Culture, and a high-level delegation from the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance (CEMA).

Lopez Portillo's only other state visits have been to the United States and to Spain. Later this year he will visit Japan, the People's Republic of China, and Iran. His trip to the Soviet Union at this time will serve to:

--reaffirm Mexico's independence of the US in international affairs;

--reassure the Mexican left that Lopez Portillo's administration has not "swung to the right" as is often charged; and

--increase, however slightly, Mexico's prospects for expanded trade and sources of technology.

UNCLASSIFIED

Treaty of Tlatelolco

Brezhnev's announcement last month that the USSR would sign Protocol II of the Treaty of Tlatelolco pleased Mexico, the treaty's chief proponent. The Soviets will be committed to respect the regional nuclear free zone, and their signature will move the treaty a significant step toward full implementation. Technically, states party to the treaty are not bound by its provisions until all eligible nations have ratified either the treaty itself or its relevant protocols. Most Latin American states have waived this requirement, but Argentina (about to ratify), Brazil, and Chile have not. Thus, Mexican diplomats have assiduously sought ratification by all eligible nations to complete the nuclear free zone. With adherence to Protocol I by Argentina and France and the impending ratification of Protocol I by the US, Cuba would be the lone holdout. The possible impact on Havana of the Soviet move will undoubtedly be explored by Lopez Portillo during his trip.

Consular Convention

At present, Soviet representation in Mexico consists of an embassy (one of Moscow's largest, with a staff of approximately 90 persons), Aeroflot and Intourist offices, and a resident trade mission.

Soviet initiatives to negotiate a consular convention with Mexico, begun in 1970, were shelved in 1971 after Mexico's expulsion of the five Soviet diplomats. The USSR floated a new proposal for a consular convention in 1975, but despite continued Soviet efforts, no negotiations have been concluded. [redacted] the Soviets plan to press Lopez Portillo on the consular convention during his visit, seeking an agreement to establish five Soviet consulates general in Mexico--in Veracruz, Monterrey, Guadalajara, and two other major cities. If this is in fact a Soviet goal, it is probably a long-term one, with Moscow seeking agreement in principle with implementation to be spread out over a period of time.

[redacted] Lopez Portillo plans to take the offensive on this issue, asking the Soviets to justify the continuance of their already large diplomatic presence in Mexico by "paying the commercial price" of expanded long-term trade agreements.

Military Purchases

Resistance to foreign military influence has been a persistent tenet of Mexican foreign policy. Mexico has made no purchases of Soviet arms or equipment--much less accepted Soviet military advisers--but tentative and cautious contacts have begun between the two countries' military establishments within the past two years. Accepting the USSR's longstanding offer for the first time, two Mexican Army officers visited the Soviet Union in August 1977, reportedly to look over Soviet artillery. A clandestine report of February 1978 indicates that, for the first time, Mexico has made informal inquiries to the USSR for price and availability of artillery weapons, including small-caliber howitzers, anti-aircraft equipment, and associated radar computers.

In mid-February, Soviet military attachés visited the Mexican Superior War School--something they had not done since at least 1970--to lecture and show a film. The film, touting Soviet military equipment, was a clear indication from the Soviets that they were eager to sell military hardware to Mexico.

Even more recently, the Soviets have entered the competition to sell combat aircraft to Mexico. [redacted] the Soviets, working through a Mexican businessman, approached a senior Mexican Army officer to present an offer on jet aircraft. Although no details of the proposal were revealed, the officer reportedly turned it down, insisting that the Mexican Army would only purchase US jets. According to the report, the businessman planned to raise the issue at a higher level--with the Mexican Secretary of Defense--as did a representative selling Soviet helicopters earlier this year.

Trade

Mexico, heavily dependent on the US as its major trading partner, has sought to expand and diversify its trade contacts with other nations in an effort to lessen its dependence on the US and to increase markets for its manufactured goods. While trade between Mexico and the USSR has grown considerably in the 1970's, the volume nevertheless remains economically insignificant. In 1976, for example, combined trade between the two countries reached a total of $24 million. The balance that year was favorable to Mexico but represented only a fraction of 1 percent of Mexico's total exports. Moreover, although Mexico seeks to sell its manufactured products, the USSR's purchases have been chiefly of agricultural commodities.

[redacted] Lopez Portillo will seek a trade package involving several hundred million dollars over a period of 4-5 years, in the form of a long-term USSR agreement to buy Mexican coffee and other products in exchange for Mexico's purchase of Soviet tractors and machinery. Reportedly, Lopez Portillo expects the USSR to offer substantial credits for the purchase of Soviet manufactured goods, but he would accept them only if the USSR, in turn, agreed to buy enough Mexican goods to strike a rough balance of trade.

Despite the increase of trade with the USSR, and Mexico's 1975 Cooperation Agreement with CEMA, the Lopez Portillo administration sees little prospect for any real economic gains in Mexico's trade with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

Petroleum

The Director General of PEMEX (the Mexican state oil company) was to accompany Lopez Portillo on his trip. In addition to visits to Baku and Novosibirsk to view Soviet petroleum and natural gas installations, the Mexican visitors will continue their talks with the USSR on a proposed petroleum swap involving Spain and Cuba. Under the proposed agreement, the USSR would supply Spain with the amount of oil (perhaps 20,000 barrels per day) that Spain has agreed to purchase from Mexico. Mexico, in turn, would deliver an equal amount of oil to Cuba--with tremendous savings in transportation as a result.

The idea is not a new one--the USSR has discussed a similar arrangement with Venezuela in recent years, and discussions with Mexico have been under way since at least 1976. Despite the obvious advantages and savings of the plan, problems have so far impeded agreement:

--the USSR's earlier proposal to reimburse Mexico in Soviet industrial goods for oil shipments to Cuba was not accepted by the Mexicans;

--disparities in the quality of Mexican and Soviet petroleum affect pricing and involve conversion of refinery facilities; and

--disagreements over how to apportion the savings in transportation costs have not been resolved.

Prospects for the resolution of these difficulties will hinge largely on whether the USSR's bargaining becomes more flexible than it has been in the past.

SUBJECT: AFL-CIO SOLIDARITY VISIT

REF: SANTIAGO 3957

1. SUMMARY: AN AFL-CIO SOLIDARITY TEAM VISITED CHILE MAY 21-23 AT THE INVITATION OF THE "GROUP OF TEN". IN MEETINGS WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET, WITH THE "GROUP OF TEN" AND WITH OTHER LABOR LEADERS, AND IN AN END-OF-VISIT PRESS CONFERENCE, THE TEAM EMPHASIZED THE SUPPORT OF US LABOR FOR INDEPENDENT TRADE UNIONISM AND FOR A PROMPT RETURN TO FULL TRADE UNION FREEDOMS. THE TEAM BELIEVES IT OBTAINED A COMMITMENT FRO THE GOC TO PERMIT AIFLD TO HOLD SEMINARS WITHOUT REQUESTING PRIOR APPROVAL. ALTHOUGH THE TEAM WAS DISCOURAGED BY WHAT THEY SAW AND HEARD, DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNION ELEMENTS WERE HEARTENED BY THE VISIT. WHETHER PINOCHET AND HIS ADVISERS CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THE IMPORTANCE US LABOR ATTACHES TO TRADE UNIONS FREEDOMS, AND PARTICULARLY THE ABILITY TO HOLD ELECTIONS WITHIN SIX MONTHS, IS NOT CERTAIN. LEGACY OF A HIGHLY POLITICIZED TRADE UNION MOVEMENT MAY CONTINUE TO DOMINATE GOC PERCEPTIONS AND, TO SOME EXTEND, THE ACTIONS OF DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNIONISTS. END SUMMARY.

2. WHAT HAPPENED. A POWERFUL AND ELOQUENT SOLIDARITY TEAM VISITED SANTIAGO "TO TRY TO BRING THE VARIOUS DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNIONISTS TOGETHER". THE DELEGATION LEADER, THOMAS "TEDDY" GLEASON, PRESIDENT OF THE INTER-NATIONAL LONGSHOREMEN ASSOCIATION AND VICE PRESIDENT OF BOTH THE AFLO-CIO AND THE INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORT FEDERATION TOLD GENERAL AUGUSTO PINOCHET, PRESIDENT OF CHILE, THAT

HE WAS VERY DISAPPOINTED WITH THE LACK OF RESPECT FOR TRADE UNION FREEDOMS AND WOULD LEAVE CHILE LESS FAVORABLY INCLINED THAN WHEN HE ARRIVED. AFL-CIO VICE PRESIDENT, SOL "CHICK" CHAIKIN, PRESIDENT OF THE ILGWU IN PARTICULAR TOLD PINOCHET THAT "TIME WAS NOT A FRIEND OF THIS GOVERNMENT" AND URGED THE RAPID RESTORATION OF TRADE UNION FREEDOMS IN CHILE ESPECIALLY THE RIGHT TO ELECT TRADE UNIONOFFICERS. CHAIKIN EXPLAINED THAT THE GOVERNMENT ACTIONS WERE POLARIZING CHILEAN SOCIETY DRIVING DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNION LEADERS EITHER TO THE EXTREMES OF THE RIGHT OR LEFT WHICH WOULD INEVITABLY LEAD AGAIN TO A CONFRONTATION AS OCCURRED IN 1973. HE EMPHASIZED AGAIN AND AGAIN THAT TRADE UNION ELECTIONS WITHIN A REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME WERE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY TO AVOID THIS TYPE OF SITUATION. THE TEAM LEFT A MEMORANDUM THAT URGED THE GOC TO CONDUCT "FREE AND DEMOCRATIC ELECTIONS WITHIN SIX MONTHS". GLEASON ADDED THAT HE ALSO PASSED THIS MESSAGE ON TO THE GOC THROUGH WENCESLAO MORENO, CHILEAN LABOR ATTACHE IN WASHINGTON.

OF THE "GROUP OF TEN" AND THEY MET REPEATEDLY WITH ALL OR PART OF THE GROUP. HOWEVER THEY STATED CLEARLY THAT THEY DID NOT REGARD THIS GROUP AS THE ONLY LEGITIMATE TRADE UNION GROUP IN CHILE AND OFFERED A HAND OF SUPPORT TO ALL DEMOCRATIC AND FREE TRADE UNIONISTS. IN AN EMOTIONAL MEETING TOWARDS THE END OF THE VISIT EDUARDO RIOS, ERNESTO VOGEL AND TUCAPEL JIMENEZ ATTEMPTED TO DESCRIBE THE PERSONAL HARDSHIP CAUSED BY GOC HARASSMENT. ALL SAID THAT THEY WERE ALIVE TODAY ONLY BECAUSE OF USG AND AFL-CIO SUPPORT IN THE PAST. GLEASON VISIBLY MOVED GAVE THEM A PERSONAL GUARANTEE OF PROTECTION.

4. BROADENING THE DEMOCRATIC ALLIANCE. ALTHOUGH THE AFL-CIO TEAM WAS SPONSORED BY THE GROUP OF TEN" OR THE "DINAMICOS" IT MET WITH VARIOUS OTHER TRADE UNION LEADERS. THE PURPOSE OF ALL THESE MEETINGS WAS TO ENCOURAGE GREATER COOPERATION AMONG DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNIONISTS. WITH "DINAMICO" LEADEER TUCAPEL JIMENEZ, PRESIDENT OF PUBLIC EMPLOYEES, THE GROUP MET WITH HERNOL FLORES, SEC-GEN OF THE PRO-GOVERNMENT UNTRACH AND WITH CARLOS ORTEGA, PRESIDENT OF THE BANK WORKERS. GLEASON ALSO MET PRIVATELY WITH MORENO AND MARTIN BUSTOS, PRESIDENT OF STEVEDORES AND GOC APPOINTED PRESIDENT OF PARALLEL COMACH. THE ENTIRE TEAM ALSO MET WITH INDEPENDENT DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNINISTS, FEDERICO MUJICA, PRESIDENT OF THE PRIVATE EMPLOYEES CONFEDERATION, SALVADOR CASTRO, PRESIDENT OF METAL MECHANICS FEDERATION AND RICARDO GALLIANI, PRESIDENT OF THE EMPLOYEES IN STATE OWNED ENTERPRISES. ADDITIONALLY, THE TEAM SAW THE FOLLOWING OUSTED LABOR LEADERS: MILTON PUGA, CARLOS ARRELLANO

AND GUILLERMO SANTANA OF THE COPPER WORKERS, ANDRES DEL CAMPO OF THE BANK WORKERS AND EDWIN KEIM OF THE AIRLINE WORKERS.

5. AIFLD SEMINARS. THE TEAM BELIEVED THAT A MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENT OF THE VISIT WAS TO OBTAIN PINOCHET'S CONSENT TO CONDUCT AIFLD SEMINARS WITHOUT PRIOR GOC AUTHORIZATION. AS CHAIKIN POINTED OUT, NOTHING WAS WRITTEN DOWN, BUT [redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

PINCOEHT DID TURN TO HIS LABOR AND INTERIOR MINISTERS AND MADE SURE THEY HAD TAKEN NOTE OF THE TEAM'S STATEMENT THAT SUCH AUTHORIZATION SHOULD NOT BE NECESSARY. IR REMAINS TO BE SEEN WHETHER LOCAL MILITARY COMMANDERS WILL RECIEVE APPROPRIATE INSTRUCTIONS, BUT AIFLD HAS ALREADY TESTED THE WATERS, IN VALPARAISO, WITHOUT INCIDENT.

6. THE "INDEPENDENCE" IMPERATIVE. THE AFL-CIO TEAM STRESSED THE NEED FOR INDEPENDENCE FROM GOVERNMENT, CHURCH AND POLITICAL PARTY ORGANIZATIONS. THEY WERE ESPECIALLY CONCERNED ABOUT GOC ATTEMPTS TO "TRAIN" TRADE UNION LEADERS AND THE CONTINUED INFLUENCE OF COMMUNISTS IN THE CHILEAN LABOR MOVEMENT. THE TEAM EMPHASIZED TO THE GOC THAT IN THEIR CONSIDERED JUDGMENT IT WAS ESSENTIAL TO BEGIN NOW THE PROCESS OF ELECTING TRADE UNION LEADERS, FOR IF THEY DELAYED MORE THAN THREE TO SIX MONTHS IT WOULD DRIVE DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNIONISTS TO EITHER THE RIGHT OR LEFT AS HAS HAPPENED IN THE PAST. WHEN PINOCHET POINTED TO A COMBINED COMMUNIST-DEMOCRATIC MAY DAY DEMONSTRATION AS EVIDENCE THAT THEIR HOSTS WERE BEING MANIPULATED IF NOT CONTROLLED BY COMMUNISTS, THE TEAM USED THIS EXAMPLE TO DRIVE HOME THEIR POINT THAT NORMALIZATION OF TRADE UNION ACTIVITY WAS AN URGENT PRIORITY TO AVOID POLARIZING THE CHILEAN LABOR MOVEMENT.

PRIVATELY WITH THE "DINAMICO"LEADERS, THE TEAM WARNED OF THE DIFFICULTIES THAT COOPERATION BETWEEN DEMOCRATIC AND COMMUNIST TRADE UNIONISTS COULD CAUSE FOR FUTURE AFL-CIO SUPPORT.

7. CHILEAN PUBLIC AND PRIVATE REACTION TO THE VISIT. THERE HAS BEEN NO PUBLIC OFFICIAL REACTION TO THE VISIT. THE LESS RESPONSIBLE PRESS IS CALLING IT ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF YANKEE INTERVENTION AND LINKING THE VISIT TO OTHER POLITICAL EVENTS WHICH OCCURRED DURING THE SAME WEEK (A HUNGER STRIKE BY RELATIVES OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS AND THE VISIT OF U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTIC OFFICIALS IN CONNECTION WITH THE LETELIER CASE). HOWEVER, SEVERAL NEWSPAPERS AND NEWS MAGAZINES ARE POINTING OUT THAT THE LABOR MOVEMENT HAS WAITED TOO LONG FOR RESTORATION OF ITS RIGHTS. MOREOVER, INTERNALLY THE GOC HAS BEGUN TO SET UP SCENARIOS IN WHICH IT CAN MEET AT LEAST SOME OF THE "SUGGESTIONS" OF THE AMERICAN LABOR GROUP (BUT PROBABLY [redacted]

EXCLUDING TRADE UNION ELECTIONS). OTHER DEMOCRATIC LEADERS, SOME OF THOSE IN THE GOC-SPONSORED UNTRACH, ENCOURAGED BY THE STRONG SUPPORT SHOWN BY THE AFL-CIO TEAM TO DEMOCRATIC LABOR ORGANIZATIONS, STEPPED UP THE STRENGTH OF THEIR OWN DEMANDS FOR TRADE UNION FREEDOMS.

8. COMMENT: THE PINOCHET GOVERNMENT AND US LABOR SHARE ANTI-COMMUNISM AND, IN THEORY AT LEAST, THE BELIEF THAT ORGANIZED LABOR SHOULD ACT INDEPENDENTLY FROM PARTY POLITICS. WHEREAS US LABOR CAME TO ITS POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY AS THE RESULT OF A HISTORY OF INDEPENDENT ACHIEVEMENT, THE PINOCHET REGIME IS ATTEMPTING TO IN-STITUTE TRADE UNION INDEPENDENCE BY GOVERNMENT INTER-VENTION. EVEN AFTER ACKNOWLEDGING THAT THIS IS A TRANSITORY MILITARY GOVERNMENT, THERE IS A SUBSTANTIAL ELEMENT OF ILLOGIC IN SUCH AN EFFORT. SO FAR AS WE ARE ABLE TO JUDGE, PINOCHET AND HIS CLOSEST ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL ADVISERS HAVE NOT ACCEPTED THE FACT THAT INDEPENDENT TRADE UNIONISM MUST START WITH THE GUARANTEE AND OBSERVANCE OF BASIC LABOR RIGHTS.

9. HISTORICALLY THE CHILEAN LABOR MOVEMENT HAS BEEN

UNCLASSIFIED

HIGHLY POLITICIZED. IT IS UNREALISTIC TO THINK THAT EITHER AS A RESULT OF GOC "REFORMS" OR THE DEMONSTRATION EFFECT AND SUPP
ORT OF US LABOR THAT THAT SITUATION
IS GOING TO CHANGE RADICALLY IN THE NEAR FUTURE. AND WE DO NOT THINK THE SOLIDARITY TEAM MADE ANY SUCH LEAP OF FAITH. SHOULD THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT AND RADICAL PARTIES DECIDE IN THE FUTURE TO PURSUE VIGOROUSLY A BROAD ALLIANCE (FRENTE AMPLIO) WITH THE SOCIALISTS AND COMMUNISTS AGAINST THE MILITARY REGIME, WE WOULD PREDICT WITH CONFIDENCE LABOR UNION COORDINATION INVOLVING AT LEAST SOME OF THE DEMOCRATIC LEADERS.

[redacted]

10. THE VISIT OF THE SOLIDARITY TEAM SERVED THE IMMEDIATE AND MOST PRESSING PURPOSE OF STRENGTHENING THE US LABOR MOVEMENT'S UMBRELLA FOR THE "GROUP OF TEN". THAT IT DID THIS IN THE CONTEXT OF SUPPORT FOR ALL DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNION LEADERS IS, WE BELIEVE, IMPORTANT. THE AFL-CIO VICE-PRESIDENTS MADE CLEAR TO PINOCHET, AS WELL AS TO THE DEMOCRATIC TRADE UNION LEADERS THEMSELVES, THAT OUR SUPPORT IS NOT TIED TO ANY POLITICAL FACTIONS WITHIN THE DEMOCRATIC SECTOR. THIS CLARIFICATION OFFERS THE HOPE OF BROADER AND STRONGER OPPOSITION TO CONTINUED GOC RESTRICTIONS OF LABOR FREEDOMS. THERE IS ALREADY AN APPARENT EFFORT BY SOME OF THE MORE TIMID DEMOCRATIC LEADERS TO SHOW THAT THEY TOO SUPPORT AN EARLY END TO SUCH RESTRICTIONS. IN PART THEY HAVE BEEN ENCOURAGED BY THE VISIT TO SPEAK OUT MORE CLEARLY. IN PART THEIR OWN POSITIONS AS LEADERS DEPEND ON NOT APPEARING TO LAG BEHIND ON THIS ISSUE.

11. LABOR ATTACHE COMMENT. THE HISTORICAL AND TRADITIONAL

BONDS TIEING CHILEAN WORKERS AND THEIR UNION LEADERS TO POLITICAL PARTIES HAVE DETERIORATED AS A RESULT OF THE GOC BAN ON POLITICAL ACTIVITY. AS A RESULT OF THIS BAN, THE GOC HAS DESTROYED THE ABILITY OF POLITICAL PARTIES TO CONTROL AND INFLUENCE AFFILIATED TRADE UNION LEADERS. IN THE PAST, POLITICAL PARTIES EFFECTIVELY CONTROLLED THEIR LABOR LEADERS BY MAINTAINING PARTY CONTROL OVER THE UNION SLATE OF CANDIDATES IN UNION ELECTIONS. FEW INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES COULD BE ELECTED AT THE LOCAL LEVEL AND HARDLY ANY WERE SUCCESSFUL AT THE NATIONAL LEVEL. HOWEVER, SINCE ELECTIONS HAVE BEEN OUTLAWED, PLLITICAL PARTIES HAVE FOUND IT INCREASINGLY DIFFICULT TO INFLUENCE THEIR LABOR LEADER AFFILIATES. ALTHOUGH FEW MEN HAVE ABANDONED THEIR POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY AND MOST ARE STILL PROUD OF THEIR PRE-COUP PARTY AFFILIATION, TRADE UNION LEADERS DO NOW

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

SEPARATE THEIR UNION RESPONSIBILITIES FROM PARTY DEMANDS. DECISIONS RELATING TO THEIR UNIONS ARE MADE RELATIVELY FREE OF PARTY INFLUENCE. THE "GROUP OF TEN" STANDS AS A MAJOR EXAMPLE OF THIS NEW AND HEALTHY INDEPENDENCE FROM POLITICAL PARTY CONTROL IN THAT THREE ARE FORMER FREI WING PDC, TWO FORMER TOMIC WING PDC, TWO ARE MILITANT RADICALS AND ONE WITHOUT ANY PARTY AFFILIATION. ALL THESE MEN ARE ANTI-COMMUNIST AND HAVE COOPERATED TOGETHER ONLY BECAUSE THEY ARE FREE OF PARTY CONTROL. NONE OF THESE TRADE UNIONISTS OR OTHER TRULY DEMOCRATIC UNION LEADERS WOULD NOW ABANDON THEIR INDEPENDENCE AND TURN THEIR UNION OVER TO THE DICTATES OF A PARTY BOSS.

Denuncia del secuestro de Alberto Tur Donati y Amalia Ricotti de Tur, ocurrido el 15 del corriente mes en la ciudad de Santa Fe, Argentina.

En la noche de la mencionada fecha Tur Donati y su esposa salieron de su casa en auto para realizar una visita familiar. Nunca llegaron al lugar a que se dirigían, encontrándose al día siguiente el carro abandonado, cerca del domicilio al que tenían intención de llegar. Los familiares comenzaron al día siguiente con las averiguaciones de rutina, y, ayudados por otras personas, han denunciado el hecho por la prensa, radio y televisión y han presentado un recurso de amparo ante la justicia. Las respuestas de las autoridades policiales, militares y judiciales han sido unánimemente negativas.

Los motivos de este secuestro pueden tener relación con las detenciones que se están realizando por la realización del Mundial de Fútbol, o por razones gremiales --ver el curriculum anexo-- o por el hecho de que Tur Donati haya sacado su pasaporte en el último mes para viajar al Perú de vacaciones.

Al haber transcurrido 10 días sin haber obtenido un reconocimiento oficial de la detención y de su ubicación, solicito la mayor difusión posible de este nuevo atropello a los más elementales derechos humanos.

La finalidad de esta denuncia es presionar a las autoridades argentinas para que dejen en libertad a Tur Donati y a su esposa, o, al menos, declaren públicamente cuál es su lugar de detención.

Licenciado Carlos Tur Donati, hermano del secuestrado. Ciudad de México, 25 de mayo de 1978.-

Estimado General Menéndez:

Me siento sumamente halagado por haber tenido la oportunidad de conocerlo y conversar con Vd. durante mi reciente visita a Córdoba y también le estoy muy agradecido por el tiempo que nos dedicara tanto a mí como a los miembros de mi comitiva a pesar del hecho de encontrarse involucrado en el desarrollo de ejercicios militares en ocasión de nuestra visita.

Abrigaba la esperanza de haber tenido más tiempo para conocerlo mejor y espero tener el gusto de encontrarme con Vd. nuevamente en alguna otra ocasión.

Un tema que esperaba poder tratar con Vd. durante mi reciente visita es el caso de la Srta. Liliana Deutsch quien se encuentra actualmente detenida en Córdoba a disposición del Poder Ejecutivo Nacional. Sé que Vd. conoce el enorme interés suscitado en los Estados Unidos con referencia al problema de la familia Deutsch, interés que ha llegado a las más altas esferas del gobierno norteamericano. Estaría realmente muy agradecido si Vd. pudiera -- dentro de su esfera de acción -- rever el caso de la joven Deutsch con el objeto de determinar las posibilidades existentes para que ella pudiera ser liberada del Poder Ejecutivo Nacional y se le permitiera viajar a los Estados Unidos con sus familiares.

Le agradecería muchísimo todo tipo de ayuda que pudiera prestarnos en lo que concierne a este caso.

Disfrutamos inmensamente nuestra estadía en Córdoba. Me sentí muy contento al observar el sentimiento de alegría y entusiasmo prevaleciente entre la población que encontrábamos en las calles en vísperas del comienzo del Mundial.

Con afectuosos saludos y esperando poder reunirme nuevamente con Vd., me complazco en saludarle con mi mayor consideración y estima.

Atentamente,

Raúl H. Castro
Embajador

SUBJ: HUNGER STRIKE/MISSING PERSON: ALEXEI VLADIMIR JACCARD

REFS: (A) GENEVA 2861S (B) USUN 02319

1. THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY, THE CATHOLIC CHURCH'S HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION HERE, AFFIRMED JUNE 6 THAT ALEXEI VLADIMIR JACCARD SIEGLER -- OF POSSIBLY BOTH CHILEAN AND SWISS NATIONALITIES -- IS MISSING, BUT IN ARGENTINA NOT CHILE. JACCARD WAS AT ONE TIME THOUGHT TO HAVE DISAPPEARED IN CHILE AND WAS LISTED BY THE VICARIATE. HE IS NO LONGER LISTED AND, ACCORDING TO THE VICARIATE, APPEARS INSTEAD ON AN ARGENTINE LIST OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS.

2. A VICARIATE MISSING PERSONS REPORT ON JACCARD PREPARED LAST YEAR GAVE THE FOLLOWING ACCOUNT: MARRIED, RESIDING IN SWITZERLAND, 25 YEARS OF AGE. JACCARD DISAPPEARED IN BUENOS AIRES ON MAY 16, 1977. THE FOLLOWING DAY, ARGENTINE POLICE WENT TO THE HOTEL WGERE HE STAYED AND REMOVED ALL HIS PERSONAL BELONGINGS. THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA LATER INFORMED THE SWISS EMBASSY THAT JACCARD HAD TRAVELED TO SANTIAGO ON MAY 26 ON A VARIG AIRLINES FLIGHT. THAT AIRLINE LATER CONFIRMED IN SANTIAGO THAT JACCARD'S NAME FIGURED ON THE PASSENGERS LIST. JACCARD IS SHOWN AS TRAVELING WITH AN ARGENTINE PASSPORT, (COMMENT: INTERPOL HERE TELLS US IT WAS AN ARGENTINE CARNET) THOUGH HE DID NOT HAVE THAT NATIONALITY AND, AT THE TIME HE DISAPPEARED, HE POSSESSED A SWISS PASSPORT. THE CHILEAN POLICE REPORTED THAT APERSON NAMED JACCARD ENTERED THE COUNTRY, STAYING IN A SANTIAGO HOTEL. DURING HIS ALLEGED STAY, HE DID NOT VISIT HIS RELATIVES, ALTHOUGH THAT HAD BEEN A PURPOSE OF HIS TRIP. RELATIVES IN CHIL WHO LATER INSPECTED THE HOTEL'S REGISTER ASSERTED THAT THE SIGNATURE ON THE BOOK WAS NOT THAT OF JACCARD'S. THE PERSON REPORTED TO BE JACCARD LATER TRAVELED TO MONTEVIDEO, WHERE HIS ENTRY IS OFFICIALLY NOTED.

3. THE VICARIATE NOW SAYS IT LEARNED THAT THE MAN SAID TO BE JACCARD LATER TRAVELED TO ARGENTINA, WHERE HE DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT. FOR THAT REASON, THE VICARIATE HAS ERASED JACCARD'S NAME FROM ITS CHILEAN DISAPPEAREDS LIST.

4. GENEVA PLEASE TRANSMIT REF (A) TO BUENOS AIRES.

SUBJECT: ICEM REJECTED BY GOA

REF: (A) BUENOS AIRES 4003 (B) BUENOS AIRES 3727 (C) GENEVA 8364 (D) STATE 136035 (E) SANTIAGO 4237

SUMMARY: FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL FIRMLY REJECTED ICEM PARTICIPATION IN RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM. GOA IS SLOWLY COMING TO GRIPS WITH THE HEAVY BURDEN OF UNCHARGED PEN DETAINEES. THE AMBASSADOR HAS HIGH-LEVEL INDICATIONS THAT SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF PEN CASES WILL BE RESOLVED AT AN INCREASING PACE IN THE UPCOMING MONTHS. HOW MANY RELEASES WILL BE EFFECTED THROUGH THE RIGHT OF OPTION PROCEDURE REMAINS UNCLEAR. END SUMMARY.

1. ICEM OFFICIAL ROBERTO KOZAK WAS IN BUENOS AIRES JUNE 1-5 TO DISCUSS WITH ARGENTINE OFFICIALS THE POSSIBILITY OF ICEM PARTICIPATION IN RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM. KOZAK, AN ARGENTINE CITIZEN, DETERMINED HE WOULD FIRST PRESENT HIMSELF TO THE FOREIGN MINISTRY AND SEE IF THE FOREIGN MINISTRY WOULD ARRANGE SUBSEQUENT APPOINTMENTS WITH PERTINENT INTERIOR MINISTRY OFFICIALS. (AS REPORTED IN REFTEL A, THE US PLUS EIGHT OTHER WESTERN EMBASSIES MET WITH MIN INT OFFICIAL COL. SAN ROMAN TO REQUEST ICEM PARTICIPATION. SAN ROMAN SAID THAT GOA WAS IN PRINCIPLE OPPOSED TO ICEM, BUT AGREED TO SPEAK WITH AN ICEM REPRESENTATIVE).

2. AT THE FOREIGN MINISTRY JUNE 2, KOZAK MET WITH THE STRONG-WILLED HEAD OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS WORKING GROUP MINISTER JUAN CARLOS ARLIA. ACCORDING TO KOZAK, ARLIA RECEIVED HIM GRACIOUSLY, BUT DECLARED THAT GOA WAS FIRMLY OPPOSED TO ICEM PARTICIPATION IN THE OPTION PROGRAM. ARLIA SAID THAT HE KNEW THE USG AND US EMBASSY HAD PUT KOZAK UP TO PUSHING ICEM, BUT THAT GOA HAD ALREADY INFORMED THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR BY LETTER OF ITS DECISION AGAINST ICEM PARTICIPATION. (MININT HARGUINDEGUY'S MAY 3 LETTER TO AMBASSADOR CASTRO WAS VAGUE AND REFERRED ONLY TO THE UNHCR. ICEM WAS NOT MENTIONED IN THE LETTER. SEE REF B.) ARLIA SAID GOA'S DECISION HAD ALSO BEEN COMMUNICATED DIRECTLY TO LOCAL ICEM DIRECTOR ROMAGNOLI IN BUENOS AIRES BY A MININT DEPUTY MINISTER AND GAIN DIRECTLY TO ICEM HEADQUARTERS IN GENEVA BY ARGENTINE AMBASSADOR MARTINEZ, CURRENTLY PARTICIPATING IN TALKS AT THE ILO. GOA HAD MADE ITS NEGATIVE DECISION VERY CLEAR AND THERE SHOULD BE NO MORE REASON FOR KOZAK OR THE USG TO PUSH THE MATTER FURTHER. ARLIA THEN TOLD KOZAK HE WAS WELCOME TO DISCUSS THE ISSUE AT THE INTERIOR MINISTRY IF HE WISHED BUT THAT DECISION HAD ALREADY BEEN MADE AT THE TOP LEVELS OF GOVERNMENT AND WAS FIRM.

3. AT SUBSEQUENT DEBRIEFING WITH EMBASSY, KOZAK DECIDED TO TRY TO SEE COL. SAN ROMAN ON HIS OWN TO INTRODUCE HIMSELF AND EXPLAIN ICEM'S ROLE AS A SERVICE ORGANIZATION. HE HAD IN HAND AN ICEM CABLE INDICATING THAT THE FEDERAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT HAD REQUESTED ICEM ASSISTANCE IN THE RESETTLEMENT OF 144 QUALIFIED OPTION CASES IN THE FRG. (SEE REF C.) KOZAK SAID HE MIGHT RAISE THE GERMAN REQUEST WITH SAN ROMAN TO SHOW HOW EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS WERE REQUESTING ICEM ASSISTANCE AND TO MAKE THE POINT THAT ICEM WISHED TO BE HELPFUL BUT WOULD ONLY ACT WITH GOA APPROVAL. KOZAK WAS UNABLE TO ARRANGE MEETING WITH SAN ROMAN AND DEPARTED BUENOS AIRES ON JUNE 3.

4. KOZAK TOLD EMBASSY HE BELIEVED GOA POSITION WAS SUFFICIENTLY CLEAR TO PRECLUDE FURTHER ICEM APPROACHES AT PRESENT. HE SUGGESTED THAT IN THE VERY NEAR FUTURE INTERESTED WESTERN EMBASSIES SHOULD PREPARE A JOINT WRITTEN APPEAL FOR ICEM PARTICIPATION TO BE PRESENTED AT HIGHEST LEVELS OF GOVERNMENT IN ORDER TO TRY TO GET GOA TO RECONSIDER ICEM. EMBASSY AGREED TO KEEP IN TOUCH WITH OTHER INTERESTED EMBASSIES AND JOINTLY CONSIDER FUTURE STEPS.

5. COMMENT: FURTHER PRESSURE ON GOA REGARDING THE ICEM QUESTION WOULD APPEAR TO BE UNADVANTAGEOUS AT THIS POINT. EMBASSY BELIEVES THAT THE GERMAN REQUEST AND PERHAPS FUTURE EUROPEAN APPEALS FOR ICEM ASSISTANCE MIGHT PROVIDE A FUTURE OPENING TO REVIEW GOA'S DECISION CONCERNING ICEM. WE STRONGLY FEEL THAT OTHER WESTERN COUNTRIES SHOULD JOIN US AS EQUAL PARTNERS IN REOPENING THE ISSUE. EMBOFF WILL CONTINUE PERIODICALLY TO "TAKE THE TEMPERTURE" OF GOA SENTIMENT ON ICEM IN OUR INFORMAL TALKS WITH GOA OFFICIALS. WE WILL ALSO MAINTAIN

Judy - action is HA, are you doing this? RC

CONTACTS WITH OTHER INTERESTED EMBASSIES AND SEEK TO STREAMLINE AND COORDINATE OUR RIGHT OF OPTION INFORMATION.

6. FYI: TO DATE, RELEASES FROM PEN HAVE PROCEEDED STEADILY BUT SLOWLY. SINCE LAST CHRISTMAS 49 PERSONS HAVE BEEN REPORTED IN THE PRESS AS AUTHORIZED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY UNDER THE REVISED RIGHT OF OPTION PROCEDURES. THE AMBASSADOR HAS RECEIVED HIGH-LEVEL INDICATIONS THAT THE PACE OF RELEASES OF DETAINEES FROM PEN STATUS WILL INCREASE IN THE UPCOMING MONTHS, PARTICULARLY ONCE THE WORLD CUP GAMES ARE OVER.

7. RELEASE FROM PEN CAN TAKE SEVERAL FORMS: THE DETAINEE CAN BE REMANDED TO THE COURTS FOR TRIAL, PLACED UNDER HOUSE ARREST OR IN PAROLE STATUS, GRANTED AN EXPULSION TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY UNDER THE RIGHT OF OPTION, OR RELEASED OUTRIGHT. AS WE CANNOT PREDICT HOW UPCOMING PEN RELEASES WILL BE EFFECTED, WE CANNOT ESTIMATE HOW MANY PERSONS MIGHT EVENTUALLY BE AUTHORIZED TO LEAVE UNDER THE RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM. THE MECHANISMS FOR GRANTING THE OPTION ARE CUMBERSOME AND, AS HAS BEEN REPORTED EARLIER, APPROVAL MUST BE GRANTED BY A NUMBER OF AUTHORITIES, INCLUDING CORPS COMMANDERS, WHO MAY NOT OR WILL NOT APPRECIATE THE POLITICAL IMPORTANCE OF RESOLVING PEN CASES.

8. HESITATION TO SYSTEMATIC RELEASES OF SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF PEN DETAINEES UNDER RIGHT OF OPTION DERIVE FROM A CERTAIN FEAR OF REPEATING WHAT OFFICIALS PERCEIVE AS THE ERRORS OF THE PAST, WHEN PEN DETAINEES IN 1977-1978 WERE AUTOMATICALLY GRANTED THE OPTION TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY AND MANY FILTERED BACK INTO THE SUBVERSIVE MOVEMENT IN ARGENTINA. ANOTHER REASON IS GOA'S GREAT FEAR OF PERMITTING PERSONS WHO THEY BELIEVE WILL JOIN IN AN OVERSEAS SMEAR CAMPAIGN AGAINST ARGENTINA. A THIRD IS A STRONG FEELING, MAINLY AMONG THOSE ENGAGED IN THE ANTI-SUBVERSIVE BATTLE, THAT THE DETAINEES WERE CAPTURED AT GREAT COST AND THEY SHOULD SIMPLY NOT BE ALLOWED TO GO FREE AS LONG AS TERRORISM EXISTS EITHER WITHIN OR OUTSIDE ARGENTINA. ONE THEORY IS THAT PEN CASES WOULD BE BEST RESOLVED WITH RELEASES OR TRANSFER OF LEGAL STATUS WITHIN ARGENTINA, SO AS NOT TO HAVE IRRESPONSIBLE AND/OR DANGEROUS RIGHT OF OPTION EXILES GROUPS BEYOND GOA CONTROL OR VIGILANCE.

9. THERE ARE PEOPLE WITHIN THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT WHO BELIEVE THAT MANY OF THOSE HELD UNDER PEN WITHOUT CHARGE WERE ONLY MARGINALLY INVOLVED IN SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES AND SHOULD BE FREED UNCONDITIONALLY. HOW SUCCESSFUL THESE ELEMENTS WILL BE IN PERSUADING THOSE WHO HAVE THE REAL POWER TO RELEASE OR IMPRISON PERSONS UNDER PEN--THE CORPS COMMANDERS, OTHER POWERFUL MILITARY AND POLICE OFFICIALS WHO HAVE A SAY IN THE PROCESS--TO SET GO WILL DETERMINE THE SPEED WITH WHICH THE PEN CASES WILL BE RESOLVED. IN THE UPCOMING MONTHS, WE WILL BE ABLE TO SEE WHETHER THE HIGH-LEVEL ASSURANCES GIVEN THE AMBASSADOR AND THE MID-LEVEL OFFICIALS' STATED DESIRE TO FIND WAYS TO REDUCE THE PEN POPULATION IN FACT TAKE HOLD.

10. IN THE MEANTIME, THE EMBASSY WILL CONTINUE TO PROCESS RIGHT OF OPTION CASES ON A CASE BY CASE BASIS AND ADD WHAT PERSUASIVE POWERS IT CAN TO STIMULATE GOA TO COME TO GRIPS WITH ITS HEAVY BURDEN OF UNRESOLVED PEN CASES.

11. EMBASSY PERCEIVES NO OBJECTION TO KOZAK VISIT TO WASHINGTON (REFS D AND E) BUT OBSERVES THAT GOA HAS LEFT LITTLE ROOM FOR MISUNDERSTANDING IN ITS PRESENT DECISION ON ICEM.

SUBJECT: COMMITTEE OF ARGENTINE WOMEN VISIT AMBASSADOR YOUNG

1. AMBASSADOR YOUNG RECEIVED A COMMITTEE OF THREE ARGENTINE WOMEN, CURRENTLY RESIDING IN EXILE IN MEXICO CITY, ON JUNE 6. THEY PLAN TO GO TO WASHINGTON JUNE 7, AND RETURN TO NEW YORK CITY ABOUT JUNE 16 FOR A FEW DAYS, AND THEN RETURN TO MEXICO CITY. AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL'S WASHINGTON OFFICE IS HANDLING THEIR APPOINTMENTS WHILE THERE. THEIR HOPE IS TO MEET WITH THE PRESIDENT OR MRS. CARTER. THEY EXPRESSED THEIR WILLINGNESS TO MEET TOGETHER WITH THE COMMITTEE OF FIVE CHILEAN WOMEN CURRENTLY IN THE UNITED STATES ON A SIMILAR MISSION IF SUCH A COORDINATED APPROACH WOULD BE HELPFUL. THE WOMEN EMPHASIZED REPEATEDLY THAT THEIRS WAS A NON-PARTISAN, HUMANITARIAN MISSION, AND THAT THEY CAME AS "WOMEN: MOTHERS AND WIVES," FREE FROM ANY POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS.

2. THE WOMEN ASKED AMBASSADOR YOUNG TO REQUEST THE EMBASSY IN BUENOS AIRES TO BE ESPECIALLY VIGILENT THE NEXT FEW THURSDAYS BECAUSE THEY BELIEVE THAT IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THE ARGENTINE SECURITY FORCES MAY ARREST MORE OF THE WOMEN WHO GATHER EACH WEEK ON THAT DAY IN THE PLAZA DE MAYO IN BUENOS AIRES. ALSO, THEY ASKED THE AMBASSADOR TO REQUEST THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO RECEIVE A REPRESENTATIVE OF THIS GROUP, IN BUENOS AIRES, AND PROMISED TO FURNISH US WITH THE NAME OF SUCH A PERSON WHO COULD REPRESENT THE WOMEN IN ARGENTINA.

3. THE WOMEN ARE ALSO VERY CONCERNED ABOUT A RESURGENCE OF REPRESSION FOLLOWING THE WORLD SOCCER CUP MATCHES.

4. THE THREE WOMEN ALSO MET LATER JUNE 6 WITH ED MEZVINSKY, THE U.S. REPRESENTATIVE TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION OF THE UN. YOUNG

1. Ambassador lunched yesterday (June 8) with Board of Directors of Buenos Aires Stock Market. As honored guest, Ambassador anticipated a friendly and informal discourse from such varying subjects as weather to the World Cup.

2. Before the Ambassador gulped his first dry cracker or tasted his semi-rancid tomato juice, Dr. Alberto Servente, President of the Board, exploded with the traditional diatribe of Argentina's efforts in the "dirty war" of years past and how misunderstood they were by USG. He continued his discordant rendition, followed by others, about how IFIs were becoming pawns of American political chicanery. As if it were his last breath, Servente stated that Argentina's image in the United States was being unfairly and negatively portrayed.

3. Ambassador responded that he found himself between the devil and the deep blue sea, but nevertheless appreciated their invitation for him to listen to their frustrations (inquietudes). Ambassador explained to them that period of emotionalism should be a thing of the past. That they as businessmen apparently were deeply concerned about Argentina's image abroad. It was further explained that the burden was on Argentina to reverse that negative image.

4. Ambassador expressed deep concern in the U. S. over thousands of prisoners festering in Argentine prisons without charges. That unless some solution was found to this dilemma, the image problem would continue. It was made clear that unless Argentina returned to "rule of law", foreign investors would by-pass the area. Emphasis was made by Ambassador of the necessity to reinstitute a strong judicial system. There was no doubt that it was up to Argentina to pursue its own course.

5. After a complete rehashing of the subject, Ambassador was told of their admiration for the U. S. They then gave lip service to the concept of human rights. Their parting salvo was that Argentina's fate was totally dependent on the U.S. The hosts painfully admitted that the ball was now in their court and it was up to Argentina to follow through with positive acts in the field of human rights. It all ended in a spirit of friendship.

SUBJECT: ICEM INVOLVEMENT IN LATIN AMERICAN PAROLE

1. IN DISCUSSIONS AT ICEM HEADQUARTERS WITH LOWMAN, ROBERTO KOZAK, ICEM REP SANTIAGO, SAID GOA HAD MADE IT CRYSTAL CLEAR THAT THEY DID NOT WISH ICEM TO INVOLVE ITSELF IN PROCESSING DETAINEE DEPARTURES UNDER RIGHT OF OPTION. KOZAK SAID ORIGINAL LETTER TO AMERICAN EMBASSY HAD REFERRED ONLY TO INVOLVEMENT OF UNHCR. THEREFORE, HE DECIDED TO ACT AS IF NO PROBLEM EXISTED AND PROCEEDED TO CALL AT MFA TO ANNOUNCE HIS PRESENCE. IN DESCRIBING HIS FUNCTIONS, HE TOOK CARE TO STRESS THOSE RESPONSIBILITIES FAVORED BY GOA. HOWEVER, WHEN HE MENTIONED PROCESSING OF DETAINEES, HE WAS TOLD GOA WANTED NO INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS INVOLVED, THAT GOA THOUGHT THEY HADMADE THIS CLEAR AND TRUSTED THIS WOULD BE THE LAST CONVERSATION ON THE SUBJECT. KOZAK, AN ARGENTINE NATIONAL, DOES NOT PLAN TO RAISE IT AGAIN.

2. KOZAK, NOTING GOA IS VERY SENSITIVE TO THE PROGRAM, BELIEVES THEY DO NOT FULLY UNDERSTAND THE NEED OF A COORDINATING AGENT. HE BELIEVES EMBASSIES SHOULD SIMPLY PROCEED ON THEIR OWN AND, SOMETIME LATER, RETURN TO THE GOA WITH A RENEWED EXPLANATION OF THE PROBLEMS WITH WHICH ICEM COULD HELP.

3. IF INTERNATIONAL RESCUE COMMISSION REP, FRANK AZEVEDO WERE PLACED UNDER CONTRACT AS A JOINT VOLAG REP, KOZAK THOUGHT THIS (OR A SIMILAR ARRANGEMENT) COULD GIVE HIM A SUFFICIENTLY QUASI-OFFICIAL COLORATION THAT HIS ASSISTANCE WITH THE PROCESSSING OF DETAINEES MIGHT BE ACCEPTABLE. FOR AZEVEDO'S PROTECTION, HOWEVER, SUCH AN ARRANGEMENT SHOULD NO DOUBT FIRST BE CLEARED WITH THE GOA. VANDEN HEUVEL

SUBJECT: ARGENTINE MOTHERS' GROUPS

REF: (A) STATE 145584, (B) USUN 02328 NOTAL

1. EMBASSY HAS LITTLE MORE BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON THE THREE WOMEN THAN THAT REPORTED IN REFTEL A. FERNANDO VACA NARVAJA IS NORTORIOUS HERE AS A TOP MONTONERO MILITANT, RESPONSIBLE FOR BOMB ATTACKS ON POLICE, POLITICIANS, GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES, BANKS AND CLUBS, MURDER, JAIL BREAKS, THEFT, AND OTHER CRIMES. IT WOULD BE POORLY VIEWED BY MUCH OF THE ARGENTINE POPULATION AND PROBABLY MISUNDERSTOOD HERE TO RECEIVE AT A HIGH LEVEL A GROUP INCLUDING THE MOTHER OF A PERSON LARGELY SEEN AS RESPONSIBLE FOR CONSIDERABLE SUFFERING AND CRIMINAL ACTS IN ARGENTINA. THE CARE OF WOLA AND AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL TO AVOID SPONSORING THE GROUP IS INDICATIVE OF SOME HESITATION TO BE CLOSELY INVOLVED WITH COSOFAM.

2. EMBASSY IS AND HAS BEEN IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH THE MOTHERS' GROUP FROM THE PLAZA DE MAYO FOR

SOME TIME (REFTEL B). REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE GROUP HAVE MET WITH THE AMBASSADOR, SECRETARY OF STATE VANCE, UNDER SECRETARY NEWSOM, ASSISTANT SECRETARIES TODMAN AND DERIAN AND VISITING CODELS AND ARE REGULARLY INTRODUCED TO OTHER INTERESTED VISITORS FROM THE US AND ABROAD. WE REGULARLY FOLLOW THE MOTHERS' THURSDAY GATHERINGS. YESTERDAY (JUNE 8) WELL OVER 100 PEOPLE, INCLUDING WOMEN, MEN AND CHILDREN, GATHERED AT THE PLAZA DE MAYO BEFORE A LARGE CONTINGENT OF PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS AND JOURNALISTS FROM ABROAD HERE TO COVER THE WORLD CUP. (RECENTLY, THE MOTHERS HAVE NUMBERED AROUND 150 AT THE THURSDAY VIGIL.) AFTER SPEAKING WITH THE FOREIGN JOURNALISTS, THE GROUP MARCHED BY TWOS DOWN THE MAIN SHOPPING MALL ON FLORIDA STREET UNTIL ONE OF THE LEADERS REPORTEDLY HAD AN ALTERCATION WITH A POLICEWOMAN AND SOME MEN DRESSED IN PLAIN CLOTHES. A POLICEMAN IN UNIFORM APPEARED AND ORDERED THE WOMAN TO BE LEFT ALONE AND THE CROWD DISPERSED, REPORTEDLY WITHOUT ARRESTS OR FURTHER INCIDENTS, ACCORDING TO THE BUENOS AIRES HERALD.

3. COMMENT: THE MOTHERS HAVE TOLD EMBOFF THAT THE NUMBERS HAVE RECENTLY SWELLED BECAUSE THEY ARE SURE THE POLICE WILL NOT TAKE ACTION AGAINST THEM DURING THE WORLD CUP MATCHES.

SUBJECT: DISAPPEARANCE OF AMB. HECTOR MANUEL HIDALGO SOLA

REFTEL CARACAS 5451

1. MRS. HECTOR MANUEL HIDALGO SOLA, WIFE OF FORMER GOA AMBASSADOR TO VENEZUELA, CALLED ON AMBASSADOR CASTRO YESTERDAY (JUNE 13) ON A MOMENT OF DESPERATION. SHE WAS ACCOMPANIED BY SON MARCEL AND A TEEN-AGE DAUGHTER.

2. MRS SOLA REPEATED WHAT SON, MARCEL, HAD TOLD AMEMBASSY CARACAS (REFTEL CARACAS 5451). SHE WAS VERY EMOTIONAL, AS WERE CHILDREN, DESCRIBING DISAPPEARANCE OF HUSBAND. MRS. SOLA STATED BY THIS TIME SHE CALLED ON PRESIDENT VIDELA SEVERAL TIMES. SUPPOSEDLY PRESIDENT WAS SYMPATHETIC BUT COULD NOT GIVE HER ANY ENCOURAGEMENT. SHE HAS ALSO CALLED ON MININT HARGUIN-DEGUY, GENERAL MENENDEZM, GENERAL SUAREZ MASON, THE PAPAL NUNCIO, AND ANYONE OF INFLUENCE IN GOA. HER OPINION WAS THAT ALL WERE EXTREMELY COURTEOUS, BUT ALL PROFESSED IGNORANCE ON FACTS OF HUSBAND'S DISAPPEARANCE.

3. MRS. SOLA DISAPPROVED OF TOTAL SILENCE THAT BLANKETED

QUESTION OF DISAPPEARANCES. SHE SAID SHE COULDN'T ENDURE THIS SITUATION ANY LONGER. IT WAS HER INTENT TO SPEAK OUT

LOUD AND CLEAR AGAINST GOA. AMBASSADOR SUGGESTED SHE MUST AT ALL TIMES REMEMBER NOT TO DO ANY ACT THAT WOULD TEND TO JEOPARDIZE HER SAFETY AND THOSE OF HER CHILDREN. THE ADAGE STILL HOLDS THAT "AN HONEST CONFESSION IS GOOD FOR THE SOUL". IT SEEMED THAT AFTER MRS. SOLA HAD RELAYED HER TROUBLES TO AMBASSADOR, SHE SETTLED DOWN TO A MORE RATIONAL APPROACH. WHEN SHE LEFT, MRS. SOLA WAS IN A MUCH HAPPIER FRAME OF MIND.

4. MRS. SOLA'S PARTING STATEMENT WAS THAT HER NEXT CONTACT WOULD BE OAS, THROUGH THE GOOD AUSPICES OF OAS GENSECT ORFILA, AN ARGENTINE.

THE AUTHORS WERE THE MONTONEROS.
MAY 29- THERE WAS AN EXPLOSION ON THE BRIDGE OF ROUTE 9
IN TUCUMAN. THE EXPLOSIVE DEVICE CONSISTED OF 4-5 KILOS OF PLASTIQUE. THERE WERE NO INJURIED. THERE WERE MONTONERO SLOGANS PAINTED ON THE RAILING OF THE BRIDGE.
MAY 29-- SECURITY FORCES STATED THAT MONTONEROS WOULD BE MAKING WIDE USE OF EXPLOSIVES DURING THE WORLD CUP. ONE METHOD WOULD BE TO PLANT EXPLOSIVES INSIDE OF FIRE EX-TINGUISHERS SIMILAR TO THE TYPE USED FOR AUTOS.
- ON THE SAME DATE, THEY ALSO REPORTED THAT A BOOK ENTITLED "MOVEMENT 5", AN ORGAN OF THE SUPERIOR COUNCIL OF THE MONTONEROS, WAS RECEIVED IN AN ENGINEERING AND

ACTIVITIES. SOURCE STATED THAT THE PRT/ERP STILL RETAIN A LIMITED ACTION CAPABILITY IN ARGENTINA. AT THE PRESENT TIME THEY ARE TRYING TO REBUILD POLITICAL ELEMENTS OF THEIR ORGANIZATION BUT THEY DONT HAVE SUFFICIENT SUPPORT CADRE TO CARRY OUT SERIOUS POLITICAL OPERATIONS. NORMALLY SUPPORT PERSONNEL WERE NOT DIRECT MEMBERS OF PRT AND ERP BUT SYMPATHIZERS DRAWN FROM THE GENERAL SYMPATHETIC MASSES. UNDER THE PRESENT CRISIS, THE ONLY SUPPORT PERSONNEL AVAILABLE MUST BE DRAWN FROM PRT/ERP RANKS.

4. SOURCE STATED THAT PRESENT PRT/ERP STRENGTH IN ARGENTINE IS APPROXIMATELY 150 WITH AN ADDITIONAL SMALL SUPPORT CADRE. THIS IS DOWN FROM THEIR PEAK STRENGTH OF 3500 IN THE MID 70S. OF THESE 3500, APPROXIMATELY 1300 WERE ERP COMBATANTS. THEY HAD A STRONG SUPPORT CADRE SYSTEM USED FOR LOGISTICS, PROPAGANDA AND RECRUITMENT. UNDER THE ORIGINAL PLAN, ARGENTINA HAD BEEN

[redacted]

DIVIDED INTO OPERATIONAL REGIONS, INCLUDING BUENOS AIRES REGION, THE PARANA REGION WITH ITS INDUSTRIAL COMPLEXES, THE CORDOBA REGION, ROSARIO REGION AND THE TUCUMAN REGION. THESE REGIONS WERE DIVIDED INTO ZONES AND SEVERAL ZONES INCLUDING SALTA DND NEUQUEN WERE SEPARATE FROM REGIONAL DIRECTION. THERE WAS ALSO A SPECIAL AREA AND COMPANY IN TUCUMAN, THAT WAS UNDER THE DIRECT COMMAND OF BUENOS AIRES. EACH REGION HAD A MILITARY STRUCTURE WITH MILITARY COMPANIES. THE COMPANIES CONSISTED OF APPROXIMATELY 70-90 PERSONS. THEY WERE DIVIDED INTO SQUADS AND THE SQUADS DIVIDED INTO CELLS OF 3-6 MEN. AT PRESENT, THIS STRUCTURE NO LONGER EXISTS. INDIVIDUAL ERP AND PRT MEMBERS ARE WORKING IN SMALL UNITS. HOWEVER, THE OVERALL VERTICAL DIRECTION OF THE MOVEMENT REMAINS STRONG, BUT THE CELLS WORK WITH LITTLE INTERFACE.

5. SOURCE STATED THERE HAVE BEEN NO MEETINGS OF THE

PRT/ERP NATIONAL CONGRESS OR CENTRAL COMMITTEE SINCE ITS LAST MEETING IN SAO PAULO IN FEBRUARY 1977. THE LAST MAJOR MEETING IN ARGENTINA WAS IN MORENO IN FEB 76 AND THAT INCLUDED PRT/ERP, TUPAMAROS, BOLIVIAN TERRORISTS AND THE CHILEAN MIR. THAT MEETING WAS RAIDED BY SECURITY FORCES AND THE ERP LOST THE CHIEF OF THEIR INTELLIGENCE STRUCTURE. EARLIER THIS YEAR, THE ERP ATTEMPTED TO INFILTRATE TWO LEADERS BACK INTO THE COUNTRY BUT THEY WERE CAPTURED.

6. SOURCE STATED THAT SINCE ROBERTO SANTUCHOS DEATH ON 7-19-76 THE PRINCIPAL PRT/ERP LEADERSHIP HAS LEFT THE COUNTRY AND OPERATE FROM ABROAD. THEIR MAIN EFFORTS HAVE BEEN AIMED AT OBTAINING SOLIDARITY WITH MARXIST GROUPS IN EUROPE. THEY ARE STILL OPERATING [redacted]

WITH THE LEADERS THAT VACATED ARGENTINA IN 1976 AND EARLY 1977. NORMALLY THE PRT/ERP MEMBERSHIP FOR EACH AREA ELECTS A DEPUTY TO THE NATIONAL CONGRESS ONCE EVERY THREE YEARS. THE NATIONAL CONGRESS DETERMINES THE GENERAL POSTURE OF THE PARTY AND CHOOSES THE 17-MEMBER CENTRAL COMMITTEE. THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE APPOINTS THE PERMANENT EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF APPROXIMATELY 11 MEMBERS WHO MEET EVERY THREE MONTHS. THIS EXEC. COMMITTEE APPOINTS MEMBERS OF THE POLITICAL AND MILITARY BUREAU. THIS PROCESS IS CALLED "DEMOCRATIC CENTRALISM." THE MOST IMPORTANT BUREAU AT PRESENT IS THE POLITICAL BUREAU. THE EXEC. COMMITTEE IS ALSO SUPPORTED BY FIVE INDEPENDENT UNITS; THE SOLIDARITY COMMITTEE, TWO POLITICAL SCHOOLS, A MILITARY SCHOOL IN ANGOLA AND THE LIAISION UNIT FOR OPERATIVE ACTIONS IN ARGENTINA. THE POLITICAL AND MILITARY SCHOOLS ARE PREPARING CADRE FOR RETURN TO ARGENTINA AT A PROPITIOUS TIME.

7. SOURCE STATED THAT THE PRESENT LEADER OF THE PRT/ERP IS SECY GENERAL ARNOLDO JUAN KREMER, AKA "CAPTAIN LUIS", AKA "LUIS MATINI." BORN 22 FEB 1941, ARGENTINE DOCUMENT LE 4736362. KREMER IS A STRONG SUPPORTER OF MAXIMIZING THE POLITICAL EFFORTS OF THE PRT. HE DISFAVORS MILITARY ACTIONS THAT UNNECESSARILY WASTER CADRE AND BELIEVES THAT SANTUCHO'S CRITICAL ERROR WAS TO WASTE ERP MEMBERS IN USELESS AND FUTILE COMBATS WITH THE ARGENTINE MILITARY FORCES. HOWEVER, HE DOES NOT

DISAVOW MILITARY ACTION BY PRT/ERP AS THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE ERP IS BASED ON THE "PROPAGANDA OF THE DEED." CONSEQUENTLY, SOME MILITARY ACTION MUST CONTINUE TO KEEP THE ERP IMAGE ALIVE IN ARGENTINA AND TO GIVE SUBSTANCE TO THEIR CADRE. HOWEVER, HIS MAIN ORIENTATION IS TOWARDS POLITICAL ACTIVITY WHEN AND IF THE CLIMATE IS RIPE FOR A MAXIMUM EFFORT IN ARGENTINA.
8. SOURCE STATED THE ERP, IN SPITE OF SERIOUS SETBACKS,

[redacted]

RETAIN THEIR VERTICAL CHAIN OF COMMAND AND THE LEADERS IN EUROPE ARE STILL COMPLETELY IN CONTROL OF THE MOVEMENT IN ARGENTINA. SOURCE STATED ERP MAINTAIN CADRE ALSO IN ITALY, SPAIN, CENTRAL AMERICA AND BRAZIL. THE CADRE IN BRAZIL IS QUITE LARGE AND PROVIDES A COVERT SUPPORT ELEMENT WITH A STRONG LINK TO THE MONTONERO TERRORISTS. THEY HELP COORDINATE ORDERS FROM THE POLITICAL BUREAU TO THE ARGENTINE MEMBERS AND ALSO ARE HELPFUL IN REMOVING AND INFILTRATING PRT/ERP MEMBERS INTO AND OUT OF ARGENTINA. HOWEVER, THE BRAZIL GROUP DOES NOT MAINTAIN A COMBATANT GROUP AS SUCH NOR DOES IT OPERATE OVERTLY AS PRT/ERP. SOURCE STATED THE ELEMENTS IN EUROPE, PARTICULARLY ITALY AND SPAIN, AND ENGAGED IN SOLIDARITY WORK AND IN ATTEMPTING TO DEVELOP POLITICAL SUPPORT WITH WORKERS. THIS IS PARTICULARLY SIGNIFICANT IN THE ITALIAN AUTOMOBIEL WORKS OF FIAT AND FERRARI. SOURCE STATED POLITICALLY THE PRT HAS

PURGED ITSELF OF ALL TROTSKYITE ELEMENTS AND IS A COMPLETELY MARXIST-LENINIST PARTY.

9. SOURCE STATED THAT PART/ERP CADRE IN ARGENTINA ARE UNDER-FINANCED. IN 1976 THEY OBTAINED A LOAN OF SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS FROM THE MONTONEROS BUT THAT WAS THE LAST MAJOR SOURCE OF CAPITALIZATION THE SECURITY SOURCES ARE AWARE OF. THEIR WEAPONS ARE OF POOR QUALITY AND MOST ARE REVOLVERS AND A FEW AUTOMATIC WEAPONS STOLEN FROM POLICE. THEY USE EXPLOSIVES WIDELY AND THEIR FAVORITE IS SIMILAR TO A CLAYMORE MINE WHICH IS OFTEN PLANTED UNDER CARS, ALONG SIDE OF BUILDINGS OR IN A CAR PARKED OUTSIDE OR INSIDE A BUILDING. THE MOST RECENT CASE WAS THE BOMBING ON MAY 11 IN THE SAN MARTIN THEATER IN BUENOS AIRES. AS A RESULT OF THIS OPERATIOIN, THE SECURITY FORCES ELIMINATED 27 MEMBERS OF THE PRT/ERP IN ADDITION TO THE USE OF EXPLOSIVES, ERP WHEN POSSIBLE UTILIZE AMBUSH OF TARGERS, USING 2-3 PEOPLE WITH AUTO-MATIC WEAPONS WORKING FROM A STOLEN VEHICLE. THIS GROUP [redacted]

[redacted]

IS GIVEN BACKUP SUPPORT BY SEVERAL PERSONS IN ANOTHER VEHICLE WHO MAY ALSO HAVE GRENADES. THIS ACTIVITY IS VERY LIMITED DUE TO THEIR LACK OF LOGISTICS AND SUPPORT PERSONNEL. AT PRESENT THE PRT/ERP CADRE ARE MADE UP OF YOUNG PEOPLE, WHO ARE NOT HIGHLY SKILLED AND NOT WELL INDOCTRINATED POLITICALLY. THEY HAVE MADE MANY SERIOUS MISTAKES IN OPERATIONS AND THEIR INTERNAL SECURITY IS POOR. ABOUT 20 PERCENT OF THEIR FORCES ARE MADE UP OF WOMEN. THEY HAVE ONLY LIMITED CAPABILITY FOR COMBATIVE ACTION AND IF THE GOVT MAINTAINS ITS PRESSURE ON THEM, EVENTUALLY THEY WILL BE ELIMINATED AS A POLITICAL TERRORIST ELEMENT IN ARGENTINA.

SUBJECT: HUMAN RIGHTS (ARGENTINA JUDICIAL SYSTEM)

SUMMARY: THE ARGENTINE SUPREME COURT (FEDERAL) RULED RECENTLY THAT FEDERAL COURTS OF FIRST INSTANCE (DISTRICT COURTS) SPECIALIZING IN CRIMINAL MATTERS HAVE THE RIGHT AND DUTY TO CHECK INTO AND CONTROL HUMANE CONDITIONS IN PRISONS, AS WELL AS THE WELFARE OF PRISONERS, EVEN THOSE HELD UNDER THE PEN (PODER EJECUTIVE NACIONAL).

1. FOR THE MOMENT, IT APPEARS THAT MY DISCUSSIONS WITH MEMBERS OF PROVINCIAL SUPREME COURTS AND THE ARGENTINE SUPREME COURT (FEDERAL) MAY BE BEARING SOME FRUIT. I HAVE HAD SESSIONS WITH AT LEAST EIGHT PROVINCIAL SUPREME COURT JUDGES AND AT LEAST THREE TALKS WITH FEDERAL SUPREME COURT JUDGES ON THE NEED TO GRANT SOME TYPE OF LEGAL REMEDY TO THOSE PRISONERS SERVING UNDER THE PEN (PODER EJECUTIVO NACIONAL). FOR THE MOST PART, JUDGES TOOK THE POSTURE THAT ALL COURTS LACKED JURISDICTION OR EVEN THE POWER TO REVIEW ANY CASE FALLING IN THE PEN CATEGORY.

2. MY POINTED QUESTION TO THE JUDGES HAS BEEN HOW IS IT POSSIBLE FOR PRISONERS TO REMAIN WITHOUT EFFECTIVE LEGAL REMEDY SOLELY ON THE BASIS OF BEING PEN PRISONERS. I

EXPLAIN THAT IN MY EXPERIENCE AS A FORMER SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE, DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND PRACTICING ATTORNEY, I JUST

UNCLASSIFIED

COULD NOT COMPREHEND THE LEGAL CONCEPT OF ENCARCERATION WITHOUT CHARGES OR WITHOUT ANY RESORT TO JUDICIAL PROCESS. I WOULD EMPHASIZE THAT SURELY ARGENTINA, A COUNTRY THAT HAS PRODUCED OUTSTANDING JURISTS, WOULD CERTAINLY BE EXPECTED, IN THE EYES OF THE WORLD, TO RESORT TO THE RULE OF LAW. THE DEPRIVATION OF LEGAL RECOURSE TO PRISONERS, UNDERMINES THE FRAMEWORK OF WHAT WAS ONCE AN EFFICIENT AND SOUND JUDICIAL SYSTEM.

3. THE JUDGES AVOIDED FACING REALITY BY ENGAGING IN PHILOSOPHICAL DISCUSSIONS ON HABEAS CORPUS, LEY DE AMPARO AND CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES. ALTHOUGH THE JUDGES WOULD HALF-WAY ADMIT THE INAPPLICABILITY OF THESE REMEDIES, THEY WOULD ALWAYS CONCLUDE BY SAYING THAT PEN WAS AN EXTRA-ORDINARY EXECUTIVE MEASURE AND WAS FULLY CONSTITUTIONAL. THE JUDGES STATED THEY WERE PRECLUDED FROM REVIEWING ANY EXECUTIVE ACT.

4. THE CHICKENS NOW COME HOME TO ROOST. RECENTLY, THE ARGENTINE FEDERAL SUPREME COURT RULED THAT WHEN A PETITION WAS FILED WITH A COURT, EVEN THOUGH IT MAY BE A PEN CASE, THE JUDGE HAD THE DUTY AND OBLIGATION TO INQUIRE INTO SANITARY CONDITIONS OF PRISONS, THE SAFETY AND WELFARE OF PRISONERS, AND CAUSES FOR ARREST. THE COURT WENT FURTHER, RULING THAT THE JUDGE HAD THE AUTHORITY TO SUMMON GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO ANSWER INTERROGATORIES SUBMITTED BY JUDGES.

5. THIS ACTION CAME ABOUT AFTER A PETITION WAS FILED IN FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT NO. 5 IN BUENOS AIRES CONCERNING A PEN CASE. THE DISTRICT JUDGE DISMISSED THE PETITION ALLEGING LACK OF JURISDICTION OVER PEN MATTERS. HE ORDERED THE CASE SUBMITTED TO AN [redacted]

ADMINISTRATIVE TRIBUNAL. BUT ON APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT, THE LOWER COURT WAS OVERRULED. BASING ITS DICTA ON ARTICLE 629 OF THE ARGENTINE CRIMINAL PROCEDURAL CODE (TITLE VI, VOLUME V), THE SUPREME COURT HELD THAT THE COURTS DO HAVE INHERENT JUDICIAL POWERS TO INVESTIGATE THOSE MATTER OF AN URGENT AND JUDICIAL NATURE. ONCE THE INHERENT POWERS OF THE LOW COURT HAD BEEN UTILIZED, THE COURT COULD MAKE AN ASSIGNMENT TO ANOTHER TRIBUNAL. BY THIS PROCESS JUSTICE COULD BE SERVED.

6. THE COURT'S FULING COINCIDED WITH ARTICLE 18 OF THE ARGENTINE CONSTITUTION, PROVIDING THAT "JAILS OF THE NATIONAL SHALL BE HUMANE AND CLEAN, FOR THE SAFETY OR PRISONERS AND NOT FOR THEIR PUNISHMENT. ALSO, THAT ANY MEASURE REQUIRED TO FULFILL THESE ENDS SHOULD BE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF AN AUTHORIZING JUDGE.

7. THE COURT ALSO MENTIONED ARTICLE 683 OF FEDERAL PROCEDURAL CRIMINAL CODE WHICH MADE JUDGES RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SAFETY, HEALTH AND WELFARE OF PRISONERS; THAT PRISONERS BE PROPERLY CARED FOR; THAT FOOD BE PLENTIFUL AND WHOLESOME; TREATMENT OF PRISONERS MUST BE IN ACCORDANCE OF EXISTING REGULATIONS; ALSO PRISONERS MUST NOT BE SUBJECTED TO UNUSUAL AND CRUEL METHODS OF PUNISHMENT. REMITTING JUDGES 'JUECES DE INSTRUCCION) ARE AUTHORIZED TO VISIT PRISONS FOR THE PURPOSE OF SATISFYING THEMSELVES OF PRISON CONDITIONS AND LISTEN TO COMPLAINTS FROM PRISONERS.

8. COMMENT: AS IN MOST CIVILIZED COUNTRIES, A FEDERAL SUPREME COURT DECISION IS TANTAMOUNT TO BEING "THE LAW OF THE LAND". IT IS THE COURT OF LAST RESORT. ARGENTINA IS NO DIFFERENT IN ITS JUDICIAL STRUCTURE.
WE ARE HOPEFUL THAT THIS DECISION WILL BE TAKEN TO HEART BY LOWER COURTS. THE RULING CERTAINLY OPENS THE

[redacted]

[redacted]

DOOR FOR MORE HUMANE TREATMENT OF PRISONERS AS WELL AS A POSSIBLE RETURN TO RULE OF LAW. IT IS TOO EARLY TO JUMP TO OPTIMISTIC CONCLUSIONS, BUT THE SUPREME COURT DECISION IS A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

Most of this information is based on our cable traffic, in particular a round-up report of the Embassy of June 9 covering the period until May 31 and cables thereafter.

1. Torture and other Police and Military Abuse

In May, our Embassy reported that "physical torture continues to be used regularly during the interrogation of suspected terrorists and so-called 'criminal subversives' who do not fully cooperate."

On June 9, the Embassy reported that "the Red Cross' major concerns at present are the physical abuses directed against political prisoners in La Plata Prison, the disappearance of the prisoners at the time of their release and guard brutality during inter-prison transfers." The Embassy also reported that a Time correspondent informed them that persons apprehended in connection with having placed a bomb in the San Martin Cultural Center parking basement "died under interrogation soon after their arrest."

With respect to Hargindeguy's May 3 speech about bringing the police (and military) under control, the Director of Internal Security in the Ministry of Interior, Col. (Ret.) San Roman told the Embassy that Government efforts in this respect would take "a long year." (Police and military are being detained and investigated for abuse of authority, in particular kidnapping, bribery, robbing and stealing; no mention of homicide is made.) Torture continues

2. Disappearances

77 disappearances have been reported to the Embassy since the beginning of 1978. It reported a rise in April and May (10 in April and 18 in May).

Newsom in a report to Congress on June 7 on the question of acoounting for the disappeared, stated that "a satisfactory mechanism to deal with this question has not been established yet," although the Minister of Interior declared that such an effort would be made.

According to the June 9 cable, the human rights organizations who placed the list of 2,592 disappeared in La Prensa May 7, report a "large influx of new disapperance reports." They plan to publish a follow-up list after the World Cup ends.

Lot 81D208
Box 4963 (2/12)

There have also been reports that mothers of the Plaza staging marches in June on behalf of their disappeared relatives were broken up by the police and several detained.

3. New Arrests & Current Prisoners

The Embassy reported that from January-May 1978, 297 were added to PEN:

With regard to the 3,300 acknowledged PEN detainees, Newsom reported to Congress that while the Minister of Interior said steps would be taken to release or charge these prisoners, "neither President Videla nor the Minister of the Interior were willing to provide timetables or indicate when such releases actually might take place."

With regard to disappearances of released prisoners, the Embassy reported that the Minister of Interior instructed all penal facilities in early May not to release prisoners after 1800 hours and to notify families of releases and encourage them to meet the prisoners. However, the Embassy received a report from a human rights organization member in June that "a PEN prisoner refused to leave La Plata prison late at night in early May. Prison officials,..responded that his refusal would be taken out on the prisoner's wife, who has been missing for a number of months."

4. Right of Option

From January to May, 27 were allowed to leave under the right of option. The total for May was 2. The Embassy reported that the Presidential Right of Option Advisory Council is reportedly to speed this up; by mid-May over 300 petitions had been received.

The GOA has rejected ICEM participation in the right of option program, to be challenged by our and other Governments in Europe.

5. Special Interest Cases

a) Timerman, under house arrest, is undergoing "a long drawn out investigation" of his capital assets. (According to Tex, everyone knows that Timerman is clear financially.) There is increased concern regarding his safety. Over 50 policemen are guarding him. The Ministry of Interior has permitted only his immediate family, rabbi and the Israel Ambassador visitation rights; his lawyer has not been allowed to see him nor any doctor.

b) Liliana Deutsch remains detained and was transferred from Cordoba penitentiary to a nearby military camp to prevent her being interviewed by the ICRC.

c) Alfredo Bravo, leader of the Argentine Teacher's Union and Co-President of the Permanent Association for Human Rights remains detained (now 9 months).

d) Adolfo Perez Esquivel, recently nominated for the Nobel Prize, remains detained, reportedly without charge.

Persecution of Lawyers

The Embassy reported in June that on April 15, the Buenos Aires Bar Association issued a statement deploring the recent assassinations of 2 lawyers, one a prominent labor lawyer Juan Carlos Deghi.

Religious Freedom

To date, none of the following religious sects have been granted official registration as required under Decree Law 21475: the Jehovah's Witnesses, Krishna Consciousness Movement, Divine Light Mission, Center of Inner Religion.

Five members of the American Knights of Fire (CAHF) are detained for alleged dissemination of "disassociative ideas." Some members of the Center of Inner Religion may still be in detention. Jehovah's Witnesses are forbidden from holding public meetings, publishing materials or conducting house to house preaching. They and the other sects have been harassed and arrested; all the Witnesses to date are released from prison.

Unconfirmed reports from Israel were presented to our Embassy about anti-semitic acts, in particular special mistreatment of Jewish political prisoners and anti-Jewish slogans on Jewish stores.

Press Freedom

The Argentine Press Association on April 1 protested the continued detention of 14 journalists without charge; the intervention by military authorities against 3 Argentine newspapers, including La Opinion; the disappearances of 8 journalists; the suspension of the Buenos Aires evening paper La Razon. On April 25, the Association protested the 3-day shut down of La Opinion and Cronica. A June 13 Embassy cable reported the disappearance of editor Julian Jose Delgado (El Cronista Comercial and Mercado) although it is unclear to the Embassy whether the disappearance was due to illness and nervous breakdown.

The GOA has repealed two Peronist decrees that had hampered the operationof foreign news agencies in Argentina(by barring the publication or braodcast in Argentina of stories about Argentina writtenby foreign news agencies.)

Trade Union Rights

In addition to trade union disappeared and detained, and prohibitions on trade union activities, The GOA in reply to the ILO, provided "no information concerning those individuals asked about for whom 'there exists no arrest order nor are (officially) detained.'" This was reported by our Embassy June 14.

This year, unlike last, the Argentine labor movement will be represented at the annual meeting of the ILO. However, according to the Latin America Political Report, this occurred after the GOA threatened to send a delegation from groups faithful to it. It represents no improvement in labor union rights.

SUBJ: W/W : UNCONFIRMED REPORT OF DETENTION OF U.S. CITIZEN

REF: SANTIAGO 4525 (NOTAL), 77 SANTIAGO A-4, 77 SANTIAGO 2691

1. WE HAVE RECEIVED A REPORT THAT A UNITED STATES CITIZEN, DAVID ROBERTSON, IS BEING DETAINED WITHOUT CHARGES AT COLONIA DIGNIDAD, PARRAL, IN CHILE. THUS FAR WE HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO CONFIRM HIS DETENTION OR PRESENCE IN CHILE.

2. ON JUNE 13, A CHILEAN WHO WOULD NOT IDENTIFY HIMSELF VISITED THE DIRECTOR OF THE PEACE CORPS IN CHILE TO REPORT THAT HE HAD JUST BEEN RELEASED FROM DETENTION BY CHILEAN AUTHORITIES AT COLONIA DIGNIDAD AND THAT AN AMERICAN BY THE NAME OF DAVID ROBERTSON HAS BEEN UNDER DETENTION THERE, WITHOUT CHARGES, FOR ELEVEN DAYS AND HAS NOT BEEN MISTREATED. HE IDENTIFIED ROBERTSON AS 20 TO 30 YEARS OF AGE, ABOUT FIVE FEET ELEVEN INCHES, BLONDE, GREY EYES, BORN IN OR FROM CALIFORNIA, AND A FORMER ECONOMICS STUDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA. HE ADDED THAT ROBERTSON HAD PREVIOUSLY VISITED CHILE ABOUT EIGHT YEARS AGO AS AN EXCHANGE VISITOR. THE CHILEAN BELIEVES THAT THE MAIDEN NAME OF ROBERTSON'S MOTHER IS O'SHEA. HE CLAIMS THAT

[redacted]

ROBERTSON IS A MEMBER OF AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL.

. THE INFORMANT REQUESTED MONEY FROM THE P/C DIRECTOR

TO CONTINUE HIS TRAVELS TO THE NORTH OF CHILE. THE RELIABILITY OF THE INFORMANT'S INFORMATION IS UNKNOWN.

4. COLONIA DIGNIDAD IS A CLOSED GERMAN COMMUNITY AND THERE HAVE BEEN PREVIOUS UNPROVEN REPORTS THAT IT HAS BEEN USED AS A SECURITY DETENTION FACILITY. GERMAN EMBASSY PERSONNEL HERE HAVE VISITED THE COLONIA ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS AND ARE SATISFIED THAT REPORTS OF ITS USE AS A DETENTION CENTER ARE FALSE.

5. WHILE UNKNOWN IF IT IS THE SAME PERSON, WE ARE HOLDING TWO PIECES OF PERSONAL MAIL ADDRESSED TO NICK (NICOLAS) ROBERTSON IN CARE OF THIS EMBASSY. A TELEGRAM IS DATED APRIL 14 FROM OJAI, CALIFORNIA, SIGNED "MOM" AND A LETTER RECEIVED APRIL 10 WITH THE RETURN ADDRESS: DREW ROBERTSON, [redacted] WHILE NOT ALARMING THE FAMILY, IT MIGHT PROVE HELPFUL IN KNOWING WHETHER "DAVID ROBERTSON" IS ACTUALLY "NICK OR NICOLAS ROBERTSON" AND WHETHER THE FAMILY HAS RECEIVED WORD FROM NICK ROBERTSON CONCERNING HIS MOST CURRENT WHEREABOUTS AND, IF STILL ABROAD, HIS TRAVEL PLANS WITH DATES. THE DEPARTMENT MAY MERELY MENTION TO THE FAMILY ROBERTSON'S UNDELIVERED CORRESPONDENCE AND REQUEST HIS FORWARDING ADDRESS TO DELIVER HIS MAIL. IF NICK ROBERTSON'S PERSONAL DESCRIPTION AND BACKGROUND CORRESPOND WITH THE INFORMTION PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH TWO ABOVE, WE WOULD ALSO LIKE TO HAVE HIS FULL NAME, MOTHER'S MAIDEN NAME, DPOB, AND PASSPORT DATA. B-6

6. THE CHILEAN REPORTING ROBERTSON'S DETENTION STATES [redacted]

THAT HE, ROBERTSON, ENTERED CHILE BY LAND FROM SOUTHERN ARGENTINA. WE HAVE CHECKED GOC IMMIGRATION FILES OF FIVE SOUTHERN PORTS OF ENTRY FOR THE MONTH OF MAY WITH NEGATIVE RESULTS CONCERNING ROBERTSON'S ENTRY FROM ARGENTINA. THE CHILEAN POLICE (CARABINEROS) IN PARRAL DISCLAIMED ANY KNOWLEDGE OF ROBERTSON'S WHEREABOUTS AND THEY CHECKED ALL THE HOTELS IN PARRAL WITH NEGATIVE RESULTS. A TELEGROM HAS BEEN SENT TO AMEMBASSY, BUENOS AIRES, FOR ANY RECORD OF DAVID OR NICK ROBERTSON IN THEIR CONSULAR FILES.

7. BEFORE INITIATING A FORMAL REQUEST TO THE GOC FOR AN INVESTIGATION OF ROBERTSON'S WHEREABOUTS BASED ON AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT OF UNKNOWN RELIABILITY, WE WOULD APPRE-

8. PLEASE ADVISE SOONEST.

DECAPTIONED

E.O. 11652 GDS
TAGS SHUM, AR
SUBJECT AMBASSADOR AND GEN. VIOLA DISCUSS HUMAN RIGHTS CASES

REF: BUENOS AIRES 4636

I SAW ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF ROBERTO VIOLA EVENING JUNE 15 AND RAISED THE FOLLOWING INTEREST CASES WITH HIM:
A. LILIANA DEUTSCH. I SPECULATED WHETHER GENERAL MENENDEZ, THIRD CORPS COMMANDER BASED IN CORDOBA, MIGHT BE THE STUMBLING BLOCK TO LILIANA'S RELEASE AND ASKED GENERAL VIOLA WHAT COULD BE DONE ABOUT THAT. HE REPLIED THAT HE HAD DISCUSSED THIS CASE WITH MENENDEZ AND SAID THAT "MENENDEZ MAY BE SLOWLY COMING AROUND. I THINK MAYBE LILIANA DEUTSCH CAN AT SOME POINT BE RELASED." (COMMENT: I TRIED TO ADD SOME FUEL TO THIS FIRE WITH MENENDEZ AS A RESULT OF A TRIP I MADE RECENTLY TO CORDOBA.)
B. JACOBO TIMERMAN. VIOLA AND I TALKED PHILOSOHICALLY ABOUT "NATIONALIST ATTITUDES," AND I SUGGESTED THAT FIERCE NATIONALISM CAN GET IN THE WAY OF WHAT A COUNTRY ACTUALLY NEEDS TO DO FOR ITSELF. THE TIMERMAN CASE SEEMS TO BE ONE IN WHICH "NATIONALIST" SENTIMENT IS KEEPING THE GOVERNMENT FROM DOING OBVIOUSLY THE RIGHT THING: LETTING TIMERMAN GO. VIOLA CHIMED IN BY SAYING THAT THE TEST OF NATIONALISM MUST BE WHETHER AN ACT IS IN THE BEST INTEREST OF THE NATION. HE WAS CRITICAL OF SOME OF HIS ARMY FRIENDS DUE TO THEIR FLAG-WAVING TACTICS, WHICH WERE NOT IN THE BEST INTEREST OF ARGENTINA. HE PLACED THE TIMERMAN CASE IN THAT CATEGORY.

[redacted]

(COMMENT: I RAISED THE TIMERMAN CASE ALSO AT A RECENT CALL ON THE PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT AND WAS GIVEN AN

"ENCOURAGING" REPLY, BUT THE FACT SEEMS TO BE THAT THE COMMISSION INVESTIGATING TIMERMAN'S WORLDLY HOLDINGS SEEMS TO BE GRINDING FINE AND SLOWLY.)
C. ALFREDEO BRAVO. VIOLA SEEMED SURPRISED BRAVO HAS NOT BEEN LET GO. (COMMENT: ALL THE NEWSPAPERS LAST WEEKEND SAID HE WOULD BE SENT OUT TO HOUSE ARREST AT ANY MOMENT.) I TOLD HIM WE WERE TOO.
D. PEREZ ESQUIVEL. I MENTIONED THIS CASE BUT GOT NO FIRM REPLY.
E. JULIAN JOSE DELGADO. VIOLA EXPRESSED COMPLETE MENT ABOUT THIS EDITOR OF "CRONISTA COMERCIAL" AND "MERCADO," WHOM THERE WAS NO "SECURITY" INTEREST, A REPUTABLE JOURNALIST AND A FRIEND OF THE CURRENT REGIME. VIOA SAID HE HAS NO REPEAT NO INFORMATION ON WHAT MAY HAVE HAPPENED TO DELGADO.

2. RIGHT OF OPTION. I RAISED THIS TOO, IN CONNECTION WITH THE NEW PAROLE QUOTA WE WERE INFORMED OF OFFICIALLY JUST YESTERDAY (JUNE 15). VIOLA ADMITTED THAT THE OPTION PROGRAM HAD BOGGED DOWN BUT CITED BUREAUCRATIC REASONS -- NOT ONES HAVING TO DO WITH PHILOSOPHY OR A TOUGH POLICY. TOO MANY PEOPLE WERE IN THE ACT, HE SAID, AND SYSTEM WAS AT THIS POINT LOADED SO THAT ONE MAN COULD BLOCK A RELEASE. WHAT WOULD HELP, VIOLA SAID, WOULD BE TO HAVE ONE STRONG MAN RUNNING THE WHOLE THING. (COMMENT: IT SEEMS TO US THOUGH THAT THE SYSTEM WAS DELIBERATELY SET UP TO SPREAD AROUND RESPONSIBILITY FOR WHAT COULD BE A HOT ISSUE -- FOR EXAMPLE, IF A KNOWN TERRORIST GOT THROUGH THE OPTION NETWORK AND WENT ABROAD TO RESUME ACTIVITY AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT IT WOULD GO HARD ON ANY ONE PERSON WHO MADE THE DECISION IN HIS FAVOR.

1. THANK YOU VERY MUCH FOR YOUR LETTER REGARDING THE CASE OF HORACIO OSCAR SARAGOVI. AS YOU MAY KNOW, I MET WITH MR. AND MRS. SARAGOVI EARLY THIS YEAR AND CONTINUE TO FOLLOW THEIR SON'S CASE WITH INTEREST AND CONCERN.

2. AT THE PRESENT TIME, MR. SARAGOVI HAS APPEALED THE ARGENTINE MILITARY COURT'S DECISION TO THE SUPREME COURT, CLAIMING A NUMBER OF PROCEDURAL AND SUBSTANTIVE ERRORS IN HIS MILITAR
Y TRIAL.RECENTLY, THE ARGENTINE SOLICITOR GENERAL PRESENTED THE GOVERNMENTS BRIEF TO THE COURT ADVOCATING THAT MR. SARAGOVI'S DECISION BE UPHELD. AS THIS MATTER IS NOW BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT IT WOULD BE INAPPROPRIATE FOR ANY FURTHER INTERVENTIN TO BE MADE AT THIS TIME. HOWEVER, I HAVE AND WILL CONTINUE TO RAISE THIS CASE IN MY CONTACTS WITH MEMBERS OF THE ARGENTINE EXECUTIVE. IN THAT REGARD IT WOULD BE VERY USEFUL FOR THE EMBASSY TO HAVE A COPY OF THE PETITION REQUESTING MR. SARAGOVI'S RELEASE, WHICH

Mr. S. Harrison Dogole

Dear Mr. Dogole:

Thank you for your April 26 letter to Robert J. Lipshutz, who has provided a copy to Secretary Vance, concerning the situation of the Jewish community in Argentina. I have been asked to respond.

On numerous occasions the Department has expressed its concern to the Argentine Government about reports of anti-Semitism in that country. When Secretary Vance was in Argentina in November of last year, the question was discussed. Our Ambassador continues to stress to the Argentines our concern over these reports. Argentine government officials have responded to our concern by noting they strenuously oppose anti-Semitism, that it is not Argentine Government policy and that specific legislation has been passed which makes it a punishable offense to incite racial hatred or violence.

Although there are still anti-Semitic magazines published in Argentina, the incidences of open anti-Semitic activities -- swastikas painted on synagogues, threats to Jewish leaders -- which occurred in 1976 and early 1977 have greatly decreased. The present major concern of U.S. Jewry is the reports of discriminatory treatment meted out to some Jews who are imprisoned in Argentina. We have heard that certain jailers berate prisoners and treat them more harshly than gentile prisoners. Our concern over these reports has been conveyed to the Argentine authorities.

In the case of Jacobo Timerman, the United States has made repeated efforts on his behalf. President Carter raised his case with Argentine President Videla when the latter was in Washington for the Panama Canal Treaties signing Ceremony, and Secretary Vance reviewed his case in detail when he visited Argentina in late November. Since then, our Ambassador and Department officials have continued to press for an early resolution of Mr. Timerman's case. At present, he is under house arrest.

The Administration believes stongly that human rights must be a cornerstone of foreign policy. The inquiries and representations which we have made in Argentina on behalf of thousands of disappeared and detained individuals are an example of U.S. actions to strengthen human rights.

In addition, a number of actions have been taken by the United States to convey to the Argentines how strongly committed we are to human rights -- grant military training for Argentina has been withdrawn, arms sales have been held back, and we have linked our vote in the International Financial Insitutions to the Argentine record on human rights. The Argentines are fully aware that improvement in our relations is dependent on their observance of human rights. Indeed, the Congress has now legislated, as part of the Foreign Assistance Act, that there will be no new arms transfers to Argentina without major human rights improvements.

Sincerely,

Robert W. Zimmermann, Director
Office of East Coast Affairs

I am aware that your Organisation is carrying out the painful but noble task of relieving the suffering of parents of young people, victims of the ideological plague , which is oppressing us all, often causing their unfair emprisonment and of whom we do not even know whether they are still alive.

This is the case of my nephew DANIEL ALFARO VAZQUEZ, 30, Uruguayan, but residing in Buenos Aires (Argentina), who on August 11 1977, was abducted from his home, calle Rincón 211, Buenos Aires, by allegedly members of the Argentine Security Forces.

Since then, i.e. since nine months, his mother, his wife and his child know nothing about his fate and suffer hopelessly in that state of distress, brought about by tragic uncertainty and moral annihilation.

This young man Daniel Alfaro Vázquez is not a terrorist. At most he sympathyses with those who preach the immediate implementation of the utopies that people would actually like to see at work.

I would ask you to kindly do whatever is within the range of your possibilities to let me know whether my nephew is alive. You may undesstand how this would soothen his mother's and his wife's distress.

May God inspire you !

Yours faithfully

Dear Ms. Derrian;

This is the fourth letter I have written to your office requesting that you take action in the case of Professor Vincente Palomino Benitez of Chile, arrested by agents for DINA, the Chilean secret police, on December 16, 1974.

No word has been heard since from Professor Benitez. As the enclosed letter I received from his father states, the Chilean authorities have given the family no news of their son, and have harassed Sr. Benitez' 73 year old father from his apartment. Professor Benitez was seen three times since the date of arrest, always in the custody of the police. His family was not allowed to talk with him. That was three years ago. He has not been seen since.

I continue to request that you demand an explanation of this gross violation of human rights from the present Chilean authorities, and that you follow up and provide me with whatever information you obtain from them regarding Professor Benitez.

Sincerely.

MEMO TO THE FILE

June 28, 1978

SUBJECT: Conversation with Vicariate Lawyer Alejandro Gonzalez

I quizzed Gonzalez on the case of seven people -- including two ladies identified as Vicariate collaborators -- arrested June 22 in Peñaflor by GOC authorities for "political activity" and/on the matter of "sobreseimientos".

At 1000 hours, June 22 Gonzalez relayed the following on the Peñaflor case:/Carabineros arrested seven people in Peñaflor after receiving a complaint that the group was carrying out political activity. The group, which incl ed Paulina Leonides Silva Donoso and Marta Betsabé Vega Patri -- both collaborators of the Vicariate's Campesino Department -- were passing out questionaires soliciting tecnical information (yield of the soil, annual rainfall, etc) from the campesinos and owners of small plots. The information was solicited to enable the Vicariate to determine what technical assistance it could best afford these people. In the evening, CNI officials took custody of the group, handcuffed and blindfolded them and took them to an undisclosed location for interrogation . The seven were not physically abused during the time they were under arrest. They were released at ± 2200 hours June 23 -- 36 hours after they were picked up -- without any charges formulated against them . The Vicariate, which instituted a writ of habeas corpus June 23, still has judicial action pending, hoping that some action will be taken against responsible for ordering the arrest as well as deterring similar future GOC "harassment" against its people who work with campesinos. Meanwhile, the Vicariate's work in the rural areas will continue.

On "sobreseimientos" -- court closure of cases -- Gonzalez stated tha there are over 200 requests by the lower courts (juzgados) to the Courts of Appeal for sobreseimientos. The reasoning is that, as the Amnesty decreed April 18 pardons many crimes committed between Sept. 11, 1973 and March 10, 1978, on-going investigations in connection with these crimes no longer have any relevance and should [illegible] as a consequenc their judicial actions pr anted on behalf of disa peared relatives will be suspended or terminated and that, not onl will the fate of the disappeared not ever be known, but legal actio against those causing the disappearance -- GOC security service personnel-- will likewise never be taken. The relatives have thus argued that their relatives' disappearance constitutes "kidnapping (see Santiago _____) , which is a continuing crime, and therefore does not come under the amnesty. The Appeals Courts judges -- unlike the lower court judges -- accept this thesis by and large, said Gonzalez (Comment: Also told to me by ~~Confirmed/in a chat with~~ a leading Santia Court of Appeals judge) and are ruling against sobreseimientos . Gon zalez said that in nine recent Vicariate cases for "definitive sobre seimiento" (permanent closure), only one had been approved. The othe eight were rejected and investigations are continuing. He added that the judges may opt for temporary, as opposed to permanent, closure, with the vast majority of the 200+ cases pending calling for permanent closure. Gonzalez stated that, while most of the cases involved those of the disappeared, there were other cases (see the case of Osvaldo Figueroa of Villa Mexico fame) as well The Vicariate has not compiled stats on the sobreseimiento cases, I hope to do so in a couple of weeks. According to Gonzalez, other pressing requirements -- involving legal actions in on-going cases- have handicapped them in this regard.

SUMMARY: OASGA ACTION JULY 1 WAS IN CRITICAL HUMAN RIGHTS FIELD IN JURIDICAL-POLITICAL COMMITTEE AND IN PLENARY SESSIONS WHICH GAVE APPROVAL TO RESOLUTIONS DISCUSSED AND VOTED IN VARIOUS COMMITTEES. FIFTH PLENARY SESSION (LATE MORNING) WENT RAPIDLY. SIXTH PLENARY IN PROGRESS AND CLOSING SESSION WILL OCCUR LATE EVENING. END SUMMARY.

1. TO COMPLETE CHRONOLOGICAL RECORD OF COMMITTEE I ACTIVITIES, TERRORISM AGENDA ITEM WAS TREATED IN ILL-HUMORED DEBATE WHICH CONCLUDED COMMITTEE I'S ACTIVITIES JUNE 30. THIS ISSUE PITTED CARIBBEANS, LED BY JAMAICA (RATTRAY), AGAINST MOST OF LATINS. PRINCIPAL CARIBBEAN CONCERN WAS THAT RESOLUTION SHOULD NOT APPEAR TO CONDEMN WHAT THEY DESCRIBED AS JUST EFFORTS OF "PEOPLES STRUGGLING AGAINST INSTRUMENTALITIES OF OPPRESSION", E.G., AS IN SOUTHERN AFRICA. JAMAICA AND SURINAM OFFERED AMENDMENTS TO DRAFT RESOLUTION REPORTED BY WORKING GROUP, DESIGNED TO SOFTEN CONDEMNATION OF TERRORISM CONTAINED IN "WHEREAS" CLAUSE. THESE WERE ABSTAINED TO DEATH 8-14 AND 9-14 [redacted] US IN FAVOR). COMMITTEE THEN PASSED TEXT OF [redacted]OLUTION WITH AMENDMENT BY GUATEMALA 23 TO 1 WITH ONE "NO PARTICIPATION VOTE FROM SURINAM'S KARAMAT, WHO PROCEEDED TO LEAVE MEETING IN HUFF. DEBATE ON

4. AFTER STATEMENTS, COMMITTEE I PROCEEDED TO VOTE ON HUMAN RIGHTS RESOLUTIONS. RESOLUTION ON ANNUAL REPORT WAS APPROVED BY LOPSIDED MARGIN OF 21 YES ZERO ABSTENTIONS AND THREE NOS (ARGENTINA, BRAZIL, AND URUGUAY). RESOLUTION AS PASSED THANKS IAHRC FOR ITS REPORT; NOTES WITH SATISFACTION RECENT RATIFICATIONS OF PACT OF SAN JOSE AND INVITES MEMBER STATES WHICH HAVE NOT DONE SO TO RATIFY; RECOMMENDS ADOPTION OF MEASURES 'TO PRESERVE AND MAINTAIN THE FULL EFFECTIVENESS OF HUMAN RIGHTS'; CALLS UPON GOVERNMENT OF CHILE TO CONTINUE TO PUT INTO PRACTICE MEASURES TO PRESERVE HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE, COOPERATE WITH THE IAHRC AND GRANT NECESSARY GUARANTEES TO INDIVIDUALS WHO COOPERATE WITH IAHRC; AND REQUESTS INTER-AMERICAN JURIDICAL COMMITTEE TO PREPARE DRAFT INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION MAKING TORTURE AN INTERNATIONAL CRIME.

5. COMMITTEE NEXT VOTED TO APPROVE RESOLUTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN URUGUAY, WHICH PASSED BY VOTE OF 16 YES 8 ABSTENTIONS (ARGENTINA, BOLIVIA, BRAZIL, CHILE, EL SALVADOR, HAITI, NICARAGUA, PARAGUAY) AND URUGUAY OPPOSED. SUBSEQUENT VOTE ON SIMILAR RESOLUTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN PARAGUAY LED TO SAME RESULT, EXCEPT THAT PARAGUAY AND URUGUAY SWITCHED FROM ABSTAIN TO NO VOTES, RESPECTIVELY. TEXTS OF RESOLUTIONS WILL BE CABLED SEPTEL.

6. COMMITTE I THEN VOTED US-SPONSORED RESOLUTION ON "PROMOTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS" (SUBSTANTIALLY AS IT APPEARS IN USDEL 11) BY VOTE 21 YES, 3 ABSTENTIONS (BRAZIL, ARGENTINA AND URUGUAY) AND NONE AGAINST.

7. AS FINAL HUMAN RIGHTS ITEM, COMMITTEE TOOK UP COSTA RICAN RESOLUTIONS REGARDING SEAT OF INTER-AMERICAN COURT OF HUMAN RIGHTS, WHICH WILL COME INTO EXISTENCE UNDER PACT OF SAN JOSE, AND LEGAL STATUS OF IAHRC UNDER TRANSITION TO PACT. GOCR REQUEST TO HAVE COURT LOCATED IN SAN JOSE PASSED BY ACCLAMATION BUT SEVERAL DELEGATIONS EXPRESSED DOUBTS OF LEGAL CHARACTER ABOUT DRAFT RESOLUTION ON TRANSITIONAL STATUS OF IAHRC. THIS RESOLUTION WAS REFERRED TO PERMANENT COUNCIL FOR STUDY. PRESIDENT (AGUILAR) AND SECRETARY GENERAL OF IAHRC PRIVATELY EXPRESSED TO USDEL THEIR SATISFACTION WITH THIS OUTCOME.

[redacted] years of age and a /identified ex-labor leader had asked to see someone in POL. To the point, he stated that he knew first hand that all the disappeared were dead. [redacted] claimed that his brother-in-law, said to be ex-DINA and CNI employed, had told him countless stories of torture and mistreatment of prisoners by the GOC security forces. According to the brother-in-law, most of the horror took place in a place known as Rinconada Lo Cerda, situated near Talagante, a town 39 kms from Santiago on the road to San Antonio. Here the security forces reportedly took people for interrogation -- and eventual death. Of the many stories told by [redacted] one stands out in my mind: Late November 1977, four youths -- three males and one female -- were taken for interrogation in Rinconada Lo Cerda. Afterward, they were told they were free to go, to make it back to the main road rapidly, on foot. When the four were about 100 meters away, GOC personnel manning machine guns opened fire, killing the three men. The girl, horrified, knelt, pleading for her life. A uniformed GOC official approached her and suddenly launched a grenade near her. She also died.

[redacted] claimed to have worked for a company (empresa conservera) thought to be sympathetic to Allende in 1971-72. After the coup, he was briefly detained and later released without charge. He stated that he was arrested by FACH people on December 9, 1977, physically roughed up, and released the next day. On March 14 of this year, an unidentified man approached him on the street, warned him to "behave" (read stay away from opposition groups) and then walked off. [redacted] has not been bothered since. He claims he knows about GOC harassment and physical abuse of labor union people and intimated he might be interested in talking to Ed. I told him I would pass it on.

COMMENT: [redacted] visit is not provocation, I am convinced. He sounded sincere and somewhat relieved to "get it off his chest". [redacted] stated repeatedly that there were few places in Chile where one could speak openly. He credited his brother-in-law's DINA association for keeping him alive. I expressed the thought that groups such as the Allana Commission should certainly have the opportunity to hear, investigate charges such as his.

[redacted]

STATIONS WERE REQUIRED TO PROVIDE EXTRA VEHICLE PATROL WITH REINFORCED CREWS TO ATTEMPT TO APPREHEND THE TERRORISTS INVOLVED IN THE ROCKET ATTACK.

3. THE FOLLOWING IS A RE-CAP OF THE ROCKET ATTACKS LAUNCHED AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT AND SECURITY FORCES DURING JUNE.

ON JUNE 10 THERE WAS A ROCKET ATTACK ON GOVT HOUSE. ON 6-13 THERE WAS A ROCKET ATTACK ON THE SUPERIOR TECHNICAL SCHOOL; 6/15, A ROCKET ATTACK ON THE NAVY MECHANIC SCHOOL; 6/18, A ROCKET ATTACK ON THE 601 INTELLIGENCE BN; 6/21, A ROCKET ATTACK ON THE OFFICE OF THE CMDR IN CHIEF OF THE 1ST ARMY CORPS. ADDITIONALLY, THERE WAS AN ATTACK ON THE COAST GUARD PREFECTURE ALBATROS, DATE UNKNOWN; 6/24, THERE WAS AN ATTACK ON THE FIRST REGIMENT IN PATRICIIOS; 6/25, THERE WAS A ROCKET ATTACK ON THE FEDERAL POLICE SUPERIOR OFFICERS SCHOOL; 6/28, THERE WAS A ROCKET ATTACK ON THE 43RD POLICE PRECINCT.

4. SECURITY FORCES BELIEVE THAT AN RPG-7 WAS USED IN ALL OF THE ATTACKS, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE ATTACK ON THE FIRST REGIMENT AT PATRICIOS. IN THAT INSTANCE, THE PROJECTILE WAS A MONTONERO G-40 AND THREE PROJECTILES WERE FIRED. THE TERRORISTS USED A PEUGEOT 504 OR 503 IN ALMOST ALL OF THESE ATTACKS. THE ATTACKS WERE LAUNCHED FROM A RANGE OF 120 METERS MINIUMUM AND 300 METERS MAXIMUM. SECURITY FORCES BELIEVE THERE ARE AT LEAST 13 MORE ROCKET GRENADES IN THE COUNTRY AND ANTICIPATE FURTHER INSTANCES OF THIS KIND. ALTHOUGH AT PRESENT THE MONTONEROS HAVE BEEN GREATLY WEAKENED BY THE COUNTER-REPRESSION, THEY STILL RETAIN THE CAPABILITY

FOR ROCKET ATTACKS AND FOR ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS
[redacted]

ONSOFT TARGETS AND WILL PROBABLY RETAIN THIS CAPABILITY UNTIL THE MIDDLE OF NEXT YEAR. SECURITY FORCES BELIEVE THAT THE MAIN MONTONERO EFFORTS ARE POLITICAL AND THAT THEIR OVERSEAS ACTIVITIES REPRESENT THEIR MOST IMPORTANT PROJECT.

1. Except for its perennial border and sovereignty problems with Chile, Brazil and Great Britain, Argentina's major foreign policy problems revolve around human rights. The GOA response to US sanctions and growing European public criticism has shifted somewhat in recent months. Previously, GOA tried to argue away human rights abuses as an unfortunate result of a dirty war and an exaggeration exploited by an international leftist campaign to discredit the government. Lately, however, GOA may be shifting towards a new tack: re-emphasizing ties with the Third World and even Communist countries as a counter-weight to US "rejection" over human rights. The motives are not entirely clear and are probably varied. Concerned with growing US and European pressure, GOA is seeking to expand its options and sources of foreign goods and support. How much its current approximation to the Third World is designed as a warning to the West or an effort to regain Western respect by promoting Argentina as a bridge or moderator to the Third World is not altogether clear. It could be, however, a technique to relegate the human rights issue to a less prominent plane in its foreign affairs.

2. Argentine human rights groups have told us that the strong, open and vocal efforts of the US on behalf of human rights have served as a model for their own activities in the country. The US position, they say, has strengthened the hand of those in the Argentine human rights movement who are working for a more open public [redacted] consideration of the problem.

/3. However, it is difficult to measure public opinion on the human rights issue, given the fact that there is a de facto military regime, a state of seige and press censorship in effect on questions related to terrorism. What does predominate in the media is a huffy defense of the national sovereignty with alternating degrees of xenophobic [redacted]emotion and sophistication. We believe that the human rights constituency in Argentina, i.e. those concerned about personal rights, is still quite thin, [redacted] full scope [redacted]. It may grow as the/[redacted] of the human rights violations that clandestinely have taken place seeps into the public mind, but this may be a protracted development because (among other reasons):

(A) human rights violations for many years have been a way of life here (although never on the scale of that experienced since the mid-1970s);

(B) the great mass of the population -- workers and Peronists included -- do not identify with the sons and daughters of the middle class who, in organizing the ERP and Montoneros, attempted to fob themselves off as proletariat.

4. For many Argentines, both those for and against the current government, talk about "personal rights" is a codeword for a broader and more important question -- the issue of a return to democratic institutions, which is seen as being symbiotically connected with that of personal rights. Leaders of the old political parties tell us -- quietly -- that they support our human rights policies, because they view the policy as contributing to the cause of an eventual return to democracy. (Their public pronouncements on personal rights have been few and gingerly, /however.) For these leaders, personal rights cannot be guaranteed until there is full restoration of democratic government. We note too that the government, when it talks about moving toward a restoration of "the rule of law", usually places this in the context of beginning the process of political redemocratization. (See Buenos Aires 5298 in which we argued for a posture that would permit us to plausibly deny to GOA officials that we were explicitly pushing now for a return to democratic forms in order not to prejudice what prospects there are for enhancement of personal rights by the current government -- which we see as continuing in power for the foreseeable future.)

5. Embassy should also note our belief that the enthusiastic reception which Videla received during and just after the Mundial was largely a demonstration of hurt nationalistic pride (in part manipulated) in reaction to the propaganda being mounted against the government and the Armed Forces from abroad on the human rights issue.

6. Partly to enhance his image, politically ambitious Admiral Massera is making a political issue out of certain limited aspects of the human rights question. The most vivid example of this was the recent press exchange between the Navy and the Army spokesman on whether or not to publish the names of Argentines killed by security forces in the anti-terrorism campaign. This is a most interesting development. Massera -- whose hands certainly are not clean -- could prove to be a motor mechanism for accelerating the political process and -- in the process -- opening up these sensitive issues to public view.

Mrs. Patricia Derian
Director
Human Rights Affairs
Department of State
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mrs. Derian:

It has come to my attention that towards the end of 1976 mothers, wives and grandmothers of persons who have been detained for political reasons in Argentina began to organize themselves to bring pressure on the military leadership of Argentina to determine the status of the political detainees in that country. It is my understanding that these women met in small groups every week in the central square of Buenos Aires' Plaza de Mayo in front of the "Rose House" in order to intercede for their relatives. There have been reports that they have been harrassed, arrested, imprisoned, and probably killed. I would appreciate it if you could provide me with information on this matter. If the allegations are, in fact, correct, what steps is our government taking in light of the Administration's human rights policy?

Sincerely,

Frank Church

SUBJECT: FRENCH PRESSURES ON ARGENTINA TO IMPROVE HUMAN RIGHTS

1. DURING JUNE 28 CESSEIRE (OF FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTRY) CALL ON ACTING ASSISTANT SECRETARY BUSHNELL FOR GENERAL REVIEW OF LATIN AMERICAN ISSUES, BUSHNELL INDICATED U.S. CONCERN WITH THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN ARGENTINA, ESPECIALLY CONTINUING DISAPPEARANCES AND THE INSUFFICIENT EFFORTS TO ACCOUNT FOR DISAPPEARED. HE ASKED FOR FRENCH VIEWS AND WHAT COULD BE DONE.

2. CESSEIRE SAID THE FRENCH HAVE SIMILAR CONCERNS. FRENCH PUBLIC IS MORE CONCERNED WITH ARGENTINE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION THAN ANY OTHER IN LATIN AMERICA.

3. BUSHNELL NOTED THAT U.S. IS HOLDING UP MILITARY EXPORTS AND EX-IM FINANCING. HE SAID SUCH ACTION IS NOT VERY EFFECTIVE IF OTHER COUNTRIES DO NOT DO LIKEWISE.

4. CESSEIRE REPLIED THAT HE IS AWARE OF THE DISCUSSIONS ON FINANCING WITH U.S. ECONOMIC MINISTER IN PARIS. HOWEVER, HE SAID FRANCE COULD GET LITTLE OR NO COOPERATION WITHIN THE EEC ON ARGENTINA. HE SAID THE EEC IMMEDIATELY AGREED WITH PRESSURE ON CHILE, WHICH WAS LESS IMPORTANT TO FRANCE; BUT EACH COUNTRY HAS SOME REASON, COMMERCIAL OR OTHERWISE, FOR GOING SLOW ON ARGENTINA.

5. BUSHNELL ASKED IF PARTIAL RESTRAINT ON FINANCING WHERE FEWER COUNTRIES MIGHT BE INVOLVED, FOR EXAMPLE ON JET AIRCRAFT, MIGHT BE FEASIBLE. CESSEIRE SHOWED INTEREST AND SAID THIS COULD BE DISCUSSED.

6. THIS DISCUSSION SUGGESTS THAT THE FRENCH HAVE RAISED THE POSSIBLE LIMITATION OF EXPORT CREDIT TO ARGENTINA WITHIN THE EEC WITHOUT RAISING IT WITH ARGENTIA. WOULD APPPECIATE ANY INDICATIONS ADDRESSEE POSTS HAVE OF SUCH DISCUSSION AND POSITIONS. ALSO WOULD APPRECIATE ANY VIEWS ADDRESSEES MAY HAVE ON THE FEASIBILITY OF A PAPTIAL EXPORT CREDIT RESTRAINT. ICRC Makes Quiet Rights Progress. Embassy Buenos Aires considers that the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) is making a major humanitarian contribution in Argentina. The ICRC has reached an agreement with the Argentines that permits it full, private, and free access to political prisoners, along with the right to make repeat visits to prisons and aid prisoners' families. ICRC officials also believe that they have made a major breakthrough by gaining access to prisoners whose detention has not been acknowledged by the government. Embassy sources report that there are under 500 such prisoners in military camps. According to the Embassy, the ICRC's work will help to establish more accurately the number of "disappeareds." The ICRC plans to publish soon a list of 800 well-documented disappearance cases. [redacted] Buenos Aires 5384, July 13)

INR Comment. The ICRC's success in visiting 50 unregistered political prisoners in Cordoba is particularly noteworthy. The army's Corps III, whose headquarters are in Cordoba, is commanded by General Luciano Menendez, a notorious hardliner on security questions. That the ICRC has been able to function in Menendez's bailiwick suggests a degree of internal government cooperation and coordination that often has been lacking in human rights/ security matters in the past. SUBJECT INTERVIEW WITH GENERAL VIOLA

1. THE EVENING OF JULY 18 I HAD A MEETING WITH GENERAL VIOLA AT MY REQUEST TO DISCUSS THE RESULTS OF MY TRIP TO WASHINGTON. AS USUAL, HE RECEIVED ME ALONE AT HIS OFFICE AT ARMY HQ. HE APPEARED AT EASE AND PLEASED AT THE PROSPECT OF SEVEN DAYS VACATION WHICH HE WILL BEGIN TODAY.

2. I BEGAN BY CONGRATULATING THE GENERAL ON HIS PROMOTION TO COMMANDER OF THE ARMY AND HIS PLEASURE AT THIS EVENT WAS OBVIOUS. OBSERVING THAT I HAD RECEIVED REPEATED TELEPHONE CALLS FROM COMMANDER I CORPS GENERAL SUAREZ MASON TO INVITE ME AND MEMBERS OF MY STAFF TO LUNCHEON, I INQUIRED IF HE COULD PROVIDE ANY EXPLANATION FOR THE GENERAL'S SUDDEN INTENSE INTEREST IN THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR. VIOLA INDICATED CURIOSITY ABOUT SUAREZ MASON'S INTENTIONS AND SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHAT MIGHT BE BEHIND IT ALL. HE HAD A FEW NICE THINGS TO SAY ABOUT SUAREZ MASON BUT DID NOT VOLUNTEER ANY INFORMATION ABOUT THE LATTER'S RETIREMENT WHICH IS VIRTUALLY TAKEN FOR GRANTED IN BUENOS AIRES. WHEN I MENTIONED HAVING RECEIVED A GRACIOUS LETTER FROM GENERAL MENENDEZ, COMMANDER III CORP, WHICH STATED THAT LILIANA DEUTSCH SHOULD BE RELEASED

SOON, VIOLA REACTED WITH SURPRISE AND SOME INDIGNATION SAYING, "SHE SHOULD HAVE BEEN TURNED LOOSE SOME TIME AGO."

3. PROGRESS ON HUMAN RIGHTS. I AGAIN REASSURED VIOLA THAT THE USG WAS NOT DEDICATED TO THE DESTRUCTION OF THE GOA, WE SIMPLY WANTED SOME SPECIFIC EVIDENCE OF PROGRESS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS FIELD WHICH WOULD PROVIDE US AN OPPORTUNITY TO DEMONSTRATE OUR APPREACIATION OF THAT PROGRESS. I REITERATED THAT AN INVITATION TO THE IAHRC WAS STRICTLY A BILTERAL MATTER BETWEEN THE GOA AND THE COMMISSION AND WE COULD NOT PARTICIPATE IN ARRANGEMENTS FOR A POSSIBLE VISIT. I ASKED VIOLA HOW HE SEES PROSPECTS FOR A VISIT BY THE IAHRC. VIOLA SAID THAT HE DID NOT SEE THAT A VISIT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE. THERE WERE TWO OR THREE OBJECTIONABLE ASPECTS OF THE COMMISSION'S CONDITIONS WHICH WOULD HAVE TO BE CLARIFIED OR WORKED OUT. HE THOUGHT THE GUARANTEE TO PROVIDE ANY AND ALL DOCUMENTATION REQUESTED WAS SIMPLY TO SWEEPING AND WOULD HAVE TO BE CLARIFIED. HE WAS CLEARLY OFFENDED THAT THE GOA WOULD BE ASKED TO MAKE A GUARANTEE OF NO REPRAISALS AGAINST THOSE INTERVIEWED BY THE COMMISSION. HE SAID THIS WOULD CERTAINLY BE OFFENSIVE TO ANY SELF-RESPECTING SOVEREIGN GOVERNMENT BUT THEN ADDED THAT THE OBJECTIVE SOUGHT SHOULD NOT BE A DETERRENT TO THE VISIT. COMMENTING ON THE REQUEST TO VISIT MILITARY PRISONS, VIOLA SAID HE THOUGHT THIS WAS A FOLISH REQUEST SINCE IF ANY MILITARY UNIT HAD PRISONERS IT WISHED TO HIDE IT COULD DO SO WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST DIFFICULTY. REFERRING TO THE GENERAL TOPIC OF AN IAHRC VISIT HE SAID THAT AS AN OFFICIAL OF A SOVEREIGN COUNTRY HE COULD HARDLY WELCOME AN INVESTIGATION FOR A FOREIGN AGENCY, BUT THAT HE UNDERSTOOD THAT SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES REQUIRED PARTICULAR FLEXIBILITY AND HE [redacted]

[redacted]

THOUGHT THE COMMISSION'S BASIC REQUIREMENTS COULD BE MET -- AT LEAST HE AND PRESIDENT VIDELA WERE GOING TO MAKE A CONCERTED EFFORT TO DO SO. HE SAID THAT THE SUBJECT WAS TOO URGENT TO AWAIT HIS RETURN AND THAT GENERAL BIGONE OF HIS STAFF WOULD BE IN TOUCH WITH ME IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

4. RELATIONS WITH FOREIGN OFFICE. I TOLD VIOLA I WOULD BE MEETING WITH ACTING FOREIGN MINISTER ALLARA ON JULY 19 AND ASKED IF HE HAD ANY GUIDANCE ON HOS THAT CONVERSATION SHOULD BE HANDLED. HE SAID I SHOULD BE COMPLETELY FRANK WITH ALLARA BUT NOT TO EXPECT TO MAKE

ANY PROGRESS. HE ADDED THAT IF ALLARA PROCEEDS TO GIVE ME A HARDLINE LECTURE, I SHOULD SIMPLY IGNORE IT.

5. JUNTA MEMBERS VISIT TO US. I EXPLAINED TO VIOLA THAT ADMIRAL MASSERA WOULD BE VISITING WASHINGTON LATER THIS MONTH AND THAT GENERAL AGOSTI WAS SEEKING A VISIT WITH HIS US COUNTERPARTS AND THAT THESE VISITS BY JUNTA MEMBERS RAISED SOME QUESTIONS IN THE USG AS TO WHAT WOULD BE APPROPRIATE TREATMENT. VIOLA SAID HE WOULD REFER THIS QUESTION TO PRESIDENT VIDELA AND GET BACK TO ME.

6. RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM. REFERRING TO OUR PREVIOUS CONVERSATION ABOUT THE RIGHT OF OPTION PROGRAM I SAID THAT IT WAS MOVING TO SLOWLY AND SOUGHT HIS HELP ON LOOSENING UP THE PROCESS. HE COMPLAINED THAT THE PROCESS WAS UNMANAGEABLELY COMPLICATED, REQUIRING ALMOST A DOZEN FORMAL APPROVALS FOR EACH CASE. HE SUGGESTED I SEE COLONEL SAN ROMAN OF THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT.

7. PRISONER RELEASES. WHEN I RAISED THIS TOPIC HE SAID THE GOA WAS STUDYING THE STATUS OF 1500 PRISONERS WHO WERE PICKED UP BY THE PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT. HE GAVE NO INDICATION OF HOW MANY OF THESE PRISONERS MIGHT BE [redacted]

[redacted]

RELEASED. I OBSERVED THAT WE HAD YET TO SEE ANYTHING DEVELOP IN THE WAY OF RELEASED OF SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF PRISONERS. HE INDICATED THEY WERE WORKING ON IT.

8. COMMENT. VIOLA WAS UNEQUIVOCAL IN HIS POSITION THAT HE AND THE PRESIDENT WERE GOING TO CONTINUE TO TRY TO WORK OUT AND AGREED BASIS FOR THE IAHRC VISIT. HE INDICATED THAT FOREIGN OFFICE DISAPPROVAL COULD BE ASSUMED BUT WOULD NOT PREVAIL. IT WAS NOT CLEAR HOW ANY NEGOTIATION WITH THE COMMISSION IS BEING CARRIED OUT.

1. I had promised Foreign Minister Montes I would contact immediately on my return from a five-day consultation trip Dept. I ran into Montes at noon-day reception on Mon (July He suggested I talk to Deputy Foreign Minister Allara as he (Montes) was departing for Europe that afternoon.

2. I met with Allara and North American desk officer, Espec Gil, at Foreign Office yesterday (Wed, July 19) at 11:00 hr Salient points of conversation follow:

3. I stressed to Allara and Espeche Gil of USG interest in maintaining traditional friendly relations with GOA. I suggested to Allara it seemed it would be in best interest of GOA if IAHRC visited Argentina. He agreed but stated some of questions propounded by IAHRC were offensive and unreali He said in his opinion IAHRC completely ignored fact Argent was a sovereign and independent country.

4. It was apparent Allara was annoyed and was still smarti from his recent visit to State Dept. He stated his intervi with the Under Secretary was a dismal failure. I reminded that if IAHRC failed to visit Argentina, a strong, negative report would probably ensue from that Commission. I suggested report might be less negative if IAHRC were permitted to see conditions for themselves on a first hand basis. Again, he concurred with this premise and said he would be discussing subject with President Videla. He indicated IAHRC probably would be visiting Argentina but timing was unknown. Again, I reminded him of time being of the essence.

5. The usual bouncy Navy Captain seemed tense and frustrated when he said "I don't understand how USG can implement Humphrey-Kennedy Bill and Harkins Bill before they become law. He looked at me and loudly proclaimed "you have been a Judge and Lawyer so please explain to me how USG can clothe itself with laws that are non-existent, use these laws to our detriment and then you keep telling us you are our friends".

6. Recognizing Allara's frustration, I returned to IAHRC's possible visit. Allara said his office would soon be making an effort to communicate with the chairman of IAHRC.

7. Allara reached over and handed me a copy of La Nacion. He pointed to a front page story of EXIM Bank rejecting GOA's loan application for a hydro-electric project and purchase of Commercial aircraft. He then repeated "what does building a dam and supplying aircraft to a commercial airline have to do with human rights?". He said he feared these untimely action by EXIM Bank would precipitate a nationwide anti-American sentiment.

8. Next topic discussed by Allara was the Defense agreement USG and Argentina. He said it appeared USG had breached the Defense agreement. The Foreign Office concern was what to do with US Milgrp on October 1. He felt the ultimate answer was to send Milgrp home. I reminded Allara his tunes sounded most pessimistic. I suggested positive strides could still be made in the field of human rights before September 30. He agreed and said the first priority was to get IAHRC to Argentina.

9. I then inquired about Massera's proposed US visit. I told him that I had heard Massera was entering Bethesda Naval Hospital on November 27. He denied any knowledge on the subject. He informed me he was having lunch with Massera and would get the details. He promised to keep me informed.

10. Comment: Since my chat with Allara, Admiral Luchetti, a Massera confidant, came to my office. He explained Massera's hospital appointment was a cover and was means being used to visit the US. Luchetti explained Massera was cancelling his US trip. (Septel follows.)

11. ~~Comment:~~ It seems Foreign Office continues to be out of contact with the Executive. It has been apparent to me that Foreign Office is very definitely flying the Massera colors. For that reason President Videla and General Viola do not make the Foreign Office privy to their contacts with US Embassy. ~~More detailed info on Massera gestures proposed US visit follows.~~

AMBASSADOR VAKY WAS CONFIRMED BY THE SENATE ON JULY 14 AND WILL BE SWORN IN ON JULY 21 AT 4:30. LATIN AMERICAN AMBASSADORS, CONGRESSMEN AND MANY OTHERS HAVE BEEN INVITED TO THE SWEARING IN CEREMONY.

2. ELECTIONS
(A) BOLIVIA - ON JULY 13 THE DEPARTMENT SPOKESMAN POSTED A PRESS RELEASE EXPRESSING OUR CONCERN OVER ALLEGED VOTING IRREGULARITIES IN THE RECENT BOLIVIAN ELECTIONS. THIS WAS FOLLOWED BY A JULY 17 DEMARCHE FROM THE BOLIVIAN AMBASSADOR IN WHICH HIS GOVERNMENT EXPRESSED ITS DEEP CONCERN OVER THE ATTITUDE OF THE USG TO THE ELECTIONS. AMBASSADOR BOEKER IS IN CONTACT WITH - THE LEADING POLITICAL GROUPS IN BOLIVIA AND WE ARE FOLLOWING EVENTS CLOSELY.
--
(B) ECUADOR -
THE JULY 16 ELECTIONS IN ECUADOR WERE HELD IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF RELATIVE CALM WITH NO REPORTS OF FRAUD. CONTINGENCY PRESS GUIDANCE WAS PREPARED ACKNOWLEDGING SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF THE NEXT STAGE IN THE "RETORNO" PROCESS, BUT NO QUESTIONS HAVE BEEN ASKED ABOUT THE ELECTION.

(C) DOMINICAN REPUBLIC
IN RESPONSE TO AN OFFICIAL INVITATION, PRESIDENT CARTER SENT A LETTER TO DOMINICAN PRESIDENT-ELECT ANTONIO GUZMAN REGRETTING THAT HE COULD NOT ATTEND GUZMAN'S [redacted] INAUGURATION,

BUT STATED THAT HE HAD ASKED SECRETARY VANCE AND AMBASSADOR YOUNG TO REPRESENT HIM AT THE CEREMONY.

3. HUMAN RIGHTS
THE INTER-AGENCY GROUP ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND FOREIGN ASSISTANCE (CHRISTOPHER COMMITTEE) MET JULY 12 AND DECIDED TO: POSTPONE A DECISION ON THE 2 IDB LOANS FOR ARGENTINA, VOTE "NO" ON THE GLOBAL AGRICULTURAL LOAN FOR CHILE, POSTPONE AND ATTEMPT TO RESTRUCTURE A PREINVESTMENT IDB LOAN FOR EL SALVADOR, POSTPONE DECISION ON A PENDING DOLLARS 19 MILLION IDB AGRICULTURE LOAN FOR NICARAGUA, PENDING FURTHER EXAMINATION OF WHETHER OR NOT IT MEETS BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS, HOLD BACK APPROVAL OF TWO PARAGUAYAN AID LOANS AND AN IDB LOAN PENDING THE OUTCOME OF THE LAINO CASE. THE COMMITTEE APPROVED THREE ACTIONS FOR GUYANA: AN IDB LOAN FOR FOOD PRODUCTION AND MARKETING PROGRAMS, AND AN AID SEED FARM DEVELOPMENT AND A COMBINATION GRANT/LOAN FOR RICE STABILIZATION FOR GUYANA. ASSISTANCE FOR GUYANA WILL BE SPREAD OUT TO AVOID THE APPEARANCE OF LARGE AMOUNTS OF ASSISTANCE FOLLOWING RIGHT AFTER A QUESTIONABLE ELECTION PROCESS. CONSIDERING MILITARY ITEMS, THE COMMITTEE DECIDED TO APPROVE A REQUEST FOR HAITI FOR JEEPS AND TRUCK SPARE PARTS BUT TURNED DOWN A HAITIAN REQUEST FOR M-1 RIFLE SPARES.

4. AMERICAN CONVENTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS
THE AMERICAN CONVENTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS CAME INTO EFFECT FOR THE ELEVEN COUNTRIES WHICH HAVE RATIFIED IT WHEN GRENADA DEPOSITED ITS INSTRUMENT OF RATIFICATION ON JULY 14. (THE ELEVEN COUNTRIES ARE: COLOMBIA, COSTA RICA, EL SALVADOR, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, VENEZUELA, ECUADOR, GUATEMALA, HAITI, HONDURAS, PANAMA AND GRENADA).

THE CONVENTION SETS OUT A SERIES OF POLITICAL AND CIVIL RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM SLAVERY, FROM INHUMANE TREATMENT AND FROM EX-POST FACTO LAWS. IT PROVIDES FOR AN INTER-AMERICAN COURT ON HUMAN RIGHTS. IT ALSO PROVIDES FOR A NEW AND STRENGTHENED OAS INTER-AMERICAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION. SPECIFIC PROVISIONS RELATING TO RIGHT TO LIFE AND COMPENSATION FOR VICTIMS OF INJUSTICE POSE PROBLEMS FOR THE UNITED STATES BECAUSE

OF OUR FEDERAL SYSTEM AND THE RESERVED POWERS OF THE STATES IN EDUCATION, MARRIAGE AND LAW ENFORCEMENT.

PRESIDENT CARTER SIGNED THE CONVENTION ON JUNE 1, 1977 AND WITH TEN SPECIFIC RESERVATIONS. IT WAS SENT TO THE SENATE FOR ACTION.

HOWEVER, WE DO NOT EXPECT
CONSIDERATION OF THE CONVENTION IN 1978.

SUBJECT: THE CIVILIAN JUDICIARY AND THE DISAPPEARED PROBLEM

REFS: (A) SANTIAGO 3847 (B) SANTIAGO 5087

1. SUMMARY: SOME CHILEAN CIVILIANCOURTS HAVE USED THE GOC'S BROAD AMNESTY OF APRIL 18 TO CLOSE JUDICAIL INVESTIGATIONS, INCLUDING THOSE AFFECTING MISSING PERSONS. HOWEVER, ONLY 130 CASES OF THE VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY'S HARD LIST OF 615 ARE SO FAR INVOLVED, ALL OF THESE DECISIONS HAVE BEEN APPEALED AND, IN RECENT WEEKS, THE SANTIAGO COURT OF APPEALS HAS REVERSED THE LOWER COURTS' RULINGS AND HAS ORDERED THE INVESTIGATIONS RE-OPENED IN ALL BUT ONE CASE. WHILE TOO EARLY TO SAY FOR SURE, THE APPEALS COURTS APPEAR TO BE TELLING THE LOWER CURTS TO KEEP PRESSURE ON THE GOC FOR AN ACCOUNTING OF THE MISSING PERSONS. END SUMMARY.

2. AS REPORTED IN REFTEL (A), THESE INVESTIGATIONS GREW OUT OF WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS PETIONS PRESENTED OVER THE YEARS BY RELATIVES OF THE DISAPPEARED ON BEHALF OF THOSE PRESUMED TO HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED BY THE SECURITY SERVICES. ACCORDING TO CHURCH FIGURES APPROXIMATELY 300 CASES OF DISAPPEARED HAVE BEEN CLOSED BY CIVILAIN COURTS UNDER THE APRIL 18 AMNESTY. A VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY LAWYER HASTENED TO POINT OUT, HOWEVER, THAT ONLY A PORTION --

[redacted]

130 IN ALL -- OF THE VICARIATE'S HARD LIST OF 615 DISAPPEAREDS WER INVOLVED AND ALL HAVE BEEN APPEALED. IT NOW APPEARS THAT THE TIDE IS TURNING AGAINST CASE CLOSINGS (SOBRESEIMIENTOS).

3. THE VICARIATE LAWYER TOLD AN EMBOFF JULY 18 THAT IN 25 (OF THE 130) OF THE VICARIATE CASES APPELAED TO THE SANTIAGO COURT OF APPEALS WHICH HAVE BEEN HEARD TO DATE, THE COURT HAS REJECTED "SOBRESEIMIENTO" IN 24 -- ORDERING CONTINUATION OF INVESTIGATIONS -- AND APPROVED ONLY ONE. HE VOICED CONFIDENCE THAT THE TREND WOULD CONTINUE. A HIGH-RANKING JUDGE ON THE COURT OF APPEALS HAD EARLIER (JULY 14) GIVEN US SIMILAR DATA, SAYING THAT THE APPEALS

UNCLASSIFIED

COURT HAD REJECTED "SOBRESEIMIENTO" IN 23 CASES, APPROVED IT IN SEVEN AND WAS WITHHOLDING FINAL VERDICT IN TEN. HE DID NOT INDICATE WHAT NUMBER, IF ANY, WERE VICARIATE CASES. ACCORDING TO THE JUDGE (PROTECT), THE OVERWHELIMING SENTIMENT OF JUDGES ON THE APPEALS COURT WAS AGAINST "SOBRESEIMIENTOS". ESSENTIALLY THE JUDGES ARE SAYING THAT BEFORE A CASE CAN BE CLOSED IT MUST FIRST BE DETERMINED WHAT SORT OF CRIME, IF ANY, WAS COMMITTED AND WHO WAS GUILTY: THE COURTS CANNOT SIMPLY ASSUME THAT ANY CRIMES WOULD FALL UNDER THE APIRL 18 AMNESTY. A SECOND DIFFICULTY, INFLUENCING THE THINKING OF SOME JUDGES, IS THE CONCEPT OF KIDNAPPING AS A CONTINUING CRIME. UNTIL IT IS ESTABLISHED THAT THE MISSING PERSONS ARE NO LONGER ALIVE, THEN THERE IS A PRESUMPTION THEY ARE STILL ILLEGALLY DETAINED, AND THOSE RESPONSIBLE ARE GUILTY OF A CRIME COMMITTED (OR CONTINUINT) AFTER THE AMNESTY CUT-OFF DATE OF MARCH 11, 1978.

4. SOME OF THE CASES FOR WHICH "SOBRESEIMIENTO" HAS BEEN DECLARED BY THE LOWER COURTS INVOLVE OTHER TYPES OF ALLEGED CRIMINAL ACTS BY SECURIYT FORCES. OSVALDO FIGUEROA OF VILLA MEXICO FAME (SEE 77 SANTIAGO 4445) WAS PICKED UP BY THE DINA, BEATEN AND HELD ON TRUPMPED-UP KIDNAPPING CHARGES IN MAY 1977. HE WANMC THE CASE CLOSED. IN LATE MAY THE APPEALS COURT ORDERED IT REOPENED.

[redacted]

4. COMMENT: IT IS TOO EARLY TO CONCLUDE THAT THE COURT SYSTEM IS GOING TO ACCEPT FULLY THE CONTINUING CRIME THEORY OF KIDNAPPING OR THAT IT WILL INDEFINITELY REFUSE TO CLOSE MOST OF THESE CASES. FOR THE MOMENT, HOWEVER, THE APPEALS COURTS ARE TELLING THE LOWER COURTS TO KEEP THEIR BOOKS OPEN AND, THUS, TO MAINTAIN PRESSURE ON THE GOC FOR COOPERATION IN DETERMINING THE FATES OF THOSE WHO HAVE DISAPPEARED.

SUBJECT: HUMAN RIGHTS: POSSIBLE IAHRC VISIT TO ARGENTINA

1. GENERAL VIOLA, PRESIDENT VIDELA'S ALTER EGO, IS NORMALLY MY CONTACT WITH THE EXECUTIVE. BEFORE HIS DEPARTURE ON A WEEK'S VACATION, VIOLA STATED GENERAL REYNALDO BIGNONE, ARMY SECY GENERAL, WOULD BE CONTACTING ME TO UPDATE ME ON GOA PROGRESS TOWARD AN INVITATION TO IAHRC TO VISIT ARGENTINA.

2. GENERAL BIGNONE ASKED ME YESTERDAY (THURSDAY, JULY 20) TO CONFER WITH HIM AT HIS OFFICE LOCATED AT THE ARMY GENERAL COMMAND AT 1700 HOURS. WE MET ALONE. THIS BEING THE FIRST TIME WE HAD CONFERRED, BIGNONE APPEARED UNEASY, ANXIOUS BUT YET COURTEOUS. HE STARTED OUT BY SAYING THE THOUGHT OF HAVING AN OUTSIDE AGENCY FROM A FOREIGN AGENCY VISIT AN INDEPENDENT AND SOVEREIGN COUNTRY FOR INVESTIGATION PURPOSES IS SOMEWHAT REPUGNANT TO HIM, REFERRING TO A POSSIBLE VISIT BY IAHRC. HE CONTINUED SAYING THAT NO PATRIOTIC ARGENTINE CAN ACCEPT FACT OF USG QUESTIONING GOA'S MOTIVES IN THE FIELD OF HUMAN RIGHTS. BIGNONE RAISED HIS VOICE WHEN HE STATED ARGENTINA AND US PURSUE SAME IDEALS AND HAVE IDENTICAL IDEOLOGICAL OBJECTIVES. IN A DRAMATIC FASHION, HE LOWERED HIS VOICE AND SAID "ALL OF ARGENTINA IS HURT AND CONFUSED BY LACK OF UNDERSTANDING ON THE PART OF USG."

3. GENERAL BIGNONE RECOGNIZED HE HAD GOTTEN EMOTIONAL AND APOLOGIZED. IN AN EFFORT TO SOOTHE HIM, I TOLD BIGNONE I APPRECIATED HIS FEELINGS BUT THE TRUE TEST SHOULD BE WHETHER AN IAHRC VISIT WOULD BE IN THE BEST INTEREST OF ARGENTINA. HE AGREED IT WAS TIME TO CAST BLIND NATIONALISM AND EMOTIONALISM ASIDE. HE STATED A VISIT FROM IAHRC WOULD BE POSITIVE.

4. IAHRC'S INTERROGATORY TO THE GOA'S INVITATION WAS THE NEXT SUBJECT. THERE WERE A TOTAL OF SEVEN QUESTIONS SUBMITTED BY IAHRC TO GOA. THESE QUESTIONS SUBMITTED TO THIS EMBASSY IN STATE 163504 WERE GIVEN TO GENERAL VIOLA FOR HIS PRESIDENT'S CONSIDERATION. BIGNONE SAID HE HAD REVIEWED THESE QUESTIONS WITH VIDELA. HE THEN GAVE ME TENTATIVE ANSWERS TO EACH QUESTION. WE REVIEWED THEM ONE BY ONE. HE THEN AGREED TO FURNISH ME WITH A COPY OF THE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. FOR THE SAKE OF BREVITY, I SHALL NOT REPEAT THE QUESTIONS HERE BUT ONLY SUBMIT ANSWERS TO ISSUES RAISED IN STATE 163504. ANSERS FOLLOW: (A) YES; (B) IT IS SUGGESTED THIS QUESTION BE DELETED AS IT IS OFFENSIVE TO GOA; (C) YES; (D) CLARIFY WHAT IS MEANT BY: "OTHER DETENTION AND INTERROGATION SITES?" WITH REFERENCE TO "INTERVIEW PRIVATELY" IT IS CONSIDERED IT SHOULD BE IN THE PRESENCE OF WITNESSES. (E) CLARIFICATION IS NEEDED TO DETERMINE EXTENT OF QUESTION. (F) YES; (G) COMMENT: NEITHER BIGNONE NOR EMBASSY HAS COPY OF RESOLUTION CONTAINING LETTERS D? H AND I, THEREFORE, UNABLE TO GIVE ANSWER.

5. INFORMATION IN PARA FOUR IS OUR TRANSLATION OF GOA RESPONSES. SINCE THERE ARE NUANCES IN THE SPANISH VERSION IMPORTANT TO NEGOTIATING AN ACCEPTABLE INVITATION

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

PARTICIPANTS: Mrs. Lidia Ester CABRERA de Franco

Mr. Victor Bonilla-Sosa, Political Officer

DATE: July 21, 1978

PLACE: US Embassy-Asuncion

DECONTROL

SUBJECT: Released Political Prisoner Interview

DISTRIBUTION: AMB, DCM, POL, POL/R
ARA/ECA, ARA:GLister, D/HA, INR/RAR

Mrs. Cabrera de Franco requested to speak to the Political Officer in order to convey her gratitude for the assistance the Embassy had given i her release. She was released July 14, 1978 from Emboscada prison. She felt that without a doubt, pressure brought to bear upon the Paraguayan government through President Carter's human rights policy had benefited her and many others. Mrs. de Franco was accompanied by her two young daughters. The rest of the interview was devoted to details about her arrest and subsequent questioning and incarceration.

Mrs. Cabrera de Franco did not have a clear idea why she had been picked up by the police. She had been living with her husband in Puerto Yguazu, Misiones, Argentina for a number of years. Her mother is Paraguayan and her father Argentine. Her husband, she said, had been exiled from Paraguay since 1965 for alleged subversive activities, but she stated she had not know her husband until they met in Argentina. She denied categorically any political involvement, and much less any subversive political activities.

Mrs. de Franco said she was picked up with her husband and daughter on January 18, 1977 in their home in Argentina. The house was thoroughly searched. They were neither told the reason for their detention by arresting Argentine police officers, nor told where they were being taken. They were all bound, gagged and blindfolded and thrown into a clos truck. For the next four days they were kept in this condition, only with a few stops along the way. NO FOOD OR WATER WAS GIVEN TO THEM.

She surmised that they were being taken across the river to the Paraguayan side. Once there, on the fifth day, their blindfolds were taken off along with their gags. Eventually they were taken to the Investigations Police headquarters in Asuncion. From the time they were first detained by the Argentine authorities until one year later, the Francos had no news about their daughter nor whether she was being taken care of by the authorities. When they arrived in Investigaciones, they were brutally beaten and kicked. Mrs. de Franco's husband was kept in a separate floor (above where the female prisoners are kept) but she could see him in the distance and realized he was being tortured. Mrs. de Franco said that one of the greatest hardships in the Investigaciones jail is the daily witnessing of brutality. She says that though prisoners undergoing torture are taken off to another private place in the building, because of the small size of the local, the cries and shouts of those being tortured can be heard over the radio noise and furniture moving that takes place when they are "working someone over." In addition, after a "session" the prisoner is thrown into the cell with other detainees. This is usually done accompanied by continual beatings and kicking of the tortured prisoner. Talking of any kind with any one other than the jailers is forbidden and brutally punished. Mrs. de Franco said she was severely beaten and kicked for no reason. She was told to confess to committing subversive activities and told to sign a confession which she refused. After many such fruitless attempts, she was left to herself (always sharing a cell with other prisoners). Mrs. de Franco states she saw Gladys Ramirez in Investigaciones on January 23, 1978. She also stated that both Mr. Cantero, the political chief, of Investigaciones (see Domingo Laino case) and the Chief of Investigaciones, Pastor Coronel take a personal part in the interrogations and the application of the tortures. She said that Cantero interrogated her and her husband and that he threatened continually to kill her if she didn't confess.

After approximately one year, she saw her mother who had been looking for her during that time. It was due to the kindness of one of the jailers, a Mr. Juan P., that the mother found out her daughter's whereabouts. When this was later discovered by Coronel, the officer was removed. When the Red Cross International made an inspection in December 1977, Mrs. de Franco was transferred to Emboscada without any explanations. She was allowed to have her daughter live with her at the Emboscada prison, but after a while sent her back to her mother because of the bad influence exerted on the child by the conditions of the prison. (Emboscada is the prison reserved for political detainees near Asuncion.) Mrs. de Franco said that the police keep two lists of prisoners, one they allow outsiders to see and another with the names of the other prisoners being held that the authorities disclaim any knowledge about. She said that her name and that of a Juan Rolon (OPM suspect) were on the latter list.

Mrs. de Franco claims that when President Videla made a visit to Paraguay in May of 1977, several prisoners were turned over to the Argentine authorities that came with the President's airplane. She gave the following names: Marta Landi and her husband Alejandro Landi, Jose Neel and two Uruguayans. She stated that she overheard the Argentine authorities talking about "now being able to get rid" of these people. She added that these persons were never heard from again.

Mrs. de Franco talking about other detainees, stated that a Juan Jose Penayo and a Mr. Vera Baez (did not remember first name) were brought in also from Misiones and treated like animals, uncared for after they became ill from the tortures. She herself said that her own teeth and arms hurt from lack of calcium in the diet. Dr. Bogado Gondra, himself a prisoner in Emboscada cared for her and told her she had vitamin deficiency and neuritis as a result of her imprisonment. She added that another prisoner, Otto Gunther was so brutally tortured that he almost died at the hands of Pastor Coronel's inhuman treatment. Before she was finally taken to Emboscada, Mrs. de Franco recalls one of the jailers telling her cynically, "You're lucky they are sending you to Emboscada," in reference to several prisoners that disappeared after police claimed that they had "escaped." She was forced to sign an indagatoria stating she was a communist.

Mrs. de Franco said her husband is still in jail and that she has no idea when if ever he will be released alive. The Inter-Faith Church Committee in Asuncion has been providing her and her children with some relief until she can find a job. Needless to say, her personal identity documents, a sine qua non for obtaining a job or travelling, have not been returned. In this regard, as in many other cases of released political prisoners, Mrs. de Franco shares a common lot of uncertainty and constant fear.

SUBJECT: FRENCH PRESSURES ON ARGENTINA TO IMPROVE HUMAN RIGHTS

REF: STATE 182299

EMBASSY MENTIONED PROBLEM OF HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN ARGENTINA TO MFA DIRECTOR FOR WESTERN HEMISPHERE AFFAIRS DANIELS. HE WAS SOMEWHAT SURPRISED TO HEAR THAT FRENCH HAD IMPLIED EUROPEAN COMMUNITY WAS UNWILLING TO ACT ON POSSIBLE LIMITATION OF EXPORT CREDIT TO ARGENTINA. TO BEST OF DUTCH KNOWLEDGE, ONLY OCCASION WHEN COMMUNITY HAD DISCUSSED SITUATION DANISH PRESIDENCY HAD BEEN AUTHORIZED TO MAKE DEMARCHE TO ARGENTINA ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN EARLY APRIL. HOWEVER, VERY RECENTLY FRENCH EMBASSY OFFICER IN THE HAGUE HAD APPROACHED MFA IN EXPLORATORY MANNER TO INQURE EXTENT OF DUTCH FINANCIAL DEALINGS WITH ARGENTINA. MFA THOUGHT THIS COULD MEAN THAT FRENCH WERE CONSIDERING SOME INITIQTIVE IN THIS ARE. APPARENTLY FRENCH WERE UNDER SOME INTERNAL POLITICAL PRESSURE BECAUSE OF IMPRISONMENT OF FRENCH NATIONALS IN ARGENTINA. SO FAR AS DUTCH WERE CONCERNED, POSSIBILITY OF LIMITING CREDITS WAS ONE IN WHICH SEVERAL MINISTRIES WOULD BE INVOLVED AND SO FAR, QUITE UNLIKE CHILE, LITTLE DUTCH CONCERN HAD DEVELOPED THAT WOULD LEAD TO FURTHER ACTION OF SORT FRENCH APPARENTLY WERE CONSIDERING.

July 22,1978

Dear Friend,

When the present military government took power in Argentina in the coup of March 1976, the junta promised to restore a respect for human rights. Left-wing terrorist activity has been almost completely suppressed, but the promise to restore human rights is a mockery. 15,000 persons have disappeared without a trace after being arrested by the police security forces or parapolice.

Amnesty International has well-documented evidence of the existence of secret camps where prisoners are tortured and unlawfully executed. Among the missing are women and children. One of them, Susana Lugones, was the 40th journalist in the country to disappear. 29 of her colleagues has been killed, 70 imprisoned and 400 have gone into exile.

Only a concerted effort by all of us expressing our deep concern about these gross violations of human rights may put a halt to this widespread suffering. We urge you to write to:

Amnesty International is a worldwide human rights movement which works impartially for the release of prisoners of conscience, men and women detained anywhere for their beliefs, color, ethnic origin, sex, religion or language, provided they have neither used nor advocated violence. Amnesty International opposes torture and the death penalty in all cases without reservation and advocates fair and prompt trials for all political prisoners. Amnesty International is independent of all governments, political factions, ideologies, economic interests and religious creeds. It has consultative status with the United Nations (ECOSOC), UNESCO and the Council of Europe, has cooperative relations with the Organization of African Unity (Bureau for the Placement and Education of African Refugees). Amnesty International was the recipient of the 1977 Nobel Prize for Peace.

ARGENTINA:

ACTION PAPER FOR DISAPPEARED OR DETAINED WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Amnesty International would like to point out that women in Argentina are not repressed because they are women. However, they are more susceptible to physical abuse whilst in detention (rape, miscarriage under torture). Furthermore, the situation of abducted/detained women who give birth in prison is particularly alarming.

DISAPPEARANCES

> "A single death by firing squad can provoke a world-wide scandal: with the thousands of disappeared people there is always the convenience of uncertainty..... there are no crimes to report or explanations to be given."
> Eduardo Galeano, Index, March/April 1978

Since the military coup in Argentina of 24 March 1976, it is estimated that approximately 15,000 people have disappeared. Indeed, lawyers and human rights organizations within Argentina estimate that since the coup, between 20,000 and 30,000 habeas corpus writs have been filed at the Ministry of the Interior.

The Argentine authorities usually give three reasons for why these people have disappeared: the person has gone "underground"; the person has chosen to emigrate without telling relatives; the person has been killed in a clash with the security forces. However, there is much evidence to prove that persons who have disappeared were, in fact, illicitly arrested by official law-enforcing bodies.

Many families fear reprisals against themselves or the abducted person if they publicize the disappearance. There is very little that they can do in Argentina except file a writ of habeas corpus with the Ministry of the Interior. Recently, however, the families of disappeared persons have become very active and have been appealing to international organizations like Amnesty International for help. They have formed themselves into a committee called Comité de Familiares de Desaparecidos y Detenidos por Razones Políticos (the Committee of Relatives of People Disappeared or Detained for Political Reasons), but are known as "The Mad Women of the Plaza de Mayo", because every Thursday they demonstrate in the Plaza de Mayo outside the government buildings in order to pressurize the authorities into launching an inquiry into the whereabouts of missing persons. In May 1978, a group of 13 women who had been searching for more than a year for their missing children and grandchildren formed themselves into a group called "The Grandmothers of the Plaza de Mayo": most of their daughters were pregnant when they disappeared.

It is worth noting that on 13 April 1978, the Buenos Aires newspaper La Nación published a list of 232 persons who had all been located by the "Search Division for Disappeared Persons" (La División Búsqueda de Personas Desaparecidas) - an office apparently set up under the auspices of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Federal Police. This admission on the part of the Argentine authorities would appear to be the fruits of over two years of international pressure.

The following are a few representative disappearance cases:

1. French Nuns Alicia Domón and Léonie Duquet + approximately 13 relatives of disappeared persons.

On Thursday 18 December 1977, a group of approximately 14 persons, relatives from the Comité de Familiares de Desaparecidos y Detenidos por Razones Políticos (see previous page) were all abducted by persons dressed in civilian clothing. They were all driven away in five Renault 12 cars; to date, there has been no official news of their whereabouts.

The relatives (almost all women) were leaving the Church of the Holy Cross in Buenos Aires where they had had a meeting to discuss placing an advertisement about disappearances in a Buenos Aires newspaper. In this group were a Paraguayan medical doctor, Dra Esther Ballestrino de Careaga who lived in Buenos Aires under the protection of the United Nations High Commission for Refugees, and a French nun, Alicia Domon. Alicia Domon assisted the Argentine Bishop of Quilmes in an ecumenical movement which tries to locate missing persons.

Another French nun, Léonie Duquet, was abducted from her home on 10 December 1977 by four unidentified men driving an unmarked car. She was not, apparently, engaged in the search for disappeared persons, but was an assistant to the Bishop of San Justo.

On 30 March 1978, the French newspaper Le Monde reported that the two French nuns had been killed and their bodies discovered two months previously on a beach between Bahia Blanca and Mar del Plata. The body of Dra Esther Ballestrino de Careaga was said to have been found in the River Plate at the same time. However, there has never been any official news of their whereabouts, despite personal inquiries from President Giscard d'Estaing, a letter from the French Ambassador to Argentina, M. François de la Gorce, reminding the Argentine government of its duty under the Vienna Convention to inform foreign embassies of the detention of foreign citizens, and the French Bishop of Annecy (who is also the President of the French Episcopal Committee on Relations with Latin America) flying out to Argentina to make inquiries.

The disappearance of this entire group of persons is thought to have been an attempt on the part of the Argentine authorities to prevent people demonstrating outside the government buildings.

2. Graciela RUTILO ARTES and her daughter Carla

Official connivance between the Argentine and Uruguayan security forces is well known. However, according to the French publication Cimade (February 1978), the Argentine Ambassador to Paris admitted, on 6 February 1978, that the same (un)official agreement exists between the Argentine authorities and the Bolivian government. According to the Cimade source, four Argentinians have been arrested in Bolivia by the Bolivian security forces over the last year. All four were handed over to the Argentine authorities and all four have disappeared without trace.

On 2 April 1976, the Bolivian police arrested 24 year old Graciela Rutilo Artes, an Argentine national and her daughter Carla, then aged 9 months (and a Peruvian national) in Oruro, Bolivia. They were both transferred to La Paz, where mother and daughter were separated; Graciela was kept in the Bolivian Ministry of the Interior, where it is alleged that she was tortured, and her daughter Carla was sent to an orphanage in La Paz where she was registered under a false name.

It is reported that on 26 August 1976, Carla was removed from the orphanage and that on 29 August, both mother and daughter were handed over to the Argentine authorities at the frontier. There had been no formal extradition order.

Although Graciela is of Argentine nationality, she had been living in Bolivia since the age of 9. Relatives state that she had no known political affiliation; the motive of her arrest would appear to be her participation, as a representative of a students' organization, in a tin miners' strike. To date, there has been no news of the whereabouts of either.

Amnesty International has received many testimonies concerning women who were pregnant at the time of abduction. The following are two representative cases: no official information has ever been received as to the fate of these women or their children.

1. Silvia Mónica QUINTELA DALASTA (Her photograph is available from AI)

Silvia Mónica Quintela Dalasta, a medical doctor aged 30, was detained in Buenos Aires on 17 January 1977 by five armed men who belonged to the Navy. At this time, she was three months' pregnant. She was taken away in a light blue Ford Falcon. Her husband, who now lives in exile in Europe, was an eye-witness to her abduction.

Her relatives took all possible legal measures, but there has never been an official recognition of her detention. Nevertheless, a released prisoner has informed AI that Silvia was detained for at least four months in the Navy Mechanics' School (La Escuela de Mecánica de la Armada) in the capital; this has frequently cited in testimonies as an unofficial detention centre. Furthermore, the released prisoner also stated that Silvia gave birth to a baby in the Navy Mechanics' School in July 1977. However, the baby was never handed over to relatives and there has been no news of either since this date.

2. Silvia Angélica Corazza de Sánchez

Silvia Angélica Corazza de Sánchez was abducted on 13 May 1977 in a bar called El Nuevo Clave in the town of Lanus, Buenos Aires province, by persons dressed in civilian clothing. At the time of her abduction, she was two months' pregnant.

In December 1977, Silvia's parents received a letter in her handwriting announcing that she was expecting to give birth to her baby around Christmas. On 3 January 1978, three men in plain clothes arrived at her parents' house, bringing with them Silvia herself and the baby daughter, who had been born on 29 December 1977. The men forced Silvia's mother to sign a document which, among other points which she cannot remember, stated that she would not hand over the baby to anybody else. The men then left the baby, called María de las Mercedes, with her grandparents. They took Silvia away with them again, and nothing has been heard of her since.

Since receiving the baby, Silvia's parents have attempted to obtain a birth certificate and identity document for her from the authorities. The Ministry of the Interior promised Silvia's father that the baby would be given a birth certificate.

Silvia's husband, 37 year old surgeon Alberto Sánchez, now lives in Europe. He believes that the Argentine Ministry of the Interior's promise to give his daughter a birth certificate indicates that the government is in a position to locate his wife.

There are still several children missing. The majority of these were abducted along with their mothers:

1. Case of Floreal Avellaneda

On 15 April 1976, uniformed and plainclothed men machine-gunned the door of the Avellaneda family's home at 2.00 am. The men were looking for Señor Floreal Avellaneda, a former trade union leader in the TENSA factory. Not finding him, they ransacked the house, stole money and other belongings, brutally beat his wife Iris de Avellaneda and his son, also called Floreal, aged 15.

Later the mother and son were taken to the police station of Villa Martelli and tortured. Señora Avellaneda was tied to a bed where, after being soaked with ice-cold water for half an hour, her trousers were pulled off and she was given electric shock treatment all over her body. Her son underwent similar treatment and she could hear him screaming. They were briefly reunited, then Señora Avellaneda was taken hooded to a place she believed to be the Brigada Güemes, a police barracks.

Here she was repeatedly questioned about her husband's whereabouts. She was given electric shock treatment and beaten with sticks and gun butts on her head, neck and face. She was carried out to open country where a simulated execution was staged. The torture continued for some days, then the treatment improved and finally she was transferred to Olmos prison and officially detained, 15 days after her arrest.

Writs of habeas corpus were filed for her son without any result. On 16 August 1976, the newspapers reported that several corpses had been found on the Uruguayan shores of the River Plate. A tattoo (a heart with the letters "F.A.") on one of the bodies fitted the description of 15 year old Floreal Avellaneda.

The Ministry of Defence acknowledged that Señora Avellaneda was detained at the disposal of the Executive Power, but for reasons of security could not give any information about the personnel responsible for the arrest of her and her son.

2. Simón Antonio RIQUELO (His photograph is available from AI)

Simón Antonio Riquelo was 20 days old at the time of his abduction. He is the son of Sara Rita Méndez Lamperio, a Uruguayan refugee living in Buenos Aires until she was abducted on 13 July 1976 along with Simón. In October 1976 she turned up in official detention in Montevideo, Uruguay. According to the Uruguayan armed forces she was arrested in Uruguay on 25 October 1976. However, nothing at all has been heard of Simón Antonio since his abduction.

TORTURE

Amnesty International continues to receive torture testimonies from released prisoners. It is a problem which is closely linked to disappearances, since torture is most likely to occur when the victim is secretly detained in military barracks, local police stations and disused buildings. Torture is, however, also common in official prisons.

The most usual methods of torture are: electric shock treatment; water torture; beatings with fists, truncheons, rifle butts and sticks (there have been cases of pregnant women so badly beaten that they have miscarried); cigarette burns; hooding; deprivation of food, drink and sleep; sexual abuse such as rape; Amnesty International has also received allegations of torture by removing teeth, fingernails and eyes, by burning with boiling water, oil and acid and even by castration.

1. Veronica Handl-Alvarez (Her photo is available from AI)

Veronica Handl-Alvarez, aged 24, of dual Argentine-Austrian nationality and pregnant, disappeared in Buenos Aires on 5 September 1976. At the time of her arrest she was studying at the Faculty of Arts, University of Buenos Aires and financing her studies by working part-time at the Mexican Embassy. Despite her family's efforts to trace her, there was no news of her whereabouts until nearly two months later. They were informed that she was being held in Villa Devoto prison.

During the course of Veronica's first two months in prison, she was interrogated and subjected to the following forms of torture - carried out exclusively by men:

a) Blows with the fists, kicking, blows with an iron rod: all over the body, especially on the head, chest and abdomen.

b) A door was slammed on her head, and thereafter, unconscious, she was thrown into her cell.
